OPPOSITION TO PLAN FOR CONVENTION TO CHANGE CONSTITUTION

Indications in Senate Committee of Stormy Time Ahead.

Governor Hammond's Appointments Unanimously Confirmed By Senate.

Board of Control Asked for Report on Buildings Constructed.

(By a Staff Correspondent.)

St. Paul, Minn., Jan. 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—The senate committee on elections considered the constitutional convention bill yesterday afternoon, and after hearing its author, Senator F. H. Peterson of Moorhead, voted 4 to 3 to report the bill for indefinite postponement. At the request of Senator Peterson the committee consented to withhold the report for a time, in order to have a further hearing upon it. However, this action of the committee, the first step in the progress of this measure, is an indication that it will have a stormy passage, if it passes at all. It must get a two-thirds vote in each branch of the legislature—forty-five in the senate and eighty-seven in the house—and that is a good many votes for a measure that is the subject of controversy, as this will certainly be. However, its friends expect to push it just as though victory was easy.

Representative Gunnar B. Bjornson of Minnesota is the father of the movement in the house, and early consideration of the measure there is looked for. Senate committee members voting for the bill were Lende, Sageng and Campbell; those opposed were Senators Peterson of Mecker, Rockne, Putnam and Collester.

Appointments Confirmed.

The senate this morning received a list of Governor Hammond's recently announced appointments, and on motion

HEAVY RAINS CAUSE OF QUAKE, IS BELIEF

Scientist Says Water Filtered Through Upon Incandescent Matter.

Paris, Jan. 15.—The Petit Parisien's Rome correspondent says that the number of earthquake victims exceeds 30,000 and that this list would have been greater, since the earthquake was more violent than that at Messina, had it not been for the fact that no large cities were affected. The center of the disturbance, according to this correspondent, was situated in the dry and ancient Lake Fucino, which was drained in 1875 by Prince Alexander Torlonia at a cost of about $8,000,000.

As to the cause of the disaster, the Petit Parisien correspondent quotes an eminent meteorologist as saying:

"The most likely hypothesis is that continuous heavy rains resulted in filtrations which formed great bodies of steam by contact with incandescent matter. This hypothesis seems confirmed by the fact that the spring at San Giuliano has almost doubled the volume of its flow since yesterday."

ARE STANDARD WORLD OVER

Elmquist Tells Senate Committee About Minnesota Grain Grades.

Jacobson and Eva Also Appear in Opposition to Moss Bill.

From The Herald Washington Bureau.

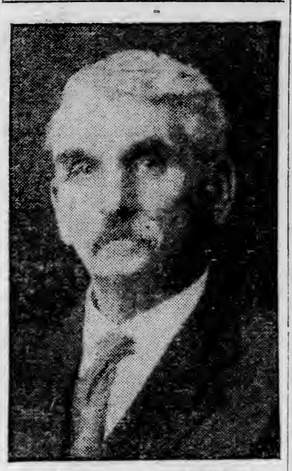

Washington, Jan. 15.—The merits and demerits of the Minnesota grain inspection system were threshed over by the senate committee on agriculture this morning at a hearing on the Moss bill for Federal grain standardization and warehousing.

C. E. Elmquist of the Minnesota railroad and warehouse commission opposed the passage of the Moss bill. "The Minnesota grain inspection system is fair to the producer and fair to the buyer," said Mr. Elmquist. "It is impartial and as accurate as human ingenuity can devise, and for a period of ten years the grades of less than two and one half cars of grain out of every hundred inspected have been changed by final appeal to the appeal board.

"Our grades are standard the world over. We feel that it is wholly unnecessary for the Federal government to attempt to standardize grain for the Northwest, or attempt to supervise the work of the Minnesota inspection. Such an attempt by the Federal government might not take into consideration local conditions, which must be always accounted for. Furthermore it would give us a dual system which might cause friction, destroy the efficiency of our department, and be of no merit to the producers of grain."

O. P. B. Jacobson of the Minnesota railroad and warehouse commission, and E. W. Eva, chief grain inspector of Minnesota, also opposed the bill.

HOUSE HEARS JACOBSON

Former Leader Talks to Members on Necessity of Economy.

Little Squall Over Criticisms of Votes in Speakership Fight.

(By a Staff Correspondent).

St. Paul, Minn., Jan. 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—Jacob Jacobson of Madison, the "gentleman from Lac qui Parle," who made the rafters ring time and again in the old capitol when he was the leader of the house, and who has been more or less retired from politics since he ran for governor in 1908, spoke briefly to the house yesterday afternoon, and gave it some good advice.

The "gentleman from Lac Qui Parle" is fatter, and apparently better natured, than he used to be in the old days, but he is not a whit less vigorous or emphatic.

"You are all pledged," he said, "to an economical administration. You made such pledges before election, when you were seeking the favor of the people. Stick to that pledge, and you can't go far wrong, though it is the hardest pledge in the world to stick to. I know, because I have tried it.

BRITISH ARMY ADVANCE A MILE

Advance Near La Bassee After Vigorous Preliminary Shelling.

Paris, Jan. 15.—The Havas agency has received a dispatch from St. Omer, dated Jan. 10, which relates a British victory and an advance near La Bassee of one mile. The message follows:

"The British, by an impetuous attack, stormed the strongly entrenched German position near La Basse at 2 o'clock this afternoon, after a vigorous preliminary shelling. This is an important strategic point and its occupation represents an advance of one mile. The British losses were slight, but the Germans lost heavily. Many Germans were taken prisoners."

WHEAT BREAKS HIGH WAR-PRICE RECORD

Old May Gains 2 Cents Within an Hour After Opening.

Chicago, Jan. 15.—It was not a minute after opening today when wheat broke the war price high record. First sales of the May delivery shot up to $1.43⅝ a bushel, nearly a full cent above last night's close and overtopping by ¼c the previous high figures, which were attained on yesterday's excited advance.

Liverpool quotations, up 2c to 3c, had much to do with the fresh upturn here.

Before the market was an hour old, May wheat, selling at $1.44⅜@1.44½, had gained more than 2 cents a bushel in price, as compared with yesterday's climax in prices. Advices from rural centers, notably in Kansas and Nebraska, indicated that farmers were selling but little. On the other hand there seemed to be no limit to demand for ocean shipment, regardless of supposed scarcity of vessels.

Assertions that all the wheat afloat at Buffalo had been withdrawn from sale was regarded as especially significant. Ordinarily such a condition would not be brought about until far into the spring.

ESCAPE FROM MEXICO MOST SENSATIONAL

Eduardo Iturbide Reveals How He Got Away From the Capital.

Assistance of United States Aroused Anger of Villa and Zapata.

Swam Across Rio Grande to Avoid Secret Service Men.

Washington, Jan. 15.—Eduardo Iturbide, once member of the Mexican senate and later commander of the Federal district, revealed here the story of his sensational escape from death in Mexico, the circumstances of which, for a time, threatened to cause a serious breach between Gen. Gutierrez and Generals Villa and Palafox. He said he rode nearly 600 miles through deserts and over mountains to the American border after leaving a train south of Chihuahua to avoid arrest.

The United States took an active part in negotiations for Iturbide's safety in appreciation of his efforts on behalf of Americans and other foreigners during the turbulent days in the Mexican capital following the abdication of Huerta. The efforts of American Consul Silliman and Leon Canova, special agent of the state department, in his behalf, aroused the anger of Gen. Villa and the Zapata chiefs.

Although Iturbide had been in the United States for a week, he withheld details of his adventures until he learned last night that his wife and sister-in-law were safe across the American border.

The exile, who is a great grandson of Augustin Iturbide, who proclaimed himself emperor of Mexico in 1821, and subsequently was executed, is about 36 years old, an athlete, a crack revolver shot and polo player. He was a favorite with members of the foreign colony in Mexico City and had many opportunities to leave along with other Federal officers.

TURKEY REPLIES TO PROTEST OF PERSIA

Will Evacuate Province If Russia Will Get Out of Territory.

Teheran, Persia, Thursday, Jan. 14, via London, Jan. 15, 12:40 p. m.—The Turkish ambassador here has notified the Persian government that the porte is ready to evacuate the province of Zerbaijan as soon as the Russians definitely move out of this territory and after the heir to the throne reaches Tabriz to assume control. The heir to the throne is to leave Teheran for Tabriz in a few days.

Turkey's note to Persia is a reply to a Persian ultimatum recently forwarded to Constantinople demanding that Turkish invading forces withdraw from Persian territory. It is in accordance with Persia's announced intention of maintaining neutrality in the war.

Several towns in the province of Azerbaijan have been occupied by Ottoman troops in the present Turkish campaign in Northwestern Persia against the Russians. On Wednesday Tabriz, the capital of the province, was occupied by the Turks after the evacuation of the town by a Russian force which had garrisoned it.

VIOLENT ATTACK BY GERMANS DRIVES FRENCH ACROSS RIVER

LOST GROUND IS RECOVERED

First Notable Fighting Near Soissons Since Last September.

Snow and Floods Prevent Action By Eastern and Western Wings.

German Army Planning to Again Display Its Hammering Tactics.

London, Jan. 15.—The violent German attack to the north of Soissons under the direction of Gen. von Kluck, which, coupled with a flood stage of the river, has forced the French back across the Aisne, is the most striking news of the last twenty-four hours from the seat of war.

The Germans have been gaining in this locality for several days, but they had not recovered all of the ground lost by them. This movement north of Soissons is the first notable fighting in the vicinity since last September, when the British army, which subsequently was transferred to Belgium, was successful in crossing the Aisne.

Snow in the Vosges mountains and floods in Flanders still prevent any extensive operations on the eastern or western wings, and to British observers it appears as though the Soissons district had been selected for the point where, with reinforcements and first line troops, the Germans are planning to display once more the hammering tactics so familiar during the autumn. On the other hand some war experts argue that the operations at Soissons may have been undertaken to compel the allies to lessen the pressure in Alsace.

The British claim to have won a marked success several days ago near La Bassee, when they drove the Germans from strongly entrenched positions, gaining one mile in distance and inflicting severe losses on their antagonists.

There has been no change of importance in the eastern arena of the war.

Italy has been momentarily distracted from thoughts of war by the devastating earthquake of Jan. 13. The assertion is still being made in London that the allies confidently expect Italy to join them in due course.

POPULAR WAR HERO TO GO TO WESTERN FRONT

GEN. VON HINDENBURG.

London, Jan. 15.—An Amsterdam dispatch to the Exchange Telegraph company says travelers arriving here from Germany report that in response to a popular demand, Field Marshal Von Hindenburg, commander of the German campaign against Russia and the popular hero of Germany, is likely to be transferred to the western front in the spring.

WARSHIP DAMAGED BY TERRIFIC WAVES.

Newport News, Va., Jan. 15.—The battleship Kansas sustained damage in Wednesday's storm off the Virginia coast, which it will require two weeks to repair, it was reported on the warship's arrival in Hampton Roads last night from Philadelphia. A 60-mile gale whipped up big seas that broke over the vessel's decks for seven hours, it was said. No official report of the damage had been made tonight. The Kansas was on a speed run.

OIL STEAMER HELD UP FOR FIVE DAYS.

London, Jan. 14, (Delayed in transmission.)—The American steamer Edward Pierce, which left New York for Copenhagen, Nov. 25, and reached Falmouth, Dec. 14, was detained five days because the destination of her cargo of oil was questioned.

The American steamer George Hawley, which left New York, Nov. 15, for Copenhagen, was detained at Falmouth for three weeks because she carried 500 barrels of oil which the British officials suspected was intended for Germany.

PREPARING TO STRIKE

Russians Think Germans Plan General Aggressive Movement in East.

Removal of Sick and Change of Ammunition Base So Indicate.

Petrograd, Jan. 15, via London.—The Russian general staff has reached the opinion that the Germans are preparing for a general aggressive movement to the west and southwest of Warsaw.

Staff officers say that this opinion is borne out by the fact that the German have removed their sick and wounded from Lodz and Plotrkow into Prussia and have changed their ammunition bases.

Information has been received here of the arrival of large bodies of German troops in Northern Hungary, and their distribution at points within striking distance of the fortified positions covering the northern entrances into Hungary and the principal passes of the Carpathians now held by the Russians.

This is taken to indicate that Germans are reinforcing the Austrian troops for a vigorous effort to free Northern Hungary and Bukowina from the danger of further Russian advances. The present lull about Warsaw is regarded as preparatory to this impending movement.

Facilitates Co-Operation.

The presence of Russian forces in Bukowina and along the River Dunajec, southeast of Cracow, not only would facilitate co-operation by Roumania with Russia, if she were disposed to enter the war, but also threatened German Silesia.

The opinion is held by military officers here that the German staff is attaching new importance to the Hungarian situation. The appointment of Baron Stephan Burian as Austrian foreign minister in succession to Count Von Berchtold is expected here to put an end to discussion of a separate Russian peace with Austria, which is said here to have been favored by Von Berchtold. His position, according to these reports, was that Austria should not sacrifice her resources to protect Hungary and Silesia from invasion.

Baron Burian, a Hungarian Slav, is an intimate friend of Count Stephan Tisza, the Hungarian premier. He was a resident of Moscow for a number of years, and is familiar with Russian affairs and the Pan-Slavic movement. He is said to favor an uncompromising fight against Russia.

BENEDICT DID NOT LEAVE THE VATICAN

Visited Santa Marta Hospital Without Touching Italian Soil.

Rome, Jan. 15.—Some of the newspapers announce that Pope Benedict, in visiting the wounded at the Santa Marta hospital, left the Vatican, thus interrupting the traditional imprisonment of the pope always adhered to by Popes Pius IX, Leo and Pius X, after the fall of the temporal power, meaning thus to protest against the occupation of Rome.

In reality the pontiff did not leave the Vatican but passing through the apostolic palace inside of St. Peter's he reached the hospital without touching Italian soil. His predecessor did the same thing when he visited the wounded brought to Santa Marta hospital after the earthquake in Messina.

ESTIMATE OF CASUALTIES IS NOW 55,000

Number of Dead Placed at 20,000 With 35,000 Injured.

Principal Loss of Life Is at Avezzano and Sora.

Almost Every Inhabitant of Two Places Lost Their Lives.

Rome, Jan. 13.—Constantly shifting estimates, based on reports that continue to trickle in, now place the death roll from Wednesday's earthquake at 20,000 and the injured at a number in excess of 35,000.

Hundreds, possibly thousands of victims are still buried alive, imprisoned by the wreckage of their homes, while rescuers from every walk of life struggle desperately to dig them out. King Victor Emmanuel, who returned to Rome from Avezzano last night, personally superintended the release of a number of such unfortunates.

The king reached the capital in his private car to which were attached three coaches bearing forty wounded. These, like the other hundreds who are steadily reaching Rome, were distributed about the hospitals, regular and extraordinary, in the city.

Pope Offers Use of Hospital.

Pope Benedict this morning offered to the mayor of Rome the use of the hospital of Santa Marta, which he visited yesterday. The offer was gratefully accepted, and its 200 beds serve as a material relief for the difficult situation.

The principal loss of life, and probably the chief property damage appears to have been in Avezzano and the town of Sora, fifteen miles away. Both these municipalities were destroyed and their populations virtually wiped out.

The latest reports place the number of dead in Avezzano at 10,000 and in Sora at 4,000. In at least sixty other towns affected more than 6,000 have been killed. From these towns come the majority of the injured. In Avez-

SORA IS WRECKED BY SECOND SHOCK

Four Hundred and Fifty Bodies Already Recovered From Ruins.

Rome, Jan. 15.—At Sora, sixty miles northeast of Rome in the province of Caserta, another earthquake shock occurred yesterday. The residents, panic-stricken, fled from their homes. The town, with a population of 20,000, was almost destroyed. About two-thirds of the houses collapsed under the shock and others, which were cracked, tumbled down later. Rossi palace fell in, burying twenty laborers who were working in the courtyard. Among the victims in Sora are many of the town authorities and persons of note in the district. It is feared that the fatalities will aggregate almost 400. Many soldiers have arrived in the town.

At Avezzano, while King Victor Emmanuel was making his rounds of the ruins, he reached a spot where workmen were endeavoring to extricate a child buried in the debris. The king mounted a pile of fallen masonry and superintended the rescue.

Thus far 200 bodies and 160 injured persons have been taken out of the ruins at Avezzano.

Four hundred and fifty bodies already have been recovered from the wreckage in Sora. There are hundreds of injured there.

POOR OLD EUROPE.

SUMMARY OF THE WAR NEWS

A British victory not recorded in the official statements from Paris or Berlin and described as important is reported unofficially from St. Omer, France. It is said that on Jan. 10 the British stormed the German intrenchments near La Bassee, in France, about ten miles south of the Belgian border, driving back the Germans with heavy losses and advancing one mile. The positions involved are of considerable strategic value, but confirmation of their reported capture is lacking.

Heavy fighting continues near Soissons, where the Germans have won important advantages over the allies. Near Perthes, in the Argonne and upper Alsace, and elsewhere along the western front, where recently there have been heavy engagements, activity has subsided. Other phases of the military situation in the west apparently have been subordinated for the present to that in the Soissons region, where the outcome may exercise a marked influence on future operations over a long stretch of the front.

Petrograd is confident that the German offensive movement in Poland has spent its force, and the war office announces that Russian forces have made gains along the Vistula. Gen. Von Hindenburg's troops are now occupying strongly entrenched positions, however, and there are no indications that they are threatened seriously by the Russian attacks.

The Turkish forces which penetrated Persia, occupying Tabriz, are now advancing into the interior. Russia explains her evacuation of Tabriz as due to strategic reasons which necessitated a regrouping of her troops.

The Porte is said to have offered to withdraw its forces from Persia if Russia also would do so.

Today's French official statement says that German positions near Arras were captured by Zouaves in a bayonet charge. There is no important change in the Soissons region.

The Russian general staff expects a concerted attack by the German forces west and southwest of Warsaw. German troops have been sent to the assistance of the Austrians in an effort to relieve Bukowina and northern Hungary from the danger of further Russian advances.

JUSTICE IS EXPENSIVE

County Spent Nearly $300,000 on Its Court Machinery Last Year.

Includes Judges' Salaries, Sheriff's Expenses and Jurors' Fees.

It cost nearly $300,000 to keep the wheels of justice turning in St. Louis county last year.

The cost of running the machinery of the courts is one of the largest items of expense borne by the county and according to figures which may be obtained from the office of County Auditor Odin Halden, it is climbing in leaps and bounds every year.

Last year the cost of maintaining the courts and the offices connected with it showed an increase of $46,813.64 over the previous year. In 1914, a total of $296,205.83 was expended as compared with $249,392.19 for 1913.

Figures available at the county auditor's office also show that slightly over 64 per cent of the total expenditures from the county's general revenue fund was expended for the upkeep of the court system. In 1913, the amount spent was about 60 per cent of the county revenue fund.

The largest single item is the cost of maintaining the sheriff's office and county jail. In 1914, warrants were drawn upon the county revenue fund in the amount of $71,865.54 as against $69,292.49 for the previous year.

Jury Fees.

Jury fees are also a big item of expense. In 1914, $54,366.02 was paid out for petit jury service and $4,721.26 was collected from the county by persons serving on grand juries. In 1913, $41,900.26 was spent in petit jury fees and grand jurors collected $3,751.50. Witness fees paid out during 1914 totaled $10,168.03 as compared with $7,995.29 for the previous year.

It is believed that special grand jury investigations which were conducted last year were responsible for increases shown in the amount expended for grand juror's fees and witness fees.

At the January, 1914 term of court, at the instigation of the News Tribune, an investigation of the police department took place which dragged over a period of nearly four weeks, during which time more than 100 witnesses were summoned. No indictments against members of the police department were returned. In September a grand jury investigation of the sheriff's office was conducted which consumed several days.

Some of the offices which are adjuncts to the courts are a source of revenue. Sheriff's fees turned in during the past year amounted to $8,930.05, the clerk of the court's fees, $21,370.56; probate court fees, $718.30. The amount received in fines and costs was $2,885.48 last year as compared with $3,396.22 in 1913.

An itemized statement of the expenditures made by the court system during the past two years is as follows:

"POTGANGING" IN "JUNGLETOWN"

Community Stew Was Cooked With Coal Borrowed From Railroad Yards.

Potganging is the order of the day in Jungletown, and for the uninitiated, it might be well to mention that Jungletown is that part of the city along the water front and immediately west of Sixth avenue.

Potganging is the gathering of the clans so to speak, where each guest contributes some article of food that is put into a common pot; and a more or less delectable stew is the result. Then all partake, share and share alike, of the feast. John Schultz, Joseph Gatyas, John Oleson and Joseph Bennett were arrested and charged with trespass and potganging. In order to have a regular fire they borrowed a few sacks of coal from the nearby railroad yard and seemed to be oblivious of impending disaster, when the police pounced upon them. The fire was still burning brightly and the pot still contained the remains of the banquet, when the men were taken into custody. They pleaded guilty before Judge Wilson in the city court this morning, and were turned over to the tender mercies of Probation Officer Frank Hicks, who has their case under consideration.

FOUR INDICTED BY GRAND JURY

Members Complete Their Work and Receive Compliments of Court.

Four indictments were returned by the Federal grand jury which reported to Judge Page Morris of the United States district court at noon today. The report today wound up the work of the investigating body, and Judge Morris, after commending the members for their rapid and efficient work, gave them their discharge.

Two of the men who were indicted will be arraigned before Judge Morris this afternoon. These are Joseph St. John, indicted for introducing liquor upon the Fond du Lac Indian reservation, and Paul Kuculyna, indicted on a charge of bringing an alien woman to the United States for immoral purposes.

The other indictments were against Joseph Posey, charged with introducing liquor upon the Fond du Lac reservation, and George Nuthall, charged with violation of the immigration laws by bringing aliens to the United States contrary to the requirements of the immigration laws.

The grand jury has ground out a big list of indictments in a very short time. The jury went into secret session Tuesday and had completed its work by noon. The members were paid off and ready to go home in a half hour after their discharge.

AN INVITATION TO AGGRESSION

So Senator Lodge Characterizes Unarmed Condition of United States.

Washington, Jan. 15.—In urging upon the senate the need for a commission to report on military preparedness, or for a permanent council of national defense, Senator Lodge today declared that the national defense of the country "is not only imperfect and unbalanced but that it has grave and in some instances fatal deficiencies." He designated what he termed many of the defects and said they were "almost wholly due to congress."

An adequate national defense, the senator said, could be obtained without additional expenditures. "Cut off our needless army posts, navy yards and stations," he advised the senate. "Lay aside for a few years appropriations for public buildings and river and harbor improvements where they are not needed. Drop all of the expenditures which are designed for spots where votes are lying thickest and you will have money enough to provide for a sufficient army and an adequate navy without adding to the burden of taxation."

He warned that the ocean barrier that defended the country in 1776 and in 1812 had been destroyed, by steam and electricity. Unarmed, unready, undefended, the nation stands an invitation to aggression and attack, he said.

INJURED WHILE WAITING FOR JOB.

John Adams, a laborer living at Allouez, sustained severe injuries and a fractured arm while standing in line waiting to be given a city job on the construction of the Catlin avenue sewer yesterday. A discharge of dynamite threw a quantity of clay and rock, which injured the man. Dr. D. R. Searle, city physician, says the man is in a serious condition.

McKAY TO DECIDE PRISONER'S FATE.

District Attorney Archibald McKay will decide today whether he will send to Michigan for George McCoy, who was arrested recently and confessed to being an escaped prisoner. He was arrested by the sheriff of Kalamazoo county. McCoy claims to have escaped from Sheriff Carlson while being taken to Waupun penitentiary to serve a year. Mr. Carlson claims to have had no knowledge of the prisoner escaping.

Find Clew to Robbery.

Superior police believe they have a clew that will lead to the arrest of burglars who broke into the home of Attorney R. I. Tipton, 1422 John avenue, Wednesday night. A check for $5 and six silver spoons stolen from the house were found yesterday afternoon by employes of the Yale laundry on Ogden avenue. The thieves also took $30 in cash and several rings. The family was attending a party at the Superior hotel during the evening.

NUMBER OF DEAD GROWS LARGER

Believed 11,000 Lie Beneath Ruins of City of Avezzano.

Paris, Jan. 15.—A dispatch to the Havas agency from Rome quotes the Messaggero as saying the number of dead at Avezzano is larger than has been believed. According to this paper, 11,000 persons lie beneath the ruins of the city.

The Messaggero says that at Canpadocio all the houses are uninhabitable and the people are camping in the snow. Twenty bodies have been recovered from the ruins there and it is estimated that thirty more are still beneath the debris.

The town of Sourcola is now nothing but a pile of ruins, beneath which are buried hundreds of bodies. Of the population of 900 only thirty escaped death.

At Magliano-di-Marsi, 1,300 were killed. Capelle was destroyed with the loss of more than 1,200 lives. Nearly the entire population of San Benedetto, numbering 3,000, met death. The towns of Ortucchio, with 2,400 inhabitants, and Giosamarsi, with 3,500, are in ruins. At Pescina the number of deaths is about 4,000, which is approximately one-half of the population.

BOY HURT BOXING.

North Side Athletic Club "in Bad" By Accident.

John Zajaczkowski, 18 years old, boxed for several minutes with his friend, Lee Jagla, and was lacing his shoes preparing to go home when he fell to the floor unconscious. He was taken to a hospital where physicians said he was suffering from concussion of the brain.

BIG INHERITANCE TAX.

Estate of Lord Strathcona Pays Wisconsin $104,000.

Madison, Wis., Jan. 15.—The state treasury of Wisconsin was enriched today to the amount of $104,000.

The estate of Lord Strathcona, one of the builders of the Canadian Pacific railroad and a financial backer of James J. Hill in the early days of railroad building, today paid into the Dane county treasury for the state a check for that amount representing inheritance tax on his Wisconsin railroad stock.

Lord Strathcona was known among civilians as Donald Smith.

GORDON MEN SATISFIED

Six Chairmanships to Members Who Voted Against Flowers.

County Optionists in Minority on Temperance Legislation Committee.

(By a Staff Correspondent.)

St. Paul, Minn., Jan. 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—With the announcement of the house committee assignments yesterday afternoon the last of the preliminaries was put out of the way, and there is nothing to prevent the legislature going ahead with its work. A number of bills are already in and streams more are coming, and while it is not necessary to find any great activity in the early weeks, the committees will begin their work in both branches next week.

While Speaker Flowers did not forget his friends in making up the committee assignments, a study of the list shows that he was not vindictive, as his late opponents are generously recognized. The talk last evening after adjournment indicated that the Gordon supporters mostly are pretty well satisfied. Out of fifty-six chairmanships, sixteen went to men who did not vote for Flowers, and among these were several of much importance.

Representative Gunnar B. Bjornson of Minneota, one of the Gordon leaders, was appointed chairman of the committee on elections, which will consider two election contests and all proposed changes in the election laws, including preliminary election proposals. Sam Y. Gordon was made chairman of the committee on state census, which will have the handling of the 1915 census measures. John E. Sanborn of St. Paul, is chairman of the committee on workingmen's compensation, a position which he held last session and filled with great credit.

County Optionists in Minority.

The county optionists, perhaps, are not highly delighted with the committee on temperance legislation, on which they have six members, while their opponents have nine. Still, they are not surprised, and they are treated at least as well, probably, as the opponents of county option would have been treated had the optionists won the speakership fight. Speaker Flowers comes from a district overwhelmingly opposed to county option, was elected as an opponent of county option, and was made speaker on that understanding. That he should have failed to give the county optionists a majority is no surprise, then, to anybody.

Joyful Anticipation of Motherhood

There is apt to be a latent apprehension of distress to mar the complete joy of expectation. But this is quite overcome by the advice of so many women to use "Mother's Friend." This is an external application designed to so lubricate the muscles and to thus so relieve the pressure reacting on the nerves, that the natural strain upon the cords and ligaments is not accompanied by those severe pains said to cause nausea, morning sickness and many local distresses.

Many people believe that those remedies which have stood the test of time, that have been put to every trial under the varying conditions of age, weight, general health, etc., may be safely relied upon. And judging by the fact that "Mother's Friend" has been in continual use since our grandmother's earlier years and is known throughout the United States it may be easily inferred that it is something that women gladly recommend.

"Mother's Friend" is prepared only in our own laboratory and is sold by druggists everywhere. Ask for a bottle to-day and write for a special book for expectant mothers. Address Bradfield Regulator Co., 307 Lamar Bldg., Atlanta, Ga.

mander, arrived in the capital, he ordered the arrest of Iturbide, who, scenting trouble, had hidden in a private house in Mexico City. Sullivan and Canova interceded and he was promised a fair trial, but he doubted the wisdom of surrendering and remained in hiding.

Finally through the efforts of the American government, Gen. Gutierrez, as provisional president, gave Iturbide safe conduct to the United States. Canova left Mexico City on the same train with Iturbide, but before they had proceeded far, an order was issued by Gen. Villa for the arrest of Iturbide.

"I rode on that train," Iturbide said, "just one day, for I realized the secret service men were trailing me and that an order for my arrest would come any minute. I wrote my will and gave it to Mr. Canova, and slipped off the train just south of Aguas Calientes. I walked around aimlessly for sixty miles and finally got a horse on a ranch. For fifteen days I rode, disguised as a rancher, and made my way to the American border, eluding troops and police by traveling mostly at night and sleeping by day. I had left all my baggage on the train, and when I finally got to the Rio Grande I was afraid to go to any of the bridges, for fear the secret service men would be waiting for me. I have always been a good swimmer, so I plunged in and swam the river. An Englishman, whose name I will not mention, met me and gave me some clothes. I was destitute when I arrived."

Last year Iturbide was worth several millions. His property has now been confiscated and his funds in Mexican banks similarly appropriated by the different chiefs. By selling some of his property to foreigners he saved a small sum from the wreckage. He said he was undecided as to his future.

STATE SUPREME COURT DECISIONS

St. Paul, Minn., Jan. 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—The following decisions were rendered today by the supreme court:

ST. LOUIS COUNTY.
Company Liable.

George Arveson, respondent, vs. Boston Coal, Dock & Wharf company, et al, appellants—

1. Defendant company operated an unloading rig to unload coal from vessels to its docks. The two other defendants were hoisters and operated the machinery. Plaintiff was an oiler. It was extremely dangerous to oil the machinery when it was in motion. When plaintiff went upon the rig to oil, it was his custom to notify the hoisters, and it then became part of their business to keep the rig safe by keeping all machinery inoperative as long as plaintiff was on the rig and until he gave them a signal that he was through. On the occasion in question plaintiff went on the rig to oil when the machinery was not in motion. There is evidence that he notified the hoisters. Nevertheless one of the hoister started the machinery while plaintiff was upon the rig, without receiving his signal, and plaintiff was injured.

2. One of the absolute duties of the master is to use reasonable care to provide a safe place to work. This duty is not violated where the unsafety is caused by acts of co-servants in carrying out the details of the work. The master may adopt rules to facilitate the carrying on of his business, and these rules may operate for the protection of servants exposed to dangers. The question then arises whether the enforcement of such rules is an absolute duty of the master.

3. It is not the absolute duty of the master to see that every rule of his business is observed. His obligation in respect to mere details of the work is not rendered more extensive by the mere fact that he has systematized those details by adopting rules. If, however, the office of the rule is to provide a method for the discharge of some non-delegable duty of the master, then his duty to see that the rule is observed is absolute and non-delegable.

4. Where the servant is required to work in a place which is necessarily rendered dangerous by the doing of some independent work of the master, then the master is required to control such independent work while the servant is so engaged. If he adopt rules or sanction customs designed to effect this end, it is his duty to see that such rules or customs are observed, and he is liable for the negligent failure of those charged with that duty.

It is held that the hoisters were vice-principles and defendant company is liable for their negligence.

5. The damages are not excessive. Order affirmed. HALLAM, J.

HENNEPIN COUNTY.
Engaged in Interstate Commerce.

Victor Talking Machine company, respondent, vs. Laurence H. Lucker, appellant—

A foreign corporation selling goods to purchasers within the state upon orders received from traveling salesmen or by mail, and which ships goods into the state only to fill such orders, is engaged in interstate commerce, and it is not within the prohibitions of U. S. 1913, Secs. 6206-8 relating to foreign corporations doing business in this state. Its transactions are not rendered local by the fact that it advertises its goods in this state, or by the fact that its traveling salesmen turn in orders to local distributors to be filled by them, if the corporation disposes of its goods only by outright sales in the manner above described.

2. Such foreign corporation does not lose its right to enforce its interstate contracts in our courts by subsequently engaging in local business without complying with our laws.

3. A contract by one party to sell goods to another as ordered, but for no fixed period, is terminable at will of either party, and no right to damage can be predicated on its termination.

4. Competition in trade is lawful. One man may seek the business of a competitor and may tell the trade not to buy of his competitor, so long as he indulges in no threat, coercion, misrepresentation, fraud, or coercion, harrassing means.

Judgments affirmed. HALLAM, J.

HENNEPIN COUNTY.
Janitor Assumed Risk.

Jessie B. Davison, administratrix, appellant, vs. Harriet B. Ressler, et al., respondents—

A janitor who had stepped out upon a window ledge to clean the outside of the window, in attempting to raise it after completing his work, lost his balance and fell to the pavement. He had performed the same work under the same conditions for some years and was entirely familiar with the situation.

Held that he assumed the risk.

Judgment affirmed. TAYLOR, C.

RAMSEY COUNTY.
Not Entitled to Recover.

Sperry Realty company, appellant, vs. Merriam Realty company, respondent—

Defendant owned land and gave to plaintiff, a real estate agent, the privilege of making a sale thereof to a certain named person at a named price within a time specified. Plaintiff within the time specified contracted with the person named to sell the land to him at a price in excess of that named. The purchaser refused to complete the sale because of an easement that encumbered the land. It is held:

Conceding, but not deciding, that plaintiff performed the terms of its agreement with defendant, and that the failure to consummate the sale was the fault of defendant, plaintiff is not entitled to recover the difference between the price specified and that named in the contract with the purchaser. There being no pleading or proof as to the value of plaintiff's services, it is not entitled to recover in this action.

Order affirmed. BUNN, J.

MEEKER COUNTY.
May Compel Partition.

Alva R. Hunt, appellant, vs. Meeker County Abstract and Loan company, respondent—

1. Co-tenants may make any agreement they choose in respect to the use by each other of the common property, but such agreements do not constitute a partition thereof unless they provide or contemplate that title to specific portions thereof shall vest in such co-tenants in severalty.

2. A co-tenant has the right to compel a partition of the common property unless such right has been suspended or waived by some agreement in respect to the property, made by himself or by one through whom he claims.

3. Such right may be suspended for a limited time by express agreement, or by acquiring the property for, or devoting it to, some purpose which will be defeated by a partition; but such right is not suspended by the existence of an interest in the property, or of a right to occupy or use it, which may continue and be given effect notwithstanding the partition.

4. Under and pursuant to a contract made at the time of the construction of the building in controversy, plaintiff is in possession of the second floor thereof and defendant of the first floor thereof. It is held that their respective rights of occupancy under this contract may exist after partition the same as before; and that plaintiff may compel a partition, but that such partition will be subject to such rights of occupancy. Judgment reversed.

MEEKER COUNTY.
Obligations Not Impaired.

State ex rel Nelson-Spelliscy company, relator, vs. District Court of Meeker County et al., respondents—

1. In proceedings for compensation under Part 2 of the Workmen's Compensation Act, (Chap. 467 G. Laws 1913), it is held that the evidence supports the findings of the trial court to the effect that at the time of the accident and death complained of the relation of employer and employe existed between defendant and decedent, that the cause of death was accidental and while decedent was engaged in the course of this employment, and was not caused by decedent's intoxication.

2. Held, further, following Mathison vs. Ry. Co., 126 Minn. 286, that the statute is not obnoxious to the various constitutional provisions invoked by defendant.

3. The statute applies to relations of employer and employe existing at the time of and which continued after its passage; and does not impair the obligations of the contract by which the relation came into existence.

Judgment affirmed. BROWN, C. J.

FREEBORN COUNTY.
No Negligence.

W. J. Doran, respondent, vs. Chicago, St. Paul, Milwaukee & Omaha Railway company, et al, defendants, Chicago, St. Paul, Milwaukee & Omaha Railway company, appellant—

1. Where a suit to recover for personal injuries is brought by a passenger against a railway company and one of its employes, and a verdict is rendered against the company, but in favor of the employe, such verdict determines that there was no negligence on the part of the employe which can be imputed to the company; but where the company is charged both with the negligence charged against the employe and with other negligence, such verdict also determines that the company was guilty of such other negligence.

2. A railway company which receives passengers for transportation on freight trains must afford them a reasonable opportunity to enter and leave such trains in safety, and owes them the duty to guard against dangers which reasonable prudence could forsee and avoid.

3. The court properly declined to give instructions which were either inaccurate or not applicable to the facts of the present case.

4. It is held that the evidence is sufficient to sustain the verdict and that there were no prejudicial errors in the admission thereof.

Order affirmed. TAYLOR, C.

NICOLLET COUNTY.
Court Not in Error.

State of Minnesota, respondent, vs. Harry Roby, appellant—

A prosecution for the crime of carnal knowledge of a female child under 14, alleged to have been committed May 20, evidence of a second offense committed upon the person of the same child on June 2 is admissible. Where the county attorney at the close of the state's case expressly elected to proceed to judgment upon the first charge it is unimportant whether or not the method of proof followed by the state constituted an implied election to so proceed.

2. Where two offenses of this character are proven, it is not error for the court to refuse to require the state to elect upon which charge it will proceed until the close of the state's case.

3. The county attorney called the wife of defendant as a witness for the state. Defendant claimed his statutory privilege and excluded her testimony. Held, the action of the county attorney in calling the wife was not misconduct, though defendant, before he was indicted, had notified the county attorney that he would object to the evidence of his wife either before the grand jury or elsewhere or otherwise.

4. Certain conduct of the court and of the county attorney reviewed and held to be not improper.

Order and judgment affirmed. HALLAM, J.

Brown, C. J. dissents.

REDWOOD COUNTY.
Not Runaway Team.

Frank Schultz, respondent, vis, Lewis Duel, appellant—

Plaintiff was injured by the running away of a team with which defendant was husking corn in his corn field. Defendant was husking beside the wagon with the reins fastened to the side of the wagon. It is conceded that this is a proper and customary manner of working with an ordinary team. Held, there is no evidence that this team was a runaway team or so wild or unsafe as to make it negligence for defendant to use it for husking corn in the usual manner.

Order reversed. HALLAM, J.

CLAY COUNTY.
Not In Reasonable Time.

S. F. Bowser & Company, (a corporation), appellant, vs. P. F. Fountain, et al, respondents—

1. Where a written order for goods is given, it is competent to prove that at the time of delivery of the order the parties agreed that it should become operative only upon the happening of a contingency or the performance of a condition.

2. An offer to buy which requires acceptance must be accepted within a reasonable time. Where it is understood that the goods to be bought are wanted within two weeks, evidence that an offer to buy was not accepted until thirty days after it was made, sustains a finding that acceptance was not within a reasonable time.

2. A custom of business houses to take at least ten days to investigate the credit of a new customer, could not bind the defendants, in the absence of proof that they had knowledge of the custom, or that it had become so general, long established and notorious that they must be presumed to have knowledge of it.

Order affirmed. HALLAM, J.

Bunn, J. and Phillip E. Brown, J., dissent.

LE SUEUR COUNTY.
Proof Required.

State of Minnesota, respondent, vs. James McLarne, appellant—

Our statute provides that a confession of defendant shall not be sufficient to warrant his conviction without evidence that the offense charged has been committed.

The corpus delicti in arson, the crime of which defendant was convicted, requires proof not alone of the fact that the building burned, but also that the fire originated through criminal agency. Excluding the claimed admissions or confessions of defendant, the evidence is insufficient to prove that the crime of arson was committed.

Order reversed and new trial granted. HOLT, J.

Hallan, J., dissents.

DRINK HOT TEA FOR A BAD COLD

Get a small package of Hamburg Breast Tea, or as the German folks call it, "Hamburger Brust Thee," at any pharmacy. Take a tablespoonful of the tea, put a cup of boiling water upon it, pour through a sieve and drink a teacup full at any time. It is the most effective way to break a cold and cure grip, as it opens the pores, relieving congestion. Also loosens the bowels, thus breaking a cold at once.

It is inexpensive and entirely vegetable, therefore harmless.

HELPS SUPPORT ASYLUM

The sum of $1,900 was forwarded to the state treasury as a balance of Duluth's share in the expenses of curing Minnesota's drunkards at Willmar, where the state inebriate hospital is situated. Duluth is required to pay 2 per cent of the annual revenue derived from liquor licenses for the asylum's maintenance. The city issued 173 licenses during the year 1914, the total receipts on the same being $173,000, making the city's assessment for the hospital $3,460. Of this amount $1,560 was paid in the summer, being the rate on seventy-eight licenses then paid up, and the remaining indebtedness covered yesterday, representing the balance due on ninety-six licenses.

DULUTH IS WELL ADVERTISED

Cincinnati Salesman Declares Zenith City Is Discussed Throughout the Country; Cool Weather and Freight Rates Popular Themes.

"There isn't a city in the entire United States which is better and more widely advertised than Duluth," said H. B. Rosenberg of Minneapolis at the Holland hotel last evening. Mr. Rosenberg is a traveling representative for a large manufacturing house in Cincinnati and makes several visits to this city each year.

"I have visited nearly every large city in the country, and no matter where I go," continued Mr. Rosenberg, "I continually read about Duluth. That's what helps a town, especially if the news is the kind that favorably advertises the city."

Talks of News Articles.

Here Mr. Rosenberg went into detail regarding some of the news articles he read about Duluth in various sections of the country. Beginning with a year ago last spring, he told of reading about the freight rate decisions, then came story after story in papers along the Atlantic coast about the cool weather in Duluth. Following this he read about the victories of the oarsmen first in the West and then at Boston, where the national honors were won.

"And so it went on throughout last summer," he continued. "If it wasn't about the weather, the news told of some rate decision or about a convention that was gathered here. Of course, there is often a police story about Duluth, but they always seem to tell about a great catch made by the authorities and that's really the best advertising for a town anywhere.

"And during the last two years I would constantly read about your commission government, the work that was being done, how your head of the safety department, Mr. Hicken, I believe, closed the ird and sat on it tight. That's a credit to your city and from what I hear business men tell me, Mr. Hicken has the support of the community.

Aiding the Unemployed.

"Only a month ago I read an article in the American Magazine about your system of aiding the unemployed by placing them on your rock pile and on street and sewer jobs. That's what I call practical assistance and I hope the plan works out. Even the Outlook had an article about Duluth's commission. When a town can continually break into print, especially the magazines, look for a growth in the population. The more people read about a city, the more they think of settling there, and, of course, that's what your business men want."

Asked regarding business conditions, Mr. Rosenberg talked very optimistically and declared that the future appeared very bright and that the depression of the last few months is fast disappearing. He also gave President Wilson warm praise and added that throughout the West, especially, business men stand firmly behind him.

HEAD STUFFED FROM CATARRH OR A COLD

Says Cream Applied in Nostrils Opens Air Passages Right Up.

Instant relief—no waiting. Your clogged nostrils open right up; the air passages of your head clear and you can breathe freely. No more hawking, snuffing, blowing, headache, dryness. No struggling for breath at night; your cold or catarrh disappears.

Get a small bottle of Ely's Cream Balm from your druggist now. Apply a little of this fragrant, antiseptic, healing cream in your nostrils. It penetrates through every air passage of the head, soothes the inflamed or swollen mucous membrance and relief comes instantly.

It's just fine. Don't stay stuffed-up with a cold or nasty catarrh.

WANTS SYMPATHY; SENT TO THE FARM

False Tale of Misfortune Fails to Land Him a "Soft Snap."

Raymond Boyer, who claimed to reside on West Superior street, attempted to "put one over" on the Duluth police yesterday, but the vigilance of Probation Officer Frank Hicks frustrated his plan. Boyer was arrested for vagrancy, and when brought up in the city court to answer to the charge, he told a sad and pathetic tale of the suffering of his wife and children and his inability to provide for them, for lack of employment. His tale was so touching and full of pathos that Judge Cutting, moved evidently by the man's story, ordered Officer Hicks to investigate. This Mr. Hicks did. The prisoner claimed to have a wife and four children living at a certain address on West Superior street. There is a wife and four children at that address, but they are not Mr. Boyer's. The woman at that address was very indignant when questioned and told of Boyer's claim of relationship. She admitted that they knew him and that he had delivered bread and other articles there on different occasions. She furthermore stated that he had confided to her yesterday that he meant to get arrested and tell the police that he had a wife and family dependent upon him, and thus working up sympathy for himself and obtain a soft job. Officer Wanvick arrested the man and matters seemed to be favoring Boyer's plan until Mr. Hicks took a hand. He was fined $60 and coats or sixty days on the work farm.

FILES ANSWER TO WIFE'S DIVORCE SUIT.

Chicago, Jan. 15.—Rev. James M. Darnell, pastor of the Henry E. Simmons Memorial church in Kenosha, Wis., until his matrimonial affairs were brought to the attention of the church trustees, yesterday filed his answer to a bill for divorce brought against him by Doris Vaughn Darnell. The answer neither admits nor denies that he married Doris Vaughn on Nov. 3, 1914, as alleged in her suit.

Darnell denied that he had lived with Ruth Soper Darnell as his wife in Kenosha.

THINGS THE PEOPLE SHOULD KNOW

CITY EMPLOYES ARE AT WORK AT THE M. O. HEADQUARTERS AND THE CITY IS PAYING THEM

City Property and Supplies are being turned over to the "Unit Plant" agitators to use while public business waits

DON'T TAKE OUR WORD FOR IT, LOOK HERE!

State of Minnesota, County of St. Louis.—ss.

I, R. R. Grant, being first duly sworn, according to law, on my oath do say:

That on December 5th, 1914, I received telephone call from some one in the City Hall at Duluth that Mayor Prince wanted to see me; that on said day I went to see Mayor Prince. He stated that the City Clerk wanted some one to help work addressing envelopes and getting out literature before election.

That same day I went to see the City Clerk. He stated that there was no work yet, but that he would communicate with me as soon as there was some work to be done; that on December 12th, 1914, the City Clerk employed me to work for the City and then I commenced working in the City Clerk's office at Duluth, addressing envelopes to voters whose names appeared on the Voter's Register.

That on January 6th, 1915, the City Clerk ordered me to go to the Municipal Ownership Headquarters in the Phoenix Block and work there. I went to the Municipal Ownership Headquarters in the Phoenix Block and worked there January 6th, 7th and 8th, addressing envelopes and helping mail literature; while I was there the Municipal Ownership Headquarters were in charge of a Mr. Young, and at various times he ordered me to hurry up and get the work done as soon as possible; I was engaged in addressing envelopes and mailing literature.

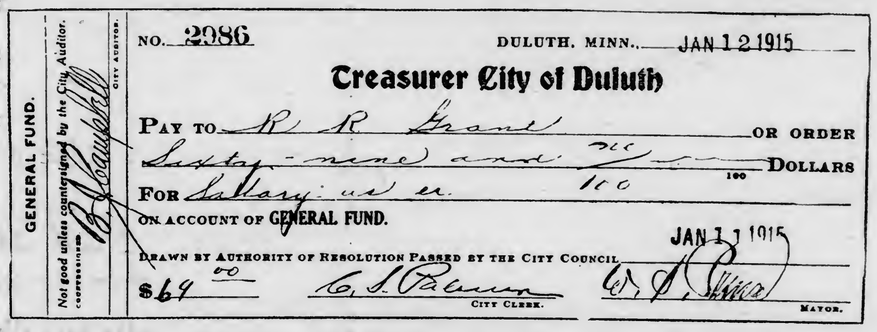

That on January 13th, 1915, I received from the City of Duluth, Order No. 2986, drawn on the General Fund for the sum of Sixty-nine (69.00) Dollars, in payment of my services from December 12th, 1914, to January 8th, 1915, inclusive; that a photograph of said order is attached to this affidavit.

That from January 9th, 1915, to January 13th, 1915, while still in the employ of the City of Duluth, I worked both in the city hall and in the Municipal Ownership Headquarters in the Phoenix Block.

VICTIM OF TRAIN ACCIDENT DIES

William Johnson Succumbs at Hospital After Brave Struggle.

William Johnson, aged 40, who was run over by a Duluth & Iron Range logging train yesterday morning in the Northern Pacific railroad yards, died later at St. Mary's hospital, where he was taken in the hopes of saving his life. It was found that he was too weakened to stand an operation. His limbs were terribly crushed and mangled.

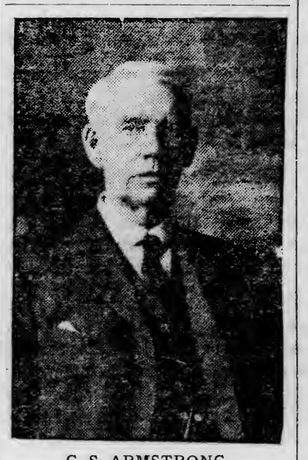

The man resided about a half mile from the terminus of the Woodland car line. He worked as a bridge carpenter for the Northern Pacific road, and during his spare time, worked on the land that he had purchased. He is survived by a wife and baby and a 4-year-old boy. The wife arrived at the hospital just as her husband was breathing his last and too late for mutual recognition.

The accident occurred shortly before 8 o'clock yesterday morning. Mr. Johnson, working in the railroad yards, was removing a fire hose that lay across the track, when he noticed the approach of the logging train. He stepped back on the adjoining track, but did not know that the train was about to take the switch. The switched car was shunted on him before he could make his escape. A hurry call was sent in to police headquarters for the emergency ambulance, and the injured man was rushed to the hospital. Dr. Braden, who was in attendance, could do little owing to the great loss of blood.

DIES AT CROSBY.

G. S. Armstrong Will Be Buried Here Saturday Afternoon.

The funeral of G. S. Armstrong, who died at Crosby, Minn., Jan. 11, will take place from the Crawford & Sons undertaking rooms tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock. Mr. Armstrong, who lived in Duluth for many years and has a host of friends in the city, has been connected with the railway mail service since Nov. 16, 1882, and since last July, was employed as transfer clerk in charge of Duluth.

G. S. ARMSTRONG.

Born at Lisbon, N. Y., Sept. 29, 1849, Mr. Armstrong resided at 40 Quince street, Duluth Heights for the last thirteen years and was 65 years of age at the time of death.

ARRANGING FOR BURNS BANQUET

Tentative Outline of Program—E. W. MacPherson Will Be the Orator.

While the program has not been completed for the annual celebration of the anniversary of the birth of Robert Burns, the great Scottish poet, on Jan. 25, by Clan Stewart, Order of Scottish Clans, an outline has been arrived at and the speaker of the evening has been chosen. He will be E. W. MacPherran, an attorney of Duluth, who will talk on some phases of the life of the plowboy poet.

An attempt is being made to have a typical Scotch reel danced by four experts, dressed in the highland costume, but that has not been fully arranged for. Others taking part in the program will be Philip Gordon Brown, J. R. Batchellor, Mrs. Harry Tabor White, Miss Jessie McGhie and Miss Agnes May Johnson.

The affair will be held at the Spalding. There will be a banquet, program and dancing.

THEATRICAL ORGANIZATION OPENS CLUB ROOMS.

The Theatrical Protective association formally opened its new hall at 22 East First street with a banquet last night. Meetings will be held monthly. At the banquet last evening virtually every theatrical man employed in the city was present, and so were some of the managers. The association was recently organized and has had the rooms in an upper floor at the number given remodelled so that a most attractive hall has been arranged.

At the affair last night the performers at the different theaters of the city, especially the vaudeville houses, put on stunts, which were special in character, and probably never in their lives had they received so hearty applause.

The order is a new one, benevolent in character and for just what its title states—protection of the theatrical employes. There are certain benefits prescribed, and their object is that of bringing together, in a social way, the men employed in the same profession.

"CHRIS" COLUMBUS FREED.

Indian Released After Serving Time in Jail Here.

Christopher Columbus, an Indian, was released last night from the St. Louis county jail by United States Commissioner Thomas H. Pressnell. The prisoner not only has the great discoverer's name, but also was afflicted with the same handicap—lack of funds. Columbus was sentenced in Minneapolis in October for introducing liquor on an Indian reservation, and being unable to pay a $100 fine, he was imprisoned. He was in the St. Louis county bastile just thirty-two days.

SAYS INVITED SPEAKERS WERE REFUSED A HEARING.

Speakers sent by the Citizens' Referendum committee to the Woodman hall last evening were refused permission to make addresses, according to Ray M. Hughes, chairman of the committee.

Mr. Hughes said this morning that he had received an invitation from J. H. Brigham of the Municipal Ownership league to send speakers to the Woodman hall last evening. He delegated John H. Norton and C. L. Hood to deliver the addresses in behalf of the referendum committee, but they were denied the platform after reaching the auditorium, he alleges.

SENTENCE "MARRIED" MAN FOR VAGRANCY.

James Cummings, who claims Allouez as his home and says that he is a respectable married man with a family there, was sentenced to thirty days on the work farm by Judge Windom today on a charge of vagrancy. He was given a five-day sentence at the county jail just a week ago on a similar charge, but after having one meal at the institution he was released through the offices of Probation Officer Hicks. The man promised to mend his ways, but has been a nightly applicant for lodging at the police station ever since.

MAYOR PRINCE WOULD "PLAY SAFE"

Calls Hicken "Unwise" in Lending Addressograph to M. O. League.

From now on no equipment from the city hall will be loaned out for any purpose, political or otherwise, if Mayor Prince has his way.

The mayor said this morning that Commissioner Hicken was unwise in loaning the addressograph to the Municipal Ownership league for the addressing of campaign literature and declared that he will oppose any such action in the future.

"I do not attack the motives of the commissioner," declared Mayor Prince, "but it is better to play safe. It would appear more creditable to the city departments to have people come to use the equipment than to loan articles out all over the city. It is a bad precedent, not to consider anything else."

It was stated this morning that the absence of the addressograph from the health department office did not cause a delay in the mailing of the monthly bulletins. The printers, it is claimed, were delayed in their work and the department claims to be waiting for the copies of the bulletin, while the envelopes are already addressed and stamped.

KIRKPATRICK ON WAR.

Socialist Lecturer Tells Cloquet How to End Big Conflict.

Cloquet, Minn., Jan. 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—A lecture on war, entitled "The Mailed Fist," was delivered last evening in Elm's hall by George R. Kirkpatrick under the local branch of the Socialists. His arguments against militarism were strong. There was a large attendance and much enthusiasm shown. Mr. Kirkpatrick said that the war in Europe was the outgrowth of militarism, that all the peace institutions in the world have failed and that the only way that war can be prevented is for the common people and the working class in general to refuse to bear arms, no matter what the circumstances.

LUNCHES FOR SCHOOL CHILDREN IN SPAIN

Among the countries in which the matter of free lunches for school children is receiving attention is Spain. Mrs. Margaret Hadley Foster of Houston, Tex., wrote an interesting account of life in Jerez de la Frontera, Spain, commenting, among other things, upon the schools of that city. Mrs. Foster's letter that was published in the Houston Chronicle of Jan. 1, was in part:

"Jerez has a population of about 60,000, with only thirteen public schools, and even these are poorly equipped, though I feel sure that there are more children to the square inch in Jerez than in any place in the known world. They simply overrun the place, so Mr. De Ysasi, formerly mayor, did what he could for them, watching for every indication of health, interest in their work, etc. He told me that at first he noticed a listlessness, a want of interest and life in many of the children, that could only come from one thing—hunger! So he got the city council to give a certain amount from the fund for public charities (largely raised by subscription and a tax on the places of amusement) for a luncheon or, as they call it here, breakfast for the children at the schools, and the result entirely justified him. One feature of the affair is thoroughly Spanish and shows a trait in these people that is admirable. The pupils are asked 'Who desires breakfast?' and those who do raise their hands, but there is always a number who refuse, preferring to have less to eat rather than acknowledge their poverty. Pride, you see, is the one trait shared by all, high and low. We went to one of the schools with Mr. De Ysasi and noticed that out of 75 children there were 57 who raised their hands. 'You may be sure they need the breakfast if they accept it,' he said, proud of the pride of his people.

Free School Breakfast.

"The teacher, a woman of about 45 years of age, was carelessly dressed and appeared to be one of those stout, ease-loving women of which Spain has more than her share, but she had a kindly face and took a keen interest in talking of her school.

"In the garden, where palms, pomegranates and mulberry trees, roses, lilies and flowering vines ran riot, we saw a long table laid ready for the children. In the center of the place was the basin of a fountain, that plays no more, heavily curbed in, and it was round this curbing that the smaller children stood while they ate their share of the dish prepared for them. This was a sort of stew of garavanzas, a large and very nourishing sort of chickpea that I never saw anywhere else. It is the dish of the people—that is, if they can afford it, for it is not especially cheap. In this case it was made into a stew with fish and onions—very nourishing, but between you and me, I wouldn't choose any.' However, those children ate it with gusto, leaving hardly a drop in the bottom of the big soup plate in which it was served. Besides the stew, each child had a generous piece of bread, which I noticed many took away with them."

FLONZALEYS DELIGHT BIG AUDIENCE

Famous Quartet Is Enthusiastically Received as Second Attraction in Matinee Musicale Course.

Four sad-eyed, strangely unemotional appearing men, with faces that seemed as immobile as granite, bowed like automatons at the First M. E. church last evening, while Duluthians stood with their coats on, insisting on still another encore.

The men were the members of the Flonzaley quartet, acknowledged as the greatest string quartet in the world, with only one possible rival. They appeared in the second of the Matinee Musicale's artists' recitals.

Anyone hearing the quartet for the first time cannot fail to notice the unusual stage manner of the four musicians. They never smile, or in any gesture or expression show feeling of any kind. In response to applause, they arise as one man, and bow like four automatons.

But they do not play like automatons, technically perfect and flawless as their playing is. The huge First Methodist church auditorium is not well suited to chamber music such as the Flonzaleys are exponents of. It is too large, but the good acoustics and the perfect silence in which the audience intently listened, permitted the most delicate tones to be heard in all parts of the auditorium, and the enthusiasm of the audience was shown by the insistence on a second encore at the conclusion of the program.

Ten years' untiring practice during the summer and concerts during the winter season have made the four musicians as near a unit as is possible.

They are to be members tonight of the audience at the concert of the Minneapolis Symphony concert in Minneapolis. Possibly there will be no more appreciative persons at the concert than these four special guests. Mr. Betti, the first violin, said last evening to one of the members of the Matinee Musicale: "You have no idea how we are looking forward to hearing music for a whole evening. We are always playing and rarely get an opportunity to listen."

The program last evening was opened by a Beethoven quartet in B flat major, Op. 18, No. 6. This was followed by a trio for two violins and cello by J. Marie Leclair, a number that is little known and very seldom heard, but which is rarely beautiful.

The only solo numbers were three preludes by Emanuel Moor. These were given by Alfred Pochon, the second violin of the quartet.

The most popular numbers were the Tschaikowski and Borodine ones in the last group. A Haydn serenade was given as an encore for the Borodine scherzo, but the audience was so insistent that the Flonzaleys repeated the Borodine number. Their encore to the Beethoven quartet was the Rubinstein Lento, and it was one of the most delicate and attractive numbers of the entire program.

GROWTH OF THE DANCE CRAZE

One hundred and five years ago today the New York city common council passed an ordinance prohibiting masked balls on the ground that they would tend to "subversion of all just and honorable discrimination of character and were calculated to encourage the profligate, to seduce the youth of both sexes and promote licentiousness and disorder." The common council was moved to this act because a report had come to its ears that a certain tavern was about to give a masked ball—the first in the city. There was at that time a celebrated dancing club called the "City Assembly," which danced at the City hotel, Broadway and Cedar street. A very exclusive social organization, a remote predecessor of the "Four Hundred," it expended its energies on the cotillion, the "Pigeon Wing," the "Double Shuffle" and the "Highland Fling." But the new French influence that had begun to invade the staid Knickerbocker spirit, had put new ideas in the heads of the City Assembly. Of all occasions, a masked ball to be a success, according to the common council then, demanded a clever company socially. The participants should be gifted in conversation and witty and humorous or there was great danger that such an occasion would degenerate into an orgy. The Anglo-Saxon was not by nature a conversationalist, it was contended, and for that one reason the masked ball would never be a social success.

Today the American people are the greatest dancers in the world. According to estimates by sociological investigators 80 per cent of the men and women who get married are first attracted to each other through the dance. In the winter of 1913-14 over 700 public dance halls were licensed in New York and on their floors an average of 70,000 persons danced every night. In every city, town and hamlet in the country, an almost equal interest in dancing was manifested. The nation's dancing bill would pay interest on the national debt, for over a million people spend their evenings on the dancing floor. In Cleveland, Chicago, Detroit, St. Louis and Milwaukee the licensed dance hall has become a source of revenue to the city. This dance craze is attributed to the growth of the city with its intense social hunger and to the evolution of stage dancing as exemplified in a half dozen dancing stars of genius. Within the last year co-operative efforts have been made to standardize the dance throughout the country by means of moving pictures. The etiquette of the dance, with all of its proper evolutions, its clutch, the space between the partners as practiced at West Point, Annapolis, Newport and in many church societies, is being thrown on the screen before the eyes of every social class. In many places the dancing inspector has become a most responsible officer of the law to see that dancing is conducted with proper decorum.

OBSERVATIONS

By PEGGY PEABODY

Men Admire Well Dressed Women.

More men are first attracted to women because of their pretty clothes and well-groomed appearance in public than for any other reason that they could advance honestly if the question was asked them. And probably a greater part of the men are as suddenly disillusioned as they were captivated, and it may be at a date not later than the first breakfast they sit down to in their new home.

Women, the same as men, have a tendency to lay aside their courtship manners and clothes the minute they can after the knot has been tied, and sometimes they never think to resume them upon any occasion for either one or the other, but keep them in reserve for outsiders.

Women discard their pretty clothes, cease to keep their hair, hands and face in the immaculate condition as was their wont when they were being wooed, and wear not only shabby, old clothes, but clothes that are not fresh and clean. They keep their home in the same slipshod fashion, and by every act seem to do their best to impress the man that they have married with the idea that anything at all is good enough for him.

There is, as with all stories, another side to this one, for most of us have seen a few men who treat their wives with scant consideration. To be sure, men do not come down in the morning with their hair done up in curl papers or wearing a faded, worn-out kimono, but they are inclined to forget that their wives might like to be helped into their wraps; that the removal of their husbands' hats would be just as much a mark of courtesy and respect to them now that they are married as it was before, and a hundred little things on the same order.

Which one is it that takes the first backward step in regard to the small courtesies and pleasantries of married life is not always to be decided offhand, but I should be disposed to lay the greater blame at the feet of the woman.

A man always admires a well-dressed, well-groomed woman, and where wives have taken pains to keep themselves as neat and charming to look upon as they were in the days of the courtship, they have had little cause to complain or regret their efforts in this direction. It is a matter of pride as well as pleasure with a man to see his wife well dressed and attractive, and should be with every woman.

AWARD IS SUSTAINED

George Arveson Will Secure $11,000 Damages From Dock Company.

After a fight which has dragged in the courts for the last eighteen months, George Arveson of West Duluth has established his right to recover $11,000 from the Boston Coal Dock & Wharf company for injuries received nearly three years ago, which left him a life-long cripple.

The Minnesota supreme court, in a decision handed down today, affirmed the $11,000 verdict which was returned Dec. 22, 1913, against the dock company by a district court jury of this county. The verdict was one of the largest personal injury awards that has been made in district court for some time.

While Arveson was working as an oiler on the Boston coal dock on May 29, 1912, Gust Olson, his brother-in-law, and John Peterson, fellow workers, negligently and carelessly started the hoisting apparatus, on which he was working, in operation. The result was that he was crushed between the different parts of the superstructure. He sustained two fractures of one of his legs. The accident resulted in the permanent shortening of his right leg and internal injuries, which have totally incapacitated him for work.

The dock company asked the court for a new trial and asserted that the damages awarded were excessive. Judge Cant of the trial court denied the motion for a new trial, and an appeal was taken to the court of last resort. In affirming the order appealed from, the supreme court holds that the hoisters who started the machinery in motion were vice principals of the company and that the defendant concern is liable for their negligence. The supreme court also held that the damages awarded were not excessive.

The trial court in determining that the damages were not excessive, took into consideration the serious character of the injury, the long period of suffering, the impaired earning capacity and the loss of earnings up to the time of the trial. John Jenswold, Jr., appeared in the case as attorney for the plaintiff, and I. K. Lewis of Abbott, McPherran, Lewis & Gilbert represented the defendant company.

CLEMENTSON SENT TO THE WORK FARM.

Clement Clementson, 35, who yesterday morning filed action for divorce against his wife, Maud E. Clementson, was this morning taken to the county work farm to begin a sentence of thirty days for violation of a parole. A short time ago he was arrested on complaint of Mrs. Clementson, who charged her husband with non-support. The court ordered him to pay $5 a week, and it is said that he has not been doing this. Being unable to raise the money due since the court issued the order, he was sentenced to the work farm to serve the suspended sentence.

The divorce action is the second begun by the Clementsons. The couple were married in 1904, and in Jan. 1913, Mrs. Clementson was granted a divorce on grounds of desertion. They remarried in September, 1913.

It is probable that the committee to have charge of the affair will be appointed this evening by W. A. Pond, president of the club.

Mrs. Antoinette Funk of Chicago with Mrs. Medill McCormick gets credit with the advocates of woman suffrage for having lobbied through the committee at Washington and brought to a vote the constitutional amendment to give women the vote. MANAGER REED TO INSTRUCT PATRONS

Head of Water and Light Department Will Issue Bulletins.

D. A. Reed, manager of the water and light department, will issue a series of bulletins on the work of his department, municipal ownership and public utilities, the first of which is being sent this week to all the users of water or gas.

In explaining the purpose of these bulletins, Manager Reed said this morning that the plan is to acquaint the customers with the workings of the plant, the earnings and probable benefits to be derived. He denies the charges made that the purpose was purely political. The bulletins, he added, wil be sent out at regular intervals each year.

The bulletin for January contains a statement of the revenues, expenditures and profits of the Duluth plant for 1914, the improvements made to the plant, extensions built throughout the city and a general survey of the benefits derived by the city. It also contains the plan for the proposed West Duluth electric unit and shows what methods are proposed for its construction and maintenance.

WOMEN "JURORS" WERE ONLY SPECTATORS

Judge Ensign's room in district court this morning took on the aspect of a California court of justice, where juries of women are not uncommon.

A half dozen interested women spectators were present this morning to listen to the evidence which is being adduced at the divorce trial in the case of Henrietta Ogilvie against David M. Ogilvie.

The case is one which is being tried without a jury. Having this in mind, the bailiff of the courtroom invited the women to occupy the comfortable chairs. They accepted and this afternoon, when the case was resumed, they presented an appearance of a suffragette jury.

Mrs. Ogilvie is suing her husband for divorce on the grounds of cruelty. He is contesting and in a cross bill asks for the divorce and a judgment for $10,000 against her.

PIANO MANUFACTURERS CALLED ON BUSINESS

Mr. John Korby Has Received Orders From the Manufacturers to Attend Important Business Matters in Chicago at Once.

Mr. R. O. Falk has charge of the store at 26 Lake avenue north while Mr. Korby is away. Mr. Falk stated to the reporter that he will sell pianos still left at the greatest bargains ever offered and almost at the purchaser's own price and terms during the next few days.

Those who need pianos should call at once before the best bargains are gone. Baldwin and Chase Brothers' pianos are snapped up quickly at these prices.

A few used pianos which the manufacturers were obliged to repossess on account of purchasers having moved away, will be sold for merely the balance due. Think of buying a used upright piano, full size—just the piano for your little girl to learn on—for $62 cash, or easy terms.

FOR THE OILY COMPLEXION.

Woman's World: In summer, more than in winter, the pores of the skin must be kept open for their excretive work is much increased. The two pints of fluid a day which they normally excrete is often increased to seven, sometimes even to ten pints in warm weather, and the effect of this on the complexion is quite annoying. Particularly to those who are inclined to have an oily complexion is the extra amount of secretion disagreeable, for no woman can remain happily unconscious of the shininess of her nose and face, and powder will only conceal it for a time. Women thus afflicted must make frequent use of water as warm as may be comfortably applied and green soap, to cleanse the face, after which an astringent lotion should be used.

One particularly good astringent, to be applied on the oily complexion after cleansing it, is composed of one and one-half ounces of witch hazel, one-half ounce of tincture of benzoin, one ounce of spirits of wine and five ounces of orange flower water. Mix the witch hazel and orange flower water, add to the other ingredients, which have been poured into a rather large bottle, and shake well before using.

"WAIT AND SEE."

Imagine yourself a party to the following conversation:

MR. X: "Let me take $85,800 and I'll show you something."

YOU: "What will you show me?"

MR. X: "Well, I'll build a factory."

YOU: "What would it cost?"

MR. X: "I think it could be done for $85,800 all right."

YOU: "And after it was built, what then?"

MR. X: "Wait and see."

YOU: "Would I get my money back?"

MR. X: "Wait and see."

YOU: "Would I have to spend any more on it?"

MR. X: "Wait and see."

YOU: "Would the factory produce a saleable article?"

MR. X: "Not as good as others do, but good enough for the people it will supply."

YOU: "And what would be the end of it all?"

MR. X: "Wait and see."

Would you let Mr. X. have the money, especially if you needed it for something else and would have to run in debt to let him have it? No. You would tell Mr. X. "where to get off at," and do it in mighty short order.

But that is exactly the proposition the Municipal Ownership league is putting up to you as a voter. The league wants you to spend $85,800 to put up a "unit" plant. You want to know whether that is to be the total expense; you want to know what is on the program after that "unit" plant is built; and men have asked the Municipal Ownership league's orators these questions time and again during this campaign, and the only answer ever received has been, "Wait and see," or words to that effect.

What is the program of the league? Do YOU know? Even if you are a member or a supporter of the organization, do you know the plans of the "inner circle"? If you do, you are in duty bound to tell the people, for it is DEAD WRONG to ask the people to vote for a program which they do not even know. And if you do not know, are you willing to spend, and to urge others to spend, $85,800 that the city needs for something else on a proposition that you cannot even explain in full? You may ask it, but you CANNOT IN REASON EXPECT THE PEOPLE TO ACT BLINDLY ON ANY SUCH PROPOSITION. You cannot in reason expect them to vote to "buy a pig in a poke."

Full and frank publicity is the secret of confidence, and any proposition that will not stand frank publicity, should not be given public support and has no right to ask for it.

Before the people vote to begin this "unit plant" system they should have some idea where it will end, and not even the loudest voiced advocates of the proposition are so much as risking a guess on that. The "unit plant" ordinance is the main issue in this election, and it should be voted down.

As for the six-cent and four-cent ordinances, that is a different proposition, and every voter must decide for himself whether he prefers to put a saving on electric light bills into his pocket now, or whether he prefers to go on paying the old rate while the courts decide whether the city has a right to order it lowered, whether the four-cent rate would be confiscatory and any other questions that might be brought into the affair. The Campbell bill, even if it is passed at St. Paul, probably would not affect the proposed ordinance, since the ordinance, if passed, would ante-date the Campbell law and it would all have to be done over again. But the Campbell bill provides that cities shall have power to regulate rates of utilities, and the fact that it was introduced would seem to indicate that cities at present have no such power.

This question of the four-cent or six-cent ordinance must be settled by each voter according to his own wish, whether it be to take his savings now or take a chance on getting bigger ones later on.

The main issue before the people is the "unit plant" ordinance, and on that every man who objects to starting something of which he can neither see the end nor judge the expense, will vote an emphatic "No."

Butte, Mont., is to send a rink to the bonspiel. Now who would have thought the fame even of curling would penetrate as far as Montana?

GOVERNOR HAMMOND'S APPOINTMENTS.

Governor Hammond has made an excellent start in appointments to the state offices at his disposal, those already announced showing that the governor is determined to name only men who possess qualifications that insure successful discharge of their duties. It is evident that merit and not political pull has decided the governor in his choice between the many persons whose names have been presented to him.

The first appointment announced was that of C. G. Schulz, who was continued as superintendent of public instruction because of the excellent record he has made in that position. Then came the appointment of Charles M. Andrist of Minneapolis as secretary to the governor, and H. E. Samuelson as executive clerk. Mr. Andrist was formerly a professor in the state university, and was the Democratic candidate for lieutenant-governor last fall, and he was one of the ablest speakers during the campaign. Mr. Samuelson is a newspaper man of wide popularity and will make a splendid executive clerk.

For commissioner of insurance, Governor Hammond has selected Samuel D. Works of St. Paul. Mr. Works represented Blue Earth county in the state senate for eight years, and his appointment will be particularly pleasing to St. Louis county, he having been one of this county's best friends in the senate. He was very active during the campaign in support of Mr. Hammond and is deserving of the recognition given to his services by the governor. He is a man of ability and the insurance department will be well conducted by him.

James J. Farrell of Carver has been appointed dairy and food commissioner. He is one of the best known butter and cheese experts in the country, and is serving his sixth term as president of the National Creamery and Buttermakers' association, so that he brings to his new office the knowledge and experience that should place Minnesota's dairy and food department in the front rank.

For state librarian Elias J. Lien of St. Vincent has been reappointed. He is a Republican, but as in the case of the appointment of Mr. Schulz as superintendent of public instruction, Governor Hammond has recognized the merit system of which he has always been an advocate.

The latest appointment announced is that of Carlos Avery of Hutchinson as a member of the game and fish commission, the understanding being that he will be made executive agent. There will be general approval of this appointment. Mr. Avery was made a member of the commission and became executive agent under the late Governor John A. Johnson, and he made a splendid record in that office, being recognized as the best game and fish commissioner in the country.

With appointments of this high class, Governor Hammond's administration begins auspiciously.

At least none of the belligerents can blame Italy's trouble on any of the others.

HELP FROM ENGLAND.

One of the most talked of problems raised in this country by the outbreak and continuance of the war concerned the coloring of fabrics. Inasmuch as a great proportion, if not most, of the dyes used in this country either came from Germany or were dependent on German-produced ingredients, it looked like a very serious proposition unless we were all willing to adopt white or unbleached goods for clothing and other purposes.

Now Huddersfield, England, has come to the rescue, for two men who have been working in the laboratory of the technical college there have evolved a system of "sulphur" dyes as opposed to the more common aniline and alazarine dyes, and by a series of tests have demonstrated that their discovery is in fact a great improvement over the other system.

For example, according to an article reproduced in the United States government Commerce Reports, these sulphur dyes are not only equally effective in comparison with the aniline, but are far cheaper to make and use and much simpler to handle. Their use, it is said, does away with the old two-bath process, and does the work in a single immersion. The machinery required is easily formed by adapting that heretofore in use, and the expensive copper must be replaced with cheaper material.

It is claimed also that different grades of material, such as wool, silk, artificial silk and hemp can all be dyed at the same time, instead of needing separate treatment. As to learning the new process, anybody who knew the old one, it is said, can learn this one with half a day's instruction.

Apparently England has come to our help in the matter of coloring goods, and if all that is claimed is true, the new process will continue to supplant the old one, even when the war is over.

How long will it take the baseball writers to pick up this "twenty-five-cycle" and "sixty-cycle" phraseology?

A German Officer At the Front

Letters Home That Give a Clear View of Life in the Great Field of Warfare.

Le (sic) Marniere, Sept. 5, 1914.

Dear Heinrich: You have probably learned by now that I have received most joyfully your cards, letters and cigars. Just today I got a card from you and a letter from father. How fine it is that you have been taken into the regiment! Let's hope it won't be too strenuous for you. There's not much time for writing on this everlasting advance march. At night only hunger and then sleep right away after supper. Yesterday we were for the first time under the heavy artillery fire of the enemy (English), very surprising indeed as we came up; as if by a miracle not a single man wounded. We fought for two hours the enemy's artillery and the retreating sharpshooters. It was evening and a setting sun with a rising full moon. On the march the day before we got accidentally into artillery fire, and had to make a turn with great difficulty to reach our position at the side. Here bits of shell struck me in the shoulder and foot, without doing any harm; also a wonderful piece of luck. Through the consciousness that I can influence my men only by my own example, and in the knowledge that life and death are in the hands of a higher power, I gain over myself astonishing peace and coolness. Only to be shot at at night is an unpleasant feeling for me, because one never knows where the fire is coming from, and one is, so to say, defenseless. We are now exactly east of Paris. What our purpose is I do not know. I think we are trying to stop the English from reaching Paris. Everything is very interesting, even at a walk behind infantry, with halts of an hour at a time, in the hot sun. Often it is just like maneuvers, then suddenly shots ring out, and deserted villages and destroyed bridges tell one that one is in the enemy's land. Written partly at bivouac, partly during occasional halts. The order has just come to advance. Many greetings. OTTO.

Sept. 6, 1914.

Today we hoped positively for a rest, but such was not the case; at all events, on account of the heat and the overworked infantry (perhaps also for strategic reasons), we haven't marched and have bivouacked at 3 o'clock—a very unusual thing. To our especial joy, there is a brook in the neighborhood, and I have been able to take a bath at last, after nearly four weeks, and to lie a bit in the sun. Besides, my orderly has done a big wash, and I am lying on my horse-cloth looking at my shirts and underdrawers drying. Near me chickens are being plucked, horses being shod, cleaned, fed and watered. I have just received a parcel post letter from Hanny, with cigars, which was most welcome. Near us the infantry are encamped. There is lots of straw for the tents. During the hour halt today we slaughtered a calf as quickly as we could. Bread came yesterday finally, in motors. So we had a big supper and a good night's lodging; that is the most important thing. So far as I know, we are now going eastward toward Paris, where the second army corps is already advancing from the right. How will the whole thing end!

Near Soissons, Sept. 14, 1914.

Dear Father: If by chance the army parcel post permit it, send me a case bottle and a cup with a handle. Yours I lost while trotting—strap broke. For the rainy days that are coming a really waterproof raincoat would be good—civilian style—which must be big enough to pull over my military cloak. So one or two sizes larger than the one in Bismarckstrasse 27. Please pay Frau Gocke my rent for the month of August. I have money, to be sure, but can't get to send it. Just now the battle is going on around the Aisne, near Soissons. OTTO.

I am so glad that Heinrich is coming out to this battle of the peoples. Many greetings to all. May mother soon be home! For sleeping at night I bought a horse blanket in Halle, in Leipzigerstrasse, beyond the Leipziger Turm on the right side. I had Dehue, Steinstrasse, line it with rubber on one side. This covering has done me very good service. The rubber is, however, wearing off in places from boot and spur, and I am afraid that it will not much longer fulfill its purpose. Such a horse blanket with strong rubber on one side (about 17 marks 8m.) would be just the thing I need most, since the mail is very slow and I can't expect it before the middle or end of October.

Sept. 23, 1914.

Still in the same position. Little by little I am getting things to look a bit homelike in a hut I built myself, with a birch bench in front of it. A remarkable life, Your letters, Heinrich's poem, all received, read with great pleasure. Today came a whole sack of gifts for the battery; I am smoking a cigar from it now. I have gotten, too, a beautiful pair of thick underdrawers and a pair of hand-knitted socks. Provisions are now more plentiful. What we need most is sugar. Perhaps the sugar refinery is sending a box of lump sugar for the whole battery. That would be famous. So every parcel post package with chocolate is sublime. A little zervelatwurst, too. How much one does learn to treasure all that in the field. A pair of pulse warmers, for example. The little preserves with the pheasant paste made a famous breakfast. At present we haven't much to do. I am anxious to see what is going to happen. I am well; still I could use a phial of laudanum. What a lot of wishes one does have! Who knows where we will be when this card arrives. We have been near Amiens, not in it. OTTO.

Since my trunk is rather unpractical, swollen with the dampness and hard to open, send an officer's trunk of the proper size, 38 by 36 by 39, I think. Perhaps the raincoat and the sleeping sack with some winter underclothing might be packed in it. OTTO.

Near Soissons, Sept. 27, 1914.

All your letters of the 14th and 15th received, nightcap most welcome. Have now enough linen, could pack it all in my trunk. You're right about putting on two sets of underwear. In general, please not such fine things, as one must throw away so much. Answer postcards are good things to send, as often no cards here. My papers come, too, and they are our reading matter. How glad I am that the voyage of the boat went off well for mother; what shameful treatment! Did Lux make the can herself (himself?).

It is very practical at night instead of the helmet. Bitter, eating chocolate, cocoa, but with sugar already in it, Leibniz cakes, zwieback, a cake of soap—these are a few wishes, the fulfillment of which would give a soldier's heart much joy, but which can be waited for. These last few days have been a real relief in the matter of weather, sleeping, eating and especially washing, reading, writing and doing nothing (perhaps it will begin again soon, though).

Many hearty greetings and thanks for all the letters and the gifts. OTTO.

Mother needn't send papers especially. Command just come to change position.

Sept. 29, 1914.

Please send the psalm: "Yea, though I walk through the valley of the shadow of death." How often I think about it at night, when the battle is raging without ceasing. The wounded are being continually carried along the street on wagons, handcarts, stretchers. God alone can be a comfort in such times. I am well. Greetings. OTTO.

War Economy Lessons

London Chronicle: Following up the action of the Prussian government, the Bavarian ministry has now issued ten instructions or suggestions to the people on what they are to eat in wartime and how it is to be eaten. We have had quite a number of these prudential maxims, but this Bavarian ordinance has certain peculiar points of interest of its own. The instructions are as follows:

Instead of tea, cocoa and coffee, take milk or oatmeal.

Take less soup made of rice, lentils, peas and beans, and use instead barley soup or soup made of greens, potatoes or flour.

Eat less wheaten bread and less white rolls. Take instead bread made of rye or mixed flour.

Instead of veal eat pork and beef.

In cooking be careful not to use too much fat. Instead of the lard and vegetable oil from abroad, use native oil and artificial fats.

Eat plenty of fruit. The harvest has been plentiful. Also lots of sauerkraut and pickled beets and beans.

Limit your consumption of alcohol.

Use up all remnants and help to utilize your kitchen refuse. Drops make a river.

Pleasant Associations.

Young's Magazine: Some folks' idea of entertainment is a visit to the morgue. Henry Miller gives an interesting example:

"'It's not everybody I'd put to sleep in this room,' said the motherly old landlady to her lodger, who had come to that remote district on account of a serious nervous breakdown.

"'This room is full of tender associations to me. My first husband died in that bed, with his head on that very pillow. My dear father passed away on that sofa under the window. He was a spiritualist, and he vowed he would appear again in this room after death, though I've never seen anything of him yet. My poor nephew, William, fell dead with heart disease right where you are standing. He was studying to be a doctor, and there are two whole skeletons and six abnormal livers preserved in spirits in that press yonder, while that bottom drawer is full of odd bones and skulls. He used to do a lot of vivisecting up here when he was alive.

"'Well, good night, and pleasant dreams.'"

The Belgian "Conspiracy."

Brooklyn Eagle: Dr. Dernburg and other German apologists for the rape of Belgium are busy explaining that Chancellor von Bethmann-Hollweg never would have admitted that the "hacking through" process undertaken in Belgium was a wrong, had he known the shocking plot revealed in these documents.

Here was a small and supposedly neutral country shamelessly suspecting so far back as 1906 that Germany was planning to trample her under foot when occasion arose and actually daring to make preparations to resist the assault. In carrying out this nefarious purpose the little state had the temerity to inquire whether one of the great powers guaranteeing her neutrality would make good that guarantee and received an affirmative answer.

Was ever a more atrocious conspiracy entered into against the peace and safety of a great empire of 67,000,000? It is even worse than the more obvious want of trust in Germany displayed by Belgium in erecting fortifications in the direction of the German frontier.

The Letter That Didn't Come.

Cleveland Press: All day mother listened for the postman's ring.

She was expecting a letter from her boy.

When he had left home to take his new job in the distant city, to begin for himself the battle with life to which all mothers must one day send their sons, send them with a smile to hide the bitter tears, he had promised faithfully that he would write—write regularly and often.

At first he did. He was homesick then. Alone in the little room at night, his soul poured forth in volumes to the loved ones he had left behind. But by and by new friendships formed, new interests drew him on and the letters home became fewer and fewer.

Not that he meant to be neglectful, cruel. Deep in his heart the love for mother and kin remained fine and strong. But he was a man now, and men are prone to be careless about such things—men have never known, can never know, how the mother heart yearns.

So simple a thing is a letter; so easy to write; so inexpensive to mail!

A Creed.

I would be true,
For there are those who trust me;
I would be pure,
For there are those who care;
I would be strong,
For there is much to suffer;
I would be brave,
For there is much to dare;
I would be friend,
For all—the foe—the friendless;
I would be giving,
And forget the gift;
I would be humble,
For I know my weakness;
I would look up,
And laugh and love and lift.

Distorted Vegetarianism.

Washington Star: "So long as you find the cost of living high," said the friendly adviser, "why don't you and your husbands become vegetarians?"

"What do you mean?" asked the worried-looking woman.

"Why, eat only vegetable products."

"Couldn't think of it. What I'm tryin' to do now is to persuade John to take to beefsteak and quit tryin' to live on liquor and tobacco."

Statesmen, Real and Near

By Fred C. Kelly.

Washington, Jan. 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—Besides being a double Bobby Burns, even to the way he wears his hair, Representative Phillip Pitt Campbell of Kansas has grand manners that surpass those of a lord, or an archduke, or a head waiter.

Campbell is always enveloped in an atmosphere of savoir faire. Although simple in his tastes, he looks like a person intended to ride through life in a richly upholstered barouche. No matter how much grandeur might be thrown around Campbell he would appear at his ease; he would seem to belong.

All this being true, the situation was just that much more tragic when Campbell found himself the victim, a few evenings ago, of a horrible accident.

Campbell's family had occupied a cottage in the country near Washington during the summer, and the other night, desiring to move back into the city, they hired a hack.

On the way in, Campbell noticed that the man on the box out in front was driving rather recklessly. He investigated and found that the driver was frankly drunk.

It was dangerous to allow him to drive along the road, and even more so to trust him in the thick traffic of the city. So there was only one thing to do. Campbell had to change places with the driver.

Now, obviously, it is embarrassing to a dignified member of congress to get up on a box of a public hack and drive through the streets of a nation's capital to one of the big hotels. Campbell therefore paused to give careful thought to the situation before proceeding on his way. It occurred to him that he would feel more comfortable if he wore a disguise to prevent the possibility of any of his statesmen friends recognizing him. So he sought to change clothes with the driver. But the driver's brass-buttoned coat would not fit him. However, the high hat, of true coachman design, did fit him, and Campbell put it on. He ushered the driver into the carriage, where, although he was none too acceptable company for the family, he was at least beyond doing harm, and then he, the congressman, mounted the seat out in front.

Campbell wears a small pair of modified sideburns; they are only a mere suggestion of sideburns, but on this fateful night they were a great help. Taking his face as a whole, Campbell does not look at all like a hack-driver, yet, by pulling the plug hat as far down over his brow as possible, and with the sideburns to help out the disguise, he defied detection. He drove up in front of a fashionable hotel, without any of the gay throngs thereabouts having the slightest suspicion that he was in reality a Kansas statesman.

"And," says Campbell ruefully, as he relates the episode, "in a way the most disheartening feature of the whole thing was the fact that I was not recognized. Ah, to think that merely by changing my hat I could so easily be accepted as a hack-driver!"

Before leaving the subject of Phillip Pitt Campbell we desire also to tell this:

Representatives Martin Madden of Chicago and Ellsworth R. Bathrick of Ohio sat on a lounge just outside the house chamber. Along came Campbell.

"I have in my library," remarked Madden, "an excellent picture of Bobby Burns, and I am going to get another one just like it to use for a picture of Phil Campbell. I want to say to you that I'm crazy about the way Phil combs his hair."

"You mean," suggested Bathrick, cracking a joke for the first time since election, "the way he does not comb it."

Same Old Cry

New York Post: Trade balance in our favor, old tariff $519,894,000
Trade balance in our favor, new tariff 206,862,000

Loss in foreign trade for the first eight months of the new tariff, preceding the war $313,032,000

Such is the melancholy exhibit displayed in a lugubrious article in Industrial America, a journal "devoted to the conservation of home industries." But before any one is moved instantly to propose the impeachment of President Wilson for having thus robbed the nation of 313 millions of "good American dollars," it may be well for him to look at this other little table:

Trade balance in our favor, 1908 ..... $666,431,000
Trade balance in our favor, 1910 188,037,000

"Loss in foreign trade"...$478,394,000

What caused this terrific difference between the fiscal year 1908 and the fiscal year 1910? The Payne-Aldrich tariff, of course. Nothing else could have done it, for it is well known that the only thing that ever affects the course of foreign trade is a change in the tariff. And we submit that, so long as President Taft was permitted to serve out his term without being subjected to impeachment for having robbed the people of $478,000,000 by signing the Payne-Aldrich bill, it would not be a square deal to hold President Wilson criminally responsible for the robbery of a mere $313,000,000 caused by the present tariff.

Beefsteak 3 Cents a Pound.

Columbus Dispatch: One of the changes which the passing years have brought into being in America is emphasized in an account book 100 years old. According to the entries, the owner bought veal at 4 cents the pound. Beefsteak sold for 3 and 4 cents the pound. Chickens sold for as low as 15 cents apiece and you could buy a goose for 25 cents. Eggs varied in price from 6 to 10 cents the dozen. Tea was bought by this early American at $1 the pound and another entry shows that a bushel of salt was purchased for $16. Candles cost him 37½ to 87½ cents the pound. There was no excess of light in even the best of homes in those days. Muslin for the good wife of the house cost 50 cents a yard and a quantity of calico cost 75 cents a yard.

One very significant feature was numerous entries in which a gallon of whisky or rum accompanied the order. The spirits cost 25 cents the gallon.

The Yoke.

London Opinion: George Ade, from the spacious windows of his club, nodded towards a thin, meek man, who, carrying half a dozen packages, walked beside a large woman of haughty aspect.

"Alas, poor Smith!" said Mr. Ade. "I knew him when his wit was wont to set the table in a roar. And now—look at him now!"

Mr. Ade shook his head sadly as the somewhat cowed, crushed figure of Mr. Smith vanished. Then he said:

"All men are born free and equal, but the majority of them marry at the age of 25 or so."

Keeping Up With Minnesota Editors

Press Comments on Current Events.

Depends on Business Men.

Stillwater Gazette: We hope for better times and peace at an early date. Just how much better business will be, depends greatly on the wisdom and confidence and good sense of the business men themselves. Give every contemplated improvement and enlargement a boom, keeping the hammer concealed.

His Choice Plain.

St. Cloud Times: In his latest magazine article on the war in Europe, Mr. Roosevelt says that President Wilson "tamely submitted" to the wrong done to Belgium. As the essay is headed "Utopia or Hell," it is easy to decide which end of the proposition the colonel would have chosen if he had been in the White House.

Good Suggestions.

Litchfield Independent: Governor Hammond's message to the legislature makes many good suggestions. It is generally conservative in tone.

Who Are They?

Breckenridge Gazette: Who are those men who met the other day and proceeded to reorganize and rehabilitate the Republican party in Minnesota? In reading over the list we fail to discover one name that was ever anything but a mercenary—a Republican for revenue only. If the Republican party in Minnesota is in such desperate case that it must endure (we use the word advisedly) reorganization at the hands of the men who attended the St. Paul meeting, then it were better to let the party die a natural death. At least it would not have so much to regret or be ashamed of.

Penchant for Limelight.

Red Wing Eagle: Theodore Roosevelt's announcement that he will "stump" the country in behalf of the unemployed is not at all unnatural. His penchant for being spectacular is well known. Besides, there is his insatiable desire to keep in the limelight to be considered. And then he has some reputation as a job-creator already which should not be lost sight of. As president of the United States he created more jobs and sinecures than half a dozen presidents put together.

Sounds Fair and Reasonable.

Austin Transcript: Despite rumors that a factional fight would develop in the house when important legislation comes up, leaders among the Flowers and Gordon adherents declare that partisanship melted away with the election of a speaker, and that every member will unite and work for the enactment of legislation looking to the betterment of financial, political and executive conditions in the state. We hope so.

Perfectly True.

Anoka Union: It is ridiculous to cry hard times in Minnesota. Every line of business reports an increase for 1914. Verily, it is the golden state.

The Gnarrative of the Gnu.

A gnu—I gnever gnew his gname;
'Twas gnever gnoised about by fame—
Gnear Gnatal and Gnamaqualand
Led all the gnus, a gnoble band.

Gnow, gnoon or gnight, the gnimble gnu
Gnipped where the gnicest herbage grew;
Gnuts and gnarcissus, greatly blent,
The gnu would gnaw for gnourishment.

A gnegro gnomad from the Gnile—
Gnative of Gniger too a while—
One gnight to Gnatal came to do
His greatest work, to gnab a gnu.

The gnimble gnu was gnipping gnuts
From gnutmeg trees gnear gnative huts;
His gnickering gnostrils, gnow and then,
Sniffed the gnight air. He gnipped again.

The gnegro gnomad, gnear a gnoll,
With gneck craned gnow and gnervous soul,
Gnoted the gnice, gneat, gnative huts
And the gnu gnear them gnibbling gnuts.

Gnearer and gnearer gnosed the gnu.
Gnow gnext the gnegro's gnoll it drew.
Who with gnew gnife gnow gneatly slew—
For in the gneck he gnicked that gnu.

Gnumb on its gnose gnow dropped the gnu,
The gnegro's gnife, it gnailed him through;
Gneighing dashed all the gnoble band
From Gnatal and Gnamaqualand.

Gno more gnow gnavigates that gnu
Where Gnatal's gnodding gnutmegs grew—
Gnor gneed I carve his gniche in fame—
Gno, gno! I gnever gnew his gname.

THE OPEN COURT

(Readers of The Herald are invited to make free use of this column to express their ideas about the topics of general interest, but discussions of sectarian religious differences are barred. Letters must not exceed 300 words—the shorter the better. They must be written on one side of the paper only, and they must be accompanied in every case by the name and address of the writer though these need not be published. A signed letter is always more effective, however.)

A subscriber who did not sign his name recently submitted a communication of about 1,500 words in length. It was consigned to the waste paper basket like all other unsigned letters. Yesterday he wrote again, a letter of more than 1,000 words and again unsigned except for the words "One of Your Oldest Subscribers." It attacked The Herald for not publishing the first letter. The second letter followed the first, for the rules at the top of the Open Court column must be followed. —The Editor.

25-CYCLE LIGHT IS INFERIOR.

To the Editor of The Herald:

Will you please insert in your Open Court the following questions regarding the electric lighting problem:

1. What material difference in brilliancy of incandescence would there be between the 25-cycle and the 60-cycle currents?

2. What effect will the 25-cycle current have on motors in present use, which are 60-cycle?

Trusting that somebody that is versed in such work will kindly reply through the Open Court column to the above, and thanking you for space. Respectfully, L. K. K.

Duluth, Jan. 15.

With pleasure. Investigation has proved the following:

1. There is no material difference in brilliancy between a 25-cycle and a 60-cycle light. The difference is in the steadiness. The 25-cycle light flickers constantly and rapidly, and flickers more when a modern tungsten lamp is used than it does in one of the old style Edison lights. The flicker is perceptible, and is sufficient to make the use of such current impossible for lighting rooms where a person is to read or draw or do bookkeeping.

2. No motor now in use on current supplied by the Duluth-Edison company would give efficient service with a 25-cycle current. Depending on the horsepower of the motor, it would either run at half speed or not run at all. Every motor now in use would, therefore, have to be replaced by a new 25-cycle motor, and as a rule the 25-cycle motors cost more than do the 60-cycle motors.

It may serve to clear up a misunderstanding on this joint to add that although the Great Northern Power company has installed 25-cycle lamps in its draughting room, since it can supply that current itself, the room is especially constructed to let in all the daylight possible, and the men there stop work whenever it grows so dark as to require the use of artificial light. At the Clyde Iron works the company buys 25-cycle current for its heavy machinery, but transforms it to 60-cycle current for lighting purposes.—The Editor.

OPPOSED TO UNIT PLANT.

To the Editor of The Herald:

To put the water and light department up as a sample of what the new municipal electric light plant will be, I would like to give one reason why I am going to vote down the new unit, and in favor of the 6-cent rate, and that is the little that I have had to do with the Duluth-Edison people I have found them fair, reasonable, and got respectful attention, and the few times I have come in contact with the water and light department I have found them unreasonable, unbusinesslike, and refuse to look at any other side of the question but their own side.

About two years ago myself and three or four others ordered in a water and gas service and paid $19.00 for it. A little later I found out our street was only thirty feet from property line to property line and we had been charged for a 66-foot street. I asked for a rebate then, but they could not see it. Six months ago I ordered in exactly the same service and got a bill for $16.00. I took the matter up again with Mr. Reed and was told the prices were the same as they were then, 90 cents per foot. I don't know just how they figure it out, $16.00 for a 30-foot street and $19.80 for a 66-foot street, but according to their own figures, they overcharged us $2.80. Their only answer to all arguments seems to be: "Well, we will shut off your water and gas."

But I fooled them. I got a pump and burn wood and coal. This is only one complaint I am citing here against our municipal water and light department. I have two more, if anyone wants them. For this reason, if for no other, I will stick to the Duluth-Edison Electric company as long as they have a wire in the air.

W. T. CONNER.

Duluth, Jan. 14.

ELECTRIC LIGHT DISCOUNT.

To the Editor of The Herald:

I would like to have answered through the Open Court a question regarding one phase of the lighting proposition. Here it is:

If after Tuesday's election the 6-cent ordinance becomes effective, will the Edison people still allow the 20 per cent discount on bills paid before a certain period of the month?

For instance, in my case at the present rate I am allowed 20 per cent discount if my bill is paid before the 10th of the month.

With the 6-cent ordinance in effect, would I still get that discount if paid on or before the 10th of the month?

Thanking you in advance, I remain, yours very truly, A. S. McRAE.

Duluth, Jan. 14.

If Mr. McRae will look at his bills he will find that he is now charged 10 cents per thousand watts, with a discount of 20 per cent if paid before a certain date. Under the 6-cent plan, bills would undoubtedly be rendered at 8 cents, with a 20 per cent discount for prompt payment.—The Editor.

PUTTING MR. FULLER RIGHT.

To the Editor of The Herald:

In this evening's Herald I notice that Floid M. Fuller makes the statement that "any competent engineer would say that a 25-cycle current would be as satisfactory as a 60-cycle current for lighting circuits and for motors the 25-cycle current is to be preferred." Now we have a 25-cycle current in Proctor and it is NOT as satisfactory as 60-cycle current. I am in the electrical business in Proctor and I have been asked numerous times why our lights flicker, while in Duluth they don't. Now as a matter of fact they do flicker in Duluth, but so much more quickly than in Proctor that it isn't so noticeable. The reason is 25-cycles. It is true that 25-cycle current is to be preferred for motor use, but 25-cycle isn't standard and when I order washing machines, vacuum cleaners, sewing machine motors and the like I have to wait until they are made to order and a good many times have to pay several dollars more. Quite often people move here and bring some household apparatus that is motor driven and then find out that they can't use it because they have a 60-cycle motor, while Proctor has a 25-cycle motor. Motors are expensive and if Duluth were to change to 25-cycle current the cost to patrons to buy new motors would be enormous. Thanking you for your space, I am, yours truly,

R. G. WOMBACHER.

Proctor, Minn., Jan. 13.

ON LEGAL QUESTIONS.

To the Editor of The Herald:

Will you kindly answer the following questions to settle a dispute:

If a house owner wishes a tenant to move from the premises for non-payment of rent, or otherwise, how long a notice must be given, and if tenant don't move in that length of time, what course can be taken. Can tenant be forced to move during winter months for any reason? Thanking you in advance, I remain yours truly.

These are legal questions and The Herald cannot undertake to answer them.—The Editor.

THE OLD CAR LINE.

To the Editor of The Herald:

Will you kindly advise me as to what street the West Duluth street car ran on fifteen years ago. I mean the car now marked West Duluth and East End. MISS R. BALDWIN.

Duluth, Jan. 13.

According to the officials of the company, the cars ran along Michigan street to Eighteenth avenue west, then on Eighteenth avenue to Superior street, and then continued westward on Superior street.—Editor.

SUGGESTS ANOTHER LINE OF INSTRUCTION.

To the Editor of The Herald:

Would be pleased to have you print my suggestion in Open Court for a more up-to-date drill in public schools.

I would like to suggest a drill and training in schools that I think would be of more benefit to the pupils than the military drill, as statistics show us that more than 90 per cent of our public school pupils develop into the producing or distributing class, which mean, of course, the working class. I would suggest that we have a drill which the average working man must practice in his daily pursuit for bread at times, like we have today for example.

First, teach them to rap on a back door.

Second, when said door opens to ask the woman politely for something to eat.

Third, if they receive it to thank the woman very kindly.

Fourth, return to some lonely place, "boxcar preferable," and devour the same; then when night overtakes him to look up the police station and demand lodging. Teach him and also give him some experience how to sleep comfortably in a room size 30x40 with 180 or more of his former schoolmates. Teach them to sleep peacefully on a cement floor with their coat for a pillow, rise at 5:30 a. m. get a cup of coffee and a slice of bread? Go out on the streets, look for a job, when there are not many to be had. Teach them to be satisfied when the boss gives them a scornful look and says, no.

Teach them to go to church when they have a job and money and hear the good preacher preach that it is more blessed to give than to take and to the Bethel, when they have no job or money, and hear the good preacher read from the Bible, "It is harder for a rich man to enter the kingdom of heaven than a camel to go through the eye of a needle."

Yes, teach them all this, also teach them it is God's will that things should be so. Teach them there is no class struggle, that Socialism is all wrong, that they must not educate themselves on the subject of the class struggle which would cause them to vote this system out forever. Teach them they must be trained in order to protect the class that is the cause of conditions today where we have millions and millions of unemployed and millions and millions of men and boys, some that have military training and some that have not, doing real murder, killing hundreds of thousands of their own class, the working class; leaving widows and orphans in the grasp of this merciless system, which we call Christian civilization.

Thanking you for your valuable space in the Open Court, yours respectfully,

ONE OF THE 90 OR MORE PER CENT.

Duluth, Jan. 14.

REPLIES TO MR. DALY.

To the Editor of The Herald:

Mr. Thurman A. Daly, Philanthropist?

Surely you don't think you were in your right mind when you wrote that article regarding a poor man's pride, in the Open Court Jan. 8.

You are either a man of inherited fortune and never actually earned a dollar in your life, or else you are a poor man with absolutely no self respect and pride; an element that is absolutely worthless.

We all admit that there are people that will never work and be prosperous, (even in Belgium), but that is not saying that all poor people are to blame for their own poverty. I, personally know of many cases, where people have tried hard, and been saving and have failed for divers reasons, inevitable to the persons involved. Imagine (if you are mentally capable), a person, after a long hard struggle and numerous privations, to have to finally yield to such philanthropy and charity, as you suggest, namely: Have newspaper reporters come and get particulars of your financial misfortunes, also a staff photographer to photograph your surroundings to illustrate more vividly your misfortunes to the public. Even Christ in his hour of trial sought to be alone.

Much rather starve to death than accept charity under those conditions. Thanks for your philanthropy??? Why not (if you are of such a benevolent frame of mind), lend a man money enough, (without interest) to get on his feet again, and you are actually nothing out and he is greatly benefited.

"Shame on the man" who, on any date of the year offers such relief methods. America's greatest statesman, whose far-sightedness, fairness, benevolence and intellect will undoubtedly never be duplicated again by mortal man, Abraham Lincoln, once said in one of his famous speeches, "All men are created equal." He even made no distinction in color. Then how much justice is there in one of inherited riches to make such suggestions for financial aid as you did to the less fortunate who tried and failed?

How much can a poor man save out of a mere pittance for the "rainy day" when he must save and "skin" to make both ends meet in prosperous times? If you can afford to hire reporters and photographers to vividly display a man's misfortunes, hand him a few dollars quietly to help him out. Your financial record is not counted on the Day of Reckoning, but your Christian Benevolence is, we are told. Yours for different philanthropy.

EDWIN A. ERICKSON,
3327 West Fifth street.

AVERAGE RAINFALL.

To the Editor of The Herald:

What is the average rainfall in Minnesota?

Where is the rainfall heaviest and where is it lightest?

ONE INTERESTED.

Munger, Minn., Jan. 14.

H. W. Richardson, the Duluth weather forecaster, supplies us with the following information:

The mean average rainfall for Minnesota is 26.54 inches. Generally speaking, the heaviest rainfall is in the eastern counties and the lightest in the western. For the former the yearly average varies from 25 to 33 inches and in the latter from 23 to 28 inches. The heaviest average known is 33.11 inches in Caledonia in the extreme southeastern corner. The lightest would be along the Dakota line.

Mr. Richardson has published a book on Duluth weather which can be had free from the Commercial club.—The Editor.

FAVORS MUNICIPAL PLANT.

To the Editor of The Herald:

As a citizen of Duluth and a taxpayer, it is my luck to be able to express my opinion through your valuable free Open Court, which I believe is a blessing to the poor fellow who does not have the means of paying for a write-up in your paper and cannot dig down into his pockets to say a few words regarding the welfare of the working man. I am a firm believer in owning our own lighting plant. From what I saw and have heard, since our commission form of government went into effect, I believe our commissioners are living up to their pledge to the voters. Personally, I do not believe there ever was an alderman in the ward system who ever did or would have turned down a proposition to reduce the light bills from 8 cents per kilowatt to 6 cents per kilowatt hour, and we have the commissioners' own statement that they had no objection.

Now, then, in all these years they have been charging the consumers $60,000 per year more than they have at last agreed to save them, and charging the city $55 per arc light. Now they come with a proposition of $45 per arc light, making a total of over $70,000 per year for the city, besides furnishing the whole police department with free lights. Never thought of this before. And now come six good light consumers and circulate a petition to have the good voters vote for the Duluth-Edison Electric company, and as to the few extra dollars we would pay by carrying our own plant for a few years to come, what would be the difference of paying it to the Edison people or in taxes when eventually we would own our own plant and the other way the money is gone forever. C. F. LOERKE.

Duluth, Jan. 14.

THINKS THERE IS MONEY IN LIGHTING BUSINESS.

To the Editor of The Herald:

There is so much in the newspapers these days about the matter of a municipal lighting plant and its cost, and the statement is repeatedly made that it would not be profitable to the city, that I would like to say that there must be some money in the business, judging from the way the Duluth-Edison people are going at it. They have men hired all over the city, at good salaries, to make the people believe that it don't pay for the city to own its own plant. Now stop and think: If it pays the Duluth-Edison people to make such a fight for it, it surely will be good for the city. But they come and try to tell you something about Mr. X. Carpenter and his taxes—what they were in 1897 and what they are today or were last year. I would like to know if Mr. X. Carpenter would like to sell his property today for what he bought it for in 1897. It surely must be poor property that has not increased in value since that time, and where property increases in value, so the tax increases. And again they tell you that the water and light department has not paid. You know the cause. The big consumer, up to two years ago, got his water for almost nothing and others had flat rates, so there was more water consumed than was paid for. But since the change the big consumer is paying and that is what he don't like. And that's the way it would be with the lighting plant.

The people have been blind-folded for the last thirty-five or forty years with promises, and the promises have filled the pockets of some men and have made the workingman poor. Now wake up and you soon will see what's going on and who is getting your money.

The Pride of Battery B.

South Mountain towered on our right,
Far off the river lay;
And over on the wooded height,
We held their lines at bay.

At last the muttering guns were stilled,
The day died slow and wan;
At last their pipes the gunners filled,
The sergeant's yarns began.

When as the wind a moment blew
Aside the fragrant flood,
Our brierwoods raised—within our view
A little maiden stood.

A tiny tot of six or seven,
From fireside fresh she seemed;
(Of such a little one in heaven
One soldier often dreamed).

And as we stared, her little hand
Went to her curly head
In grave salute. "And who are you?"
At length the sergeant said.

"And where's your home?" he growled again.
She lisped out, "Who is me?
Why, don't you know? I'm Little Jane,
The pride of Battery B.

"My home? Why that was burned away,
And pa and ma are dead,
And so I ride the guns all day
Along with Sergeant Ned.

"And I've a drum that's not a toy,
A cap with feathers, too,
And I march beside the drummer boy
On Sundays at review.

"But now our bacca's all give out,
The men can't have their smoke,
And so they're cross, why even Ned
Won't play with me and joke.

"And the big colonel said today—
I hate to hear him swear—
He'd give a leg for a good pipe
Like the Yanks had over there.

"And so I thought, when beat the drum
And the big guns were still,
I'd creep beneath the tent and come
Out here across the hill.

"And beg, good Mister Yankee Men,
You'd give me some Lone Jack.
Please do; when we get some again,
I'll surely bring it back.

'Indeed, I will, for Ned, says he,
'If I do what I say,
I'll be a general yet, maybe,
And ride a prancing bay.'"

We brimmed her tiny apron o'er;
You should have heard her laugh
As each man, from his scanty store,
Shook out a generous half.

To kiss the little mouth, stooped down
A score of grimy men,
Until the sergeant's husky voice said, "Tention, squad;" and then

We gave her escort, till good night
The pretty waif we bid,
And watched her toddle out of sight,
Or else 'twas tears that hid

Her tiny form, nor turned about
A man, nor spoke a word,
Till after while a far, hoarse shout
Upon the wind we heard.

We sent it back, then cast an eye,
Upon the scene around;
A baby's hand had touched a tie
That brothers once had bound.

That's all—save when the dawn awoke
Again the work of hell,
And through the sullen cloud of smoke
The screaming missiles fell.

Our gen'ral often rubbed his glass,
And marveled much to see
Not a single shell that whole day fall
In the camp of Battery B.

Bingen on the Rhine.

A soldier of the Legion lay dying in Algiers,
There was lack of woman's nursing,
There was dearth of woman's tears,
But a comrade stood beside him,
While the life blood ebbed away,
And bent with pitying glances
To hear what he might say.
The dying soldier faltered
As he took the comrade's hand—
And said "I never more will see
My own my native land;
Take a message and a token
To some distant friends of mine,
For I was born at Bingen,
Fair Bingen on the Rhine.
Tell my brothers and companions
When they meet and crowd around
To hear my mournful story,
In the pleasant vineyard ground,
That I fought the battle bravely,
And when the day was done,
Full many a corpse lay ghastly pale
Beneath the setting sun.
And amid the dead and dying
Were some grown old in wars,
The death wound on their gallant breasts,
The last of many scars.
And some were young and suddenly
Beheld life's morn decline,
And one had come from Bingen,
Dear Bingen on the Rhine.
Tell my mother that her other son
Must comfort her old age,
For I was aye a truant bird,
Who thought his home a cage.
For my father was a soldier,
And even when a child
My heart leaped forth to hear him tell
Of struggles fierce and wild.
And when he died and left us
To divide his scanty hoard,
I let them take whate'er they would,
But kept my father's sword.
And with boyish love I hung it
Where the bright light used to shine
On the cottage wall at Bingen,
Loved Bingen on the Rhine.
Tell my sister not to weep for me,
Nor sob with drooping head,
When the troops come marching home again
With a glad and gallant tread.
But to look upon them proudly
With a calm and steadfast eye,
For her brother was a soldier, too,
And not afraid to die.
And if a comrade seeks her love,
I ask her in my name
To listen to him kindly,
Without regret or shame.
And to hang the old sword in its place,
My father's sword and mine,
For the honor of old Bingen,
Dear Bingen on the Rhine.
There's another, not a sister,
In the happy days gone by;
You will know her by the merriment
That sparkles in her eye.
Too innocent for coquetry,
Too fond for idle scorning.
Oh, friend, I fear the lightest heart
Makes sometimes heaviest mourning.
Tell her the last night of my life,
For ere the moon be risen,
My body will be out of pain,
My soul be out of prison.
I dreamed I stood with her and saw
The yellow sunlight shine,
As it shone on distant Bingen,
Fair Bingen on the Rhine.
I saw the blue Rhine sweep along,
I heard or seemed to hear
The German songs we used to sing
In chorus loud and clear.
And down the pleasant river,
And up the slanting hill,
The echoing chorus sounded
Through the evening calm and still.
And her glad blue eyes were on me
As we passed with friendly talk,
Down many a path beloved of yore
And well remembered walk;
And her little hand lay lightly,
Confidingly in mine,
But we'll meet no more at Bingen,
Dear Bingen on the Rhine."
His voice grew faint and hoarser,
His grasp was childish weak,
His eyes put on a dying look,
He sighed and ceased to speak.
His comrade bent to lift him,
But the spark of life had fled;
The soldier of the Legion
In a foreign land lay dead.
The soft moon rose up slowly
And calmly she looked down
On the red sands of the battlefield,
With bloody corpses strewn.
Yes, calmly on that dreadful scene
Her pale light seemed to shine,
As it shone on distant Bingen,
Calm Bingen on the Rhine.

The Hushed Voice.

What mother said, it didn't matter then,
A loving word, perchance, and then again
When childish wrath came in our simple play
And little woes beset youth's rosy way,
Her sweetly gentle words dispelled the wrath
And erased the buds to bloom that lined our path.
Her voice was sweet to greet the morning sun,
And sweeter still when golden days were done;
Her soft "Good night," that sent us to our bed.
It didn't matter then what mother said.

It didn't matter then, but now she's gone
The world lacks all its sweetness, and at dawn
The sunbeams coming down from heaven's dome
But emphasize the loss from out the home.
No kindly smiles to cheer the passing day,
No mother-words to cheer us on the way,
No loving arms that wait but to enfold
When world and all grow merciless and cold.
The kingdom here, I think, is made of such;
What mother said, O now 'twould mean so much.

Mothers can rest easy after giving this harmless "fruit laxative," because it never fails to cleanse the little one's liver and bowels and sweeten the stomach and they dearly love its pleasant taste. Full directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups printed on each bottle.

BUTTER PRICE SLIGHTLY OFF

Market Is Easier, With Larger Receipts Through Mild Weather.

Beef, Mutton and Pork Cheaper After Their Long Price Upturn.

Thanks to warmer weather and an estimated increase of 40 per cent in the make in this territory, the price of butter is a cent a pound lower today, with the best creamery selling at from 33 to 35 cents a pound.

In case Duluth consumers should show a disposition to become unduly cheerful over the break in the market as far as it has gone, dealers express the opinion that the easing-up prices are unlikely to extend very far at present in view of the great decrease in storage supplies as compared with a year ago, and that the present output of new butter in the West does not come anywhere near filling the consumptive demand. It is said that buyers in the East do not differentiate as much in favor of fresh butter as they do down this way, it being estimated that in the territory east of Chicago three times as much storage stock is consumed as of the fresh article at this season. A good Eastern demand for butter is advised by the Bridgeman-Russell company and the Victor Produce company, and shipments are being made from here down that way.

Fresh Eggs Scarce.

Fresh eggs remain a scarce article and their figure remains at 40@42 cents a dozen. Storage eggs are 26@30 cents a dozen, or practically where they were a week ago. Receipts of new-laid eggs are said to be a mere bagatelle at present, and no marked improvement is expected before next month. Storage eggs are being drawn upon heavily both here and in the East and it is thought that supplies in the Associated warehouses will be exhausted before the new laying season for the hens starts in April. Dealers are endeavoring to lighten their stores in view of possible market developments, and that accounts for quotations in the storage product not having been moved up to any extent of late.

Meat Prices Declined.

Householders will be thankful for the fact that meat prices are beginning to decline. Beef, mutton and pork are cheaper today, and even though the recessions are not much, they are to be appreciated after the long upturn in the mark. Pork and provisions are especially easy, due to greatly increased receipts of hogs at packing points.

No changes have come about in poultry prices. Receipts of live poultry are merely nominal, but frozen stock is proving adequate to supply the present quiet demand.

There have been only a few changes in the fruits and vegetables list, according to the Fitzsimmons-Palmer company. Apples are still the feature in fruits, with prices unchanged, as stocks are still good. Moderate advances are expected soon to cover accumulated storage charges. The grapefruit movement is slow and prices are slightly lower. The call for that fruit is being affected by the cheapness of apples and oranges.

Vegetables Are Plentiful.

Receipts of California vegetables are liberal and the general market in them is featureless. Quotations through the list still average up the lowest in years.

While figures in Minnesota potatoes are unchanged, the market in them is firmer, as floating stocks are being gradually cleaned up. Stocks in the hands of the large operators through the district are said, however, to be still heavy.

JASON CARRYING ART COLLECTION

Works By American Artists for Exhibition at San Francisco.

(Correspondence of the Associated Press.)

Paris, Jan. 1.—An art collection on a navy collier is a departure from recognized artistic standards which now is being arranged. When the U. S. S. Jason leaves Marseilles about the middle of January it will carry as part of its cargo many works by American artists for exhibition at San Francisco. As an added incentive the Panama-Pacific exposition has reserved a special section for the works of non-resident artists.

Juries composed of recognized masters in Paris and London have weeded out much of the undesirable or freakish, until a decidedly representative collection has been obtained. The war has had little appreciable effect, as, with only one or two exceptions, the jury is the same as was chosen to meet early in August when the outbreak of hostilities made it necessary to postpone the meeting indefinitely.

From the seventy-five works which were submitted to the Paris jury, seventeen were accepted. They consisted chiefly of figures, and landscapes of Brittany and Normandy. Nudes were conspicuous by their absence, and marines were in the minority. Among the "lucky seventeen" are Charles Thorndyke, Edwin O'Connell, Lionel Walden, Park Dougherty, Max Bohm and several others. The jury composed of Walter McEwen as chairman, Walter Griffen, W. T. Dannat, H. O. Tanner, Alson Barlow and Harry Vanderweyden have all decided to send some representative work. Many of the exhibitors express anxiety concerning transportation. Special care is necessary in packing, as owing to the dampness and moisture in a ship's hold, the risk of the canvases becoming mildewed is great. Many other difficulties have been experienced, such as obtaining consular receipts, in order that the pictures and frames may be exempt from duty.

NERVOUS SENTRY IS CAUSE OF GREAT PERIL.

London, Jan. 1.—"One of the great perils of journeying in the war zones," writes an officer from the front, "is the nervous, inexperienced sentry, who is always firing at stray cows or dropping acorns, or other objects which fail to answer his summons promptly, the presence of wounded Germans. Built to accommodate thirty, it sheltered 130 and reeked with the odor of blood, powder and drugs; we could take only thirty of the most serious cases. The task of sorting them out was heartrending, they were all in such sore need. As we started out the shells began to fall again thick and fast all around us, and between the roaring crashes we heard the groans and supplications of the wounded in the ambulance behind; one crying constantly for 'mother.'"

North Branch, Minn., Jan. 15.—Mrs. Oscar Kallberg of Kost, while in town Monday, lost her pocketbook containing between $35 and $40. She was worried over the matter, but within a few hours after she had discovered the loss her pocketbook was returned to her, having been found by one who knew her.

CANNOT SAVE THE WOUNDED

Comrades Compelled to Wait Days Before Picking Them Up.

Paris, Jan. 1.—Since hostilities settled down to a siege along the rivers and canals of the north, the average number of casualties per day seems to have lessened. But the work of the ambulance department is all the more hazardous. Men who fell in pitched battles were often lost in concealed places, but what is worse now is that they often lie in plain sight, obliged to wait for hours, sometimes for days, before it is possible for their comrades to pick them up. It is often too late.

When a man is wounded in the trenches he is able to get back to the field hospital, if he can walk; if not he must wait until night because the trenches are so narrow that the stretcher-bearers cannot carry a wounded man through them; he must be lifted out and carried back above ground.

Between Two Fires.

When a charge is made between the lines of trenches and proves to be successful, the wounded of course must be left; in too many cases they are actually sacrificed and their comrades obliged to see them lying helplessly between two fires. Sometimes they see them raise a hand and occasionally they hear their despairing cries, but to attempt to save them is out of the question.

Cases have been reported in which men charging against barbed-wire defenses and wounded in the attempt have been left for days hanging in the tangled wires.

The chaplain of a French regiment, describing the work of the ambulance corps after a great battle, says:

A Chaplain's Story.

"We had a long evening tour to make as we were obliged to visit the advance posts of Rezelieres, Remenonville and Gerbvillers. Without lanterns, in order not to betray our position we advanced silently over roads gashed by shells and deeply rutted by heavy artillery. From the hilltops we saw a ruddy glow from burning villages.

"Here and there were flashes of light, followed by the explosions of shells and through the sky veritable furrows of fire. It was all that revealed the sinister presence of hostile armies. The silence was impressive at times; cut only by the cawing of crows and the reports of artillery.

Deserted and Ruined.

"We found Rozelieres deserted, ruined; only a few houses still standing and they were burning. Renonville was unrecognizable. We found thirty wounded but we could take only ten of the worst.

"The road to Gerbvillers, bordered by tall poplars, runs along the Prussian lines; in daylight we should have been wiped out.

"It was nearly midnight when we reached the entrance to the village—the theater of deadly conflicts for ten days.

"The little hospital there seemed asylum in hell; alone it stood in the midst of the collapsed town, saved thanks to the presence of wounded

MANY JEWS IN BRITISH SERVICE

Ten Thousand Now Serving in the Army and Navy.

(Correspondence of the Associated Press.)

London, Jan. 1.—More than 10,000 Jews are now serving in the British army and navy, and the army casualty lists show that six officers and over forty enlisted men have been killed and 150 reported wounded or missing, in addition.

These figures are compiled by Rev. Michael Adler, the senior Jewish chaplain to the forces. Rev. Mr. Adler has a son in the Royal Fusiliers, and he himself expects to leave for the front soon.

"Before the war," says the rabbi, "there were only 500 Jews in the service. Since the war, all sections of Jewry, rich and poor, have responded. Two of our men have received distinguished conduct medals. There are a large number of Jewish officers and men in the Australasian forces in Egypt, while others took part in the operations in Samoa and New Guinea. Among the Canadian troops are about 300 Jews, mostly sons of naturalized Russian and Roumanian Jews. Jewish soldiers are to be found also in all the training centers in England."

HEALTH TALKS

by William Brady, M.D.

Clean Dirt and Dirty Dirt

TURN up a spadeful of earth a hundred miles from human habitation and you will see some clean dirt. Walk down the asphalt-paved street on most any blustery day and you will see little heaps of very dirty dirt waiting patiently for the wagons to come and clear them away. Neither kind of dirt is of much consequence so far as health goes.

The word dirt is an Anglo-Saxon twist for "drit," meaning excrement. Now when earth becomes excrement it becomes dirt and possibly dangerous.

Street dirt is notorious as a medium of transmission of tetanus (lockjaw) germs. These germs are normally present in the alimentary canal of many herbivorous animals, and hence street wounds, particularly in the summer time, are liable to be infected with tetanus. That is why doctors often urge a prophylactic dose of antitetanus serum at the time such wounds are dressed.

Cleanliness is a relative term. There is no such thing as absolute personal cleanliness, though one may strive to attain it. The human hand is the dirtiest thing in the world, if we except one other thing, namely, the human mouth. We are speaking now in a sanitary sense, of course. A surgeon can render his instruments and dressings absolutely clean, but his hands are never absolutely free from bacteria, and so he wears rubber gloves.

Children become infected with the eggs of parasites because their hands are so dirty. They pick up infection of all sorts on their hands, then put their fingers in their mouth. But children are by no means alone in this dangerous habit. Mighty few adults but that plant whatever colonies of microbes there may be on their fingers in their mouths many times a day. Hence the mouth is a dirtier place than the hand, because in the mouth the germs find such suitable conditions for growth and multiplication.

Cleanliness gets a terrible shock when it sees a person industriously biting his fingernails.

Questions and Answers.

Sulphur and Molasses: Will it harm a nursing baby if the mother takes sulphur and molasses for her blood?

REPLY.

The sulphur and molasses won't harm mother or baby, but the idea that it has any influence on the blood should be carefully concealed from the baby. It is a mild physic, and nothing more.

Well-Behaved Eyes: X. Y. Z. complains that her eyes won't behave. When she looks at anything dark her pupils dilate or grow large, and it is very embarrassing. She is 19, and a student.

Your eyes behave conventionally enough, X. Y. Z. Normal pupils dilate when looking at dark things and contract when looking at light things or when in bright light. If the sight really blurs you should have the vision measured by a medical eye specialist.

Keep Hammering: L. B. A. hopes we will keep hammering away at the patent medicines and crooks. He is past 60 and has had some bitter experiences with these fakes. In his opinion, they do more harm than tobacco and booze combined.

A Convulsive Tic: Mrs. A. M. I. complains of a twitching underneath the eyelid and on one side of the check at times.

It is a "tic," or convulsive muscular contraction. It may be a sign of general neurosis, or possibly due to eyestrain. If you have your eyesight tested, be sure to have it done by a medical eye specialist, as accuracy is essential.

MILITARY GOVERNOR IS VERY GENEROUS.

(Correspondence of the Associated Press.)

Amsterdam, Jan. 1.—"Lille has already paid 3,400,000 francs as a war tax; the feeding of German troops has cost us 1,500,000 francs, while the city's damage from bombardment is something over 300,000,000 francs," writes the mayor of Lille to Gen. von Heindrich, the military governor, begging to be excused from paying an additional war tax of 3,000,000 francs, which the governor had demanded.

The governor's reply, according to the Lille Bulletin, which is now published biweekly under German supervision, is that "in view of the quiet behavior of the population I will allow the payment of the remainder to be postponed for a week." The governor declined to recognize any obligation on the part of the Germans to feed the citizens, and recommended that the mayor import corn from England.

FIRST MOTOR SOUP KITCHEN FOR WOUNDED.

(Correspondence of the Associated Press.)

London, Jan. 1.—The first motor soup kitchen is now on its way to the front. A dozen others, bought jointly by the British Red Cross and St. John's ambulance will soon follow.

The motor soup kitchen is entirely a new provision for the wounded, its functions being to keep in close touch with the field ambulances and provide a hot, nourishing drink for those who have received first aid. Soup, meat extracts, tea, coffee and cocoa will be served. The motors carry their own water supplies.

A number of courageous women volunteered for this service, but their services were not accepted, as the war department does not allow women to go as near to the firing line as the soup wagons would have to go.

FIGHTING STOPPED BY SEVERE WEATHER.

(Correspondence of the Associated Press.)

Petrograd, Dec. 30.—Mid-December weather in Armenia was so severe that operations between the Turkish and Russian armies around Erzerum practically ceased. The temperature frequently reached 35 deg. below zero. The roads were covered with snow to a depth of six feet or more.

HOUSES NEEDED FOR PEASANTS' SHELTER.

(Correspondence of the Associated Press.)

London, Jan. 1.—Plank houses with tarred paper roofs are sorely needed for shelter of peasants in the area ravaged by war, according to A. E. Harvey, the head of the committee of architects, doctors and nurses engaged in formulating a policy of reconstruction in Belgium and parts of France.

The architects says that the ruined stone walls are generally unsafe and should not be used. Labor, felt paper, glass and lumber are scarce in France and exhausted in Belgium so that the problem is difficult.

WAR HALTS RAIL WORK.

Great Northern to Lay No Steel in North Dakota This Year.

Bismarck, N. D., Jan. 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—There will be no steel laid by the Great Northern railroad in North Dakota this year, according to the statement made by J. M. Gruber, general manager, to the North Dakota railroad commission.

This probably means that the New Rockford-Lewistown line will not be opened till 1916 and that Grand Forks must wait at least two years before it can hope to obtain a southwestern connection with New Rockford, by way of an extension from Larimore.

The financial conditions created by the European war are responsible for the railroad's decision.

The Northern Pacific has also abandoned plans for immediate construction work on the southern main line, which main line would extend directly west from Wahpeton, and relieve the present main line from Fargo west of much of its present heavy traffic.

The only construction work contemplated by the Northern Pacific during this year is west of Stanton, according to present indications.

Legislators Here For Week-end.
State Senator C. E. Adams of the Fifty-seventh district and Representative E. R. Ribenack of the Fifty-eighth district arrived here from St. Paul this morning. The legislature adjourned until Monday. All of the St. Louis county members fared well.

Nothing Accomplished.
G. Roy Hall, traffic commissioner of the Duluth Commercial club, returned this morning from Chicago, where he had been attending a meeting of the interests that are involved in the lake and rail freight rates. An attempt was made to come to some agreement as to what rates should be decided upon, but nothing was accomplished and the matter was left to the interstate commerce commission.

Held as a "Go-Between."
Bert McCall was in the municipal court this morning charged with receiving stolen property. He was arrested by Officer Wanvick, and it is alleged that he acted as a "go-between" in accepting a gold watch valued at $28, and stolen from David A. Miller. McCall has been up before on a similar charge, when he was sent to the work farm for being in collusion with men who had stolen a lot of electric fixtures. He is held in $500 bail and the hearing of his case is set for next Monday.

Suspect Arrested.
J. E. Donohue has been arrested as the second suspect in connection with the attempted theft of some metal fixtures from a dredge on the water front. He has been identified by Special Watchman Carl Wurzbach, who was instrumental in the arrest of Donohue's companion last Monday, when Donohue managed to elude his pursuers by walking across the ice to Superior. He was arrested early this morning, but claims he can prove an alibi if he can locate one James Boyd, whom he alleges was with him at the time of the attempted robbery.

The case was tried at the last term of court and a jury returned a verdict for $175. Judge Cant granted a new trial.

Inserted by the Municipal Ownership League. Amount to be paid, $26.88.

FACTS THE PEOPLE SHOULD KNOW

Jan. 15, 1915.

This morning, "less than 20,000 people" read another $156.80 reason why the News Tribune is throwing a fit on almost every page of its paper these days against Municipal Ownership. The people of course understand that none of the City Officials or Municipal Ownership men are getting within a thousand miles of a square deal from the News Tribune on the Electric Light question.

These are the facts about that page advertisement:

1. It cost the Duluth-Edison Committee not less than $156.80, and the people of Duluth will have to pay it in their electric light and power bills.

2. No city employe is working or has worked as such for the Municipal Ownership Committee, at Headquarters or elsewhere, except of nights a very few have worked on their own time as other patriotic citizens.

3. No city property or supplies have been turned over to the Municipal Ownership Committee to use while public business waits. The only thing belonging to the city that has been at Municipal Ownership Headquarters is the addressograph. As a matter of fact the city saved money on that arrangement. The health department circular was gotten out the day it was ready. We suggest, however, that it is safer for the people to have a city government that would turn over an addressograph, when not in use by the city, to a Municipal Ownership Committee, than one that would turn over its Council and City Attorney to the Duluth-Edison Company.

4. The Grant affidavit is true as far as it goes. Its chief characteristic is in the deception it conveys. The literature Grant was mailing was the city's booklet, and the envelopes he was addressing were the envelopes in which the booklet was enclosed. He performed no services for the Municipal Ownership Committee. Now re-read that affidavit.

5. Not a single "explanation" published in that advertisement was accurate.

6. It cost the Duluth-Edison Committee not less than $156.80 and the people of Duluth will pay for it.

WILL CONSIDER GARY PLAN

Vocational Training Attracting Attention of Duluth Educators and Business Men.

A meeting of several men who are interested in vocational training in public schools was to have been held yesterday at the Commercial club, but only two of them appeared, so the meeting was postponed, and will be held later. This matter is arousing the interest of many business men and is getting considerable attention from the school board, the teachers and the educational committee of the Commercial club. The Schoolmasters' club, a few days ago, began an inquiry among the boys of the Central high school to find out what profession they aim to follow upon leaving school, the idea being to give the pupils special training to fit them for their prospective vocations.

There are various ideas as to what methods should be pursued in giving vocational education. One plan that seems to be gaining favor is the so-called Gary idea. It originated at Gary, Ind., the Steel corporation town. There the vocational training begins when the pupils are in the lower grades. It is early enough to permit the pupils to take up their work on leaving school at a very advanced age, sometimes—depending on the trade, of course, and the ability of the pupil—starting their life's work on a par with their elders and being able to draw full pay therefor. In this way the pupils do not have to wait to go through another long period of instruction before getting their stride in their chosen line. They have learned, at least, the rudiments when they take their first job.

It is believed that when the Duluth steel plant opens the Minnesota Steel company will ask to have the Gary idea established there because of the success met with at Gary, Ind.

beyond the limit on appropriations in recent years, and when you were seeking election you said that something should be done about it. Do it!

"The new members are likely to feel aggrieved, some of them, because they did not land important chairmanships or the committee assignments they coveted. That is not so dangerous or so important as you think. It is far more important that you keep your pledges to work for the best interests of the state. If you do that, you will have no apologies to make when you get home.

"Above all, cut out the practice of making appropriations indirectly that you could not make directly, by providing for certificates of indebtedness. That scheme is an invention of the devil."

Mr. Jacobson was heartily applauded.

Reply to Criticisms.

The late speakership contest had a revival in the house yesterday afternoon when several of the members, challenged for their action on the contest, arose to questions of personal privilege.

For a time it looked a bit squally, but it was all smoothed out in the end, and as the members seem to feel that Speaker Flowers was eminently fair in arranging the committees, probably this little flurry was the burial ceremony of the late division.

Representative Charles L. Sawyer of Minneapolis, who had been accused of switching from Gordon to Flowers, led the movement. He offered a statement, which he asked to have printed in the journal, taking note of newspaper criticism, including some in the Browns Valley Tribune, Mr. Gordon's newspaper, and explaining his action.

He said that he had promised to vote for Gordon, if on the roll call it appeared that his vote would elect him. He kept that pledge, he said, and though he voted for Flowers, was prepared to give Gordon his vote if he got sixty-five other votes. He got but sixty-three, so he did not change.

"A man," he said, "is responsible for his acts, and not for the construction somebody else chooses to put upon them. All most men have is their good name, and it should not be lightly assailed."

Representative Scott of Hibbing said that this was a matter that was personal to Mr. Sawyer himself, and he moved that the statement, which was typewritten, be returned to its author. This brought out many cries of "No!"

Woodfill Talks.

Representative J. W. Woodfill of Two Harbors, whose name had been mentioned in some of the clippings included in Sawyer's statement, said that though he, like all other men, had made mistakes and might make them again, he had no apologies to offer for his action.

"I did what I thought was right," he added. "The speakership fight is settled. Let it drop. They may call me what they like, but my actions will speak for themselves. We have organized the house, we have a speaker; let's do the work we are here to do."

Representative Sam Y. Gordon said he was in favor of permitting Mr. Sawyer's statement to be spread upon the record.

Representative Bjornson, Gordon leader, said that it was a matter of honor among the members of the house to give those who have been assailed the privilege sought by Mr. Sawyer. His statement, he said, was fair enough, and the Gordon supporters would be only too glad to have it printed in the record. "The matter may figure in the next elections," he said, "and it may be valuable to have an official record of the matter."

On motion of Representative Steen of Winona the statement was ordered printed in the journal.

J. H. Erickson of Bigstone county, who had also been accused of "switching," also entered a statement in the journal. He said that his pledge to Mr. Gordon had applied to the caucus only, that he had been assured that it did not extend to the fight in the house and that, moreover, he had withdrawn it some time before the house convened.

Representative A. L. Thompson of Mahnomen, another of those mentioned in the criticisms, spoke to the point.

"I knew what I was doing," he said. "I have no apologies to make and no excuses. And I am not going to take up the time of the house, either."

Representative H. H. Harrison of Stillwater said he did not rise to a question of personal privilege, but to plead the cause of peace.

"Let's bury this matter," he said, "and go to work harmoniously, permitting no breach between parties or between cliques."

St. Louis County Delegation.

The St. Louis county delegation at its meeting yesterday afternoon decided to have regular weekly meetings at the St. Paul hotel on Tuesday evenings.

As stated, yesterday, the meeting was entirely harmonious. In consideration of the position of the range members, it was decided not to apply any unit rule, though it was agreed that all strictly local matters should be submitted to the delegation as a body before being introduced.

The only matter of legislation considered was the request of the police of Duluth for changes in the law governing the police pension system. The policemen want the law changed so that pensions can be paid the widows and orphans of policemen; so that dog tax fees may be turned into the fund; so that the members of the force may be assessed small amounts to swell the fund, and so that the fund shall also receive prize money earned by officers. Senator Charles E. Adams is putting the measure in shape for early consideration by the delegation.

Election Contests.

The election contest of Frank Dunning of Osseo, Hennepin county, against Representative Thomas H. Girling, was filed before the house yesterday. Arrangements for hearings before the elections committee will be made later. The contest of Montgomery against Sudheimer, involving a St. Paul district, will come in shortly.

Governor Hammond yesterday afternoon sent a brief message to the house urging an emergency appropriation to complete the work of the state drainage commission.

In consideration of the fact that Speaker Flowers has been working night and day to complete his committee arrangements, Representative Bjornson yesterday afternoon moved that the house adjourn to Monday night. The motion prevailed, so the senate is in session today alone.

The senate's session this morning was brief, and after the usual routine, an adjournment was taken until Tuesday morning at 11 o'clock. The house meets Monday evening.

Senator J. D. Sullivan of St. Cloud brought up and moved the adoption of his resolution of yesterday calling on the board of control for a report on the state buildings constructed during the last three years, with a statement of the proportion of Minnesota stone used in their construction. Potatoes for Belgians.

Senator Buckler of Crookston offered the resolution presented in the house by Representative Boyd, proposing a state commission to be appointed by the governor to collect the surplus potato crop and ship it to the relief of the Belgians. Maine, New York, Michigan, Wisconsin and North Dakota are asked to co-operate. Senator J. W. Andrews of Mankato put the resolution over to Tuesday by giving notice of debate.

HUNDREDS ARE BURIED ALIVE IN WRECKAGE

zano and Sora almost everyone was killed.

Water Supply Shut Off.

The situation in Avezzano is increasingly grave because of the destruction of the aqueduct system and the consequent shutting off of the water supply. Communication is slowly being re-established and two hastily improvised hospitals and one refuge camp have been set up.

The rescue forces have been augmented by the staff of the United States embassy at Rome, dispatched to Avezzano in automobiles by Ambassador Thomas Nelson Page. The secretaries and attaches carried supplies of clothing and provisions for the sufferers.

Reports from Switzerland show that the quake was felt among the Alps, and caused destructive avalanches there.

As in the Messina catastrophe, it is believed that it will be weeks before the loss of life can be known or the property loss accurately compiled. The work of recovering bodies is proceeding slowly.

News Comes Slowly.

Rome, Jan. 15.—News from the earthquake district of Italy still comes in slowly but enough is known to show that the disaster closely approaches that which befell Messina six years ago. Estimates of the killed and injured vary from 25,000 to 50,000, and it will probably be days before exact figures are available.

Avezzano, sixty miles east of Rome, and Sora, fifteen miles south of Avezzano, were the worst sufferers, so far as loss of life is concerned, but about sixty towns and villages in all suffered either total demolition or serious damage.

Reports today from the north say the shock was felt as far as the Swiss frontier and that in the Alps in that region there were numerous avalanches, the result of the earthquake. This would make it appear that the earthquake extended throughout the entire length of Italy with the exception of the extreme southern end.

The Italian government and people have quickly responded to the call for help from the stricken people. Thousands of troops have been sent to the scene and the work of rescue and relief is going on night and day.

King Tireless in Efforts.

King Victor Emmanuel, according to advices reaching here, is tireless in his endeavors to spur on the rescue work and in encouraging the survivors.

Messages reaching here from along the line from Rome to Tivoli, Carsoli and Avezzano say that everywhere the king passes the people rush to greet him and to express their gratitude. The king, it is stated, asks all to abandon unnecessary formalities and to desist from inappropriate demonstrations. His only wish, he says, is to visit the wounded and express to them his sympathy and to ascertain what is possible to be done to relieve so much misery.

The American ambassador, Thomas Nelson Page, dispatched an automobile with several secretaries. They started for the Avezzano district with supplies, especially blankets, which they will distribute.

Ready to Appoint Committee.

Ambassador Page is ready to appoint an American relief committee, while Mrs. Page will appoint a committee of ladies if necessary to aid in the Italian work of relief.

Avezzano, the chief sufferer from the earthquake presents a scene of wreck and desolation. Practically every building in the town is in ruins and nearly all its people are dead or injured. Many are still alive, buried under the debris, and rescuers are working night and day in an endeavor to reach them.

King Victor Emmanuel returned to Rome last night. To Premier Salandra he confirmed the gravity of the disaster and expressed admiration for the efficient work of the Italian soldiers. More troops have been ordered into the earthquake zone.

Minister of Public Works Ciuffelli is at Avezzano, where he has organized the work of rescue. He spent last night in a railroad car at the station. Today he began a tour of investigation to ascertain actual conditions in the country around Avezzano.

King Encourages People.

When the king was in Avezzano yesterday he was indefatigible in his efforts to encourage and help his people. He climbed over the ruins and spoke words of praise to the rescuers. On several different occasions he urged the people to repress anything like an ovation for himself. He spoke to the wounded and promised them assistance. He witnessed the extrication of a young girl still alive, gave directions for her succor and the next moment was sending telegraphic orders for the dispatch of further help and provisions to Avezzano.

Some of the survivors at Avezzano have not even yet sufficiently recovered from the shock of their experiences to tell a connected story of the visitation. One man who was taken yesterday from a ruin, said:

Different Sensations.

"I had a sensation as though someone was forcing me to dance. Then I was thrown to the ground and the roof and the walls fell upon my head. Even after I was half buried, the earth seemed to heave and grow hot."

A priest was saying mass in a church when he felt the first shock. He rushed under an arch of the building and this saved his life. His acolytes were struck down and killed.

The shocks destroyed the aqueduct system of Avezzano, and there is today no water in the town. It is stated that a statue of the Virgin, forty feet high, which stood on the shore of Lake Fucino, has been thrown into the water. There is considerable danger that the drained land in this vicinity will be flooded.

Gave News First.

A wagoner's apprentice, a boy of 13 years, was the first person to give the news of Avezzano to the outside world. He succeeded in getting back into the town a few moments after the first shock. He found a railroad employe and persuaded this man with his help to rig up a telegraph instrument in a freight car and connect it with a wire that was still intact. On the instrument the railroad man, who is an operator, soon got Rome. The two together then sent the first news of the disaster.

The pope offered to the mayor of Rome the use of the hospital at Santa Marta, with 300 beds. The mayor accepted this offer at once.

There has been organized in Rome a private expedition to send out automobiles loaded with relief. Over 300 machines already have left for Avezzano. They carried blankets, medicines, food and cordials. Among the members of the Italian nobility active in relief work are Prince Borghese, Prince Colonna, Prince Altieri and Prince Potenziana.

The pope is anxious about the fate of Monsignor Jannotta, bishop of Sora, from whom nothing has been heard.

Recent reports of casualties set forth that there were seventy victims of the earthquake at Castelliri; thirty-seven dead and 170 wounded at Isola, and ten dead at Capolaroce. At this last mentioned place the casualties were almost all among the relatives of the local priest.

RESCUE WORK IS A GHASTLY TASK

Removing Bodies at Avezzano Proves a Nerve-Wrecking Operation.

Avezzano, Italy, Jan. 15.—Rescue work in this devastated town is becoming a ghastly and nerve-racking task. The mutilated bodies of the townspeople extricated from the ruins are being laid along the road which once led to the railway station. Some of the bodies are so unrecognizable that they frequently are claimed as bodies of relations by different people.

During the night the work of rescue was continued by torchlight and the flickering shadows made it appear as though the walls were about to fall. Some did collapse either as a result of the earth shocks still occurring or because the debris supporting them was removed by the workmen.

As the work of rescue goes on it becomes more and more apparent that many of the inhabitants did not die of injuries sustained in the earthquake, but as a result of becoming exhausted and frozen during the long hours of the night.

One girl who had been hanging by her clothing for many hours from an upper floor of a building was finally rescued alive. Count Filippo Resta, a prominent resident of Avezzano escaped, though his family of nine and two servants were buried in the collapse of their dwelling.

VIOLENT ATTACK BY GERMANS

afternoon to the military situation to the northeast of Soissons. It says the Germans yesterday occupied the village of St. Paul, close to Soissons, but the French at once drove them out.

With the exception of the customary artillery exchanges, a spirited infantry encounter in the Vosges, in which the French claim the victory, and a successful infantry charge near Arras, this afternoon's report contains little that is new. The report follows:

"From the sea to the Lys there were artillery engagements yesterday, some of them quite spirited. We made progress near Lombaertzyde and near Becelaere. To the north of Arras a brilliant attack by Zouaves resulted in the capture at the bayonet point of the positions of the enemy near the road between Arras and Lille.

"In this same region at Tagette and at St. Laurent, as well as at a point to the north of Andechy, in the region of Roye, our artillery secured the advantage over that of the enemy. Germany batteries were reduced to silence, two pieces of artillery were demolished, a depot of ammunition was exploded and field works in course of construction were destroyed.

"At a point two kilometers (a mile and a quarter) northeast of Soissons, the Germans yesterday attacked the village of St. Paul. They entered the village, but we lost no time in recapturing it.

"In the region of Craonne and near Reims there were yesterday violent artillery engagements during the course of which the batteries of the enemy were frequently reduced to silence.

"In the region of Perthes, in the Argonne, all on the heights of the Meuse, there has been nothing important to report. We have destroyed the foot bridges set up by the Germans over the River Meuse at St. Mihiel and in the forest of Ailly we repulsed an attack upon the trenches taken by us Jan. 8.

"In the Vosges, to the south of Senonnes, we repulsed the Germans after a spirited infantry engagement. We broke through their barbed wire entanglements and occupied their trenches.

"Along the rest of the front there is nothing to report."

German Statement.

Berlin, Jan. 15, by wireless to London.—The German war office today gave out an official statement reading as follows:

"Some torpedo boats appeared yesterday off Westende. They were accompanied by small craft which approached to within nine miles of the coast.

"French attacks on both sides of Notre Dame de Lorette, northwest of Arras, were repelled by us. A trench which we took eight days ago from the enemy near Ecurie and which had since been occupied by a portion of one of our companies, was lost by us. The fighting in this locality continues to rage today.

"The northern bank of the River Aisne, to the northeast of Soissons, has been cleared of French troops. By continuous fighting we were successful in taking Cuffies, Crouy, Bucy-le-Long, Missy, as well as Vauxrot and Vallerie (all to the north and northeast of Soissons.) The French here suffered heavy losses. Their retreat to the south of the Aisne took place under the fire of our heavy artillery. The conditions which obtained in this battle was very similar to those which prevailed in 1870. Even though the two battles north of Soissons are not comparative to those of Aug. 18, 1870, the battle field was about as wide as that at Gravelotte and St. Privat.

"The French made a very strong attack north of Verdun, near Consenvoye on our positions near Ailly, but were repulsed by us.

"In the region of St. Mihiel the French delivered some attacks. They reached our front line of trenches, but were beaten off by counter-attacks and sustained heavy losses. During fighting last night our troops occupied some of the positions of the enemy, but after rebuilding our positions we voluntarily left those taken from the enemy without a contest.

"An attack in force near Mesnil, north of St. Mihiel, was beaten off by us.

"In the Vosges there was yesterday nothing more than artillery duels.

"In east Prussia and in northern Poland there has been no change. Our attacks in Poland west of the Vistula are making slow progress. In the capture by us of one of the Russian vantage points northeast of the Rawka, we took 500 Russian prisoners and became possessed of their machine gun. Stubborn counter-attacks by the Russians were here driven back with heavy losses to the enemy."

Russian Statement.

Petrograd, Jan. 15.—The following official statement was issued from general headquarters last night:

"Yesterday we made progress on the right bank of the Lower Vistula, our troops changing positions in a manner favorable to them. The cavalry of the enemy operating this region was repulsed, leaving Serpetz in the possession of our vanguard.

"On our other fronts nothing has occurred other than skirmishes and artillery duels. Our reconnoitering parties have been active.

"On the left bank of the Vistula, isolated German attacks were easily repelled by our fire.

"On various portions of our Austrian front the enemy tried to cannonade our position with heavy guns, but the efficient fire of our batteries soon silenced the Austrian artillery."

SIOUX CITY, IOWA, HAS $200,000 FIRE.

Sioux City, Iowa, Jan. 1.—Fire in the Trimble block, Sixth and Pierce streets, this morning, caused a loss of $200,000. The principal losers are: W. S. Gilman, owner of the building, $65,000; Nash & Hough Furniture company, $45,000; Overland Sioux City company, automobiles, $40,000; Schultz Auto Supply company, $50,000.

When the blaze first assumed alarming size, authorities of the St. Vincent's hospital, which adjoins the Trimble block on the north, began removing patients. This was done without disorder.

THIN FOR YEARS" GAINS 22 POUNDS IN 23 DAYS"

Remarkable Experience of F. Gagnon. Builds Up Weight Wonderfully.

"I was all run down to the very bottom," writes F. Gagnon. "I had to quit work, I was so weak. Now, thanks to Sargol, I look like a new man. I gained 22 pounds in 23 days."

"Sargol has put 10 pounds on me in 11 days," states W. D. Roberts. "It has made me sleep well, enjoy what I ate and enabled me to work with interest and pleasure."

"I weighed 132 pounds when I commenced taking Sargol. After taking 20 days I weighed 144 pounds. Sargol is the most wonderful preparation for flesh building I have ever seen," declares D. Martin, and J. Meier adds: "For the past twenty years I have taken medicine every day for indigestion and got thinner every year. I took Sargol for forty days and feel better than I have felt in twenty years. My weight has increased from 150 to 170 pounds."

When hundreds of men and women—and there are hundreds, with more coming every day—living in every nook and corner of this broad land, voluntarily testify to weight increases ranging all the way from 10 to 35 pounds, given them by Sargol, you must admit, Mr. and Mrs. and Miss Thin Reader, that there must be something in this Sargol method of flesh building after all.

Hadn't you better look into it, just as thousands of others have done? Many thin folks say: "I'd give most anything to put on a little extra weight, but when someone suggests a way they exclaim, "Not a chance. Nothing will make me plump. I'm built to stay thin." Until you have tried Sargol, you do not and cannot know that this is true.

Sargol has put pounds of healthy "stay there" flesh on hundreds who doubted and in spite of their doubts. You don't have to believe in Sargol to grow plump from its use. You just take it and watch weight pile up, hollows vanish and your figure round out to pleasing and normal proportions. You weigh yourself when you begin and again when you finish and you let the scales tell the story.

Sargol is just a tiny concentrated tablet. You take one with every meal. It mixes with the food you eat for the purpose of separating all of its flesh producing ingredients. It prepares these fat making elements in an easily assimilated form, which the blood can readily absorb and carry all over your body. Plump, well-developed persons don't need Sargol to produce this result. Their assimilative machinery performs its functions without aid. But thin folks' assimilative organs do not. This fatty portion of their food now goes to waste through their bodies like unburned coal through an open grate. A few days' test of Sargol in your case will surely prove whether or not this is true of you. Isn't it worth trying?

COCOANUT OIL MAKES A SPLENDID SHAMPOO

If you want to keep your hair in good condition, the less soap you use the better.

Most soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much alkali. This dries the scalp, makes the hair brittle, and is very harmful. Just plain mulsified cocoanut oil (which is pure and entirely greaseless), is much better than soap or anything else you can use for shampooing, as this can't possibly injure the hair.

Simply moisten your hair with water and rub it in. One or two teaspoonfuls will make an abundance of rich, creamy lather, and cleanses the hair and scalp thoroughly. The lather rinses out easily, and removes every particle of dust, dirt, dandruff and excessive oil. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and it leaves it fine and silky, bright, fluffy and easy to manage.

You can get mulsified cocoanut oil at most any drug store. It is very cheap, and a few ounces is enough to last everyone in the family for months.—Advertisement.

POLICE QUESTION DIETZEL'S IDENTITY

London, Jan. 15.—The American embassy was informed today that the detention by the police at Aberdeen, Scotland, on Jan. 13, of Adolph Dietzel, who says he is an American citizen, was due to the fact that he had traveled through various portions of the north of Scotland, within a restricted area, without having registered with the police. Dietzel, who bears an American passport, issued at Washington, on Aug. 19, 1914, says he was born in Chicago and is a resident of New York.

Dietzel's identity is questioned by the police, who probably will await advices from the United States before freeing him.

FEAR WOMAN MAY SUCCUMB

Mrs. Einar Ersbo Victim of Mysterious Assault at Cass Lake.

Found Unconscious and Bruised, Lying Upon Pile of Manure in Barn.

Cass Lake, Minn., Jan. 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—The local authorities are puzzled over the case of Mrs. Einar Ersbo, who was apparently beaten into unconsciousness and left to die upon a pile of manure in the barn at the Ersbo home.

Dr. Christianson found the woman with her elbow fractured, her skull apparently fractured and other marks of various descriptions upon the body. Her recovery is doubtful. Thus far it has been impossible to figure out what happened to the woman. Cattle were tied several feet from where the body lay.

Wednesday morning Mr. Ersbo left his home, cut bolts on his farm some distance from the house. Upon leaving, it was understood that he would not return until the following day, he having promised to remain at the home of his son that night and take care of the children while his son and wife visited elsewhere.

Yesterday morning about 11 o'clock Mrs. L. Bowman, one of the Ersbo neighbors, called at the Ersbo home, and after knocking at the door several times and getting no response entered to find the place unoccupied.

Barn Locked from Inside.

Thinking that possibly the people might be out in the barn, she went there, but found the door hooked from the inside and heard something breathing heavily. A snow had fallen the night before and there being no foot prints to indicate anyone being around, she became frightened, and running to her home, a distance of about a mile, she notified her husband. Mr. Ersbo was working in the woods near there and he was notified, and with Mr. Bowman hurried home to find the house as it had been when he left the evening before. Hurrying to the barn, he found it locked inside, and quickly prying the door open, he discovered the apparently life-less body of his wife lying on a pile of manure near one of the mangers. Mrs. Ersbo was carried into the house and medical aid immediately summoned.

For Killing Brother-in-Law.

Aberdeen, S. D., Jan. 15.—Christ Leidholt of Roscoe pleaded guilty to manslaughter in the second degree at Ipswich, Edmunds county. He was sentenced by Judge J. H. Bottum to four years in state's prison.

Leidholt shot and killed his brother-in-law, George Ruff, near Roscoe, on the night of Nov. 19, while in an intoxicated condition. Bad blood, which existed between the two men, was brought to a head when Leidholt returned home intoxicated.

HUSBAND'S CORPSE BROUGHT TO WOMAN

Carried to Her Sick Bed That She May Look Upon His Features.

Fargo, N. D., Jan. 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—The loss of her baby and the death of her husband of a year within a few days, her probable fatal illness, having the body of her husband brought to her bedside in the hospital and the coffin placed in an erect position, that she might see his face before his interment, are some of the misfortunes and unusual and gruesome experiences of Mrs. Arthur Jothen of Hastings, Barnes county.

A little more than a year ago, Rev. Arthur Jothen was married in Wisconsin. Soon afterwards he was assigned to a church at Hastings, where the couple lived happily until Mrs. Jothen came to Fargo to a hospital, where her baby was born and died soon afterwards. Her husband contracted a cold which turned into acute pneumonia and he died four days later. The shock of her baby's death and complications arising from her illness made Mrs. Jothen's condition so serious she is compelled to remain in bed in a horizontal position and is not permitted to raise or move her body.

Corpse Brought to Her.

When informed of her second calamity in the death of her husband, she was frantic and insisted that she must view the body before burial, and threatened, if not accorded this privilege, she would get up in bed. To obviate what the attendants regarded as a certain fatality, it was finally agreed that before the body was taken to Wisconsin it should be brought to Mrs. Jothen's room. After that was done, in order to prevent Mrs. Jothen from raising her body, the coffin was placed on end, that Mrs. Jothen could gaze upon the face of her late husband. After studying the face a moment she collapsed, and the body was then sent to Wisconsin.

Mrs. Jothen is still in a precarious condition. Her recovery is extremely doubtful. The successive shocks and her physical condition leaves little hope for her convalescence.

POLK-NORMAN COUNTY DITCH CONTRACT LET.

Crookston, Minn., Jan. 15.—M. R. Hussey of Crookston was the successful bidder for the concrete culvert work in the construction of Judicial Ditch No. 52, which passes through Polk county and also Norman, when the bids were opened Tuesday by the county auditor of Norman county and County Auditor Welte of this city.

Ten bidders submitted bids for excavation of main work on the ditch. The Union Dredge company of Stephen were successful, having placed in a bid of 9 cents a yard. Of the eight bidders for bridges to be constructed, the Security Bridge company of Minneapolis was lowest with a bid of $1,175, while M. R. Hussey was second low.

The steel culverts are to be laid by the Illinois Steel Bridge company, while, as mentioned, M. R. Hussey will lay the concrete culvert, which approximately is a job for $4,800. Work on the ditch will begin early next spring.

NECK BROKEN DURING SCUFFLE; MAN EXPIRES

Bagley, Minn., Jan. 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—John Ryan, aged 32, a lumberjack, employed at one of Frank Isaac's camps two miles west of Gonvick, Clearwater county, engaged in a fatal scuffle with Adolph Mickelson, another woodsman. Ryan's neck was broken and death soon resulted. A coroner's jury, exonerated Mickelson. Witnesses declare that on returning to the camp for dinner they found Ryan, apparently under the influence of liquor, and that soon after he began to scuffle with Mickelson, another chopper. Ryan was thrown against a rafter, his head striking in such a manner that his neck was broken. Drs. Stevens and Bjorneby testified as to the cause of death.

MILL CITY MAN KILLED.

Butcher Is Murdered in Own Home, Presumably By Robber.

Minneapolis, Minn., Jan. 15.—William P. Hawkins, a retail meat dealer, was fatally shot at his residence, 115 West Fifteenth street Wednesday evening. He died soon after being taken to the City hospital. There was no witness to the shooting, so far as the police know, and no positive motive has been uncovered. No specific suspects are sought.

That Hawkins was slain by a robber who waited in the house to attempt robbery, or who was surprised in the act of robbing the flat, is the theory advanced by the police and by the widow as being most probable. Suicide is not being considered.

Hawkins was shot at about 6:55 p. m. within seven minutes after he had arrived home from closing his meat market at 1621 Nicollet avenue. He was alone in the house, his wife having left for the Wednesday evening services of the Church of Christ.

TAUGHT SCHOOL THIRTY-SIX YEARS.

Sturgeon Bay, Wis., Jan. 15.—Miss Agnes O. Jenkins, who for thirty-six years taught the primary department of the public schools in this city, died at her home Jan. 13. She was born in Woodville, N. Y., July 20, 1846. Her remains were taken to Fort Atkinson for burial on Friday.

LOVE OF CAKES IS NEARLY FATAL FOR BOY

Spooner, Wis., Jan. 15.—The love of a boy for cakes nearly proved fatal for Otto Garley. Although 16 years old, Otto Garley still had the craving bad enough to eat some small pieces of cake he found in his mother's cake box, not knowing that she had "touched" the crumbs with paris green to kill mice infesting the pantry. Otto became ill almost immediately and was unable to tell the cause until Mrs. Garley discovered he had eaten her mouse poison. First aid by the mother and prompt attention from a physician who happened to be near saved the youth's life.

FAVORS CHANGE IN FARMING METHODS

Crookston Experiment Station Official Urges More Rotating of Crops.

Crookston, Minn., Jan. 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—Prof. F. L. Kennard of the Northwest Experiment station, gives a timely warning that the future reputation of the Red River valley is not secure unless there is a general change in farming methods. He says that we hear and see a great deal in this day of conservation of soil fertility—a very timely and proper subject for discussion in almost any part of this broad land. The time of the virgin prairie with its abundant fertility is past. This fertility which has been accumulating for ages is fast being depleted. The reason is simple. The pioneer who settled on this land must needs raise wheat for the sustenance of himself and family. Wheat has ever been the cash crop of the early settler. But growing exclusively this one crop should not be continued. This is no longer a pioneer age—and it becomes necessary to abandon pioneer practices and consider the future as well as the present.

Thousands of farms in the once fertile prairie states would not produce sufficient wheat today to pay the cost of production. Other farms in the same section which are doing at now will not do so ten years hence if the crop system of farming is kept up.

Farmers Changing Methods.

The farmers of the former class realize this fact, and are changing to diversified types of farming. Rotation of crops—combined with live stock of some kind. They will in time bring their land back to its high producing power—provided they do not return to their first love so to speak and lose sight of the object which the change of system necessitated—namely fertility.

Those of the latter class, if they are far-seeing enough and if they profit by the mistakes of the farmers on the former class will gradually change the system now. Their problem will then be only maintenance of fertility instead of the increase of fertility as in the former case. Obviously the cost in time and cash and labor of maintaining fertility will be infinitely less than of increasing it.

Fertility can be maintained and even increased without the use of commercial fertilizers, but the farmer must realize that the essentials for such procedure are rotation of crops in which leguminous crops take an important place, the marketing of his crops in the form of animal products, and the return to the land of the organic matter which was taken from it.

BRAINERD CROSSINGS TO HAVE WATCHMEN.

Brainerd, Minn., Jan. 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—Railway crossings and their better protection was the subject of a discussion entered into here by officials of the Northern Pacific railway, the street committee of the council and the railway committee of the chamber of commerce. At the conclusion of the conference W. H. Strachan of Duluth, superintendent of the Lake Superior division, said the bell system would be used at the Oak street crossing and live, wide-awake watchmen would be placed at Fourth, Sixth and Eighth street crossings.

EXAMINE a fine lace collar that has been washed with Ivory Soap. Notice how clear it is in color. How much it feels like a brand new piece. How fresh and unworn it looks in every thread. That shows the quality of Ivory Soap—its mildness, purity and freedom from uncombined alkali.

To Wash Real Lace Collars and Other Fine Laces

Baste the lace to a piece of clean white muslin so that each point and picot is held firmly in place. Make a good lather of Ivory Soap and warm water and let the lace soak for thirty minutes. Then alternately press between hands and dip in the water until clean. Do not rub. If necessary, use a second clean suds of Ivory Soap. Then rinse in clear waters, next in blue water and lastly in a thin starch. Tack on a board stretching the muslin evenly. When nearly dry, remove from the board and press thoroughly through the muslin. Do not put iron on the lace. When dry, cut the basting threads and you will find the lace like new.

AS A PRESS AGENT for himself Battling Nelson is one of the oleaginous persons we have ever heard or read of. What kind of a person did you say? Oleaginous, sir. Eh, eee, well let it go. Doc Cook is gradually sneaking back. Jonah rose out of the belly of the whale, and it is awfully hard to keep T. R. out of the public prints; but Battling Nelson, as one whose name occupies prominent space in our papers, is one of the greatest of all these.

Just the other day the Battler went down to Sing Sing and sat in the death chair. Turning to the warden the Dane told him to turn on the current. "It wouldn't phase me a bit," said the hero of Hedgewisch. Several stories in all the New York papers the next day. Where did they get the news? The Battler came in and gave it to them.

Later Bat asked the warden if he could give a boxing exhibition for the convicts. The warden gave his permission. Now Nelson is at work securing the services of some of the greatest in the East, including Freddy Welsh. Bat will of course, be among the greatest.

Just before these recent exploits, intended for wide publicity circulation, the grim old Battler started suit against Battling Levinsky, declaring that Battling was the given name of Battling Nelson and that any other fighter calling himself Battling was infringing on the rights of the Dane.

Since Castro has passed from our midst and Mary McLean has ceased to interview herself in the public prints, and Carrie Nation has ceased to worry bartenders, the former champion of the world has taken upon himself the task of keeping his name perpetually before the public of the United States.

Mike Collins, a hale and hearty Turk, in long distance conversation from St. Paul yesterday conveyed the information that some of the sharps in Milwaukee are betting that the receipts of the Gibbons-Clabby fight will not go beyond the $15,000 mark.

Tommy Andrews has guaranteed Clabby $7,500 for his end. The Auditorium at Milwaukee costs $1,000. Gibbons gets a liberal per cent. There is the cost of advertising and preliminaries and the thousand and one other details that mount the cost up to the point where hungry-handed deficit reaches out and grabs at profit's neck.

If Tom Andrews does not get over a $15,000 house for this battle, you take it from us that all the profits of the mill can be placed in your eye.

STRONG UNIVERSALS TO MEET CRACK NORTHERNS

Great Game Expected in Amateur Race When the Crack Sevens Clash—"Beany" Brown to Make First Appearance..

This evening at the French rink the Universal and Northern hockey teams will meet in what is expected to prove the fastest and hardest-contested game of the Duluth Amateur Hockey league season to date.

"Beany" Brown, Curly Harris, Roy Pryor, last season a member of the Duluth Curling club team and prior to that a member of the Portage Lake team, and Bartlett, are some of the stars of the Universal team.

Hedberg will be at goal for the Northerns, and this boy is said to be a real star. Peterson, Nelson, Roswell and Bastien are some of the other players of the Northerns.

Universals Look Strong.

The Universals of this season are the Lake Hardware team of last season. On paper the team looks the class of the league. The contest of this evening will show just how well the combination of Manager Ed Harris can work.

An echo of the bitter rivalry of last year is expected to be shown in the play. The Northerns and Lakes last year were the bitterest of rivals. The play between the two teams was so close that disputes and arguments often arose. This season it is expected that the two teams will again be in the running for the title, and the battle for stellar honors is expected to be taken up where it was left off at the close of the 1914 season.

Will Start the Race.

With the game of tonight all of the teams of the amateur league will have been seen in action. The fans of the amateur organization will then have a chance to get a line on the merits of the six contenders for the pennant.

So far Two Harbors is considered one of the strongest contenders for the title. The Universals have some of the real stars of the league in their lineup. "Beany" Brown was a sensation last season, and the same may be said of Curly Harris and some of the other members of the team.

So impressive was the playing of young Brown that he was drafted for service on the curling club team. With so many out-of-town stars trying for places, the little streak was forced to play on the bench the greater portion of the time.

This year "Beany" promises to be better than ever, and lovers of the great winter game will probably see one of the greatest young players that Duluth has ever turned out in this youngster.

The contest of the evening will end the play of the first week of the league. Both teams look for a victory and the game promises to be a hummer from the first whistle to the final period.

MANY AFFIDAVITS IN BASEBALL SUIT

Club Owners Will Submit Evidence to Disprove Trust Charge.

Chicago, Jan. 15.—Every club owner in the American and National leagues, the presidents of the leagues and some minor league magnates will file affidavits giving the side of organized baseball in the Federal league's anti-trust suit next week, it was said yesterday. B. B. Johnson, president of the American league, August Herrmann of the Cincinnati Nationals and chairman of the national commission and President Charles Thomas of the Chicago Nationals already had prepared affidavits and yesterday C. A. Comiskey of the Chicago Americans and Robert Hedges of the St. Louis Americans, questioned by attorneys for organized baseball here, gave their testimony.

The text of the affidavits was not made public, but in a general way they are said to contain statements that baseball under the national agreement is not a trust; that it has proved a blessing to ball players, and denying the Federals' charges.

Ball players themselves will not be asked to testify on the side of organized baseball.

Renews Football Contract.

Lincoln, Neb., Jan. 15.—After nearly two months of negotiations, the University of Iowa athletic management yesterday decided to accept the University of Nebraska's offer for a renewal of the two-year contract on the guarantee basis. The 1915 game will be played in Lincoln, while the Cornhuskers will go to Iowa City in 1916. Iowa is the only Big Nine conference team on Nebraska's 1915 schedule.

Billiards.

Des Moines, Iowa, Jan. 15.—Albert Cutler defeated Koji Yamada, 300 to 240, in a 14.1 balk-line billiard game here last night in the Championship Billiard Players' league.

BASKETBALL

"GYM" TEAMS ARE WINNERS

First and Second Central Quints Beat Denfeld and Washington.

Two Teams to Invade Proctor—Fast Games Inspected.

Two exceptionally fast and exciting games of basket ball were played at the Central high school gymnasium last evening. The Central high school "gym" class defeated the fast Denfeld high school quintet by the score of 18 to 10 and the "gym" class second team nosed out winners in a hard-fought contest with the Washington junior high school five.

Both games were hard-fought and clean and were witnessed by a large and enthusiastic crowd of rooters. The first game, between the gymnastic seconds and the Washington high team, was so close that the winner was not decided until just before the whistle blew. The first half resulted in a 3-to-3 tie, excellent work by the guards keeping the score down. In the second half the "gym" men came back strong and finally emerged the victors but only after a hard fight. Kerr of the victors, played in stellar form, although the whole team played as one. Warren was the star of the losing team.

The Big Game.

The second affair was the big game of the evening, and while the score was not quite as close as the first contest the play was even more exciting. As in the preceding game it was the great work of the guards on both teams that kept down the score. In the first half the West Duluth boys had considerably the better of the argument and at the conclusion were on the long end of an 8 to 6 score. In the second half, however, the "gym" quintet came back strong and by excellent team work, steady playing and a little individual brilliancy they soon overcame the lead of the Denfeld men and finally emerged the winners by the score of 18 to 10.

Clark and Ross played the best games for the losers but it would be hard to pick a star from the gymnastic squad.

The whole team played as one and it was this more than anything else that enabled them to be finally returned the victors.

Coach Alletzhaeuser and Manager Garon of the Central gymnasium team have arranged for a trip to Proctor to play the Y. M. C. A. team of that place this evening. Just as important is the fact that the Central high school girls' basket ball team will also take the trip and between halves of the boys' game they will play the Proctor Y. W. C. A. Considerable enthusiasm has been worked up by the girls of the school and under charge of Miss Armstrong the girls have developed a good team. Harriet Kugler and Edna Morterud are used at the forward positions, Marion Lutes plays center, Ila Whiteside and Ruth Fisher are guards and Beatrice Henley and Anna Benda are used as substitutes.

A large delegation will accompany the two teams.

The lineups and summaries of last evening's games follow:

"Gym"		—Washington.
Kerr	f	Warren
Jackson	f	Knudson
J. Pedrizetti	c	Watts
Garon	g	Litman

Summary: Field goals—Warren, 2; Litman, 1; Kerr, 2; Jackson, 1; Garon, 1; Phelps, 1. Free throws—Watts, 2; Garon, 1.

"Gym"		—Denfeld.
Pedrizetti	f	Clark
Mason	f	Ross
Gogins	c	Huth
Rosenberg	g	Allen
Shaw	g	Rosbourgh

Summary: Field goals—Pedrizetti, 2; Shaw, 1; Rosenberg, 3; Gogins, 1; Mason, 1; Clark, 3; Ross, 2. Free throws—Gogins, 2. Referee—J. Bradley.

Chapter Nine Wins.

The Chapter indoor baseball team last evening defeated the Shriners by the score of 27 to 14. The game was played at the Masonic temple and was well attended. The Scottish Rite nine and the Shriners will play next Tuesday evening.

SOME FAMOUS CURLERS

WILLIAM CRAIG.

OSWEGO IS COMING HERE

American Basket Ball Champions to Play Duluth Five.

Oswego, N. Y., basket ball team, ranked as the greatest quint in the United States, will play the Rotary basket ball team of Duluth on a local floor on the evening of Feb. 3.

Negotiations that have been going on for two weeks were completed today.

Troy, N. Y., rated as another of the great teams of this country, comes here either Feb. 8 and 9 or Feb. 12 and 13.

On next Tuesday evening the Rotary five leaves for a trip that will include Billings, Mont., Colley, Wyo., and a series of games at various points along the route.

On Feb. 15 and 16 the St. Joseph club of Minneapolis will be played at Minneapolis, and on Feb. 18, 19 and 20 the crack Big Bemidji team will be encountered at Bemidji.

CENTRAL TEAM AND CLOQUET MEET

Fast Contest Looked for at Central High Gymnasium.

All is in readiness in the Central camp for the big game with Cloquet this evening. Coach G. A. Glyer has been "pounding away" all week and has worked up a good combination. He has held several scrimmages with the second team and Tuesday night a practice game was played with the speedy Rotary aggregation.

The game with Northland last week was a tough one and showed the remarkable fighting spirit of the Central boys. If they do as well tonight they should be returned the winners against the Cloquet bunch.

The "Slabmen," however, are not coming down with any intention of being beaten. In fact, with practically the same team that defeated Central last season, they will enter the game of this evening with perfect confidence. Central will fight to its utmost to keep from being humiliated by the Cloquet aggregation again this season and from all standpoints the game should be a "hummer."

The final selections for places on the "varsity" will probably be made by Coach Glyer after the contest of this evening, and this gives all the more assurance that there will be some great playing exhibited by the Red and White warriors. One of the features of the Northland game was the lack of attendance, but this fault will probably be remedied in tonight's game, as the students are very enthusiastic over the contest and a large crowd is expected to turn out. The lineup of the game tonight will be:

Duluth.		Cloquet.
Scrivens	f	(capt.) Kellar
Karon, Nelson	f	McGilvray
Moore	c	Bengston
Taylor, Farah	g	Gilbert, Gamble
Solheim (capt.)	g	Anderson

That these games will be fast and exciting goes without saying, for some of the best basket ball players in the city are appearing on the lineups of the four teams taking part tonight. Interest over the league games is very high and it is expected that there will be a large crowd out. FAMOUS CATCHER MAY GO TO CINCY

CHARLEY DOOIN.

This is Charles (Red) Dooin, one of the greatest catchers in baseball—also the man who threatened to appear before attorneys and tell all he knew of the ways of organized baseball. Today's dispatches tell of the signing of Dooin by Herzog of Cincinnati. Red is some catcher. As manager of the Phillies he was not exactly a howling success.

DOES NOT EXPECT ANOTHER OLYMPIAD.

(Correspondence of the Associated Press.)

Stockholm, Dec. 26.—The Swedish Olympic committee, which previous to the war had collected large sums of money in preparation for the Berlin Olympiad, is distributing the money now to organizations which support different branches of sport, without any view to future Olympic games.

The last meeting of the Swedish Olympic council granted more than $20,000 for the work of different sporting unions and clubs. It is believed the committee has little expectation that another Olympiad will be celebrated. Altogether the Swedes might be reconciled to a termination of the games, since Sweden came out of the last meeting in a blaze of glory.

J. E. MACGREGOR WILL BE BONSPIEL MANAGER

Butte Rink Is Entered and Entries of Duluth, Twin City and Range Curlers Are Being Received. The Big Event May Surpass Expectations.

John E. MacGregor, one of the directors of the curling club, was last evening chosen as manager of the 1915 bonspiel of the Northwestern Curling association.

Mr. MacGregor has assisted in the running off of all of the local spiels for the last five or six years, and is thoroughly familiar with all of the details. Not only is he familiar with the work, but he combines the qualities of a live manager.

The entry of the J. D. McGregor rink of Butte, Mont., was received yesterday. Butte is one of the curling centers of the West and the rink that this mining city is to send here is expected to make a great showing in the spiel.

Brewer-Whytes Strong.

From the brand of play of the Brewer-Whyte rink, followers of the game are beginning to believe that this combination is going to make a strong fight for the grand aggregate prize.

In their game of last evening Brewer and Whyte played as nearly perfect game as it is possible to play. In the entire game Whyte at third and Brewer skip were hardly off more than a shot apiece.

It is expected that there will be thirty-two rinks entered from Duluth. Ray Withrow, secretary of the spiel, and directors of the curling club are hustling today in the endeavor to get out as many rinks as possible. Entries are coming rapidly and it begins to look as if the big spiel is going to surpass even the expectations of the most sanguine.

over the telephone from his home in Maryland that the offer, which was for a two-year contract at $6,000 a year, still stood. He added that he would immediately communicate with Garry Herrmann, president of the Cincinnati club, and that he hoped to have a contract ready for Doolin's signature within a short time.

Earlier in the night, President Baker of the Phillies had announced that he would accede to Doolin's request and ask for waivers on the former manager.

ANNUAL FEED OF OARSMEN

Plans Made for the Approaching Rowing Season.

The annual dinner and get-together meeting of the oarsmen of the Duluth Boat club was held last evening at the St. Louis hotel. Thirty-five of the oarsmen, past and present, gathered around the festive board. After the feast of food the chairs were pulled back, cigars pulled out and plans were made for the coming season.

Instructions were read from the absent coach, James E. Ten Eyck. James admonished the bantam candidates to start work right away on the machines. Some of the junior men will also get an early start.

Enthusiasm was of the highest, and predictions were made that the coming season would be the most successful in the history of the club.

Ray Higgins, Wallace Quimby, Walker Jamar, Ray Fenton, Whitney Wall, Jr., Roy Kent, Gus Grant and Link Brown made short speeches.

After the meeting the oarsmen attended the Orpheum theater in a body.

BRYANT AND KELLY GOING AFTER RECORD

Roller Skaters Will Attempt to Lower World's 24-Hour Mark.

Frank Bryant, Northwestern roller skating champion, and Raymond King Kelly of St. Paul, one of the fastest speed merchants in the West, will attempt to lower the world's 24-hour record at the big Auditorium rink on the evenings of Jan. 21 and 22.

The plan of the contest is that each man skate as long as he desires or as long as his strength lasts, when he is relieved by his team mate. After the contest starts the skaters will be at their work without cessation until the termination of the twenty-four hours.

Endurance skating is the forte of little Bryant. Both of the boys have already begun training for the long grind.

Meals will be eaten and sleep will be snatched while the skaters are garbed in their racing suits. Bryant has taken part in a number of long distance grinds, once actually falling to sleep on his skates in the big Elite rink of Milwaukee while plugging around the track. This will be their first time that any contest against time of this nature has been tried in Duluth.

FARGO TO BE IN THE LEAGUE

Ed Dickinson and Bob Unglaub Will Have Team.

Ed Dickinson, secretary of the Minneapolis American Association baseball club, announced yesterday that Fargo would be in the Northern league the coming season.

Mr. Dickinson stated that the decision of Grand Forks to be in the league had influenced the men behind the Fargo team to try it another season at least.

The secretary of the Minneapolis team will be associated with Col. Robert Unglaub, the envoy of Kaiser Bill. Fans up Fargo way are sweet on Edward and Bob, if sour on the methods of Mike Cantillon. Edward and Robert expect a fine season and a strong team, even if the salary limit will have to be reduced, as it will in the case of all of the teams of the league.

With the exception of the Dartmouth contest, which will be played in Boston, and the match with the naval academy at Annapolis, the games will take place on Franklin field. The schedule follows:

Lester Park and Lakeside schools played a tie game of hockey Wednesday, the game ending 2 to 2. It was closely contested and fast for "kids" teams.

MANLEY CUP HAS ARRIVED

Beautiful Hockey Trophy Turned Over to Curling Club.

May Stand for United States Amateur Championship.

The Manley-McLennan hockey cup, one of the most handsome and valuable hockey trophies in the United States, arrived in Duluth today and will be turned over to the directors of the Duluth Curling club.

Standing fourteen inches in height and valued at $1,000, the cup is one of the finest sporting trophies in the United States and is a most appropriate emblem for the curling club team to defend.

Just what rules and regulations will go with the cup, is not known as yet. The directors of the curling club will decide that. When the Manley-McLennan firm first talked of putting up the trophy, it was suggested that all amateur teams in a certain wide strip of territory be permitted to compete for the cup, and that it would remain a perpetual challenge trophy.

Hockey right at the present time, in so far as Duluth is concerned, is in rather a chaotic state. Whether the West-rn division of the American Hockey association will go through the season, is conjecture. It is understood that Canadian teams are to be brought here this season, and whether teams from the other side of the boundary will be permitted to compete for the handsome challenge cup, is another matter of conjecture.

But the cup is here, nevertheless, and it is worthy to be placed as the challenge trophy for the United States or North America. Playing for the Manley-McLennan trophy is certain to prove a great boost for the game.

FREDDY WELSH MAY APPEAR

Freddy Walsh, lightweight champion of the world, may appear at the Head of the Lakes in the near future. This news was given out today by Mike Collins, who informed The Herald sport department over the long distance telephone from St. Paul that he held a contract with Harry Pollock, manager of Welsh, for two appearances of the little Briton.

Collins is going to pit Welsh against the winner of an elimination lightweight contest in the Twin Cities and wants to match the Wales wonder with some good lightweight at Superior.

Collins stated that he would be in Duluth this week and would at that time endeavor to complete all arrangements for the local appearance of the frisky lad who dethroned Willie Ritchie in dear old London on the seventh of last July.

HERALD ACCEPTS TELEGRAM'S CHALLENGE.

The Superior Telegram has issued a challenge to The Herald rink to curl a game in either town and The Herald is willing under our condition. That is that the personnel of each rink shall be confined strictly to members of the staff of the paper represented. The Herald rink is so strictly confined, but it is understood that that is not the case with the rink of the Telegram. The skip was once a member of the staff but is now engaged in other business. In addition to that he is regarded as one of the most expert curlers at the Head of the Lakes.

Of course, each member of The Herald rink is also an expert, as shown by their remarkable scores, but they feel that if it is paper against paper, each rink should stick to its own talent without being augmented by experts outside the office.

Ja get us?

Also—being the challenged rink —The Herald quartet chooses that the game shall be played in Duluth.

JOHN JENSWOLD, JR.

A. E. M'MANUS.

JUDGE WILLIAM A. CANT.

WATSON S. MOORE.

RAY M. HUGHES.

District Judge William A. Cant will act as chairman of the public debate to be held at the Auditorium tomorrow evening between the two opposing forces in the present electric lighting controversy.

The meeting tomorrow evening will be the largest and most important of the campaign and it is expected that the big building will be packed with men and women anxious to hear the final arguments of the two sides before the election Tuesday. The debate will begin at 8 o'clock.

Final arrangements for the debate were made yesterday afternoon and it was decided by Ray M. Hughes, chairman of the citizens' referendum committee, and Chris E. Evens, chairman of the Municipal Ownership league, to invite Judge Cant to act as chairman for the evening. This morning Judge Cant accepted the invitation.

Ray M. Hughes and John Jenswold, Jr., will present the arguments for the 6-cent ordinance and against the erection of a unit plant, while Watson S. Moore and A. E. McManus will debate in behalf of the 4-cent ordinance and the proposed unit. Each debater will be allowed thirty minutes for direct argument, while the two sides will be given fifteen minutes each for the rebuttal.

Surprises In Store.

Many closely connected with the two forces in the present campaign say that some surprises will be sprung by the speakers at the debate and that the meeting will be full of excitement. Many charges have been made during the last week or two and it is expected that answers will be forthcoming from those who were attacked, while charges, now kept secret, will be sprung at the last moment.

FIREMEN LOSE INJURY CASE

Jury Awards Father of Dead Child $725 in District Court.

Because a fire department automobile which they were driving ran down and killed 4-year-old Alida Hubert, Fred E. Granzow, assistant fire chief, and his chauffeur, Gerald O. Black, must pay Leander Hubert, the childs father, $725, if a verdict which was returned by a jury in district court yesterday afternoon stands. Hubert resides at 323 Vernon street.

The wrongful death action, which has been on trial for the last two days in Judge Ensign's division, is an aftermath of a fatal accident on the afternoon of May 18, 1914, at the intersection of Vernon and West Third streets. The child had crossed Third street to get a bag of candy, which had been promised to her by a grocer who had befriended her. She was recrossing the street when struck by the machine.

Assistant Chief Granzow and his chauffeur were returning from a run at West Duluth and were running at about twenty miles an hour when the accident occurred, the evidence showed. Black, who was driving the car, saw the girl first attempting to run in one direction and then in another, and tried to avoid her. The car struck and almost instantly killed the child.

Leander Hubert, the girl's father and special administrator of her estate, sued for $5,000. He was represented by Attorney Andrew Nelson. William P. Harrison represented the defendants.

AGAIN AT HEAD OF NORMANNA CHORUS

Thrana Re-Elected President and Jens Flaaten as Leader.

The election of officers and arranging for its annual banquet took place at the meeting of the Normanna Male chorus last night. The members also made arrangements to take part in musical programs this winter and spring.

George Thrana, president of the society for the last two years, was re-elected. The other officers selected are: O. Hanson, vice president; B. Wall, recording secretary; Berger Sande, financial secretary; L. Solem, treasurer; J. Torgerson, property man; J. Morkved, banner carrier; J. Jonason, representative to the "Sangerhilsen," and A. Ruske, A. Christopherson and H. Holm, trustees. Jens Flaaten was re-elected director of the chorus.

The society made arrangements to take part in the musical program to be given at the auditorium of the Duluth Central high school during the annual convention of the Northeastern Minnesota Teachers' association. The society also planned to celebrate the anniversary of its organization with a banquet to be held on Feb. 13. The affair will be held at Foresters' hall.

Got to Go Deep to Cure Rheumatism

Liniments Help Locally, But the Disease is Way Down Inside.

To get at the source of rheumatic pains it requires the deep, searching influence of S. S. S., the famous blood purifier. Rheumatism is primarily a blood disease that, since it is in this vital fluid that rheumatic tendencies are carried, lodges in the joints and muscles, there to irritate the nerves and produce pain. And in order to drive out these pain inflicting poisons it requires S. S. S. to sink deep into the tiny glands imbedded in the innermost tissues. S. S. S. travels wherever the blood goes and never loses its medicinal influence. This explains why it overcomes the most chronic forms of rheumatism, why it dislodges those hard deposits that thicken the joints, for it acts as a solvent and assists the blood to provide in the tissues those natural elements for which the body-building process continually craves and must have.

If you have never used S. S. S. for rheumatism, get a bottle today of any druggist. Use it as directed and with some simple home helps you will soon dethrone the worst and most painful forms of rheumatism. Write the medical department, The Swift Specific Co., 63 Swift Bldg., Atlanta, Ga., for additional advice. Yours may be a case where a slight help from a specialist whose advice is free, will solve the mystery that has been making life miserable for you. When you ask for S. S. S. insist upon it and refuse all substitutes.

MANY ARE ACCOMMODATED.

Three Good Skating Places for West End Pleasure Seekers.

Two free skating rinks in the West end are attracting large crowds every evening. They are the Harrison rink, at Thirtieth avenue and Third street, and the Lincoln rink, at Twenty-fifth avenue and Sixth street.

The latter rink is probably attracting the larger crowd of the two. This is located more centrally for the residence section. Several lights have been installed so that the place is just as attractive for the young people in the evening as it is during the afternoon.

In addition to the dances, the bay front at the foot of Twentieth avenue west has been drawing a large number of skaters. Snow has not yet interfered with fairly good skating on the bay.

Two Lodges Install.

Installation ceremonies will be held jointly this evening by Duluth camp No. 2341, Modern Woodmen of America, and Greysolon camp No. 627, Royal Neighbors, at Woodman hall, Twenty-first avenue west and First street. Mrs. Maude M. Stewart will be installing officer for the latter organization. A social program has been planned following the ceremony. The members of the committee in charge of the affair are Mrs. Carrie Sims, Miss Lizzie Rooney, Mrs. Belle Hill, Mrs. Hulda Bloomstrand, Mrs. Nettie Deno and Mrs. Clara Johnson.

The new officers of Duluth camp to take office are: Edward Lowe, past consul; Charles V. Hanson, consul; Morris Garden, advisor; N. N. Oie, banker; George M. Jensen, trustee for three years; George Johnson, escort; C. J. Marsh, watchman; Martin Olson, sentry; O. A. Oredson, J. T. Pare and L. O. Greeley, camp physicians. Charles Dice will officiate as installing officer.

West End Briefs.

The Young People's Society of the Zion Lutheran church, Twenty-fifth avenue west and Third street, will meet in the church parlors this evening. A social program has been planned.

August Holmstrom, 4316 Gilliat street, will entertain this evening for the Young People's Society of the Swedish Methodist church at his home.

Walter Biglow of Des Moines, Iowa, who has been spending a few days visiting in the West end, left for the Twin Cities last evening.

Mrs. Jennie Frazer, 505 North Twenty-seventh avenue west, has returned from a visit with relatives in the Twin Cities.

Mr. and Mrs. August Brinkman of Minneapolis, who have been visiting relatives in the West end for the last week, left yesterday for their home.

COPPER RANGE MINES NOW ON FULL TIME

Big Copper Country Producers Bring Joy to 2,000 Employes.

Calumet, Mich., Jan. 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—There is general rejoicing and a more optimistic feeling in the Copper country today as the result of the action of the management of the Copper Range Consolidated, owning the Baltic, Tri-Mountain and Champion mines, in resuming operations at full time. Since the market for copper went to pieces, due to the embargo placed on the metal by the warring nations of Europe, the Lake Superior copper mines have been operating on a basis of curtailment of from 25 to 50 per cent, several properties being closed down altogether. The copper range mines have operated on a 50 per cent basis, working two weeks and closing down two weeks.

Two thousand men are affected by the increase. The arrangement will continue at least until late spring, according to today's announcement, dependent on the market for the metal.

Milton Fowble of St. Paul has been awarded the engineering for $1,000. WOULD PROSECUTE DARNELL.

Parent of Owatonna Girl in Marital Mixup Would Invoke Law.

Owatonna, Minn., Jan. 15.—William Soper has retained Harlan E. Leach, a leading criminal lawyer here, and will try to have "Rev." James Morrison Darnell prosecuted under the Mann "white slave" act. Mr. Soper suspects that the much-married pastor deliberately duped his daughter Ruth through a fictitious marriage at Hammond, Ind. Mr. Soper communicated with friends in Chicago, and will go to that city to confer with Federal authorities.

Ruth Soper is almost prostrated as a result of grief and continual questioning of friends and officials. She professes still to believe Darnell innocent of any intentional wrong-doing, but her faith was shaken when she was shown Darnell's statement denying the fatherhood of her child. When this was read to her, the frail girl broke down.

Given Aitken County Contract.

Aitken, Minn., Jan. 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—Dr. F. E. ALLEGED FORGER IS ARRESTED AT FORKS

H. P. Murphy, Alias Berry, Nabbed on Coleraine and Bovey Charge.

Grand Rapids, Minn., Jan. 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—James Berry, or H. P. Murphy, as he was known while in the local jail doing time, was arrested at Grand Forks, N. D., on a charge of forgery alleged to have been committed at Coleraine and Bovey and brought here. It is alleged that Murphy on Tuesday afternoon passed two checks, forged by himself on Murphy & Stevens, Coleraine contractors, and negotiated them with A. H. Grimpo of Coleraine and Ralph Whitmas of Bovey, the checks being for $35.60 and $25, respectively.

Murphy had a start of about twelve hours, having come, before the forgery was discovered, to Grand Rapids on the evening train, and taken one of the night trains out. Wires were sent out by Sheriff Gunderson for his capture and late Wednesday night word was received that Murphy had been captured at Grand Forks. Deputy Sheriff Ed Carson was at once dispatched to get his man and he was brought back last night.

For Impersonating Officer.

The offense for which Murphy had just completed his sentence was committed about three months ago, shortly after the robbery of the Markham hotel at Bemidji. Murphy dropped into Deer River, arrested a lumberjack, charging him with being the Markham hotel robber, and took away his money and turned him loose, saying that he would take him away on the next train. He failed to show up, and investigation proved that he was a faker. He was caught, arrested and sentenced to ninety days in jail.

CHISHOLM MUSICALE.

Affair Given for Mrs. Black Who Has Been Studying Abroad.

Chisholm, Minn., Jan. 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Hayes entertained a large number last evening for Mrs. Hayes' sister-in-law, Mrs. David Gilmour Black at a musicale. Mrs. Black has been studying vocal music in Italy for the past three years and has been so successful she has been engaged by a high class operatic company now touring the states, as leading lady. Her voice enraptured the assembled guests. Mrs. Black sang "Le Parlate d' Amour" from Faust, "La Serenata," and three English productions, "Because I Love You Dear," "An Irish Love Song" and "A May Morning," following the latter with "When Irish Eyes Are Smiling" as a response to an encore. Miss Winnifred Hayes was the first on the very excellent program, singing "Home Song." Wilbur Hayes followed with a violin selection from "Il Trovatore." Miss Winnifred Andrews made a stirring hit with a piano solo, "Prubling Rauchen." John Dewey Sheehy of Hibbing sang "Who Knows," and was well received. Mrs. H. H. Augst read "Biff Perkins' Tobogan Slide," causing tears of mirth to flow down the cheeks of her highly amused auditors. Miss Lucile Brandenburg accompanied Miss Hayes in her splendid vocal solos and Miss Hayes accompanied Mrs. Black.

MAY FORCE RAILROAD TO AGAIN RUN TRAIN.

Buhl, Minn., Jan. 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—Indications are considered strong here that the Great Northern railroad will be forced by the state railroad and warehouse commission to again run the "Merry Widow" passenger train, which recently was taken from service between Virginia and Grand Rapids.

Village Attorney T. S. Bean and N. L. Johnson, delegated by Buhl citizens to go to St. Paul and put the matter before the commission, report that that body has promised to take it up with the company. If the company cannot be brought to re-establish this train a civil action may be started. Messrs. Elmquist, Mills and Jacobson, commission members, declared that the verbal agreement with the company some time ago to the effect that the "Merry Widow" should not be discontinued as assurance to Buhl citizens when the "Woodmen Shoe" train was removed two years ago, is binding.

UNEMPLOYED ARE CLEARING LAND

Keewatin Village President Partially Solves Labor Problem.

Keewatin, Minn., Jan. 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—Village President Matakovich has partially solved the question of finding employment for those who are in need of work, especially men with families. A large tract of land southeast of the village is being cleared of brush to act as a firebreak and a large number of men are being employed. The firebreak is being constructed as a result of a recent visit to the village by State Ranger Nelson of Hibbing, who encouraged this step to be taken for the protection of this village from forest fires.

Duluthian Gets Contract.

The village council Tuesday evening let the contract for the furnishing and installing of an air-return system for the pumping of water from the village well at the rate of 350 gallons per minute, to Stacey Hill of Duluth for $4,485. This is some $2,000 cheaper than a bid submitted some weeks ago which was rejected as their was but one bid in and the council thought it advisable to re-advertise for bids which resulted in a big saving to the village.

Chief of Police Edward Finch is spending his two weeks' vacation in Michigan. James Graham is acting as chief during his absence. Mr. Graham states that a number of hungry men are daily fed by him as a result of the scarcity of work and as a result their request for food cannot humanely be refused, although they cannot register as steady boarders but must seek food and shelter elsewhere after their wants have been satisfied.

Liscomb, a former local resident, at her home at 1201 East Second street, Duluth. Mrs. Liscomb was found by one of the neighbors, Mrs. F. G. Hanniman, who intended paying her a call, about 8 o'clock. Her death was unexpected and, occurring so suddenly, was probably due to heart failure. Her husband died a little more than a year ago, at the time when they made their home in Virginia. He was until the time of his death local manager for the New London Milling company. Since her husband's death Mrs. Liscomb had been making her home with an only son, C. F. Liscomb, who is in the employ of Washburn, Bailey & Mitchell, Duluth lawyers.

During Past Year There Were Many Improvements in the Village.

Nashwauk, Minn., Jan. 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—Village President John P. Raattama with the aid of the council made many improvements in this village last year that give general satisfaction. Among these were the installing of a water and sewer system in the southern addition to Nashwauk, the paving of two blocks on Second street with concrete, the purchasing of two lots on the corner of Central avenue and Third street for the erection of a city hall, the improvements made on the local baseball grounds, the construction of a sidewalk leading from the village to the Great Northern depot, the purchasing of lots for a municipal play grounds and skating rink on Fourth street, and all the sidewalks and streets in the village being put in excellent condition. For 1915 there is talk of bonding the village for the purpose of erecting a village hall and also there is talk of paving several more blocks with concrete while a public park is being considered seriously by those who wish to make Nashwauk a beautiful city. The water and light department has been busy the last year and the erection of a new powerhouse and the installing of a high electric pump and the sinking of a new shaft is work that all citizens are proud of. The commission plans this year on beautifying the grounds surrounding the water and light plant.

Best Laxative For Children

When your baby is cross and fretful instead of the happy, laughing little dear you are accustomed to, in all probability the digestion has become deranged and the bowels need attention. Give it a mild laxative, dispel the irritability and bring back the happy content of babyhood.

The very best laxative for children is Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, because it contains no opiate or narcotic drug, is pleasant tasting and acts gently, but surely, without griping or other distress. Druggists sell Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin at fifty cents and one dollar a bottle. For a free trial bottle write to Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 452 Washington St. Monticello, Ills.

A Simple Way to Remove Dandruff

There is one sure way that has never failed to remove dandruff at once, and that is to dissolve it, then you destroy it entirely. To do this, just get about four ounces of plain, common liquid arvon from any drug store (this is all you will need), apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.

By morning most, if not all, of your dandruff will be gone, and three or four more applications will completely dissolve, and entirely destroy, every single sign and trace of it, no matter how much dandruff you may have.

You will find all itching and digging of the scalp will stop instantly and your hair will be fluffy, lustrous, glossy, silky and soft, and look and feel a hundred times better.—Advertisement.

DANGEROUS DEBILITY

Debility may result from a number of causes—worry, after-effects of acute illness, lack of nourishment due to disordered digestion, or anything that makes the blood thin, thereby preventing it from carying health and nourishment to the tissues of the body.

The symptoms of debility vary but weakness is always present, often a tendency to fatigue easily, ringing in the ears, black spots passing before the eyes, weak back, dizziness, wakefulness caused by inability to stop thinking, and unrefreshing sleep.

Debility is dangerous because it weakens the body's defence against disease. For instance, debilitated people take cold easily and winter is always a trying time for them. When one cold follows another the system surely needs building up.

The treatment of such run-down conditions with Dr. Wiliams' Pink Pills is based on sound medical principles and common sense. These pills build up the blood so that it nourishes every part of the body, nerves as well as muscles and brings vigor, strength and health.

Mention this paper an we will mail you the booklet "Building Up the Blood." Address: Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y. Your own druggist sells Dr. Williams' Pink Pills.

WIRELESS PLANT IN PANAMA DESTROYED.

Panama, Jan. 15.—The canal zone police yesterday discovered a wireless telegraph plant on the top of a tall building in the heart of Panama. The plant was destroyed by the authorities, who declared it belonged to a Danish West Indian negro whom they believed was a student of wireless telegraphy.

Complaint was made recently by the British minister, Sir Claude Mallet, of the existence of a wireless station in Panama, and he gave the police its approximate location. After a search of several days it was located today.

For some time it has been suspected that there was another hidden wireless plant in the Darien region, but the British and Japanese landing parties have failed to find it.

SAGE TEA TURNS GRAY HAIR DARK

It's Grandmother's Recipe to Bring Back Color and Luster to Hair.

That beautiful, even shade of dark, glossy hair can only be had by brewing a mixture of Sage Tea and Sulphur. Your hair is your charm. It makes or mars the face. When it fades, turns gray, streaked and looks dry, wispy and scraggy, just an application or two of Sage and Sulphur enhances its appearance a hundredfold.

Don't bother to prepare the tonic; you can get from any drug store a 50-cent bottle of "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," ready to use. This can always be depended upon to bring back the natural color, thickness and lustre of your hair and remove dandruff, stop scalp itching and falling hair.

Everybody uses "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur because it darkens so naturally and evenly that nobody can tell it has been applied. You simply dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through the hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair has disappeared, and after another application it becomes beautifully dark and appears glossy, lustrous and abundant.

INDUCEMENT FOR RETURN

North Dakota Solons Approve Drawing Card for Former Americans.

Probes Into State Finances and the Board of Control.

Bismarck, N. D., Jan. 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—The following concurrent resolution memorializing congress to take action which will encourage the return of former American citizens of the United States has been passed by the legislature:

"Whereas, There are many thousands of former American citizens who have moved into Canada and Mexico for business reasons, and who, in furtherance of their business interests have had to surrender their citizenship and expatriate themselves, and

"Whereas, Many such former citizens have returned to the United States to reside permanently therein and desire to again become citizens of this country, and

"Whereas, Many more of these expatriated Americans would return to the United States, if the conditions of readmission to American citizenship were less difficult than they now are, and

"Whereas, The Dominion of Canada now has a law whereby former citizens of Canada, who have expatriated themselves may be readmitted to the rights and privileges of Canadian citizenship after residing a period of three months in Canada, and

"Whereas, The Canadian law has been highly satisfactory and beneficial to that country,

"Therefore, be it resolved, by the senate of the state of North Dakota, the house of representatives concurring:

"That we urge our senators and representatives in congress to work for the enactment of a law amending the present naturalization laws of the United States so as to permit Americans who have become citizens of other countries to be restored to all the rights and privileges of citizenship of the United States after residing in this country for a period of one year, and

"Be it further resolved, That the secretary of state be instructed to send a copy of these resolutions to our senators and representatives in congress and to the president of the United States."

Investigation of Finances.

It is expected the senate will approve the Lathrop resolution, which already has passed the house, providing for an investigation into the state finances. The appropriation committee of the senate is in thorough accord with the house appropriations committee idea, and will advise the adoption of the resolution.

As amended, this resolution provides for an investigation into the entire state system of finance, with particular reference to the expenditures of the institutions. It also will delve into the tax commission situation.

Under the policy outlined by the joint appropriation committees, each institution appropriation this year will be confined to the department work to which the school is really entitled. Overlapping in courses, as between the different sets of schools, will be done away with.

Board of Control Probe.

The board of control investigation resolution was considered briefly by the state affairs committee yesterday, when John Rott, the sponsor of the resolution, was before the committee. No decision was reached.

Today members of the board were invited to appear before the committee to explain their side of the case.

The Rott resolution asks for an investigation into charges that the board of control members are interested in supply contracts; that large sums were spent without proper checking; that an architect was illegally employed, and that at least two members of the board do not reside in Bismarck.

With a resolution before the senate on the question of investigating the tax commission, the house appropriation committee has taken steps towards an investigation of that body by including it as part of the duty of the Lathrop committee.

A bill providing for the appointment of two supreme court commissioners, by the governor, was introduced in the house by Representative Morrison. The measure is designed to relieve the supreme court of much of its work, which at the present time is admittedly too great for the court of five members.

FORFEITED ITS RIGHT TO LIEN

Powder Company Cannot Recover From Knox Mine for Supplies.

A decision handed down in district court by Judge Dancer yesterday afternoon determines that no lien for supplies furnished the New York State Steel company in favor of the E. I. Du Pont de Nemours Powder company against the Knox mine property in section 19, 59-14 is permissible.

The court finds from the evidence that the powder company sold dynamite and other explosives to the steel company between Oct. 4, 1912, and April 10, 1913, and that the amount due was $1,240.99. In April, 1913, it abandoned its lease on the property and went into receivership.

The steel company, the court also found, shipped 101,195 tons of ore from the Knox during 1912 for which it failed to make any accounting to the Northwestern Improvement company, fee owner of the property, and the Graham Iron company, original lessor. The Graham company was obliged to pay the royalties due and then gave notice that it had forfeited its lease.

The powder company continued to furnish materials to the steel company. The court holds that because of the notice that the latter had forfeited its leasehold, the powder concern cannot establish a lien against the mining property. The action, so far as it concerns the fee owners and defendants other than the steel company, was ordered dismissed.

TWO BIG DIAMONDS SEIZED IN NEW YORK.

New York, Jan. 15.—Treasury agents yesterday seized from A. Anpikadjian, a resident of Constantinople, now in this city, two egg-shaped diamonds weighing more than 18 carats each and said to have been worn centuries ago by a queen of Egypt. The diamonds are said to be of great value, not only because of their size and quality, but because of their antiquity. Collector of the Port Dudley Field Malone directed the seizure of the jewels, which, it is claimed Anpikadjian failed to declare to the customs officials when he arrived in the United States on Oct. 19 last.

Upon being questioned after the seizure of the diamonds, their owner said he purchased them in the jewelry market at Constantinople from an Egyptian princess who declared they had been in her family for centuries and had been worn at one time by the queen of Sheba. At the time of the purchase, he said, the diamonds were attached to two emeralds, about one inch square. The emeralds and the diamonds formed a large pair of earrings. The emeralds were purchased by another dealer, he said.

Farce at the Lyceum.

H. Frazee's world-wide success, "A Pair of Sixes," will come to the Lyceum theater, Jan. 18 and 19 with a matinee Tuesday, direct from its run of nearly a year at the Longacre theater, New York city. Seldom in the annals of farce have so many people laughed so much and so long as they do at the crowded houses which greet "A Pair of Sixes" and watch the frenzied efforts of the two quarreling partners to beat each other to every apparent advantage which arises in their daily business life. The efforts of the office staff to please this almost impossible combination is almost as funny as the strife of their elders, and the lawyer and the fair girl who injects the love interest, also add their quota of laughter in the ludicrous scenes and dialogue which their entrance into the game induce. Mr. Frazee has probably never put over a play so entirely satisfactory as "A Pair of Sixes."

"The Blue Streak of Vaudeville."

Ray Samuels, who is styled "The blue streak of vaudeville" will be one of the features of the coming Orpheum bill. Since Miss Samuels was last seen in vaudeville she has been one of the stellar lights of the Ziegfeld series of Follies, and also of the "Winsome Widow" company. Miss Samuels has a way of singing her rag-time songs that has the audience with her from the moment she steps on the stage. A magnetic personality that is irresistible, and a happy knack of singing "just the songs you want to hear" in just the manner you want to hear them sung," is one thing that has made her one of vaudeville's most popular singing comediennes.

"Wives of the Rich" as played by Claude Gillingwater, Edith Lyle and company, is to be another special headline feature of the new bill, and is said to be a dramatic treat. The story is of a millionaire who neglects his wife for the love of money making, and with drastic results. Mr. Gillingwater will be supported by a talented company of six people. The little dramatic offering is elaborately staged.

"Our Wives" Popular.

"Our Wives" has proved such a popular play with patrons of the Baldwin Players at the Lyceum this week that Walter G. Baldwin, Sr., who is now in Atlanta arranging to open a stock company there for Klaw & Erlanger, decided to use the play for his first bill. Mr. Baldwin was eager to make a good first impression on the patrons of his Atlanta company and chose "Our Wives" as the play to do it with. Lola May, formerly of the Duluth company, will play the part of Wilson, which is being so charmingly played by Miss Dorothy Shoemaker this week.

"Our Wives" has been growing in popularity all week. Three more performances will be given, tonight, tomorrow afternoon and tomorrow night. Sunday afternoon the new program will be presented. There will be a curtain raiser, Dr. David H. Day's one-act play, "A Pair of Crooks," and the three-act comedy, "Lost Twenty-four Hours." Following the Sunday performances the players will have a two days' rest on Monday and Tuesday, and will then continue for the remainder of the week with the usual matinees.

At the Grand.

The bill at the New Grand theater, which opened a week-end engagement yesterday, has such a fine variety of good vaudeville acts and photoplays that it will no doubt prove one of the most popular yet booked by Manager Phelps. There isn't a poor turn on the bill, and some of them are far above the usual run of "pop" vaudeville acts, Beensee and Baird must be given credit for doing a remarkably clever turn. Comedy with a point, songs that are tuneful and entertaining, and character work of unusual merit combine to make them the popular favorites. The young woman in the act is attractive and original, and is especially charming as a Scotch lassie, while the "lesser" half of the team did his best to share the honors.

A sparring match coming as the climax of a clever little playlet was one of the most interesting and thrilling features of the bill. Nick Santoro is the only one of the five players named in the act, but the young woman, who assisted him was certainly entitled to have her name put into print at least. She was only a "hasher" in the sketch, but she was a good one, and helped to strengthen the interest in the plot that leads up to the fistic contest. The ring match went for three rounds, and was fast and clever.

The imperial Japs, two men and a woman, are clever bar balancers and tight rope walkers. The climax of the act occurs when one of the players walks a tight rope over the heads of the audience to the gallery and then takes a sensational slide to the stage. La Poir, aerial artist, opened the bill with a good turn on the flying rings and trapeze.

The Hearst-Selig News this week includes many interesting views from the war zone as well as other current events. Helen Holmes again appears in one of her weekly sensational railway film plays. This week it is "The Escape on the Limited" and contains some daring-devil performances that thrills the audience. Maurice Costello, the famous Vitagraph "movie" star, is seen in an excellent photo-play, "The Plot." Several other films, including some good comedy, round out the bill.

Farnum at the Rex.

Patrons of the Rex theater, who enjoyed William Farnum in "The Sign of the Cross," will have an added interest in seeing his more famous brother, Dustin Farnum, today and tomorrow in the film-made play, "Cameo Kirby." Esther Goldberg and her orchestra will be a special attraction.

Dustin Farnum has been one of the brightest stars in the theatrical firmament ever since he appeared in the title role of "The Virginian" several years ago. Since that time he has been in the spotlight most of the time, and each year has added new luster to his fame.

"Cameo Kirby," the vehicle in which Mr. Farnum will be seen in Duluth, has had a remarkably good record, having played a whole year in New York. The photography and the entire production are said to be up to the Rex standard, and the supporting company capable and well adapted to the various roles in which they are cast.

Zelda Policy Pleases.

The new policy at the Zelda theater, showing only the pick of the Universal programs, seems to be just what the public want, as the business has more than doubled since the change was made. Showing tonight and tomorrow will be "Custer's Last Scout," with a complete story of the massacre repeated by the "101 Bison" Indians and cavalrymen in a unique manner, a military drama jammed with thrills, and three other reels, "Man's Temptation," a one-reel drama by the Rex players; "Three Times and Out" by the Imp players, and a one-reel Sterling comedy, "Those German Bowlers." John E. Brennan appears in one of the leading parts, and his action will be responsible for many of the laughs produced by the picture.

Drive Catarrh Germs From Nose and Throat

Only Way to Really Cure Catarrh Say Noted Specialists.

The germs of catarrh breed, thrive and multiply by the million far up in the air passages of the nose, throat and lungs of every catarrh victim. Catarrh is a germ disease and you cannot get rid of the disease until you get rid of the germs. The best specialists seem agreed on this point.

You can't kill germs with ointments or lotions, etc., which you snuff up your nose. These may clear your head and let you breathe easier but they do not reach the germs. Stomach dosing may purify your blood, but it doesn't kill the germs nor does it cure Catarrh.

There is just one safe, sensible and invariably reliable way to reach and destroy catarrh germs and thus stop catarrh forever. Breathe into your nose, throat and lungs the medicated, germ-killing air of Hyomei which is made from the pure, healing oil of Eucalyptus combined with powerful germicidal ingredients which are certain death to every catarrh germ they reach. The air of Hyomei breathed deeply is so penetrating it reaches into every nook, corner and crevice of your nose, throat and lungs where germs can possibly hide or breed. It's an easy treatment. You'll like to breathe Hyomei. Its odor and effect is pleasant to everyone but the mischief making germs themselves. They don't like it, simply can't stand it and are completely driven from your body taking Catarrh itself with them. Hyomei is a standard preparation recognized by physicians and druggists everywhere. It is so well thought of here that Boyce drug store and many other leading druggists in this vicinity sell it with an absolute guarantee of successful cure or money back. No catarrh sufferer therefore assumes any risk in giving it a trial. Tear this notice out of the paper now and show it to your druggist as you ask for Hyomei. Be sure to ask him for the complete Hyomei outfit as this contains a Free Inhaling device which is very necessary to use to get the best results.

MANY SOCIALISTS OPPOSE M. O. PLAN

Members Hear Debate Between Hughes and McKnight; Other Meetings.

Despite their usual policy of supporting municipal ownership of public utilities, many Duluth Socialists are, this time, apparently opposed to the city's owning an electric light plant as proposed. This fact developed at the close of a debate between Ray M. Hughes, chairman of the Citizens' Referendum committee, and A. G. McKnight of the M. O. forces at the meeting of the Socialists in the Finnish hall last evening when the chairman declared that municipal ownership would strengthen the class that the Socialists are opposing.

"I was completely surprised to find sentiment with us," said Mr. Hughes this morning. "Although I always respected the views of the Socialists, yet I was under the impression that they were with the M. O. forces in this campaign. However, when I was invited to address them last evening, I immediately accepted, expecting to have the entire audience against me from the start. But I was pleased to find that such was not the case."

Inaddition to the meeting of the Socialists last evening, a large mass meeting was held at Woodman hall in the West end. Only speakers for the M. O. league were present and they addressed the large crowd of voters on the 4-cent ordinance and the proposed unit plant. Mayor Prince, Watson S. Moore, W. E. McEwen, Rev. J. J. Daniels and Rev. A. F. Elmquist of Minneapolis were the speakers.

B. N. Wheeler, representing the M. O. league, addressed a large gathering of voters at Smithville last evening. At the annual installation of officers by the Odd Fellows last evening in their rooms in the Axa building, several members of the order held a discussion on the electric lighting question. The Machinists' union at their meeting in Woodman hall also discussed the questions of the coming election.

EMBARGO ON OIL BRINGS PROTEST

British Government Objects Strongly to Action By Carranza.

Washington, Jan. 15.—The British ambassador Sir Cecil Spring-Rice, made urgent representations to the state department today against the Carranza embargo on oil exports from Tampico, from which the British navy draws some of its fuel.

The British ambassador also called attention to the destruction of property at Tampico in the oil fields which is reported as having been very great.

Dispatches to the state department have reached here that the Aguilar-Petroleum company and the Penn-Mex Oil company had been closed down by a degree prohibiting further operation without permission of the Carranza government; and that an embargo on oil exports had been placed on the Aguilar company and the Huasteca Petroleum company. The embargo was said to have been laid because the companies had not paid a production tax.

BROOKSTON PROTESTS AGAINST TRAIN ORDER.

Brookston, Minn., Jan. 15.—(Special to The Herald.)—An order is now effective on this division of the Great Northern discontinuing the practice of stopping passenger trains Nos. 33 and 38 at Mile Post 62, four miles west of this village, which will prove a great inconvenience to the settlers of that neighborhood, as these trains have stopped on flag at that point for the last two years. The matter has been placed before the state railroad and warehouse commissioners, who will attempt to adjust the complaint of the settlers in a satisfactory manner.

Appointed Railroad Commissioner.

Madison, Wis., Jan. 15.—Carl D. Jackson, Oshkosh, former district attorney of Winnebago county, has been appointed by Governor Phillip as a member of the state railroad commission to succeed John R. Roemer, chairman, who resigned, to take effect Feb. 1.

MAY RELEASE PRIZE SHIPS UNDER BOND

Great Britain Willing to Do So With Consent of Judge.

Washington, Jan. 15.—Release on bond of ships detained in British prize courts will be permitted by the British government if the judge of the court is willing, according to a statement issued today by the British embassy.

The embassy statement says:

"While they cannot give a pledge that all ships now in prize courts will be released on bail being offered, because the decision must rest with the judge, his majesty's government, in order to relieve a shortage of tonnage, is anxious to withdraw ships as little as possible from the carrying trade, and will therefore not oppose release on bail of ships now in prize courts, if bail is offered.

"Only seven neutral vessels are at present in prize court, and five ships are detained in the United Kingdom in addition at this moment for examination as to character and destination of her cargo; one of these will probably be released almost immediately, and not one of them is under the American flag."

SOME DEAD LIBRARIES.

New York Sun: In his book on "Old Oxford Libraries," Strickland Gibson describes the old library of Jesus college, built and founded by Sir Leoline Jenkins about 1676, "as a mausoleum for books long since dead."

"For can any change of scholarship," the author asks, "quicken old Testatus and raise him from the grave? Will any theologian, save out of mere curiosity, ever pore again over the sixteen folio volumes of Alfonso Salmeron? It is only by a few antiquaries that the old books are taken from their shelves. The under-graduates never enter; indeed some have never heard of the old library. It is elsewhere, in the under-graduates' library, that the present generation seeks learning."

But even this is not the deadest of libraries, for Mr. Gibson describes a less frequented one within the precincts of Christ church:

"Dr. Richard Allestree, regius professor of divinity, in 1680 conveyed the whole of his books to the university in trust for the use of successive regius professors of divinity. The university, by the deed of trust, was to exercise the right of visitation, but no money was left for the maintenance of the library, nor has provision ever been made for it. In a secluded cloister, within a small chamber and a long narrow room paved with red tiles, the books, unvisited, pass their days in dusty desolation and unbroken peace. Only the professor has the right of entry, a right probably exercised but seldom by one whose duty it is to interpret the living Word, and who may well hesitate to explore the wastes of long exhausted theological controversies.

"The eighteenth century library of St. Edmund Hall is worth visiting for the sake of its picturesque appearance and its diminutive size. It is situated above the chapel, and is approached by a narrow and tortuous staircase, on which, unless the visitor follows his guide very closely, there is some likelihood of his being temporarily lost. The library is the smallest in Oxford—a little room with a gallery running round. Originally the books were all on the walls, but recently some transverse cases have been added, thus rendering perambulation difficult. It is a library for the sedentary only."

FLAXSEED MARKET SOARS TO RECORD PRICES FOR YEAR

Urgent Bidding By Crushers Leads to Advance of 10¾ Cents.

Wheat Bulges Again, With Inquiry From Exporters and Millers.

Duluth Board of Trade, Jan. 15.—Flaxseed was the feature of the Duluth market today, setting a new high mark for the year after a sensational advance. Wheat was strong at the close on renewed buying. May wheat closed 1½c up and July 1⅝@2c up. May durum closed 1c up and July 1c up.

All coarse grains were strong. A sensational advance of 3½c was made in oats, which closed at 52⅝c for on the track. Rye closed 2½c up at $1.15 @1.16; barley 1c up at from 62 to 72c, and corn 2⅛c up at 70½c. Export trade was reported in corn at the seaboard and at Kansas City.

At Winnipeg, May oats closed 3¼c up at 59⅝c bid and July closed at 61c asked.

Puts on Minneapolis May wheat closed at $1.36½, and calls at $1.42½.

Urgent demand by Eastern millers and exporters led to a strong market in wheat at the start today. The opening quotation in May wheat was ½c up at $1.40½ and it moved up ⅝c more in the next few minutes. The edge then appeared to be off the demand, and on the appearance of some offerings it eased down slightly, standing at $1.40⅜ at the noon hour. July opened 1⅞@1¾c up at $1.40½, sold up ⅝c more and then eased off ¼c.

Durum was strong, opening 1c up at $1.60. Exporters were in the market for it, and some business was worked by them. That trade filled the price and the market eased off fractionally.

It was reported on the board today that 1,250,000 bu of the spring wheat sold for export here yesterday was taken by Marcy of Chicago for the Rockefeller foundation and turned over to the Belgian relief committee. A small lot more of spring wheat was bought here today on the same account. No other foreign business outside of durum was put through on the local market.

The remaining free wheat in elevators and afloat at Buffalo is estimated at only 1,560,000 bu and that is owned by a Duluth operator. It was withdrawn from the market altogether today. The limits on the other wheat now at the Buffalo terminals were raised today to a range that placed them out of line for exporters. There were further advices that Eastern millers are now jumping for supplies and are bidding eagerly for all the grain in sight, making the situation very bullish.

Heavy foreign trade in fall wheat was put through today. New York exporters were reported to have taken 1,250,000 bu and to be in the market for more. Southwestern markets advised export sales to go out via the gulf. At Kansas City cash wheat was up 1@2c and at Omaha it was boosted 2@5c. The market in May wheat at Chicago was remarkably strong, the spread between it and the same future here being broadened out to 4c today, whereas yesterday it had stood at 2¾c.

Aviation Flaxseed Stunts

Flaxseed performed aviation stunts around the opening today, advancing 10¾c in cent jumps during the first few minutes' trading. There were liberal buying orders in the market at the opening and with only limited offerings, operators bid over one another wildly in executing their commissions. That business filled, the market reacted 5c in more orderly stages, with, however, good demand in sight all the time. The governing factor in the flaxseed situation at present is the shortness of supplies both in the American and Canadian Northwest and the cutting off of the possibility of Argentine imports for the time being at least.

May flax opened unchanged at $1.86⅝, advanced to $1.97 and closed 7½c up at $1.94 asked.

At Winnipeg, May flax closed 7¼c up at $1.73½ asked.

The sixth annual meeting of the Council of Grain Exchanges will be held in Chicago on Jan. 21 and 22. The first regular session of the council on Jan. 21 will be held in the directors' room of the Chicago Board of Trade, and the second regular session, on Friday afternoon, which will be crop improvement day, will be held in the visitors' room of the Board of Trade building. The commercial events of the past six months have been so extraordinary and unprecedented in their nature that the coming meeting of the council will be one of special interest to all members of the exchanges.

Minnesota is on the eve of the development of a new industry that bids fair to carry her name into the homes in all parts of this country, and perhaps abroad—the production of high-class, extra-sweet canned sweet corn. Experiments have shown that the Minnesota product is excelled by none other, not even by that of Maine, which is now considered the standard of excellence. As a result, the agricultural department of the University of Minnesota, in co-operation with the Minnesota Crop Improvement association and the Minnesota Canners' association, is preparing to boost the young industry.

Cash wheat was in good demand in the Duluth market today. No. 1 northern sold at 1c under May and cash durum was at the May price, and cash flax sold at 1c under May.

Of the wheat sold at Duluth for export yesterday 1,250,000 bu. was taken by Marcy of Chicago and turned over to the Rockefeller Foundation for the Belgian account. It will be shipped out from Buffalo elevators at once.

Clearances of wheat and flour for the week were reported at 9,129,000 bu. and corn at 1,189,586 bu.

Minneapolis: Cash market was steady with demand good for top grades. No. 1 nothern blue stem sold at 2@3½c over May, and velvet chaff at 1½@2c under May. Flour sales were moderate. There was a better inquiry from the big eastern distributing markets and bids are closer than they have been to workable limits. Cash No. 1 northern wheat sold there at from $1.36½@1.41½, and No. 2 northern at from $1.33½@1.39½.

Paine Commission company had the following wire from Logan & Bryan: "It is claimed that export sales of wheat in all positions in this country this week have reached 6,000,000 bu. It is also claimed that Chicago export houses have no more wheat available to meet export demands, as Chicago stocks are well sold and the Western country does not respond to bids for fresh supplies. Cash wheat is on a level with May, in some cases at a premium. The foreign demand for wheat continues with no change in the European war outlook. Such a situation is naturally very bullish. It is now a question of judgment about over-buying on the swells, and we strongly caution against such a position in the market. No doubt wheat is a buy on any sharp or material reaction."

Modern Miller says: "Mild winter weather has removed most of the snow covering from the winter wheat belt. In many sections there has been alternate thawing and freezing. Reports in general indicate that the crop has wintered well, with abundant snow and rain except in Western Kansas. The spring wheat section will soon require supplies from the winter wheat surplus. It is increasingly hard to fill export orders to move via Western and Southern seaboards."

Broomhall cabled from Liverpool: "There was a very firm undertone this morning as a result of firmness in America and Buenos Aires and light offerings. American winters held at 7s½d advance and Plate offers at 6 pence higher. Spot market was strong and generally 3d higher. Small shipments from Argentine and advancing freights there and dryness in India are the influences. There is a good millers' demand and purchases are being made at the advance but the demand for forward deliveries is quiet."

At Liverpool, wheat was not quoted, and corn closed ⅜@½d up.

CHICAGO MARKET.

Urgency of European Demand Drives Wheat Prices Higher and Higher.

Chicago, Jan. 15.—Urgency of European demand despite record-breaking prices drove the wheat market today higher and higher. Temporarily, selling by one of the largest houses in the trade carried quotations back to about last night's level, but then a new wave of buying resulted in a much steeper advance. The bulls were excited by a sharp upturn in quotations at Liverpool and by reports that all of the domestic wheat now afloat at Buffalo and unsold had been taken off the market. After opening at ½c off to ⅜@⅝c higher, prices receded moderately all round and then jumped to $1.41⅜ for May as against $1.43⅜, the tiptop yesterday.

Dispatches telling of a well equipped Turkish army of 40,000 men threatening the Suez canal and that Utah and Idaho wheat was bringing $1.60 a bushel to go to California assisted in keeping the market here moving upgrade. May finally touched $1.45¼. The close was nervous at 1¼ to 2⅛@2¼c net advance.

Export call brought about a rise in corn as well as in wheat. A reaction which ensued was not of a lasting sort. The opening, which varied from ⅛@¼c to ⅝c higher, was followed by a good general rally.

It was said as much as 1,500,000 bushels of corn was taken here and at Kansas City for export. The result was an extraordinary bulge in prices, the market closing strong at 3⅛@4⅛c above last night's.

Oats swung with other grain. Bears were in a decided minority.

Firmness in the hog market helped give a lift to provisions. Longs showed a disposition to sell only on the latest spots.

STRENGTH IN STOCKS

Greater Activity and Diversity of Movement Are Recorded.

Low-Priced Specialties Are Conspicuous in the Final Hour.

New York, Jan. 15.—The feature of today's early stock market was the decline to lowest prices of the week by some of the most active issues, notably United States Steel. Marked heaviness was shown also by Southern Pacific, Reading and New Haven, Baltimore & Ohio was a conspicuous exception, adding a material fraction to yesterday's rise, but reacting later. A 13-point advance in Lackawanna on one transaction attracted some attention. Among specialties American Tobacco rose 1½ points. London pursued its usual course of a lower range for our securities, Canadian Pacific being the only striking exception to the average decline.

Except for further declines in the speculative leaders and a few additional gains among the specialties the stock market showed today no pronounced change from its opening tendencies. Transcontinental issues were lower, Canadian Pacific losing a point. There was continued heaviness in Reading and Pennsylvania, and Missouri Pacific almost equalled its recent low prices. Steel and Amalgamated failed to better their early positions. Among specialties, American Linseed common and preferred and some other shares were up to 2½, while Virginia-Carolina Chemical preferred gained 5. Western Union made favorable response to its statement of earnings.

Bonds were strong, with a good demand for convertible issues.

In the early afternoon, the list improved under the lead of Canadian Pacific, which rose almost 3 points. Other active stocks shared more moderately in the advance. Coppers were relatively heavy.

Greater activity and diversity of movement were recorded by the market, with substantial gains in secondary issues.

Low-priced specialties were conspicuous in the final hour. Gains of 1 to 3½ points were made in this class, Missouri Pacific being most active. The closing was strong.

HOUSEHOLD HINTS.

Los Angeles Times: To protect your enameled cooking utensils, use the iron lids raised above the level of the range by perforated borders. The air spaces spread the heat so evenly and quickly that it does away with the desire to whisk off the lid and cook over the open flame when one is in a hurry, writes a Monitor reader. Practically the same heat intensity is obtained and there will be no soot on your cherished blue and white kettles and saucepans.

Rusty steel should be covered with kerosene oil and after twenty-four hours rubbed with unslaked lime. Repeat if necessary.

Brass fenders and fire-irons can be lacquered with a special preparation which will prevent them from requiring constant polishing.

If the little cap that should be over the end of the drain pipe in the refrigerator gets lost, put a fruit jar full of water into the drip pan. The melting water will go into the jar which will, of course, overflow. The ascending hot air through the drip pipe which is not protected at the bottom is the cause of considerable expense and inconvenience during hot weather.

To avoid the "ring" which often forms around spots cleaned with gasoline, add a small quantity of salt to the gasoline used in cleaning.

To whiten hardwood floors add two tablespoonfuls of paraffin to the hot, soapy water used for washing the floor. This is an old remedy, but a good one, for it not only cleanses the boards but also destroys any insects that may be lurking in cracks of the floor.

To clean painted walls do not use soap, but dissolve two ounces of borax in two quarts of water and add one teaspoonful of ammonia. Use half the mixture in a pail of warm water. After washing the walls rub with clean cloths until dry.

DEADLOCK BETWEEN GREAT ARMIES BROKEN AND FIERCE BATTLES ARE BEING FOUGHT

NOT EXPECTED AT THIS TIME

Military Struggles of Great Importance Have Sprung Up.

Russians Begin Offensive Toward New Points in East Prussia.

Large German Forces Are Concentrated to the West of Warsaw.

London, Jan. 16.—Out of the state of virtual deadlock, which for weeks has existed in the east and west, there have sprung during the past few days military events of more importance than followers of the war expected at this time. They are, briefly:

The Russian offensive towards new points on the frontiers of East Prussia and Posen; the fighting at Soissons; the expected Turkish advance on Egypt, and the plans for a renewed attack on Servia by combined Austro-German forces.

To the west of Warsaw large German forces are still concentrated, but they are gaining little ground and it is thought likely that the fighting which will develop as a result of the new Russian movement may for the time being overshadow the previous battle for the Polish capital. It is even suggested that Field Marshal von Hindenburg, held in check along the Bzura and Rawka rivers, is about to initiate a fresh movement of German troops either from Thorn or from East Prussia, and that the Russian advance towards the German frontier is intended to forestall this attempt.

Concedes Victory to Germans.

The British press, with unusual candor, concedes that the Germans were victors in the recent fighting near Soissons; remarking that it is a relief from the customary contradictions to attend the official communications in agreement on so many important points.

SCHOOL TEACHER'S SELF SACRIFICE

Goes to Death to Save Mayor, Cure and Other Citizens.

(Correspondence of the Associated Press.)

Paris, Jan. 4.—A story has reached Paris of how a school teacher sacrificed himself to save the mayor, cure and a number of citizens of his village in the Aisne, a few miles from the Belgian frontier.

After the battle of Charleroi, the Germans captured the village of D—— without firing a shot, and a company of the Prussian guards made it their headquarters for two days. Toward the end of the second day, while the Germans were preparing to leave the village, a shot rang from no one knows where. The German officer in command hastened at once to the mayor. A dozen hostages were required upon the spot, to be shot before nightfall, if the guilty man was not denounced or did not give himself up. No one had been hit by the shot, but the officer declared that he had heard the bullet whistle close to his head.

"Very well," said the mayor, "you want hostages. Here I am to begin with."

"And I, also," declared the cure.

Three of the older inhabitants of the village came forward, which made five. Then the Germans took seven more inhabitants into an open field near the church. The firing squad was ready, and the hostages lined up against a wall, when the school teacher, M. Michon, ran up.

"I am the guilty one," he said simply. "Yes, it is I who fired just now. Release these men and take me, I am ready; I'm not afraid to die."

Several of the villagers present had seen Michon leave his schoolhouse with his pupils at the exact moment when the shot had been fired. But he persisted in his declaration, and at 7 o'clock in the evening he was shot.

CLING TO THEIR PONIES' TAILS; SCALE BLUFFS.

London, Jan. 16.—How the Russians obtained command of a most important position in the Carpathian passes by a daring exploit is told by the Petrograd correspondent of the Times. Native Caucasian troops, holding to the tails of their hardy mountain ponies, are said to have scaled by night an apparently impassable summit, thus gaining the rear of a Hovad battalion, which was surprised and surrendered. Grand Duke Michael was among the Russian soldiers in the thick of the fighting.

TURKS TO ATTEMPT TO INVADE EGYPT.

London, Jan. 16.—The Cairo correspondent of the Daily News says it is virtually certain that Turkey has decided to make what he terms a rash attempt to invade Egypt. German engineers are doing everything possible to overcome the difficulty in moving heavy artillery over the sandy wastes and rocky defiles to cope with the guns guarding the Suez canal, he continues. One, at least, of these experiments ended disastrously in the temporary abandonment of large caliber guns.

NEW CHIEF OF GENERAL STAFF OF BRITISH ARMY

GEN. SIR J. W. MURRAY.

London, Jan. 16.—Lieut.-Gen. Sir James Wolfe Murray is the new chief of the imperial general staff of the British army. He has succeeded the late Sir Charles Douglas. He was promoted for distinguished service in the Ashanti campaign and decorated for service in Natal. He commanded a division in India for a time and was commander-in-chief in South Africa when the war broke out.

DIG TRENCHES UNDER FIRE

Work at Night While the Bullets Hum Around Them.

Cross Muddy Fields and Creep Through Barbed-Wire Fences.

(Correspondence of the Associated Press.)

Karlsruhe, Jan. 4.—At night, when the searchlights flit from trench to trench of the enemy and when gunners send shells into hostile works which during the day have been singled out for this attention, the human mole—the pioneer—goes to work. The present war at close quarters has made it impossible for him to labor in daylight. Not alone is every part of the field scrutinized with powerful glasses by the observation officers, but men in aeroplanes are also constantly on the lookout for a red or brown scar in the landscape that might show pioneers busy at work digging trenches.

Contrary to popular belief, trenches are but seldom dug by the infantrymen nowadays. The little spades they carry serve for the sole purpose of throwing up cover when during an attack the firing line, owing to superiority of fire from the enemy's position, must intrench itself superficially until reinforcements can be brought up. The trenches of the permanent positions are dug by the pioneers, as

CELEBRATION IS TO BE OMITTED

Kaiser Asks That Observance of His Birthday Be Canceled.

Berlin, Jan. 16, via The Hague and London.—The Reichanzeiger has published a decree signed by Emperor William according to which his majesty, in view of the seriousness of the present situation, asks that all the festivities formally held on the occasion of his birthday be omitted this year. An exception is made, however, of the celebrations usually held in churches and schools.

The emperor asks even that the many letters and telegrams generally sent to him on his birthday by societies and private individuals, although always highly appreciated, be dispensed with this year. His majesty says he fears that these communications might interrupt the telegraphic and postal systems and interfere with his work at general headquarters.

"For this reason," the decree goes on, "I am obliged to beg that especial expressions of good wishes be omitted. Nor are these needed, for in these days of tribulation which have come for our fatherland I am often aware with the greatest satisfaction of the strong bond of love and confidence which unites me with the German people. I thank in advance each person whose loyal supplication will, on my birthday, be made to the throne of the Highest, as well as every one who will think of me in a friendly spirit. I am one with the whole German people and their princes. The one prayer which sways our hearts is for the fatherland; that God will graciously grant us further victories over our enemies and after a peace with honor a happy future for our country."

Emperor William's birthday is Jan. 27. It is understood here that the customary court balls will be abandoned. The money usually devoted to these entertainments will this year be applied to charitable purposes.

WOULD SEIZE THE STEAMER

Such Action Likely If Former German Liner Sails With Cotton.

Situation Requires Careful Handling, Say the London Papers.

London, Jan. 16.—The morning newspapers display great interest in the situation that has arisen over the former Hamburg-American line steamer Dacia, which now flies the American flag. They are almost a unit in expressing the belief that the British government would have no option but to seize the steamer and send her before a prize court. At the same time, they recognize that the situation will require careful handling if the good relations between Great Britain and the United States are to be preserved. The Daily Mail in an editorial says:

Many Objections.

"The circumstances of the transfer of the steamer are such as to arouse many inevitable speculations and not a few objections which would not in the least be lessened by sending her to Rotterdam instead of Bremen. It would be just as easy for her former owners to repurchase her at Rotterdam as at Bremen. We are confident that the Americans will recognize that

SEVEN SAILORS ARE TAKEN FROM WRECK

New York, Jan. 16.—Seven seamen rescued at sea from the wreck of the schooner John W. Dana, off Diamond shoals on Wednesday, arrived here today on the steamship Malinche. The schooner, a water-logged derelict, was sighted yesterday by the steamer El Alba.

The rescued men said that after leaving Charleston, S. C., a succession of gales was encountered and that on Jan. 13 a northwestern hurricane, accompanied by tremendous seas, carried away the schooner's fore rigging and deck load of lumber, leaving the waterlogged hull floating helplessly in the trough of the seas. The Malinche effected the rescue the next day with great difficulty.

WILL MAKE SEARCH FOR ANY SURVIVORS.

Beaufort, N. C., Jan. 16.—In hope that one or more of the five persons reported to have perished in the explosion on the yacht Julia, in Pamlico sound, may have escaped to an out-of-the-way island, an expedition to search for them was organized here today.

J. W. Murray and his wife of Burlington, N. C., G. P. Dodson of Norfolk, Mrs. J. W. Porch of Beaufort and two sailors were aboard when the explosion occurred.

Mrs. Murray, blown overboard, was rescued an hour later. It was feared the others perished.

ONLY WOMAN MEMBER OF OREGON LEGISLATURE

MARION B. TOWNE.

Salem, Or., Jan. 16.—Marion B. Towne is the only woman member of the new legislature of Oregon and almost the only Democrat. Miss Towne won without making a single speech. She has a theory that speeches only please the supporters of a candidate and make no converts. She made a house-to-house canvass soliciting votes. Miss Towne says she has no definite program of legislation. She is not unfamiliar with public affairs for she worked in a county clerk's office for five years.

CONCILIATORS ARE TOLD CONDITIONS

Miners Explain Why They Demand 47-Cent Scale.

Columbus, O., Jan. 16.—The conditions surrounding the signing of the 47-cent scale for coal mined on a run-of-mine basis was told to Federal Conciliators Hywel Davies and Daniel J. Keefe, at their first business session with representatives of the miners here today. The conciliators are investigating the Eastern Ohio coal strike.

The striking miners' chief reason for standing firm in their demand for the 47-cent scale is that in accepting less they would not only be breaking faith with their parent body, the United Mine Workers of Ohio, but also with all the operators of Ohio, who have signed the 47-cent scale with miners in other sections of the state.

FAMINE AND THE INTENSE COLD ADDING RAPIDLY TO DEATH LIST

DIGGING OUT BURIED ONES

Thousands of Soldiers at Work in Cities Wrecked By Earthquake.

Every Italian From King Down Trying to Assist Victims.

Rome, Jan. 16.—Rescue and relief work is being pushed with feverish haste in the earthquake-stricken districts of Italy. Thousands of soldiers are on the ground and at work digging out and burying the victims and caring for the survivors.

The need of the latter, of whom there are thousands upon thousands, homeless and generally penniless, is urgent, and the people, from the king down, are all doing all possible to alleviate their condition. The cold weather, which continues, adds to the terrible suffering and temporary buildings of wood are being erected as fast as possible to house the homeless.

The list of dead can still only be estimated, but from what is known it is believed that at least 20,000 persons perished and that twice that number were injured. Avezzano, with probably 10,000, and Sora, with 4,000 dead, were the heaviest sufferers. The other victims are credited to the three score or more of towns and villages that felt the effects of the shocks.

Just how severely the Marsica district suffered, in which Avezzano is located, is best told in a terse telegram which Monsignor Bagnoli, bishop of the Marsica region, sent to Pope Benedict. The telegram reads:

A Great Cemetery.

"The Marsica diocese has been transformed into a great cemetery.

DRY CONSTRUCTION PROVES DISASTROUS

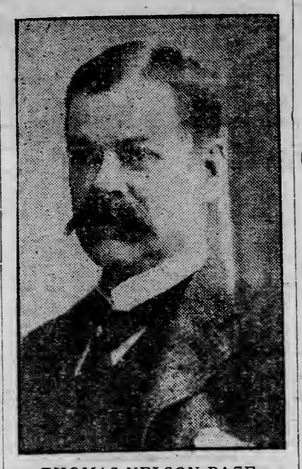

Greatest Mortality From Quake Where No Mortar Was Used.

Paris, Jan. 16.—The correspondent of the Excelsior in Rome wires that he learns officially that 35,000 persons were killed and 45,000 injured in the earthquake.

Newspaper specials from Rome agree that the great mortality is attributable to the methods of dry construction, employed in the affected region, the stones being piled upon each other without mortar. The only buildings which escaped total destruction were the modern houses built of reinforced concrete.

The serious landslide which has occurred at Monte Corvino-Rovella, which sent masses of earth from the mountainside into the Fucino canal, damming that stream, threatens to add a flood to the other calamities in the region. Gangs of men are working strenuously to remove the obstruction.

IMMIGRATION OF ASIATICS

Commissioner Caminetti Discusses Its Menace in Report.

Hindu Propaganda Likely to Give Trouble Unless Met.

Washington, Jan. 16.—Asiatic immigration, the "Hindu propaganda," and particularly immigration to continental United States from Hawaii and the Philippines are discussed at length in the annual report of the commissioner general of immigration, Mr. Caminetti, made public here today. As to the Burnett bill restricting immigration, passed by both houses of congress, the report says that many of its provisions will materially aid in solving the vital problems of immigration and will insure just treatment to all comers.

Concerning immigration from the Far East, the report says: "I believe it is quite generally conceded that immigration from the Far East is detrimental to the welfare of the United States"; says the report, "not because it has heretofore been so extensive in numbers, but because of its peculiar effect upon the economic conditions and the possibilities of an almost unlimited increase in volume if left unregulated and unchecked. Our Oriental-immigration problem, arising more than a quarter of a cen-

BELGIAN PEOPLE IGNORE GERMANS

"Silent Treatment" Striking Feature of Situation at Brussels.

Brussels, Jan. 16.—The "silent treatment" of the German landsturm in this city by the Belgian people is one of the most striking features of the situation here. It is spreading even to the children, who turn their heads away or cross the street whenever they see a German soldier approaching.

If a soldier enters a shop, the Belgians either quit the building or move away as far as possible. If one of the landsturm enters a street car, the Belgians leave, or else turn their eyes away. There are no words of greeting, no smiles, not even the slightest look of recognition that the soldier is a human being.

Whether this is having any effect on the soldiers is not certain, but an American who today stopped a fine-looking German soldier, who was off duty and talked with him, was surprised at what he heard.

"You are the first person who has spoken a civil word to me in this town for a month," said the soldier.

VICTIMS OF EARTHQUAKE INCREASING

Obstructed Roads Render Transportation of Food Impossible.

Rescue Work Is Now Going Ahead in Feverish Manner.

Each Hour of Delay Means Death to the Buried Victims.

Rome, Jan. 16.—Famine and intense cold are adding to the sufferings of the earthquake victims, and slowly increasing the already huge death roll. Food there is in plenty, but its transportation to many of the towns affected is all but impossible because of obstructed roads.

Rescue work is now going ahead feverishly, for each hour of delay means death by starvation or exhaustion of buried victims. From town after town in the stricken section come reports of excavation of ruins that was too late to save lives.

Attention gradually is turning from Avezzano, the center of the disturbance and the greatest sufferer, to other and smaller towns, where an almost equally large percentage of the population was destroyed. In only one case so far—that of Sora—do late reports show that the effects of the quake were less disastrous than had been feared. Only 460 of Sora's 17,000 persons appear to have been killed.

Additional Details.

With the trainloads of injured that continue to arrive in Rome additional details of the horror come in, all tending to confirm earliest estimates of the tremendous loss of life. Reports indicate that, next to Avezzano the towns to suffer most are Pescina, with 4,500 victims; Paterno, with 1,000 dead, and Samelino, with 600 of its population of 1,600 wiped out. All are environs of Avezzano.

The horror of possible flood added to famine and suffering from cold exists in the neighborhood of the Fucino canal, which has been obstructed and dammed up by a landslide at Montecorvino-Rovella. Soldiers and civilians are working desperately to clear the canal.

Percentage of Loss Higher.

Though it seems to be definitely established that the present earthquake will not rival that of Messina in 1908 in the number of dead, the percentage of casualties in proportion to the Roof of Church Falls During Progress of a Funeral.

London, Jan. 16.—Special dispatches received here from Rome say that the casualties in the earthquake zone are today estimated at 30,000. Further reports doubtless will increase this number. In a number of directions communication has not yet been restored and the government has not yet heard from many mountain towns.

One hundred persons were crushed to death in a church at Castelliri, while attending a funeral service. The village of Boccareccio was totally destroyed, and the population is today homeless. Soldiers today reaching the ruins of a church at Sora found the bodies of twenty nuns who had been crushed to death while in front of the altar in the act of receiving a communion.

A dispatch given out by the Central News describes the situation in the Sora district as terrible. Although 10,000 persons in this district escaped with their lives, many of them are today dying of hunger and cold. The destruction of the roads interferes seriously with the sending of relief and thousands of persons are suffering from famine.

The director of the observatory at Rome declared yesterday that the shock of Jan. 13 was twice as severe as the quake which destroyed Messina. On Wednesday all the observatory instruments were broken.

SUMMARY OF THE WAR NEWS

Seldom since the beginning of the campaign in the east has the military situation been so uncertain as at the present. Several independent movements, each with the possibility of vital consequences, are in progress simultaneously. The latest phase of the situation—the advance of a new Russian army against West Prussia, in connection with the movement of the forces that have invaded East Prussia—is believed in London to threaten the German forces in Central Poland.

The Russian general staff is convinced that the Germans west and southwest of Warsaw have determined on a general offensive movement. Further south German troops have reinforced the Austrians for a drive at the Russians designed to relieve Bukowina and Northern Hungary from danger of further invasion.

Fighting during the last few days, while violent at times, has been of a local character. The Austrian war office reports that in a violent artillery combat along the Dunajec river in Galicia, several Russian batteries were silenced.

On the western battlefields the allies and the Germans are concentrating their efforts in the Aisne region. Following their defeat near Soissons, the French have fallen back to new positions and are struggling to stay the German advance.

The Turkish military authorities are reported to have decided to attempt an invasion of Egypt. Such an expedition will be a most hazardous one, on account of the sandy wastes which the invading army will have to cross.

British forces have again invaded German territory in Africa. They captured Swakopmund, German Southwest Africa.

"DULUTH'S MOST USEFUL CITIZEN" IS ACKNOWLEDGED TO BE MOST PROMINENT FIGURE IN GRAIN TRADE OF AMERICA

ROSE FROM OFFICE BOY TO HEAD OF BIGGEST GRAIN FIRM

"Mr. Barnes of Duluth" Found the Key Log of the Jam That Blocked the Channels of Trade Between America and Europe.

Knowledge of Transportation Problems Has Placed Him in Unique Position of Eminence and Made Him a National Figure.

Finds Time to Solve Duluth's Traffic Problems, Develop Valuable Invention, Build Up Country's Biggest Boat Club and Read Pepys' Diary.

It took a great crisis like the European war to disclose to Duluth the fact that she is harboring as a citizen the most dominant figure in the grain trade of the world and one of the greatest authorities on transportation problems in the United States.

And Duluth had to be told this fact by New York, and New Orleans, and St. Louis, and Montreal, and Philadelphia, and Baltimore, and Boston before she learned it.

The citizen referred to is Julius H. Barnes, of the Barnes-Ames company of the Duluth Board of Trade, who since the outbreak of the European war has assumed a position in the grain trade of the world that is fully as prominent, and certainly not less valuable to the country, than that of the Armours and the Leiters and the Pattens.

"Mr. Barnes of Duluth," as he has been nicknamed in New York, is today, without question, the "biggest man" in the grain trade of the United States; the most influential man among all the grain commission men of the country; and is probably handling the biggest grain business the world has ever known. Those who are in a position to know, admit this, not in any spirit of extravagant admiration, but simply as a fact that is not disputed.

To demonstrate the unique position Mr. Barnes, who is barely 40 years of age, holds in the grain business today, it is only necessary to go back to the early part of last August.

Thown Into Chaos.

When the European war burst on the world almost over night the conditions of the grain business can only be described as chaotic. Hardly a miller or an exporter in America knew whether he was solvent or insolvent. Take the exporter, for example. He might have had several cargoes on the ocean subject to siezure by hostile war vessels. If the cargo reached port he didn't know whether he would ever receive his money for it. If the purchasing firm was not bankrupted by the war, the exchange might be prohibitive and not only wipe out all profits, but leave him an enormous loss on the cargo, for export wheat business is done on small margins. He might have enormous quantities of wheat bought in America on its way to the Atlantic seaboard to fill orders abroad. Would these orders be canceled by the war? If so, he was left with this immense amount of wheat on his hands. Ultimately it would show him a big profit, perhaps, but the carrying charges would smother him; bankrupt him if he were compelled to hold it a month or six weeks or two months until exchange problems were worked out, and it was possible for him to ship the grain and collect his money for it.

Increase Delayed.

Normally, of course, a war always brings a great increase in the price of grain. But how soon would this increase come was the question. If export business were shut off entirely, the newly harvested grain pressing on the market might break prices to an unheard of low figure.

Then there was the possibility of the public getting into the market. A speculation mad public last August might have sent wheat to the $2 mark in less than a month. Such violent fluctuations in the market might easily have bankrupted half the small millers in the United States.

On Horns of Dilemma.

On the one hand was the enormous American wheat crop pressing for a market. On the other hand was the war disorganizing the financial system of this country temporarily and throwing the export business into complete chaos, thus shutting off both the home market and the foreign market. The bottom might drop out of the market over night, or it might soar to almost any height in another day. It was the most critical condition the American grain trade has ever known—not even excepting the great Leiter corner. It was a situation that demanded clear heads.

The grain men of America needed a man who "could keep his head when all about him were losing their's and blaming it on him" to paraphrase Kipling.

The man who stepped into the breach was a modest, quiet-spoken Duluthian, Julius H. Barnes.

The North American Export Grain association is composed of the following exchanges:

New York Produce exchange.
Montreal Corn exchange.
Winnipeg Grain exchange.
Commercial exchange of Philadelphia.
Merchants' exchange of St. Louis.
Kansas City board of trade.
Baltimore chamber of commerce.
Boston chamber of commerce.
Chicago board of trade.
Duluth board of trade.
Toronto board of trade.
New Orleans board of trade.
Galveston board of trade and Cotton exchange.

These are all the important grain exchanges of the continent.

Special Committee.

This association decided to appoint a special committee to handle all problems arising from the war, and the following committee was selected: Julius H. Barnes of Duluth, chairman; George E. Marcy of the Armour Grain company, Chicago; A. P. Stuart, New York; Frank G. Growell, Kansas City; George S. Jackson, Baltimore.

John Bassett Moore was chosen as chief counsel by the committee with a score of legal assistants.

Problems Faced.

These men promptly fell to work on the problems facing the grain exporters of the country.

Here were some of them:

The fulfillment of contracts made previous to the war was prevented.

War risk insurance rose to such a high rate that it could not be utilized.

Steamers on the high seas were diverted from the ports to which they were originally destined.

There was requisition of boats by the English government; the diversion of boats from their proper courses; the refusal of boat captains to take their cargoes to the designated ports or refusal to proceed with the cargo after it had been loaded; the refusal of clearance papers by the United States government; the refusal of the banks to accept the delivery of exchange on old contracts, and a myriad of other problems which sprung out of the international situation like the hosts of evil from Pandora's box.

Arbitration became an impossibility.

Moratoria were declared.

Bills of lading for gain dbstined to Germany, which was seized by the English government, were in foreign mails with attached bills of exchange.

Cables Cut Off.

Cable communication with important European countries was cut off and mail communication stopped. Many drafts for grain on the high seas were unpaid, and exporters were unable to tell whether they were bankrupt or not. Cargoes of grain were seized and sold by foreign governments and the proceeds remitted to the exporters; but no one knew how the price was arrived at.

These were a few of the problems which the America exporter was called upon to solve.

Time and time again the rumor of war had been heard in Europe. Those who were engaged in international commerce heard the cry and listened to the echo; and then the empty sound died out in space. Any exporter who feared to make business commitments because of frequent war predictions could not have successfully engaged in the export business. Scarcely a month had elapsed after the Franco-Prussian war, that the cry of war had not been raised. It became to the exporters of this country as the cry of "Wolf! Wolf!" but at last the wolf came, and so did the war.

Grain on High Seas.

There were 10,000,000 bushels of grain on the high seas subject to capture at the time when war was declared by Austria upon Servia. Some of the grain which had actually reached Antwerp had not been paid for when the Germans seized the city. It still remains unpaid for, and it is unlikely that the exporters who owned the grain will ever receive one dollar for their consignments, unless the Belgian government eventually pays for it. Fortunately the amount is not large.

Meeting Emergency.

Soon after war began, the members of the North American Export Grain association met in New York to consider the problems with which they were confronted. They were facing the difficulties which have been outlined, including that of disorganized credit and curtailed bank accommodations. Indeed, it seemed then, when the exporters met in New York, that the great surplus production of cereals had no value except for domestic consumption. Its exportation seemed an idle dream.

Yet the books of American exporters at the time were filled with orders to deliver wheat upon future shipment. Early in February, long before any signs appeared of an international cataclysm, exports had sold, as the promise of a great winter wheat crop in the West grew toward its realization. Foreign orders began to pour into this country in July. Sales were made. Still the orders came and other sales were made. Foreign buyers who had not been in the market for years were purchasing grain; and yet the American exporter, unmindful of any possibility of war, continued to sell and sell and sell.

Walked Into Quicksands.

The American exporter had walked heedlessly into the calamitous quicksands of business uncertainty, from which not one solitary exporting firm in the United States knew whether they would safely emerge—whether or not they would be rescued by the life lines of friendly bankers.

The Present Situation.

Today, the volume of export business is confined only by the limits of ocean transportation and the scarcity of wheat. The foreign countries are demanding our surplus grain and are buying it much faster than boats can be secured to transport it or the grain secured to fill the orders. The international exchange system, which was in a demoralized condition, has been satisfactorily adjusted and prompt payments are being made. And those who are engaged in the grain business take off their hats to the men who solved the problem.

Let it not be imagined that the average exporter has made a large profit from the calamity of war and the consequent enhancement of prices. Every exporter has sincerely attempted to fulfill every contract which was made previous to the war, even though this act entailed great loss. Naturally, out of the legal questions which have arisen, the fulfillment of contracts made before the war has been one primal consideration. But no American exporter can be placed in the light of a defaulter because it has been a physical impossibility to fill German and Austrian sales. In this regard men of eminent authority upon international legal questions, notably Hon. John Bassett Moore, former assistant secretary of state, have given opinions.

For weeks the members of the committee stayed in New York trying to straighten out the tangle. Telegrams, cablegrams and letters poured in on them from grain dealers, great and small, in all parts of the country. Many of them were angry and critical; many were pleading; all were anxious and worn. Hardly a grain exporter in America knew whether he was rich or poor, bankrupt or solvent.

Patient Answers Sent.

To all these cablegrams, telegrams, and letters careful, patient answers were sent, telling the inquirers just what they wanted to know.

The committee was working on the key log of the jam. On one side was the great American wheat crop pressing to market. On the other was war-ridden, hungry Europe crying for wheat. The passage was blocked by the rock of exchange and vessel tonnage, and a thousand other problems. Patiently the committee worked away at the rock. Then little by little as they cleared the passage, the wheat began to dribble through, in a tiny stream at first, comparatively speaking, and then in a flood. The American wheat poured into the empty bins of Europe, and the dollars poured into the pockets of the American farmer.

Private Interests Too.

Meanwhile Mr. Barnes had his own immense private interests to consider as well as the work of the committee. It is gossiped around the Duluth Board of Trade that he had forty ships loaded with grain either on the sea or ready to sail when war was declared. How many he did have will perhaps never be made public, for Mr. Barnes does not talk freely of such matters, and besides he is in New York at present on more business for the committee.

In any event, it is certain that his private interests were greater than those of any other exporter in America. It is a matter of sworn testimony that the Barnes-Ames company exports 40 per cent of the wheat sent from America, and it is also on record that the company handles more than 60 per cent of all durum wheat shipped from America. They call Mr. Barnes the "durum king," and that record probably entitles him to it.

Extent of Business.

The extent of the export business done by Mr. Barnes and his company can be best judged by the statement which is generally accepted on the Board of Trade, that the total amount of business done by the firm in some years exceeds the total assessed valuation of the city of Duluth.

The company expends more each year in telegrams and cable tolls than the total income of any but the very largest of Duluth's stores. This expense alone, it is said, would provide a very comfortable income for a dozen or more families.

Second to Steel Corporation.

One steamship agent told a Duluth Board of Trade man in New York recently, that Mr. Barnes of Duluth, next to the United States Steel corporation, was the biggest shipper over his line, which is one of the principal trans-Atlantic lines.

The Secret Of It.

This leads up to the query as to why one man should so dominate the export grain trade of America. He can not buy wheat any cheaper than anybody else. He buys at the market in Duluth, or Chicago, or Minneapolis, or Winnipeg, or St. Louis, or Kansas City. Any other trader could buy at the same price. He cannot sell his wheat for any more than any other trader with foreign connections. The price to all traders is the same on the exchanges of Liverpool, Paris, Antwerp or Naples. The secret lies in getting the wheat across—the transportation problem. That explains why the greatest authority on transportation in the United States is the dominant figure in the export grain trade. Mr. Barnes has the transportation problem at his finger's ends. It is no harder for him to tell the exact cost of laying down a cargo of durum wheat bought at Duluth, in Naples, than it is for the average merchant to tell what it will cost him to send a pair of shoes to Two Harbors. He buys in a dozen markets in America, through his branch offices and correspondents, and sells in every grain center in Europe. He may have vessels loading at Montreal, New York, Baltimore and New Orleans simultaneously. On his desk may be orders for grain from Liverpool, Paris, Antwerp and Naples. It is like a huge game of chess, the problem of distributing this wheat in the most economical manner. But it is a game where a false move may cost thousands of dollars.

A World Business.

It is a business of world proportions. He buys from one continent and sells to another. It is not a speculative business. Leiter became famous the world over by a spectacular attempt to corner wheat. It was the biggest gamble of the century. Every year Mr. Barnes doubtless buys and sells more wheat than Leiter did, but his aim is to get the wheat from the producer to the consumer at the smallest possible cost. It is impossible to estimate what Europe would have been forced to pay for its wheat—if it could have bought it at all—if it had not been for the work of the committee of which Mr. Barnes was the head. If exports from America had been stifled by a hopeless tangle of red tape, wheat would have been rotting in elevators here while Europe starved.

Got Training Here.

And the training that made him an expert on transportation Mr. Barnes is devoting, without recompense or thought of it, to working out Duluth's problem with the Duluth traffic commission. Mr. Barnes has been chairman of this commission since it was organized. His services there could not be purchased for money. He has made the Duluth traffic commission a body that is respected and just a little feared by every railroad, every traffic manager, and every big shipper in the United States. Rival traffic commissions in St. Paul, Minneapolis, Chicago and other cities have come to realize that the Duluth commission is "a bad bunch to go to the mat with."

Policy of Fairness.

That feeling has been built up because of a policy of absolute fairness, of knowing what they wanted and going after it until they got it. Duluth cases before the interstate commerce commission became famous for the careful, accurate and concise manner in which they were prepared. Duluth became noted for never asking anything but what she was entitled to, and the Duluth traffic commission became known as the hardest of fighters for those rights when they had fully decided what their rights were. A case from Duluth commands instant and respectful attention from the commission, because no case is brought until it is deemed absolutely necessary; nothing is asked for but what is fair; and on top of the fairness and the importance of the demands is an intelligence behind them that can not be overlooked.

The guiding spirit of the traffic commission has been and is Mr. Barnes. He has the most loyal committee it would be possible to get, but every member of it readily admits, without hesitation or quibbling, that Mr. Barnes is the man at the helm whose judgment is always followed in big matters of policy.

Unselfish Service.

An evidence of the unselfish service he has given the city is the grain case, which the commission won for Duluth. It was one of the three most important cases the Duluth commission has tackled and to those not informed of the conditions surrounding it, it might be thought that his own interests would be served by winning it. But the grain case had to do entirely with the rates on grain to Duluth, and the problem of bringing grain to the city. It is a fact well known on the board of trade that Mr. Barnes' firm has not brought in a bushel of grain to Duluth in ten years. Its business is exporting entirely, and the grain rates to Duluth were a matter of no importance to them. They could buy in Minneapolis, or Chicago or Milwaukee as well as in Duluth, if the freight rates discriminated against Duluth.

Any one of these three lines of work might appear to be a good "man's size job" for any man, but Mr. Barnes has found time for many other interests.

Saving Flax Straw.

A few years ago he became interested in the problem of utilizing the waste flax straw. In Europe flax is grown principally for its straw. The long stalks are used in making linen. In America it is grown chiefly for the seed. The stalks are threshed and the straw is wasted. Mr. Barnes, along with some other board of trade men, became interested in a process for saving this straw and weaving it into rugs and towels and linens. Largely through his efforts the company was properly financed, and without any outside assistance a factory has been erected in West Duluth, and the straw is now being woven into rugs and linens. The product has just been placed on the market, and it is likely to be sold on a most extensive scale in New York. This one business alone, with its countless problems of finance, invention and marketing, would have been about all one average man would care to have on his hands, but Mr. Barnes has solved it as a sideline, and it is destined to place millions of dollars in the pockets of the farmers of the Northwest in the years to come. It will give a value to a product that has hitherto been useless.

Mr. Barnes' work for the Duluth Boat club is too well known to need any extensive review. He had a vision of a big, democratic club, which would foster outdoor sports in Duluth, and he worked steadily toward that end, until he built up what is probably the biggest boat club in America.

The record made by the Duluth crews probably give him more pleasure than solving the export problems. Nobody outside of the officers of the club knows how much of the expenses of the crews are charged up to the account of the former president of the club, but they do know that whenever they make any kind of a showing, they are assured of a trip to the national regatta. Fifteen years ago he was the bow oar in one of the greatest four-oared crews Duluth or any other city has ever known, and he is just as keen to see Duluth win a boat race today as he was then.

Started as Office Boy.

Such, in brief, is a sketch of the most striking figure in the grain business today. He started as an office boy with Ward Ames, Sr., and he has risen to be head of the biggest grain firm in the world in a little over twenty years, and is now barely 40 years of age. What he may do for Duluth in the next twenty years his friends hardly dare to guess. The Erie canal and its possibilities in making Duluth an ocean port is one of his hobbies. Duluth is his chief hobby. He is the most consistent and persistent optimist on the subject of Duluth's future that the city boasts. He has been called "Duluth's most useful citizen." He is doubtless her most famous citizen now, and that in spite of himself. What he can do for Duluth in a business and industrial and social way in the next twenty years may be measured by what he has done in the last ten.

And for recreation he plays volley ball in the Y. M. C. A. gymnasium and reads Pepys' Diary.

CATARRH LEADS TO CONSUMPTION

Catarrh is as much a blood disease as scrofula or rheumatism. It may be relieved, but it cannot be removed by simply local treatment. It causes headache and dizziness, impairs the taste, smell and hearing, affects the voice, deranges the digestion, and breaks down the general health. It weakens the delicate lung tissues and leads to consumption.

Hood's Sarsaparilla goes to the seat of the trouble, purifies the blood, and is so successful that it is known as the best remedy for catarrh.

Hood's Sarsaparilla strengthens and tones the whole system. It builds up. Ask your druggist for Hood's, and insist on having it. There is no real substitute.

FOUR MEN IN A LAUNCH

Come Safely Through Winter Gale on Lake Superior.

Make Port in Snow Storm Without Aid of Harbor Lights.

Four men in a little gasoline launch went through the gale and the blinding snowstorm on Lake Superior yesterday afternoon and last evening, and without harbor lights or any other aids to navigation to guide them, made the port of Two Harbors in safety. This morning they came on to Duluth.

A winter gale on Lake Superior with the accompaniment of a snowstorm, is considered no trifling matter by even the captains of the biggest freighters, but when there is only the planking of a gasoline launch between one and the icy water of Lake Superior, when the waves dash completely over a boat so that the windows of the pilot house become coated with ice and the wheelsman has to open them and face the spray with no protection, and when there are no lights to guide one, but only the inky blackness on all sides, the perils are multiplied.

Capt. S. Mathison and his crew of three men, sailing the little fishing launch L. Goldish, and carrying a cargo of twenty-eight tons of fish, left Grand Marais yesterday morning. Shortly after they left port the wind began to rise, and then came the snow. They headed for Two Harbors at top speed, but long before they reached it, darkness fell. The sea was running high, and the waves swept completely over the little craft. For more than three hours they drove through utter darkness, and it was not until after 8 o'clock that they reached Two Harbors. Even then, in the high sea and with no lights to guide them, they were far from being out of danger. Making port was a hazardous undertaking, but it was accomplished without mishap, and this morning, after plenty of hot drinks, woolen blankets and a good night's sleep, the members of the crew were no worse for the night's experience and continued the trip to Duluth.

CANADIAN REGIMENT DISTINGUISHES ITSELF.

London, Jan. 16.—The Canadian regiment at the front has distinguished itself in a stirring bayonet charge at a place near Ypres known as "Dead Man's Alley," according to the Daily Chronicle's correspondent in Northeast France.

"The Germans," the correspondent says, "had moved a great mass of men against this spot on the British front. Mud helped the thin British line to hold, but the honors were barely even until the Canadian regiment hurried up from the rear.

"Suddenly there was heard a roar of voices and a long line of slouch-hatted men with fixed bayonets rushed forward with the battle cry 'For Canada and Old England.'

"The Germans broke before the charge which carried everything before it. Trench after trench was taken and the Canadians did not stop until the Germans brought up their artillery. The ground gained extended over a mile in front."

W. D. Hale of Minneapolis Passes Away While on Trip to Orient.

Honolulu, Jan. 16.—W. D. Hale, former postmaster of Minneapolis, died of heart failure at noon yesterday aboard the Pacific Mail steamer Mongolia, bound here from San Francisco, on the way to the Orient, according to wireless messages received here last night. Mr. Hale was 78 years old.

Minneapolis, Minn., Jan. 16.—Maj. W. D. Hale, whose death is reported from Honolulu was a director of the Washburn-Crosby Milling company and for sixteen years postmaster of Minneapolis. He resigned the postmastership last May. He served during the Civil war with the Third Minnesota infantry. For a number of years, he was a director of the Minneapolis & St. Louis Railroad company.

He was accompanied on his trip to the Orient by his wife and a son. They left here Jan. 4. His widow and two sons and two daughters, all of Minneapolis, survive him.

MEN SPURN CITY'S LOW WAGE SCALE

Sewer Jobs No Longer Means of Charity But Regular Work.

Because there are not enough men willing to work for 15 cents an hour on the city sewer jobs, although Commissioner Murchison had planned to aid those not able to earn any more, it will be necessary for the public works department in the future to hire able-bodied men and pay them the regulation rate of 25 cents an hour.

When work on the Vermilion road sewer was started two weeks ago, Commissioner Murchison decided to aid many men unfit for hard work, but to pay them only 15 cents an hour. In this way the taxpayers would not have to stand the extra expense of hiring unfit laborers, as the men were worth about 15 cents an hour and no more.

However, during the last week but few men were willing to work for 15 cents, declaring that they were well able to earn at least 25 cents an hour.

There are about 325 men working on sewer jobs in the city.

DEMUR TO INDICTMENTS.

Men Charged With False Pretense Methods Seek Release.

Demurrers have been interposed by Julius Paul and Edward Fitzpatrick to indictments returned against them by the January grand jury, jointly charging them with obtaining money under false pretenses. It is claimed that they defrauded A. N. Friedman out of $60 by a false representation with reference to the purchase of a stock of goods.

Paul, it is claimed, represented to Friedman that he had a purchaser for his stock of goods, but wanted $50 as an advance commission before introducing the purchaser. The money was paid and Fitzpatrick was introduced and represented as the person who wanted to buy the goods. The deal fell through and Friedman was out the $50. He demanded a return of the money but was refused. John H. Norton is attorney for Paul, and G. A. Finlayson appears for Fitzpatrick.

"DAD" MILLER, GLOBE TROTTER AND FRIEND OF EAST END CHILDREN, DIES

William C. Miller, aged 82, died at the home of his son-in-law, George S. Munsey, 1432 East Superior street, last night at 6 o'clock. He had been in poor health for some time past and his death was the result of a complication of diseases aggravated by feebleness, due to his advanced age.

Mr. Miller was formerly in the grocery business in Milwaukee. He came to Duluth about six years ago to make his home with his daughter and son-in-law and was familiarly known by a host of friends as "Dad Miller."

Born in Cambridge, England, June 26, 1833, Mr. Miller was a great traveler during his early manhood. He is said to have circled the globe twice and to have made two trips to the United States before locating in Milwaukee. And his friends took much interest in hearing of his adventures and experiences while traveling in foreign lands. He was known and loved by nearly every child in his community and since he retired from business he spent much of his time planning surprises, games and stories for his little friends.

Three daughters survive. They are: Mrs. George S. Munsey, Duluth; Mrs. Nellie Parks, Los Angeles, Cal., and Mrs. Lottie Dignan, De Witte, Iowa.

Mrs. Munsey has just returned from Baltimore, being summoned there on account of her father's critical condition. She had been with her daughter, Miss Edna Munsey, who is prima donna of the Little Cafe company. Miss Munsey was unable to obtain leave of absence.

Funeral arrangements are in charge of Crawford & Sons and it has been decided that the body shall lie from 1 p. m. until 2 p. m. on next Monday at the First Baptist church, Ninth avenue east and Third street. The funeral services will be at 2 p. m. on that day with burial in Forest Hill cemetery. Friends are requested to omit sending any flowers. This was the earnest request of Mr. Miller himself before his death.

WOMAN INJURED IN A COLLISION

Mrs. A. E. Lambert Hurt When Street Car and Wagon Collide.

A collision between a Duluth-Superior car and a delivery wagon yesterday afternoon at First avenue east and Superior street was the cause of serious injury to Mrs. A. E. Lambert, 301 East Third street. The woman, who was crossing the street, was struck by the skidding delivery wagon and thrown heavily to the sidewalk. Carl Carlson, 421 North Ninth avenue east, driver of the wagon, was not injured. He is employed by Culbertson Bros. 126 Michigan street, and was driving south, down grade from First street. Not having cleared the tracks, the wagon was struck by the car in such a manner as to swing it about, striking the woman and hurling her to the pavement.

Mrs. Lambert was carried into a Superior street drug store, where her injuries were examined and temporary aid given. She was found to be suffering from severe scalp wounds and bruises on the left ankle. She was later taken to her home in a taxicab.

COURT REPORTER TO BE WITNESS

Robert S. Taylor Will Give Testimony in New York.

Robert S. Taylor, an official reporter of the district court, will leave this evening for New York, having been subpoenaed to appear as a witness in the Federal court there in a case of the government against Francis Griffin and Clara Griffin. Mr. Taylor says he knows nothing about the case in which he is expected to testify. He believes that it concerns a couple who were arrested some time ago in New York charged with having defrauded numerous persons of large sums of money on stenographic reporting. They were admitted to $37,000 bail, which was later forfeited. Some time afterwards they were arrested in San Francisco and taken back to New York. Mr. Taylor may testify as an expert on the subject of stenographic reporting.

GEN. CARRANZA IS GIVEN WARNING

Serious Consequences May Follow Threatened Confiscation of Oil Plants.

Washington, Jan. 16.—The United States government has sent a warning to Gen. Venustiano Carranza, pointing out that "serious consequences may follow" his threatened confiscation of foreign-owned oil plants in Tampico. This announcement was made by Secretary Bryan in conference with Sir Cecil Spring-Rice, the British ambassador, and representatives of American oil concerns.

Already the Carranza officials have practically enforced an embargo on the exportation of oil by a big English company. The British ambassador, at the suggestion of Mr. Bryan, sent an urgent telegram to the British consul at Vera Cruz, which he was instructed to show to Carranza. As the British fleet obtains much of its fuel from the Tampico oil fields, the possibility of serious complications over the Carranza government's attitude is fully realized by the American government.

Mr. Bryan said that the foreign-owned oil companies "feared confiscation of their wells" by Carranza and that the urgent representations had been made to forestall such action. A decree issued by the Carranza government makes it impossible for some of the foreign oil companies to operate without the consent of the Mexican authorities. Some of the American concerns, it is said, have been forced to pay so heavy a tax, that they have been practically compelled to shut down their plants. Although there are Dutch interests at Tampico, no representations have as yet been made by The Netherlands government.

The prospect of a battle on the outskirts of Tampico between the advancing forces of Gen. Villa and the columns of Carranza under Gen. Pablo Gonzales, is expected here to develop the situation further. If the Villa forces are victorious, a solution of the problem is confidently expected, because of previous assurances given by the Villa-Gutierez officials in that district.

THE M. O. LEAGUE WANTS "PROOFS"

That the report of Pillsbury and Claussen, the engineers to whom the city paid $14,000 for figures on a possible city light plant and service, was changed after it was completed and before it was all made public.

WHAT THE CITY ORDERED

Is shown in the council proceedings for May 8th, 1911, when a resolution was unanimously adopted providing that the report of Pillsbury and Claussen should include "A DETERMINATION OF REASONABLE RATES TO BE CHARGED FOR THE SERVICE TO BE FURNISHED BY SUCH PLANT."

WHAT THE CITY GOT

In the PUBLISHED report was only a meaningless AVERAGE charge for ALL service—NOT a schedule of RATES.

WHY? DID THE ENGINEERS FORGET?

☛ VERY WELL, READ THIS

DULUTH, MINN. January 14th, 1915

Citizens Referendum Committee,
#504 Alworth Building,
Duluth, Minnesota.

Gentlemen:-

Some time after the report to the Mayor and City Council of the City of Duluth, on the proposed Municipal Electric Lighting and Power Plant, made by Oscar Clausen and Charles L. Pillsbury, Consulting Engineers of St. Paul and Minneapolis, the writer was on his way to Minneapolis over the Great Northern Railway.

On the trip in question, Mr. Charles L. Pillsbury got on the train at Sandstone, and a conversation was started between Mr. Pillsbury and the writer regarding the report.

The writer asked Mr. Pillsbury why they did not complete their report according to the resolution passed by the Council regarding rates. Mr. Pillsbury stated to the writer that the report, as originally finished, contained everything as called for in the resolution; that someone, Mr. Pillsbury did not state who, came to St. Paul, to Mr. Clausen's office, and Mr. Clauson changed the report at the request of this gentleman, and changed it to the present form, as the report was printed.

The writer asked Mr. Pillsbury what he had figured on that the City should charge for residence lighting and he told him that the report called for 7¢ per kilowatt and further that the cost of maintaining the magnatite was $69.58 per year just as the report has it.

Yours truly.

FAIL TO WED; ARE ARRESTED

Chicagoans Taken While Living on Steamer in Winter Quarters.

Marriage Prevented By Lack of Funds, Says Prospective Husband.

Barney Blake, 26, and Marie Marks, 15, were arrested last night by Detectives Toewe and Bradley on the steamer Ward Ames, docked here for the winter. Blake is wanted in Chicago on a statutory charge preferred by the girl's mother.

The prisoners came here from the Windy City on Dec. 20 and have since lived on the boat as the guests of the captain, Herman Ferchert. The girl is a daughter of Edward Marks, a contractor. It is said she was induced to leave her home by Blake, who agreed to marry her on their arrival in Duluth. This he failed to do, he claims for lack of funds, but declares that his companion told him before leaving Chicago that she was 18 years of age. He did buy her a wedding ring and presented it to her, but the ceremonies did not progress any further.

Blake, who says he is a sailor, worked for the girl's father as teamster for a month or six weeks last fall, and it was in that capacity that he became intimate with her. The sequel was the elopement. The man asserts that it was his intention to borrow $25 from his friend, the watchman, and take his companion back to Chicago, and then after securing parental forgiveness, marry her. The families of both are said to live in Northwest Chicago and to be on friendly terms. Chicago police have been notified of the arrest, and the couple will be held awaiting instructions.

BRANCH OFFICES INCREASE BUSINESS

Pittsburg Steel Company to Add to Equipment at Rowe Mine.

The increase of business in the Northwest for the Pittsburg Steel company has been marked since it established a branch office in Duluth about one year ago, so marked in fact that the business of the company has proven not only a competitor but a very dangerous rival to other concerns in the same business in this territory. One prominent banker said today that the business, he believes, is indicative of what the Northwest expects in all lines for next year.

This company is otherwise connected in a business way with the Northwest. It is the lessee of the Rowe mine near Riverton, Minn., and expects to take out 500,000 tons of iron ore during the current year. It will also develop the equipment at the mine, being about to build a large concentrator. It uses its own ore at its works at Monessen, Pa. Its mills are working at about 100 per cent capacity owing to the large foreign business it enjoys.

It is understood that since the company opened its branch in Duluth its sales in this part of the country have increased to an unexpected extent, and that the management is more than pleased with results.

The company manufactures a great deal of wire, about 60 per cent of its entire product being that commodity. It also manufactures electrically welded fencing which is meeting with much popularity with the farmers of this part of the country.

In connection with this company an interesting item appeared in the financial columns of the Pittsburg Gazette Times a few days ago, and is as follows:

"The Pittsburg Steel company has sold to the Union Trust company of Pittsburg an issue of $5,000,000 6 per cent notes, of which $1,500,000 will mature on Jan. 1, 1918, $1,500,000 on Jan. 1, 1919, and $2,000,000 on Jan. 1, 1920. By this transaction the steel company provides for all of its indebtedness and also secures ample working capital. The Pittsburg Steel company agreed that its quick assets shall at all times be not less than the amount of the notes outstanding. The Union Trust company of Pittsburg will be the trustee under the indenture securing the notes."

INDIAN WOMAN GIVEN DIVORCE

Awarded $2,100 Cash Alimony and Forty Acres of Land.

For the first time in the last three years, a divorce was granted this morning to a woman of Indian blood, when Judge Cant of the district court gave Mrs Dulcie M. Connors a decree from Frank P. Connors, her husband, who is also of Indian descent.

The Connors were married under the law of the pale faces at Sawyer, Minn., April 15, 1912, and are residents of Carlton county. The woman told Judge Cant this morning that her husband had proved false and had been intimate with other women. She named one Julia Palmer of Superior as a co-respondent.

Judge Cant granted her a decree of divorce, $2,100 in cash alimony, all of the household goods and forty acres of land which she and her husband were owners of in common. G. A. E. Finlayson appeared in court as her attorney.

Organized Ball Says Feds Were Willing to Join Trust.

Chicago, Jan. 16.—Affidavits charging the Federal league, or at least influential members of it, with trying to come within the pale of organized ball, which now the independents are suing as a trust, and others purporting to show that the Federal league contracts contain equivalents of the ten-day and reserve clauses criticized, were among the two dozen documents given by the defendants' side, filed today.

The proposed terms of peace, which would have resulted, it was planned, in the union of the Federals and their rivals, are discussed in an affidavit filed by J. J. Lannin of the Boston Americans. He relates that the Wards, owners of the Brooklyn Federals, sought a peace pact under which they would have purchased the New York Americans and Charles Weeghman of the Chicago Federals would have taken over the Chicago Cubs.

Portions of the rules of the Federal league are cited in an affidavit by Stephen Cusack, a former Federal league umpire, to show the existence of a ten-day clause in the usual contract and also the reserve clause.

ELECTRICIAN REPORTS.

City Official Recommends Fire Alarm Boxes for Schools.

During 1914, E. E. Hough, city electrician granted 1,129 permits, made 3,239 inspections, improved many service boxes for the fire and police department and granted thirty-two licenses for the operation of motion picture machines, according to his annual report submitted yesterday to Commissioner Hicken.

In his report Mr. Hough suggests that the board of education purchase fire alarm boxes for the schools now without them and that they be connected directly with the fire department.

The city owns 102 miles and 2,468 feet of aerial wires used by all the departments, according to the report.

CHIEF MAKES WANTS KNOWN

New Fire Halls, Fire Boat and Other Equipment Asked.

Fire Loss of $255,964 for 1914 Exceeds 1913 Losses.

Recommending the construction of fire halls at the Woodland and Hazelwood park districts, the purchase of a fire boat, a triple-combination motor truck for the No. 2 station, a city service motor ladder, a new automobile for the chief and 2,000 feet of hose and the addition of six men to the force, Fire Chief Joseph Randall yesterday submitted to Commissioner Hicken the annual report of the fire department for 1914.

The report, which is Chief Randall's sixth since he has been at the head of the department, and the twenty-fifth in the history of the department, contains a detailed account of all the alarms, the number of fires, losses at each, the equipment at each station, the purchases made during the past year, recommendations for 1915 and a complete roster of the department.

During 1914, according to the report, the department answered a total of 512 alarms. There was a loss on buildings throughout the year of $133,325.76, on the contents $117,434.25, while the insurance, respectively, was $1,281,700 and $522,440. The uninsured loss for the twelve months was $16,120, while the exposure loss was $791.68. The property risked by fires is valued at $2,833,845.

The total fire loss for 1914 was slightly larger than 1913, the comparative figures being $256,964.25 and $252,746.21 respectively.

New Apparatus.

During 1914 there was added to the equipment two triple combination motor trucks, one aerial truck, one motor supply truck and one motor runabout. Three of the hose wagons and one of the hook-and-ladders were overhauled and repainted, while two steamers were sold.

In his report Chief Randall makes a most urgent appeal for a fire boat. He declares that the purchase of a boat has been recommended by the fire chiefs since 1897, but that none has yet been secured. The insurance rates, he states, will be greatly reduced by the purchase of this boat.

"Will only the total destruction of the large mercantile houses on the water front, or in the congested business district, awake us from our lethargy?" asks the chief in his report.

During the year the fire department expended a total of $150,991.67 for supplies and material and the maintenance of the buildings. Two members of the department died during the year, one, H. C. Rumpel of No. 2, having died while fighting a blaze in the West end. The other was George Shaw of No. 2, who passed away last December. There are 100 men connected with the entire department and eight with the salvage corps, according to the report.

In an inventory of the equipment Chief Randall estimates the total value of buildings, engines and supplies at $299,880.00.

AMERICAN MINISTER UNDER INVESTIGATION

JAMES M. SULLIVAN.

New York, Jan. 16.—James M. Sullivan, American minister to the Dominican republic, was pictured at the inquiry conducted by Senator-elect Phelan into his fitness to hold the post, as having been associated with interests who, for money consideration, would guarantee to obtain profitable contracts from the Dominican government.

E. Bright Wilson, attorney for C. D. Smith, a contractor of Memphis, Tenn., testified that his client had told him he had been approached with an offer of such a guarantee and had been told that Sullivan could make it possible for him to get road contracts in Santo Domingo that would net 30 per cent. The man who approached his client, he said, was William C. Beers, an attorney said to be associated with the Samuel M. Jarvis interests, who controlled the Banco Nacional at Santo Domingo. This is the institution which, it had been previously testified, had obtained the deposits of Dominican customs funds through Sullivan's influence.

WHAT A FIRELESS COOKER IS.

Helen Louise Johnson in Woman's World: Now, a fireless cooker is merely a box into which a supply of heat and given amount of food are placed together. The box is designed to retain the heat so that enough will combine with the food to complete a cooking process already begun, the heat being held either in the food alone or in the food plus heated discs. It is just this difference which makes the problem of cooking by this device difficult to some women, and this is where common sense comes in.

Let us take a fireless cooker and the food. Put the food in a suitable pan, and the pan in the cooker, and keep it there long enough to cook the food. What is a suitable pan? How long is long enough? How long does the food have to remain cooking on the stove in order to absorb sufficient heat before being put in that cooker to finish cooking?

Here is where common sense comes in, and the woman with it or with scientific training—either will do—takes the cooker and experiments with it and by and by regards it as her most helpful friend. But the woman without training or common sense after three failures gives up in despair, and discards the cooker, without discovering that she herself is to blame. For, from the best first hay box to the present perfected cooker, it has been the woman behind the cooker upon whom success depends.

The device itself consists of a round, square or oblong box, lined with metal. The box may be wood or metal, the insulating material asbestos, paper, sawdust, hay, cotton wool, lamb's wool, granulated cork or some other material. These vary in their insulating power, some being less satisfactory than others. There must be something to keep the heat retained in good material or heating discs from radiating and disappearing before it has done the desired work. Some of the best cookers now have enamel food containers to use in the metal-lined compartments in order to overcome one of the troubles resulting in loss of heat.

BILLY'S ACCOMPLISHMENTS.

Delineator: "I wish," said Freddie, plaintively, "I wish I was Billy Smith."

"Why, Freddie!" said his astonished mother, "Billy Smith has none of the nice things you have. He doesn't get any pocket money, and he isn't as big as you, and he's not nearly so strong. His father never buys him presents, or ——"

"I know all about that, mama," said Freddie, "but ——"

"And think what nice books you have. And you never have to go out in the cold and wet to carry papers, and ——"

"I know," grumbled Freddie, annoyed by his mother's strange lack of understanding. "But Billy kin wiggle his ears."

Official Reports on the Earthquake Are Now Being Received.

Avezzano, via Rome, Jan. 16.—Official reports regarding the extent of the earthquake disaster are now being received by the authorities. They concern towns and villages in the district in which Avezzano is located and thus far are as follows:

Paterno, completely destroyed except one house; 1,000 dead out of 5,800 inhabitants.

San Pelino, almost totally destroyed; 600 dead out of 1,600 inhabitants.

Scurcola, destroyed; number of victims not yet ascertained.

Villalago, 25 dead and 20 wounded.

Rajano, 4 dead.

Fratturo, near Scanno, 200 dead, 60 wounded.

Popoli, 5 dead, 10 wounded.

Pentima, 4 dead, 11 wounded.

Barrea, 9 dead, 20 wounded.

Villetta-Barrea, 3 dead.

The duke of Abruzzi arrived here last night and inspected the work of rescue. He visited every spot and gave such aid and advice as he could. He expressed the intention of visiting all the villages that had suffered, some of which are still cut off from communication. As an instance, news only reached here today that in the town of Pescasseroli many persons are buried in the wrecks of houses and that up to the present time 15 bodies had been taken out and 80 injured persons rescued.

A thrilling episode of the earthquake happened Friday at Capelle, just north of Avezzano, which village is in ruins. While the work of rescue was proceeding, the soldiers heard strange cries and, led by the sound, reached a spot where they found a woman buried under the debris with a new-born child. Both were extricated alive and uninjured and are doing well. A captain of carabineers who was among the rescuers asked to be the godfather of the child and suggested that the boy be called Terre Motino, meaning a small earthquake.

The catastrophe at Pescina, southeast of Avezzano, is growing in gravity. The victims, according to reports received from there, now number 4,500.

The whole village of Gioja de Marsi is reported destroyed. The number of victims there is not yet known.

At Colleroso there are 21 dead and at Antelpedio 40 persons were killed.

Policeman Kills Flirt.

Chicago, Jan. 16.—A man for whom the police had been searching for months as an alleged flirt was shot and killed by a policeman last night when he resisted arrest after having been caught annoying a woman. He was identified as Frank Singer, a gardener. When Singer was placed under arrest he knocked Policeman Charles Sweeney down. Sweeney drew his revolver and shot from the ground.

COLD WAVE AFTER STORM

Mercury Will Drop After Hard Blow and Heavy Snowfall.

The snow storm is over, but now Duluth will be hit with a cold wave that will shove the mercury down to anywhere from zero to 10 degs. below by tomorrow morning.

The gale that accompanied the heavy fall of snow yesterday afternoon and last night reached a velocity several times of from 36 to 38 miles an hour, coming from the northeast. There will be more of it, but very little snow, and by tonight the wind will have shifted to the northwest. The temperature this morning, when the reckoning was taken, was 25 degs. above zero. During the storm between 5 and 6 inches of snow fell, and the drifting was heavy.

The storm spread over the western end of Lake Superior, the Mississippi, Missouri and Ohio valleys and the Southwest. This part of the country got the most wind.

Avezzano, Capelle and Paterno razed and almost all inhabitants dead. Ecclesiastics some dead, some wounded. "A few villages in the diocese are immune but generally desolation reigns. It is an immense and distressing catastrophe."

The pope in reply to this distressing information, wired the following:

"Being the father of all the faithful, but first of the unfortunate, I am pierced with grief by this immense misfortune.

"I extend my arms to my unhappy children and am praying for peace for the dead and comfort for the survivors."

More wounded having been brought to the Santa Marta hospital, which is close to the Vatican, the pope again visited the patients there to comfort them. To each he gave a medal.

Col. George M. Dunn, the American military attache, motored to Avezzano and returned from that place last night. In speaking of what he had seen, he said:

Town Is Ruined.

"I never dreamed of such a horrible situation. The whole town is ruined as every house is down and only three stables remain intact. Churches, palaces and dwellings have crumbled to the ground. What once were streets are now full of debris to the height of six or seven feet.

"Within a short time the work of rescue will be useless as all those buried under the ruins will be dead. The entire population is extinguished, the people either being dead or wounded in hospitals.

"The dead in the ruins compose the greater percentage of the inhabitants. Over 10,000 were killed at Avezzano alone while the remainder of the population, about 1,000 persons, are practically injured. Very few escaped without wounds because every house collapsed at once and nobody had any chance to run out. Thus the hecatomb is worse than that of Messina as it occurred within thirty seconds."

tury ago, has never been satisfactorily solved, the exclusion laws need many admendments, not in purpose, but in prescribed method.

Hindu Propaganda.

"The Hindu propaganda, as yet in its infancy, is calculated to give much trouble unless promptly met with measures based upon and modeled to take advantage of our past experience in trying to arrange practicable and thorough, but at the same time unobjectionable plans for the protection of the country against an influx of aliens who can not be readily and healthfully assimilated by our body politic * * * It is only necessary to consider the history of immigration from Europe to realize how extensively Asiatic immigration may be cultivated and exploited, and what a menace to our economic conditions these possibilities may become."

Of immigration by way of the insular possessions, the commissioner says: "It will be observed that 15,512 aliens came to continental from insular United States during the last seven years—10,948 from Hawaii, 3,950 from Porto Rico, and 614 from the Philippines—and that of these 10,740 landed at San Francisco, 3,910 at New York, and 631 at Seattle."

Referring to Hawaii, the report says: "The thorough 'Americanization' of Hawaii is a matter which demands serious consideration and careful and prompt action. It never will be accomplished, in my judgment, under the present incomplete, haphazard methods. Condition should be made such as to invite the proper kind of laborers to go to Hawaii from our own country if possible, and laws should be enacted that would induce them to remain now to go to Avezzano and other towns to render assistance. Many women of the nobility, some of the latter Americans by birth, are working in hospitals and in the field.

The name of the Italian from America, who had just arrived at Avezzano Wednesday morning when he met his death in the collapse of the railroad station, was ascertained today to be Filippo Pratucci. He came from New York and his relatives had assembled at the railroad station to meet him when the destruction of the town began.

One report from Avezzano says that sixty bodies of girls have been found in the ruins of the girls' college.

the principle which would permit the local purchase of the entire German marine now interned at neutral ports and the government vessels thus acquired is inadmissable not only by British but by other points of view."

The Post thinks it highly probable that a prize court would condemn the Dacia and that this would produce an awkward situation.

Would End War.

"We have hunted the German mercantile marine from the sea," says the Standard, "and we are not bound to submit to its reappearance under a species of masquerade. Under a scheme which would permit the great German liners to become converted into armed enemy cruisers it is futile to tell us we might claim damage. We desire to bring the war to a speedy termination."

"This is a matter so essential to our safety that no compromise is possible. We earnestly hope the American government will veto this project, which was inspired in all probability with the intention of creating friction between Great Britain and America. If America abstains from giving us diplomatic aid and comfort in our struggle for existence, we should not allow her laws or the pecuniary interests of her citizens to be turned to the advantage of our adversary."

Insurance Refused.

Referring to the statement published here today that the American treasury department has refused to insure the steamer Dacia, formerly a German vessel, but now under American register, the Westminster Gazette this afternoon in an editorial article says:

"We may fairly take this as evidence that the United States recognizes the transfer of the Dacia as one which cannot be accepted silently by our government. This is much more than a question whether Germany is to get the cotton which naturally enough the United States wants to sell her. If the Dacia transfer were permitted, similar transfer might be made on all German ships in America. The result of this would be to deprive us of one of the advantages of sea power to which we believe we are legitimately entitled."

are also the approach of trenches, bomb-proofs and tunnels, which make up a modern "position-fight" line.

Story of a Pioneer.

What it means to be a pioneer is well told in a letter which has just been published in the German press. The writer explains that the division staff had thought it advisable to advance closer to the French trenches. Before this could be done a trench had to be dug; otherwise the infantry sent there would have been mowed down by the fire from the other side. The locality of the proposed trench lay between the French and German trenches.

"So we left the half-ruined little village on the banks of the canal, reached the highway, and labored through the deep mud and around the holes blown in the ground by the shells," continues the pioneer. "About us hummed bullets which seemed to have lost their way, and the spades beat gently against the rifles.

"After wading through muddy fields we crossed a pontoon bridge, upon which our steps resounded in dull concussions. Later we entered along the sphere of the English bullets, and had to get into the ditch along the road to escape them. After that we crossed more muddy fields, crept through barbed-wire fences, and finally reached the spot.

Worked Like Maniacs.

"There we deployed and went to work. It had started to rain again, and the ground we worked in became softer than it had been. We worked like maniacs to get cover against the fire of the enemy. Though it was dark the bullets hit the wall of a nearby house like hail.

"After a while the fire grew worse. 'Lay down!' came the command. We rested soft enough in the mud, but there was a nasty smell about it. For ten minutes we waited in this position, and then resumed our work. Some of the ground we were on had been filled in, it seemed, for after a while we hit a layer of brick fragments which seriously retarded our progress.

"The trench we were digging was only 180 to 200 feet from the trench of the enemy, some of the bravest of whom had perched themselves in the crowns of some willow trees and were popping away at us.

"But a whiter thunderstorm came to our aid; its downpour caused the ardor of the men in the trees to cool.

Projectiles on Both Sides.

"We kept on with our work to the accomplishment of the incessant heavy artillery fire from both sides. Now and then the bombardment would develop into a long, rolling cannonade. Shrieking and howling, the projectiles rushed through the air above us, to explode on either side with terrific crashes.

"Meanwhile we had buried ourselves well in the earth, and when the rain ceased and the bullets began again to come from the willow trees they could no longer molest us. With loud splashes they hit the soft loam about us, but we were below the level of the parapet we had thrown up.

"Another half hour and our work was done. With not a dry thread on our bodies, and covered with mud from head to foot, we returned to our quarters, accompanied by the humming of the bullets which sped about us.

"Now, there were stars in the clear sky—the same stars as at home. But they look upon a different scene. To the right of us a searchlight lit up the ruins of destroyed towns and villages in sharp contrasts. I thank God that such a fate has been spared my home."

DEADLOCK BETWEEN GREAT ARMIES BROKEN

the reasons for Emperor William's presence at the front during the fighting near Soissons, suggest that Gen. von Kluck, either requested the emperor to come and inspire enthusiasm among the weary troops, or else felt so sure of his ability to force back the French over the river that he desired to have the emperor witness the victory. A third theory is that Emperor William is visiting various points along the western front, feeling out the situation with a view to selecting the most likely spot for an attempt to break through in the spring.

Planning New Offensive.

Dispatches reaching London today assert that the Germans have not abandoned hope of reaching Calais and are planning a new offensive in Belgium and Northern France. According to these advices, train after train loaded with troops is moving into Flanders. They say the German soldiers hope to present Calais to Emperor William for a birthday present.

Only a small fraction of the British military writers profess to see in the German advance at Soissons any new threat to Paris. They pay more attention, however, to the cumulative indications that the Turks have determined to attempt an invasion of Egypt. The Turks would have to reckon with not only the British troops, but with warships which would be able to share in the work of opposing the invaders, operating in the Suez canal, off Akabah, Arabia and at other points.

Aware of the fact that it is less difficult to cross the desert in winter than in summer, the Turks are said to be massing troops with all possible speed south of Syria.

Latest advices relative to the prospective Austro-German attack on Servia say that Bavarians and Prussians are on the way to Budapest to effect a junction with the remnants of the four or five Austrian army corps which suffered so severely at the hands of the Servians.

French Statement.

Paris, Jan. 16, 2:45 p. m.—The French war office this afternoon gave out an official statement as follows:

"In Belgium yesterday there was artillery fighting in the region of Nieuport, and in the vicinity of Ypres.

"From the Lys to the Somme: At Notre Dame de Loretto, near Carency, the enemy exploded a portion of the trenches he lost to us Jan. 14. At Ehlangy, near Arras, we have continued to make progress. The enemy delivered an energetic attack, preceded by a violent artillery fire on our positions to the west of La Boisselle. This attack was repulsed.

"Along the entire front from the Somme to the Meuses no infantry engagements were reported yesterday. In the sectors of Soissons and of Reims our artillery obtained noticeable advantage at several different points, such as the scattering of a contingent that was about to reassemble, causing an explosion in a German battery; the destruction of field works.

"In the Argonne there was yesterday a rather determined artillery attack on our positions at Fonetaine Madame.

"From the Argonne to the Vosges: We checked completely a spirited attack of the enemy, directed against our trenches at Flirey, and the Germans evacuated the crest of the hill to the north of Clemery, east of Pont-a-Mousson. This they were compelled to do by the fire of our artillery.

"In the section of the Vosges there were artillery exchanges on all the front. There was also some heavy rifle firing, particularly at Tete de Faux.

"In Upper Alsace there was no change."

Russian Report.

Petrograd, Jan. 16.—The following communication from the general staff of the Russian commander-in-chief was issued last night:

"On the eve of the first day of the Russian New Year, and on the following day (Jan. 14, new style) a comparative calm prevailed on all the fronts. The Germans made some unimportant attacks on our advanced columns in the region of Loetzen, East Prussia. They failed and retreated toward their position after having suffered heavy losses.

"On the right bank of the Lower Vistula river on Jan. 14 we continued pressing the German cavalry, which was supported by some small bodies of infantry. The German troops which we had driven from Sierpec, Russian Poland, twenty miles south of the West Prussian frontier, occupied the fords of the Skrwa river, but were unable to hold them. Under our pressure they continued falling back northward.

"On the left bank of the Vistula, the Germans made their customary attacks against some sections of our front, especially against our line from Bourjimow to Rawa. They failed everywhere."

population affected appears to be much higher, due, it seems, to the dry construction of buildings that was almost universal throughout the stricken district. Messina had 76,483 dead and 95,470 injured; present reports indicate 20,000 deaths and twice as many injured in this catastrophe.

The only buildings not leveled by this earthquake were the few made with reinforced concrete.

The absence of foreigners in the district now devastated is another point of difference between this 'quake and the last.

All Dead Italians.

Not only were the American consul and his wife killed at Messina, but a long list of tourists from the United States were reported missing in addition to travelers from other countries. Not one not an Italian has yet been reported as injured or missing in the present disaster.

Up to the present time the Italian government has declined financial assistance, but this has not prevented unofficial aid of all kinds. Mrs. Thomas Page, wife of the United States ambassador, has contributed $500 to a fund being raised and other American women are following suit. Mrs. Page also heads a committee of American women who are working for the sufferers.

All supplies and money received will be handled by the central relief committee in Rome. The gratitude of the Italians for aid tendered by the Americans is profound and the automobiles used by members of the embassy in visiting the devastated area are greeted everywhere enthusiastically.

Ambassador Page Active.

The duke of Abruzzi is now touring the central portion of Italy, carrying supplies where possible and doing all in his power to aid the victims. Ambassador Page plans today or tomorrow to go to Avezzano and other towns to render assistance. Many women of the nobility, some of the latter Americans by birth, are working in hospitals and in the field.

The name of the Italian from America, who had just arrived at Avezzano Wednesday morning when he met his death in the collapse of the railroad station, was ascertained today to be Filippo Pratucci. He came from New York and his relatives had assembled at the railroad station to meet him when the destruction of the town began.

One report from Avezzano says that sixty bodies of girls have been found in the ruins of the girls' college.

Philippines Too Distant.

"The Philippines are too distant to be used with the same facility and frequency as Porto Rico and Hawaii as stepping-stones to the United States, nevertheless the Philippines are open to be used (and the attempt has already been seriously made so to use them) by aliens who would be excluded at our home ports as likely to become public charges to gain the advantage of being examined at a port where, on the assumption that they entered—as they usually do not—to remain in the Philippines, they will not be so closely scrutinized or required to come up to so high a standard as would be the case were they applying at a mainland port."

The last fiscal year has indicated, the report states, that immigration "has apparently reached the million mark permanently and unless some affirmative action is taken by the Federal government to restrict, or steps are taken by European and other nations to reduce the steady stream of persons leaving the various countries of the old world, we need hardly expect that the number annually entering the United States hereafter will fall far below 1,000,000."

The net increase in population by immigration was 769,276, the report shows, as against 815,303 in 1913, and 401,863 in 1912. A total of 1,218,480 persons actually were admitted, but alien emigration from the United States was 633,805. During the year also, 12,494 physically defective and 1,274 mentally deficient persons were debarred from entry. Those debarred as liable to become public charges numbered 15,745, or 48 per cent of all those denied entry. A total of 2,288 persons were deported during the year as immoral, criminal or anarchists. The number of white slaves or slavers sent out of the country was 1,340.

New Employment Bureau.

The report devotes considerable space to the recently created employment bureau for the distribution of labor, inaugurated by Mr. Caminetti with the co-operation of the postoffice and agricultural departments, and along the lines referred to by President Wilson in his Indianapolis speech. The vital necessity of the plan is publicity, the report says, and already much has been accomplished. Efforts to enlist the aid of the press will be continued, it is stated, and it is hoped "a new department of information as important in a news sense as that recording the daily reports of the weather bureau may be created by the press for the benefit of its patrons" with the publication of opportunities for employment in the district in which each paper circulates.

The report urged the enactment of some of the rural credit measures before congress which contemplates placing at the disposal of the labor department a fund to be used in the distribution of labor to farming communities and in aiding such laborers to obtain farms of their own. It is suggested the head tax collected from aliens might be constituted into such a fund and also that the government land in various reclamation projects and elsewhere be employed to furnish the desired opportunities.

For the greater efficiency of the border patrols of the immigration service, Mr. Caminetti recommends that a signal corps similar to the army corps be established with properly equipped stations along the borders and coast lines which would co-operate with customs officials against smugglers whether of goods or of aliens.

GERMAN WAR LOAN GOES ABOVE PAR.

Berlin, Jan. 12, via The Hague and London, 11:30 a. m.—The German war loan of 4,500,000,000 marks ($1,125,000,000), which was issued at 97½, reached par on the Berlin bourse yesterday. The tendency of these war loan bonds had been upward for some time, but it had not been expected that par would be reached so soon. In some cases the quotation was higher than 100.

The effect of this rise was felt generally. Trading among foreign stocks responded, particularly Baltimore & Ohio.

USUAL DISPUTE ON THE NUMBER KILLED.

London, Jan. 16.—The official announcement given out in Berlin yesterday, relating the capture of 5,200 French troops at Soissons and saying further that from 4,000 to 5,000 French dead were found after the battle, concludes with the unusual assertion, "This is the truth."

A wireless dispatch from Paris, copied in London, categorically denies these German figures. It says the French troops engaged in the Sossions battle were less than three brigades, and that consequently the Berlin figures cannot be correct.

SAVED FROM "BLIGHT OF $10,000 ANNUITY."

Louisville, Ky., Jan. 16.—That Philip Ewald, 19 years old, freshman in the University of Wisconsin, might be saved from "the blight of a $10,000 annuity," Judge Samuel P. Kirby, in an opinion yesterday in chancery court, ordered the trustee of the estate of the late L. P. Ewald, millionaire iron master of Louisville, to retain a block of stock in the Ewald Iron company left young Ewald in his father's will. Under the will Philip Ewald, when he reaches the age of 21, is to receive an annuity of $10,000 and at 25 an annuity of $15,000.

Judge Kirby based his opinion in part upon the ability of the trustee, by engaging young Ewald in business, to save him from "the blight of a $10,000 annuity, which any student of human nature could see would result to a boy of 21." He said the value of the stock, compared with the good to be accomplished, is not to be considered.

Young Ewald objected to his share of the stock being sold and is taking a special course at the university with a view of fitting himself to engage in the business of his father.

LIGHT TALKS DRAW CROWDS

Nearly 250 Hear Speakers on 6-Cent Rate at French Hall.

"6-Cent" Ordinance Wins in Straw Vote By 47 to 5.

Last night's big blizzard, which developed into a gale, failed to keep the crowds away from the various meetings scheduled by the two forces in the present electric lighting controversy.

There were nearly 250 persons present at the meeting of the French Naturalization club, in the French hall, where addresses on the 6-cent ordinance were delivered by Ray M. Hughes, chairman of the Citizens' Referendum committee, John H. Norton and C. L. Hood.

At a meeting of the Duluth Benevolent society, held in the organization's rooms at 431 East Fourth street, a straw vote taken during the evening resulted in forty-seven ballots being cast for the 6-cent ordinance and but five votes for the alternative measure. Addresses were delivered by Joe Kreager, who spoke in behalf of the 6-cent rate and Gus Maussen, who made an address on the 4-cent proposition.

Dr. D. H. Day and Mayor Prince made addresses in behalf of the M. O. league at the meeting of the Lakeside Brotherhood in the Lakeside Presbyterian church. William Burgess and Neil Beaton spoke for the referendum committee.

At the Bryant school mass meeting addresses were delivered by W. E. McEwen, A. G. McKnight, Rev. J. J. Daniels and Andrew Nelson, while Richard M. Funck and G. W. C. Ross spoke at the Merritt Memorial M. E. church meeting.

LIGHT FIGHT TO END MONDAY

Opposing Forces Will Make Final Appeal at Mass Meetings.

Armory and Woodman Hall Will Be Scenes of Action.

Although the biggest meeting of the electric lighting campaign will be held this evening at the Auditorium, where the two forces will hold a public debate, the fight will not come to a close until Monday night, the eve of election.

This morning the announcement was made by both sides that public mass meetings will be held Monday evening at the Armory, where the Municipal Ownership league will make its last stand, and at the Woodman hall in the West end, where the Citizens' Referendum committee will make its last appeal to the voters of Duluth.

Ray M. Hughes, chairman of the Citizens' Referendum committee, John Jenswold, Jr., John H. Norton and C. L. Hood will speak at the Woodman hall meeting, while A. E. McManus, W. E. McEwen, Dr. D. H. Day, A. G. McKnight and Richard Funck will address the voters at the meeting in the Armory. Both meetings will begin at 8 o'clock and will be open to the public.

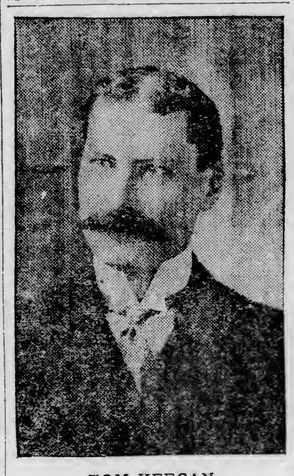

All arrangements for the big debate this evening have been completed by the two forces. A. E. McManus will open the debate for the M. O. league, while John Jenswold, Jr., will follow. Watson S. Moore will be the third speaker and Ray M. Hughes will close the direct argument. The speakers will then reverse the order in the rebuttal. Judge William A. Cant will act as chairman at the debate.

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES

Formation of Cadet Corps Holds Attention of Central Students—Two Companies May Be Organized If Board Approves Plan—Lamb's Club Plans Activities—School Creamery Is Big Producer.

The all-important subject of discussion at Central high school during the last week was the formation of a cadet corps. After considerable discussion both for and against the formation of such an organization, about 100 boys assembled Tuesday afternoon and took the preliminary steps in the formation of the Central High School Cadet corps. At the next meeting of the board of education the official sanction of that body will be sought. If the board approves the work will be pushed rapidly and drilling will be commenced in the very near future. The drilling will be held first in the school gymnasium and later in the Armory and will be under the supervision of C. C. Jones of the Aad patrol. It is rumored that a citizen of Duluth, interested in the matter, may donate the suits and the rifles will probably be obtained from the government. One of the features of the drilling will be the target practice, which will be held, in all probability, on the local rifle range. Kenneth Jones is receiving more applicants every day and it is possible that two companies will be formed.

Plans are already being made for the senior play, but no definite date has been decided upon. Yesterday the members of the English department, together with several students, met and decided upon the play to be given this year. After an exciting discussion it was decided to present "She Stoops to Conquer." The coach will be chosen very soon and active preparations will begin. The preliminary tryouts will take place early in the second semester. The candidates will be tested in all kinds of reading and action and those that show up to the best advantage will win places and appear in the cast. Mr. Rasey, the new member of the English department, is very much interested in this work and his aid will undoubtedly prove very valuable.

The newly-formed Lambs' Dramatic club held its regular bi-weekly meeting yesterday. The feature of the program was an address by Mr. De Stephani, a member of the local Baldwin stock company. He explained the formation and the functions of the famous Lambs' Dramatic club of New York, after which the local organization was named. He also dwelt on his many peculiar experiences as an actor and explained the change in taste of the modern theater patrons. The club will attempt to secure Mr. De Stephani at an early date to address the students on the art of acting, as his talk yesterday proved exceptionally interesting and helpful. The local club is considering the production of several plays during the year, and a coach will soon be selected. Mr. Rasey is the guiding hand from the faculty.

During the chapel period yesterday morning Galen Pearsons on behalf of the Athenaeum Literary society challenged the Stump to a debate. Through the president, Irving Groover, the latter club accepted the challenge and the contest will take place Feb. 19. The question will be: "Resolved, That the Municipalities Should Own and Operate Their Own Street Railway Systems." There are some excellent debators on both sides, and the affair should be an exceptionally interesting one.

The Thalian Mathematical society held its regular meeting following the close of school Thursday. Mr. Young spoke to the members on some very interesting subjects. He told of the applications to which different machines have been put, and showed the boys the remarkable accuracy of certain scientific apparatus. Tis talk was unusually interesting and was well received by the members.

The officers of the society are considering the organization of a scientifical society and to have it combine with the Thalian club. All those, both students and teachers, who have been interviewed on the subject, appear enthusiastic, and they all hope that such an organization may soon be formed. Fred Bates and Charles Romieux have started a campaign to get the students interested in the matter, and they have already secured a large number who would like to join. Mr. Phillips of the science department thinks that such an organization would fill a long-felt want.

Butter making has been holding the attention of the agricultural boys during the past week, and the work has passed all expectations in popularity. Everyone spends considerable time in the creamery every day, and even on Saturdays there is a lot of fellows working. An exact list of the number of pounds made to date has been compiled by Prof. Gibson, the head of the department. He had expected that about one thousand pounds would be made during the year, but as the total to date is already 584 pounds, the final total will far surpass that estimate. Many Duluth people use this butter and the fame of the brand is rapidly spreading.

Monday morning, Dr. Barker of Washington, D. C., will address the students in the assembly hall.

The freshmen class meeting is billed for Monday afternoon.

The Central girls' basket ball team has been formed and is preparing for an active season. Their first game was with the Proctor Y. W. C. A. last evening. The following girls are on the team: Harriet Kugler and Edna Mortenrud, forwards; Marion Lutes, center; Ila Whitcside and Ruth Fisher, guards; Beatrice Henley and Anna Bonds, substitutes.

All contributions to the Zenith should be almost ready by this time as they will have to be handed in not later than Feb. 1. The contributions to the junior section were collected to Jacob Garon, the editor, yesterday. All pictures for the annual should be taken during the next few days in order that they may be in the Zenith. The Zenith board held a meeting Tuesday and were to have been addressed by Mr. Rankin of the printing department, but his talk will be delivered at the next meeting.

STORM CUTS ATTENDANCE.

About Fifty Present at Light Meeting at Munger School.

The storm kept down the attendance at the meeting held at the Munger school, Twelfth avenue east and Eighth street, last night, but about fifty turned out to hear discussions on the lighting problem. The meeting was held under the auspices of the Munger Improvement club, and President C. G. Firoved acted as chairman. Speakers for the Municipal Ownership league and the Referendum committee spoke.

S. F. Snively opened the discussion for the M. O. league, and he was followed by W. B. Henderson, who spoke for the 6-cent ordinance. Attorney J. H. Brigham, who followed Mr. Henderson, advocated the program outlined by the M. O. league.

EXPLAINING THE BALLOT

City Clerk Sending Out Letters to Correct Misunderstandings.

Those Registered for November Election May Vote Without Affidavit.

Duluth voters do not seem to understand the ballots to be voted on at the special election next Tuesday and City Clerk Palmer is today preparing an explanatory letter, which will be sent to the judges of all election districts in the city.

Many voters, according to the city clerk, do not know that they cast a double vote, one on the proposed West Duluth unit and the other on the 4-cent or 6-cent ordinances. He said this morning that the belief has spread that if a voter casts a ballot for the unit plant, he cannot vote on the ordinances. These voters have been misinformed and as a result the explanatory letters are being prepared.

At the election Tuesday all those who registered for the November election may cast a ballot. It does not matter if a voter failed to vote last fall, as long as he registered.

Those who did not register last year will have to sign affidavits before they will be given a ballot at the election Tuesday. This can be done by having two property holders sign a statement declaring that the voter has lived in his district for a period exceeding thirty days. A voter, who has moved to another district since last November, will be compelled to register again, City Clerk Palmer said.

EPIDEMICS THREATENED

Prevalence of Scarlet Fever and Smallpox Worries Inspector.

A new scarlet fever epidemic has broken out and included among the victims are a number of Central high school pupils.

The epidemic was discovered yesterday among several East end families, in one of which four children are now down with the disease. Health Director Webster said that he believes all the cases have been reported, but has asked that all parents carefully examine their children and keep them at home, if the children complain of sore throats or have slight rashes on their faces and bodies. These are usual symptoms of scarlet fever, he said this morning.

In addition to the discovery of a mild scarlet fever epidemic, Dr. Webster said this morning that several cases of smallpox have also been found and that the situation is getting serious, because of the fact that there are about 200 cases outside Duluth and there is a great possibility of the disease being spread to this city.

Langdon, N. D., Jan. 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—Purchasers of state lands in Cavalier county who are delinquent in their interest payments are being interviewed by Charles Gunkel, a special agent of the land department. Many tracts of the state school lands were sold. The interest goes to the state institutions and just now all are short of funds because of reduced revenue. For this reason a special effort is being made to secure the back interest.

THINGS THE PEOPLE SHOULD KNOW

NOBODY KNOWS definitely either the COST of the proposed lighting system or the RATE at which the city could sell its inferior current.

The United States census reports show that from 1902 to 1912 MUNICIPAL electric PLANTS INCREASED their RATES until they were 72% higher than those of privately owned plants.

Duluth is already PAYING INTEREST on a $6,000,000 indebtedness, of which $3,400,000 was caused by MUNICIPAL OWNERSHIP.

Manager Reed of the Water and Light Department made these comparisons of City Maximum Water Rates:

Minneapolis	6c per 100 cubic feet
Milwaukee	5c per 100 cubic feet
Detroit	5c per 100 cubic feet
Buffalo	5c per 100 cubic feet
DULUTH .....15c per 100 cubic feet

When you ask for electric service EXTENSIONS the private company gives them.

When you ask for extensions of the gas and water service the city demands GUARANTEE, and then wind you up in RED TAPE.

CITY WATER COSTS YOU 30 TIMES WHAT IT COSTS THE CITY TO PUT IT IN THE RESERVOIRS — YOU PAY 15 CENTS PER 100 CUBIC FEET—THE CITY HALF A CENT.

A city electric plant would be dependent on the same management which now handles the water and gas service.

COMMISSIONER MERRITT said on Sept. 16, 1913, that the Water and Light Department ran behind $12,000 the previous year.

The M. O. League proposes to give you a CURRENT (25-cycle) which ITS OWN ENGINEERS declared UNSATISFACTORY (See Page 8, Pillsbury & Claussen Report) and which experienced electricians also condemn.

The new Water & Light Department report shows that $74,101.60 of the department's income for 1914 CAME FROM THE CITY'S TAX FUND.

In the same year the Duluth - Edison Company PAID OVER $15,000 INTO THE CITY'S TAX FUNDS.

WHO RUNS THE CITY HALL?
The CITIZENS asked for the privilege of voting on the Unit Plant Ordinance, and THE COUNCIL REFUSED them.
The M. O. LEAGUE asked for the city's addressograph and GOT IT.

The LIGHT which the M. O. league proposes to furnish you WOULD FLICKER so that you could not bear to READ, WRITE or SEW by it for more than one hour or two at a time.

ONLY TWO CITIES in the United States are TRYING to sell electric light for less than 6c per K. W. H., and in BOTH of these THE DEFICIT is made up each year by general TAXATION.

NO ELECTRICAL MOTOR

now run by current supplied by the Electric Company COULD BE OPERATED with the proposed city plant.

The proposed city current WOULD NOT OPERATE your electric iron, fan, toaster, washing machine, sewing machine, motor, cash register, OR ANY OTHER PIECE of electrical machinery you now own.

ONE WORKINGMAN'S EXPERIENCE

Municipal Ownership began in Duluth in 1897. In that year a Mr. X., a Carpenter, paid taxes on his home amounting to ..... $ 9.07

In 1913 he had to pay taxes amounting to 15.90

His house is twenty-seven years old and has not been added to since 1896. Yet his TAXES HAVE INCREASED OVER 60%.

(You can verify this by the county auditor's records for the North 30 feet of the South 120 feet of Lots 333 and 335, Duluth Proper, Second Division.)

Total city tax levy, 1897 $372,586.82

Total city tax levy, 1914 $863,831.42

Have YOUR taxes increased in the same proportion?

A CITY PLANT MEANS ANOTHER FOREST OF POLES IN THE CITY STREETS.

The M. O. League FOOLED most of the people with the $700,000 bond issue; it TRIED TO FOOL THEM again with the 25-cycle current, and it IS TRYING TO FOOL THEM now with the Unit Plant idea.

IF THE 6-CENT ORDINANCE PASSES, you will begin to SAVE 25% ON YOUR ELECTRIC LIGHTS THE DAY AFTER ELECTION.

VOTE NO (X) ON UNIT PLANT ORDINANCE!

ONE LONE MAN AND FIVE WOMEN IN CAST OF NEXT LITTLE THEATER PLAY

Shirt, Left Uncalled for in Laundry, Appeals to Romantic Nature of Little Laundry Girl, But Her Dream of Love Is Shattered

MRS. WILLIAM PITT ABBOTT.

One man, who by the way owns a shirt—perhaps we should say two shirts, as he allows one to stay at the laundry for a long time, and five women compose the cast of "'Op o' Me Thumb" that will be presented by the Drama league at the Little theater Friday evening, Jan. 29. The brave man is J. B. Crane and the less brave women are Mrs. William Pitt Abbott, Miss Frances Swift, Miss Amy Walker, Miss Esther Coffin and Miss Marjorie Morrow.

There is nothing about Mr. Crane's shirt, left so long uncalled for at the laundry, to indicate he is an Adonis, or a Don Quixote, or anything else out of the ordinary, but as the leading lady, Mrs. Abbott, just must have a little of the romance she is starving for, she dreams of the unknown owner of the shirt until he possesses all the qualities of the regulation matinee doll. Soap suds, bluing, starch and irons are not generally supposed to be conducive to love. Even Laura Jean Libby never advised one of the broken hearted maidens who write to her, to go into laundry work to mend affairs of the heart, but even a smelly laundry cannot take the starch out—beg pardon—the love out of the play, "'Op o' Me Thumb."

After the poor little laundry girl has worshiped the shirt until it is a coat of mail, the owner appears. He is a "rough-neck," but she swallows her disappointment and persuades him to take her out just one evening so she may show the other girls that she, too, can have such a thing as romance in her work-a-day existence.

And then, O cruel fate, that unfeeling owner of the shirt breaks the engagement without so much as sending violets or having someone telephone he has been run over by a taxi. And then the poor little soul-starved laundry girl weeps until the fall of the curtain.

PRACTICAL CHARITY WORK BEING CONDUCTED BY KING'S DAUGHTERS

Operating Sewing Shop, Making Garments for Red Cross, at West End—Needy Women Getting Employment—Cash Needed.

A work of pratical charity is being conducted by the King's Daughters in the shape of a sewing shop at the West end, which employs twenty-four needy women, paying them living wages. The shop opened on Jan. 11 at Twenty-ninth avenue west and Superior street, in a room of the F. A. Patrick company's factory, the room being donated by the company.

It is said that in every case the women employed have depending upon them children, or a disabled husband, or somebody for whom they must furnish whatever is necessary. The King's Daughters have been aided much in the work of investigation by the Associated Charities and the free employment bureau.

A great deal of work is being done, there being fifteen sewing machines installed, and since the shop opened twenty-two dozen, or 264 single garments have been completed. The garments on which the women work are hospital shirts, made after a pattern approved by the Red Cross society, to which organization they will be donated.

In speaking about the necessity of help in the way of cash, one of the members of the King's Daughters, who is interested in the shop, said:

No Money Wasted.

"Both the Singer and the White Sewing Machine companies have very generously donated the use of sewing machines. All general expense is thus eliminated and of each dollar spent about one-third goes for labor and two-thirds for material.

"A considerable sum was realized from the carnival given at the Auditorium on Dec. 3, and it is this money that makes this work possible. It is disappearing rapidly and as soon as it is exhausted, the work must stop unless additional funds are furnished.

"There has never been a time in the history of the world when there was so much of Red Cross work as now; there has never been a time in the history of Duluth when employment, as distinguished from ordinary charity, was so much needed by willing and self-respecting but unfortunate women as today.

"It is hoped and believed by the King's Daughters society of Duluth that there are many citizens who will feel it a privilege to contribute to this work. To all such we say that contributions of money will be welcome and will be used to further this work. We cannot use garments or anything except money in this work. The work will stop when funds are exhausted and once stopped, can probably not be started again.

"This is a unique opportunity to help the Red Cross work and assist the needy of your own town, a case of giving away your money and keeping it. Checks may be sent to Miss Lucile Bradley, 2231 East First street, or to Miss Margery Congdon, 3300 London road.

During the month of January I will make all Gowns and Suits To Order at Reduced Prices.

OBSERVATIONS

By PEGGY PEABODY

Parents Should Be Strong Morally.

Men expect, nay, demand in women all the virtues that they cross off the list of those to which they feel it is necessary to give some attention, perhaps because they are those that are most difficult to keep intact. They have looked upon women in the past as weak and frail and not capable of anything intellectually. In fact, it is within a comparatively short time that women have been able to demonstrate their abilities in the least, other than catering to the desires of men and in mothering children.

Though men may look to certain women for their inspirations, I still maintain that men are responsible for the increase in drinking, smoking and gambling which are said to have the fair sex in their toils. A man would not tolerate the idea of his wife or daughter drinking or gambling or toying with cigarettes, but on the other hand he has been known to encourage these vices in some other man's wife or daughter or sister.

The average woman does not drink by herself or among her own sex, but usually in the companionship of some man for the "sake of sociability," as they tell about. When she does drink alone, for the mere love of drinking, she has probably inherited the taste from some drink-loving ancestor, perhaps a father or a grandfather.

Why should a man expect a woman, who is made of the same poor clay, and of even a poorer quality, if we are to be governed by the position assigned women from the beginning by the lords of the universe, to be better and stronger morally than they are themselves—and inferior in every other particular.

Why should a woman condone things in the prospective father of her children that he would not condone in her, or she in any poor, frail member of her sex?

Is it possible that any woman believes that there is justice in this division of the sexes that man's law has brought about? Why one code that makes possible all sorts of free and easy morals for one and a most rigid code for the other? Does any man believe that by choosing some wonderfully fine type of womanhood for wife and as mother of his children he can escape the consequences of his own easy virtues? Never, for every father is as responsible for his children as the mother, and his influence is as strong to make them or mar them as hers.

We are in need of the same moral qualities in the father as in the mother, if we would insure a strong moral race of men and women in the future.

Coming to Duluth with the St. Paul artists will be Mrs. Warren S. Briggs, president of the Schubert club, the oldest musical club in Minnesota. Mrs. Briggs has been president of that organization for about nine years, and is state correspondent for Musical America. She is influential in musical circles in Minnesota and has been active in building up the Schubert club, the membership of which has risen from 500 to 1,200 in the last two years. This increase was due partly to the introduction of the special membership feature that originated in the Matinee Musicale. The special membership provides a half-rate fee for women who, on account of business, are unable to attend the afternoon concerts but who can attend the evening performances.

Following the concert Monday afternoon there will be a tea in the vestry room of the church that all members of the Matinee Musicale are urged to attend. Receiving with the president, Mrs. G. S. Richards, and the members of the executive board will be the St. Paul guests. The members of the hospitality committee, of which Mrs. C. A. Duncan is the chairman, will be in charge of the social part of the afternoon.

POEM BY MISS D'AUTREMONT

The following poem by Miss Marie d'Autremont of 1401 East First street appeared in the January number of "American Cookery":

A sea shell lay on a lonely beach
At the foot of a rocky cave,
And sang in its soul the mystery
Of its life on the ocean wave,
A mystical song of the sea.

A man passed by, and listening, heard
The shell's low melody,
And said as he thought with a bitter smile
Of the ships he had lost at sea,
"I hate the song of the sea."

A child paused next in his careless play
To hear the murmuring shell
And said as he failed to understand
The message it had to tell,
"I fear the song of the sea."

A poet came and inclined his ear
To the song of the shell by the sea,
And cried aloud with his heart on fire,
"This is the ocean's harmony,
And I love the song of the sea."

KNITTING FOR THE SOLDIERS

Duluth Society Has Not Yet Taken to Knitting in Public, But It Is No Uncommon Sight in the East.

"Why didn't you come to our box party last night?" asked one New Yorker to his friend, according to an exchange.

"Sorry, old chap, but we couldn't make it," was the reply. "You see my wife could not find the sock she knits between acts for the needy of Europe."

Before Christmas it was impossible to tell, without a point-blank question, whether the woman next you at a lecture, recital or play was knitting a present for her best friend or was working on gifts for next Christmas, and there are few women who knit for themselves. If you see a woman busy with long needles you may decide she is laboring for soldiers or other war sufferers.

A St. Paul woman accused the women of her city of a lack of sympathy for the poor of Europe. This rebuke was given after she returned from the East, where the knitting needles are clicking energetically. Now the St. Paul women who have much leisure are spending all their spare time knitting socks, wristlets and helmets for the Belgians. Some take their work to the theater and knit between acts, several worked during a Wagnerian symphony orchestra and a weekly knitting bee is held by one enthusiast.

Not Common Here.

Knitting for soldiers has not been taken up in Duluth, at least not in public. There may be some women who make socks to send to Europe, but they do not take their needles and balls of yarn to club meetings and the theater.

Just when the knitting craze will strike Duluth it is impossible to say, and it may strike hard when it comes. If so, let it be hoped the enthusiasts will make man-size articles and will not follow the example of the woman who, when told it would be impossible to find a soldier who could wear the size socks she had knit, replied, "Well, I couldn't make them a bit larger. If I had done so they would have violated all my ideas of the artistic."

The art of knitting, fine or domestic as you wish to consider it, is said to have been invented during the Fifteenth century. It is not known where it originated but, like many great persons, it is claimed by several countries. Some say France, others Scotland, and still others Spain is the birthplace of knitting. Other persons who have made a study of the subject say the Spaniards learned it from the Moors, who were taught by the Arabs.

Knitted woolen caps are mentioned in an act of parliament of Henry VII of England, and "knitte pulcotes, knitte gloves, knitte slieves and knitte hose" are enumerated in the act of parliament of Edward VI. The trade of hosiers is included in an act of 1563.

The First Knitted Stockings.

It is said knitted stockings were introduced into England by a young man who saw a pair in a shop window on the continent and who presented a pair just like them to the Earl of Pembroke.

Queen Elizabeth, who was fond of knitting encouraged the industry.

Before the introduction of woolen stockings into England, coverings for the feet and legs were made of cloth. It was not long after hand knitting was taken up in that country before William Lee, a graduate of Cambridge, invented the knitting frame. This was in 1589, but there have been no changes in the essential features in the machinery for knitting stockings.

EFFECT ON HOUSEHOLD

Twenty-Five Cycle Current Would Have Very Serious Effect.

Useless for Motors Now Generally in Use in the City.

"What would be the effect of a 25-cycle current, such as the city commissioners propose for the unit plant, upon the motors now generally in use in Duluth and upon the electric irons, toasters, fans, heaters, percolators and washing machines now used in the households?"

This question is asked by a reader of The Herald.

Here is what J. R. McGiffert of the Clyde Iron Works said today upon this subject:

"We buy our current directly from the Great Northern Power company, at a 25-cycle frequency, because that current is better adapted to running heavy machinery than is the higher frequency current. But we have found it impossible for men to work by the light given by a 25-cycle current, and so we have put in our own rotary transformers to make the current suitable for lighting purposes.

"We find from experience that although the 25-cycle current does not flicker as much with the old style carbon lamp as it does with the newer mazda lamp, it is impracticable with either kind for real close work. And even if you could use the carbon lamp with it, the carbon lamp uses so much more current than the mazda that you would hardly save anything if you used carbon lamps at 3 cents per kilowatt hour, over what it would cost to use the other lamps at 8 cents per kilowatt hour.

"Of course for motors, such as are generally in use in the city now, 25-cycle current would be useless. They would all have to be replaced, and 25-cycle motors costs more than those built for 60-cycle current.

"Briefly, I would say that I have proved by experience that the 25-cycle current is not practical for lighting purposes."

An Electrician's Views.

Another statement made by a man who knows the subject, is in the following letter, written by Frank M. Mielke of the Mielke Electric works:

"You asked me last evening several questions relative to how fan, washing machine and sewing machine motors and power motors now being used in this city would operate on a 25-cycle current. The speed of any induction motor is governed by the frequency, or cycles, of the current, and the number of field poles the motor is wound for. A four-pole motor will run with no load 1,800 revolutions per minute on 60 cycles and 750 revolutions on 25 cycles. Approximately 95 per cent of all electric fan, washing machine, sewing machine motors, etc., are of the induction 4-pole, 60-cycle single phase type, and their synchronous speed is 1,800 revolutions. These motors will not operate on a 25-cycle current and any attempt to run them at this frequency would cause them to immediately burn out.

"The majority of power motors operating on the Duluth-Edison service are induction motors, 60-cycle, single and three-phase alternating current. These also will not operate on a 25-cycle current and are subjected to the same conditions as the small motors mentioned above.

Relative Cost.

"All electric passenger elevators and 75 per cent of the freight elevators operate on direct current, and there is no chance at all to run them on alternating current of any frequency. The repairs necessary with different types of motors are greatest with the 500-volt direct current motors and least with 60-cycle alternating current. The relative cost of 25 and 60-cycle motors is as follows:

"One-eighth-horse power, 110 volt, 1,750 revolutions per minute, 60-cycle wash machine motor, $16.50.

"One-eighth-horse power, 110-volt, 1,450 revolutions per minute, 25-cycle wash machine motor, $23.50.

"Ten-horse power, 220-volt, 1,750 revolutions per minute, 60-cycle, 1-phase power motor, $214.

"Ten-horse power, 220-volt, 1,450 revolutions per minute, 25-cycle, 1-phase power motor, $266.50.

"Ten-horse power, 220-volt, 1,750 revolutions per minute, 60-cycle, 3-phase power motor, $190.

"Ten-horse power, 220-volt, 1,450 revolutions per minute, 25-cycle, 3-phase power motor, $270.

"Also, be advised that the highest speed obtainable on 25-cycle current is 1,500 revolutions per minute at no load, and 3,600 on 60-cycles.

"Relative to your inquiry about magnetite arc lamps that the city proposes to use, will say that they cannot be operated on alternating current without the use of a rectifier, or a motor-generator set, as they are strictly a direct current lamp. The cost of 200 light 4-ampere outfit is approximately $12,000, not including poles or wiring.

"Trusting this gives you the information you desire, I am, yours very truly,

"FRANK M. MIELKE."

WILL ASK FOR MAN'S EXTRADITION

Authorities Want Alleged Swindler Back From Nevada.

Sheriff John R. Meining and First Assistant County Attorney Mason M. Forbes left last evening for St. Paul with requisition papers for the return of Christian Koch, now being held at Tonopah, Nev., for the Duluth authorities. Governor Hammond will be asked to sign papers requesting the governor of Nevada to turn the prisoner over to the St. Louis county authorities.

Koch is wanted here on a charge of defrauding the Duluth & Iron Range Railroad company out of $1,000. Koch, after being arrested, resisted returning to Duluth without extradition.

Koch is the man who is said to have collected $1,000 on a "faked" injury. He claimed that while getting off a Duluth & Iron Range train some time ago his leg was injured and that partial paralysis resulted. He was confined in a hospital for some time, and as a result collected the amount of damages named. He soon left this part of the country. The railroad people, not fully satisfied with his story, had Koch followed and found, they claim, that after he got away, his paralysis disappeared. Hence the warrant out for him.

WEST END WILL DISCUSS YEAR'S PLANS

Commercial Club to Decide on Improvements to Be Insisted on.

Public Market, Better Police Facilities, Paving and Other Matters.

At the meeting of the West End Commercial club, scheduled for next Thursday evening, members will take up a number of matters of importance to this end of the city. Among the matters which will likely be pushed by the organization during 1915 will be the securing of a permanent site for the public market, a branch police station and better police protection, whether or not the club will father a garden contest for school children and also the matter of improvements to a number of the streets in this end of the city, remains to be seen.

Members of the club contend that it will be only a short time before the city will have to buy a site for a market. At present the site at Twenty-first avenue west and Superior street is being used but only a short time lease has been given the city and can be canceled at any time on thirty days notice.

A half block, located somewhere between Twentieth and Twenty-fourth avenues, below Second street will be advocated by the members of the club as desirable for this purpose. The market place will be a necessity for the West end if the city is to give proper encouragement to the farmers of Hermantown, say the business men.

Better Police Protection.

Police protection is not adequate enough, they claim. The present force, while efficient is too small to properly police the district and the station now used, located in the basement of No. 2 fire hall, is insanitary and unfit for the keeping of prisoners according to a report of a grand jury which investigated the place some time ago. A station more centrally located, equipped with call bell system and where a man can always be reached, will be advocated.

A number of street improvements will be asked during this year. One of the first will be that of paving First street, and the paving of Twentieth avenue. Property owners on both of these thoroughfares claim that they can obtain signatures to petitions asking for this improvement if the council refused to take the initiative. It is proposed to pave First street from Twentieth avenue to a connection point with Vernon street and Grand Forks avenue. The improvement to Twentieth avenue is asked for from Railroad street to Piedmont avenue.

While it is claimed that the club will probably turn down the proposition to father another garden contest among the West end children this year, the subject will be brought up at the meeting. The success met with by the club in conducting the contests during the past three years has been phenomenal. Members of the club who have worked hard to make these a success say the work requires too much of their time and that the contests will have to be taken up in some other way or by some organization on a larger scope.

The Motor World

SAYS CAR SHOULD BE MADE AS A UNIT

Agent Peacha Declares That Auto Shoppers Should Be Careful.

"The Kissels hold that the public appreciates the advantages of the manufactured car, not only because its merits are more or less exclusive, but because it is a scientific truth that any piece of machinery to be rightly balanced and harmonized, should be constructed as one unit by a single organization, one that knows and appreciates what the article, as a whole, should be," says J. T. Peacha, Jr., local agent for the KisselKar.

"Because the Kissels manufacture the new models, the 36-four and the 42-six, we feel that these KisselKars have less competition than ever before, for with motor, body, clutch, top and nearly every vital and visible part Kissel-built, they are the most exclusive and 'personal' cars in their class.

"In this, above all previous years, the automobile buyer needs to shop carefully, for the name of the average car means much less than formerly.

"In their desire to compete with lower priced cars, concerns formerly well known as manufacturers have become merely assemblers because, by buying stock parts, they can produce cars more cheaply. This explains why the specifications of a number of cars read so much alike, although varying several hundred dollars in price."

AUTOS DESIGNED IN AMERICA NOW

War Brings Great Change in Motor Car Conditions.

"One effect of the war which has received little comment," said Hugh Chalmers, in an interview the other day, "is its effect on automobile designing." The Detroit manufacturer was standing in his exhibit at the New York show, watching the crowds around the bluebird chassis of the $1,400 Chalmers new six. He continued:

"American engineers in the past have been accustomed to go to Europe for ideas of design. We Americans have led the world in manufacturing methods, but rightly or wrongly, the impression has been general that the foreigners excelled us on design, and it has been the fashion to follow their example.

"The war, however, has changed all that, and I believe, when the battle smoke has cleared away and conditions abroad permit the resumption of business and the recommencement of manufacturing, European engineers will be coming to America to see what we are doing. We will have had at least a year (I hope not any longer) in which to forge ahead, to develop our own ideas and to perfect whatever ideas we had gained from the foreigners before the war started.

"Our own experience is a case in point, and well illustrates what I have just been saying. Years ago—in fact, when the Chalmers company was first started—we built a valve-in-the-head motor, the famous Chalmers 30. Since then this type of construction has been further developed abroad, until within the last year or so a perfected type of valve-in-the-head motor — the Delage—has been brought out, with the cam-shaft at the top of the motor and the valve mechanism entirely enclosed.

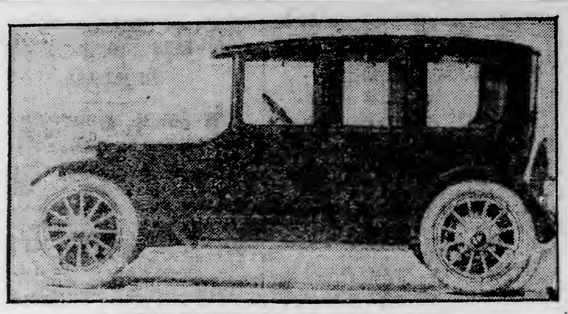

"Other foreign designers at once saw the advantages of this type of design and when our engineers were over there a year and a half ago they found the trend of European design beginning to swing to this type of motor. They brought back the design, simplified and improved it, and used it in bringing out our 'new six.' Later trips to Europe showed them that the foreigners were even more taking up the new style motor and had it not been for the war I am convinced that this type of construction would have been widely used and developed this year abroad.

"With the outbreak of war, however, engineering development in Europe stopped—so far as automobile designing was concerned. Meanwhile, we are going right ahead in this country. Our own engineers will develop and perfect these new types of motor design. We shall depend more on ourselves. We shall find that our judgment on these matters is sound and good. And, as I said before, with a year's lead we shall be in a position where the foreigners will have to come to us.

"One of the advantages which this war—terrible as it is—is bringing to America is the fact that it is putting American business men on their mettle, drawing us away from too great dependence on Europe, compelling us to do certain things ourselves. The 'Made in America' movement, the 'See America First' movement are all parts of a great change in attitude which is sweeping over this country. I'm glad to see it. And I'm glad that this same spirit is going to make itself felt more and more in the automobile business.

"We have the men, the money, and the machines that are essential to the upbuilding and development of any business. And I am convinced that after the war we Americans shall more and more take the place of leadership that belongs to us."

WILLYS PREDICTS HEAVY 1915 SALES

Declares New Era of Prosperity Began on Jan. 1.

A forecast that the volume of motor car business for 1915 will reach half a billion dollars is made by John N. Willys, who couples this statement with the declaration that Jan. 1 saw the opening of a new era of prosperity for this country.

As president of the Willys-Overland company, Mr. Willys was one of the largest manufacturers of motor vehicles represented by an exhibit at the automobile show in New York last week. He is kept in closest touch with the business situation through the medium of 4,000 Overland dealers who cover practically the entire civilized world. Although his estimate of this year's motor car business shows a material advance over the total business of the past year, he declares it to be extremely conservative in view of present conditions.

"The new year brings with it a national trade revival that will be felt in all branches of our industrial life," states Mr. Willys. "Business already is beginning to boom. The optimistic spirit of the banker, farmer, merchant and manufacturer alike plainly indicate a wave of prosperity.

"A thorough investigation of conditions shows that business confidence has returned after the set-back caused by the opening of war. We all do business on good cheer, courage and hope. Although the sudden crisis caused by European hostilities almost deprived us of these for a while, and brought about a psychological depression, we have recovered from the shock. Trade has been steadily picking up since last October.

"Enormous orders from abroad are keeping our textile industries busier than they were last year at this time. The hardships threatened in the cotton belt of the South have been averted. The opening of the Federal reserve banks has relieved the stringency of the money market. And most important of all, the American farmer is more prosperous today than ever before."

SAYS NEW YEAR IS BRIGHT WITH HOPE

President Hugh Chalmers Gives Optimistic Talk at Auto Show.

"The good shop, 'American Business,' has pulled off the mud bank of depression and is gaining headway every minute," was the striking comment of Hugh Chalmers, president of the Chalmers Motor company, in a talk on business conditions at the Palace show in New York last week.

"Now the thing for us all to do is to put the steam of hard work into her engines and we'll drive this ship forward as never before. There is nothing wrong with this country. The fundamental things that make prosperity are here yet.

"Prosperity begins in the ground—in the fields, the forests, the mines. All those factors are just as good as they ever were. But they all require men and men's brains to make them yield. And the men must be on the job. The only antidote for hard times is hard work.

"President Wilson has referred to the conditions of the last few months as a psychological panic. Lots of people have ridiculed him for the phrase, but in my opinion he was not far wrong. Psychology is the study of mental processes and mental states. I think our mental state has been wrong. If it has we ought to correct it.

"To me the dominant thing in this new year is hope. We were all glad to see the old year go, glad to see the curtain rung down on 1914. But 1915 I believe offers a wonderful opportunity to American business. We regret this war; we would do anything in our power to stop it. But we can't stop it. And while it is going on we mustn't forget that we are the only great nation in the world that is going right ahead producing the things that people need. So business ought to be good with us. It is good and will be better."

PLAN ROAD CONGRESS.

All-American Meet Planned for Panama Exposition.

New York, Jan. 16.—Committees of two members each from the American Highway association and the American Road Builders' association will meet in the near future to formulate plans for a great All-American Road congress to be held in San Francisco during the Panama-Pacific exposition. It is estimated that the proposed combined meeting of the American Highway and American Road Builders' associations will be attended by 7,000 to 10,000 people.

UNIFORM SPEED LAW.

California State Law Supercedes City Ordinances.

San Francisco, Jan. 16.—As a result of the recent decision of the appellate court of the Third district of California, this state is one of the first in the Union in which a uniform speed law for motor vehicles exists. The ruling of the court, which by the way, is a final decision and cannot be appealed to the supreme bench, holds that the present state motor vehicle act supersedes municipal ordinances covering the same subject.

With these uniform speed restrictions existing throughout the state the motor car tourist will in future be able to make his little trips with an air of comfort, for he will not always be afraid that he is breaking some township speed ordinance or find himself the victim of some minor county official who has made it a practice to prey on the motorist, who through ignorance of certain restrictions in the town laws has violated one of them.

KISSEL ALL-YEAR CAR IS POPULAR

Has a Touring Body With Detachable Top for Winter.

"The all-year car, the combination of touring body with a detachable top for winter, attracts large crowds to the KisselKar exhibits at the various automobile shows," according to J. T. Peacha, Jr., local agent for the car.

"The remarkable fact about this top is that the attaching and detaching takes so little time. When the attachment is made there is no overlap and the job looks every inch a fine closed car. Detached the two-door touring body is exceedingly nifty.

"Style, comfort or convenience are not lacking. The top, fitting snugly and perfectly into the touring car body, is fastened by means of six small inside bolts and the same top irons used to carry the summer top and windshield.

"The top, lined of course to match the upholstery of the car, has broad, heavy plateglass windows, electric lights and every refinement associated with the finest closed coach. Wire connections are made automatically as the halves meet. Ventilation is cleverly and amply provided for by means of a divided window and two-piece front.

"To make ready for the top, it is necessary to remove only the wind shield, summer top and molding, which is accomplished with a screwdriver. To attach the Sedan top, only a wrench is required.

"The plan of this top is so simple that many people ask why it has not been done before. The answer is that it was not possible with the conventional four-door touring body, the forward doors offering an insurmountable objection to anything but the veriest makeshift. But of the one compartment two-door touring body originated by Kissel, it seems to be a logical evolution.

"Here is an advance step in design that has brought a real substantial reduction in the cost of all-year driving without lessening its luxury. It has been received with great favor."

WILL PLACE SEATS ON SALE JAN. 18

Seating Capacity at Speedway Will Be About 75,000.

Indianapolis, Jan. 16.—Seats for the fifth annual international 500-mile race on the Indianapolis motor speedway will be placed on sale Monday, Jan. 18, at the speedway offices, and in various motor clubs throughout the United States. Applications will be filled in the order of their receipt, several thousands being on file already, some of them dating seven and eight months back. Despite the rush, there is plenty of space available, the total capacity of the course having been raised to 75,000, 15,000 in excess of last year.

Seating tariffs, in general, remain the same as before, the only change being in gate admission, which is now $2 to all parts of the grounds. To offset this, the management has thrown open two stands, on the south turn, accommodating 25,000 people, at fifty cents each. The most desirable locations, naturally, are still those along the straightaway and first turn, selling at the old prices.

As to attendance this year, the management predicts a record-breaker. The 1915 race will be the rubber contest between Europe and America, both countries having won two events each, viz., Marmon and National in 1911 and '12, and Peugeot and Delage in '13 and '14. Foreign entries, however, will be as numerous this year as ever before, speedway officials state, several surprises in this respect being scheduled to materialize in the near future. Lack of foreign touring attractions, too, it is thought, will help the gate somewhat.

HUDSON PLANT TO BE ENLARGED

Extensions Will Be Completed By First of March.

Plans for the addition to the Hudson plant at Detroit, Mich., are finished and work is to begin immediately. It is expected that the enlargement will be completed and occupied by March 1.

The floor space of the present factory is approximately eight acres. The addition of the third story means an increase of space of over three acres, or nearly 50 per cent increase in floor space. After March 1 the total space will be almost eleven acres, which will make the Hudson factory among the largest in the world. The addition is a third story added to the main factory and probably to three of the wings, making a total length of 2,200 feet by sixty-two feet in width. The material is to be the same as the present building, reinforced concrete and steel.

It is stated that the company's business has been increased so largely by the popularity of the 1915 Hudson Light Six that the added space is absolutely necessary in order to handle the production for the 1915 season.

FEWER KILLED BY AUTOS.

List of Fatalities Decreases in New York During Year.

According to the report of the National Highways Protective society just received by the Mutual Auto company, 290 persons were killed on the streets of Greater New York by automobiles during the last year. This is a decrease. The figures for 1913 were 302. In deaths by trolleys there were 100, as against 108 in 1913; 128 were killed by wagons, whereas 170 met their deaths in that way in 1913.

Col. Edward S. Cornell, secretary of the society, said in the report that the decrease in the number of deaths is due to the fact that the majority of automobiles are operated by licensed chauffers, that the traffic squad has been increased and that mail trucks are now forced to obey regular traffic rules.

Outside of the city of New York, where most of the cars are operated by owners, there were 210 persons killed by automobiles in the state. In 1913 there were 149. The report also shows that 61 persons were killed by trolley cars and 32 by wagons. The corresponding figures for 1913 were 79 and 32. Buffalo's record alone was 71 deaths by automobiles.

TIRES ARE SCORED EASILY IN RAIN.

"When driving in the rain particular care should be exercised to avoid scoring the tires," says E. J. Filiatrault of the Mutual Auto company. "In dry weather the rubber of the tire treads is able to resist cutting, even when rolling over very sharp stones, but when wet it yields far more quickly, exactly as it does to a knife blade that has been moistened. For this reason it is well to form the habit of coasting over gravel patches whenever possible, but particularly during wet weather."

Now is The Time To Get Your Overland

TODAY motoring is popular the year around.

The old fallacy of not geting your new car before spring is a thing of the past.

In fact motoring right now is far more beneficial and much better sport.

So get that notion out of your head—make up your mind to get a car now—and listen to why it should be an Overland.

Price considered, the Overland has greater value than any other car in the world.

That's a big statement but, nevertheless, a fact.

To begin with, the Overland has the high tension magneto—the most dependable and uniform system of ignition. Many cars have only the cheaper battery ignition.

It has larger tires than many cars of our price. They are 34 inch x 4 inch all around.

Then there is the simple driving arrangement. All electric control buttons are located on the steering column. On many cars the control buttons are located on the dash which is unhandy and often mighty inconvenient.

In bad weather the Overland can be made just about as comfortable, cozy and snug as a closed car. The side curtains fit perfectly and give complete protection from draughts, rain or snow.

The list of Overland advantages is long—too long to give here.

Our dealer will gladly explain and demonstrate everything.

Remember—now is the time for motoring.

Buy an Overland and save money.

WEST DULUTH FRANCHISE CLAIMED TO BE VALID

Company Claims City Cannot Legally Erect Plant Until 1919.

M. O. Advocates Say It Would Not Hold in Courts.

Whether or not the city would be breaking faith with the Duluth-Edison Electric company if the proposed unit plant were to be built at West Duluth is a question which furnishes the latest development in the lighting plant controversy. When viewed from the standpoint of the electric company, the city would be breaking its contract with the company were it to build the unit plant as proposed. Municipal ownership advocates take a different view of the matter and declare that there is no contract to violate and that the city would be acting in good faith should the unit plant be built.

The bone of contention is whether or not the franchise held by the Duluth Edison company covering West Duluth, the place selected for the erection of the unit plant, is an existing and valid franchise and one under which the city of Duluth would be obliged to abstain from building a plant to be municipally owned until 1919. Representatives of the Duluth-Edison company contend the contract is a valid and existing one and binds the city by its terms. Municipal ownership men deny the validity of the franchise and declare that it would not hold water in court.

Only Express Franchise.

The West Duluth franchise is the only express franchise held by the Duluth-Edison company at the present time, according to the company's own claims. The other parts of the city covered by its distribution are being furnished with service under a vested right conferred by statute which to all intents and purposes virtually amounts to a franchise. The so-called West Duluth franchise was formerly owned by the West Duluth Electric Light & Power company. When the Duluth-Edison company organized in 1906, it took over the property and franchise of the West Duluth company and became the possessor of all of the rights and benefits thereunder, it is claimed.

The contention of attorneys for the electric company is that the city took upon itself all of the obligations under the franchise when it annexed the village of West Duluth. The franchise was granted by the village of West Duluth on Feb. 2, 1889, and guaranteed certain things to the West Duluth Electric Light & Power company, its successors and assigns, for a period of thirty years. The franchise will not expire until Feb. 2, 1919. Among other things the franchise provided as follows:

West Duluth Franchise.

"That the said village of West Duluth shall and will abstain for the period of thirty years from and after the passage of this ordinance from granting to any party or parties other than the said company, its successors or assigns, the right or privilege to string upon poles or conduct in any manner electric light wires through or on any of the streets, avenues, alleys, public grounds or sidewalks, or furnish electric light or electric power to said village or its inhabitants or any portion thereof, and the said village will likewise abstain from doing so for and on its own behalf for the said period of thirty years, provided, however, at the expiration of the said thirty years, should the village refuse to grant to the said West Duluth Electric Light & Power company, its successors or assigns, the right to continue and maintain its said works for another term of twenty years in and upon the public grounds and streets of said village and to supply the said village and the inhabitants thereof with electric light on reasonable terms, then and in such case, the village shall purchase from the said electric light and power company, its successors or assigns, said electric light works and the property connected therewith, at a fair valuation as provided in section 6 of this ordinance."

Section 6 gives the village of West Duluth the option and privilege at any time after the expiration of ten years from the passage of the ordinance, on giving twelve months' prior notice in writing, to purchase the electric lighting plant and all of the property of the company necessary for the effective operation of the same at a fair valuation to be determined in a manner provided by the ordinance.

Municipal ownership advocates declare that the franchise is not valid and claim to be prepared to show it in the courts if necessary. On the other hand attorneys for the company assert that the franchise is valid and that the city would be acting in bad faith and in direct violation of its agreement were the unit plant to be built at this time or before Feb. 2, 1919, when the franchise expires.

Miss Carter has two sisters, who are in society and who help their mother to dispense hospitality in their home on the Belmont road.

A NEW STUNT.

Woman's World: "What are you doing today, Sally?" I asked. Sally Carver, who is 20, is much interested in "wearables." Now she was on the piazza, enjoying the June air, while she worked with some footwear.

"Summer is here and I am getting my low shoes and my white and tan stockings ready to wear. The hose are all mended and now I am fixing up a 'stunt' to make ornamental bows on my slippers easy to put on and take off. Otherwise the ribbons are in the way when polishing the tan low shoes or whitening these canvas pumps.

"See? I am sewing two little snap fasteners on the back of each bow. And sockets to match on each pair of shoes.

"These tan low shoes are a little loose at the heel and the rubbing quickly wears holes in the heels of the stockings. I am not crazy about darning and a mended heel is so conspicuous! So I have cit these narrow strips of felt, each about two inches long. I shall glue a strip inside the back of each shoe. The shoes will fit more snugly and cease rubbing. Velvet could be used just as well.

Most birds show a marked restlessness at the approach of a change in the weather.

FIGHTING HAS NOW CEASED

Violent Encounters Near Soissons Stopped for Present.

Small Successes Won By German Troops in the Argonne.

Berlin, Jan. 16, by wireless to London, 3 p. m.—After several days of violent encounters the fighting near Soissons has virtually ceased. Nowhere else along the western battle line is there marked activity. Small successes have been won by the Germans in the Argonne and north of Verdun. This is set forth in the official German communication issued here today.

The statement also says:

"The enemy's attacks on our positions northeast of Arras were repulsed.

"The hamlet of La Boiselle, northeast of Albert, was completely destroyed yesterday and cleared of all Frenchmen.

"An attack on the allies southeast of St. Mihiel broke down at the start under our fire.

"In the eastern theater of war, the situation is the same."

Germans Evacuate Towns.

Amsterdam, Holland, Jan. 16, via London.—The correspondent at Ostend of the Tijd says the Germans have evacuated all the coast towns and villages as far north as Mariakerke, which is north of Nieuport, Westende and Middelkerke and three miles southwest of Ostend.

These towns, however, have not as yet been occupied by the allies.

REGARDING "CALORIES"

An Attempt to Explain What the Word Means.

Edward B. Warman, A. B., in Los Angeles Times: The word "calories" is one with which physiologists love to conjure, and the average person understands it about as clearly as he does the tricks of the stage conjurer. Nor may he be able to elucidate matters enough for you to see through the trick, but I shall make a try at it. It is not, however, so essential that you grasp the technicality of it as it is for you to make a practical application of it regarding diet.

A "calorie" is a unit of heat—the amount of heat required to raise the temperature of one gram of water (one-eighth part of an ounce, apothecary's weight; one-sixteenth of an ounce, avoirdupois weight,) one degree centigrade, or 1.8 degree Fahrenheit.

As this means nothing to the average person, let us make it understandable in its application to food. In this regard the word "calorie" is used because the nutritive value of a serving of food cannot be properly expressed by bulk in pints or ounces, but by the amount of heat given off when burned in the human body.

The quantity of food necessary to maintain these heat-units in the human body differs, of course, with the amount of work required and with the demands of the body for growth. The full heat-value of foods is never extracted from the albuminous substances only; such foods as eggs, milk, meat, etc., that are used to replace the body substances lost by wear and tear—but must be drawn from the fuel-formers—the fats and carbohydrates (sugars and starches.)

The harder you work the more of the work-foods are necessary. Yet it is customary for the average man to eat more on Sunday than any other day of the week. While he rests his body and mind from physical and mental labor he overworks his digestive organs.

When an engine is in the roundhouse, it doesn't need the fuel that it does when it is on the road; in fact, it needs none. In the human engine the fire does not go out, but less fuel is necessary. If the one who eats heartily of more or less heavy foods six days a week would eat nothing but fruit (in season) on the seventh day, he would live longer, live better and go to work Monday with a cleaner body and a clearer brain. Then think what a change it would be for the good housewife.

Some heat is produced by nitrogenous food, but it would overtax the system to depend on it entirely to supply the needed quantity; hence, the necessity for the fats and carbohydrates (starches and sweets.)

The heat that the body generates in a day—on an average—has been found to be (in the case of a sedentary worker) approximately 2,000 calories. To those who try out the 2,000-calorie ration, there will be some who will declare it hopelessly inadequate, but men of vigorous body and of a keen and energetic mind maintain health on fewer than 2,000 calories, and they radiate energy and health, with the mind constantly on tap. Yet there are those doing laborious outdoor work who may be able to take care of 3,600 calories.

Thorough mastication is the great secret of being able to thrive on a small diet; for by carefully chewing every morsel of food that enters the mouth, one will abstract from it all the nutritive material which it contains. Whereas, in hasty eating, a large proportion of the food is not digested and cannot, therefore, be utilized.

These 2,000 calories for the day should be properly proportioned; say, should be properly proportioned; say, proteins, 300; fats, 350; carboydrates (starches and sweets,) 1,350, thus making the 2,000. This amount expressed in ounces would be: Proteins, 258; fats, 1.33; carboydrates, 11.62; thus making a total of 15.33 ounces for the day. You can figure this for yourself to ascertain how many calories you are using. For example, one ounce of protein yields approximately, 116.2 calories; one ounce of fats, 262.85 calories; one ounce of carbohydrates, 116.2 calories.

The following table shows the approximate number of calories in each ounce of food, as given: Cabbage (raw), 8 calories; spinach, (raw), 10 calories; apples, (raw), 14 calories; milk, 20 calories; radish, (raw), 20 calories; potatoes, (boiled), 25 calories. bananas, 28 calories; halibut, (raw), 35 calories; mackerel, (raw), 40 calories; duck, (cooked), 47 calories; beef, (lean and cooked), 60 calories; salmon, (raw), 60 calories; veal, (cooked), 66 calories; bread, 70 calories; eggs, (one), 70 calories; fowl, (cooked), 80 calories; sardines, (in oil), 80 calories; prunes, calories; peas, (dried and raw), 92 (stewed), 87 calories; pork, (cooked), 88 calories; peas, (green and raw), 92 calories; figs, (dried), 92 calories; beef (fat and cooked), 93 calories; rice, 98 calories; currants, (cooked), 110 calories; cheese (American), 118 calories. cream, (45 per cent), 126 calories; oatmeal, 130 calories; cheese, (cream), 170 calories; almonds, 174 calories; hazelnuts, 190 calories; butter, 222 calories in one ounce.

AN EASY REQUIREMENT.

Boston Globe: The following notice recently appeared outside the office of a busy Boston firm:

"Boy Wanted—One who knows the city well."

Presently a bright youth presented himself for the job.

"Do you know the city well?" asked the manager.

"No, sir," replied the young hopeful, "but I could find it."

HEAVY GUNS IN RESERVE

Some Sensational Features to Lighting Debate Are Expected.

Several surprises will be sprung at the debate to be held at the Auditorium this evening between the two forces in the present electric lighting controversy.

Both sides have some well-prepared charges to make and at the headquarters of each this morning, officials in charge declared that the public may expect an exciting time. The fight has grown bitter in the last two weeks and both sides have held their heavy guns in reserve for tonight.

Just what these new charges will be, the committee members refuse to say, but it is understood that an affidavit regarding the removal of three pages from the Pillsbury-Claussen report of 1911 will be presented.

The meeting will be open to the public and it is expected that a large number of women will be in attendance.

CHICKEN RAISES LIMIT TO SIX

Would Lend That Many Addressographs If He Had Them.

"This is the city's fight and I would help the Municipal Ownership league all I possibly could, even to the loaning of a half dozen addressographs, if they were needed," declared Commissioner Hicken this morning.

Commissioner Hicken, who has been attacked for having loaned the addressograph from the health department to the M. O. league said this morning that he does not regret his action and he would repeat the performance at any time.

"These men," said the commissioner, "are working for the interests of the city and in behalf of the commissioners, who have pledged themselves to the municipal ownership of the electric lighting plant and as a result are entitled to all the assistance we can give them."

UNOPPOSED BY THE PERSIANS

Turkish Troops Entered Tabriz After Russians Had Withdrawn.

London, Jan. 16.—The entrance of Turkish troops into the Persian city of Tabriz several days ago was entirely unopposed by the Persians and took place in accordance with plans previously arranged between the American consul, Gordon Paddock, who cooperated with the deputy governor and the commander of the Turkish forces.

All the Russians in Tabriz, including the consul, had previously withdrawn from the city in order to avoid a conflict.

Only 600 Turkish soldiers marched into the Persian city, the Kurds, numbering some 25,000 men, having been left at some distance outside.

An official telegram from the Teheran government conveying the above information was received in London today. This message adds that Persia was neither prepared nor willing to oppose either side in this conflict, but that she would remain strictly neutral.

RIVER AND HARBOR BILL BEFORE HOUSE

Persistent Filibuster Maintained By Republican and a Democrat.

Washington, Jan. 16.—The river and harbor appropriation bill, carrying a total of $34,000,000 and thus far without a single important item changed, was again before the house today with a view to possible passage before adjournment today.

A feature of the consideration of the measure is a persistent filibuster conducted by Representative Friar of Wisconsin, Republican, and Calloway of Texas, Democrat, who charged that it is grossly extravagant.

He ridiculed many of the harbors appropriated for as difficult to locate the demarcation between the water and the land and charged in other cases that the navigation was neglible, in one case saying mainly logging and old houses floated down the river.

SCOT GETS PEARL IN OYSTER SHELL.

Oysters will no doubt be the piece de resistance on the Spalding hotel bill of fare in the future. Simon Clark, while dining at that hostelry yesterday noon, opened up a bivalve containing a fine pearl, which he has since found to be worth $200.

Mr. Clark will no doubt keep a warm spot in his heart for Friday. He says the pearl is a magnificent one and of an unusually large size.

REQUISITION FOR AN ALLEGED KIDNAPER.

Madison, Wis., Jan. 16.—Governor Philipp has signed requisition papers for the return to Wisconsin of Mary Keenan Adams, who is alleged by Thomas F. Martin of Dubuque, Iowa, to have kidnaped his 14-year-old son from a school at Prairie Du Chien, Wis. She is the lad's aunt, and as his mother is dead, the aunt has always shown great affection for him.

J. M. THOMSON.

James M. Thompson of the New Orleans Item is to marry Genevieve Clark, daughter of Speaker Champ Clark. Mr. Thompson graduated from Harvard in 1897 at the age of 19. He is a native of Virginia. The wedding will take place this spring in the home of the Clarks in Missouri.

REQUISITION FOR ALLEGED KIDNAPER.

Madison, Wis., Jan. 16.—Governor Philipp has signed requisition papers for the return to Wisconsin of Mary Keenan Adams, who is alleged by Thomas F. Martin of Dubuque, Iowa, to have kidnaped his 14-year-old son from a school at Prairie Du Chien, Wis. She is the lad's aunt, and as his mother is dead, the aunt has always shown great affection for him.

Recently, it is alleged, the Adams woman visited the school and, it is charged, enticed the boy away and went to Chicago. Governor Dunne is asked to permit her return to face the charge.

At the meeting Monday, contracts will be let for the purchase of material for the Cary sewer, gas and water extensions at Eighth avenue east and Thirteenth street and at Eleventh street and Fifth avenue east. Several liquor licenses are also coming up for renewals and transfers.

WOULD REPLACE VILLAGE HALL

Mountain Iron Seeks to Modify Terms of Injunction.

In district court at a special session this afternoon the matter of modifying the court's injunction in the Mountain Iron village tax levy case will come up for consideration. The matter comes before the court on an application of the village for an order so modifying the terms of the injunction as to permit the community to build a village hall to replace the one which was destroyed by fire. The application will be opposed by the attorneys for the Pitt Iron Mining company, which instigated the injunction proceedings.

TOOK FIRST BOAT OUT FROM FRANCE.

Arthur S. Bandler, a black diamond merchant, who is at the Spalding today, was a passenger on the steamer La France, the first boat to leave Havre after the declaration of war.

"The trip from Paris to Havre is one that ordinarily required three hours," said Mr. Bandler, "but in the rush from Paris to Havre, boxcars with benches were the chief mode of conveyance. It required thirteen hours to make the trip. The ship was delayed for ten days in the harbor. While we lay in the harbor we saw the transports come across with the British troops. The British soldiers would cheer as they passed our steamer, and thus in the middle of the night we were often awakened by the cheering of the soldiers."

BOARD OF TRADE HEARS DEBATE ON LIGHTING.

The members of the board of trade did not escape the discussion of the electric light question. Yesterday afternoon at 3 o'clock they gathered in the trading floor of the board and listened to a debate on the matter between Ray M. Hughes and Commissioner Hicken. There was quite a gathering and the speakers were given close attention.

Royal Neighbors Install.

Dewey camp, No. 1255, R. N. A., gave a banquet at 6:30 o'clock last Tuesday evening for which fifty covers were laid, after which the following officers were installed: Oracle, Mrs. Erickson; past oracle, Mrs. Maloney; vice oracle, Mrs. Cullen; chancellor, Mrs. Murray; recorder, Mrs. Rankin; receiver, Mrs. Huhn; marshal, Mrs. Lykestad; manager, Mrs. Smollet.

Mrs. Tuell acted as installing officer and Mrs. Kushinsky as ceremonial marshal. After the installation the Royal Neighbors joined the Modern Woodmen and danced until midnight.

PIONEERS OF A NEW SPIRIT.

The Survey: "What's this anyway? Some kind of show?" said a man the other day to an energetic woman going through the Erie railway station in Jersey City with twelve young fellows, each of whom carried bedding rolled up and tied with a string, a box of sandwiches and a change of underclothes.

"Oh, my, no," she laughed. "It's just a school."

The woman was Katharine B. Davis, commissioner of corrections of New York city, and her "troupe" consisted of boys from the New York Reformatory for Male Misdemeanants on Hart's Island. They were en route for the city's new 610-acre farm near New Hampton, N. Y., where they were planning to camp out until they could build their own bunk house.

Commissioner Davis was with the boys when with the reformatory band playing "Auld Lang Syne," they embarked at Hart's island for a boat ride around the Battery to the Erie station. Just as they were leaving, Warden Murtha ran down to the boat with a white bull pup for mascot. "We named it John Martin," said Miss Davis, "but discovered later it was a female dog so we shall have to call it Jane."

At Jersey City they were joined by Robert Rosenbluth, who is in charge of the farm, and the boys carried his suitcase, violin and typewriter. Nearly the same age as the boys (he is 27), he is a graduate of Yale and of an agricultural school. Four graduates of the Cornell agricultural school are to be farm instructors.

The boys are building a bunkhouse for twenty-five under the direction of the Cornell graduates who live, eat and sleep with them. One of the boys is the cook for the party.

Eventually the farm will need more living houses, a bakery, laundry, sewage disposal plant, schools and outbuildings. But even if she had the money to take all the boys to the farm at once, Commissioner Davis said, she would rather have done it this way. A wholesale transference would have meant carrying along also the traditions and spirit of the reformatory on Hart's island. She believes the little group there now will develop a new spirit which will be imparted to those who come after.

QUIET DURING THE HOLIDAYS

No Truce Declared But Soldiers in Trenches Celebrated Christmas.

All Rifle Firing Stopped By Tacit Consent Christmas Eve.

(Correspondence of the Associated Press.)

Paris, Jan. 4.—The following is sent from the trenches in Northern France by a correspondent who volunteered for service with the British army at the beginning of the war:

"Although there was no formal truce declared during the holiday season, the fighters here had several days of quiet, by tacit consent.

"Germans and Englishmen met on the plain field between the lines, shook hands, swapped tobacco, told stories, and were even planning on an international football game when the weather turned bad. All day long there was much searching for souvenirs 'to send home,' and hundreds of fragments of shell and broken equipment were picked up in sections of the field where ordinarily it would mean sure death for a soldier to show himself.

"All rifle firing stopped at twilight on Christmas eve. During the evening both sides placed candles and little bonfires as Christmas lights along the top of the trenches. When it was seen that neither side intended to take advantage of the temporary peace, the soldiers began to climb out of their trenches and took up positions in the bright moonlight on the flat ground in front. Back and forth across that 200-yard field they greeted each other with wishes for a Merry Christmas. There was much cheering, speech-making, singing and a little dancing. The Englishmen got out their hymn books, with which most of the soldiers are provided, and sang, "Lead Kindly Light," "Abide With Me," and "While Shepherds Watched Their Flocks by Night." The hymns were interspersed with such favorites as "Mandelay" and "Tipperary."

Everyone Unarmed.

"Gradually a few of the groups from the two sides drifted closer together. Everyone was unarmed. One of the foremost German groups waved a bottle of wine toward the nearest English groups and invited them to join the party. After a moment or two the Englishmen started over, carrying a Christmas cake and a box of chocolates. The men shook hands all around, and immediately cheers and clapping came from both sides of the field, where English and Germans alike had been anxiously watching the meeting. The group had a smoke and drink together, and very soon large parties of the late enemies were seen chatting together. All the time in the distance could be heard the sound of artillery fighting.

"The Englishmen swapped pipe tobacco for German cigars, and British candies for German chocolate. Later in the evening the Germans sent over to the British trenches a small Christmas tree, with various cheerful messages and little gifts tied on its branches.

Invited to Play Football.

"On Christmas day the British soldiers brought a football out in front of the trenches and invited the Germans to send a team over for a game during the afternoon. They promised to do this, but the weather—or their officers—prevented it.

"Soldiers unslung their cameras and took snapshots of little groups of men from both sides hob-nobbing together. During the morning, some of the gayer spirits organized what they called a 'fantastic parade,' led by a German youth who had somehow obtained possession of a high hat and dress suit. Among the paraders were two soldiers mounted on old bicycles without tires.

"The happy scene was rudely interrupted about 1 o'clock in the afternoon by the arrival of a big shell, fired from a battery several miles in the rear, which sent everybody scurrying back to the trenches for a time.

"Later in the afternoon British soldiers helped the enemy bury ten German soldiers whose bodies were found in a ditch in front of the German trench. They were killed a few days ago in an attempt on the English outpost."

CASS LAKE WOMAN ACCIDENT VICTIM

Believed Mrs. Ersby Fell and Sustained Fatal Injury in Barn.

Cass Lake, Minn., Jan. 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—After a thorough investigation by the authorities regarding finding Mrs. Einar Ersby unconscious in a barn with the door hooked and who later passed away, it was concluded that the woman came to her death accidentally. The woman had evidently carried hay for the cows and, getting inside the barn, hooked the door to keep the chickens from escaping. The barn was dark, only a little light entering through a small, dirty pane. It is believed she stumbled on a trough and fell heavily, striking the back of her head on a log and was knocked unconscious. The woman was 68 years old and had been sick for osme length of time, and it is believed the accident, together with her age and the exposure of almost twenty hours in the cold, damp barn, made her recovery almost impossible. Her arm, though bruised, was not fractured, and the other marks are no indication of anything more than slight scratches.

DEATH LIST NOW 30,000

Injured From Earthquake Believed to Be Twice That Number.

Many of the Survivors Are Suffering From Lack of Food.

Rome, Jan. 16.—A correspondent of the Messaggero, who has been traveling through the devastated zone, telegraphs his paper that excluding Avezzano and a number of other villages the number of dead will reach 16,000. His estimate of the total number of dead is 30,000, and the injured nearly twice as many.

The Messaggero declares that there are no fewer than 5,000 dead at Pescina and 3,000 at Celano, and that at Cenchio only 150 people were saved out of a population of 2,600. At Marsi the dead number 1,000. Most all the survivors here are injured and they are suffering grievously from want of food and lack of care.

Condition at Sora.

Naples, Jan. 16.—The condition of the city of Sora, once a flourishing and prosperous community located in Caserta province about half way between this city and Rome, is a striking example of the capriciousness of the great forces of nature which Wednesday morning suddenly overwhelmed the heart of Italy.

Instead of being reduced to a shapeless mass of ruins as was Avezzano, the state of Sora today recalls the conditions which obtained at Messina in 1908, where the outer shells of the beautiful Messina palaces remained standing only to hide ruin and desolation within their walls.

Called Town "Little Rome."

The inhabitants of Sora have been proud of their fine houses and wide streets, and have called their town "Little Rome." Of these handsome buildings nothing remains today but the outside walls. Under the masses of shattered masonry within it is estimated that from 250 to 500 victims lie buried. The condition of the walls still standing makes the work of rescue most difficult. A continuance of the earth tremors still brings down masses of masonry.

Nevertheless, the fact that so many walls still are standing gives rise to the hope that many persons may still be alive, sheltered in cellars or open spaces. Their rescue will of necessity be slow, for the reason that up to the present time the only help available is the Third regiment of Carabineers, whose duty it is also to police the town and maintain order among the survivors who are wandering aimlessly about without shelter.

The ruins of the Rossi mansion, one of the finest houses in Sora, are believed to contain forty persons. Hope is entertained that many of them are still alive.

UNCONSCIOUS CRITICISM.

Los Angeles Times: Mrs. Beekman Winthrop, at a luncheon at the Colony club in New York, said of the 1913-1914 fashions:

"I admit that some of these fashions are beautiful. The worst stricture, perhaps, that can be uttered against them was the unconscious stricture of a little boy friend of mine.

"He was looking at a photograph of a very beautiful lady. This beautiful lady wore a ball gown of diaphanous white stuff like gossamer. Her white arms were bare. Great V's in front and back bared her neck and shoulders. A slash on the left side of the skirt revealed her white silk stocking, her little white shoe and the shoe's fastenings of narrow ribbon that ran in criss-cross, sandal-fashion up her slim, glistening ankle.

"The little boy studied this beautiful photograph gravely. Then he said:

"'She's dressing, isn't she?'"

YOUNG AMERICAN SOPRANO IS PLACED ON OPERATIC STAGE

MABEL GARRISON.

Following his policy to encourage the development of musical art in America, General Director Gatti Casazza has added to the forces of the Metropolitan Opera House this winter a young American soprano, Miss Mabel Garrison. All the critics of New York have given Miss Garrison's voice high praise. She lacks experience on the operatic stage, but a year or two at the Metropolitan will remedy that deficiency. She appeared this week as the page in "The Huguenots," a very exacting part.

THE PREHISTORIC POPULATION OF THE MIMBRES VALLEY, NEW MEXICO

In the last publication of the Smithsonian institution, Dr. J. Walter Fewkes of the bureau of American ethnology has described and figured a collection of beautiful pottery from the Mimbres valley of New Mexico, dating back to prehistoric times. This ancient pottery is the first ever brought from that valley to the United States National museum, and is unrepresented in other museums. Its importance lies in the fact that a comparatively large number of specimens have human and other figures painted upon them, and that they resemble those on the pottery from Casas Grandes in Mexico.

As the former inhabitants of the Mimbres valley have left no traceable descendants, and as there are no historical records concerning them, it is necessary to rely on a study of the archaeological remains for knowledge of their culture. The valley of the Mimbres river, which flows underground in the lower part of its course, has until recently been practically neglected by archaeologists. During May and June, 1914, however, Dr. Fewkes made a reconnaissance of the region and obtained by excavation and purchase a fine collection of prehistoric objects numbering about 100 pieces for exhibition and study.

The so-called Lower Mimbres valley, or Antelope valley, lies in that portion of the Sierra Madre plateau extending southward from Oldtown, Mimbres leaves the mountains and sinks below the surface, to Lake Palomas, twenty-five miles south of Deming, N. M. This region is distinguishable, both geographically and biologically, from the surrounding country. Its southern end is a cultural gateway open to migration from Mexico, but closed by mountains on the east, north and west.

An interesting and significant custom of the prehistoric people of the Mimbres is a form of human burial employed, known as urn burial, in which the dead are sometimes buried under the floors of the houses in a sitting position with a bowl inverted over the head like a cap, or, when the body is extended, over the face. In these burials the bowl was always "killed" or perforated by a small round hole in the bottom. This custom has been explained as due to the belief that earthenware utensils possess spirits which can escape only when the vessels have been "killed." A strange similarity exists between this custom and a similar rite of the ancient Peruvians, who also sometimes depicted life figures on pottery in pairs, just as was done by the people of the Mimbres valley, and in some instances perforated their mortuary pottery.

The early dwellers of this land were ignorant of writing, although they cut on the rocks pictures or pictographs, many of which occur in the Mimbres valley near the sites of old ruins.

The animal and human figures painted on the pottery bowls are very realistic and remain today practically little changed in design and color even after the lapse of centuries. The art shown in these figures was well advanced, the drawings represent human figures, although there are many mammals, fish and birds. The delineations of the birds are especially true to nature, and at the same time quite realistic though somewhat conventional. Geometric designs as well as symbols are characteristic and highly instructive. One of the bowls collected by Dr. Fewkes shows three hunters following a deer, another depicts a hunter with a curved stick, evidently an archaic weapon resembling the throwing-stick.

One odd feature of the ruins is the number of ancient mortars used for pounding, which are excavated in rocks in place; in other words, they are not portable, but permanent, and those who used them were probably forced to journey thither, just as our farmers go to the mill.

The stone tobacco pipes of the Mimbres are tubular in form like the cloud blowers used in certain Pueblo Indian ceremonies. They are made of stone and shaped like our cigar holders. By sympathetic magic a cloud of smoke resembles a rain cloud, and the creation of the former ceremonially brings rain. A priest using the cloud blower is illustrated on the interior of one of the painted bowls. The stone idols or fetishes collected in the Mimbres valley have the form of frogs, bears and mountain lions, and are similar to those found in ancient ruins of Arizona.

From his researches, and comparisons with objects from ancient ruins, illustrating arts and customs of other regions, Dr. Fewkes believes that these people are related to the Mexicans, and lived during an epoch possibly antedating the ancient Pueblo culture.

HOW LIFE LOOKS TO A GOVERNOR

The Former Chief Executive of New York Tells Incidents of His Life in the Fifteen Months Following Sulzer's Downfall.

For fifteen months Martin H. Glynn was governor of New York. On the eve of his retirement into private life he wrote for the New York World this interesting summary of his experiences as chief executive of nine million odd citizens. Though he asserts his good health, his happiness and his perfect resignation at the return of the opportunity to edit his own paper, the Times-Union of Albany, a certain tinge of disappointment pervades this brief reminiscence of his term. The ex-governor does not quarrel with the people's verdict, but he does feel, perhaps, that his good work deserved a different recompense.

I do not intend to discuss here my record in the gubernatorial office. Nor do I desire to convey the impression that the executive chamber during the last fifteen months has been any busier than it has been at any time during the last fifteen years. It is and has been and will continue to be a hard job, a job full of a type of mental anxiety few men experience in any other line of public or private activity.

Politicians of whatever party can be handled more easily and with less anxiety to any governor than two-thirds of the routine of the executive chamber which has no part at all in the political game.

The appeal of a mother or a sister or a brother to save a victim from the electric chair gives the governor more actual mental anxiety than all of the combined requests or demands of all the politicians of all parties. It is the most trying of all the many burdens placed upon the governor's shoulders.

Pleas for the Gunmen.

My most painful experience in that line was in the case of the "gunmen" electrocised at Sing Sing. You who read may recall the extraordinary efforts put forth to save these men from the electric chair. Perhaps you remember that delegation of rabbis which came to see me on the very eve of the deaths to beg me to save the lives of the unfortunates.

These rabbis, good, honest, earnest men, crowded me into a corner and begged, argued and finally wept. Simultaneously the mother of one, the wives and sisters of others of the condemned men, threw themselves against the outer door of my office which I had to have closed for my own protection, and cried and screamed for mercy for "our poor boys." These women and their friends followed me to my home and persisted in their appeals. I never closed an eye all of the last night those boys lived, and was just about used up when it was all over.

Were the governor to give the time requested of him for the consideration of all applications for executive clemency in criminal cases he would have time for no other duty.

I believe this whole matter of executive clemency should be taken out of the hands of the governor.

Cutting Up the Pie.

What is perhaps just as human a phase of the governor's daily routine, or ordeal, you might better call it, is the appeal of the ever faithful for positions which they believe are always available. There are about twenty thousand places in the state service, and a great many people believe that the incoming governor has a right to fill every one of them if this were the case, I am quite sure that no governor could possibly live through the appointment of the third thousand. The state service, however, like that of any other big corporation, is so systematized that it could ill afford to disturb the detailed makeup of any one of its important departments.

The governor has his hands full distributing the patronage which his party believes it is properly entitled to, and it is hard for him to make some of the faithful realize after this is dispensed that there is no more available. For every position the governor has at his disposal there are at least one hundred applicants, and sometimes twice that number while it is frequently the case that the man who is the most desired for a particular post is the last to agree to accept it.

Various Types of Patriots.

"You remember me, governor," said the little, short fat man who pushed his way through the crowd to my desk in the early part of the last campaign. "I am the man that held the umbrella over you when you spoke two years ago at Glenn Falls." This is generally the type of candidate first to demand your hand and your ear when you get into the executive chamber and there is no counting his number, nor can any guess be made as to the nunmber of credentials he will present to you.

There is another type of citizen, however, seldom referred to in the newspapers and never in the front rank when the parade goes by. He is a civic patriot—the man who wants to serve the state and give it the best that is in him for humanitarian and patriotic purposes only. This type of man is found on all of the boards of management of the various institutions of the state. Perhaps there are three hundred of these managers, and not one of them receives a cent for the service he renders the state. In most instances these men decline to put in vouchers for their legitimate traveling expenses which the state allows them. I know also of instances where men serve as managers of institutions to the detriment of their own private business. But they do it and will continue to do it because of their unselfish interest and genuine pride in the state's institutions.

It is almost an impossibility for the governor to get through his duties with less than sixteen to eighteen hours' work a day in the executive department. No private business whose owner devoted half as much time to it as the governor devotes to the affairs of the state could possibly fail. When the legislature is in session he must stay at the capitol the best part of the day and night, and in between discussions and conferences on legislation must find time to look after the daily routine of his office.

Perhaps the most difficult of all the problems confronting me was the compensation act. I had the manufacturers, the insurance men, the representatives of the labor bodies and every other interest concerned in this important legislation in conferences covering a period of over two months.

Night and day we wore, eat it. I will not worry you with the details of the difficulties attending my efforts to bring about a satisfactory compromise which meant the enactment of the compensation law. It is worth while to recall, however, that the final conference lasted all of one Saturday at the capitol, to be resumed Saturday night at the executive mansion, where we fought it out until the break of day, only to resume again after a few hours' sleep on Sunday and continued discussion all of Sunday and Sunday night and into Monday, when we went back to the capitol for the last round. Long into that day we struggled, and once or twice it looked as though the whole proposition were going to blow up again. Almost in desperation, and determined to have that compensation law, I ordered all the doors of the big room closed tight, and declared to the conferees that not one of them would be allowed out until we had come to a mutually satisfactory understanding. And we did. The law was the result.

A DOUBLE HONOR.

Duluth has a right to be doubly pleased at the election of Charles P. Craig as head of the state agricultural society. It is matter for gratification that a Duluth man should be so honored, and for still more gratification that the election should have been unanimous, to a position which heretofore has been the center of bitter fights.

Mr. Craig's interest in the state fair work has been shown for a number of years. Ever since he became one of the board of managers he has been one of the most active members, and has put both time and effort into the solution of questions concerning the great exposition. He has had an exceptionally large share in bringing about its development from an ordinary state fair to what is today recognzed as one of the greatest, if not the greatest institution of the kind in the country. And in spite of the time given to this work he has found opportunity to give still more of his services to the state in other capacities.

So it is only just that he should be given the honor now accorded him, but it is doubly pleasing that in spite of the many years of bitter contests, Mr. Craig should have the honor of being the unanimous choice of the society for president. The action contains promise of one of the best years in the history of the society and of the Minnesota state fair.

Secretary Houston says college students should study at least eight hours a day. Is the secretary trying to institute a movement to relieve the professors of the burden of giving lectures?

HAVING THE "BLUES."

Everybody gets them. The cheeriest, most optimistic, most phlegmatic, most sanguine fall upon times when the outlook is as drear and hopeless as the weather in a Dickens novel.

You go to bed well satisfied with yourself and with life and the world. You wake up profoundly immersed in gloom. If the weather is bad, you take it as a personal affront. If the weather is good, you are sure it is a "weather-breeder," and that it is too good to last. Your breakfast isn't to your taste, the coffee is slop, the toast is overdone, the eggs are ancient, the bacon is mere dried chips.

You look forward to your daily duties with distaste and dread. You don't like your job anyway, and you seriously doubt your capacity to handle it. Anyway, you aren't paid half enough for what you do, even though, this morning, what you do seems worth little to anybody.

The day goes wrong. You are lucky if you don't mortally offend a valued customer of the house and send him packing to the opposition forevermore. You are lucky if you don't quarrel with and alienate forever your most valued employe or—if you are an employe yourself—your "boss." Probably you take it out on the family, though; and when you get home the family cat crawls under the radiator and refuses to come out.

What is it? What does it?

Nine times out of ten, something physical is wrong. If it keeps up, better see your doctor. But the chances are it is a small thing, so first try some homely remedies. A brisk walk in the open is a good one; try that. If it is cold and stormy and you have to walk rapidly to keep warm and get your blood humming through your veins, so much the better. If it is just an ordinary case, like nine hundred and ninety-nine thousand, nine hundred and ninety-nine out of a million, that will be cure enough. You'll come back with your cheeks glowing and your soul bathed in optimism.

If it is summer, here's a good prescription Kipling offers:

> Don't frowst with a book by the fire;
> But take a large hoe and a shovel also,
> And dig till you gently perspire.

Most of the time the healthy person keeps on top of the little physical flurries that beset everybody, whether from indiscreet diet or the physical effects of anger or fretting. Once in awhile, though, they pile up on top of him and weigh him down. Then he gets the "blues."

The thing to do, then, is to get out from under. If you are captain of your soul and have a mind capable of receiving its own arguments, you can just argue the matter out with yourself and then climb out from under and stand triumphantly on top. If you are not so fortunately situated, then you can give your system the little fillip of a brisk walk or an hour's activity with the hoe, and that probably will suffice to rescue you.

And if these fail, and your "blues" continue and become chronic, then you had best talk it over with the doctor.

Lord Kitchener says the war will begin in May. This must be an interesting bit of news for the widows in England, France, Germany, Russia, Austria, Servia, Belgium, Turkey and Japan.

THE TEACHER-MOTHERS.

The teacher-mothers of New York have won. In a positively expressed opinion on the case of Mrs. Bridget C. Peixotto, State Commissioner of Education John W. Finley has held that the New York City school board not only had no right to discharge her because she sought leave of absence during the year when her child was to be born, but that she is entitled to back pay for all the time since she was dismissed.

It is said that Dr. Finley's decision is final, since the courts already have declined to consider the question as within their jurisdiction, and so it looks as if the teacher-mothers have scored permanently.

Commenting on the case, the New York World says the decision is "in accordance with plain common sense and the accepted verities of life," and continues:

> Where it is not lawful to discharge a teacher merely because of marriage, a board of education may not end her services because of maternity. 'Absence for the most creditable social reason' cannot be construed as 'neglect of duty.' Teacher-mothers may be dismissed for general inefficiency when that appears, but not for being mothers. To this city's board of education, so conspicuously entangled in the obsessions of a few members and the obfuscations of an overnumerous remainder, Dr. Finley's decision will generally be recognized as a merited rebuke.

The teacher-mothers are to be congratulated, but no more so than is the state of New York, to whose schools are thus saved the services of some women who are not afraid to undertake a duty that is recognized as the highest and most trying required of their sex.

How does it happen that neither side has so far brought into action that good old word "obfuscations?"

THE WOMEN'S PETITIONS.

Petitions are being circulated in which voters ask the members of the present Minnesota legislature to submit to the people the question of a constitutional amendment giving women the same right of suffrage as is exercised by men. How many signers will be secured is of course uncertain, but it is at least a modest request that the women would have us make—merely that the people be given an opportunity to express their wish. They do not even ask the legislature to pass on the suffrage question itself.

It was a foregone conclusion that the suffrage question would come before the legislature in some form or other, and unquestionably this is the most favorable form for it to take, so far as chances of action are concerned. It would not seem likely to strain either the good nature or the prejudice of a legislator to give the voters a chance to pass on the suffrage question.

As to whether the women of Minnesota will get the ballot this year or even next year, it would be hard to predict, but that they will get it sooner or later is practically certain. Other states have tried the system and more are trying it every year. The movement has grown from a theme for ridicule a few years ago to a serious and steady progression today, and since it is founded on just principles, one may feel confident that it will sooner or later succeed.

Meanwhile, it would be a graceful and eminently just thing for the present legislature to grant these petitions.

The women of Montana asked for chaperones for the employes in the state capitol during the legislative session. Don't they have any big brothers out there?

THE STATES AND NATIONAL PEACE.

Relative to possible conflicts between state laws and national treaties, it is not enough to say, as the president does, that treaties are the supreme law of the land, and that state laws must conform to them. That is axiomatic. Assuming that the treaties themselves are not in violation of the Constitution, his assertion cannot be disputed.

But there are state laws that appear to be in conflict with treaties. There are political and social movements in various states that in spirit at least are antagonistic to treaties solemnly ratified. There is agitation in more than one state against other nations from whom we exact the fullest protection for our own citizens.

Although the Constitution of the United States is the fundamental law of a great nation, it does not enforce itself. States challenge it. Mobs defy it. We cannot create armies and navies big enough to save us from the consequences of a Constitution ignored.—New York World.

But we CAN see to it that the Constitution is NOT ignored; and that we must do.

The nation has shown that it will not turn its solemnly pledged treaties into "scraps of paper."

Neither should it permit states, misguided and mob-ridden, to turn its solemnly pledged treaties into "scraps of paper."

If, to prevent the anomaly of a state, out of selfishness and greed, defying the Constitution, ignoring a treaty, and endangering the peace of the whole nation, it is necessary to suppress a state by force of arms, then let it be so.

Better that than a nation rendered impotent and its word rendered worthless by the treason of a state.

Analysts say it was the vote of the Southern congressmen that beat suffrage in the national house. What has become of the ancient chivalry?

THE KICKER.

The Unpopular Review has a piece approving kickers.

It says that "kicking, like charity, should begin at home;" and it adds: "It ought to be the duty of everybody at home to object, persistently and effectively, to the specific overcrowded street car, the badly paved road, the encroaching doorstep, the neglected yard, the maladorous cesspool, the irresponsible motor cars, the reckless railroads, and the things they typify.

For most of us are meek enough, in all conscience, and tamely submit to imposition, swallowing our resentment in a foolish fear of a fuss.

We knew a spendthrift once who thought nothing of getting rid, in the pursuit of pleasure, of a roll of bills big enough to choke the traditional horse, but who, if he were to be overcharged a nickel in a cafe, would lift the roof and bring down the house with his outcries until his grievance was redressed. His was the right spirit. His rigid refusal to submit to petty imposition protected many with too little spirit to resist themselves. He made himself unpopular with grafting waiters; but those who were not themselves up to the job of making a fight for a nickel admired him for it, and he was greatly missed when he gourmandized himself to death.

It takes a lot of kicking to keep things going right; and pretty generally the question how nearly right things will go depends almost entirely on how much kicking there is.

If there were too many kickers, of course, it would be a nuisance, because the world would be a series of incessant squabbles—though possibly if there were too many kickers there would be less to kick about, and then the kickers would have to complain because life was too tame.

But don't undervalue the kicker. He has a place in the world, he serves a most useful purpose, and the world has need of him and would do but ill without him. Even though he be vexatious and at times wearing, that must be forgiven for the good he does.

The war still scores considerably ahead of the earthquake.

It will be generally admitted that we have had a sixty-cycle campaign.

It looks more and more as if that "unit plant" proposition is a "pig in a poke."

IT'S TIME TO SOBER UP.

For the last two weeks or more the city has been on a glorious campaign spree. The rivalry of the respective sides has been intense, excitement has run high, and many heated and contradictory statements have been made by the orators. The debauch has furnished some genuine amusement to many, and to others has been a serious expense in labor and money.

Now we are within a very few days of the election, and—it is time to sober up. It is time to think seriously of this proposition before us; to look at it, not in the light of prejudice or passion, but as we would look at it if all the expense and all the risk—and all the profits, if any—of the proposed city "unit" plant were to belong personally to each one of us, instead of having to be shared by all of us collectively. And so, leaving all recrimination and all bitterness aside, let us look at this question from both sides, and try to reach a just conclusion.

First of all we must consider the general proposition of municipal or private ownership of electric service in Duluth. City management of utilities is no new thing here. We have tried out city management of our gas and water service, and right alongside this we have had an example of the kind of service given by private interests. So neither method is unfamiliar.

Another question arises from the fact that most of us pay our bills with the product of personal labor of one kind or another, and cannot afford to buy anything just for the fun of it. We cannot afford to waste our income. We could not, for instance, afford to buy a suit of clothes for fifteen dollars if for sixteen or seventeen we could get one of actually better quality.

What has this to do with the light plant proposition? Just this: Before we decide to spend any money for this proposal, we should make sure that in building the "unit" plant we are going to get returns that are worth the price; that we are going to get value received to the extent of one hundred cents on every dollar, and that we can afford to make the investment. We should make sure that, whatever we have to pay for a new electric service, it will be at least as good as we are getting now and would cost us no more. Otherwise it would be unwise to make the change.

What sort of service are we getting from the private company? Are the light and power reliable? Do they cause us serious trouble because of irregularity? In case of a breakdown, is it difficult or expensive to get it repaired? Would the new service probably be any more—or less—satisfactory in these respects than what we have now? All these things must be considered in deciding how we shall vote.

To put the question bluntly, would Duluth, under present circumstances, be justified in going still deeper into debt in order to build a city plant, and especially in view of the fact that the city has been offered a substantial reduction in lighting rates?

Frankly, WE BELIEVE DULUTH WOULD MAKE A SERIOUS MISTAKE IN ADOPTING THE "UNIT PLANT" ORDINANCE, and our reasons may be summarized thus:

(1) The electric service at present furnished in Duluth is of first class quality, and the rate, while not now burdensome, will be lowered still further if the voters only vote for a reduction.

(2) The proposed "unit plant," at the best, would be but an experiment; would be established in a section of the city where its chief competition would be with the city's own gas light service; would cost a sum that is not at all certain; would have to charge a rate that at best is known only by estimate; would furnish a quality of electricity which men who KNOW say would not give steady and satisfactory light and would not run any motor now supplied with current by the plant with which the city plant would have to compete; and last, but not least, might not this plant serve as a wedge to open the way for the promoters of the experiment to issue, without further action by the voters, the seven hundred thousand dollars worth of bonds voted a few years ago as "a club to secure lower rates from the Duluth-Edison company"?

(3) The city is already more deeply in debt than any other city of its size in the United States except Fort Worth, Texas, which issued bonds to back a railroad speculation; and more than half this Duluth debt is due to the sale of bonds to secure and maintain public utility enterprises already assumed by the city.

(4) The funds proposed to be used for this purpose ought to be used for much needed improvements in the present city service.

(5) The experience of other cities, especially where heavy indebtedness was incurred to start the city plant, has not been such as to encourage Duluth to start such a system, especially as a competing business, in a city where long lines of poles must be set in solid rock, and when the current itself, before it entered the city plant, would cost more than one cent per kilowatt hour as against a cost sometimes as low as an eighth of a cent in these other cities.

For these reasons we believe every citizen should vote "NO" on the "unit plant" ordinance.

As between the 6-cent ordinance and the 4-cent ordinance, the voter must decide whether he prefers an immediate reduction of rates to a larger reduction at some time in the future, dependent on whether the courts decide the city has the right to establish rates.

Always In a Hurry

Editorial in the Kansas City Star.

A man in Chicago is paid a fortune every year to preach the gospel of Hurry to this nation. The editorials he writes are printed in hundreds of newspapers. Millions read weekly his epigrams glorifying Hurry and Worry—for there can be no Hurry without Worry—the two go always together.

How to crowd two days' work into one—that is his text.

A business man in Kansas City hurries in a motor car to his office each morning. With throttle wide open the car dodges around street cars, scatters sparrows and dogs, turns corners on two wheels, splits the air on the straight-away reaches and gets the man to his office in a hurry.

What for? Why this haste? Just because it is a habit—nothing more. He would have been much better off had he walked. Arrived at his office the man lights a cigar and reads the morning paper.

There are thousands like him in this and all other cities, hurrying themselves into nervous breakdown.

Watch the hurrying crowds in the Union Station, one crowd coming, another going, ceaselessly, day and night, rushing, half running, with tense faces. The tramp, tramp of hurrying feet there never stops.

Why do they hurry so? Probably not one in a dozen has any good reason for hurrying—it's just a habit.

"I do so love to travel; I could travel all day," said a young woman who had journeyed by train from Topeka to Kansas City. "But our train was so slow," she added.

What difference was it to her if the train was slow? She had the whole day in which to make the trip.

It is said that not one man in ten who pays an extra fare to travel on the "Nineteenth Century Limited" between New York and Chicago has any good reason for hurrying so. But it is fashionable to hurry.

The young men have caught the mania, too. They hurry through school. Upwards of 50 per cent of them are in such a hurry to get to work for themselves they never finish school.

They launch into the battle of life unprepared, and the majority of them fail. They lack application, perseverance, patience—prime attributes of success. They are in too much of a hurry to wait for success, to plod and work and deserve it first.

Last week a man who had plodded faithfully at his work for twenty-seven years was appointed postmaster of Kansas City.

The same day a young man who had just as good a start as the other was arrested here for robbing his employers. He confessed that he was in a hurry to wear good clothes, to take his sweetheart joy riding; he could not wait until by faithful work his wages would be raised, and he stole.

Remember the school book story of the hare and the tortoise and its moral: "Sure and steady wins the race."

A Missouri Encounter.

National Monthly: "Nigger," warned one, "don't mess wid me, 'cause when you do you sure is flirtin' wid de hearse."

"Don't pesticate wid me, nigger," replied the other, shaking his fist, "don't fo'ce me t' press diss upon yo', 'cause if I does I'll hit yo' so ha'd I'll separate yo' fum amazin' grace to a floatin' opportunity."

"If you mess wid me, nigger," continued the other, "I'll jes make one pass an' dere'll be a man pattin' yo' in de face wid a spade tomorrow mornin'."

What Heaven Means to Me.

Arthur C. Benson in the Century Magazine: When we have traversed the dim leagues, and have seen things wonderful at every turn, and have passed through the bitter flood, we shall find—at least this is my hope—no guarded city of God from which we shall go no more out, but another road passing into wider fields and dimmer uplands, and to things more and more wonderful and strange and unknown.

Statesmen, Real and Near

By Fred C. Kelly.

Washington, Jan. 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—James R. Mann, the Republican floor leader, is the King of Detail. Nothing is too small or too numerous for him to know all about. Ask Mann what were the amounts of the principal items in the agricultural appropriation bill seventeen years ago and I have no doubt that he could tell you without pausing to move an eyewinker. I'll venture to say that he can skin a gnat and that he can tell offhand the day of the week when each of the house page boys was born. No minute detail escapes him. He knows everything. Also Mann never lacks for a word. The person who wilfully engages Mann in a battle of repartee has much the same foolhardy point of view as the lad who monkeys with a buzz saw. This brings us to what we had in mind to tell at the moment we started to write all this about Mann. The thing we started to tell is about Representative Johnny Garner of Texas. Garner is the only person so far at this session of congress who has asked Mann anything that he didn't answer.

Mann got up one day to criticize the Mexican policy of the present administration. Then Garner asked Mann:

"Just without going into details, how would you dispose of the Mexican situation?"

Senators O'Gorman, Hitchcock and Reed, who have been rearing up on their hind feet here of late and bucking at the president's program in the senate, have been named by their associates "The Three Musketeers." The only one of the three who has the slightest objection to the sobriquet is O'Gorman. He says that he does not want to be any musketeer.

When Tommy Hardwick was in his campaign for the United States senate down in Georgia, he persisted in mazing what theatrical people term long jumps. He would speak in the northern part of the state one night and then would dash clear to the farthest southern corner of the state for his next speech. His friends pointed out the extravagance of so much railway travel and showed him how he could cover one section at a time before moving on to the next.

"But did you ever notice," asked Tommy, "how much easier it is to handle fires that are close together than if they are so widely scattered that the fire fighters must be divided? If I were to start several fires in one section and then quit them, they would be out before election day. My idea is to start one fire and let it spread while I'm off somewhere starting others. Then if a fire is extinguished by the opposition, I'll come back and light it afresh. The more fires I can keep going at once the harder I'll make it for the fellows who are trying to beat them back."

When John Sharp Williams was the Democratic floor leader of the house of representatives there were comparatively few Democratic members. A great many Democratic voters throughout the country wrote to John Sharp whenever they wished anything accomplished instead of to their Republican representative. They came to look upon John Sharp as their own congressman. Many of them do so still. The consequence is that John Sharp gets more letters today than almost any other senator. He aims to dictate all the replies himself and no two are alike. But every letter he ever writes winds up with the same phrase, "With every expression of regard."

A correspondent wrote to John Sharp one day asking his permission to publish a letter he had just received from him. The senator had his files searched, but could not find a copy of the letter. So he wrote back, saying:

"I don't know what I said in the letter you desire to publish, but you are at liberty to use it, provided you are certain that I did not say anything that I shouldn't."

Keep Your Grit.

Hang on! Cling on! No matter what they say.
Push on! Sing on! Things will come your way.
Sitting down and whining never helps a bit;
Best way to get there is by keeping up your grit.

Don't give up hoping when the ship goes down;
Grab a spar or something—just refuse to drown.
Don't think you're dying just because you're hit.
Smile in face of danger and hang to your grit.
Folks die too easy—they sort of fade away;
Make a little error, and give up in dismay.
Kind of man that's needed is the man of ready wit
To laugh at pain and trouble and keep his grit.

The Real Efficiency

Edward Earle Purinton in the New York Independent: We have now abroad a young army of efficient engineers, who will set your desk near your base of supplies and arrange your tools to conserve your motions; who will teach your office boy how to fold circulars in one move instead of three; who will buy your materials with economy and dispatch; who will audit your books and save your postage stamps and do other laudable things. But the real expert is the rare one who will first show you how to handle your men—how to create in them loyalty, confidence, ambition, tact, initiative, will power, endurance, concentration. This is the vital issue.

SATURDAY NIGHT TALK

The Will to Be Cheerful.

It is by no means necessary for one always to look as blue as he may feel. A serene countenance may be cultivated in any circumstances. There is both philosophy and religion in the exhortation of the hymn our grandsires used to sing, "And put a cheerful courage on." It is often well to "put on" a courageous exterior, even on occasions when one's interior may not entirely correspond to it.

It is right to do so because it is right to be cheerful. Cheerfulness is a normal human atttitude and it is right to act right whether we feel right or not. No one is a hypocrite when he acts in a more cheerful manner than he may be at the moment feeling. He is rather true to what is the ultimate and determining power in his life—namely, his will. Will is, in fact, deeper than feeling or emotion. It is the central force in personality—that which gives the set to character. And will has a very great deal to do with our mental states.

That moods may be controlled in any degree through resolution many people seem never to have suspected. Many a man or woman clean discouraged or well battered by disappointment apparently feel that one must, as a matter of course, give way to a blue mood, as though nothing else were possible. But that is wrong reasoning. Depression is a mental malady and must be fought as resolutely as any other illness. It is surely as important to keep the spirit as to keep the body in health.

Stevenson speaks of his "great task of happiness," in which task he intimates he may at times have "faltered more or less." All of us have the same task and most of us at times falter in it. We forget that we miss one of the marks of life when we indulge in melancholy or carry sour faces. There are evidences that the great Ordainer of our human lots meant us to be happy, and if that is so, we must be careful not to spoil the plan.

One predisposed to gloom should take himself in hand as energetically as though his physician had told him of developing kidney trouble or tuberculosis. Simple remedies will often help amazingly. The English ministerial wit, Syndney Smith, wrote: "I once gave a lady two-and-twenty receipts against melancholy. One was a bright fire; another, to remember all the pleasant things said to her; another, to keep a box of sugar plums on the chimney-piece and a kettle simmering on the hob. I thought this mere trifling at the time, but have in after life discovered how true it is that these little pleasures often banish melancholy better than higher and more exalted objects, and that no means ought to be thought too trifling which can oppose it either in ourselves or in others."

If one wishes to sample other similar remedies, let him remember the testimony of Lydia Maria Childs, a woman well acquainted with trial, who left it on record: "I seek happiness in every possible way; I read only chipper books; I hang prisms in my windows to fill the room with rainbows."

As illustrating the success of such a resolutely cheerful attitude there is hardly anything finer than the tribute paid by Mark Twain to his wife, whose death preceded his own by a few years: "She was always cheerful and she was always able to communicate her cheerfulness to others. During the nine years that we spent in poverty and debt, she was always able to reason me out of my despairs and find a bright side to the cloud and make me see it."

The ability to look on the bright side is worth more than bank notes. It forges invincible armor against the ills of this earthly career. The discouraged man is beaten before the battle begins. The cheerful man always has a fighting chance. Wherefore, brother inclined to mope, call your will to your great task of happiness and—be cheerful.

The General's Job Is All Brain Work

By "HOP"

THE GROWING ISSUE

By SAVOYARD

Washington, Jan. 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—And we have the liquor question with us. It is manifest that it has fetched its knitting along and intends to stay "most all day." It is an issue made by the liquor folk themselves. Had the saloon not deliberately entered politics the liquor question would have no greater place in our politics than it has in the politics of England or of Germany. And then the scurvy politics the liquor people practiced! In Cincinnati the saloon was a Republican; in Louisville it was a Democrat. Right now in Tennessee the blind tiger is the most shrieking, the most snarling, the most rameat of a Democrat there is.

We are admonished that the issue is sure to play the dickens with the Democratic party, and only a day or so ago I read in a standpat paper an editorial that exulted in the embarrassment that must come to the Democratic party because of the obtrusion of this question into national politics. We shall see about that. Time will disclose.

"The Party of Great Moral Ideas" has taken pains to promote a propaganda to this effect, and perhaps there is slight foundation for it: That in Northern communities, where lodge all the virtue and decency of our country, the Republican party always has the majority in the prayer meeting and the Democratic party at the ringside of a prize fight. Horace Greeley said that all Democrats were not horse thieves, but that all horse thieves were Democrats. It might be answered that all Republicans are not Pecksniffs, but that all Pecksniffs are Republicans, and truth it is that your ruffian is not as dangerous to society as your Pharisee.

And so the Democratic party has always been called the party of the saloon and the Republican party the party of the church. Of course there was a great deal of lying in that assumption, but in a wicked world like this we live in, a heap of dirty work must be done and a lie has its political uses. Indeed, in our politics it is absolutely indispensable in certain high-toned and moral Republican circles to promote a lie.

It is certain that the liquor folk have been powerful in politics. They have contributed hugely to campaign funds to debauch the electorate. There is no doubt about that. The American people have a conscience and a sense of decency and they are resolved to put a stop to that sort of thing. The saloon went into politics and the time is come when politics is grimly resolved to put the saloon out of business. That is all there is to it.

What is the office of the saloon in our country? To put want in the household, hunger in the cupboard, sorrow in the hearts of wives, tears in the eyes of children, poverty in the homes of labor. That is what it is and as sure as eggs is eggs the American people are resolved to seize the monster with the grip of an Olympian demigod, smite it, destroy it.

Now, I am not a prohibitionist. In Barren county, Ky., I would vote "dry." In Jefferson county, Ky., I would vote "wet," for sometimes I drink, and, properly regulated, I would tolerate the business in communities where there is adequate police protection. But the saloon is a fool. It has outraged all decency. Your saloon keeper is intolerant of opposition to his calling. He will allow you to have no opinion adverse to him. He has debauched the ballot box. He has intimidated the voter, and done it all in the name of "personal liberty." He will insult you, though you be his customer, if you dare to have an independent opinion adverse to his business of purveying wretchedness to the home, that should be contented.

For years I believed that prohibition did not prohibit; but Kansas has shown that prohibition does prohibit in all communities where the officers of the law obey their oaths and enforce the laws. Kansas boasts empty jails and tenantless almshouses. Kansas gives credit to prohibition for that. If Kansas can do that, any and all the states can do it.

Politically I am a Democrat, and mighty shy of the Prohibition party, but the saloon has made that party a mighty force in our politics. Millions of eyes are now turned on Russia, that has stopped the manufacture and sale of alcohol. There prohibition prohibits, for it is a government of force, and not of consent. If prohibition shall prove what is claimed for it in Russia, then look out for a mighty, an irresistible, wave in its behalf to sweep our country.

However, if I were in their councils I would advise the drys to tackle the states and abandon the amendment to the Federal Constitution. Too much states' rights involved for that.

FEEDING BELGIUM---BY BEATRICE HARRADEN

Author of "Ships That Pass in the Night" Visits the Refugee Camps, Watches the Cargoes of Mercy Distributed, and Declares: "The Words Bread and Salt Are Burnt Into My Brain for the Rest of My Days."

Beatrice Harraden has contributed this article to the Commission for Relief in Belgium, 71 Broadway, New York, which is the general shipping and clearing house for this relief work, and the only one recognized by the powers at war. She wrote this article in Rotterdam, with the scenes of suffering yet clear before her eyes. No nobler, more stirring tale has yet been penned by the author of "Out of the Wreck I Rise."

BEATRICE HARRADEN.

At the moment of writing there are three ships in the port of Rotterdam, brought here by the American Commission for Relief of Belgium, discharging their cargoes into the barges destined to carry the food to the starving Belgians in their own country.

And yesterday I stood on the deck of one of them, the Orn, from Philadelphia, with the Red Cross marked on her sides, and the Red Cross flag floating triumphantly in the air. I found myself overwhelmed by feelings of happiness, admiration, pity, and intense relief; relief to know that this treasury of food was well on its way to those thousands of sufferers within a hand's reach of us over the frontier, and yet, until now cut off absolutely from the outside world; indescribable pity for a nation in its agony; immense admiration for that handful of American business men, who, with an imagination unrivaled by nothing in the realms of imaginative work, conceived and achieved this plan of bringing succor to a famine-stricken land—and happiness over the wonderful response which America is making to the appeal for her help and active sympathy.

Holland herself, distraught with difficulties and dislocation of trade, and with the added duty of providing for 400,000 of her mobilized army, is doing her noblest best towards the thousands and tens of thousands of refugees who have swept upon her like an avalanche over her borders; and in England all, from the richest to the poorest, have risen up to take the Belgians to their hearts and their homes, and to help the government to care for and receive any number of them; but there remain the seven millions starving in their own land, crying out for bare necessities only—bread and salt—with ruined homes, wrecked towns—devastated country, fields of cemeteries of the fallen—and these are they who have become America's charge and anxious concern.

When the history of this world-war comes to be written; one of the outstanding features of the whole terrible tragedy will surely be that a great non-combatant country saw her opportunity of simple human service, doubted not for a single moment that this was her own destined work, her own high mission, and at once sent out her cargoes of mercy for the men, women and children of a brave nation overcome by adverse fate, through no fault of its own. Those of us who have the honor of being in touch with the work of the commission, know a little at least about the many problems and complications which have had to be solved and unraveled in relationship with six governments; and we can only wonder at the splendid persistence and courage of the commissioners who have refused to see any impossibilities, and like a forlorn hope, have turned an impending doom into a victory, greater perhaps than any victory in the trenches of the battlefields.

Every Cargo a Symbol of Hope.

For the commission for relief does not only bring food to Belgium. That in itself is a victory. But it brings constructive as well as alleviative help. Every single one of these cargoes which has come, or is coming, is symbolic of hope, of an awakening sense of confidence, of a re-birth of possibilities, shadowy, perhaps, at first, but with outlines ever growing stronger. Because this impossible thing has been achieved, and Belgium has been reached, the Belgians are beginning to bring out their own barges. And once again one is reminded of that great truth that it is always the impossible by which the world is saved.

These, then, were some of the thoughts which passed through my mind as I and a friend stood on the "Orn" together with Mrs. Lucey and Capt. Lucey, the representative of the commission at Rotterdam, who is giving all his time, brain, heart and soul to the work with a tireless devotion, inspiring to all around him.

We had scrambled over the barge lying alongside, guarded by a friendly but watchful brown dog, who kept a firm eye on us. The name of this barge, which was going to Antwerp with some of the "Orn's" cargo was the "Maria Cecilia," but I learn that many of them are called "God be with us" ("God zy met ons"); and surely that is the right name for all these barges carrying their cargoes of mercy into Belgium. We greeted the barge lady who came out of her green and white painted house to receive us, took notice of the barge babies and puppies playing about, and so arrived on the lower deck of the "Orn."

We bent over into the hold, riveted by the sight of the vast cargo, 1,900 tons of rice, flour, salt, beans, peas, wheat and condensed milk. We were thrilled by the thought that this was only one of the many shipments coming into port day by day, and that they would continue to come with unfailing faithfulness from Philadelphia, from Boston, from New York, San Francisco, Montreal, Halifax, New Orleans, London, Liverpool and other ports, laden with gifts from Nova Scotia, Maryland, Oregon, Virginia, Iowa, Kansas, New England, the Rockefeller foundation, the Southern states and many of the nearest and most distant states of America, and it was thrilling to realize that all this wonderful machinery had been set in motion in six weeks only—think of it—think of it—six weeks in which to organize a peace fleet of ships and barges to bring the food, to negotiate with the German government for permission, to secure that the supplies should be used for the Belgians only, to arrange the centers of distribution—and all this at a time when trains were not running, canals were not open, the condition of the canals unknown, and the probabilities of being allowed to use them not definitely ascertained.

It Sounds Like a Fairy Story.

It sounds like a fairy story, like some fable of magic feat, and yet this magic has been transmitted into work-a-day life—and there we were, standing on one of these very vessels themselves, conjured into real existence by the magicians of the American commission.

It would be impossible for me to describe how glad I am to have seen this magic myself, and thus to be in a position to tell the American people of the magnitude of the work in which they are so nobly helping, and to implore them with passionate earnestness to keep these merciful supplies going, week after week, month after month, giving rein to their generosity in the full assurance that each sack of flour, of rice, of salt, of peas, will be sent immediately in the right direction, and used to its uttermost capacity by those who need it most. I can give an opportune instance of this, which will, I know, appeal to every one, but especially to the organizations of women in America. On this very "Orn" we saw to our great joy 160 tons of condensed milk, and that milk seemed like the direct answer to a prayer. For that morning a letter had come in to the commission, addressed to American mothers by the Countess de Schaetsen-Raditsky at Malines, in which she implored for milk for the mothers and new-born babes.

"Condensed milk," she wrote, "would be very precious to us, but alas, we possess none. Wretchedness augments day by day, and we ask ourselves how can we continue to help. Our only resource is to the American mothers. If you could be the instruments of providence, you can judge for yourselves the immense good you would do to those unhappy mothers, of whom the greater part have their husbands with the army, and are totally without resources to maintain their families. The supply of milk is a matter of the first necessity in the unfortunate times through which we are passing."

That Milk For the Babies.

Here, then is the milk, sent by Philadelphia; and before a day or two is over that devoted woman will have the happiness of ministering to the starving little ones and their mothers in the ruins of Malines. Her pathetic request is but one of the many which are continually pouring into the offices of the commission; for good news travels quickly, and rumors are beginning to reach even those communes which are the most cut off from all communication that help can be had and is forthcoming. The reading of these letters is enough to stir the hardest heart to pity, so acute is the need, so simple the language.

Sometimes a burgomaster writes, sometimes a priest:

"We beg to call your attention to our poor country."

"Come to the help of our unhappy and most honest people."

"Everything is missing."

"Flour is hardly to be obtained."

"The communal funds are finished, and if you come not to help us, God knows what will become of us."

"We cannot even recommence work, because most of the machinery has been destroyed."

"In the name of humanity help us."

"Alas, the children born during this war, of mothers enfeebled by worries and privation, are very delicate."

And so this tragic record goes on, with never a complaint, never an impatient outburst, but only with a simple statement of facts—bare facts—which give a more eloquent and moving picture than all the finest phrases in any literature. But although flour, rice, potatoes, peas, wheat, sugar, wooden shoes, boots, clothes, oil-cakes for the few remaining cattle, milk and salt, are all asked for, what they beg for most of all is milk, bread and salt. One would think that this was little enough to ask; milk for the dying babies and feeble mothers, and bread and salt for the rest.

Only Bread and Salt.

From all I have read in these many appeals, and all I have heard from those coming here direct from Belgium, I know that the words bread and salt are burned into my brain for the rest of my days. And, indeed, all the requests become so embedded in the mind that directly one sees the cargoes one instantly remembers the place which, in addition to bread and salt, have asked for special things, as for instance: Malines for milk, or Heyst and Blankenberghe for oilcakes, or Bree (Limburg) for lamp oil, or Dendermonde for clothes and bedding; so acute becomes the realization of the appalling tragedy taking place on the other side of the frontier.

This realization is helped in no small measure by the sorrowful and never-to-be-forgotten spectacle of the thousands of refugees here in Rotterdam, Rosendaal and Bergen-on-Zoom, cared for by the Dutch government, with increasing skill and ever improving organization, in a manner beyond praise; yet, nevertheless, homeless, destitute, bereft, stunned and broken, with all their bearings lost, and all their habits of industry suspended.

It is not the purpose of this papet to give a detailed account of the Belgian refugees in Holland, but I could fill many a paper with the pathos of the haunting scenes, the uncomplaining patience of the aged women, and the kindness of the Dutch officials, especially the soldiers in the military camps.

Children Without a Toy.

The commandant at Rosendaal was almost moved to tears when he told us there were no toys for the children—yes, one toy, one toy only, and we saw it for ourselves—the one solitary symbol of happiness which is the birthright of all little children of all nations. His face brightened when Capt. Lucey told him that toys should be sent immediately from the cargo of good things brought to Europe by the Santa Claus ship "Jason."

And the same morning, when we were visiting the "Orn," we strolled away from her to the sheds on the wharf to have a look at the remainder of the Christmas consignment, and to arrange that Rosendaal should not be forgotten. Here we saw toys and goodies of every description; and lovely soft warm underwear and Christmas stockings full of candies. There were casks from Fort Dodge, Buffalo, Sacramento, Brooklyn and a host of other places, not forgetting Colman, Tex.; and out of all the thousands of parcels every letter, every scrap of paper had had to be taken by order of the German authorities.

This means that all the generous-hearted writers, young and old, cannot have their messages delivered. No little Belgian child can answer that little American friend who wrote, "Please tell me about this war. We haven't had a war in our town lately." But they may all feel sure that every joy gift will find an abiding joy home in the heart of some Belgian child in Holland and Belgium.

Before saying a reluctant farewell to the "Orn," I cannot resist recording that she brought to Rotterdam something in addition to her cargo of mercy, something not specified in her "manifest." She brought a hydroplane which she had rescued, together with the aviator and his pilot. We heard the story from the first mate, a Norwegian, and though he pretended to take the episode as a matter of course, it was obvious that he was awfully proud of having saved the machine as well as the men. He described first how he negotiated the wings into the boat—not an easy thing to do—and then he told us that the men were almost at the end of their strength. There was some difficulty in discovering their nationality, and their rescuers evidently got no help on this subject from the airmen themselves.

"They thought we were Germans," the mate said, with a twinkle in his eye. "We told them that we weren't Germans, but neutral."

Even this encouragement did not win any confidence, and apparently the captain concluded they were French. But later on when they were alone together, looking to see what damage had been done to the hydroplane, the mate heard them talking English and says he to the captain:

"Cap, two Frenchmen alone together don't talk English, do they?"

And that seemed to settle the matter! They proved to be Capt. Seddon and his pilot. They had started from Sheerness to search for enemy submarines, but their motor got out of order. They descended safely, and had been floating for nine hours when they were picked up. It was plain that the mate regretted that the "Orn" had not been able to land them in England instead of the Hook of Holland!

"But you see," he said, with a note of quaint melancholy in his voice, "we are neutral. The Germans would not have liked it."

But, I, not being neutral, was glad to have the chance of shaking hands with him, and saying "Mange Tak" (thank you) for the thing he had at least wished to do!

How Food Is Distributed.

And whilst on the subject of neutrality, it has been a matter of deep regret to me that as a British subject it has been impossible for me to go personally into Belgium. To quote the Norwegian mate, "The German wouldn't have liked it!"

But the next best thing to going to Belgium is undoubtedly to invade the offices of the commission in Rotterdam, and to learn important facts and figures from the fine and unselfish Belgian men of affairs, whose knowledge and experience are the stand-by of the commission, and also to hear and see the many people connected with the work of the relief coming from or starting for the frontier. Perhaps the official messenger between Brussels and Rotterdam may stroll in. He has been arrested thirteen times, and you soon see that no amount of arrests would make the least impression on him or divert him one hair's breadth from the job he has in hand.

And now in comes the military attache at The Hague. He has been to Belgium to inquire into and arrange about further canal service, and to try to make arrangements with the German government to concede railway facilities if the canals should become frozen. Perhaps in speaking of the conditions there, he breaks off, and turns away. Then a Rhodes scholar brings in his report on the distribution and redistribution of the food sent from the United States, and you learn from him about the splendid work of the Belgian Comite National in Brussels and its branches throughout Belgium, intercommunication with which, owing to the great difficulty in obtaining passports for the Belgians from one place to another is carried on by officials of the commission, chiefly by Rhodes scholars, twenty of whom are already helping in this and other directions. And seeing those keen, dashing young fellows, one's thoughts naturally travel to Cecil Rhodes; and one knows that their presence and co-operation is the truest tribute in this time of international strain to the memory and meaning of Cecil Rhodes' large conception of life.

And now a member of the Dutch commitee for the Belgian refugees calls in on his way home from Lierre, and as he tells of the scenes he has witnessed, he, too, shows that the agony of Belgium lies heavy on his heart. And a deputy from the provincial committee at Liege comes to say that by the end of the year there will be no more bread in that district, and he speaks of the villages reduced to stones and ashes, and of beautiful little Vise wiped out, with three houses remaining out of 600, and women and children the sole survivors.

The Joy That Food Brings.

Then a Dutch Salvation Army captain and his wife, an American woman, arrive to inquire what help they can get in the way of warm clothing for the 17,000 Belgian soldiers interned in Utrecht, the greater number of whom had been cut off from the main army by the blowing up of a bridge by the allies, and were in consequence forced to enter Holland in order to escape being taken by the Germans.

And now there is a welcome telegram brought by the manager of the shipping department with news of the approach of fresh cargoes, and of the arrival of the "Doric" from Halifax, twelve hours or so before her appointed time. And why twelve hours before? Well, we soon hear the answer from the captain himself, who had touched first at Plymouth to land other cargo there.

"We heard the Belgians were needing food badly," he said, "so instead of anchoring in the Downs over night, we came through in the dark, and took our chance. It was rough weather, and there wasn't much to choose that I could see between striking a mine or having a mine strike us."

So the "Doric" sent by Nova Scotia, which has played up so splendidly from the onset, having collected in Canada and dispatched the first cargo of mercy in the "Tremorvah," has the distinction of being the first ship since the war began to make the channel passage in the night; and every one at the office is proud of her, and none prouder than the captain, though he of course pretends that "it's nothing—just nothing!"

Thus, made possible by this wholehearted devotion of service and sympathy, the fine work of the commission strides on—and will stride. But as communication is further opened up, and more intimate knowledge of the appalling conditions is brought to light, it is being realized that more money, not less, will be needed—60,000,000 francs a month—if Belgium is to be saved from starvation. A big task, but America will do it.

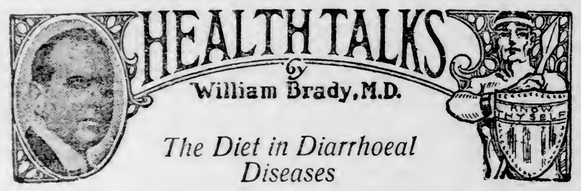

There steals over me the remembrance of that tireless worker at Malines, who turned in her despair to the mothers of America, and will not have turned in vain. For I know they will see to it that the food supplies shall not fail, that no one shall want for bread and salt, and that the little ones shall not perish from lack of milk.

They will speed the cargoes of mercy safely on their way.

The Diet in Diarrhoeal Diseases

ACUTE "summer complaint" is often a winter disease. The cause being bacterial changes in food, if food is kept where it is warm enough to permit the growth of bacteria, then there is sufficient explanation for the diarrhoea.

Chronic diarrhoea is a symptom of many different conditions. As a rule it indicates ulcerative lesions in the large bowel, but of course there are many cases attributable to simple dietetic factors, to kidney disease, to intestinal parasites, and to mucous colitis. In obstinate cases of chronic diarrhoea the examination of the evacuations will tell more about the cause than much guessing. The presence of mucus, pus, blood, certain evident undigested food, or the eggs or segments of parasites, solves the mystery of the causation of the trouble and point out the way of recovery.

In some individuals there is a tendency for food to pass hurriedly through the alimentary tract, and it is noticed that an evacuation follows closely after eating a meal. Here it will be found that some one article of food is the cause of the trouble, and by eliminating that article from the diet the trouble is relieved.

In chronic trouble in the pancreas there is a form of diarrhoea in which fats in the food, being wholly unchanged in the intestinal canal, pass through and show in the evacuations.

Physiological Rest Is the Secret of Success.

Fasting would be the ideal treatment for all forms of diarrhoea, could the patient stand it. In ordinary acute diarrhoea it is advisable and, indeed, about the only remedy required, following the introductory physic which should always be taken to clear out the offending food.

In chronic diarrhoea the secret of success is the selection of a diet which shall give the intestine physiological rest. Opiates and astringents do this in a crude, inadequate manner. A diet which leaves little or no residue does it in a more efficient manner.

Questions and Answers.

C. M. writes: 1. I have yellow soft spots on both eyelids. Please tell me the cause and if they can be removed. 2. I am troubled with a sharp pain or cramp across my foot just below my small toe, and am often obliged to remove my shoe for about five minutes to get relief. Sometimes this is necessary twice in half an hour.

REPLY.

1. We cannot tell from your description what these spots may be. Consult an oculist.

2. You have pressure neuritis of the interosseous nerve—from ill-fitting shoes. It is sometimes called Morton's painful affection of the foot. Unless you adopt suitable footwear and have the strain on the transverse arch corrected, you will find little relief. Don't experiment. Go to your family physician, or see an orthopedic specialist he will recommend.

Migraine inquires: Is "acetphenetidine" or "acetphenetidin" the same as acetanilide?

REPLY.

In effect, yes. Acetphenetidin is another name for phenacetin, which acts upon the nerves, heart and blood in the same depressing, poisonous way as acetanilide does in scores of "grip," "cold," "nerve," "migraine" and "neuralgia" remedies.

Mrs. R. asks: Is the "twilight sleep" being used by physicians in this community?

REPLY.

Yes, in cases deemed suitable. Any physician can apply it. But not every patient can take it.

R. L. briefly inquires: What will remove warts? Have tried caustic.

REPLY.

A doctor's scalpel, aided by a local anaesthetic.

C. B. D. asks: 1. Is aspirin a safe remedy against colds in the aged? 2. What is a good remedy for chronic neuritis of the head?

REPLY.

1. Aspirin is safe as any salicylic acid derivative. It has a certain depressing action upon the heart if regularly used. 2. There are at least twelve pairs of nerves in the head—which nerve is affected?

Mrs. W. E. P. desires to know how one should take care of her health during the change of life.

REPLY.

By correct living, as at any other period of life. Change of life never causes discomfort or disease, old wives' tales to the contrary notwithstanding.

E. R. E. takes the liberty to ask: To what uses can oxalic acid be put?

REPLY.

Cleaning straw hats, removing ink stains, killing rats, etc. We don't know of any medicinal uses.

FOR THOSE WHO WANT A CONVENIENT HOME

SOMETHING ORIGINAL—TO COST $4500.00

Here is a little story-and-a-half home that should appeal to anyone who wants something original—something different than their neighbors. The body of the house is carried up ina bluish gray stucco with dark brown trimmings. The blinds at the windows are green while the sash of the window itself is white. The roof is composed of red cedar shingles colored a dark, rich red.

The second floor is provided with two bedrooms, although three could be nicely arranged for if so desired. The type of house this represents produces many novel features in the interior that make the home—this home—more livable. The building would cost about $4,500 to build in Duluth.

THE SATURDAY HERALD YOUR SUNDAY PAPER

Why Electricians' Estimates Differ

"The answer is, we never get a chance to explain. No specification ever made was complete. All estimates differ on the one thing not specified—QUALITY. Each bidder quoted you on HIS quality, all you can do is specify the location of lights and switches. The manner of carrying out your direction depends on the HONESTY and skill of the contractor doing the work—YOU never know the difference. Most of the work don't show anyway. Perhaps in five years after the job is done you will know more about the kind of a job you got. The object we are striving for is that some day no one will question our price on a job, and we point with pride to the progress we are making toward our goal."

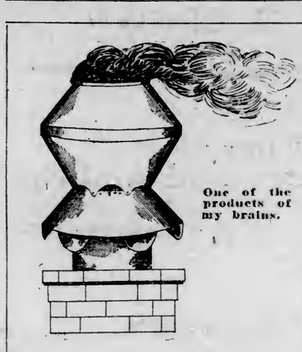

R. J. Baker, electrical contractor with offices at 411 Central avenue, is responsible for the above quotations. Mr. Baker has been in the electrical business exclusively in Duluth for the past nine years. During that time he has won considerable friends and business associates through his strictly first class work. He has wired practically all the largest buildings in West Duluth, among others being the Kreidler, Ramsted and Fieldman buildings. Among some of his large out-of-town jobs are—the Finnish college at Smithville and Everton hotel at Deer River, Minn. These are only a few of Mr. Baker's undertakings and are herein quoted only for reference purposes.

A good, clean, prompt and in every way a first class job is guaranteed by Mr. Baker to everyone entrusting him with electrical work o fany kind. He believes that quality of work he puts up is his strongest talking point. You will always get him by calling at his office or phoning Cole 94-D, or Calumet 62-L.

FOUR NEGROES LYNCHED BY MOB

Two Men and Two Women Hanged at Monticello, Ga.

Atlanta, Ga., Jan. 16.—Dan Barber, his son, Jesse, and Barber's two married daughters, Eula and Ella Charles, negroes, were taken from the Jasper county jail at Monticello Thursday night by a mob and lynched, according to a telephone message received here late yesterday.

The lynchings resulted indirectly from a fight that recently occurred at Dan Barber's home when J. P. Williams, chief of police, attempted to arrest him on a charge of selling whisky without a license. Barber appeared to have peaceably surrendered when he suddenly seized a revolver, it was declared, and opened fire on the officer. Barber's son, Jesse, and the two Charles women were then alleged to have joined in an attack on the policeman, beating him severely. Negroes living nearby notified the county authorities and the four were placed in jail. Late Thursday night, according to Sheriff Ezelle the mob entered the jail, overpowered him and took the negroes from the building.

It was said they were lynched one at a time, being first hanged then shot.

The bodies were discovered in an isolated section on the outskirts of town.

CITY OF AVEZZANO CEASED TO EXIST

William Marconi Tells of Its Complete Destruction By Quake.

Rome, Jan. 16.—William Marconi, who returned here yesterday from Avezzano declared words were insufficient to describe the horrors he had witnessed. 'The town had been leveled, he said, and those of its residents who escaped death in the disaster, now are destitute.

"King Victor Emmanuel told me," said Mr. Marconi, "that he had visited the scenes of all the earthquake disasters in Italy since he was a child, but this one surpassed all others, even including Messina. The king said the survivors of Avezzano were only between 2 and 3 per cent of its population, while in Messina one-third of the people escaped."

Describing the damage done in Avezzano, Mr. Marconi said:

"Avezzano has absolutely ceased to exist. In Messina some buildings, especially the palaces along the sea front give one the impression that they were still intact, their facades having survived the shock while only their interiors fell in. Not so with Avezzano. There no wall remains. It seemed as though the town had been ground to powder by some gigantic machine."

The people of Avezzano, according to Mr. Marconi, have abandoned their efforts to take the bodies of the dead from the wreckage and are giving their entire attention to trying to rescue the living who are prisoners in the debris. The catastrophe was of such vast proportions, that no organization of men could possibly have done anything to give immediate relief, Mr. Marconi added. The people were in despair at their powerlessness to render aid to those who called for assistance from their places of imprisonment.

Rescuers Few.

"During the first day of the disaster," Mr. Marconi continued, "the rescuers were so few they could not even attempt to excavate places from which cries of distress came and planted poles here and there at such spots, hoping to return later with adequate forces of men to release the imprisoned persons. When would-be rescuers did arrive, however, most of the voices were stilled and the poles were merely markers of spots under which lay the dead."

Mr. Marconi personally heard coming from under the ruins of the girls' school in Avezzano the voices of two of the pupils imploring air. The girls said they were uninjured. They were protected by a piano under which they had fallen and became wedged in the wreckage and acted as a screen from the tumbling walls of the schoolhouse. At first choked by dust and later numbed by cold, they had remained for two days without nourishment and in spite of the strenuous efforts made to release them, the girls were still prisoners when Mr. Marconi left Avezzano for Rome.

Prior to his departure, Mr. Marconi said he endeavored to organize small parties of men to attempt to extinguish fire which had broken out at several points among the debris and which, he declared, undoubtedly had burned to death some of the pinioned victims. The difficulty of fighting the flames was almost insurmountable, because water was almost entirely lacking in the town.

PATRICIDE IS INSANE.

Son of Kelsey Farmer Committed to St. Peter Asylum.

George McKay, self-confessed slayer of his aged father, John McKay, Kelsey farmer, last October, who was adjudged by the district court to be insane with homicidal tendencies, was taken yesterday afternoon by a deputy sheriff to the state asylum for the criminal insane at St. Peter on a commitment from Judge Hughes. The killing of the elder McKay grew out of a quarrel between the father and son over a noise which the former was making while putting on storm windows. An argument culminated in the shoting of the father.

CRIPPLE NEAR DEATH IN FIRE

Heroic Efforts of Neighbors Save Charles Olson; Home Destroyed.

Short Hose and 35-Mile Gale Handicap the Firemen.

Charles Olson, a cripple and one of the best-known characters in West Duluth, narrowly escaped with his life in a fire which destroyed his home, 706 South Sixty-third avenue west, early last evening. Only by heroic efforts on the part of neighbors was Mr. Olson carried from the flames before the roof of the building crashed in.

The fire started in the roof from sparks from the chimney. The blaze gained fast headway and before it was discovered by the family the entire roof was ablaze. Department No. 8 responded to the call and, although it carried nearly 1,000 feet of hose, this was found too short to reach from the nearest hydrant to the burning building and an additional trip for more hose was necessary.

The fire was one of the most spectacular witnessed in West Duluth in many months. For nearly an hour the sky was colored a bright red from the blaze. A 35-mile gale fanned the flames and made quick the work of destruction.

Olson has been confined to his home for several months. His lower limbs have become paralyzed. For a number of years he had been able to hobble around on crutches, but recently he has been unable to get around even in that manner. Friends and neighbors of the family cared for them during the night. The loss of the house is estimated at $1,000 with $500 insurance.

Another fire took place last evening at the home of Fred Mars, 4915 Magellan street. The damage was placed at $400. The house is owned by G. Foucault. The latter fire took place while Department No. 8 was still at the fire at the Olson home and equipment from No. 1 and No. 2 responded.

HOTEL LODGERS ROBBERY VICTIMS

Man Takes a Destitute Stranger to Room—Is Robbed at Night.

Two men met with financial losses last night at Duluth's smaller hotels.

Gus Preston lodged a complaint with the police this morning that he had been robbed of a gold watch and chain and a wallet containing $11.15. The alleged theft is said to have taken place at the Liberty hotel, 623 West Superior street, some time during the night. Preston claims to have applied for lodging and to have been assigned room 24. He says the transom of the door was open, and that the robber must have reached through the opening with a cane or stick. The thief, however, overlooked a $5 bill that was reposing snugly in the watch pocket of the victim's trousers.

A second and similar complaint was made to the police by Abraham Koski, who alleges that he was accosted on the street last night by David Oleson, who said that he had no place to sleep, and begged Koski to assist him. The latter, feeling sorry for the destitute man, took him to his room at 25 North Second avenue west. Some time during the night the man that he had befriended disappeared with $9 of his benefactor's money. Now the would-be philanthropist is destitute. The police are looking for Oleson, who is described as being 25 years old, 5 feet 6 inches high, medium weight, and wearing a brown overcoat with belt, and black cap.

COUNTERFEIT CASE ON TRIAL

Neukkennan Brothers Face Several Indictments in Federal Court.

An action against Peter and Matti Neukkennan on a charge of making counterfeit coin was placed on trial before Judge Page Morris and a Federal jury today. This action involves but one of the indictments preferred against the brothers by the Federal grand jury. Peter Neukkennan pleaded guilty to the indictment of passing counterfeit coin, and another indictment charges both with having a counterfeiting apparatus in their possession.

A jury was drawn in the case this forenoon, and the action placed on trial before noon. Chief of Police C. H. Troyer and Detective Frank Schulte were called to the witness stand to testify regarding the arrest of the men, which took place the early part of last September. The testimony for the most part was to identify the counterfeiting apparatus said to have been found in the possession of the prisoners.

It is probable that the case will be finished Monday. Assistant United States Attorney Egbert Oakley conducted the prosecution of the case today.

McGILLIGAN WINS CASE.

Jury Awards Injured Man $3,000 in Action Against D. W. & P.

A decision was rendered in the United States district court today in favor of Joseph B. McGilligan in a case against the Duluth, Winnipeg & Pacific railway. McGilligan sued for $15,000 for personal injuries received in a wreck, but was awarded only $3,000 by the Federal jury.

If the case is not appealed to the supreme court, this decision will end a long-fought action. In a former trial the railway company was the winner. W. M. Steel and A. E. McManus appeared as counsel for the plaintiff, and Hector Baxter for the defendant.

AN IMPOSSIBLE ILLUSTRATION.

Kansas City Star: Examined on history at West Point, Whistler failed to recall the date of the battle of Buena ista. "Suppose," said the exasperated instructor, "you were to go to dinner and the company began to talk of the Mexican war, and you, a West Point man, were asked the date of the battle; what would you do?"

"Do?" was the reply. "Why, I should refused to assocote with people who could talk of such things at dinner!"

NORTH DAKOTA'S BUILDING AT SAN FRANCISCO

VIEW OF THE NORTH FRONT OF THE NORTH DAKOTA STATE BUILDING AT PANAMA-PACIFIC INTERNATIONAL EXPOSITION.

"STATE OF NORTH DAKOTA"

That is the inscription over the front of the building that represents that enterprising state at the Panama-Pacific International exposition.

Its enterprise is proven by the fact that its building is one of the first to be completed in the long list of state buildings.

Even the lawns in front and all around the building are covered with blue grass, plants and flowers are in their places and ivy is clinging to the walls as though it had been there for a century.

The interior of the building is as complete and inviting as the hand of the mechanic and artisan can make it.

The North Dakota building is two stories in height and was put up under the supervision of Joseph Bell Deremer, leading architect of Los Angeles.

The general construction of the building is of timber framed in the usual manner with staff and plaster covering the interior surface. The building is French Renaissance in style and the exterior woodwork, including the doors and all down spouts, have been covered with a coat of green to match the woodwork on the exposition buildings.

The central portion of the building is laid out on an axis line formed at right angles to the oblique property line on the front, where the wings run parallel to their adjacent property lines with the various minor breaks formed at right angles to either the central portion or the wings.

The main entrance, Colonial in design, is ornamented with twin pillars with an immense vase on either side of the doorway. The entrance steps are of reinforced concrete slabs made in the same manner as though they were of stone, only they are supported on wood bearings. The loggia floors are of concrete over a wood form, which runs between the border joists forming the borders of white cement, while the panels are of red promenade tile.

The plain surface of the exterior of the building has received a scratch coat of hard plaster and then covered with a colored plaster mixture. This coat has been stippled with brushes and given the same finished effect as the plastering used on the exterior of the Machinery Hall building.

The roof is of Spanish style, similar to that used on other exposition structures, and assists in bringing the building into the plan of the general group.

The interior of the building consists of a great reception room and main hall on the first floor with two large rooms in each wing. These are beautifully finished. The floors are covered with tongued and grooved flooring highly polished, while the treads of the stairs are finished to match the floors. The interior columns are of wood core-locked stave stained and highly polished. The interior walls are bridged with two rows of bridging in the first story and one row of bridging in the second story. The circular bay around the stairway is sheathed vertically while the balance of the building is sheathed horizontally and all the sash and rails and all the interior woodwork is constructed from Douglas fir Oregon pine.

The second floor is fitted up with a complete suite of living rooms to be given over to the governor or other state officials. These rooms are to be beautifully fitted up. There are two fire places in them each supported on steel I beams which in turn are supported by straight grained posts reaching down to the sill.

On this same floor there are retiring rooms, a spacious dining room and a kitchenette. The kitchenette occupies space 18x30 and is furnished with all the latest in kitchen utensils as well as a porcelain enameled flat rim kitchen sink. The floor of the lavatories on this floor are porcelain enameled and the lavatories are fitted up in all the latest effects in plumbing.

The central front of the North Dakota building forms a very pretty picture. There are two fountains in the very center of the pavilion fitted with galvanized iron pipes and provided with shut off pipes and these fountains are connected with the storm sewer so as to take care of the waste or overflow.

There are balconies all the way around the building extending out so that visitors can stand on them.

From the second balcony in front of the building it will be possible for visitors to secure a full view of San Francisco bay for there are no buildings between the front of the North Dakota building and the water's edge.

Entering the North Dakota building the visitor is ushered into a large hall, which is to be used as the main reception room. At the four corners there are huge pillars extending from the floor to the roof of the building and from the center to these pillars there are balconies extending all the way around so that visitors may look down on the crowd on the main floor and also have a view of visitors coming and going out of the building.

There are large rooms extending out from each side of the main reception hall, which are to be fitted up for the use of the officials and those in charge of the building. There are also retiring rooms on the two floors fitted up in an up-to-date and modern way. Besides the main entrance there are smaller entrances and exits at the north and south sides of the building.

"CAMPAIGN FOR BETTER ROADS IN MINNESOTA"

By Roe Chase, Secretary Minnesota Good Roads Federation.

Minnesota is awakening to the needs of her country highways, the people of the country districts are beginning to realize the need of intelligent and economical road supervision and the people of the cities are beginning to realize their duty toward the rural highways which form their chief arteries of trade between country and city.

In days of yore it has been the custom to elect road overseers, town supervisors, county commissioners and kindred public officials largely upon their qualifications of good fellowship with little regard to whether they are qualified to superintend the building of public highways in the best and most thorough manner.

These officials have, in accord with the former haphazard method of spending the tax money raised for highway construction, hired Tom, Dick and Harry, and put them to work absorbing the road fund in the quickest and least arduous manner.

Scrawny teams hauling less than half a yard of material at a snail's pace have brought the owner the same per diem that the man with a big team received. The result has been dissatisfaction among more who were doing the road work in the state and little or nothing in the way of permanent road building as a result of the money spent.

With a view to securing co-operation in this work among men and organizations over the state there was organized last spring the Minnesota Good Roads Federation at St. Paul, under a charter from the National Highways association. Its officers serve without pay and its purposes may be briefly summarized as follows:

To create in Minnesota a state-wide demand for better roads.

To harmonize and make effective the efforts of all organizations working for good road improvement.

To help work out wise, fair and uniform good roads legislation.

To help bring about efficient road administration in the counties, towns and cities of the state, introducing skilled supervision and the entire elimination of politics and the political pension system from the management of the public roads.

To seek continuous and systematic maintenance of all roads and to determine the proper machinery, materials and methods to be used in various parts of the state in order that the people of the state may receive for the money expended for road improvements a full value in highway improvement.

The administration of the federation is vested in a board of trustees and its officers are further supplemented by a board of advisors, a board of vice presidents and a board of state councillors.

To secure the social, moral, commercial, industrial, material, educational and personal benefits in the uplift of the citizens of Minnesota, which follows in the train of easy and free intercommunication and transit between the great centers of population and the great productive areas of the state.

To disseminate knowledge and increase interest relative to the ethical and economic value of our public roads.

To aid all efforts for their improvement. To co-operate with and assist all the good road clubs, line organizations, civic and commercial bodies in the promotion of harmony and unity of operation.

Inasmuch as you are now paying for better roads, why not have them? You can have any kind of a road you want in your locality by paying for it and the poorer and cheaper the road the more you pay for it. Bad roads are costing you enough each year to make these same roads good and to maintain them in that condition.

The automobile has, of course, been one of the prime factors in awakening the people to the needs of highway improvement. So long as the country resident was content to amble to market behind his old plugs, sell his scant load of produce for what chanced to be the market price and consume the rest of the twenty-four hours on the return trip there was little interest in country roads. So long as the tourist caught his glimpses of Minnesota from the windows of a railroad train and the city resident confined his jaunts to the trolley nobody paid much attention to the good roads fanatic.

But the day of the motor truck for the huckster, the touring car both for the rural recreation of urban and suburbanite as well is at hand and the wonderful demand for motor vehicles has gone hand in hand with an emphatic demand for better roads. The old-time antipathy for the automobile is passing in the country districts as the more prosperous farmers possess cars and drive them. And the farmer and the resident of the city are benefiting commercially and socially by getting more closely in touch with each other. All that is needed to foster and promote this friendly interchange of good will is better streets and highways.

TELLS OF HIGHWAYS IN GOPHER STATE

Cooley Gives Address Before the Atlanta Road Congress.

In a paper before the Atlanta road congress George W. Cooley, state highway engineer of Minnesota, delivered the following address on "Highways in Minnesota:"

"The state of Minnesota has given special atention to the matter of maintenance and the present road laws make adequate provisions for the care of all roads. Township and county roads constitute approximately 90 per cent of the road mileage of the state, and of these roads, about 90 per cent are earth roads. To care for the town and country roads, a 1-mill tax is levied on all property in the town, the proceeds of which constitutes the town dragging fund. This fund is expended under the direction of an overseer, appointed by the town board, for the purchase of drags, and in dragging all roads of the town, excepting state roads. This appears to be the most satisfactory method of caring for the earth roads under control of the local authorities, but there should be a provision in such cases, for general supervision of the work by the county highway engineer.

"For the care of state roads in Minnesota 20 per cent of the state road funds, with a due proportion of county funds are set aside and may not be used for any other purpose than maintenance of state roads. As the state roads include all types of construction, different systems of maintenance have been required in the different localities. In general, three systems have been established: The patrol system on macadam and well built gravel roads, and the maintenance section system, and road drag system on other roads, all being under the direct supervision of the district highway engineer.

"Under the maintenance section system, one man is given charge of a section of from twenty to thirty miles of road and is employed continuously with his team on the care of his section. He is given authority to employ additional help, both teams and men, and usually has two teams and four or five men at work. Contracts are also entered into by the section foreman with residents along the road, for the dragging of same after each rain, or when ordered to do so by him. The section crew takes care of all minor items of construction, such as placing culverts, etc., and we have found that the work when properly done, is really of a constructive nature. This system is without doubt the most effective, and is being adopted generally throughout the state.

"The dragging system requires the employment of a superintendent of maintenance, who for convenience should be one of the engineer's assistants, whose duty is to contract or make arrangements for the dragging of all roads under his charge, and to see that the work is done at proper times.

NEW YORK SHOW WAS BEST IN YEAR

Haynes Cars Attract Wide Attention at Big Exhibit.

"The fifteenth annual exhibition of the National Automobile Chamber of Commerce, which closed at the Grand Central palace, New York city, Jan. 9, was the greatest event of the kind held in recent years," states M. W. Turner, distributer in this territory for the Haynes, America's first car.

"The keen competition among the manufacturers is responsible for the wonderful improvement in the design and construction of the cars. Simplicity is the keynote and the consequent result is that visitors at the show were greatly astonished at the low prices asked for the extraordinary values offered.

"The automobile industry has made remarkable progress during the last fifteen years. Each year has seen a larger volume of sales and greater successes, and the unusual car values now offered already promise a greatly increased business for 1915.

"The magnitude of the automobile industry is apparent when it is stated that the 450 manufacturers have produced 545,000 cars during 1914, valued approximately at $485,000,000. The pioneer manufacturers, of course, deserve a great deal of credit for the present status of the industry.

"One of the most interesting exhibits at the Grand Central Palace was that of the Haynes Automobile company, Kokomo, Ind., which has exhibited in every automobile show held in New York and Chicago. The Haynes display consisted of a five-passenger light six touring car and roadster, a light six chassis and a new seven-passenger light six, which was shown for the first time at the New York show.

"Due to the remarkable performance of the Haynes light six in the East, the cars were a continual source of attraction and aroused so much favorable comment that the Haynes representatives were highly gratified. Before the show closed, seventy-nine cars were sold to retail buyers, aggregating $125,000, and several large contracts closed with distributers in various parts of the country. The Haynes company will duplicate their New York exhibit at the Chicago event which opens Jan. 23."

A CRAB-PECKED HUSBAND.

Chicago News: The little, mild, bald man had settled down in the train to read, and feeling drowsy after a trying day at business, fell asleep. On the hatrack above was a ferocious crab in a bucket, and, reaching the edge of the rack, it fell, alighting on the little man's shoulders, and grabbed his ear to steady itself.

All of the passengers waited expectantly for developments, but all they heard was:

"Let go, Sarah; I tell you, I've been at the office all evening."

NEW CROOKSTON CHURCH IS AN UP-TO-DATE EDIFICE

Dr. R. Cooper Bailey, whose wonderful energy is phenomenal, realized at once the needs in the local field and, despite every discouragement, has succeeded in pusuing his project through successfully. The new church home on North Broadway is a great monument of Presbyterianism in Crookston and throughout the Northwest, and the recent dedication attracted widespread attention in Protestant circles.

STAGELAND

Lyceum

Friends of the Baldwin Players will have a little dessert to the usual bill of fare next week, or perhaps it would be better to call it an appetizer.

The appetizer will be a one-act play, by Dr. David Henry Day of Duluth, entitled "A Pair of Crooks." It will be given its first presentation on any stage by the Baldwin Players, being used as a curtain raiser to the three-act comedy, "Lost Twenty-four Hours."

"A Pair of Crooks" is a rather melodramatic little sketch, requiring about twenty-five minutes to play, and dealing with the adventures of a mayor who has been a crook and has reformed, and his wife, who also has a past and is trying to live it down. The crooked politicians of the city try to renew their hold on him by digging up his past and that of his wife, and after some rather unusual and thrilling incidents, they are foiled. Walter G. Baldwin, Sr., read the sketch last summer and was favorably impressed with it. He promised at that time to produce it when a favorable opportunity presented, but was unable to do so before the fall engagement ended. With the opening of the winter engagement the sketch was taken up by Walter G. Baldwin, Jr., and will be presented next week as a curtain raiser. Mr. Baldwin is authority for the statement that the playlet "plays well," and he expects it to score a decided hit with Lyceum patrons.

This is believed to be the first time that a play or playlet by a Duluthian has been presented in Duluth, and to produce a new play for the first time is also an experiment for the Baldwin Players. They hope it will turn out successfully.

"Of course we can't try many experiments," said Mr. Baldwin, "and we must try to give our patrons plays that we know are successful, but in this instance, even if the playlet is a failure, which I do not believe it will be by any means, our regular patrons will be out nothing. We are willing to experiment as long as the people who pay the money don't suffer by our failures."

"Lost Twenty-four Hours," which will be the regular bill for the week, is a three-act comedy in which Robert Hilliard scored his biggest success. It is said to have a unique plot, and to be filled with crisp lines and clever situations.

The Baldwin Players will have a two days' vacation next week. They will open with the two regular performances Sunday and will lay off Monday and Tuesday while "A Pair of Sixes" is being presented. They will return for the Wednesday matinee and give the usual performances Thursday night, Friday night and Saturday matinee and night. Thursday all of the seats in the theater have been sold to the curlers, who will have the theater to themselves, and the visitors at the Northwestern bonspiel will be entertained.

"Our Wives," the play which is being used this week, and the last performance of which will be given tonight, will be sent to Atlanta and used there as the first play to be presented by the new stock company which Walter G. Baldwin, Sr., is opening there.

"A Pair of Sixes."

The familiar significance of the title, "A Pair of Sixes," which will be seen at the Lyceum theater next Monday and Tuesday matinee and night, has made it well known the country over, apart from the fact that the farce has enjoyed a run of nearly a year at the Longacre theater, New York, six months at the Cort theater in Chicago and is now being played by four other companies in Australia, South America and Europe.

The play was received by the metropolitan critics with an expression of praise that almost exhausted the superlatives, and the hilarious farce has made good everywhere, despite this avalanche of praise. It has made the theatergoers expect much and they have not been disappointed. For ingenuity of plot, bright dialogue, hilarious complications and most amusing situations, it has been declared the best play of its kind in recent years. It is by Edward Peple, the author of "The Littlest Rebel" and "The Prince Chap" and is in three acts.

The plot deals with the affairs of George B. Nettleton and T. Boggs Johns, partners in a pill manufacturing business, who are constantly at loggerheads, each longing to be rid of the other, but neither willing to sell out. They summon their lawyyer, but decline his various propositions for dissolution until in despair he suggests a contract with numerous conditions by which a hand of poker is to be played, with the penalty that the loser shall quit the business for a year and in the interval serve as a servant in the household of the winner. The lawyer is interested personally because he hopes to see T. Boggs Johns lose, and with his lips sealed by the confract he will be humiliated before the girl with whom he is in love, and in whom the lawyer is also interested. The breaking of the contract means a forfeiture of $5,000, and sacrificing his share in the business. Johns loses and Nettleton and the lawyer both feel he will break the contract rather than stick it out for a year. But he grits his teeth and bravely enters upon his duties as butler in the Nettleton household. He is found here performing his menial duties by his sweetheart, who arrives as the guest of the Nettletons. He cannot explain his position to her, and there is more trouble for him through the attentions of an eccentric English housemaid, who pursues him for a husband. This comical complication is developed through a rapid series of hilarious situations and the fun rattles along until the unfortunate partner's sweetheart takes a hand in the game and rescues him from the clutches of his partner. The latter, too, is glad to end the agreement, for he has mistaken the sympathy of his wife for the loser and believes that she is in love with him, and his assininity creates an uproarlous entanglement.

Orpheum

With two vaudeville stars of the first magnitude on the program, the bill at the Orpheum for the coming week promises to be one that will be well worth seeing twice, and at the present popular prices should fill the house to capacity during the entire engagement. "Wives of the Rich," Claude Gillingwater's star-line dramatic sketch, in which Mr. Gillingwater, the author-actor, is himself the star, is to have the honor position of the program. The act is deemed one of the best dramatic playlets ever offered to an Orpheum audience. The central figure is a husband who becomes so immersed in piling up millions that he neglects his wife, and the manner in which he is brought to a realization of the true state of affairs is highly dramatic and produced in such a manner that it fairly holds an audience in breathless suspense. Mr. Gillingwater has excellent support in Miss Edith Lyle and a company of six. Miss Lyle formerly played the title role in the Klaw & Erlanger production of "The Winning of Barbara Worth," and as the wife in "The Wives of the Rich," she is duplicating her former success of the legitimate productions.

The other star act of the bill will be Miss Ray Samuels, aptly styled "The Blue Streak of Vaudeville," although in her offering of ragtime and comedy song numbers she fairly overtakes the proverbial "blue streak" and wins popular favor the minute she steps on the stage. A magnetic personality and absolute technical skill make her one of the supreme lights in her own particular line.

Wilbur Mack and Nella Walker, one of the best of little singing and talking sketch teams in vaudeville, have another act that is scheduled to score an individual hit on the coming week's bill. "An Every Day Occurrence" is the title of the clever little offering they are using to win public approval.

Kremolina, a shapely young woman, assisted by the Darras brothers, promises a new sensation in equilibrism and aerial feats on the swinging trapeze.

Laughlin's Comedy Dogs, a troupe of clever canine comedians, is an act that will appeal to the grownups as well as the children, and is an example of what infinite patience in training will do.

New adventures and comedy pictures will be the offering of the "Jaunts and Journeys" series of pictures.

The New Grand

An entertainment to please the most sophisticated theater-goer is the present excellent bill at the popular New Grand. A delightful Scotch mixture is offered by Bensee and Baird. With true undiluted accent, dainty Miss Baird is as refreshing as the heather. Whether warbling one of their haunting melodies, flinging Scotch flings or indulging in excellent fooling, the clever pair romped into favor, and their success has been immediate and undeniable. One of the best features of the bill is Nick Santora and his company in a thrilling story of the prize ring, "Marty Hogan's Win." Nick Santora is well known over the sporting world as one of the cleverest boxers that the prize ring has produced. Five people appear with Santora in his clever sketch, which will close with a sensational three-round bout. The act is full of interest from start to finish and Santora has proved himself as good a performer as he was a fighter. The Imperial Japs, three in number, are foot jugglers and accomplish wonderful feats of balancing. As a climax one of the trio makes a backward slide from the topmost point in the gallery to the stage. It is a thrilling and hair-raising finish. Frank La Proil does some clever and thrilling stunts in the flying trapeze and rings, that are new and original. The Hearst-Selig News this week contains many interesting pictures from the war zone as well as subjects from this country. Among the photoplays is one of the Helen Holmes railroad stories, "The Escape on the Limited;" a two-reel feature, "The Plot," with Maurice Costello; an Essanay comedy, "She Landed a Big One," and an educational film.

Commencing Monday matinee the bill will change entirely. On the new bill are Herbert's "Loop the Loop Dogs," which are said to represent the acme of canine training. Some cats, which make a rare combination, are used to fill in the grouping and trick numbers. Bert and Hazel Skatelle are one of the big acts on the bill and come direct from the New York Winter Garden with their incomparable roller-skate dances. Keno, Welsh and Melrose, acrobatic comedians, fill a long-felt want in their line as their work is entirely original, and all their "stunts" are new. Grant Gardner is a performer of exceptional ability and is too well known to vaudevillians to need particular mention. He is always a hit with his funny sayings and funnier songs. As a laugh-getter he has a high place on the American stage. Owing to the great demand for extra performances of the special three-reel feature which has always been confined to Tuesday and Wednesday, Manager Phelps has arranged to show the great Broadway success, "Two Women," on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday. "Two Women" is unconventional, full of charm and pathos, and tells a beautiful story. In the cast are such well-known performers as Anita Stewart, Earle Williams, Julia Swayne Gordon and Harry Northrop. This feature will be shown each day at 2:45, 6 and 8:15. On Monday afternoon and night the dedication films showing all the important events at the supreme dedication held in Des Moines, Iowa, of the Yeoman castle, will be added to the regular program. Other photoplays on the bill are "Olive's Other Self," one of the "Olive's Opportunity" stories; "The Indian Suffragette," a comedy, and a Western story.

AT THE ZELDA

"A Woman's Debt," which will be seen at the Zelda Sunday and Monday, is the first production made by Wilfred Lucas and company since the completion of "The Tray O'Hearts." At the opening of the story the business man is seen proposing to his stenographer. After a time she accepts not for love, but to save her mother and father from starvation. Four years later she is wasting her husband's money in gambling. Her old lover turns up and promises to pay her debts if she will leave her husband for him. As her child has just died from her neglect and her husband is angry with her, she is tempted to accept, but at length her better self triumphs. Husband and wife are happy and the villain departs. The photoplay is shown in two reels. Other reels shown will be: "Hubby's Cure," a comedy; "For the Defense," a drama; and "For the Good of the Cause," a beautiful one-reel drama.

LILLIAN RUSSELL SELLS TICKETS FOR LUNCH FUND IN NEW YORK

"JAKE" WILK BOOSTS LUNCH FUND.

This picture, which was taken in New York city, shows Lillian Russell, the famous stage beauty, who blooms perennially from the magazines and newspapers, selling tickets for the lunch fund for the children of the public schools of the metropolis. The woman in front is Sophie Irene Loeb, the well-known social worker, and next is Miss Russell's sister. At the end is Jacob Wilk, formerly manager of a stock company at the Lyceum theater in this city, but who is now connected with the World Film corporation of New York. Mr. Wilk is just about to buy a ticket to help the "kiddies."

Mr. Wilk states in a letter to The Herald that Miss Russell has just finished making a photo-play version of "Wildfire," the drama of the race course, a vehicle in which she became widely known.

AT THE REX

As usual the Rex Beautiful will have a special show for Sunday. Monday and Tuesday the Sarah Bernhardt of America, Dorothy Donnelly, the young emotional actress, will be featured in Henri Bernstein's well-known play, "The Thief." Miss Donnelly is the creator of the title part of "Madam X." "The Thief" was staged at the William Fox studios and some conception of the elaborateness of the production may be gained from the fact that the gowns worn by the star are valued at $5,000 and were selected from the products of leading modistes in New York and London.

Full of charm and sweetness, Mary Pickford will smile a welcome to Rex patrons for two whole days, Wednesday and Thursday, in a new and modern version of "Cinderella," a delightful blend of comedy and pathos, providing a treat for people of all ages. In the exquisitely fanciful fairy tale, Mary Pickford portrays the pathetic but bewitching Cinderella girl. Owen Moore makes a noble and heroic young Prince Charming. The remainder of the supporting company have been well chosen.

"If the old philosophers are right, and "laughter is wealth," then "The Million" is well named. "The Million" has won the distinction of possessing more laughter and wholesome fun than any comedy of recent years. The subject also presents one of the most remarkable examples of character acting supplied in many years. Edward Abeles, playing the lead, is called on to portray no less than six entirely distinct characters—first, as the crook with the police baying at his heels; then as Ike Damskinaki, the second-hand clothing dealer of the Bowery; then as Donatelli, the singer; next as a waiter at a roadhouse, and finally as the blond cabaret singer. It is a clever piece of work and fun of the merriest. It will be at the Rex Beautiful Friday and Saturday.

Esther Gomberg and her orchestra will furnish music at the Rex every evening, with the exception of Thursday night, each week.

The SUNBEAM

"The Fifth Man," another thrilling and fascinating moving picture serial by Kathlyn Williams, from a scenario by James Oliver Curwood, will be the Sunday offering at the Sunbeam theater. "The Fifth Man" is the third of a series of moving picture stories by Kathlyn Williams, the popular Selig film favorite. Briefly, the story is as follows:

Five young men on completing their college courses meet at the home of one of them, Thomas Wynn, to speed as parting guests three of their number about to depart for foreign points. They agree to meet at the same time and place in five years, if they are alive. The years pass and on the appointed day only three appear. A letter is received from the fourth and as midnight approaches the fifth man suddenly staggers into the room, an uncouth figure, with long, unkempt hair and beard and tattered clothing. He is John Gaunt and tells a thrilling tale of adventure in Central America. For three years he had buried himself in the wilds of that country in search of gold. One day he wandered away from the camp and was lost in the jungle. After suffering from many hardships he meets an insane scientist who had degenerated into a mad beast, accompanied by a negro similarly afflicted. He discovers to his horror that they hold as captive a beautiful American girl, the daughter of a sea captain, whose vessel had been wrecked on the coast two years before, and she alone of the crew had been saved. Gaunt falls in love with her, and they escape, but are recaptured. Gaunt then again makes his escape, goes to a seaport town and gets passage on a tramp steamer for New York, where he arrives just in time to keep the appointment and tell his friends of this thrilling adventure. The next day a rescue party is made up, they depart for Central America and save the girl.

GOSSIP OF THE RIALTO

John Drew has not had much luck with his new vehicle, "The Prodigal Father." He closed his season with this play at Washington, D. C., a few days ago.

College Students Narrow-Minded.

Manhattan, Kan., Jan. 16.—College students, as a rule, are narrow-minded, according to David F. Houston, secretary of agriculture, who spoke before the students of the Kansas State Agricultural college here yesterday. He urged them to broaden their outlook on life. Secretary Houston asserted that no student could get the full worth of his college course by studying less than eight hours a day.

CRAIG NOW PRESIDENT

Duluth Man Unanimously Elected Head of the State Fair.

F. B. Logan of Royalton Is Chosen Member of Board of Managers.

Minneapolis, Minn., Jan. 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—Unanimous election of Charles P. Craig of Duluth by the Minnesota State Agricultural society followed an attack on Mr. Craig by J. C. Coughlin of Waseca, who offered a resolution declaring that Mr. Craig, as a member of the state efficiency and economy commission had shown himself out of sympathy with the ideas of the agricultural society.

The resolution was greeted with hoots and catcalls and then there were many seconds to the nomination of Mr. Craig, which had been made by L. B. Arnold of Duluth. John Dwan said he knew Mr. Coughlin would apologize. Motion to make the election unanimous was made by J. J. Furlong, the retiring president.

Charles Patterson of St. Paul was elected second vice president without opposition. E. J. Stillwell of Minneapolis moving up automatically to the first vice presidency, succeeding Eli Warner of St. Paul, who retires.

Logan Elected to Board.

F. B. Logan of Royalton, who has been superintendent of agriculture at the state fair, was elected a member of the board of fair managers to the place made vacant by the advancement of Mr. Craig to the presidency of the society. Robert Crickmore of Owatonna was re-elected to the board.

The Coughlin resolution was offered following adoption by the society of one previously offered by Mr. Coughlin in which the society went on record as "unalterably opposed" to the principles proposed by the efficiency and economy commission of transferring management of the state fair from the agricultural society to a director of agriculture.

Charles Kenning of Bird Island declared the efficiency and economy commission proposed to take the management of the state fair away from the producers and place it in the hands of university professors.

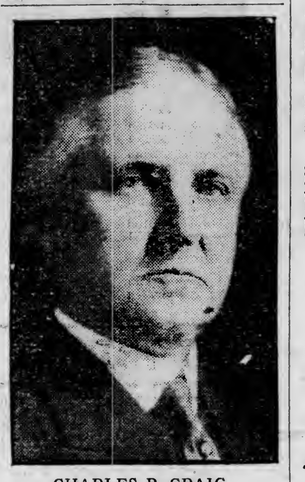

R. A. Wilkinson of St. Paul also spoke against the efficiency and economy commission plan. The plan was upheld by H. J. Hughes of St. Paul, a member of the commission.

Lost by One Vote.

A resolution was introduced proposing an amendment to the state law requiring that only county societies owning or leasing enclosed exhibition grounds and charging a renumerative admission fee should receive state aid. A vote by acclamation indicated that the motion had carried. Roll call was asked for and the vote stood 120 for and 121 against.

The organization recommended an appropriation not to exceed $40,000 for Minnesota exhibits at the Panama-Pacific exposition.

The committee on resolutions proposed that the society urge Governor Hammond to appoint men interested in agriculture in filling two vacancies in the board of regents at the university next March.

CHARLES P. CRAIG.

She was insured for $100,000.

DR. BARKER WILL BE HERE SUNDAY

Famous Health Doctor Will Conduct Week of Meetings.

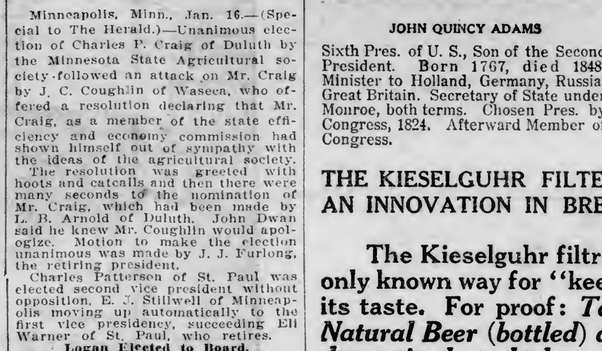

Dr. C. E. Barker of Washington, D. C., who will conduct a health campaign in Duluth for a week, is expected to arrive Sunday morning and will be very busy during his first day in Duluth. On account of there being no pastor at the First Presbyterian church, he will conduct the morning service, and at 3 o'clock will speak at the Masonic temple in connection with the popular Sunday afternoon concert. At 4:30 the young men of the city will have a chance to char him at the Y. M. C. A. in one of his practical addresses to young men. This meeting is open to all young men of the city, and promises to be full of interest.

Dr. Barker is a specialist and can speak with a great deal of authority on the subjects he will discuss in Duluth. Sunday evening at the evening service, he will occupy the First Presbyterian pulpit. This besides numerous personal interviews and private conferences, will make up an extremely busy day.

The services the entire week will be fully as interesting as those of Sunday, and the doctor will be no less busy, each of the five remaining days than he will be the first day of his arrival.

Monday night the meeting at the Y. M. C. A. for the united young people's societies of the city will be one of the best gatherings of its kind that has been held in this city. The young people's societies of practically every church have been invited to this union service, and the address is entitled, "Health, Happiness and Religion."

Fuller details will be given of the services that are to follow each day. The programs indicate the nature of the meeting and those who are admitted.

JOHN QUINCY ADAMS

Sixth Pres. of U. S., Son of the Second President. Born 1767, died 1848. Minister to Holland, Germany, Russia, Great Britain. Secretary of State under Monroe, both terms. Chosen Pres. by Congress, 1824. Afterward Member of Congress.

Self-Government Leads to Temperance.

JOHN QUINCY ADAMS TELLS WHY PERSONAL LIBERTY ALONE ENFORCES TEMPERANCE.

"Forget not, I pray you, the right of personal liberty; self government is the foundation of all our political and social institutions, and it is by self-government alone that the law of temperance can be enforced. Seek not to enforce upon your brother by legislative enactment, that virtue which he can possess only by the dictates of his own conscience and the energy of his own free will."

THE KIESELGUHR FILTER AN INNOVATION IN BREWING

The Kieselguhr filtration of Fitger Natural Beer is the only known way for "keeping" bottled beer and preserving its taste. For proof: Taste the similarity between Fitger Natural Beer (bottled) and any of the finest imported or domestic draught beers.

Pasteurization, the old method commonly in use for keeping bottled beer, spoils the taste of beer. But filtration, by way of a Kieselguhr Filter, does not spoil it. In fact, it preserves it. For proof: Taste the difference in other brand of beer between its draught beer (unpasteurized) and its bottled beer (pasteurized).

The Kieselguhr Filter (first of its kind in America) makes Fitger Natural Beer the clearest, most brilliant beer in America. For proof: Compare any other bottled beer with Fitger Natural Beer.

FEW DULUTHIANS FROM EARTHQUAKE DISTRICT

None Who Had Friends or Relatives There Are Known to Rev. J. Zarrilli.

Though there are about 1,500 native-born Italians in the city of Duluth alone, it is now thought that few, if any, of them came from that section of Italy affected by the earthquake. At first it was believed that many of them had relatives in that district, but none who had friends there have yet been heard from.

Rev. J. Zarrilli, pastor of St. Peter's Italian church at Eleventh avenue west and First street, is authority for the statement that most of his parishioners come from a different section of the country entirely.

Boriano in the province of Campobasso is the birthplace of a very large percentage of Duluth's Italian population, while there are a few families from Lombardi, Avellino and Calabria. The provinces of Rome and the Abruzzi have contributed only three or four citizens each to Duluth's population, it is said.

In view of the fact that there have been no inquiries for special information from the Italian residents here, it is believed the disaster, terrible as it is, will not affect them materially, though expressions of sorrow and grief are heard on every hand from those whose countrymen have met with such an overwhelming calamity.

Walter Miller and Waino Kentonen to Fight Out Old Grudge—Should Duluth Leave the American Hockey Association?—Big Ski Tourney Booked for February—Boxing and Its Financial End.

BY BRUCE.

IT WAS announced definitely today that Walter Miller and Waino Ketonen will wrestle at 158 pounds ringside in this city on the evening of Feb. 2. The contest will be wrestled on a winner take all basis. The loser will not receive one cent for his efforts, according to the terms exacted by Tilton E. Lewis. The winner will receive all of the money and the privilege of meeting Mike Yokel.

In a winner take all contest both contestants are virtually wagering all the wrestlers' share of the gross receipts in a side bet proposition. Miller is wagering the winner's share against Ketonen's winner's share. If Miller loses, he loses all the money. The same holds true of Ketonen.

The writer has been of the firm and unshaken opinion for some time that no wrestler lives who can defeat Ketonen at 158 pounds ringside. Since Miller's sensational and decisive defeat of the 175-pound Theodore Peter, a host of the little Pole's friends have declared their faith in Walter's ability to beat any wrestler living who will scale in at 158 pounds ringside.

There is a deep feeling of resentment against the Finn upon the part of Miller. Ketonen has disturbed Walter for nearly two years and defied him at every opportunity. Ketonen on the other hand openly declares his hatred for the little Pole and has long and persistently sought for the opportunity to seek redress for his real or fancied wrongs on the mat. The match gives abundant promise of being the fiercest contested mat battle ever wrestled here. Miller will stop at nothing within the rules of the game to beat Ketonen. Ketonen has declared a score of times, "Wait until I get Miller on the mat." The wait has been a long one. What will Ketonen do?

What About Hockey?

OPINIONS are prolific concerning the future of hockey at the curling club this winter. Will Duluth leave the league? Will Duluth have the opportunity to meet the winner of the eastern division of the American Hockey association?

These and a multitude of other queries have been flung on the brisk breeze of inquiry. Who knows? We do not.

Admitting that officials of the club acted wisely and well in insisting upon calling the game with Portage Lake, the larger fact remains that the disruption of the Western Division of the American association is rather a serious matter. The league should be larger than the foolish act of one player or a team of players; let the league stand, is the plea of some.

Ole Haas is too insignificant to bring about a sport disaster of that hulking magnitude. All of the members of the Portage Lake team are infinitely too insignificant, in comparative light, understand, to bring about the dissolution of a league that really stands for supremacy of a wide stretch of country.

There are some sane sportsmen in our midst, now that the heat of the Haas incident has somewhat evaporated, that would ardently like to see the Western division of the American Hockey association remain intact. Duluth's withdrawal from the league may bring about a disruption.

Stop, look and listen, all ye. It would be a fine accomplishment, a magnificent sporting feat for Duluth to win the title of the American Hockey association. Just how Duluth can secure a chance by leaving the league, is not clear or logical to our comprehension.

There are angles and arguments to be presented by both sides of the controversy; that is, by those who have taken sides. The two sides are divided only on the question of whether Duluth is to remain in the league. Opinion here is clearly on the side of the stand taken by the officials of the club in the Haas incident, or episode, if you will.

Many of the fans would like to see the league season played out, with the Portage Lake team thoroughly purged and its manager changed. We for one would like to see Duluth get a fling at the old hockey title, because we are of the opinion, after witnessing that thrilling twelve minutes of the recent contest, that Linder's aggregation stands a great chance of winning the title.

The Ski Tournament.

Pete Wright dropped into The Herald sport department yesterday. He is to the local ski sport what Boswell was to old Doc Johnson. Pete nurses, cuddles and softly croons over the sport.

"Just between you and me," began Pete, making a megaphone with his hand, and speaking with mysterious intent, "we have made the hill eight feet higher. They will go down that slide so fast that you won't hardly see them. Making the hill higher, you know has made it steeper. You will see some riding this year that you never saw before here, or anywhere around here."

In the days before the break between the local club and the National association, over which Aksel Holter presides with the blare of trumpets and many flourishes of his scepter, ski sport was held in high esteem by the Scandinavians and others of our little city.

Tourneys of the last few seasons have not dotted the picturesque hillside so liberally with the black fringe of humanity, with two bits a human divvy at the gate.

This season several well directed efforts have merged and formed a corporation to make the tourney that is to be held here Feb. 6 and 7 one great and glorious success.

Features are being worked out that are calculated to awe and inspire the lovers of the thrilling sport. Efforts are also being made to bring the greatest riders in the world here to attempt to raise the present world's record.

And, let it be whispered, Pete Wright, who is to the ski club what Ray M. Hughes has been in a measure to the Citizens' league, declares the steepened slide, with its precipitious leap, not to mention the increased momentum of the rider, is liable to set up a new world's mark.

Merely as an after thought, let it be stated that the altered slide was completed today, and that "Doc" Chapman and "Doc" Abbott and "Dick" Close are hereby dared to go out and start from the top and take a chance.

Fabulous Fortunes? No!

Now that the boxing bill is looking for sympathy among the worthy solons of the two legislative houses of this great and sovereign state, pray let us state that those scenting fortunes, should the legalized permission be secured to hold bouts on home soil, are playing personal opinion straight across the board against precedent and sad and tearful experiences.

Now, merely for instance, you read of Eddie McGoorty and Billy Murray fighting in Milwaukee the other evening. McGoorty is one of the most prominent of all the middleweights; one who has an equal right to claim premier honors along with Gibbons and Clabby. If you speculated on the emoluments to principals and promoters, here's a hazard you figured vaguely in the thousands.

We hasten on with mad gallop to the disillusionment. There was a trifle over $1,300 in the house. We have that straight from Milwaukee, Bo.

Tom Andrews made preparation for a streaming line of humanity to the Ritchie-White battle. In his hectic eagerness to land this pugilistic plum, Thomas eagerly and with joyous pen guaranteed Ritchie $10,000—count 'em—for his end.

Pretty soft for 30 minutes work—but Tom thought of his emolument and desisted from sarcastic comment. Tom, anyway, is a genial and honest soul.

But back to figures. The fight drew a trifle over $13,000. Figure these items up yourself: $10,000 for Ritchie, $1,000 for the Auditorium, 22 1-2 per cent of the gross receipts for White, transportation and some training expenses for Ritchie, advertising and preliminaries and a score of other expenses, and then draw a picture of the deficit that Tom Andrews faced with drawn countenance and shaken faith.

Over in Superior the boxing game has been a succession of financial reverses for the most part. Kelly and Walters, Ferns and Kelly, Brown and Whitney, Brown and Larson, Temple and Robideau, and Gibbons and Mahoney, were all on the list. Pal Brown and Johnny Tillman played to capacity. The "S. R. O." sign was hung out and then taken in and the doors locked. That was the one bout that turned 'em away.

Don't get the notion that there are fortunes mingled in the complicated ends of boxing, for there are not.

FIGHTER INDICTED.

So Are Promoters of Bout That Ended in Death of One Contestant.

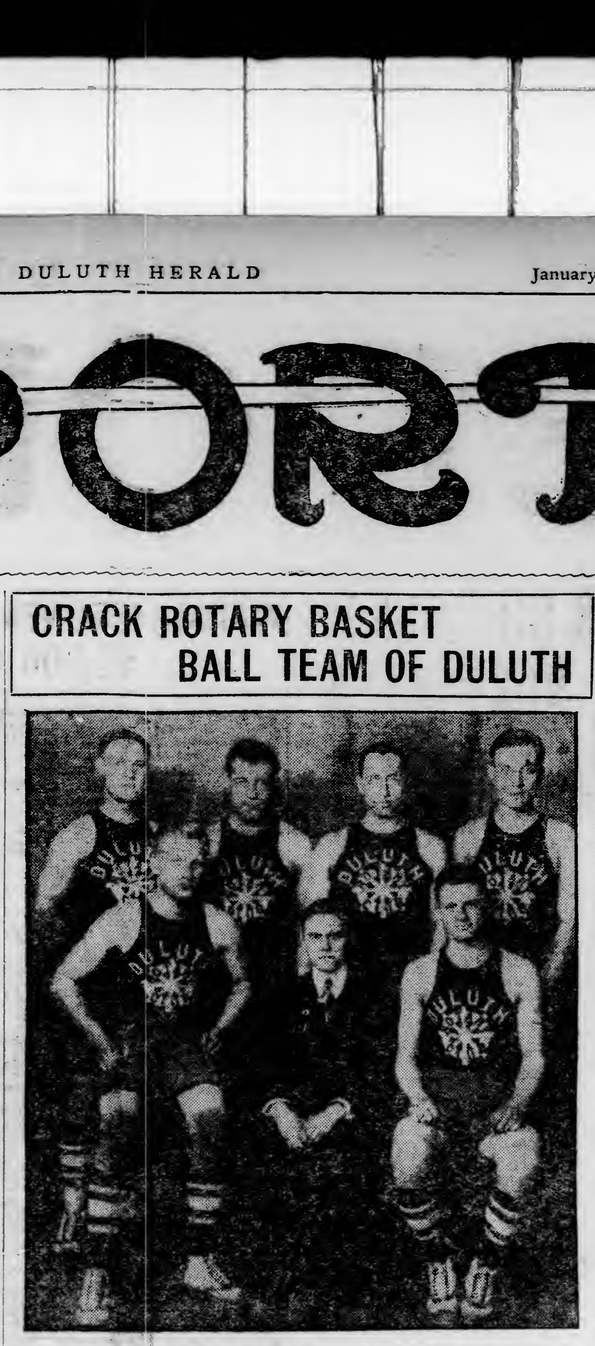

Seattle, Wash., Jan. 16.—Formal charges of manslaughter were filed here yesterday against Ike Cohen, heavyweight pugilist, and Lonnie Austin and Dan Salt, promoters. Austin and Salt promoted the bout last week between Cohen and Ludwig Anderson, which resulted in the death of the latter.

The promoters are at liberty on bail. Cohen is held in default of $1,000 bond.

Fed Team Head Resigns.

St. Louis, Mo., Jan. 16.—Edward A. Steininger, president of the St. Louis Federal league club yesterday turned in his resignation to the club's board of directors. Press of other duties was given as his reason for resigning. The directors will act on his resignation next week.

Bowling Notes.

The Sharkcrafts upset the dope Tuesday evening by taking three straight games from the Park Hotel team. It was a hard blow to the Parks, as it gives the Big Duluths a two-game lead for first place. It also brought the Sharks within three games of first place, with the Three Winners four games from the top.

Michael went twenty-four games before he bowled his first 200 score, but once he got started it looked as if he could not be stopped. He hung up three in a row. If he keeps up the way he has been going of late he will be in the 180 class before the end of the season. Whitney and Otterson were both in fine form. Whitney came within one pin of tying the season's high score. He is now leading the league by a margin of eighty-eighty pins over Deller. Deller has bowled the most 200 scores. He has eighteen to his credit in thirty-five games. The Park Hotel team leads in 900 games with twenty-one.

HIGH RANK FOR DULUTH

Local Tennis Tourney to Figure in National Standing.

Play in the Head of the Lakes tennis tournament will in the future take national ranking. This information was brought to Duluth today by Lauren Kennedy, who was a delegate at the meeting of the Northwestern Tennis association, which was held in Minneapolis yesterday.

It was decided that the records of players competing this season in the Head of the Lakes play would count in the national standings. Any player competing in the tourney therefore will have his record figured in the national averages.

Mac Washburn of Duluth was elected second vice president of the association and the bid of Duluth for the 1916 tourney of the Northwestern Tennis association was filed.

The Northwestern association applied to have representation in the national play. If this request is granted, a double representing the Northwestern association will compete in the preliminary play to the national double championship. The preliminary play will be held in Chicago. The winners will be entitled to challenge the present title holders.

White Bear was awarded the 1915 tournament. John Wheeler was elected president and Dr. Davis of Faribault first vice president. John Adams was elected secretary treasurer.

SUPERIOR MAY HAVE NEW BOXING CLUB.

There may be a new fight club formed across the bay. Curly Le Page, Billy Munroe and several others are said to be interested in the projected venture. It is the desire of the new entrants into the field of boxing to stage a bout between Brown and Mandot. The refusal of Twin Port club promoters to give Brown more than 25 per cent of the gross for his end is said to be the prime reason for the attempt to form a new club.

JIMMY DUFFY TAKES J. DUNDEE'S SCALP.

Milwaukee, Wis., Jan. 16.—Jimmy Duffy of Lockport, N. Y., easily outpointed Johnny Dundee of New York in a ten-round no-decision boxing match last night, according to a majority of sporting writers at the ringside.

The bout was one of the fastest ever boxed in Milwaukee.

Field Trials End.

Montgomery, Ala., Jan. 16.—The National Field Trials club ended its second annual meeting at Lctohatchee yesterday with the running of the Derby, which was won by Squire Edge, owned by J. R. McMillan of Lodi, Wis., and handled by Fisher. Atwater Dixie's daughter, owned by A. G. Sage of New York, was second, and Rap's Ben, owned by V. C. Kovold of Winnipeg, third.

PLAY TIE GAME OF BASKET BALL

Central "Gym" Class Team and Proctor "Y" Have Hard Contest.

In one of the most exciting games of basket ball ever played on the Proctor floor the Duluth Central High school "gym" class and the Proctor Y. M. C. A. last evening played to a 21 to 21 tie. The game was a tie at the end and even ten minutes of desperate overtime played could not break it. The contest was finally called and it was decided to play it off on the Central floor on Feb. 26.

The Proctor team led in the first half 18 to 10 but the Duluth boys came back strong and tied up the score in the second half. Both teams played remarkably well and the contest was witnessed by a large crowd.

Between halves the Central high school girls' basket ball team defeated the Proctor Y. W. C. A. team. Marion Lutes and Edna Morterud starred for the victors. The lineup and summary of the boys' game follows:

Proctor—	"Gym" Class—
B. Murray	f Pedrizeth
Rappold	f Mason
Martin	c Gogins
Bjornas	b Shaw
E. Murray	b Rosenberg
	b Christoferson

Summary: Field goals: Pedrizeth, 2; Mason, 3; Shaw, 4; B. Murray, 4; Martin, 2; Bjornas, 2; E. Murray, 1.

Free Throws—B. Murray, 1; Gogins, 3; Rappold, 1; Martin, 1.

BASKET BALL OPENS AT "Y"

Teams Show Exceptional Form in Initial Games.

Lake Hardwares Beat Big Duluths; Other Games Exciting.

Basketball was officially ushered in for the season at the local Y. M. C. A. last evening when the first games of the Commercial league schedule were played. The Lake Hardware aggregation defeated the Big Duluth quint by the score of 15 to 13, and Harvey Smith's Kelley Hardware pets nosed out the winners in a hard fought contest with the Northern Hardware bunch by the close score of 12 to 11.

The games were remarkably well played and were exciting all through. Although it is the first time that most of these teams have been together this year, the playing was extraordinary and flashes of team work were evident. There was very little to choose between the winners and the losers in the contests, and all four of them are still in the running for the league pennant.

The initial fray, between the Lakes and the Big Duluths, was a thriller all the way, and the winner was not decided until the whistle blew. At the end of the first half the Lakes were on the long end of a 9-to-5 score. In the second half the Big Duluths did a little better, but could not overtake their opponents' lead and had to submit to a heartbreaking 15 to 13 defeat. Olsen and McLaughlin played exceptionally well for the winners, although the whole team performed very well, and Kerns, Richardson and Sponnick were in the stellar light for the losers.

The second battle was even more exciting than the first and some classy playing was exhibited on both sides. The Kelley and Northern teams are two of the best in the league, and the battle last evening showed the former quint to have a slight shade. The difference was so slight, however, that the game almost concluded in a tie. The first half found the Kelley aggregation leading by the count of 7 to 6. In the second half both teams came back strong, and each secured five points thus rolling the final count up to 12 to 11 in favor of the Kelleys. The two teams played especially well and not a weak spot could be found in either lineup. Capt. Faryziak played brilliantly for the winners and his team mate Biegle was not far behind. The whole Northern team played as one and they did not deserve to lose. One of the features of this game was the little exhibition given on the side by "Doc" Boerner and "Shorty" Megson.

The lineups and summaries of the games of last evening follow:

Lake Hardware—	Big Duluths—
Capen	f Larsen
Olsen	f Cole
Miller	c Flink
McLaughlin	g Kerns
Karsberg	g Richardson
Zielsdorf	g Sponick

Summary—Field goals: Olsen, 2; McLaughlin, 2; Miller, 1; Karsberg, 1; Cole, 1; Flink, 1; Kerns, 1; Richardson, 1; Sponick, 2.

Free throws: Olsen, 3; Richardson, 1.

Kelley	Northern
Hardware—	Hardware—

Summary—Field goals, Foryziak, 2; Beigle, 2; Boerner, 2; Smith, 1; William Nelson, 1.

SPORTING EVENTS OF THE WEEK AS SEEN BY THE HERALD CARTOONIST

A Page of SPORT of all kinds

DULUTH WILL BE MECCA FOR CURLERS OF THE NORTHWEST ALL NEXT WEEK

All Details Ready for Invasion of Curlers; Play in Annual Northwestern Curling Bonspiel Will Begin Monday Morning at 10 o'Clock.

Starting at 10 o'clock Monday morning Duluth will enter upon its annual winter gala week. The big bonspiel of the Northwestern Curling association will hold undisputed sway and will crowd other sport matters out of the limelight for the time being.

Ray Withrow, secretary of the Northwestern association, and John E. MacGregor, manager of the spiel, are looking for approximately eighty rinks to take part in the big event.

It is expected that the Duluth Curling club will be represented by thirty-two rinks. Superior is counted upon to send twelve rinks. West Duluth is expected to send at least six and New Duluth is counted on for two more.

This will make fifty-two rinks from the immediate vicinity of the Head of the Lakes. The Twin Cities are expected to send ten rinks. The range is counted upon for six or seven rinks, and the small towns of Wisconsin and the various cities of Canada are expected to bring the total list of entries up to the 80-mark, or perhaps beyond that figure.

Milwaukee May Be Here.

Reports today stated that Milwaukee may send a rink up for the spiel. If Milwaukee sends a bunch of curlers up and Butte, Mont., is also represented, the 1915 spiel will draw rinks from a very extended territory.

Play will begin promptly Monday morning at 10 o'clock. According to the rules of the spiel, all rinks not ready for play at that time will forfeit games.

An effort is going to be made this year to complete the spiel by Saturday evening. In the cramped and crowded quarters of the old rink it was found utterly impossible to run off the long list of events in the prescribed time limit of one week.

There were ten sheets of ice in the old rink when both sides were thrown open to the curlers. In the new and palatial pile of stone there are nineteen rinks when the big building is utilized exclusively for the stone throwers.

With events running off upon a time schedule that promises to be as strictly observed as the time sheet of a train dispatcher, it is believed that the last event of the big spiel will have been completed by Saturday night.

The Social Feature.

One of the events that all the curlers, some of whom have been coming here for years, look forward to, is the social night of a week that is made up principally of strenuous toil.

On Thursday evening at the Lyceum theater a regular party will be held for the visiting and home-grown curlers. There will be the regular performance of the Baldwin players, and in addition there will be some real surprises in store for the "boys."

A committee has been industriously working on the special feature. Many impromptu features are promised. Some of the best known curlers, some of the boys who have been throwing the rocks for years, will receive humorous or kindly mention during the program of events that will intersperse the performance of the rink players.

Duluth Rinks Strong.

With the famous Bob Dunbar out of the tourney, and with some uncertainty as to whether Rochon of Winnipeg is coming down for the spiel, several Duluth rinks can be safely figured strongly for high honors in the play of the coming week.

Billy Dinham has been playing a sensational game in the home events all of the present season, and the way the Brewer-Whytes are going at the present time augurs high honors for that combination.

If Ralph Bradley's rink starts with its full strength, many of the local curlers look to see this excellent skip give a very good account of himself. Sam Cleveland is a great third, and if he plays with Bradley the combination will be a difficult one to beat. Rental of Phillips is expected to be here. He is one of the best curlers in the association and is expected to progress far in most of the events.

Last year McLeod of Minneapolis made a great showing in the big event. If the canny Scot of the Mill City is on hand this year another fine showing may be expected.

Hunter of Minneapolis has a strong rink and much is looked for from him. The veteran Tom Cameron of St. Paul is coming with a strong and well-balanced rink. Hoople and Murray of Minneapolis will also have to be counted on.

Looks Like Great Spiel.

All indications point to one of the greatest spiels in the history of the association. The general class of the rinks is high and the play promises to be close, thereby increasing the interest in all events. Galleries have been prepared for the public and all lovers of the game are given a cordial invitation to be spectators.

A special lunch room will be in operation for the convenience of the curlers during the week. Special lockers have been installed to take care of the brooms, stones and clothes of the out-of-town curlers. A special wire has been installed at the club for visiting newspaper men and the use of curlers, who will thus be able to transact any business right on the ground.

All is in readiness and the spiel promises to be a dandy, one of the best ever held here.

PATRICK TROPHY IS A "DOUBLE EVENT"

At the Northwestern bonspiel this year the popular Patrick-Duluth event will be given special prominence as it has been made a "double event." This means that each of the curling clubs in the Northwestern Curling association has been playing a set of preliminaries at which the winning rink from each club is privileged to enter contests at Duluth for the Patrick-Duluth trophy and prizes.

The Patrick-Duluth trophy put up by F. A. Patrick & Co. in 1911 is one of the handsomest silver cups put up in this great bonspiel. It stands eighteen inches high and is particularly interesting to curlers because of the quaint hand-chased decoration around the cup, which illustrates two old-time Scottish scenes of outdoor curling. This trophy has been won successively by curlers from Winnipeg, Phillips, Wis., and Duluth. The Duluth rink, including Ralph Pineo, lead; Dr. N. B. Gillespie, C. D. Brewer and E. N. Whyte, skip, is the present holder of the trophy.

Another feature that brings special interest to the Patrick-Duluth event is a series of prizes offered which are especially well suited to the needs of curlers. This year instead of the usual four first prizes the Patrick company is offering eight of its genuine Patricks (Patrick-Duluth macklnaws) as first prizes. Eight of the automobile robes made of the Patrick-bigger-than-weather macklnaw cloth are being offered as second prizes.

HOCKEY GAME CALLED OFF BECAUSE OF WEATHER; TWO GAMES MONDAY.

Wind and snow prevented the scheduled hockey game between the Universals and Northern Hardware teams last evening. The postponement of the contest, which was eagerly looked forward to by followers of the game, will probably result in a double-header being played at the French rink on Monday evening.

On Monday the Bagleys and high school sevens are scheduled to meet, and with the Universals and Northerns meeting on the same evening, followers of the puck game will have the opportunity of witnessing a fine card.

Decide on Regatta Date.

New York, Jan. 16.—Definite decision that the varsity event in the intercollegiate regatta on the Hudson should remain at four miles was reached by the board of stewards of the Intercollegiate Rowing association at the annual midwinter meeting here yesterday. The date for this year's regatta was fixed as Monday, June 28.

LOCALS WIN SWIFT GAME

Before a wildly excited and enthusiastic crowd that packed their gymnasium last evening, the Central high school basket ball five were finally returned the victors in a sensational contest with the scrappy Cloquet quintet. The game was one of the best ever seen on a local floor, and great credit is due the "lumbermen" for the wonderful game that they put up. It was a hard game for anyone to lose, but the locals showed just a little more team work and were always playing a desperate game. This spirit has characterized the playing of the Red and White warriors in every game this season, and if they keep it up they should make an enviable record during the season. The first half concluded with the local quintet leading by a 9 to 3 score. In the second half the invaders came back strong and had a little the better of the argument, piling up 7 points to their opponents' 6, thus rolling the final count up to 14 to 10, with the locals, however, on the long end.

It would be exceptionally hard to pick a star from the Central team. The whole team played as one, and their team work showed the many days of hard practice that they put in. Capt. Solheim played a remarkable game and held down his forward wonderfully. Karon was the scoring star, but Scrivens played his usual classy game. For the Cloquet aggregation the playing of Capt. Kellar and Bengston was especially prominent, but their whole team was always in the game and several times made things look rather bad for the local boys.

From the start the game was a brilliant one and furnished excitement to a large crowd. At about the middle of the first half the score was a 3 to 3 tie, but the locals soon found themselves and by a strong spurt led at the conclusion of the initial half by a score of 9 to 3.

Both Play Strongly.

Both teams came back strong in the second half with the determination to do or die. In this half sensational plays were pulled off in rapid succession and the crowd became frantic. The Cloquet lineup was shifted somewhat, Capt. Kellar going in at guard and Gamble shifting to forward. The change worked wonders and the "slabmen" had a slight shade in the argument. The game came very near ending in a tie but a desperate spurt by the Central men found them in the lead when the whistle blew. The victors played rather roughly in the second half and the free throws that their opponents got nearly cost them the game.

Thanks to the big turnout from the "mill-town" the local strong box does not suffer a deficit on the game. The Central rooters turned out better than they did in the Northland game, however, and the rooting spirit was a little more in evidence. To win a game, a team must have support and especially when they are playing a hard schedule.

Between halves of the big game the local scrubs engaged in a pretty little tilt with the Spaa club team. The game was very interesting and some good playing was seen on both sides. The Spaa boys were leading at the conclusion of the first half but the Central scrubs finally got ahead and won by a score of 12 to 10. Hinschliff played a classy game for the losers. Neff and Peterson played well for the victors.

Next Friday the biggest game of the season so far will be played when the Central team stacks up against the speedy Cathedral aggregation.

The lineups and summaries of last evening's games are given below:

HANDBALL SCORES

In the handball tourney in progress at the Y. M. C. A., Berquist defeated Tom Clark by the score of 21-0, 21-9. Clark was clear off his play and proved easy picking.

Whitehead went down to defeat before Wisted in two fast and interesting games, the scores being 21 to 20 in each contest.

Kingston defeated Pineo 21 to 9 and 21 to 14, and Pete Petkoff, the Bulgarian strong boy, defeated Strong by the scores of 21-14, 21-11.

Foster defeated Bishoff 21-5, lost the second game, 17-21, and won the third game, 21-17.

Negotiations are on with St. Paul at the present time for a series of games here. A Twin City tournament will be held in February on the St. Paul courts and it is expected that a Duluth team will be entered.

CHICK EVANS NAMES THE GREATEST GOLF PLAYERS

Francis Ouimet and Jerome Travers Are Included in the First Flight.

New York, Jan. 9.—Charles "Chick" Evans writes in the American: I herewith present my list of the best eight golfers in the world. It should go without saying that it is not official; far, instead, it is from being so easy as that. My selection has nothing to do with the championships, lost or won, but is based upon the high average of skill shown by each player in executing the various shots that constitute the game of golf.

An official rating, on the other hand, has nothing to do with the higher criticism of the game. For this duty an expert knowledge of shots and a wide acquaintance with the games of all the best players is necessary.

I think I can say without egotism that I am as well qualified as any one in the world to judge the players of the world, for many very special and highly-prized privileges have been mine. I have traveled many thousands of miles, everywhere playing the game, and I have played, or seen play, all the leading golfers in the world.

Knows Best Golfers.

I am personally acquainted with all the great golfers of the golfing countries—I consider them the pick of the world. My list is an embodiment of the ideas I have gathered from my wide experience of the game.

I admit that a list of this sort has never been made before, and I further admit that it is a thankless task, and will doubtless be severely criticized, but I assume beforehand that my most violent critics will have lacked in many respects my opportunities for observation, and my first-hand knowledge of all that makes up a good golf shot.

It is easy for a writer to get up a review of the eight best sellers, but it is a difficult labor of expert skill to prepare an intelligent critique of the best eight books of a given period. I take it that what America peculiarly needs is a better understanding of the fine points of the game.

Difference Is Slight.

The degree of difference between the best eight golfers that I have selected is so small in most instances that they might as well be grouped. The fact is almost any one of my list could beat the others at some favorable time. We know that the winners of championships are frequently beaten up to and after the decisive meeting.

I believe, however, I have arranged each golfer in the order in which he should be victor in a series of games.

To pick one golfer out of a million is a considerable task, but somewhere on that long battle line, where the allies are entrenched is the man whom I believe to be the leading golfer of the world.

If the English channel were land it is probable that only a few long wooden shots separated him from the spot where he won the Royal St. George vase last May. He has never won the British amateur championship, but, judged by the fine points of the game, he is the best player I have ever seen.

I have presented my credentials, now I present my list:

1. John Graham, Jr., England.
2. J. L. C. Jenkins, Scotland.
3. Harold Hilton, England.
4. John Ball, England.
5. Robert Maxwell, Scotland.
6. Francis Ouimet, Boston.
7. Raymond H. de Montmorency, England.
8. Jerome Travers, Mont Clair.

Americans on the List.

It will be seen that the list is made up only of English and American players, in spite of the fact that golf is played all over the world. But these two countries lead the world of golfers at the present time. The French players are developing rapidly, and in Australia there are some exceedingly fine golfers.

I have selected Jack Graham for the head of my list because I think he has greater mastery over his shots than any golfer living. Although he has never won the British amateur, he has been semi-finalist four times, completely outclassing every one until he reaches the limit of his physical endurance. To see him swing at the ball is a delight, for the action is the very synonym for rhythm.

Jenkins Comes Second.

Lawrie Jenkins is the present British amateur champion. I played regularly with him at Troon for nearly a month, and know his game well. It is a delightful combination of fine golf shots.

Ouimet made a poor showing in England, but this was the result of inexperience. He is intrinsically entitled to the place given him.

All the golfers on my list play so well that it is difficult to say wherein one excels the others. They have all had their successes and defeats, but their average game is wonderfully good.

GOPHER QUINT IN GOOD FORM

Team Prepares for First Conference Game With Badgers.

Wrestling and Hockey Are Prominent; Diplomas for Athletes.

Minneapolis, Minn., Jan. 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—The basket ball quint is rapidly rounding into shape for the first conference game, which will be with Wisconsin tonight. Although this is an early season game, it is expected to be one of the best and most closely contested of the season. The result of this game will be a great factor in lining up the teams, who are going to make a bid for the conference title. Wisconsin, although hampered by a lack of veterans, has a strong team, and the men feel confident that they will defeat the Gophers. They have already played two games, one with Indiana and the other with Purdue and have come out successful in both. Minnesota has more than fulfilled the expectations of the rooters, and the team will start the season Saturday with a clean slate and a record of four victories.

The team this year is of high caliber and is capable of doing big things. The team has not yet developed into smooth running shape, but it is expected that the men will be working together in a short time. While they are deficient in teamwork, they are remarkably accurate in their shooting. This faculty of getting their eyes on the basket has proved of great value to the team, for most of the games this year have been won by good shooting. Dr. Cooke has been working them hard and has been giving stiff workouts against the husky freshmen. Allan McBean expects a large crowd out for the game as it is the first big conference game of the year. An unusual interest is being taken in basket ball this year as shown by the large and enthusiastic crowds that have turned out to see the Nebraska games. There is to be dancing after the game, and the University band will furnish the music.

Martin L. Kahner and A. C. Ott won the handball doubles championship Tuesday night by defeating Abrahamson and Riley, runners up, 21-17, 12-21 and 21-8. The championship match was the climax to a tournament in which twenty picked teams from all the colleges competed. Both men on the winning team are from the academic college, Kahner being from Minneapolis, while Ott hails from Duluth. The champions will receive maroon and gold jerseys, wearing the handball insignia. This innovation was decided upon at a meeting of the intra-mural committee Wednesday. The committee also decided to give jerseys to the winners of the intercollegiate tournament which starts next week.

Diplomas for Athletes.

Wrestlers, football players and other athletes of the university will hereafter receive diplomas for the work done in athletics, as well as for the work done in scholarship. At a meeting Tuesday of the "M" club, composed of men who have won letters, it was announced that the university would award athletic diplomas to all men who represent the school in intercollegiate sports. The diploma will resemble the traditional graduating sheepskin, except that space will be left for later athletic achievements. The diplomas will be elaborately engraved and will be signed by the president.

The university athletic board of control may look about professional circles for a baseball coach this spring. The board at a meeting Wednesday discussed briefly the matter of a coach, and some of the members were in favor of securing some professional player, while others were disposed to again engage Dr. L. J. Cooke, basket ball coach and director of physical culture, for this position. The present agitation in favor of a wider scope for athletics in the university made some of the members feel that Dr. Cooke should not have any other duties than those which pertain directly to the student body. The question will be settled at the next meeting of the board. In spite of recent agitation to send the team on a Southern training trip during the Christmas vacation as many of the other colleges are doing, no proposal was placed before the board. If the movement gains sufficient favor, however, some student member will present it at the next meeting of the board. The board voted to grant medals to the winners of the indoor track meet to be held next month.

Rosenthal Joins Wrestlers.

Boles Rosenthal, 1914 football captain, has joined the wrestlers squad as a heavy weight and hopes to win more honors for the institution. Rosenthal has started his mat training by matches with Walter Miller, St. Paul welterweight, and anybody else who will grapple with him in the armory. Rosenthal's espousal of the wrestling game has boosted the wrestling stock on the campus and the wrestling room is a busy place most of the time. The Gophers are working under the direction of W. K. Foster and Prosius, national college champion in the lightweight division. Madigan has returned to the eligible fold and is relied upon to take care of Minnesota honors in the lightweight class in which he holds the national championship. Other candidates are G. Anderson, special lightweight; Mayer, football man heavyweight, and Carter, a welterweight. There is a dearth of material for the middleweight class. The men are getting in trim for the inter-collegiate meet at Nebraska and the athletic board will be asked to arrange a duel meet with some university of the Northwest. Foster is now arranging for meets with Twin City organizations.

Basket Ball Tournament.

The inter-fraternity basket ball tournament began in earnest this afternoon, when six games were played on the armory floor. The championship in each section will be determined on a percentage basis, and the winners will play an elimination series for the championship.

Girls' basket ball is in full swing in anticipation of the choosing of class teams, Feb. 15. The tournament date has been set, and preparations for the big annual contest are well under way. Competition among the freshmen is especially keen, and the material now competing for positions on the class teams gives splendid promise of a good team representing the first-year girls. The other classes while not displaying the degree of keen competition displayed by the freshmen, are nevertheless developing some good playing combinations.

Plans For Hockey Season.

At the intra-mural hockey meet in Dr. Cooke's office Tuesday, the dental, academic, engineering and medical colleges were well represented, and definite plans for the season were made. The ags, pharmacists and mines are also expected to enter teams. Two very attractive prizes have been offered as incentives to the teams. Maroon and gold jerseys will be awarded the players of the winning team by the intra-mural sports committee, which has offered a silver loving cup for the victors. The final game will be played at the Hippodrome as an added attraction to the skating carnival, which will be held there.

WHEAT TAKES TUMBLE ON EXPORT EMBARGO RUMORS

Market Drops Violently at Opening and Then Becomes Steady.

Flaxseed Advances at the Start, But Later Sells Off on Realizing.

Duluth Board of Trade, Jan. 16.—The plug was pulled out in the wheat market at the opening this morning and there were merry doings in the way of declines. The debacle was brought about through the intimation that a bill might be introduced in congress to place an embargo against wheat exportations. Heavy selling started in at Chicago, and on the catching of stop-loss orders on the way down, a decline of 5c was brought about before the slump was checked. The Duluth market followed suit in the downward move to the extent of 3¾c. Good buying then appeared on the low spots, and a recovery of around 1c was made.

May wheat opened ⅝c off at $1.40⅞, broke 3¼c, and closed 2¾c off at $1.38⅝. July opened 1⅞c off at $1.38¾, and closed 3c off in the day at $1.37¾ nominally.

The movement in durum was less spectacular, trading in it being comparatively light. It eased off on some selling and an apparent inclination on the part of the trade to let the market down slightly. May durum opened unchanged at $1.60, and closed 1¾c off at $1.58¼. The July future closed 1¾c off at $1.56⅝ nominally.

Oats closed ⅞c off at 52¾c for on the track; rye unchanged at $1.15@1.16; barley 1c up at from 62 to 73c, and corn ⅜c off at 70¼@70¾c.

At Winnipeg, May oats closed unchanged at 59⅝c.

No export business was put through at Duluth, but active bidding came from millers, and the sale of some No. 1 and No. 2 northern wheat from stocks in store at Buffalo was reported on that account at ½c better than yesterday's limits.

Substantial export business was advised at other markets. Reports from the seaboard were to the effect that 2,000,000 bu had been taken there for foreign shipment, and some grain was sold at the Southwestern markets to go out via the gulf ports. It is said that some of the big Chicago operators took profits on their long wheat on the late swells. Patten was reported to have pulled down a profit of 20c a bu on a line carried by him.

Primary receipts showed a sharp falling off today, being reported at 662,000 bu against 876,000 bu a year ago. At Minneapolis arrivals came to only 146 cars against 423 last year.

Flaxseed Off, Too.

Flaxseed held up while the excitement was on in wheat, and on continued demand from crushers May flax sold up 2½c at the start to $1.96½. It weakened later on the withdrawal of support, and some realizing, closing 2c off at $1.92.

At Winnipeg, May flax closed 2¾c off at $1.70¾ asked.

The Minneapolis cash market is firm on the top grades. Mills wented the No. 1 northern blue stem from North Dakota and paid 3@3½c over May. There is very little No. 1 northern from any other section coming in. Velvet chaff is considered an elevator proposition and sold mostly 2c under May. Flour sales were irregular. There was better inquiry and fair shipping directions.

C. E. Lewis & Co. had the following from New York: "Exporters and freight people are acting like madmen. There must be another tremendous business. I hear of 750,000 bu of wheat having been sold. Buying on the breaks as been done by wise grain men. Would buy wheat."

Broomhall cabled from Liverpool: "The market at the opening was firm on fewer offerings of winters, but it later became unsettled on diminished demand. Winters are now unchanged from yesterday afternoon, but were higher on the opening. The cause of this setback is very little inquiry for forward delivery.

"Corn was strong in sympathy with America and on fewer Plate offers with a fair demand. There is a notable increase in inquiry for American mixed.

"Argentine weather is generally favorable. There are several steamers loading new crop wheat and oats, and this has further strengthened the situation, and freights advanced 1s 6 pence since yesterday and are now quoted at 65s."

There has been a liberal fall of snow over a wide area of Russia and the weather generally is very cold. Crop accounts are generally very favorable.

Completed returns from all outstanding districts in India are now at hand. The acreage to wheat is placed at 25 per cent increase or roundly at 36 million acres. Rain is urgently wanted everywhere.

C. E. Lewis & Co. had the following closing letter from Chicago: "Weekend realizing by longs and selling of considerable wheat on the stop-loss orders in the hands of commission houses precipitated a severe break early, part of which was recovered later in the session. Offerings on the decline were largely absorbed by cash interests and exporters. Today's liquidation with supplies getting into strong hands puts the market on a healthy basis. We advise purchases on all declines, such as experienced today."

CHICAGO MARKET.

Selling of Immense Quantities of Wheat Sends Prices Down.

Chicago, Jan. 16.—Selling-out of immense quantities of wheat today smashed prices 5 cents a bushel. The extraordinary drop in values directly followed announcements that an effort would be made to bring about through congress an official embargo on exports of wheat from the United States. It was not long though before strong firms took a vigorous hand at buying and there was a reaction of 2½c.

Sensational weakness in wheat did not develop at the outset. Opening prices were at a moderate setback of ½@1½c.

Subsequently word of ninety-five boatloads of wheat having been sold here today for March export by way of the gulf helped to lift prices higher, but the effect did not last. The close was unsettled at 2⅛@3⅜c net decline.

Corn tumbled with wheat. The losses, however, were not severe, being kept within 1½c. On the upturn the market regained all but about ½c of the extreme fall.

Offerings coming more freely from rural sources tended afterward to cause renewed heaviness in prices. The close, notwithstanding, was steady at ¾c to ⅞@⅞c under last night.

Oats manifested sympathy with the demoralized condition of wheat.

In provisions an early advance was wiped out. Wheat declines were held responsible.

JAPAN IS HEAVY BUYER OF COPPER

Mining Stocks Advance on Big Metal Sales to That Country.

After showing some tendency towards weakness at the opening, the market in mining stocks at Boston became strong today on the appearance of good buying following the announcement that Japanese interests had purchased 25,000,000 pounds of copper in this country, and had taken an option on another large lot.

Butte & Superior continued the trading feature, selling 75c up to $42.38, a new high point on this movement. Eastern brokers are now talking $50 for this stock.

Alaska Gold closed unchanged at $28.25; Copper Range 50c up at $32; East Butte 25c up at $8.75; Greene-Cananea unchanged at $24; North Butte unchanged at $23.25; Amalgamated Copper a shade up at $55.38; and Utah Copper 25c up at $52.

In the Boston curb list as reported to Paine, Webber & Co., Calumet & Corbin sold at 13c, Atlanta at 46c, Stewart at $1.56, and Coppermines at $1.25.

The Great Northern Exploration company, with a capital stock of $250,000 divided into $1 shares, will conduct a general mining business with Duluth as headquarters. The incorporators are A. J. Peterson, L. J. Pitts and C. E. Dahl.

Commenting on the situation in the mining industry, Skillings' Mining and Market Letter of today says: "The market for mining stocks is acting very well, with distinct upward tendency with some of the listed Boston issues. The report from Michigan yesterday that Copper Range has put on full force to operate full time would be disquieting, perhaps, were it likely that all of the other companies which are shut down, or working half time, would suddenly put on full forces. But it is improbable that the industry as a whole is going to be thus affected. Some of the leading producers declare that the industrial position of the United States is not sufficiently improved to warrant a sudden general resumption of the copper industry. Firm price on the metal yesterday was 13.75 cents bid and 14 cents asked."

SOME GAINS RECORDED

Special Stocks Add to Recent Gains and Close Is Steady.

Profit-Taking and Short Selling Weaken Representative Shares.

New York, Jan. 16.—Specialties were again very much to the fore in today's early market, many speculative and low-priced issues taking the place of the usual leaders. Mexican Petroleum, Continental Can, American Cotton Oil, Standard Milling preferred and Allis Chalmers preferred, were prominent for their gains of 1 to 3 points, while the favorites were almost neglected. United States Steel, Reading and Baltimore & Ohio shares were slightly lower and Missouri Pacific, yesterday's late feature, fell back, but soon recovered. Trading was moderately active, but bore more than the usual marks of professional manipulation.

Profit-taking and short selling imparted some heaviness to representative shares today, while special stocks added to recent gains. The movement was almost entirely in semi-active and obscure issues, wherein gains of substantial proportions were recorded. United States Steel was the weakest of the favorites and Missouri Pacific moved unevenly. The closing was steady. Bonds were strong.

Midway Horse Market.

Minnesota Transfer, St. Paul, Minn., Jan. 16.—Barrett & Zimmerman report: No new developments in the market today, all classes meeting with limited call. From the number of inquiries received, it is evident that cavalry and artillery horses are still in demand, but there is nothing in this line at this point. Deliveries to local bakeries and retail grocers, and shipments to Lake City and Farley, Minn., were made today. Receipts comparatively light. Mr. Eschmann of the Eschmann circus is on the market today with a consignment. Prices remain about the same:

HIGH GRADE STAMP ROCK SHOWN IN NEW ARCADIAN

Disclosed in the North Drift at the 900-Foot Level.

Copper Range to Work Full Time Until the Spring.

Houghton, Mich., Jan. 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—New Arcadian has advanced approximately 115 feet on the north drift at the 900-foot level and the very good ground encountered after the disturbed zone, which was entered by the shaft and which has been met with on the levels, had been traversed 29 feet from the shaft, and in the raise is still continuing. This ground is disclosing a high grade stamp rock. The southern drift is revealing considerable fine copper and should, according to indications, soon come into the usual good quality that has been found everywhere else at this mine. The third drill is extending the raise from the 250-foot level and has attained the height of about 50 feet, high values being opened all the way. A ladderway is being made at one side of the raise and the latter will thus have a total width of 20 feet, four of which will be occupied by the ladderway, the remainder to be used as a chute for the rock coming from a sub-level 100 feet up that will be drifted upon to the Baltic boundary on one side, and on the other to a point that would be about halfway to a probable location for another shaft and will then be stoped.

Copper Range.

Copper Range, instead of only working one-half time this month according to the half time schedule and closing down on Jan. 20, will continue to work full time until the spring at least. Its continuance beyond that time will depend upon the conditions then prevailing. An arrangement similar to that recently concluded with the employes at the old Osceola and Centennial has been made, by which they will receive just about the same pay as the other mines in the district on a full time basis. There will be no increase in the number of men employed. Of course the monthly tonnage will be doubled and will be about 120,000 tons for the three mines, the daily tonnage being on the average about 5,750 to 5,800 tons. The resumption on the full time basis, which originated with General Manager Denton, is very satisfactory to every one here connected with the company and is especially welcomed by the men working for wages.

Victoria.

Victoria has crosscut from the shaft to the lode on the twenty-sixth level and has just begun to drift both ways. The width of the lode is about twelve feet, one-half of which is commercial copper. In a short time one or more raises will be driven up to ascertain the course of the mineralization and to connect, if possible, with the rich stretch of ground opened on the twenty-fourth level for a length of 250 feet and a width running from fifty to fifty feet and averaging about thirty feet, and with the good values encountered below the twenty-fifth level in the shaft, persisting until the lode rolled up out of the shaft's course, a distance of seventy-five feet. The phenomenal area on the twenty-fourth level is still being mined and a high-grade rock is being taken out. The sinking of the shaft has been suspended pending the results of the raises. The water has been very low the last three or four weeks in the Ontonagon river and consequently the mill could only be run dry shift, thereby reducing the amount of mineral produced for the last month from 103 tons in November to sixty-four tons.

Isle Royale.

Isle Royale has sixty men clearing away the debris of the fire at the mill, counting former employes, and the Worden Allen company's force. The mining company has so far employed all the married men and all those who were the sole supports of relatives. The work is being pushed as rapidly as possible. The Worden Allen company will proceed very rapidly as it can get the steel quickly now from the Lackawanna steel mills, some of it having already arrived. It hardly seems possible, but some of the officials claim one stamp will be running the latter part of May. All the machinery of the "wash" of the repair department, a motor-driven pump, and for minor services will be run with electricity generated by steam from a mixed pressure turbine similar to that working so satisfactorily at the power plants of the Calumet & Hecla mills at Lake Linden. The steam will ordinarily come from the exhaust of the three Nordberg stamps, but when this is insufficient, live steam will be fed by an automatic valve from the boilers. The electrically driven pump is put in so that there will be two pumps to supply the water from Portage lake, that now in use being a 16,000,000-gallon Nordberg Corliss especially designed to handle muddy water, having a triple discharge, into a 32-inch riveted steel water main, running 2,200 feet from the pumphouse to the mill, the pump being placed at some distance from the mill to obviate stamp sand clogging the intake. Considerable saving will result from the use of the exhaust steam.

Hancock.

Hancock, it has been stated, might start up mining operations April 1, but it is feared that this will have to be taken as an April 1 joke, as nothing is known of it by the president or other officials here.

Mass.

Mass is putting out very nearly 1,200 tons daily and is slowly accumulating on the credit side. Before the strike for a stretch of eight months it paid quite well, increasing month by month. On a ten cent copper there was a slight deficit, but with the present improvement in the price of the metal, it can be readily seen that its profits are coming to a considerable amount.

Tamarack.

Tamarack's regrinding mill has been closed in by the sheathing which is now laid on the floor. The American Bridge company finished the steel construction last week. From No. 3 North Tamarack on the fourth level connection is being made with the "slope shaft" on the sixty-sixth level, so as to afford a chance of escape for the men working on the tract known as the "Five Forties," in case of an accident or fire. Assuming, as is usually done here, that the Calumet conglomerate lode runs north and south, while it actually is north by 30 degrees east, these squares of forty acres each lie diagonally southeast of the main body of the property in the form of a letter "L," with the short side extending upward from the lower end, thus embracing on two sides the Tamarack Junior, a subsidiary of the Osceola Consolidated, which comprises three forties in a line. This tract is mined by a slope or blind shaft, which has its collar on a blind drift 25 feet under the fifty-seventh level 1,500 feet from the point where the Red Jacket, a vertical shaft, passes through the lode 75 feet east of No. 4 Calumet, and which descends diagonally 25 feet under the lode to an ultimate depth of a mile at an angle of 22 deg. The fifth forty, lying above the fourth, will be some day worked by a similar shaft on a raise from the latter. A blind level was driven under the regular level so as not to interfere with the regular mining operations on that level, and a blind shaft was sunk to obviate the cost of many crosscuts or drifts from the other shafts. The connection is made by a crosscut from the barren amygdaloid that is about 150 feet under the conglomerate to the latter, then by drifting on the lode to the "slope shaft," the whole distance being about 900 feet. As there is an electric hoisting engine at the collar of the blind shaft on which the tram cars are raised to the blind level, it is feared there might occur a fire, or the distance being so long, some other accident which would block an escape by the Red Jacket shaft, it was decided to open this connection. This is only one of the details of the "safety first" policy so rigorously put into execution by this company. Two Ingersoll-Leynor drills are used with seven-eighths drill steel each shift.

Calumet & Hecla.

Calumet & Hecla shipped out last week silver bullion to the quantity of 100,000 ounces, valued at nearly $50,000, from the new electrolytic plant at Hubbell, which removes the silver as well as removing the arsenic that lowers conductivity. All copper containing silver, as far as can be known, is passed through the bath or electrolite, the metal being conveyed by the electric current and the foreign substances falling into the slime.

ORE FIND AT NORTH BUTTE

Strike of Very Rich Ore Made in the Speculator Mine.

Good Commercial Ore Encountered in Davis-Daly's Colorado Mine.

Butte, Mont., Jan. 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—A strike of very rich ore on the 2,800-foot level of the Speculator mine of the North Butte company was made last week. The ore is first class, from 10 to 15 per cent copper. Although the management declined to make public any details, it is understood that the ore body is a large one. The management thinks the detailed information should first go to the stockholders.

North Butte has spent, to Dec. 1, for sinking the Granite Mountain shaft to a depth of more than 3,100 feet, cutting stations and driving crosscuts to connect with the mine workings, $220,417. All this has been absorbed in development account and charged to cost of copper. New machinery, consisting of the largest electrical hoist built in the United States, with subsidiary equipment, shaft house, engine house and other necessary structure, cost $222,656. Final payment when it has been thoroughly tested and found equal to guarantees. With the completion of this equipment the Granite Mountain shaft will afford a permanent outlet to the North Butte mine with the very best type of electrical machinery for economical operation that can at present be installed.

Strike in the Colorado.

A strike of some importance has been made in the Colorado mine of the Davis-Daly company, where some good commercial ore has been encountered on the 2,500-foot level, where development work has been going on for sometime. It is claimed that the find is the best the Davis-Daly has ever made in the Colorado mine, but its extent has not been determined.

Barnes-King.

The Barnes-King Development company has received notification from its mine office at Kendall that the clean up from December operations amounted to 2,300.77 ounces of gold bullion. This was shipped to the United States mint at Denver. Final returns have not yet been received from there, but it is estimated that this bullion will amount to approximately $40,000. The ore milled in December amounted to 5,500 tons, the largest monthly tonnage of the year. It is expected that the mill at the Piegan-Gloster property will be started up by March 1, and the earnings of the Barnes-King company will be materially increased, as the Piegan-Gloster ore bodies are large and have been extensively opened. Although of a lower average grade than the peacock deposits of the North Moccasin at Kendall, the Piegan-Gloster is expected to prove the company's big and permanent income producer.

Anaconda.

The Anaconda Copper Mining company's railroad, the Butte, Anaconda & Pacific, shows a net saving in operating expenses per year of $257,889 since the introduction of electric power, compared with steam power. The road is the first railroad in the country to install a 2,400-volt direct current apparatus for operation. The total operating expense, under steam, in 1912 was $742,554, and in 1914 with electrical the expense was $473,825, a saving of $268,729 or more than 36 per cent. Not counting the increased traffic possible under electric power, the saving from locomotive performance alone is at the rate of $237,581 per year. The saving from trainmen's wages is at the rate of $51,146 per year, a decrease of approximately 21 per cent. The deduction allowed for maintenance of the distribution system leaves the net saving $257,889. The Anaconda company is devoting a great deal of attention to the safety-first department which is bringing excellent results.

GREENE-CANANEA EMPLOYS 300 MEN

Weekly Change of Personnel Gives Work to About 700 Men.

Douglas, Ariz., Jan. 16.—The Greene-Cananea company now employs 300 men constantly, according to General Supt. George Kingdon, who has returned here after spending a week in the big camp south of the border. Under the plan adopted by the company, whose main aim is to give work to as many separate individuals as possible, thus affording an opportunity to gain a livelihood for themselves and families, a weekly change of shifts has been adopted. In this way about 700 men are given work for a part of the month.

The plan has had the effect of greatly relieving the distressing conditions which prevailed in Cananea for a time.

The recent heavy rains made the increase in force necessary, about 125 men having been added to the workers during the last thirty days. The change in shifts each week affects about 60 per cent of the men employed. A few in the more responsible positions of course retain their employment permanently.

PIT MINES AS PRODUCERS

To Take Leading Part in Cuyuna's Output This Year.

Development Work Going on Actively at Several Properties.

Brainerd, Minn., Jan. 16.—(Special to The Herald.)—A noticeable feature of the Cuyuna iron range for 1915 is the leading part which the pit mines will take in production of ore.

The Pittsburg Steel company has recently sold $5,000,000 in bonds, which some forecast will be used to some extent in developing its pit mine on the range. The Rowe mine was an extensive shipper in 1914 and is expected to duplicate its work this season. The hydraulic plant was largely used to dispose of the overburden.

Another pit mine property to use the hydraulic, sand-pumping process will be the new Hill Crest mine situated west of Ironton. Wilbur Van Evera, a mining engineer of Virginia, will be in charge of the work which is expected to open up March 1. The overburden is said to average 65 feet and it is expected to move half a million yards this season.

To Resume in March.

The Inland Steel company's Thompson pit mine in Crosby will commence work on March 1. This mine was first an underground proposition and later was changed to a pit under the superintendency of Capt. William Wearne. The Cuyuna Iron & Manganese Ore company's property near the Pennington and the Cuyuna-Sultana near the Cuyuna-Mille Lacs mine are also said to contemplate converting their holdings into pit mines, work on the overburden to commence this spring.

The underground mines now hoisting ore are the Armour No. 2 near Ironton and the Kennedy mine at Cuyuna, both of the Rogers, Brown Ore company. D. A. Robinson of Brainerd, has the contract, for furnishing timber for underground workings. The Cuyuna-Duluth and the Cuyuna-Mille Lacs mines of the American Manganese Manufacturing company, it is said will resume work on Feb. 1. The Duluth-Brainerd mine is also expected to soon resume work.

Development Work.

Mines engaged in development work are the Croft mine at Crosby, where a steel and concrete shaft is being sunk by Supt. John A. Savage; the Wilcox mine of the Canadian-Cuyuna Ore company, where crosscutting of the ore is in progress; the Brainerd-Cuyuna mine in Brainerd, where ledge has been reached with the three-compartment timber shaft and where the water of a small bolt was speedily disposed of.

The new "drift" is now in use at the Wilcox mine at Woodrow and is the first on the range to use the new "hanging locker." The dry is all of cement and is equipped with laundry trays, shower baths and all other usual fittings used in such buildings. It is steam heated from the central power plant.

Underground work at the Wilcox consists of cross-cutting the ore body from north to south. The drift is still in ore and it is expected that the south wall will be reached about Feb. 1. As soon as the ore is crossed, drifting to the east and west will be started and pushed as fast as possible and the whole ore body blocked out. A new Cameron electric pump of large capacity is being installed at the large pumping station on the 200-foot level.

Drilling Ninth Hole.

At the Crow Wing county poor farm property, situated in the south half of the northwest quarter of section 33, township 45, range 30, the E. J. Longyear company is drilling its ninth hole and is still in surface, having reached a depth of 130 feet. The company's contract with the county was to drill nine holes, at the conclusion of which it was to determine if it desired to take a 50-year lease at 25 cents a ton. However, the company, for its own satisfaction, may put down several more holes before exercising its option. The ore is continuing to show up better as prospecting continues.

At Barrows the Barrows Mining company is planning to start work on a three-compartment concrete shaft this spring. Negotiations are under way for the purchase of machinery and equipment. Extensive drilling has revealed, it is said, a large ore body of good quality. The Brainerd Mining company has added another drill to its property near Barrows. The Rows-Mississippi Iron company is continuing to drill its eleventh hole, which is down about ninety feet and still in surface. The surface ground is believed to be 140 feet at this point.

The Bamberg Exploration company of Crosby is drilling for J. H. Koop on his farm near Backus, at the north side of Pine Mountain lake. H. J. Kruse of Crosby has two drills at work in the north end of the county. The Hale-Bradley Exploration company has two drills at work near Aitkin, in the Rice river country. The Rouchleaus of Minneapolis, after almost two years' work, have discontinued drilling in the north part of the county, near Emily and Little Pine. Drilling west of Brainerd has been discontinued.

Discovered First Ore.

Oscar Erickson of Deerwood passed away last week and pioneers recalled how he had worked on the job of drilling a well near the Northern Pacific depot at Deerwood, which is believed to have disclosed the first iron ore on the Cuyuna range. The six casing of this rendition in the hole, which is said to have attained a depth of 300 feet or more. This happened over ten years ago at a time when the idea of there being any iron in Crow Wing county was scoffed at as being a dream of no commercial advantage.

Later Brainerd business men formed a company and attempted to explore for iron in Southeast Brainerd. A well hole was drilled which struck water but no ore and the enthusiasm of the prospectors died out, and P. J. Fogelstrom, the chief promoter, was unable to extend the hole any deeper. It is now clearly realized that the hole would have struck iron had it been continued deeper.

Mike Remmels, a miner from the old country, in odd moments attempted to put down a test pit on his farm to the south of Brainerd fifteen or more years ago, but the neighbors and others thought he was crazy, digging holes, and discouraged his ambition to find an iron mine. Many of them new realize that Remmels had the right idea, for ore is now being found on the south range, near the farm.

William D. Washburn, Jr., of Minneapolis has quit-claimed to the Cuyuna-Northern Land & Iron company an undivided eighth interest in the southeast quarter of the southeast quarter of section 17, township 46, range 29.

DEEP ORE IN THE COEUR D'ALENES

Good Ore in Deepest Levels, Nearly 4,000 Feet Down.

Kellogg, Idaho, Jan. 16.—Development work at depth in all of the mines of the Coeur d'Alenes is showing very satisfactory results.

This applies particularly to the mammoth Bunker Hill and Sullivan (the biggest lead producer in the world), as well as to the adjoining Stewart, Caledonia, Ontario and Sierra Nevada properties. These are in the Kellogg district.

The same satisfactory development at depth is also apparent in the nearby Mullan district, where is the big Morning mine of the Federal Mining & Smelting company. This property, at a vertical depth of 3,800 feet below the surface, is showing its greatest strength at this time in its bottom levels.

The Bunker Hill deep levels, at between 3,000 and 3,500 feet depth, continue to expand the ore resources of this giant.

The occurrence of big bodies of good grade ore at depths exceeding 3,000 feet, and probably 4,000 feet, too, augurs very well, indeed, for the future of those lesser mines in the Coeur d'Alenes, which are as yet very shallow.

This applies with particular force to such younger mines as Stewart, which is not yet within striking distance of 2,000 feet depth.

DEVELOPMENT AT THE NORTH BUTTE

Ore Bodies Being Opened for Extraction When War Ends.

Butte, Mont., Jan. 16.—"We are pushing development work at the North Butte to employ married men and open ore bodies for economical extraction when prosperity returns to the United States and the countries now involved in war," said President Thomas F. Cole upon his departure for Duluth after spending twelve hours in Butte conferring with men who are interested with him in Butte properties.

"At the Rainbow we are using funds available to complete payments for mineral claims under bond to the Rainbow Lode Development company," added Mr. Cole. Joseph B. Cotton, also of Duluth, who is chief counsel for Mr. Cole and an officer in several of the Butte companies in which Mr. Cole is interested, was in the city for several days and conferred with Mr. Cole and Butte mining men.

In speaking of the conference Mr. Cole said: "The directors have not as yet decided when exploratory work will be resumed. In general, I cannot see sufficient improvement in sight in the copper mining business to justify an increase in the output of producing mines. It is an excellent opportunity to push development work. As I stated, we are doing this in the North Butte and in our mines in Arizona and the Lake Superior district as well."

THE SHORT BALLOT

I—Shaping Politics to Human Nature.

By H. S. GILBERTSON,
Executive Secretary, The National Short Ballot Organization.

Immediately after the election last November, 5,000 voters in New York state were asked these simple questions: "Do you remember whom you voted for for state comptroller? For attorney general? For lieutenant governor? For secretary of state? For state treasurer? For state engineer and surveyor?" Of the 800 replying, 44 per cent had forgotten their choice for comptroller and nearly an equal number were in the same state of forgetfulness as regards the other officers.

The episode is a characteristic one in American politics. Minor elective officers are chosen the country over in the same blind way. What the typical New York voter did was to put a cross opposite his favorite for governor, who had been under discussion in newspapers and public and private gatherings for weeks, and then, for want of information at all about the rest of the candidates, voted for them according to party designation. He delegated to the party organization his own constitutional right to select the minor state officials.

Trace the process back a step. Some six weeks before the general election the voters in New York state, or something like half of those qualified, went to the polls and voted within the party their selections for party candidates for the various offices mentioned. It is a moral certainty that the percentage of uninformed was as high, or higher, in the primaries as in the general election, for exactly the same reasons which apply in the latter. The more active politicians, close to the inner workings of the organization of each party, knew a great deal about the "regularity" of the several candidates, and voted accordingly; but the great mass of voters outside of this favored class worked hopelessly in the dark. In the beginning, each of the party candidates was clearly the choice of a small group of practical politicians, possibly even of one person. In the absence of any protest from the great body of voters within the party, that choice was ratified at the primaries. At the general election we have two or more sets of officers chosen in just this way, and the voter makes the selection.

Of course, if one really wishes a party organization to do most of his thinking, he will be perfectly satisfied with the present system. Blind voting is wanted in that case. If, on the other hand, the directest and truest form of representative democracy is most desirable, it is quite possible to devise a system which will provide that. The way is through the application of the short ballot principle, which has been defined as follows:

First—That only those offices should be elective which are important enough to attract (and deserve) public examination.

Second—That very few offices should be filled by election at one time, so as to permit adequate and unconfused public examination of the candidate, and so as to facilitate the clear and intelligent making of original tickets by one voter for himself, unaided by political specialists.

The principle is far-reaching. It is in operation in the Federal government, which has never come under the domination of a boss. It is the dominant element in the success of the commission plan of city government. It succeeds wherever it has been tried, because it fits politics to human nature.

ENROLLMENT IN HIGH SCHOOLS

Holds That Increased Enrollment Follows as a Direct Consequence From Having Better Trained and Better Salaried Grade Teachers.

By HERBERT BLAIR,
Superintendent of Schools, Hibbing, Minn.

I once heard a physician remark concerning a certain minister that he wished he would refrain from using medical illustrations in his sermons because he always got them twisted. The editorial, "Those Who Can't Finish School" in The Herald of Jan. 2, gives me the same feeling that the physician had. I wish that editors would first try to get together a few facts upon which to base their criticism. The epigram that "while figures do not lie there are liars who figure," nearly always apply when a critic gives the distribution of pupils in a school system and then proceeds to moralize therefrom.

In an imaginary ideal school with exactly the same number of pupils in each of the twelve grades from the first primary to the senior year in high school, with every child passing his grade each year and remaining in school until he finished the high school, there could be but one-twelfth of the enrollment or 8 1-3 per cent in the senior class and but one-third of the enrollment or 33 1-3 per cent in the high school. The school enrollment figures for the United States for the year 1911, where "but 5 per cent were in the secondary schools," show simply that if enrollment in the secondary school is the ideal for which we should strive we have about one-sixth of our task accomplished rather than one-twelfth, as the editorial would lead one to think.

It is too true that taking the United States as a whole—north, south, east, and west—"half the entire number of pupils leave school before finishing the sixth grade and only about a third enter the eighth grade," and your remedy "more study of pupil individualities, more development of special bents" is also the only correct one, but The Herald would be the first to protest if the Duluth school board attempted to apply the remedy. Like most of the critics of the public school, you have carefully refrained from being definite. Such general statements as "the public school system of this country is designed mainly for those who can complete its courses," or "the system sacrifices the many for the few," or "do you want lawyers, doctors, preachers and the like? The public school will furnish them for you—are mainly engaged in furnishing them and misfits spoiled for lives of honest toil" are not only untrue (my mere assertion against your mere assertion), but are not helpful even if they were true. Constructive criticism only is of much benefit. Can you mention a single subject taught in the first six grades that should be omitted? Can you mention a single subject that should be added? The best brains, not only of this country, but also of Europe, have been studying that problem for many years and all suggestions are gladly received. Read carefully the course of study for these six grades and see if you can give reasons for changing even so much as 10 per cent of it that would be agreed to by some other man who likes to call the public school a failure. Every school man will be interested in having you tabulate the items found in the course of study for the first six years that are for "training lawyers, doctors, preachers and the like," or that "furnish misfits spoiled for lives of honest toil." It is not what we are trying to teach that causes "half the entire number of pupils to leave school before finishing the sixth grade." It is not the course of study; it is the way that course of study is being taught.

I have before me a government publication entitled "The Tangible Rewards of Teaching." The salaries of rural school teachers for Brown county with eighty-eight teachers and Pioneer county with 114 teachers are the only ones given of Minnetsota counties. In Brown county one teacher gets as much as $540 for her year's work, three receive as little as $240 for the year's work, the mean in that county is $360 a year. In Winona county five teachers get as much as $405 for the year, one has as little as $120 for 120 days of teaching and the mean is $320 for 160 days of teaching. I also have before me the report of the superintendent of Minnesota for which shows that less than half of the teachers in this state, city and rural both, have even a high school education. How much "study of pupil-individualities" do you expect from our non-high school graduate teacher who receives less than a dollar a day?

But this "study of pupil individualities" is only really interesting when it is our own children that are being studied, or not studied, as is largely the case. "The Tangible Rewards of Teaching" gives the salaries for Duluth also. May I ask you to look at them for a minute? In 1912 Duluth considered the services of no grade principal as worth more than $1,250 a year and only eleven grade teachers worth more than $800. Ninety-seven teachers were worth $800, thirty-seven were worth $700, thirty-two worth $600 and four worth only $500. For this amount each teacher was to study the individualities of forty-two pupils for some 200 days. Incidentally she was also expected to teach each of the forty-two some reading, arithmetic, morals, nature study and love for honest toil. Since you pay less than 10 cents per day per pupil for the study of individual differences, do you really wonder that your demand reminded me of the man who wanted 5 cents worth of pineapples, grapefruit, peaches and anything else to make up a nickel's worth?

Educationally, we are getting a great big nickel's worth in this country and I only wish I had the space to describe some of the items, but I wish to consider one more paragraph of your editorial. You say: "Dr. Cooley's pamphlet quotes Dr. Kerchensteiner, an eminent German school man, to show that the public schools of this country 'stop exactly where education for a definite vocation begins.'"

The German school system and the American school system are not comparable. The teacher in Germany is as well trained and better paid than the lawyer, physician or other professional men. Teaching there is a life work for men, here it is a three to four years avocation for women. There the yearly income of the teacher is three times as much as that of the skilled artizan, here it is less than half as much. There the school year is a month longer than ours, the school week is six days instead of five as with us and the school day is also longer than ours. Dr. Kerchensteiner is head of the Munich trade schools and wonderful schools they are. Dr. Kerchensteiner claims the ability of being able to determine from the size of a boy's head (or the size of his father's pocketbook) just what trade or occupation the boy must follow for life. Do you know of an American father who would permit the school master to determine just what his boy must do for a livelihood. The average American parent thinks his snap judgment on matters concerning the course of study, school hours, methods of teaching and length of the school year is of more value than the opinion of those who have given years to the study of the problem. Germany is not America and Germany's school system is no more adaptable to America than is its military system.

Do you want trade schools in Duluth? You may have them if you will pay the bills. Milwaukee's trade school costs from $300 to $500 a year for each pupil depending upon the trade studied. Duluth spends less than one-tenth of this amount on each pupil. Do you want more vocational training? Again you may have it if you will pay the bills. Ask Mr. Denfeld how much it costs to teach industrial subjects. I do not mean the cost for each pupil when he spends but two or three hours a week in the shop but the cost if he should spend six hours a day for five or six days of each week. I do not know Duluth's cost, but here in Hibbing it would cost us from $100 to $200 a pupil, depending upon whether the boy studied wood work, forging or printing. Text book work, forty-two pupils in a room work, $800 to the teacher work costs less than $30 a year with all supplies furnished. Do you really want more study of pupil-individualities? More development of special bents? It can easily be done in any school, but cannot possibly be done by the teacher whose own preparation is little better than that of the pupils she is trying to instruct.

When The Evening Herald thinks a man is not earning his salary the man is dropped. Do you imagine for a minute that a school does the same thing? The weeping through the press and the petitions of churches and other organizations whenever a barnacle is pried loose show how almost impossible it is to keep a teaching force up to a high state of efficiency. Is the teacher who studies as well as she is able the pupil individualities of her forty-two, who attends summer sessions of the universities and reads educational journals to fit herself the better for her work rewarded? Nay verily! She has already attained the same $800 maximum that is paid her lazier sister, who is simply going through the motions.

Do I object to criticism? We would welcome more of it. Criticize hard a school system that pays janitors more than teachers. Criticize a school system that says that a pupil in the grades does not need a teacher as well trained and as well paid as is given to the pupils in the high school. Criticize a school system that herds twelve as many children under a grade teacher as under a high school teacher because the grade pupil is compelled by law to come to school whether he learns anything or not. Criticize a system where it is considered more important that a teacher hold her position than that she be a good teacher, and criticize in black face double-leaded type a system that establishes a maximum salary beyond which the best teacher in the land cannot pass. If there is a school system anywhere in the United States that one does not need to be criticized on some or all of these matters, I have yet to learn about it.

In order to prove my point that increased enrollment in the high school follows as a direct consequence from having better trained and better salaried grade teachers, I submit a table of the figures for Hibbing for the past ten years. I think they speak for themselves.

	Total School Enrollment	High School Enrollment	Per. of Total Enrollment	Average Grade Teach's Salary	Graduates	Graduates Who Attend College	Teachers With Only 2nd Grade Certificates

ROBINSON CRUSOE CIVIC LEAGUF

Community Spirit in Managing an Island.

By MARY CHAMBERLAIN.

(Exclusive Service The Survey Press Bureau.)

Robinson Crusoe was the first scientific manager of an island, and ever since the days of Crusoe imagination has been fired by the marvelous possibilities of a "tract of land wholly surrounded by water."

A modern Robinson Crusoe is the Civic League of Staten Island, the smallest borough in population of New York city. But while the pioneer in island experiment was wholly concerned in subduing jungle and savage for his own physical comfort, the Civic league is busy developing a civic and social program for some 95,000 people.

New York's Hodge Podge Borough.

Take the St. George ferry at the tip of Manhattan late some afternoon. Watch Battery park, the Woolworth tower, the slender bow of Brooklyn bridge and the beetling ferry houses melt into a foggy wedge of tall thin buildings. Watch the huddled land across the harbor stretch out and up into warehouses, trees and dwellings. Then follow the ferry passengers out at St. George's depot, the focus of Staten Island where scurrying little steam trains, so much like those of the London "Inner Circle," whisk commuters to waterfront villages, and electric cars buzz off to the hilly interior.

Out of tangled streets laid over cow paths, out of little provincial towns with local prejudice and set habits, out of cheap "resorts" sprung up along the beaches, New York city has determined the borough of Richmond. And it is this hodge-podge of old Dutch gentry and garish South beach midway that the Civic league is trying to weld together for team play and common purpose.

What the Civic league has been doing since it expanded from 350 charter members in 1913 to a flourishing organization, with fifteen local branches and more than 1,700 members, may be gathered from looking over the issues of the Staten Island Civic League Bulletin.

Team Play With Public Officials.

An advisory committee, composed of two members from each ward, meets regularly to consult with the Borough President upon all proposed public improvements and the general welfare of the Borough.

Persistent agitation has been kept up against the smoke nuisance from Jersey factories just across the channel. A volunteer corps of fire wardens has been organized to prevent woodland fires, a tree-planting service and an active tree-preservation movement have been started. A week before every local board meeting notices are sent to all property owners within the area of assessment of any public improvement calling their attention to the first hearing upon it. The league also analyses all legislative bills affecting Richmond directly or indirectly and registers approval or opposition with representatives in the legislature.

The social service work of the Civic league is as varied as that of a settlement. Since only one branch of the charity organization society covers the whole fifty-seven square miles of island and the league has established a social service exchange and has engaged a supervisor. Through this exchange the charity organization society, the department of public charities, the Hebrew charities and other relief bodies on the island may co-operate and facilitate efficient charity work. The exchange itself undertakes a certain amount of case work not handled by associations, assists in any general relief movement and is at present securing work for unemployed in the borough. Besides aiding the destitute, it has opened a successful day nursery in West New Brighton and two social centers for young people in schoolhouses.

The New Year Goals.

For 1915 the Civic league will continue its present activities, but in addition it has three distinct projects on which it will concentrate.

First of all it wishes to bring about the centralization of the postoffice system conducted in a haphazard way from local offices established in nearly all the forty-four towns on the island. The general committee of the league has passed a resolution petitioning congress for an appropriation to provide for the construction of a borough postoffice and Congressman Riordan has promised to frame such a bill. Meanwhile, inasmuch as a new postoffice would not be available for several years, a plan will be presented to the postoffice department at Washington for immediate improvement in local service, perhaps through direct delivery by automobile.

The second number on the league's program is to secure a comprehensive city plan for Staten Island by co-operating with the city planning committee of the New York board of estimate. Many people are boosting the idea of subway extension to Staten Island but, as Mark Wiseman, executive secretary of the league, points out, why not first provide for the stream of immigration which will pour into the island through the subway? Now, Mr. Wiseman contends, while property values are still low and progress just beginning, is the time to stem haphazard confused growth and map out scientifically a beautiful and useful plan of borough development.

The last of the trio of projects which the Civic league will advance this winter is a New York free port located at Staten Island, where goods brought into harbor not for import, but for transshipment in some form or other may be handled free of duty charges and without inspection by customs officers. Such goods could be stored in warehouses until opportune time for marketing within the country or cargoes could be broken, remade and transshipped. A "free zone" for the port of New York modelled after that of Hamburg, Germany, has been endorsed by the Merchants' Association of New York city, and is considered one of the best ways to build up a United States merchant marine, so needed at this time. Staten Island with its fifty-four miles of water front and its open coast line is regarded as the logical place for such a shipping terminal.

On Christmas eve a spire of twinkling lights rose on Tompkinsville square on Staten Island. It was the thirty-foot Christmas tree, planted through the efforts of the woman's committee of the Civic league, wired and lighted by the Richmond Light & Railroad company, visited by hundreds at reduced fares on the Staten Island Rapid Transit railroad—the center of an entertainment supplied by church choirs, the band at Mt. Loretto Home, the band of the police department, the Elmgkelt society, one of the best choral societies in New York, and on Christmas day by some 500 school children. This sparkling hemlock tree meant more than the reach of the community Christmas to Staten Island. It was the symbol, the torch of the community spirit which the Civic league is striving to keep bright the whole year round.

COLD WAVE

Gee whiz, how it did snow! And how it did blow! About the only people out last night were a lot of curling fans who would not be denied the "roarin' game." Even the saloons were almost empty. But during the night the snow and blow let up and today householders are saying things about having to clean off the sidewalks. Many poor men are getting needed jobs at this, so truly, it is an ill wind that blows nobody good.

A year ago today was cloudy. The sun rose this morning at 7:48 and will set this afternoon at 4:48 giving nine hours even of sunlight.

Mr. Richardson makes the following comment on weather conditions:

"Much colder weather prevails in nearly all districts west of the ninety-fifth meridian, with zero temperatures in Northwestern Minnesota, North Dakota, Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta. This cold wave will reach the head of the Lakes tonight. The temperature has risen rather decidedly over the Western lake region, Mississippi and lower Ohio valleys compared with Friday morning. During the last twenty-four hours rain or snow fell over the Mississippi and Missouri valleys, the Northwestern lake region and Rocky mountains."

Colds—whether in the head or any part of the body—are quickly overcome by urging the liver to action and keeping the bowels free of poison. Take Cascarets to-night and you will wake up with a clear head and no doubt you will wonder what became of your cold. Cascarets work while you sleep; they cleanse and regulate the stomach, remove the sour, undigested food and foul gases; take the excess bile from the liver and carry off the constipated waste matter and poison from the bowels.

Remember the quickest way to get rid of colds is one or two Cascarets at night to cleanse the system. Get a 10-cent box at any drug store. Don't forget the children. They relish this Candy Cathartic and it is often all that is needed to drive a cold from their little systems.

MANY BUILDING PLANS BEING MADE FOR COMING SEASON

Several Big Projects in Construction Line Being Figured on.

Much Residence Building Expected; Contractors Look for Busy Year.

These are days of planning and consultations between architects and their patrons regarding work contemplated during the coming season. It is estimated that plans are being prepared for three expensive homes in Congdon park and that an extensive building program is foreshadowed in Waverly park and in other high-class residential sections of the city.

Contractors are interested over the prospective building of a junior high school in connection with the Lincoln school. Plans for it, as prepared by F. G. German, architect, provide for a structure to contain fourteen classrooms, a large auditorium and a gymnasium. Its cost is estimated at $80,000. It is expected that the plans will go out for figures as soon as the board of education is in a position to finance the proposition through the sale of bonds.

Plans for the new armory building are approaching completion at the office of Kelly & Williams, architects, and it is thought they will also go out for figures shortly.

An interesting industrial proposition in sight is the erection of a factory structure in the Western section of the city by a company that is finding itself cramped in its present quarters and proposes to branch out upon a more extended scale. Plans for the structure have been prepared and it is intimated that its erection is likely to be undertaken within the next three months.

Fawcett & Bergstrom have been awarded the contract for finishing the eleventh floor of the Fidelity building at $3,000. The plans were prepared by Bray & Nystrom, architects.

Anton A. Johnson is building a frame dwelling to cost $2,500 on Pitt street between Forty-ninth and Fiftieth avenue east.

John Nordquist is building a concrete block home on Seventh street between First and Second avenues west at a cost of $2,500.

Several competitive plans have been submitted for a proposed city hall at Hibbing, Minn. It will be a large structure, entailing an estimated expenditure of over $150,000. It is thought that a decision regarding the project will be reached within a month and that work upon it will be started as soon as the frost is out of the ground. Considerable large building work is likely to be carried through in towns in this district during the coming season. A number of expensive schools and other public buildings are projected.

A further announcement regarding the proposed bachelors' apartments to be built on Superior street near Tenth avenue east is looked for within the next couple of weeks. An official of the company promoting the project is expected here from the East in a few days.

McLeod & Smith have completed their contract for the addition to the Northern Cold Storage & Warehouse company's plant. The premises will be occupied by the Cowan-Lenning-Brown company till such time as their proposed new wholesale grocery warehouse on Lake avenue south is completed.

* * *

The following permits were issued during the week at the office of the building inspector:

INQUIRY FOR REALTY IS FEATURE OF THE MARKET

Various Parts of City Divide Interest for Prospective Investors.

Home Building Is Chief Source of Interest, Many Looking for Locations.

Inquiry for residence properties was the feature in local real estate circles during the present week, and sales of a number of building lots in the eastern sections of the city, including Congdon Park, Waverly Park and in the normal school district, are said to be on the tapis.

A good movement is foreshadowed in Lakeside, Woodland, the Central hillside and in the area being developed near the Boulevard. Operators specializing in West end, West Duluth, New Duluth and Gary properties say that the outlook never looked more promising than at the present. Substantial industrial development in a number of directions is looked for within the next few months. Interest has been aroused through the intimation that some men are to be placed at work in at least two departments of the Minnesota Steel company's plant early next month. A number of men including blacksmiths, machinists and electricians have been engaged during the last few days. This is taken to foreshadow the starting up of construction work at the plant in the near future, and the probability of the enterprise being carried through to completion without any further halts. It is regarded as assured that definite announcement on that point will lend to considerable activity in realties.

Realty Men Optimistic.

Operators in all classes of properties express themselves in a generally optimistic strain regarding the outlook for the year. Said Whitney Wall today:

"There has been a vast improvement in inquiry for every class of property, residence, business and acreage, during the last ten days. It looks now as if much of this would develop into good business before long. I look for a nice movement all along the line in the spring."

W. D. Underhill of the Cooley-Underhill company regards the applications being made for mortgage loans from lot owners who contemplate building homes during the coming season as one of the most healthy signs. No difficulty, he said, is being experienced in securing the acceptance by insurance and trust companies of loan applications of that nature offering a reasonable margin of equity.

Charles P. Craig & Co. reported the sale of a lot in Lakeside for improvement in the spring. Plans are being prepared for a house in that section for the Lakeside Land company, to be proceeded with next month.

The Hoopes-Kohagen company sold three lots in the Park Drive division and also a lot in the West end. The laying of water and sewer pipes has been completed over an extensive area in the Park Drive division, and it is intimated that the erection of several homes there is to be proceeded with early in the season.

Sales of five lots in the Gary Central division were advised by A. W. Kuehnow, president of the Gary Land company. With the prospective starting up of construction by the Minnesota Steel company at its plant in the spring, outside interest in realty propositions out there is said to be on the increase. Mr. Kuehnow also sold half a section of land near Stanley, on the Alger-Smith road, to a buyer from Michigan.

The Cooley-Underhill company reported the receipt of earnest money on the sale of two houses in the Western section of the city.

In the face of the present being the off-season, a surprisingly good inquiry for acreages was noted by the Alliance Real Estate company. Sales of two tracts at Exeter Farms were effected yesterday.

The P. McDonnell Land company has been incorporated with a capitalization of $50,000. The company will engage in a general real estate business and have its head office in this city.

* * *

J. D. Stryker sold to Ella A. Cook, eighty acres of land in section 51-15 beyond the Rice Lake road, and took in exchange a frontage of 100 feet on Fourth street by 46 2-3 feet on Fourth avenue west.

* * *

A. M. Mahler has become associated with the Whitney-Wall company's real estate department. Mr. Mahler has an extensive acquaintance in the city, having been for five years connected with the Duluth Telephone company as solicitor.

The following real estate transfers were recorded during the week with the register of deeds:

THE ACCOMMODATING MILKMAN.

New York Sun: "Really, I think that milkmen are the most accommodating persons in the city," declared a Harlem woman. "There isn't a morning in the week that milkmen are not requested to perform some little service for their customers.

"Since living in this section about five different men have served the milk in the morning, and they were all obliging persons. It was a favor for them at all to go around to the baker's and leave my order for bread or rolls, and on more than one occasion the milkmen have brought the bread and rolls back with them rather than have me disappointed.

"On other occasions in the summer the milkman has gone to the iceman and ordered my ice for me and they have also ordered my paper for me on stormy days when I did not feel disposed to go out in the wet. Nor are these all the errands that milkmen are called upon to perform.

"For instance, there was a woman living in this house up to a few months ago, and she used to make the milkman act as an alarm clock for her husband. This woman made weekend visits to the country, while her husband used the city residence. He was a sound sleeper and he never awoke in the morning until the milkman sounded the rising signal on the bell."

Mrs. Pauline Poquet of Jackman, Maine, although 96 years old, often takes a nine-mile walk, and can read and thread a needle without using glasses. She is the head of a family in which there are five living generations, and she has 196 living descendants.

PENNILESS OLD MEN!

What a pity! Men who have spent their entire lives living on a salaried position—spending all they made—sometimes a little more. Result—Penniless Old Men. The land owner, however, has a natural pride in thrift. He cultivates saving habits. He makes the soil produce his own living and something besides. Why not get in the "land owner" class today? We have excellent farm tracts from ten acres up.

ALLIANCE REAL ESTATE CO.
Lonsdale Building, Duluth.

BUY NOW—DULUTH IS RIGHT.

What is the matter with Duluth?

Why isn't this the biggest, buyingest real estate market since the boom days of 1891 and 1892?

Capital is made only by the process of earning and saving. To keep it alive is a stupendous task. Depreciation of property alone will wipe out most property in fifty years. Real estate is about the only form of wealth that endures. Nearly all other capital that existed in the United States fifty years ago is now in the scrap heap.

If ever in the history of the city there was reason for buying real estate it is now. There was some excuse while the exchanges were closed for the man whose sole resources were tied up in stocks and bonds, and tied up tight, but now there is a market for these if they are any good, and if they are not, it is just one more argument in favor of real estate being the basis of all wealth.

Here is what an eastern financial paper says of general conditions:

"Hard times? What does the United States know of hard times? Talk your hard times talk to Belgium, with 12,000 square miles devastated; talk it to France and England; to Germany and Austria, with crippled industries, with every tenth man on the field, and more on the way, and with all their energies supporting some 600 miles of battle front on both sides. What does the United States know of hard times? What can it know?"

There will never be any general break in realty prices in Duluth. It isn't in the cards. Realty values defy depression and panic—the value is there.

The best any one can do is to take advantage of some individual's need for money, for business or other reasons, and get his property for a little less than the market value, and the man who waits too long for that, or who squeezes the price too hard, wakes up to find that some other who has his eyes to the front, and who can see something of the future by reasoning on the past, has beaten him to it.

While at the present time there is no general break in prices, nor will there be, there are numerous opportunities such as this.

Now is the time to buy.

FARMERS ASKED TO CO-OPERATE WITH COUNTY AGRICULTURAL AGENT

Every farmer of St. Louis county whose address could be obtained has been mailed a circular letter from the office of H. G. Larson, county agricultural agent this week, in which he outlines the scope of work of his office and asks for their co-operation. The letter is as follows:

"In this age of the world when everything practically from labor to capital, including nearly every known industry, is organized either for self-protection or gain, oftentimes both, it seems rather peculiar that the oldest and most reliable industry, that of agriculture, should be the last as well as the hardest to get in touch with the great element of co-operation. There is not the slightest question that every community in the agricultural sections of the United States, as well as the state of Minnesota, would profit greatly by making a closer study and better use of its modern helper, community co-operation.

"Did you ever stop to think that the office of county agricultural agent of any county in the United States, including your own, is a direct outcome of this same co-operation. The United States department of agriculture at Washington, D. C., with its staff of experts and investigators; the agricultural department of the University of Minnesota with its scores of trained men, each with his own particular specialty; have been placed at the disposal of each and every farmer throughout St. Louis county, by the act of your county commissioners when they passed the resolution to co-operate with the senate and national governments, and put at your service the county agricultural agent.

While it is next to impossible for any one man to visit every farm in a county as big as St. Louis, it should be possible for us to visit every schoolhouse, which is the best community center in existence, and there be able to get acquainted and form a sort of working basis that will eventually bring the desired results. Agriculture in Northern Minnesota is in its infancy and whether it becomes a dwarf or a giant will depend on the 'bringing up,' the care and training it gets. The way the twig is bent, that way the branch will grow. The better methods we use, the better the results will be.

"The sole object of this letter is to inform you that your community is as much entitled to the services of the county agricultural agent as any other, and that either your own particular needs or those of your neighborhood will be gladly discussed and if possible remedied, either personally or by letter. We would be especially pleased to get in closer touch with communities where farmers' clubs or other organizations already exist, or where new ones are proposed; so if you are interested in St. Louis county agriculture, or if you are thoroughly interested in your own community development, call or write to the county agricultural agent, 208 courthouse Duluth, Minn.

FRIEND WIFE, BABY DOROTHY AND THE DRAPED DOCTOR

Being a Recital of the Purely Professional Pursuit of Lost Symptoms and the Development of Dormant Versatility.

Dr. William Brady in the New York Sun: My wife is the peerless tracer of lost symptoms. She is always unearthing symptoms of the most serious imaginable kind, being gifted with the nursing instinct. In fact, she narrowly missed training for a nurse; was about ready for her diploma when I happened along in a beautiful white linen suit and a knowing air such as all young internes wear and persuaded her that nursing was an overcrowded profession, whereas—

To be sure we both had our little indispositions now and then in the course of our earlier years of housekeeping. And we always summoned a good doctor—my wife insisted on seeing a good doctor on these occasions—and the doctor always laughed and told us to forget it, which we did, even if he had the nerve to mail a reminder a few weeks later.

For a year after Dorothy came this good doctor spent about as much time around the house as I did—and I'm a great fellow to fool around the house when all the other doctors are out studying cases. It was now that Blanche's dormant versatility began to manifest itself.

The good doctor—he wore drapery on his chin, and I didn't—seemed to appreciate the many little pointers Blanche was always giving him on babyology; he seemed to take the greatest interest in the slightest mishaps of infancy. I've seen him sit and listen to Blanche talking for one solid hour about some small ailment, the two of them so absorbed in the discussion that they were apparently oblivious of the baby's screams and my mutterings, and I distractedly pacing the floor trying in vain to pacify the darling till they could conclude their conference. There was one saving feature about all these little consultations, however; Blanche always had on her nursing apron and the doctor always had his sleeves rolled up as though they were about to do something.

You will understand Blanche better when we say that she subscribed to a popular magazine that gave her a lot of inside information about babies. She was up on bathing, diet, dress. Obviously the doctor couldn't gainsay anything she found in the magazine, no matter if our baby was entirely unlike the kind described in the published articles.

I sometimes felt sorry for the doctor. The poor fellow was actually so rushed with work he couldn't hope to keep posted on what all the magazines were printing about babies, so he simply had to smother his embarrassment and accept gratefully whatever Blanche pleased to retail to him regarding the care and feeding of infants. Young women who contribute to the magazines should be more considerate of the family doctor's pride; they should endeavor to make the advice vague and general and give the doctor a chance. He has to earn his livelihood, too.

There was one occasion in the course of Dorothy's second summer when I happened home early from the office one Sunday morning (about 2 o'clock) and found the doctor's old red roadster at the door. I could hear the baby screaming like the very Ned as I hurried up the front stairs. Just outside the bedroom door stood Blanche in her week-day kimono and the doctor in his shirt sleeves, arguing as to whether protein or carbohydrate causes colic. The doctor stood out for carbohydrate, if I recall; old timers always did look askance at sugar, though sugar constitutes half the solid matter in a baby's natural food. But the magazine, speaking through a confident and determined mouthpiece, declared flatly for protein. The baby evidently didn't care a pink sock which it was so long as the yelling was satisfactory.

The incident nettled me a trifle. While I realized my ethical duty of silence in the presence of a senior colleague, it did seem to me that a compromise might be reached somehow and some definite course of procedure decided on. But no, they were so enthralled with the debate that they scarcely noticed me at all as I rushed past and into the bedroom just in time to rescue the baby from a permanent state of apnoea.

As soon as I felt sure she was going to breathe again I took old-fashioned measures and presently confronted the disconfited debaters with a missing safety pin. In the pregnant silence that followed I paid the doctor a compliment for his faithful attendance, placed the cooing baby in her crib and started to tuck her in when—would you believe it—they went at it again as eagerly as ever, this time trying to decide whether the caloric or the percentage method of feeding was preferable after weaning, and I must say Blanche was right there with her data. Before they finished that morning she made the doctor confess he couldn't tell just what a caloric was—and I suspect Blanche didn't know either, only the doctor hadn't the courage to challenge her for a definition.

One would naturally suppose that the neighbors would be a bit chary of making diagnoses or prescribing for a doctor's own children. Chary? Not a bit of it. Neighbors do not discriminate in that way. They just ignore the fact that there's a doctor in your family and tell you to try so and so, that old dip. So and So gave it to Mrs. So and So's baby and it worked like a charm.

Whenever any of our friends dropped in and the baby happened to be a bit cross or peevish they always wondered if it might not be her teeth. They would have guessed worms only they hadn't the face for that. So they contented themselves with teething. But Blanche always laughed at the idea. Her training came in fine here.

"Why, my dear," she would reply, "teething is a physiological process, is it not, so why should it cause illness or discomfort? No, I'm quite sure it's the excess of protein. I shall have to reduce to 3 per cent mixture again." And the visitor would look mystified and change the subject.

When Dorothy attained the age of 11 months without cutting her second incisors Blanche became worried. She searched the literature on dentition and came to the conclusion that the baby was developing rickets. In rickets, it seemed, there is a lack of lime in the system. Plainly Dorothy was shy on lime. You could just tell it to feel her soft flesh. So we had the doctor up next day.

Blanche gave him the latest bulletins about calcium starvation—mineral starvation she called it. It was a commonly overlooked factor of malnutrition, she explained. The human race suffered untold illnesses by reason of mineral starvation; there were various ailments attributable to insufficient mineral matter in food, such as anaemia, neurasthenia, dyspepsia and rickets.

The doctor pulled reflectively at his beard—it was a dandy beard to pull at; I've often wanted to take a pull at it myself. As a suggestion to help him out of this quandary Blanche mentioned the use of lime water as a dilutent in place of the barley water she had forced him to prescribe a month before.

The doctor acted rather uneasy. I know what I would have said to her if I had been in his place. But the doctor was a soft spoken man.

"Does Dorothy have head sweats?" he finally managed to inquire. He was feeling her wrists and running his hands over her ribs.

"Why, no—that is, not noticeably," Blanche reluctantly admitted. "But she is growing so fat, doctor. That's quite characteristic of rickets, you know. She's three pounds over normal weight for a baby of her age."

"The head seems to be well formed," commented the doctor evasively, feeling the fontanelle. "Frontal eminences are not particularly prominent. No indications of rickets as far as I can see."

"But her teeth—she has only two," Blanche persisted.

"Well, well, and how many should she have?" asked the doctor frankly. "She doesn't need any more as yet, perhaps. They'll come along when she has need of them, never fear."

"Mrs. Heller's baby is only 8 months old and has six teeth," persisted Blanche. "Dorothy ought to have six at least, doctor."

The doctor cogitated this problem soberly for a moment. "To tell the truth, I don't recall when the different teeth are supposed to arrive," he confessed, without the slightest trace of embarrassment. "It's a thing I've never been able to keep in my mind. I used to know when I began practice—I thought I had to know them—but it's so long since I've looked it up I've clean forgotten. Hah, hah! At any rate, it doesn't matter, I assure you. So long as the baby thrives as well as she is doing at present, we needn't care a picayune"—it was the nearest thing to a cuss the doctor ever uttered—"we needn't care a picayune about the details of dentition."

This pronunciamento, pronounced with such unwonted vigor, took the wind completely out of Blanche's sails. After all the diagrams and columns of babyology the magazine had devoted to teething, to think that old Dr. —— would go and overturn the whole thing with a word.

Blanche became discouraged, almost disconsolate. She not only refused to read the baby stuff any longer, but ordered the magazine stopped and took to reading another that specializes on the health of mothers. You know the liberality of editors these days embraces every field of human interest and endeavor.

My wife's attention was merely sidetracked from the baby's health to her own. What it would all end with I wondered. But anyway, the old doctor and I met at the medical society rooms about that time and cordially felicitated one another on our mutual respite.

INNOCENCE ABROAD.

Los Angeles Times: It happened on England's Great Western line, between Birmingham and Sherwsbury. There were three men in the compartment; a New Yorker (from the address on his bag) and two Englishmen, one of them an unobtrusive sort, but the other a frank example of that type which apparently exists to see to it that the world wags as prescribed by official regulations. This last fact became obvious soon after the train had pulled out of the station, for when the American took a cigar from his pocket, bit off the end and proceeded to light up, the letter-of-the-law passenger remarked snappily: "This is not a smoking compartment, sir."

The smoker admitted the truth of the statement, but added he had been informed that, even so, smoking was permitted provided no one present objected, adding: "Do you object? If so, I'll stop, of course." But the Englishman didn't personally object, though he made the admission hesitatingly; he merely insisted that it wasn't a smoking compartment and the other ought not to smoke there.

After a moment's quiet consideration, the American settled himself more comfortably in his seat, and continued to puff at his cigar.

It was an uneasy quarter of an hour up to West Bromwich, at least it was for a red-faced Britisher. As they drew up and the guard appeared, a prompt demand was laid upon him to make the smoker stop smoking, and very naturally the functionary agreed, with "Sorry, sir, but that's the rules. If this gentleman objects, you know, sir." But he had closed the door again and passed along before any reply could be made.

The American went on smoking. His enemy made one more futile attempt to give him orders, and then glared and glowered till another three or four miles brought Wednesbury, and the guard again.

"See here," fairly shouted the Britisher, "this fellow's still smoking. Now you make him throw away that cigar or—"

"Pardon me one moment," interrupted the New Yorker, addressing the guard, "but this gentleman who wants me to obey him is in the wrong carriage. This is first-class, isn't it? Well, he has only a second-class ticket."

"May I see your ticket, sir," said the guard. It was second-class.

As the protestant shamefacedly but still sputtering sought another seat further down the train, Englishman number one, till that instant an amused spectator of what had been going forward, spoke for the first time. "You know, I'm glad you beat him," he said. "He looked to me like a smoker himself, and in any case he was awfully rude. But do tell me how ever under the sun did you know his ticket was a second?"

And between leisurely puffs the other calmly replied: "Why, a little of it showed above the edge of his vest pocket, and I saw it was the same color as mine."

REAL ESTATE IS "MOVING" THESE DAYS

BEFORE YOU BUY A HOME

or lot, or building of any kind in Duluth, take your time and look the field over well; as very often by a little investigation you can save money, and at the same time get a better offering than if you buy in a hurry.

How will you investigate?

It's a simple matter. Practically every Real Estate offering of any kind is published once or twice in the "For Sale Real Estate", columns of the want ads in this paper—and that is absolutely the only place in Duluth that you can find a complete published list of real estate for sale in Greater Duluth.

That's the reason it will benefit you to watch the ads in The Herald before you buy, as it's the only place where you can thoroughly post yourself.

More Cash for You to Begin 1915

More cash and fewer articles of various kinds which have accumulated about the home or place of business will be an agreeable beginning for 1915. This is a condition which can be easily brought about. In this live city of ours there is always somebody who wants to buy what you may have to offer. Take an offhand inventory now and determine what there is about the home or place of business that has value, but which is of no further use to you. Make a list of the articles, write descriptions of what you have and state the price at which you are willing to sell. Then send or telephone your description to The Herald, instructing them to insert "want ads" offering for sale or trade what you have decided you no longer need. The cost of Herald "Want Ads" is small. The results highly satisfactory. They take your message to everybody in Duluth, suburban districts and tributary towns.

WOMAN SUFFRAGE BILL IS TO BE FOUGHT OUT IN SENATE NEXT WEEK

Much Speculation Regarding the Fate of the Measure.

Drastic Regulation of Motion Picture Houses Is Proposed.

Compulsory Eight-Hour Day Wanted By Socialist Members.

(By a Staff Correspondent.)

St. Paul, Minn., Jan. 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—The first measure of wide interest that will be fought out at this session will be woman suffrage, and the fight on that in the senate, where it will be taken up first, will come on next week. When the report of the committee on elections recommending the bill for passage reaches the senate, which will be when Senator Lende, chairman, returns later in the week, Senator Sageng of Dalton, author of the bill, will move that it be made a special order for some day next week. No attempt will be made to do anything with it this week as several of its friends will be absent.

There is much speculation about the fate of this proposed constitutional amendment. On the whole, the early feeling that its passage was virtually a certainty is not now so widely observed. Its chances are deemed better in the house than in the senate, which is why it is being pushed there first. It has not been introduced in the house yet. The friends of the measure seem confident of victory in the senate, but they admit some doubt about the house. On the other hand, its opponents declare that the bill will fall in the senate, and that it will be badly beaten in the house. Should it pass the senate, this victory will give it an impetus that will help in the house.

Regulating the "Movies."

A drastic regulation of motion picture houses and pictures, under a state recreation board and state licensing system, is proposed in a bill which Representative W. J. North of Duluth will introduce in the house tonight at the request of the Women's Welfare

IN FAVOR OF GRAIN STANDARDIZATION

Grain Dealers of Minnesota to Be Heard By Committee.

From The Herald Washington Bureau.

Washington, Jan. 18.—Grain dealers of Duluth and Minneapolis will be represented at another hearing on the Moss grain standardization bill to be held by the senate committee on agriculture.

W. O. Timmerman and B. E. Benson of Minneapolis reached Washington today to present the arguments for the Minnesota dealers. "We believe the Moss bill should be enacted in order that there may be a fixed standard for all grains, that will apply in all markets," said Mr. Benson.

"While we are satisfied with the grades fixed in Minnesota under our state law and buy and sell grain on these grades the grains may be and have been given different grades in other markets. These differences between markets will be done away with if the government fixes standards that will govern in all markets. The corn grades established by the Federal government have been adopted in Minnesota and other states, with the result that corn is now shipped to all markets with little if any of the dissatisfaction that existed in the corn trade for years. The same result can be obtained in the trade in other grains if the Moss bill becomes a law."

PROHIBITION RIDER LOST

Attempt to Tack Amendment on District of Columbia Bill Fails.

Senate Refuses to Suspend Rules to Consider the Measure.

Washington, Jan. 18.—The senate defeated today 40 to 38, the motion to suspend its rules for consideration of a prohibition rider to the District of Columbia appropriation bill. A two-thirds majority was necessary to suspend the rule prohibiting general legislation in appropriation bills and the motion failed to receive even a majority. Debate has lasted five days.

A resolution for a committee of five senators to investigate charges by Senator Jones that the excise board of the district had not adhered to the present liquor law in granting saloon licenses, was adopted without debate.

After the vote Senator Sheppard stated he would make no further effort to press the prohibition issue in connection with the District of Columbia bill, but would bring it up either as a separate measure or as an amendment to some other bill.

Eighteen Republican and nineteen Democratic senators and one Progressive voted for the motion to suspend the rules.

MOROCCANS FIGHT WELL

Cover Themselves With Distinction in Protecting Retreat.

Wait for Germans and Fall Upon Them Fiercely.

Soissons, via Paris, Jan. 18.—The rear guard of the Moroccan rifle regiments who covered the retreat of the French center across the river on the 14th acquitted themselves with distinction. They had been posted in the village of Crouy.

At 4 o'clock in the afternoon the Germans, in serried ranks, debouched in the road and advanced toward the village. The riflemen carefully concealed their quick firers and posted themselves on each side of the road. Not a sound was made and nothing was allowed to show above the blackened ruins. The Germans thought the road was clear and ran to the village to get shelter from the French heavy artillery.

When they were within 500 yards of the place the riflemen opened fire suddenly. The Germans were surprised. There was no room to deploy and they fell in heaps. Those who could, retreated to the brook at Braye.

Reform Ranks.

Reinforced, they re-formed their ranks and attempted to turn the French position from the east side of the village. Three companies of riflemen

PUSHING RUSSIANS BEYOND THE VISTULA

Developments Near Warsaw Indicate That as German Plan.

Petrograd, via London, Jan. 18.—Recent developments in the vicinity of Warsaw appear to indicate that the Germans are directing their efforts to push the Russians beyond the east bank of the Vistula at the junction of that river with the Pilica.

It is the opinion of a high military authority that the Germans expect cooperation from the Austrians, who are seeking to force their way through from the vicinity of the Upper Nida, where recently hard fighting has been recorded. Holding a line of trenches and fortifications directly west of Warsaw, the German activity for the past fifty hours has been around a big village between Sochaczew and Bolimow, where six attacks in succession were made Saturday night.

In the region of Plock and Mlawa the Germans appear to be on the defensive. They have been slowly pushed back by the Russians, who daily are reported to be capturing new villages. Saturday, it is said, the Russians crossed the River Skrwa, which enters the Vistula a few miles below Plock.

With all Bukowina in the hands of the Russians, only one pass, which is strongly fortified, prevents an invasion of Transylvania, Hungary.

Reorganization of the Austrian army, through which an Austro-German element predominates, on the eastern front where formerly there was a large percentage of Slavs, is said to have worked a notable improvement in efficiency. The Austrian Slavs are reported to have been sent to the French front.

FEAR BRITISH WILL INVADE PALESTINE.

London, Jan. 18.—A dispatch to the News from Cairo says, on the authority of a missionary who has arrived there, that the Turkish military preparations point to apprehension of a British invasion of Palestine. The hills around Nazareth, the correspondent says, the missionary told him, have been fortified and the roads suitable for the transportation of heavy guns are being constructed from Acre, Syria, to Mount Carmel.

GERMANS SHIFT ATTACK TO NORTH OF SOISSONS AND USE THE BAYONET

Claim to Have Driven Allies From Positions Near Albert.

Allies Report Minor Victories in Artillery Engagements.

Official Communications Show No Change in East Prussia.

The German attack on the western front has shifted northward from Soissons and yesterday there was a severe encounter in the region of Albert. Today's official Berlin statement says that the Germans, attacking with bayonets, drove the allies from positions northeast of Albert. In the Soissons region there is little activity. Several French trenches in the Argonne are said to have been captured. The official statement from Paris disputes the German claim of victories in the Argonne, saying that the attacks were repulsed. Several minor victories for the allies are reported mostly in artillery engagements.

The official observer attached to the British army headquarters denies the recent report from St. Omer, France, that the British troops had advanced one mile near La Bassee, capturing German positions.

NO CHANGE IN EAST PRUSSIA.

In East Prussia so far as the official communications show there is no marked change. At Berlin it is said that attacks by the Russian forces in North Poland, which are attempting to advance toward the West Prussian border, were repulsed.

Detailed descriptions of the battle along the Aisne, supplementing the brief announcements of the French and German war offices, show that the fighting rivaled in ferocity that which

FOND DU LAC BRIDGE BILL IS HELD UP

Attempt to Secure Passage in House Blocked By Lenroot.

From The Herald Washington Bureau.

Washington, Jan. 18.—Representative Miller today made an attempt to secure the passage of the Fond du Lac bridge bill in the house. He was unsuccessful, however, because of objection made by Representative Lenroot of Wisconsin. In the discussion Mr. Lenroot claimed an agreement that the Fond du Lac bill and the Interstate Railway bridge bill should be considered together.

Mr. Miller said he knew of no such agreement, but he was forced to yield because it required unanimous consent to get the Fond du Lac bill before the house. Chairman Adamson of the interstate and foreign commerce committee said he understood a new report was coming from the war department on the Interstate Railway bill, and he thought that the bills should go over. They were therefore set aside for future action.

MANY RATTLES FOR WHITE HOUSE BABY

Toys, Baskets and Princeton Tiger Arrive for Young Scion.

Washington, Jan. 18.—President Wilson received a long list of callers at the executive offices later than usual today because of his desire to stay as long as possible with his small grandson, the child of Mr. and Mrs. Francis B. Sayre, who was born at the White House yesterday.

If the Sayre baby follows the precedent he set during his first night he will be a model infant. He gave his attendants little trouble.

A large heap of rattles sent by members of the Wilson and Sayre families and close friends were ready for the baby as soon as he could show interest in them. Several baby baskets had also been sent to the White House, but the one used was prepared by Mrs. Sayre herself.

Mr. Sayre, who arrived last night after the birth of his son, vied with the president today in displaying pride over the new addition to the White House family.

A toy Princeton tiger for the Sayre baby was presented to President Wilson today by a committee from the Princeton Alumni association of Maryland, who called to ask the president to attend their annual dinner.

"The baby's father is a Williams college man," said the president, "and therefore I don't know whether I should accept a Princeton tiger for him."

"But his mother came from Princeton," replied Edgar Allen Poe, the attorney general of Maryland, who headed the delegation. "The boy must be sent to Princeton for the sake of his mother and grandfather."

ACTION BY STATES SUFFRAGISTS' HOPE

Women Turn From Congress for the Time Being.

Washington, Jan. 18. — Declaring that the vote in the house recently on the Mondell resolution for a constitutional amendment to enfranchise women had demonstrated conclusively that the next important step in the suffrage movement must come through the states, Mrs. Medill McCormick, chairman of the congressional committee of the National American Woman Suffrage association, announced today that the committee's activities for the remainder of the session of congress would be devoted to such legislation as would advance the cause in the various states.

FEARS HAND OF ASSASSIN

Gen. Gutierrez and Members of Cabinet Flee From Capital.

Gen. Rogue Garza Is Appointed President By Convention.

El Paso, Jan. 18.—Gen. Gutierrez fled from the capital yesterday with members of his cabinet to escape assassination at the hands of Zapatistas, according to reports received here. Gen. Villa with all the troops at his immediate disposal is reported hurrying to the capital from Aguas Calientes.

In semi-official quarters it was predicted that Gen. Villa himself may become the next provisional president.

It was said Villa and Angeles, his chief of artillery, have decided to oppose the Zapata faction which is said to have assumed a belligerent attitude towards both the Villa and Carranza forces.

Gen. Obregon with the main group of the Carranza army was reported to be moving toward Mexico City after taking Puebla.

Gen. Zapata, it was learned, has entrenched himself in his old stronghold at Cuernavaca.

TWENTY-ONE OF CREW DROWNED

British Steamer Penarth Wrecked Off the Norfolk Coast.

London, Jan. 18.—Twenty-one men of the crew of twenty-seven of the British steamer Penarth were drowned today off the Norfolk coast. The Penarth, with a cargo of maize, was sailing for Hull from the River Plate. She struck Sheeringham shoal in a heavy gale and is a total wreck. Six survivors from the Penarth were picked up a by a trawler.

The Penarth was a small vessel of 1,959 tons net.

Another British steamer, the George Royle, also is believed to have been wrecked in the same locality. She left the Tyne for Saint Nazaire, France. The flare of rocket signals was observed by the coast guards at Cromer, but the steamer disappeared before the lifeboat reached the scene.

One of the George Royle's small boats has come ashore. The fate of the crew is not known.

The George Royle sailed from Hull Dec. 10. She was of 1,622 tons net.

"CRIME FEDERATION" BEING INVESTIGATED.

Chicago, Jan. 18.—Council investigation of the "crime federation," the activities of which are alleged to extend to all the important cities, was continued today.

Officials allege the organization dealt in millions of dollars' worth of stolen goods annually.

Investigators who posed as burglars were the witnesses today. They told of offering samples of supposed stolen goods to various dealers.

The latter, they said, offered to buy liberally if the "goods were up to the sample."

RESCUE WORK BEING PUSHED

Each Excavation Serves to Verify Early Reports of Disaster.

Food and Shelter Rushed to Sufferers From All Points.

Great Care Exercised to Prevent Epidemic Among Survivors.

Rome, Jan. 18. — Rescue work throughout the wilderness created by the earthquake last Wednesday continues slowly and under great difficulties. Each excavation serves to verify earlier reports of the probable casualties, though here and there, despite the fact that five days have elapsed since the catastrophe, living victims are being released from their prisons of crumbling plaster and fallen timbers.

Thousands of soldiers and civilians, including many members of the nobility, gradually are systematizing the relief work and are getting food and shelter supplies over the obstructed roads to stricken towns and villages. The relief work now, however, overshadows the rescue efforts.

The pope, according to the Observatore Romano, has sent aid to all the bishops in the dioceses of the earthquake zone. A fund of 20,000,000 lire ($4,000,000) has been received by the pontiff thus far. About 7,500 refugees, 2,000 of them injured, have reached Rome to date.

Property Loss $60,000,000.

SHIP PURCHASE BILL IN BALANCE

Outcome of Caucus of Democrats Will Mean Much for Measure.

Washington, Jan. 18.—Chief interest in congress today centered in the outcome of tonight's caucus of senate Democrats on the government ship purchase bill, for upon its action depends the fate of that measure, all hope of the passage at this session of any general legislation as well as some of the appropriation bills practically having been given up owing to the legislative tangle in the senate.

Tonight's caucus, the second on the shipping bill, is for the purpose of passing upon a number of amendments to the measure. Democrats are divided over the form of the bill, vigorous opposition having developed to the government ownership feature at Saturday night's caucus. They are confronted also with the unalterable opposition of the Republicans who have announced their intention of defeating the bill if possible.

Some of the Democrats believe, however, that if the government ownership and a government controlled steamship corporation features are eliminated from the bill at tonight's caucus the measure can be passed and that it will have the support of Progressive Republicans.

Another matter which the caucus will have to decide will be how much continuous time is to be given to consideration of the shipping bill to the exclusion of supply measures.

FOUNDATIONS DO MUCH GOOD

Untermyer Believes Large Charitable Organizations Are Good.

Investigation By Industrial Commission Begins in New York.

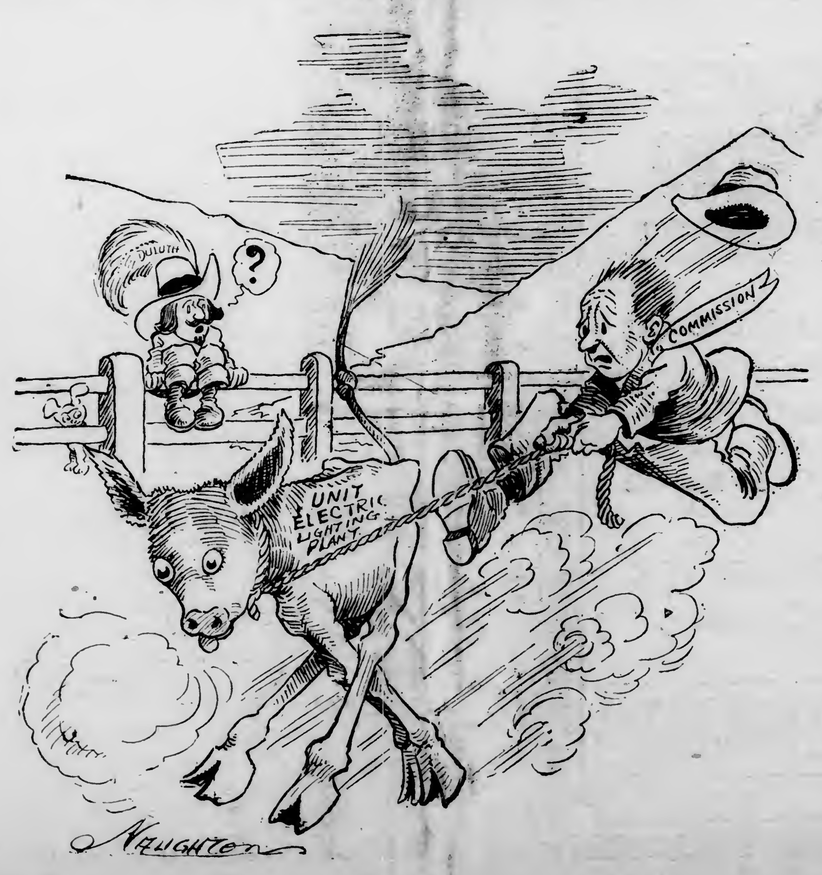

New York, Jan. 18.—At the first hearing here today by the Federal industrial relations commission in its investigation of the operations of the great philanthropic foundations, it was announced that Samuel Untermeyer would be the first witness. Another witness at today's session will be Roger W. Badson, writer on economics. The session will be presided over by Frank P. Walsh, chairman of the commission.

The commission plans to hear J. P. Morgan on Thursday and on Monday John D. Rockefeller, Jr., will testify. At subsequent hearings George W. Perkins, John Hays Hammond, Andrew Carnegie, Dr. Charles W. Eliot, Daniel Guggenheim, Jacob H. Schiff, August Belmont, John Mitchell, Louis D. Brandeis, Prof. Franklin H. Giddings, Samuel Gompers, Henry Ford, A. Barton Hepburn, Seth Low and many other prominent men, as well as women, will be called as witnesses.

Samuel Untermyer was questioned by Chairman Walsh, as the first witness. He discussed Socialist and Socialistic

BOTH SIDES CONFIDENT

Big Victory Expected Tuesday By Both Hughes and Evens.

Opposing Forces in Light Fight Will Close Headquarters.

On the eve of election both forces in the electric lighting controversy claim the victory at the polls tomorrow.

Ray M. Hughes, chairman of the Citizens' Referendum committee, said this morning that the vote will be very heavy for the 6-cent ordinance and that the vote against the unit plant will be of landslide proportions.

"There is no doubt in my mind," said Mr. Hughes, "that the unit plant ordinance will be defeated and that the people will adopt the 6-cent ordinance. We have made a clean fight and are satisfied that the voters understand the issues. One thing is certain, there has been no mud-slinging on our part. We discussed the issues, presented our argument and feel now that the public is with us."

Chris E. Evens, chairman of the Municipal Ownership league, is as certain of victory as is Mr. Hughes and he said this morning that the vote for the unit plant and the 1-cent ordinance will be sweeping.

"Our committee has made a hard fight," said Mr. Evens this morning, "and we are positive the voters of the city will be with us at the polls tomorrow. There is no doubt of it. It is all over but the shouting."

Both forces in the fight will close their headquarters tomorrow, it was announced. For the last two weeks the referendum committee has had a corps of workers in the Alworth building, while the M. O. league conducted its campaign from offices in the Phoenix block.

DR. DAY'S SKETCH SCORES.

Baldwin Players Please Sunday Audiences in Two Plays.

"Lost 24 Hours," with more laughs and more satisfactory comedy than anything except "Our Wives" yet shown by the Baldwin Players, preceded by a one-act "curtain raiser," entitled "A Pair of Crooks," by David Henry Day of Duluth, proved to be a fine combination at the Lyceum Sunday matinee and night. The house was generously filled at each performance.

In "A Pair of Crooks," Leon Hall, Dorothy Shoemaker, de Stefani and Al Smith make the most of a very good little melodrama. Hall, as the ex-crooked politician, but now the mayor, did very good work, and was scarcely recognizable in a new makeup; Dorothy Shoemaker, wife of the mayor, and with her own past to conceal, was womanliness itself, and "stuck" through an ordeal brought about by the return of a former husband, supposedly dead, who comes in the form of de Stefani to extort blackmail money. Al Smith, who makes a typical policeman, took the part of Brady, chief of police. A dictaphone, or similar contrivance, is used to confound political intriguers, but serves a better purpose in "landing" the mayor wife's former husband, wanted in London for murder. The piece received a good hand at the close.

The mayor's wife is to talk into the dictaphone when the church clock tolls 10. It is a tense moment as the bell peals forth 10 o'clock. Then someone in the wings dropped the bell and it seemed to roll! The house tittered.

"Lost 24 Hours" has a tangle that seems hopeless until the last part of three acts. Homer Barton, as "Dick" Swift, imbibes extra dry bubbles, sleeps twenty-four hours and loses a day. His wife, Milly, (Miss Shoemaker) has wired that she will return on Tuesday. Swift, having lost a day, believes Tuesday to be the next day, and Milly comes in just as Swift is being enfolded in the embrace of Bertha Dacre (Margaret Lotus), a woman of the world, with whom Swift has had a harmless "affair," and who has called to collect money, threatening blackmail if she does not get it. Swift introduces Bertha to Milly as his sister, a widow of a cowboy, disowned, he explains, by the Swift family because of her unfortunate marriage in Colorado. The Dacre woman assumes the role of a sister in the Swift home, and complications multiply from that time.

Comedy and Homer Bartin are synonymous, and in "Lost 24 Hours" he does quite as well as he did last week in "Our Wives."

Walter Baldwin, Jr., does excellent work as David Swift, a brother of "Dick" Swift, and a theological student, and he kept the audience in an uproar by his sanctimonious gestures and scriptural quotations, his reference to the frailty of human passions—until he "fell for" the charms of a pretty housemaid, Susan, done by Miss Fay Baker.

Leon Hall surpassed anything he previously has done in Duluth as Adolphus Smiley, an English man-about-town, a simpering and deceitful "friend" of "Dick" Swift. Smiley believes himself irresistable to women; tries it on "Dick" Swift's wife and is put out of the house by the husband.

William A. Mortimer plays Solomon Goldstein, a money lender, with decided success.

Joseph De Stefani takes the part of Thomas, "Dick" Swift's man-servant, with the De Stefani exactitude.

Helen Keers again is seen as the austere, scandal-scared person, Mrs. Churchill, a church worker, and in this she leaves little to be desired.

Miss Jeannette Roy, a new name and new face in the cast, plays Mary, Mrs. Churchill's daughter, and engaged to David Swift. Mary is her mother's echo: "We should add a trombone to the orchestra," declares Mrs. Churchill. "A trombone," repeats Mary. Miss Roy did well.

Miss Fay Baker, as Susan, the maid, pleased immensely. Al Smith again acts the policeman.

The plot drags a bit in places—the complications are varied and numerous. But the play is a laugh-provoker, and will be popular with Lyceum patrons. There is but one scene—a living room in the Swift household. The numerous situations, climaxes and laughable dialogue keep the room filled, and the audience interested, throughout. Not until the end, when Dick Swift tells his wife another lie to cover up his first falsehood about the alleged "sister," does it become apparent just how it will end. The adventuress, Bertha Dacre, Swift relates to his wife, is not his sister, but a woman who came to the house to meet Smiley, the Englishman, and Swift, to shield Smiley, had told his wife that Bertha Dacre was Swift's sister. As to the kiss imparted by the Dacre woman on Swift's cheek, Swift explains that it was intended for Smiley—and his wife believes it, according to the story.

But the Dacre person is still in the house. How can Swift get rid of her? Goldstein calls to collect his bill. He finds a letter written by the Englishman to the Dacre woman, and bribes the maid for the answer to the letter. In it he reads that Bertha has made a "date" with the Englishman, and Goldstein offers Bertha, whom it transpires is Goldstein's wife, to go home. She goes.

Swift then takes his wife into his arms, first swearing to himself "Never again" and they decide that they will call the affair "a day lost."

"Lost, Twenty-Four Hours' is one of those comedies wherein one laughs at the characters, more than at the plot, and Sunday's audiences found much to laugh at.

The double bill will be seen Wednesday, Thursday, Friday and Saturday nights, with Wednesday and Saturday matinees. Monday and Tuesday will be given over to "A Pair of Sixes."

It was announced that the Baldwins will put on "The Virginian" next week, with an augmented company.

RAY SAMUELS RETURNS.

"Blue Streak of Ragtime" Delights Orpheum Audiences Again.

Ray Samuels, billed as the "blue streak of vaudeville," a young actress who became famous "over night," is the reigning sensation at the Orpheum theater this week. Miss Samuels was picked up in a small-time vaudeville house but three years ago, and made her debut in "big-time at the Duluth Orpheum. By her sensational work she became one of the most popular members of the Orpheum Road show during her first year on the big circuit. Since that time Miss Samuels has developed her talents, and although she was billed yesterday to share "equal headline honors" with Claude Killingwater, she took her audiences by storm and when she had finished, admirers had grown tired from applauding.

The secret of Miss Samuels' acting seems to be the intangible something, called personality. It bubbles, and shines and radiates, until a magnetic current touches everybody in her audience as she sings and cavorts upon the stage. Acting to her is as easy as breathing to most performers. But doubtless back of it all has come a lot of hard work, which has made her the mistress of the trick. Some people would say "she was lucky," but the fact that she was prepared when the opportunity came, would probably be a better way to describe the secret of her remarkable success. There is little use in trying to describe her work. Most vaudeville patrons in Duluth have seen her and will probably see her again.

Mr. Gillingwater was generously applauded when he appeared in the playlet, "Wives of the Rich." The oft-repeated charge against the American, that he neglects his wife for commercial conquest is the background of the sketch, and his reformation induced by a terrible dream serves as the war and woof of the piece. Plays are often so constructed and based upon such an unstable fabric that few people will quarrel with the author for bringing about such a difficult thing as reformation by means of a dream, but most will concede that business men are not given to dreams of that nature very extensively. However, a bad digestion such as overtook John D. Rockefeller migat have been responsible for the dream. Mr. Gillingwater is very effective in his work, and the play seems almost realistic. His act and Miss Samuels' were so widely different in character that they should not be compared.

Wilbur Mack and Nella Walker in a delightful bit of song and chatter entitled "An Every-day Occurence," were warmly received. Miss Walker is pleasing both because of her personality and her work, and the whole act was effective.

Kremolima and Darras Brothers in "Something New in the Air," acrobats and gymnasts, are true to their advance notices being very clever and skillful. Loughlin's comedy dogs do well as canine entertainers.

The motion pictures are up to the usual standard and perhaps just a little better.

Amusement Notes.

"A Pair of Sixes," H. H. Frazee's famous comedy, which appears at the Lyceum for three performances only, is of especial interest to private secretaries, bookkeepers, stenographers and office boys. The two disgruntled partners each jealous of their prerogatives and each demands that the single representative of the various departments of the diminutive establishment must instantly reply to their call when the bells rings. You, who have a kind employer who says "please" and "will you kindly" when wishing your attendance, can imagine the terrible position in which the staff of the Eureka Pill company found themselves whenever the two partners happened to desire their services at the same moment. How all these entanglements were settled and the plot of this laughable farce worked out to a logical and satisfying ending will be better understood by taking a look at it tonight.

With a double headliner in Grant Gardner and Bert and Hazel Skatella, the bill opening at the popular New Grand this afternoon should be hard to beat. Grant Gardner, international favorite and greatest of all burnt cork artists comes to the Grand with a fund of new stories, comic songs and funny jokes, that stamp him "King of Comedy." Bert and Hazel Skatella, premier danseurs on roller skates, come here almost direct from New York where they were featured with the great Shubert productions at the Winter Garden. They offer a series of roller skate dances that are original and entirely away from anything done by any other act in vaudeville, it is said. Another novelty is Herbert's Loop the Loop Dogs. These clever canines are trained up to the minute and accomplish many difficult feats including looping the loop. A number of cats fill in in many of the tricks forming a combination that is unique andy rarely seen. Keno, Welsh and Melrose, comedy acrobats and gymnasts, offer many daring and thrilling stunts interspersed with some good clean comedy that is lagh compelling. Owing to the great demand for the Broadway feature, "Two Women," Manager Phelps has arranged to give the picture today as well as Tuesday and Wednesday. This great photoplay in three reels made an exceptional record during its run on Broadway. In the cast is Julia Swane Gordon, Harry Northrop, Anita Stewart and Earle Williams. Other photoplays are "Olive's Other Self," one of the "Olive Opportunity" series ;"The Indian Suffragette," a comedy and a Western play. At all performances today the official dedication films of the Yeomen castle, held in Des Moines, Iowa, will be shown.

Dorothy Donnelly, the well-known actress of the legitimate drama stage, will be the center of attraction at the Rex beautiful in "The Thief" today and tomorrow. Both actress and play are recognized for their merit and popularity, and it is said that the production is sumptuously staged in more than 300 scenes and that $5,000 is represented in Miss Donnelly's gowns.

The cost of gowns is appropriate, for here rests the gist of the whole plot. It is the story of a woman's love for fine clothes, the desire to please and be popular, that causes her to steal large sums of money from her friends to buy clothes to please her husband.

Her husband, being broad-minded and perhaps, too, having his vanity flattered a little, forgives his wife's fault after she confesses and repents. The theme is a good one and the film-made play is said to interpret the Bernstein drama in a tense and gratifying manner.

Those German bowlers will be seen at the Zelda theater tolnght for the last time.

Grousmeyer, a lazy bowling "nut," loafs around the house reading bowling news, while his wife visits a neighbor. The neighbors husband, Schmaltz, visits Grousmeyer, and the fans immediately get into an argument concerning methods of bowling. The argument develops into a scrap and the house is wrecked.

Both belligerents rush to the nearest bowling alleys to prove their individual contentions. Schmaltz demonstrates successfully his superlority over his rival. Grousmeyer resolves to get revenge and succeeds in smearing soft soap on the alleys. Schmaltz, discovering the deception, goes for Grousmeyer and a fight ensues in which every one present, including spectators, takes part.

In the meantime, Mrs. Grousmeyer returns and, finding her house wrecked, starts a fight with Mrs. Schmaltz on whose husband she puts the blame for the state of her home. The fight carries them over to the bowling alleys, where they are caught in the royal battle.

Sure heat—no speculation!

People who would not for any hoped-for profit risk a dollar in grain or stock speculations, may blindly risk many dollars and health dangers by taking chances of pulling through another winter with inefficient, nearly-played-out heaters. The wise owners and tenants—many thousands annually—stop such speculations, with their entanglements of high fuel expense, low comfort and great health risks, by putting in

AMERICAN RADIATORS & IDEAL BOILERS

IDEAL SMOKELESS Boilers and AMERICAN Radiators are sure in their distribution of right volume of heat to all rooms, sure in their automatic heat-regulation, sure of a century or more of durability, sure in getting the utmost volume of heat out of every ounce of fuel, sure in cleanliness—bringing no ash-dust or coal-gases into the rooms—no rusting, blacking, taking down, lifting and storing at season's end.

The cost of an IDEAL SMOKELESS Boiler and AMERICAN Radiators will annually average the lowest outlay. For instance: One of these outfits costing $200, and lasting 25 years, represents an investment of only $8 per year.

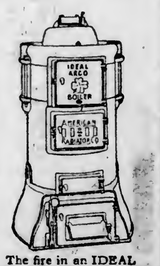

A No. 1-22-W IDEAL Boiler and 400 ft. of 38-in. AMERICAN Radiators costing the owner $190, were used to heat this cottage. At this price the goods can be bought of any reputable, competent Fitter. This did not include costs of labor, pipe, valves, freight, etc., which vary according to climatic and other conditions.

As there is no reason why an IDEAL-AMERICAN outfit will not last as long as the building—say 50 years—the investment would be only $4 per year. The saving of a few tons of coal per year, which these outfits easily effect, will pay a handsome yearly profit on this ideal heating investment. No one can therefore afford to continue the wastes, repair-bills, and nuisances of old-fashioned heating.

Do not wait to build a new store, school, church, farm or city home, etc., but enjoy comfort and content in the present one. No tearing up partitions or floors, nor disturbing occupants or old heating equipment until ready to put fire in the IDEAL Boiler. Put in quickly by any dealer anywhere should your old heating devices collapse in zero spell.

To get sure, simple, sanitary heating—no speculation—investigate today! Iron prices now rule the lowest of a decade, and at this season you get the services of the most skillful fitters. Call, phone or write for "Ideal Heating," free book; tells how to save heating dollars and the way to save buildings from emptiness and decay! Puts you under no obligation to buy! Better act now

The fire in an IDEAL Boiler need not be rekindled in an entire heating season. One charging of coal easily lasts through the longest zero night. There can be no fuel waste.

SAVING MONEY

Chicago News: "Economy," said Butters, "is like local option. By local option you can break up the traffic in intoxicating liquors that has flourished in your own county and at the same time expedite it in another county. If a family practices economy in one particular it naturally develops extravagance in another, or economy by one member of the family results in extravagance on the part of another.

"For instance, Mrs. Weedle presses the suits that belong to her husband and son; also, she launders their shirts. She saves lots of money by doing that.

"Now, the money she saves that way is spent by the son for ghosts and things."

"Ghosts!" gasped Pingle.

"Certainly, ghosts. Just as liable to be ghosts as anything else."

"Well," declared Pingle, "I knew that economy on a woman's part often led to extravagance on the man's, but I never knew it to force a man to such extreme resorts. It shows what a man can do in extremities. Wowcan shouldn't crowd men to such measures as that. Why, Brewster with his millions wasn't in anything like as bad a hole as that! But these ghosts. What excuse did young Weedle have for buying ghosts? And what manner of ghosts were they?"

"Oh, just ordinary 10-cent ghosts. Ten cents for the little ghosts and 25 for the big ones; candy extra."

"Candy ghosts?"

"No; candy to fill the ghosts."

"Are ghosts supposed to be fattened on candy as turkeys are fattened on corn?"

"Not exactly. The ghost is stuffed with candy as the turkey is stuffed with chestnuts. It isn't necessary to have the candy. The only advantage the candy has is that it offers a chance to spend the money which some economical member of the family has accumulated.

"Young Weedle bought candy and ghosts to hold the candy, and gave the ghosts to those kids of mine to celebrate Halloween with. They opened up the ghosts and ate the candy and then broke the ghosts and scattered them around the house long before Halloween arrived."

"Twenty-five cents for a pasteboard box and a death's head and about a millionth of a cent's worth of cotton! Did you ever hear of such a thing as spending money for that kind of stuff? Lasted the kids about a minute, and Weedle could have had half a dozen shirts laundered for what he paid for ghosts.

"Will you have one of these twofors? Sorry I can't offer you a better one. My shirts go to the laundry."

PRESIDENT'S NIECE IS NOW "MOVIE" STAR

MARGARET VALE.

A niece of President Wilson has become a "movie" star. She is Margaret Vale. Recently she had a letter from the president in which he expressed "the sincere hope that you are happy and successful in your new undertaking." So the seal of presidential approval is set on the "movies." Miss Vale's first appearance will be in a moving picture called "Was He a Coward?"

HAD THE BOSS'S CONSENT.

Pittsburg Chronicle-Telegraph: "Yes," said the fond mother, as she looked at her sturdy little son; "there goes the boss of this house!"

"And the other children don't mind?" queried her friend.

"Oh, no; he gets everything he wants, bless him! But why doesn't Bridget come along with the tea things?"

Investigation proved that Bridget had taken French leave for the afternoon, and her return home at 10 that night was greeted with dark looks from her mistress.

"You don't say you've returned?" she said, coldly. "Who, pray, gave you permission to go off for the day?"

"The boss, mum."

"Now, don't tell lies!"

"Sure, mum, ye told me the other day if Oi wanted a holiday I was to ask the boss. Oi gave him a sugar stick, and he said he didn't care if I did."

MORE TROOPS PUT AT WORK

Rescue of Victims of Earthquake Continues With Increased Vigor.

More Women Found Alive in the Ruins Than Men.

Avezzano, Jan. 18.—Fresh troops reached the earthquake area today and the work of rescue was continued with energy. Particular attention is being directed to pulling down of unsafe walls, which constitute a danger to survivors and rescuers; the burial of the dead; the distribution of supplies and caring for homeless and orphaned children.

It is interesting to note that the number of women being found alive is larger than the number of men. Women appear to have superior resisting powers. Even today, five days after the disaster, several girls and women were extricated from the ruins. All are injured but nevertheless the doctors hope to save them. A little boy also was found alive. He held in his hand a wooden horse, evidently a Christmas present.

The excavators have come upon many corpses of persons burned to death. It would appear that in many places fire broke out under the ruins.

It having been established that attempts at looting continue, the military authorities are taking severe repressive measures. Last night two thieves, endeavoring to enter a house formerly occupied by the local branches of the Bank of Naples, were shot.

Many priests are taking part in the work of rescue.

More Victims.

Rome, Jan. 18.—A dispatch to the Giornale d'Italia from Cittaducale, in the region of Cingolano, reports that 150 persons were killed and many others injured by the earth shock at that place.

At Borgo Collefegato a number of bodies were taken from the ruins.

The Tribuna says that Salmona Castro Neuva, a town of 500 inhabitants, was destroyed and that the town of Canistro also was wiped out. At the latter place sixty persons were attending mass at the moment of the quake and fifty of them remain under the ruins of the church.

The victims at Capistrello number about 200.

The Rome observatory officials say that the seismic activity clearly is diminishing.

The Odea Nazionale says the technical commission has found that the fifth block of the column of Marcus Aurelius Antonius on the Plazza Colonna, was displaced about four inches by the shock. The stability of the monument, however, is understood not to have been affected.

ONE OF AMERICA'S RICHEST AND PRETTIEST WIDOWS

MRS. MARIE TURNER.

One of the richest and prettiest young widows in the United States is Mrs. Marie Turner. She became a widow last Saturday when her husband, Thomas Morgan Turner, died after a short illness. Mrs. Turner has had a somewhat sensational career. Her name was Margaret Higley and she went on the stage as Marie Winthrop. Then she became interested in dogs and started a kennel. Meantime Mr. Turner had become interested in her and he had himself appointed her guardian and she established her kennels at his country home, Never Never Land. At that time there was a Mrs. Turner, the second wife of Mr. Turner, the first wife having divorced him. In 1911 the second Mrs. Turner got a divorce. A year later Turner married his ward. They then moved from Shelter Island to a home on Ninth street in New York. Mr. Turner was organizer of the Cotton Duck trust and he is thought to have left several millions to his young wife.

MRS. ASTOR'S SISTER SAILS FOR LONDON

MRS. REGINALD BROOKS.

Mrs. Reginald Brooks has sailed for England to visit her sister, Mrs. Waldorf Astor in London. Mrs. Astor is much interested in war relief work, and Mrs. Brooks will probably take up something of this sort while visiting abroad. Mrs. Brooks was one of the Langhorne sisters of Virginia.

Hearing on Curtailment.

In district court Saturday afternoon, the hearing on the application of Mountain Iron village officials for an order of the court modifying the terms of the injunction issued Aug. 13, 1914, restraining the village officials from spending in excess of $17,000 for the running expenses of the community was held. Since the order became effective the village hall burned down. The village officials now want the court's order modified so as to provide for a new structure. The injunction would prevent any such action until April 1, 1915. Mining companies are opposing any further expenditures.

KING OF ITALY SENDS THANKS TO AMERICANS

Washington, Jan. 18.—President Wilson received a cablegram today from King Victor Emmanuel of Italy, thanking him for expressions of sympathy, following the recent earthquake. The message follows:

"I am sensible very much of the expression of sympathy you have been so kind as to send me on this dolorous occasion. Please accept, with my sincerest thanks, the heartfelt gratitude of the Italian people."

COTTON MAKES HIGH RECORD FOR SESSION.

New York, Jan. 18.—Cotton went to above 9 cents a pound today for July delivery, a new high record for the season.

Cotton for delivery in other active months was up generally from 30 to 36 points above the closing figures of last week. This was about $8 a bale more than low prices of last month.

Buyers were encouraged by reports of continued firmness in the Southern spot market and a continuance of the heavy export movement.

GOING INTO SHENSI.

Shensi, the great central province of North China, is rich in coal, iron and petroleum and is one of the sections in which the Standard Oil company has particularly desired, and recently secured, concessions. Its people, who are strong and intelligent, declare that they are direct and unmixed descendants of the tribes which came originally to China from the cradle of the race. Sian-fu, the capital of Shensi, was the seat of government and home of the emperors for hundreds of years before Christ; and when the Empress Dowager fled from Peking before the allied armies, in 1900, it was to Shensi that she and her retinue made their way, by the sunken roads which thousands of years of travel had made so deep that her progress could scarcely be marked from the plain above.

Ten or twelve important walled cities are in the northern part of the province, which has been assigned to the American board of missionary occupation. Through one of these, Yu-Lin-fu, under shadow of the great wall and the headquarters of the army of the northwestern provinces, passes practically all of China's trade with Eastern Mongolia. Rev. W. O. Pye, one of the board's staff in the adjoining province of Shensi, to whom the survey and opening up of the new field was committed, reports that most of the prominent business houses in the district are owned or managed by men from Fenchow-fu or Taiku-hsien, cities where the board already has flourishing work. This fact, Mr. Pye says, "Makes it nice for us, for being from the same place they regard us as members of the family."

A generous friend, hearing of the addition of this great district to the board's already large responsibilities, gave $1,000 for immediate use in sending out Chinese evangelists and preachers trained in the Fenchow Theological seminary and who will be under the supervision of a missionary or of an experienced Chinese pastor.

Mr. Pye writes: "This is a great country, more like America than anything I have seen in China. I'd like to live here. Its bigness and wildness are fascinating. Its a great place for church work; we ought to have a strong work over here some day."

OCCUPATION NOT COMPATIBLE.

San Francisco Star: After taking five ineffectual strokes to elevate his ball out of a bunker, a certain Burlingame clergyman, with a deep scowl on his face and distress in his eyes, threw down his niblick and exclaimed: "It's no use: I'll have to give it up!" "Oh, don't get discouraged," said his partner. "You'll get the hang of the game yet." "I don't mean to give up the game," snapped the clergyman; "I mean to give up the ministry."

FREE CONCERT IS POPULAR

Many Are Unable to Obtain Admission to Masonic Temple.

Dr. Barker and Fine Musical Program Are Attractive Features.

Many Duluthians were unable to gain admission to the free concert at the Masonic temple yesterday afternoon. By 3 o'clock every seat was occupied. There is no question as to the appreciation of these concerts on the part of the public, and it is most gratifying to the management that their efforts to entertain are so warmly received.

The organ numbers included compositions by St. Saens, Beethoven, Verdi and Edward German. The "Allegro Con Brio" from Beethoven's Clavier concerto, opus 15, was most effective, and the three dance movements from "Tom Jones" were much enjoyed. The vocalist, Donna Riblette Flaaten, rendered her numbers with the artistic finish she always shows. Her accompaniments were admirably played by Mrs. J. N. McKindley.

The speaker, Dr. Charles E. Barker, of Washington, D. C., was introduced as a "preacher of the gospel of a sound mind in a sound body." His fifteen-minute talk was interesting and instructive and teemed with practical suggestions as to the superstructure of character on a foundation of sane and wholesome physical care. Dr. Barker spoke under the auspices and through the courtesy of the local Y. M. C. A.

The next concert will be held on Sunday, Jan. 31.

SHIPPING OF COAL FALLS

Weighmaster R. H. Salter Gives Figures for Last Year.

Nine Thousand Fewer Cars Go From Local Docks.

During the year 1914 a quarter of a million cars of coal and coke were shipped from docks on the St. Louis bay water front, according to an annual report issued by R. H. Salter, agent for the Western Weighing and Inspection bureau. The exact figures are 248,840 cars, compared with 257,283 cars in 1913 and 276,384 cars in 1912.

Despite the falling off, this record is considered very good by coal men, as last year's figures were surpassed until after war was declared abroad. Mild weather in the fall and a late winter delayed the annual fall movement, so that stocks are heavier now than is usual at this time of the season.

December shipments were about 3,000 cars behind those for November, despite predictions of coal operators that the final month would be the banner one of the year. This was explained by the fact that railroads loaded large quantities of fuel late in November to avoid a 10-cent price increase Dec. 1. The commercial and domestic demand continued about the same.

The record for the year, by months, showing the shipments from both the Duluth and Superior side, follows

	Duluth.	Superior.
January	6,469	15,170
February	6,651	17,569
March	5,529	11,156
April	4,820	11,980
May	3,747	9,528
June	4,168	9,144
July	4,718	10,381
August	6,006	14,343
September	6,683	17,664
October	7,397	19,890
November	8,048	22,004
December	7,274	18,701
Totals	71,310	177,530

Total, 248,840 cars.

MRS. SIEWERT MAY CONDUCT JAIL WORK

Sheriff Loses in Action, Affair Being Settled Out of Court.

Differences which have existed between Sheriff John R. Meining and Mrs. Ada Siewert with reference to her services as supervisor of the jail school have been settled out of court and the latter may resume her work as superintendent of the prisoners' school at the jail if she so desires. In district court Saturday afternoon, formal notice of the dismissal of Sheriff Meining's appeal to the supreme court from the decision of District Judge Cant, who granted Mrs. Siewert a writ of mandamus against the sheriff and jailer was granted.

The mandamus suit was occasioned by the sheriff's refusal to let Mrs. Siewert use the jail to carry on her work as school superintendent.

Duluth and Superior Lodges Will Hold Anniversary Meet.

Committees from Duluth and Superior homesteads of the Brotherhood of American Yeomen, met at the home of Ada Garland, Superior, yesterday afternoon, and completed plans to celebrate the eighteenth anniversary of the founding of the society.

An anniversary membership campaign has been launched between Duluth and Superior homesteads, under the management of District Manager Ada Garland of Superior and P. F. Harouff, district manager of Duluth, one of the largest classes ever initiated into the order will be put in at the Maryland hall, Superior, on the evening of Feb. 25 and will end with a banquet at the Superior hotel. Special street cars will be chartered to take the Duluth members and candidates over and, return. The initiation ceremonies will be handled by the Duluth homesteads degree and drill staff, under the management of Capt. Jerome P. Thorstad.

An interesting feature of the evening will be the presentation of the Twin Port banner to the city that secures the greatest number of new members for this class. This Is a Bad Month.

The indoor life of winter, with lack of outdoor exercise, puts a heavy load on the kidneys. Nearly everybody suffers from rheumatism, backache, pain in sides and back, kidney and bladder ailments. A backache may not mean anything serious, but it certainly does not mean anything good. It's better to be on the safe side and take Foley Kidney Pills to strengthen and invigorate the kidneys and help them do their work. They help rid the blood of acids and poisons. Sold everywhere.

PRESIDENT IS A GRANDFATHER

Son Born to Mr. and Mrs. Sayre at the White House.

Washington, Jan. 18.—A son was born at the White House yesterday to Mrs. Francis Bowes Sayre, President Wilson's second daughter.

The child was born at 4:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon, but the fact was not formally announced until 6 o'clock when Secretary Tumulty gave out the following statement:

"Dr. Grayson, the White House physician, states that at 4:30 o'clock Mrs. Sayre gave birth to a fine boy. Everything went perfectly and both are doing well."

The boy weighed seven and one-half pounds. He announced his arrival by a series of cries which gave assurance that his lungs were in excellent condition.

President Wilson made no effort to conceal his joy, when informed that the child was a boy, and that Mrs. Sayre was well. His face was wreathed in smiles for hours afterwards. The baby is the first grandchild, and the president has no boys of his own.

Mr. Sayre was at Williamstown, Mass., when his son was born. He arrived here late last night.

It is expected that the child will be named for his grandfather. The christening is expected to be held in the White House before the return of Mrs. Sayre to her home in Williamstown.

SHOOTING AFFRAY OCCURS IN CHURCH

Man Shoots His Sweetheart and Later Ends Own Life.

Peoria, Ill., Jan. 18.—Frederick C. Erdman, is dead, a suicide. Miss Hattie Gauwitz, 27, is probably fatally shot, and half a dozen persons, trampled upon when the Church of God congregation stampeded, are suffering from minor injuries as the result of a lovers' quarrel which culminated in a shooting affray here yesterday.

Miss Gauwitz, daughter of a wealthy retired farmer, quarreled with Erdman, her sweetheart, a short time ago. Last night he endeavored to effect a reconciliation and asked to be allowed to escort her to church. She refused.

Shortly after the opening prayer, Erdman, who had followed his former sweetheart to church, opened fire through a side door of the edifice and inflicted wounds on Miss Gauwitz which probably will prove fatal. Following the shooting the panic-stricken audience made a wild dash for the door. Several persons fell, were trampled on, and sustained serious injury. Erdman escaped.

He made his way to his home, four miles distant across the city, and told his relatives what he had done. Then, locking himself in his room, he took poison and sent a bullet from his revolver into his abdomen. He died two hours later.

INCOME TAX RULE

Every Person Having Net Income of $3,000 or More Should Make Return By Feb. 1.

(By J. J. Robinson.)

"Every person having a net income of $3,000 or more for the calendar year is required to render a return, and the penalty provided by law for refusal or neglect to file a return will be enforced regardless of the fact that the net income may be less than the exemption to which the individual is entitled."

The only exception to this rule is where a person's income consists of dividends or of the net earnings of a corporation and does not amount to $20,000 or over. In such case the tax is deducted at the source and no return is required of such income. In all other cases a person whose income is $3,000 or over, after making deductions allowed by law, must make a return of his income and claim his exemption.

As the internal revenue department is still issuing new rulings and modifying former rulings it is advisable to delay making returns until after the first of February.

GILPIN HONORED BY ASSOCIATES

St. Louis County Probate Judge Now Vice President of State Organization.

Judge S. W. Gilpin of the St. Louis county probate court was elected vice president of the state organization of probate judges at the annual convention of the Association of Probate Judges of Minnesota last week at St. Paul. Judge Gilpin returned from St. Paul Saturday.

The other officers elected were: Judge E. A. Lewis of Todd county, president, and Judge A. L. Stenger of Stevens county, secretary and treasurer. About thirty-five judges were present.

The association discussed matters of proposed legislation affecting probate courts and procedure. None of the changes would affect St. Louis county, but would confer upon probate courts in other counties of the state the powers that are now delegated to the probate courts of Hennepin, Ramsey and St. Louis counties.

800,000 PRISONERS IN GERMANY AND AUSTRIA.

Amsterdam, Jan. 18.—Official reports state that the prisoners of war in Germany and Austria now number 800,000. The Cologne Gazette compares this figure with 200,000 prisoners which it asserts are held by the allies.

These do not include prisoners now en route to concentration camps, or a portion of those captured in Russian Poland. The Austrian prisoners are estimated at 100,000. The total of 800,000 is more than double the total of the Franco-Prussian war.

CARRANZA TROOPS EVACUATE SONORA.

Nao, Arlz., Jan. 18.—Naco, Sonora, the scene of an intermittent siege for three months by Villa forces under Gen. Maytorena, was evacuated yesterday by the Carranza troops under Gen. P. Elias Calles, 1,300 troops starting eastward to Agua Prieta. The wounded and the women and children of the garrison were loaded on cars and left later for their journey through the United States to the same point. The arrival of this force at Agua Prieta will fulfill the preliminaries of the border peace pact made with the two Mexican factions by Brig.-Gen. Hugh L. Scott.

Naco is a shot-torn town, peopled only by the dead of Calles' army, buried in sheltered side streets. The few families which remained sought refuge here.

EMBARGO ON OIL IS LIFTED BY CARRANZA.

Washington, Jan. 18. — The British embassy announces that word had been received from Gen. Carranza through the British legation in Mexico City lifting the embargo on the exportation of oil at Tampico which had threatened the fuel supply of the British fleet.

Although no details of the extent of Carranza's modification of his previous decrees was received, the danger of serious complication was believed to have been removed. Negotiations still are being conducted to enable some of the foreign owned American and British companies upon whom prohibitive taxes had been levied to reopen their plants.

GREAT INFLUX OF SETTLERS

One Railroad Brought 26,000 to Northern Minnesota Last Year.

That Northern Minnesota has been the beneficiary of immigration activities of the Great Northern road in 1914 is shown by a statement just received in a letter to G. Roy Hall, traffic manager of the Commercial club from W. P. Kenney, vice president of the Great Northern. It is probable that Northern Minnesota has profited more than any other section along the road.

According to Vice President Kenney's letter the road moved during last year to Minnesota, North Dakota, South Dakota, Montana, Idaho, Washington and Oregon a total of 2,053 cars of immigrant movables.

Of that number of cars, 1,761 were destined to points in Minnesota on the Great Northern. That, of course, means, for the most part, Northern Minnesota; and it also means, according to the letter, that more than 58 per cent of the result of the road's immigration work came to Minnesota and located here.

This, says Mr. Kenney, is 200 cars greater than the movement of the previous year. Mr. Kenney adds that the officials have found, on investigation, that each car of immigrant movables, easily represents the effects of three families, on the average, which would mean that 5,283 families came to Minnesota in 1914 to settle on land along the Great Northern. Taking the basic of five to a family, the population added by this road's work alone would make 26,415.

The Great Northern pursues a systematic campaign for immigrants, using exhibits at state and county fairs through the Middle West and Southwest, and in many places establishing permanent exhibits. They also have conducted in the Southeast, South and Southwest stereopticon lectures, and exhibition cars working through various parts of the country.

The showing made by the road last year is considered quite remarkable.

SUES G. N. FOR $1,000.

Action of O. J. Lunn Is Begun in Federal Court.

A personal injury action brought by Oliver J. Lunn against the Great Northern Railway company, in which the plaintiff asks $1,000 for injuries alleged to have been sustained while in the employ of the defendant, was brought for trial before Judge Page Morris and a jury in the United States district court today. Lunn alleges that he fell from a platform near Allouez on April 18, 1914, and sustained severe injuries to his right ankle. He charges that the company neglected to keep its lighting system in order near the roundhouse, where he was employed.

WOULD RECOVER CERTIFIED CHECKS.

In Judge Cant's division of the district court this morning, trial of the action recently filed by Gust Frederickson and Otto Pearson, contractors, against P. M. Olson, a local architect, and R. A. Manheim and Paul Sabrowski of the school board of District No. 71, near Rice Lake, was begun. Possession of two certified checks totaling $256.80, which are retained by the school board, is sought by the plaintiffs. The First National bank of Duluth, upon which the checks were drawn, is also made a party defendant to the action. Frederickson & Pearson were the lowest bidders on a school house. When a controversy arose over the kind of bond to be furnished, the contractors offered to surrender their contract. The checks, however, were not returned.

BOB SMOLLETT IS BACK ON HIS BEAT

Duluth's Oldest Police Officer Gets Best of Pneumonia.

Police officials were not worrying about the beat from Lake avenue to Third avenue west and Superior street this morning, for "Bob" Smollett, veteran member of the force, who had been ill with pneumonia for nearly six weeks, went back 'on the job'.

Bob is the oldest member of the force, and has worn star No. 1 for years. He has been confined to his home since Dec. 8, when a severe cold, which he had contracted, developed symptoms of pneumonia.

SALOONS TO BE CLOSED ALL DAY

Prospectively Thirsty Had Better Get Supply for Election Day.

Mayor Prince issued a proclamation this morning ordering all saloons to remain closed on election day, tomorrow.

According to the provisions of the state laws, no person may sell intoxicating liquors on any general, special or primary election day, the penalty for a violation of this statute being a fine of not more than $100 or less than $50.

The saloons will close at 11 o'clock tonight and will not open again for business until 5 o'clock Wednesday morning.

HUNGRY, THEY STOLE MUTTON

Court Lenient Although Prisoners Had Spent Money for Liquor.

Hunger and inability to get work prompted John Henrik Keranen and Frank Victor Wirta to steal a mutton carcass from a railway box car on the night of Nov. 29 last and convert it to their own use, according to the story which the two men told when they were arraigned before Judge Bert Fesler in district court this morning on a charge of grand larceny in the second degree. They changed their plea of not guilty to guilty and each drew thirty days at the county and city work farm. The men were indicted by the January grand jury. Their case was brought on for trial this morning by County Attorney Greene.

The men declared that they were hungry when they took the mutton. "If you had not spent your money for booze," declared the court, "you would have been able to buy the meat. I am going to be easy with you this time, because this is the first offense of this kind. But if it happens again, you may go to the penitentiary."

J. McKeon appeared in court as attorney for the defendants.

MORE UNEMPLOYED ARE GIVEN WORK

Twenty-Five Are Added to Force to Do Sewer Work.

There were twenty-five more unemployed men added to the public works department this morning to begin work Wednesday on the sewer job at Fifty-eighth avenue east. This makes a total of 400 men now working for the city on sewer jobs, the Point of Rocks and other street improvements.

About 100 men tried to get employment this morning, but Commissioner Murchison could find room for only twenty-five. The material will arrive tomorrow and active work will begin Wednesday morning, he said. The sewer will be built from London road to Superior street.

The men will be paid 20 cents an hour from now on, the commissioner announced, this being the lowest rate now in force.

Notice of Dissolution.

LACK OF READY REASON GETS HIM IN TROUBLE.

A jury was drawn in Judge Bert Fesler's division of district court this morning to try Alfred Nelson on an indictment returned by the January grand jury charging him with second degree grand larceny. He is alleged to have taken $64 from S. D. Swanson, 623 West Superior street, Nov. 26.

During his preliminary examination in police court he is understood to have admitted that two days before the alleged theft he had but $1.50 of the coin of the realm in his possession. He was unable to give the police a satisfactory explanation of how he came by the $64 and was held to answer to the charge.

SHOP GIRLS WILL HEAR DR. BARKER

Three Stores Will Send Clerks to Y. W. C. A. Tuesday.

Interest in the health talks of Dr. Charles E. Barker of Washington, D. C., former physical adviser for W. H. Taft while he was in the White House, is spreading all over the city. The practical value of his work is shown by the fact that three of Duluth's largest department stores will give a leave of absence to all the girls in the stores to attend Dr. Barker's lectures at the Y. W. C. A. between 9 and 10 o'clock and 10 and 11 o'clock tomorrow forenoon. The speaker's topic will be "Health and Happiness."

The stores to give this opportunity to their girls are the Glass Block store, Silberstein & Bondy's and the George A. Gray store. Visits to the lectures will be arranged in relays so that the stores can take care of shoppers and still have part of the staff at the Y. W. C. A.

IS REFUSED ADMITTANCE

Mrs. Siewert Claims Sheriff Refused to Let Her Into Jail.

Prison School Controversy Reopened After Apparently Being Settled.

When the appeal to the supreme court from the mandamus order of Judge Cant of the district court directing Sheriff John R. Meining and Jailer Joseph W. Allen to admit Mrs. Ada Siewert to the county jail for the purpose of supervising the school for prisoners, was dismissed, it was supposed that the Siewert-Meining controversy was ended. Today's developments proved otherwise.

Mrs. Siewert in a statement to The Herald today declared that when she applied for admittance to the jail today for the purpose of resuming her work as supervisor of the school for prisoners, she was again denied admittance and told by the jailer that she would have to apply to the sheriff for an order before he would admit her.

PARCEL POST AS AN AID TO HEALTH

December Bulletin Urges Importance of Getting Fresh Products.

The December bulletin of the Duluth health department urges a more extensive use of the parcel post for conveying food products from the farm to the consumer, not because it will reduce the high cost of living, but because it will bring more wholesome and appetizing food to the city dweller.

In an article on "Parcel Post a Health Aid," Dr. I. J. Murphy, editor, makes the following suggestions:

"A market basket as shown at the industrial exposition containing the following items could be received for 23 cents postage: Three dozen eggs, fifteen pounds butter, four pounds bacon, three head of cabbage, one dozen tomatoes, two bunches of onions, one bunch of celery, one pound cottage cheese, total thirty-six pounds.

"Besides lowering the cost of living in this direct way there is the value of a fresh and more wholesome article than comes from the average cold storage plant. Examples of unappetizing, unwholesome, cold storage foodstuffs are so familiar to the average city dweller than instances need not be cited; accordingly, this measure which not only promises to lower the cost of foodstuffs, but offers a more wholesome article is of considerable importance from the health standpoint."

USE HOSPITALS, IS HIS ADVICE

In the monthly bulletin of the health department, Dr. I. J. Murphy, editor, urges the public to make more use of the hospitals. Those who are ill receive better attention and stand a better chance of an ultimate cure, he writes.

Under the title, "Hospitalize the Sick," Dr. Murphy says:

"From the public health standpoint an adequate and efficient supply of hospital beds to accommodate the demands of the community to be served is important. For many years past the public has realized the advantage both to the sick individual as well as to the neighborhood of having all communicable diseases hospitalized.

"We have been slow, however, in utilizing to a desirable extent the advantages modern hospital facilities offer for the average case of acute illness or injury. The advantages offered by hospital treatment are so obvious that they ought need no elaboration. This is an age of specialization and the hospital with its special equipment and corps of especially trained attendants minimizes both suffering and mortality. Duluth, for a city of its size, has three creditable hospitals. Besides they are conveniently located, two being in the center of the city and one in the west section. Although at times it has been otherwise we are informed that at present each of these hospitals has room for several more cases. Consequently if you are considerate of the welfare of your sick friends you have no good excuse for not having them hospitalized."

OBSERVATIONS

By PEGGY PEABODY

Domestic Science Has Accomplished Much.

The increase in well trained, competent help is due to the interest that has been awakened in domestic science in the last dozen years; the schools for training that have been established all over the country, and the higher plane to which we have raised the important duty of conducting the home as it should be.

The great drawback with servants in the past has been their all-around incompetence. Few of them knew how to do any one thing well, and they did not take kindly to learning from the mistress of the house. In those days, too, a servant that was fairly well trained was a very important personage in her own estimation. The result was that too often she became so arrogant and unbearable that there was no living with her, and the family was forced to rid themselves of their treasure so that they might enjoy the comforts of their own home.

The new order of servant girl has changed all this. Any one who is well trained knows what their duties and rights are. They perform the one to the best of their ability and do not impose upon the other. A good servant today looks upon her work from the business standpoint and does not weep or resent the fact that she is not treated as a member of the family, for she realizes that this treatment is as much of a detriment to her in many of its phases as is any great familiarity between employer and employe.

Women at the heads of their homes more keenly feel the truth of what has always been a plainly visible fact—that to get faithful service from anyone in their employ, their attitude must be one of kindness and consideration for those who are just as human and good as themselves, although not as fortunately situated in life.

There is a steady, never diminishing demand for competent help in the home, either to assist or take full charge. Good servants are among the best wage-earners among women, when you take into consideration the wage of $4.50, $5 and $7 and upward that any and all of them receive, together with their food and lodging, against the girls and women who are employed in office and store at an average wage of $8 a week, every want to supply therefrom.

The fields of housework are fast offering great inducements to those who are obliged to earn a living and are receiving recruits from the better classes, which shows the sensible tendency of womankind.

The Duluth Herald accepts advertising contracts with the distinct guarantee that it has the largest circulation in Minnesota outside the Twin Cities.

The Herald will be glad to have its attention called to any misleading or untrue statement which may appear in its news, editorial or advertising columns.

LET US HAVE AN HONEST VOTE.

The electric light election campaign is all but over. Tomorrow the voters will register their decision on the questions of rates and of the extension of the city's present activities in the handling of public utilities, and it is not going too far to say that the decisions registered tomorrow will have an important bearing on the whole future of Duluth.

Therefore every voter should consider the questions frankly, honestly, and with a view to doing nothing that will be detrimental to the city's welfare, either now or later. The Herald has repeatedly stated its position on the questions involved, but it will do no harm to state it once more. With respect to the four-cent and the six-cent ordinance, it is clearly up to each voter to decide whether he prefers to cut off one-quarter of his electric light bills now, or continue to pay at the present rate while the courts are deciding whether the city has a right to regulate the rates, and if it has that right, whether a four-cent rate would be just and reasonable.

With respect to the "unit plant" the issue is clearer cut, and we believe that since the city is not prepared to undertake municipal ownership of an electric plant AT ANY COST, the voters should reject this proposition. Too little is known of it, in the first place, to make it an advisable move. The expense is uncertain, as will be clearly appreciated by anybody who has ever built on the expectation of getting the work done at the figure given in the estimates. Nor is it at all certain that the city could furnish current for less than the six cents offered by the private company.

Furthermore, in view of the fact that it is proposed to make the city system compete with the Duluth-Edison company, it is almost unbelievably short sighted to have planned the city plant on a basis that would give an inferior current, or one that could not be used by consumers of the Duluth-Edison current without extra expense for new equipment. The statement that the city will make up the loss to any individuals is too absurd to be considered seriously.

But granting that all these conditions were otherwise, there still remains the facts that the city is already deeply in debt, and that the money proposed to be used on this experimental plant is seriously needed for other and immediate purposes.

The whole city water supply at present is dependent on a single pipe line that has lain in the ground nearly a score of years, and that has broken on several occasions. It is not good policy to let this condition exist longer than is necessary, and it is VERY BAD policy to spend on an experimental light plant that we do not need, the money we do need to use to protect our water supply.

Duluth does not need this "unit plant" either to get good service or lower rates. Duluth DOES need other things. Shall Duluth play the spendthrift and spend on this scheme of the few the money she ought to use to protect the health and the lives of the many? It is for her citizens themselves to say.

TAKE HEED OF THESE THINGS, and be sure that you vote, not to satisfy a whim or prejudice, but as an honest man would vote to regulate his own private affairs. For the city's welfare is your welfare, and the deeper you plunge the city and your neighbors into debt and danger, the greater will be your own peril from the same causes.

And anyway, vote. Don't dodge.

SOOP 'EM UP!

The curlers are back. Their annual visit has come to be looked on as a date-marking event, and this year they are with us in bigger numbers and from greater distances than ever before. The timely cold ought to have the ice in good shape. The stones are always ready, the program for the big bonspiel is prepared, and the brooms are fairly bristling with eagerness to get into the game.

The curlers are good scouts. They are no strangers to Duluth, and they are always welcome. They furnish us with a week of first class sport, they are a gentlemanly lot, and they mix with the local people in an informal fraternity that makes us always glad to see them. Montana is represented this year, and we welcome her men to Duluth, and already assure them that we hope they may be with us often hereafter and bring others with them.

And now, gentlemen, with your permission we will get to work on the ice, and see whether you or our home players will be able to get off with the bulk of this year's trophies.

President Wilson now goes up against the supreme test—that of trying to be a good grandfather.

VOTE!

Whichever way you feel about the issues in the election tomorrow, DON'T FAIL TO VOTE. No matter which side you are for, your opinion won't amount to a snowball on a hot stove unless you make it effective by marking a ballot.

This election is a serious proposition for Duluth, and whichever way it is decided, it should be by a clear majority of all the voters. There should be no opportunity for the defeated side to charge that a minority is imposing its will upon a majority.

If you own property or pay household bills or hope to own property or pay household bills you have a personal interest in these issues. If you neither do nor hope to do either of these things, you ought to have enough interest in the welfare of the city to take part in the election, since you have the right to do so.

The Herald believes the "unit plant" proposition should be beaten. The Herald hopes a majority of the voters are of the same opinion. But whether you agree with that or not, it is up to you to express your opinion at the polls tomorrow.

Once more we say, GET OUT AND VOTE.

The curlers will please excuse the citizens if the bonspiel seems to be relegated to second place in popular interest until after Tuesday.

FOR THE EX-AMERICANS.

North Dakota's plan for encouraging the return to this country of expatriated Americans is worth consideration in other than the Northwestern states. Unquestionably, there are many who would like to return, but whether the fact of temporary non-citizenship is any serious barrier to them is rather problematical. Is the newly-returned love for America and her institutions so political in character that the ordinary emigrants would be unwilling to come back unless they could soon become active in public affairs again? It does not seem likely to be the case in many instances.

But unquestionably there are some—perhaps hundreds—to whom the knowledge that they could become full-fledged American citizens again in only a year would be an encouragement, and to such it would perhaps be well to hold out this little promise of taking them back into the fold on a year's residence.

This will be especially true with the close of the war in Europe, when many sturdy and worthy ex-Americans who returned to fight for the lands of their birth will want to come back and become once more members of Uncle Sam's family. Might it not be a decided inducement to them if they could become full-fledged citizens again after only one year, instead of having to go all through the ordinary naturalization routine again?

Canada and Mexico have not caught all the American emigrants, by a good deal. Just at present some of the best material the country ever turned out is taking its chances in the battle lines of Europe. Congress might do well to recognize this, and take some such action as has been proposed by the North Dakota legislature.

Illiteracy among children in Minnesota is disappearing. And to think that when the youngsters arrived they couldn't pass even the simplest literacy test!

A Hard Question.

Indianapolis News: In a Southern city Mrs. Ebenezer toiled in the sun over her washtub, while Ebenezer sat on the woodpile and gazed into space. At last, unable to bear his inactivity in silence, his busy wife asked: "Why doan y' club down off'n dat air woodpile an' he'p me wif dis heah washin'?" He lazily shifted his gaze and directed it upon his laboring spouse. "Ah kaint, 'cause Ah'm vehy busy," he drawled. "Busy?" she snapped. "Whut doin', Ah'd like to know?" "Busy thinkin'," he retorted. "Thinkin'?" she repeated scornfully. "What yo' got to think wif?"

The Difference.

Western Mail: A story is told of an Irish sailor who decided to walk from Newport to Cardiff. He met a cart driver and asked:

"How far is it from Newport to Cardiff?"

Twelve miles, mister," was the reply.

"Thanke," said Pat. "An' how far is it from Cardiff to Newport?"

Driver: "Didn't I tell you how far it was from Newport to Cardiff? Do you suppose it is any farther the other way back?

Irishman: "Sure, and I don't know. I know it is a great deal farther from New Year's day to Christmas than from Christmas to New Year's day."

Geniuses Are Strangers In Their Own Lands

James G. Huneker in Puck.

Poe was chiefly a drunkard to his contemporaries; the gentle Emerson, our one great philosopher, was abused for his candor; Walt Whitman was howled down, and our one genius as a painter, Whistler, lived abroad his life long. Thoreau was considered as no great "shakes," and Henry James is a dweller under foreign tents.

Germany, too, has a little list: Goethe, who was early damned an "immoral" and an epicurean when his land was occupied by Napoleon (the Little Corporal knew better; "Voila un homme!" he exclaimed). Heine died in exile as "M. Henri Heine, poete et raconteur," at Paris. Schopenhauer and Nietzsche abused their native country in language that still glitters with irony and hatred. Richard Wagner had no reason to love Germany, and there is Beethoven, who lived and died in Vienna; Handel, an Englishman by adoption; Schumann, and many others, who suffered from neglect. In our own days Richard Strauss and Arnold Schoenberg are victims.

In France the number disconcerts. Rabelais, Pascal, Rousseau (Montaigne was too sensible, Voltaire too pugnacious, to be crushed), Victor Hugo, Baudelaire, Flaubert (the two last named were publicly prosecuted for "obscene" writings—stupendous!), Berlioz (adjudged a madman), Balzac, Pasteur, Verlaine, Manet, Monet—how many more? Mind you, I don't say that these men were all model citizens; but they were men of genius (Claude Monet still lives, honored in his old age), and were persecuted, Edouard Manet as bitterly as was Richard Wagner.

Italy: Dante, august name, mighty poet, "solitary pacer of the shore," Tasso, Columbus, Galileo, Leopardi, Carducci. Even little Holland allowed Rembrandt, Vermeer and Spinoza to die obscurely. Ireland, among others, can show James Clarence Mangan—now don't say, "it's a pity he drank!" —and John M. Synge. Scotland has Burns as an "awful" example, while England is first in the field, as she is first in the field as the mother of poets: Milton, Blake, Shelley, Keats, Byron, Browning, Swinburne, Meredith, Landor; and Harvey, Darwin, De Foe, Bunyan, could all tell tales of neglect, contumely, even worse.

Spain scorned her greatest writer, Cervantes; Sweden, her mystic Swedenborg, her gifted Strindberg. Ibsen, like Dante, lived in exile, solitary, and abused by the world. Lenau of Hungary died mad.

Russia was not too gentle in her handling of Dostoievsky—who was shipped to Siberia ten years ago. Tolstoi was hated by the throne. Turgenev was self-exiled, but occasionally was imprisoned on his country estate by the authorities. Poland's bard, Adam Micklewicz, fled to Paris; even the spiritual Chopin, psychically brave, as his music proves, left Warsaw forever for Paris.

This list might easily be lengthened. I avoid mention of Socrates, Jesus Christ, Mohammed, Moses, Maimonides, Luther, Loyola and Savonarola, because they are victims to the worst passions of mankind—the passion aroused by theological odium. Such serene souls as Shakespeare, Da Vinci, Velasquez, Montaigne, never became embroiled in politics or religious rows. If you are ever assailed with any of the great names above, simply reply with the question: "How were they treated during their lifetime by their fellow countrymen?"

Is Sunday an Imitator?

New York Post: History is a twice-told tale, and the London of 1729 and the Rev. Mr. Henley touches hands with the Philadelphia of 1915 and the Rev. Mr. Sunday. A contemporary of the irregularly-frocked Anglican, drawn to Clare Market Oratory by his prodigious fame, describes him as entering behind the pulpit like a harlequin, and "at one large leap jumping into it and falling to work." "His notions the orator beat into the audience with hands, arms, legs and head, as if people's understandings were to be courted and knocked down with blows." Like Mr. Sunday, Henley bade defiance to regular churchly methods; "if any bishop, clergyman or other subject of his majesty" could equal the results of his variety and performance, he would quit. His "bobs at the times" was a happy title for the sort of fulmination at the theater, card parties and fashions which still survives:

"On Wednesday the oration will be on the skits of fashions, or a live gallery of family pictures in all ages; ruffs, muffs, puffs manifold; shoes, two-shoes, slip-shoes, clocks, panoffles, buskins, pantaloons, shoulder-knots, periwigs, head-dresses, farthingales, corkings, ruffles, round-robins, toilets, fans, patches; . . . fine ladies and pretty gentlewomen; being a general view of the beau monde, from before Noah's flood to the year 1729. On Friday will be something better."

It is somewhat comforting to know that such methods and the response to them are not peculiar to our time and country. But can Mr. Sunday, who will find portraits of Henley in Pope and in Leigh Hunt's "The Town," defend himself from the charge of imitation?

The Children's Army.

No tune of tootling fife,
No beat of the rolling drum,
And yet with the thrill of life
The hordes of children come.
Freckled and chubby and lean,
Indifferent, good and bad,
Bedraggled and dirty and clean,
Richly and poorly clad,
They come on toddling feet
To the schoolhouse door ahead;
The neighboring alley and street
Resound to the infant tread.
Children of those who came
To the land of the promising West,
Foreign of face and name,
Are shoulder to shoulder pressed
With the youth of the native land
In the quest for truth and light,
As the valorous little band
Trudges to left and right.
Creed and color and race
Unite from the ends of the earth,
Blending each noble trace
In the pride of a glorious birth.
Race and hate and the past
Fuse in a melting heat
As the little hearts beat fast
To the stir of a common beat.
A fresher brawn and brain
For the stock which the fates destroy
Belong to the cosmic strain
Of American girl and boy.
—Elias Lieberman in New York Sun.

A Fair Proposal.

Your money back if matters are not improved, says the Paris Appeal in offering this prescription: "Another reason for reform when you get the knocking habit is that the other fellow can't resist the temptation to knock back, so your last estate is worse than the first. Why not interest your neighbor in a proposition like this: 'You boost me a bit and I'll boost you a bit. We both need it?'"

Unhappy Poland

Editorial in the New York Evening Post.

The partition of Poland, a century and a half ago, was long the favorite example, for American orators, of a great international crime. And until within a couple of decades, the interest of our people in Poland remained largely rhetorical and literary. Not till the Polish emigration to the United States assumed large proportions did we begin to think in a more vital way of the actual Poland of the present day. This feeling for a contemporary, breathing Polish people has, of course, been greatly quickened by the European war, yet even now it may be doubted if Americans have anything like an adequate realization of the unhappy plight of the Polish provinces of Russia, Austria and Prussia. They are, in fact, to be ranked high among the victims of the war.

Few of us stop to reflect how the tide of battle has swept back and forth over the fields and towns of Russian Poland and of Galicia, with all the widespread suffering and destruction and horror which this has caused. We think of East Prussia as German, and set down the Russian invasion of it as a blow mainly felt at Berlin; but the province contains a large Polish population, and it is of a sort in general not able to flee before the Cossacks, and so most exposed to the miseries of war. Indeed, those cannot be far wrong who assert that the Poles are as fully deserving of commiseration as the Belgians. More than five hundred towns, chiefly occupied by Poles, are reported to have been destroyed in the course of the fighting which has surged back and forth. The distress of thousands of helpless civilians has so impressed their compatriots and sympathizing friends in this city that a Polish relief committee has been organized, with headquarters at 105 West Fortieth street, of which Madame Marcella Sembrich is the honorary president. The need which it is designed to meet is unquestionably great and piteous.

One of the ghastly tragedies of the war is the way in which compulsory military service has forced Poles to fight against Poles. There are great numbers of them in the Russian army; and perhaps as many more in the ranks of the Austrians and the Germans. They have all, so far as known, done their military duty; but it must add a bitterness to death for them to know that it is their own blood kindred whom they are, in many cases, compelled to fight. International law no longer permits a conqueror, like Napoleon, to force the troops of a beaten army to take service under his banner and possibly to lead them against their own countrymen. But virtually such a fate has befallen the Poles this year; the far-off consequences of the breaking up and partition of their ancient kingdom having been to set them in unnatural battle array against each other.

But what of Polish hopes growing out of the war? Is there any real foundation for the belief that its close may see a reunited and autonomous, if not independent, Poland? Up to the present, all that the Poles have to go upon is vague promises. Their friendship and support have been actively competed for. It was before the end of August that the Russian grand duke issued his manifesto and appeal. His language to the Poles was that "the hour has struck" for fulfilling the "holy dream of your fathers. Let the boundaries cutting asunder the Polish people be effaced; let them unite under the scepter of the czar." Under that scepter Poland was to be born again, "free in religion, language and self-government." This was well fitted to stir Polish enthusiasm, but, after all, was there anything in it more solid and sure than in the proclamation of the German commanding general, Von Morgen? He caused it to be posted in the parts of Russian Poland invaded by German arms: "Arise and drive away with me those Russian barbarians who have made you slaves. Drive them out of your beautiful country, which shall now regain her political and religious liberty. This is the will of my mighty and gracious king." No wonder that the Poles have doubted both these advances, and have been quietly organizing a new party which takes as its watchword, "We do not want to hear of Russia or of Austria or Germany. We want only one thing—the Polish state without guardianship from any side."

Georg Brandes, in the Day, declares that this is a political impossibility. It is no time, in his opinion, to begin shouting Polonia fara da se. That Poland should be able of herself to attain her freedom he holds to be out of the question. This may be so; and yet when the final settlement is made after the war, the case of the Poles will plainly demand special consideration. The wonderful way in which, for a hundred and fifty years, though no longer a nation, they have kept alive their intense national spirit, refusing to blend with their conquerors; and the burning high again of their hopes in the midst even of the devastation which the war has brought upon them—all this must be allowed weight. If the war is to end in a brighter day for small nationalities, the just demands of Poland cannot be wholly overlooked.

The Law and an Eleven-Inch Dog

Toledo Blade: It sometimes seems to a layman as if the law went to extreme-pains to make a fool of itself.

They have a dog-muzzling law in New York. The other day a woman was summoned to court to explain why she did not muzzle her Yorkshire terrier. This creature is eleven inches long and four high. It is 13 years old and its teeth are so worn that it could with difficulty punch a hole in a sheet of paper. The policeman serving the summons apologized and said he had no discretion in the matter. At court, the owner was kept waiting three hours and then was fined $5, the magistrate displaying an unwillingness to listen to the account of the Yorkshire's dimensions, age and condition of grinders.

Every city and state has a great number of laws which it would be downright idiocy to enforce. If no discretion were used in applying them, life would be unbearable. A large percentage of citizens would be devoting their time to parading in and out of jail. It happens that discretion is used as a rule, and so it is no great difficulty for the average man and woman to pursue happiness uninterrupted by the police officer and the judge. But once in a while some dullard on a bench undertakes to uphold what he terms the sacredness of the law. What he succeeds in doing is making a monkey of himself and the thing to which he attributes infinite wisdom and holiness.

A reasonable amount of common sense is useful even in the matter of dog muzzling.

Statesmen, Real and Near

By Fred C. Kelly.

Washington, Jan. 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—Secretary McAdoo is a more than ordinarily calm man. All the difficulties he has gone through in connection with installing our fine new currency system have never perturbed him at all. No matter what might happen, McAdoo would be composed and unruffled—except for one thing. That one thing is his fountain pens. If he could avoid mislaying his fountain pens he would be as placid from one month's end to the other as a crock of milk.

But McAdoo's position calls for the frequent signing of his name in ink, and to do this he likes to use a fountain pen. Every fountain pen that he owns has a habit of scampering away out of sight just when needed. If he had only one pen it would not be surprising that he could not always lay his hand on it, but he has a battery of about eight, one of them a ponderous big pen that will hold about a pint of ink at a filling. Yet one and all get out of sight when McAdoo wishes to affix his signature to an important document. At such times the secretary of the treasury is quite likely to become vexed and irritated, and to make various deprecating remarks about pens that lurk about in hiding.

Capt. Ellsworth P. Bertholf, commandant of the United States revenue cutter service, once spent considerable time in Siberia. While there he often drove dull care away by taking pictures and developing them in a little dark room he rigged up. He went to the Siberian drug stores from time to time, bought the chemicals needed for developing pictures and became as familiar with the names of such chemicals as he was with the names of members of his family.

Then he quit developing pictures and did not have occasion to buy such chemicals for several years, until the other day. He walked into a Washington drug store to give his order. Suddenly he thought of something.

"I know what I want," Bertholf stammered to the clerk in perfectly good English, "but I can't tell you except in Russian."

"Oh, go right ahead and tell me in English," replied the clerk. "I can understand your English."

Frank E. Willis, the new governor of Ohio, does not shake hands in the usual fashion when he meets a friend. Instead he places his hands on the friend's shoulders and shakes the man's entire frame, nearly jolting his liver out of place.

Willis acquired the habit of shaking in this manner when he was a country school teacher instructing unruly boys.

Senators Root and Lodge, regarded as two of the foremost minds of the senate, have their seats side by side in the chamber, and are extremely intimate. Perhaps one reason why they are so intimate is that each is the only one who dares try to get familiar with the other. It is said that no senator except Lodge has ever attempted to crack a joke at the expense of Root. Be that as it may, Root and Lodge usually walk up town from the capitol each evening. Now Chief Justice White and Associate Justice Holmes of the supreme court are similarly cronies, and each evening proceed along Pennsylvania avenue together on their homeward journey.

A few evenings ago it happened that Root and Lodge and White and Holmes were all going home at the same time and they made the stroll a foursome.

A small newsboy chanced to recognize this aggregation of talent and was deeply impressed. He stared at the quartet a moment and then set up a shrill shriek to a friend:

"Jimmy! Jim-mee! Lookee here at all them smart guys in a bunch!"

Samuel G. Blythe, when in England a while ago, came into possession of a little old account book that had once belonged to his great-grandfather, who dwelt in the northern part of England. Sam looked through the book and made a funny discovery. In 1824 his great-grandfather had two farm hands working for him by the day. One was named Woodrow and the other was named Wilson.

Just a Moment

Daily Strength and Cheer.

Compiled by John G. Quinlan, the Sunshine Man.

A gentleman was once walking behind a very handsomely dressed girl, and thought, "I wonder if she takes half as much pains with her heart as she does with her person." A poor old man was coming up the road with a loaded wheelbarrow, and just before he reached the girl he made two attempts to go into the yard of a small house; but the gate was heavy, and would swing back before he could get through. "Wait," said the young girl, springing lightly forward; "I'll hold the gate open." She did, and received his thanks with a pleasant smile. "She deserves to have beautiful clothes," thought the gentleman, "for she has a beautiful spirit."

Let no one despair, even though his bad habits and vicious courses have got him in their full grip. What others have done in such circumstances he can do. He has only to look to God and take courage, to throw himself in faith and hope on the recuperative force which hitherto he has allowed to slumber unused, or to be crowded down by his baser appetites. It is only to do this, to confide to the strength which belongs to it, and resolutely put it forth, and the work is done, the change effected.—H. F. Edes.

The Automobile Horn's Use.

Washington Star: In a discussion of the number of automobile accidents due to careless or incompetent driving, a manufacturer said the other day in Detroit:

"These accidents do automobiling harm. They make people talk like Cornelius Husk.

"Old Corn Husk's little grandson said to him one day, pointing to the horn of an automobile that had halted for repairs:

"'What's that there thing for, grandpop?'

"'That, sonny,' old Corn Husk answered, 'that is the thing they toot afore they run ye down.'"

Evading Responsibilities.

Washington Star: "I promised that girl never to smoke if she would marry me," said the discouraged-looking man.

"What did she say?"

"She remarked that she did not care to be utilized as an excuse for any personal economies I might contemplate."

Keeping Up With Minnesota Editors

Press Comments on Current Events.

Their Idea of Consistency.

Breckinridge Telegram: A self-appointed committee of the only real Republicans in the state have gotten together and will reorganize that party. Only those known to be "right" were invited to the reorganization meeting and no doubt they will continue to exclude everyone else unless for the sake of votes they decide to let a few privates into the ranks. The funny thing about this situation to us is the fact that these men were the loudest objecters to the elimination convention, whose delegates were chosen in open meetings, while the present reorganization convention delegates were admittedly hand-picked.

Only Old Guard Meets.

Faribault Pilot: A few of the retired captains of the Minnesota Republican "Old Guard" met in St. Paul last week to reorganize the Republican party in this state. They reorganized the Minnesota Republican league, but the younger and more aggressive members of the party refuse to league with the battered and crippled veterans of the "Old Guard."

Begins With Promise.

Belle Plaine Herald: Mr. Hammond gives promise of being one of the most successful governors this state has ever had. His many years of legislative experience as a member of congress, his membership on the ways and means committee of that body, the most important committee in the nation, and his native ability, all lead the people of Minnesota to expect much from Governor Hammond. We look to see his administration prove most creditable to himself and to the state.

Likes Governor's Attitude.

Virginia Enterprise: Governor Hammond's first message to the legislature was a very business-like document. It was not remarkable for frills and furbelows, but it covered the situation nicely. Its distinctly constructive tone will have a strong appeal to the business men of the state, who believe there was more than a modicum of truth in the campaign utterance of William E. Lee on the stump last fall when he said that what Minnesota needed was a business government and that we had been having a joy-ride. Mr. Hammond recommends that the legislative appropriations be cut more than a million dollars below the figure of 1913. That's business, and it can be done. His treatment of the subject of state development, too, has the right ring. He thinks the state can afford with profit to go into the business of developing waste land. So does every other intelligent man who has given the subject any reasonable investigation. He stands for the plan of state government outlined by the economy and efficiency commission and he truly says that it should be adopted practically without change as "to mangle it is to defeat it and it should not be adopted in part." Neither can any reasonable man disagree with his suggestion that the bars be thrown down at the primaries and that no distinction be made between Republicans and Democrats. It has come to just that, anyhow, and amendments of the election laws in that regard will simply bring the business of government more closely within the grasp of the people as a whole. That is fair. He is right, too, when he says that the issue of county option should be taken up early in the session and disposed of, unless there is such a situation in the legislature that a county option bill would be more apt to be passed later than at present. Mr. Hammond speaks fairly. He is a big enough man in every way to make an excellent governor and he has about the finest chance any governor of Minnesota ever had to make good. And if he makes as good in his administration as he did in his inaugural message the people of the state will have no cause for complaint.

A Slam From Dunn.

Princeton Union: Progressive members of congress have asked President Wilson to name a member of their party as one of the five members of the new trade commission. They should bear in mind that common sense was one of the qualifications necessary for appointment to this commission!

Expected to Measure Up Well.

Wabasha Herald: The governor's inaugural was shorter than these addresses usually are. It was thoughtful, conservative, business-like, independent. It breathed of helpfulness, of economy, of justice, of logical procedure. It is apparent that the governor is earnestly studying the various problems; that he is anxious the people should receive remedial legislation at the earliest opportunity. A step in the right direction is his advocacy of prompt action in the troublesome county option question. It will be well to have it settled early. The people will know where they are at, and the legislature will be able to proceed with other business unhampered by a controversy that is vexatious, to say the least. We believe that Governor Hammond will measure up well in the chief executive's office.

Good Wishes.

Deerwood Times: And, finally, permit us to congratulate you, Governor Hammond, on your most excellent inaugural speech, delivered when you assumed the governorship of this great state of ours—Minnesota. May your tenure of office be a most satisfactory one.

Get Up Earlier.

Holdingsford Advertiser: Some people with not much of anything else to do are wasting a lot of energy, but not much brains, advocating another hour of daylight. The plan is to set all clocks one hour ahead, thus beginning work an hour sooner in the morning and quitting an hour sooner in the evening, thereby giving the workingman an hour more of daylight leisure. A better plan yet is to get up an hour earlier without setting the clock ahead.

Her Guess.

Philadelphia Record: An Irish maid recently sought permission of her mistress to take an afternoon off for the purpose of consulting a dentist. Upon her return the mistress said: "Well, Rosalie, did you have the tooth filled?"

"I did, mum."

"And what did the dentist fill it with, gold or amalgam?"

"I don't know just what it was, mum; but from the way it felt I should think it was with thunder and lightning, mum."

No Safety in Numbers.

Life: Frost—Don't you think it would be a good idea, if one M. D. said an operation was needed, to consult several others and get their views?

Snow—Possibly. But the more surgeons you consulted the more operations you'd find imperative.

THE OPEN COURT.

(Readers of The Herald are invited to make free use of this column to express their ideas about the topics of general interest, but discussions of sectarian religious differences are barred. Letters must not exceed 200 words—the shorter the better. They must be written on one side of the paper only, and they must be accompanied in every case by the name and address of the writer though these need not be published. A signed letter is always more effective, however.)

The Open Court has received so many letters on the electric light election that it is unable to find space for all of them. This will explain why numerous communications are not published today. Several letters on other subjects have been received which do not comply with the rule published at the head of this column that the names of the writers must be attached to the letters, though not necessarily for publication. — The Editor.

THE SIX-CENT ORDINANCE.

To the Editor of The Herald:

In an article entitled "City Heads Give Facts," the following statement is made: "The commission found the contract objectionable in form," referring to the 6-cent contract offered by the Edison company. Is there a joker in this contract? And if so, where is it? As a voter and taxpayer the thing I am most interested in is the best service at the lowest possible rates. At 8 cents my electric bills seem to be reasonable but I would welcome a reduction to 6 cents. At 15 cents per hundred cubic feet my water bill always seems larger than it should be. In St. Paul, where water costs but 6 cents our bill seldom exceeded 30 cents per month, which is the minimum charge there.

Is the city absolutely sure that they can furnish electric current at 3 cents?

I realize it costs more, per cubic foot, to furnish water in a comparatively small city and the same may apply to electric current. If so, a comparison of our rates with those of Winnipeg and Cleveland does not mean much to us.

But to return to my question: Will we get a 6-cent rate for two years if we vote the 6-cent ordinance?

Yours truly,
S. V. BALLOU.

Duluth, Jan. 16.

There does not appear to be any "joker" in the 6-cent contract, and if the ordinance is adopted the consumers will get a 6-cent rate.—The Editor.

CLAIMS THAT MUNICIPAL OWNERSHIP IS THE BEST.

To the Editor of The Herald:

There is an article in the February number of Pearson's Magazine, by George Creel, entitled "Some Follies of Municipal Ownership," which makes very good reading in view of the present electric light fight. The information contained therein I do not believe was compiled or furnished by the local supporters of municipal ownership and consequently cannot be attacked on that point.

The portion of the article referring to the Seattle plant seems to substantiate the claims put forth by the local M. O. people and also the letters from the business men of Seattle who are users of the city current, which have been published.

Among the statements made the following is a sample: "Since 1905 the Seattle plant earned a net surplus of $810,000 after setting aside $890,000 for depreciation and paying all interest, maintenance and operating charges. This profit which figures out an 8 per cent return on the city's investment has also been accompanied by a 65 per cent decrease in rates."

The article compares Seattle under municipal ownership of the water plant and Denver under private ownership. In Seattle with a population of 313,000, the water plant cost $3,823,129.56, and in Denver, with a population of only 225,000, the private plant owners want $14,400,000 for their plant and advise the city that it would have to spend an additional $4,000,000 to put its junk in shape. Besides, the owners of the Denver plant had bonds which matured in 1914 for which they had made no provision for retiring such as a sinking fund. Question: Is private ownership always honest?

The advocates of private ownership try to tell us that under municipal ownership there will be only graft, waste and politics, but I do not think they can point to a single instance of municipal ownership that resulted in such scandals and graft as were shown up in the New Haven, Rock Island, Frisco and the Milwaukee & St. Paul railroads, the San Francisco street railway or in the insurance company investigations. The reason for this probably is, as Lincoln said: "You can fool some of the people all the time and all of the people some of the time, but you can't fool all of the people all of the time." Thanking you in advance for the space, I am, yours very truly, HENRY R. SWENSON.

Duluth, Jan. 16.

RELATIVE COSTS.

To the Editor of The Herald:

Would you kindly inform me through your paper, that is if it is possible, what would be the cost of a unit electric light plant in the central part of the city covering the same size territory as the proposed West Duluth unit, that is including buildings, subways, etc., complete, and if the West Duluth unit plant carries, when will the fifth or sixth unit be built? Will the profits of the first unit build the others, and if not and the city has to issue bonds to build, will I have to pay taxes for this. If it does will you kindly inform me of a reliable firm that will loan money on my farm inside the city limits, as taxes on an average are double this year, and I also have to pay taxes on my hogs and rakes and I want to get a little money so as not to have to pay the penalty of 10 per cent, if not on time. Thanking you for past favors.

What does the earth consist of in Seattle, Wash., and Pasadena, Cal., for the putting in of poles and subways? Is it rock, sand, gravel or clay? Can extensions be made cheaper in Duluth than in the places mentioned? Yours truly, T. A. HOLDER.

Kenwood Park, Jan. 15.

There is no information available to The Herald as to what the cost of a unit electric plant in the center of the city would be. There might be no profits from the first unit, and if additional bonds are issued every property owner would have to pay his share of the indebtedness thus incurred. Seattle is very similar to Duluth as regards rock and gravel. Pasadena has very little rock, if any. Certainly extensions cannot be made cheaper in Duluth than in either Seattle or Pasadena.—The Editor.

THINKS TAXPAYERS ONLY SHOULD HAVE A VOTE.

To the Editor of The Herald:

One question that seems to me particularly apropos at this time while there is so much discussion in our city regarding municipal ownership of electric lighting is this: Who are so strongly urging municipal ownership? How much of the additional taxes will be paid by Dr. Day and others who are so busy talking in its behalf?

It seems to me that in this election, seeing that it concerns only us taxpayers, that only taxpayers should have a vote. A TAXPAYER.

Duluth, Jan. 16.

MILITARY TRAINING.

To the Editor of The Herald:

Under date of Jan. 10 and in your issue of Jan. 13, "A Student at the Central High School" made a number of statements unbecoming a "student" of anything.

Military training is one of the best forms of education and development to be found for boys and men of any country, not alone the United States.

It teaches them to use their wits, to think and act quickly and at the same time teaches them to care for themselves and others in the home and in the field.

Very few boys or men in the average walks of life know anything about sanitation, and it is a vital issue, not only on the battlefield, but in our homes, schools and where we work.

Another great thing about military training is it teaches discipline, and if there is anything that is needed more in this day and age among the young boys, the writer is unable to think of it.

It will never harm the Central high school or any other institution.

To acquire military training is something that should be an honor to any young man, and if "A Student at the Central High School" would go in for it, it would broaden his mind, make him feel and appreciate his responsibility in the world and teach him that no organization, composed of patriotic young men, such as the students of Duluth, will ever be the cause of disgracing him.

Duluth, Jan. 14.

WHY MR. HIGGINS BECAME THE LUMBERJACK SKY PILOT.

To the Editor of The Herald:

As this is my first request for space in the Open Court column, I hope you will grant same. In the Open Court of last night's Herald, Jan. 14, I read the disgusting item by H. A. Brandborg about Rev. P. E. Higgins. I would like to ask the intelligent people who read The Herald what they think of a man who will write or talk on a subject he knows nothing of. In the Open Court of last night H. A. Brandborg proves to all who knew Rev. Higgins that he (Brandborg) knows absolutely nothing of Mr. Higgins' life or work.

In the first place Mr. Higgins did not raise himself from the degraded condition of the lumberjack, as Mr. Higgins never was a lumberjack. All all lumberjacks are not degraded. There are many intelligent men working in the camps. I have been a lumberjack, have worked in the camps of Minnesota and Wisconsin for twenty-six years and I have not become degraded, degenerated and cowardly enough to hurl criticism and rebuke at the dead.

Just a few lines on the life of Rev. Higgins from one who knew him personally for nearly ten years and was close to him in Christian fellowship. Mr. Higgins' lumberjack experience, before becoming a minister of the gospel, was as a boy in Canada helping his poor parents to clear a timbered farm. He was converted at a revival meeting near his old home in Canada when 18 years of age. He came west to Duluth, where he began studying for the ministry and attending school. He underwent privation and hardship few have known while a student. His first church was at Barnum, Minn., where he is loved and respected by all who knew him. It was here that he first came in contact with the lumberjacks on the drive. In this wise, a Mr. Cain, who had charge of a drive on Kettle river, invited the young pastor, Mr. Higgins, to go with him to spend the night at his driving camp. Mr. Higgins accepted and went several miles through the woods to where the drivers were at work. That evening some of the drivers requested Mr. Higgins to preach. Although he had neither Bible nor hymn book, he consented. Those men were human, not savage beasts, and the story of the Cross touched their hearts. As he was leaving the following morning they shook his hand and thanked him for coming and requested that he would come again. He went out several times and had a religious service on the river bank with these men. Several weeks after the drive was finished a couple of these men came to Mr. Higgins and told him that one of the men of the driving crew was very sick in a big log hut. Mr. Higgins went with them. The doctor was at the hut and told Mr. Higgins the only hope for the man was to get him to a hospital. Mr. Higgins brought him to the St. Mary's hospital in Duluth. Here a few days later the lumberjack died. Just before dying he told Mr. Higgins that the first night he preached to them on the drive, that he (the lumberjack) went out in the woods and knelt and asked God to forgive him his sins, and gave himself to Christ. His dying request was that Mr. Higgins would go to the camps and preach to the men there, as no others of the ministry came to them. Mr. Higgins promised, although it was hard for him to do so, as he was looking forward to the time when he would be ordained and have a home and a fine church, but that night, as he knelt by the bed of this dying lumberjack and made the promise, he also promised God he would fulfill the promise. He did and did it at a great sacrifice.

As a lumberjack, I only voice the sentiment of hundreds of other lumberjacks when I say, "Thank God for such men as Frank Higgins," As being dubbed the Sky Pilot, with us lumberjacks all ministers of the gospel are dubbed Sky Pilots; the difference between Higgins and others being that he was our Sky Pilot or the Lumberjack Sky Pilot.

This is the simple but true story of how Mr. Higgins was led to take up the spiritual work among the lumberjacks, and hundreds of the men whom Mr. Brandbork calls degraded tramps and hobos are today are clean, respected citizens through the ministry of Mr. Higgins, who died poor because he loved and helped the poor and needy. Has his work been a failure?

Thanking you in advance for space to explain how Mr. Higgins became what he was and why I think it cowardly and unjust to the dead, and I can say, "Though dead, yet liveth," as the work of Mr. Higgins will go on, a work that is too broad for a narrow mind to grasp. Respectfully yours, J. W. SORNBERGER.

APPLIED AT THE WRONG PLACE.

To the Editor of The Herald:

After reading the city clerk's explanation of how Mr. Grant got on the payroll, again I am moved to suggest, as a reader of the Open Court, that the bookkeeper who had such a time trying to get a job from the city, didn't apply to the right person. Surely we will hear from him again.

Duluth, Jan. 16.

THE VALUE OF THE SHOP WINDOWS.

To the Editor of The Herald:

I wish to call attention to what I consider an important step toward making Duluth the city beautiful, also considerably benefiting those who are directly concerned.

It seems as though the majority of our business men on Superior street, and particularly on First street, are seriously neglecting their display windows, which space is considered far more valuable than any other space in the store.

Of the number of department, clothing and other stores on Superior street, there are scarcely half a dozen who really put up a nice, up-to-date window display. Conditions are a great deal worse on First street, where the idea seems to prevail that throwing in a few articles on the floor of the window constitutes a trim.

In Davenport, Iowa, a much smaller town than Duluth, the merchants take so much pride in their windows that the first number on the program for visitors is an automobile window shopping tour by night, which is an incentive to shop by day.

The civic bodies see to it that tourists and delegates are given this trip. Our city has passed an ordinance prohibiting the use of flaring signs on the fronts of buildings calling attention to bankrupt and fire sales. It ought not to be necessary to even suggest an ordinance compelling merchants to clean up their store fronts, which will necessarily be the result of the sign ordinance. Personal and civic pride should point out a merchant's duty in this respect.

The window display idea is becoming general throughout the country, and it's up to each and every one of us to make our city appear as prosperous looking as possible. Window displays of the right sort in all lines will surely have the desired effect.

A "Seen in the Shop Window" column of your valuable paper would create interest along this line.

Yours for prosperity for Duluth in 1915. GEN. BOOSTER.

Duluth, Jan. 15.

MILITARY TACTICS.

To the Editor of The Herald:

In your issue of Jan. 13 there is an exploded idea about patriotism, also one about the high school boys being tricked. Permit me these few words in reply. No wrong can live long if we discuss it. Also, patriotism is a conviction that this country is superior to all other countries because you were born in it.

The awful war now raging in the world, the hate that now slays kindness, the blood now spurting from millions of wounds, the tears now scalding the cheeks of the mothers of Europe, the vast insane waste and ruin and agony, the wide-gaping hell now devouring human happiness, the imbecile "statesmanship" that now, in this year of our Lord, 1915, through crazed greed and insane pride and power lust, resorts to war and orders the workingmen of one nation to murder the workingmen of another nation. All this, yes. All this and more are the outcome of patriotism.

The more I think about war the more clearly I see that a bayonet is a stinger, made by the working class, sharpened by the working class, nicely polished by the working class, and then "practically" thrust into the working class by the working class—for patriotism. When we working people hear a fife and drum and see some handsomely dressed, well-fed military officers and see their long butcher knives called swords—our confused hearts beat fast, our blood becomes blindly and suicidedly hot and eager. "This is patriotism." We are confused, bewildered, tricked by our "leading citizens" who then holler, "Follow the flag." Following the flag is patriotism; follow the flag, automatically, to the horrors and hell of the firing line—automatically to the flaming cannon's mouth and there butcher men and be butchered by other working men who are also—automatically—following another flag for patriotism.

Patriotically, we have worn the yoke throughout the centuries—centuries sad with tears and red with blood and fire, patriotically for thousands of years we have stormed the world with the cannon's roar—but never won a real victory for our class, and for a hundred years when we could vote, we have stupidly followed the political crook to the ballot box, and then we have meekly teased for laws, whined for relief, and humbly coaxed the "reformer." To you who are now reading these lines, if you would know just how, and why, you are tricked into patriotism, get the book called, "War, what for?" and you will know all about it. You will know more than I can tell you in the few words written above. You will see that the small trick that was practiced on the boys at the Central high is only a flea's bite compared to the great international trick that is practiced on the world. Thanking you for the space, I am, sir, yours respectfully,

O. W. MITTIE.

POEMS ASKED FOR.

The Herald acknowledges with thanks the receipt of the following poems

"Woodman, Spare That Tree," from Alice Flood of Duluth.

"When the Harvest Moon Is Shining on the River," from Arlen Peterson of Stanchfield, Minn.

Requests have been received for the following:

"Danny More," "I Was Born and Bred in Boston" and one which begins "As I went to London one bright summer day," by Mrs. E. J. D. of Cook.

"The Dead March" in "Gotterdamerung," which was published in the Minneapolis Journal a year or two ago, from Samuel Wilder of Owen, Wis.

The answers to the songs "In the Shadows of the Pines" and "The Gypsy's Warning," from Mrs. P. F. Ryan of Eveleth.

The Face Upon the Barroom Floor.

To the Editor of The Herald:

Here is a copy of the poem, "The Face Upon the Floor."

'Twas a balmy summer evening, and a goodly crowd was there,
Which well nigh filled Joe's barroom on the corner of the square;
And as the songs and witty stories came through the open door,
A vagabond crept slowly in and posed upon the floor.

"Where did it come from?" some one said. "The wind has blown it in."
"What does it want?" another cried. "Some whisky, rum or gin?"
"Here, Toby, seek him, if your stomach's equal to the work—
I wouldn't touch him with a fork; he's filthy as a Turk."

This badinage the poor wretch took with stoical good grace;
In fact, he smiled as though he thought he'd struck the proper place.
"Come, boys, I know there's kindly hearts among so good a crowd—
To be in such good company would make a deacon proud.

"Give me a drink—that's what I want—I'm out of funds, you know;
When I had the cash to treat the gang, this hand was never slow.
What? You laugh as though you thought this pocket never had a sou?
I once was fixed as well, my boys, as any one of you.

"There, thanks; that's braced me nicely. God bless you, one and all.
Next time I pass this good saloon I'll make another call.
Give you a song? No, I can't do that; my singing days are past;
My voice is cracked, my throat's worn out, and my lungs are going fast.

"Say, give me another whisky, and I'll tell you what I'll do—
I'll tell you a funny story, and a fact, I promise, too.
That I was ever a decent man not one of you would think;
But I was, some four or five years back. Say, give me another drink.

"Fill her up, Joe, I want to put some life into my frame—
Such little drinks, to a bum like me, are miserably tame.
Five fingers—there, that's the scheme—and corking whisky, too.
Well, here's luck, boys, and, landlord, my best regards to you.

"You've treated me pretty kindly, and I'd like to tell you how
I came to be the dirty sot you see before you now.
As I told you, once I was a man with muscle, frame and health;
And but for a blunder, ought to have made considerable wealth.

"I was a painter—not one that daubed on bricks and wood,
But an artist, and, for my age, was rated pretty good.
I worked hard at my canvas and was bidding fair to rise,
For gradually I saw the star of fame before my eyes.

"I made a picture, perhaps you've seen, 'tis called 'The Curse of Fame.'
It brought me fifteen hundred pounds, and added to my name.
And then I met a woman—now comes the funny part—
With eyes that petrified my brain and sank into my heart.

"Why don't you laugh? 'Tis funny that the vagabond you see
Could ever love a woman, and expect her love for me.
But 'twas so, and for a month or two her smiles were freely given,
And when her loving lips touched mine it carried me to heaven.

"Did you ever see a woman for whom your soul you'd give,
With a form like the Milo Venus, too beautiful to live;
With eyes that would beat the Kohinoor, and a wealth of chestnut hair?
If so, 'twas she, for there never was another half so fair.

"I was working on a portrait, one afternoon in May,
Of a fair-haired boy, a friend of mine, who lived across the way;
And Madaline admired it, and, much to my surprise,
Said that she'd like to know the man that had such dreamy eyes.

"It didn't take long to know him, and before the month had flown
My friend had stolen my darling, and I was left alone;
And ere a year of misery had passed above my head
The jewel I had treasured so had tarnished and was dead.

"That's why I took to drink, boys. Why, I never saw you smile!
I thought you'd be amused, and laughing all the while.
Why, what's the matter, friend? There's a tear drop in your eye.
Come, laugh with me; 'tis only babes and women that should cry.

"Say, boys, if you give me just another whisky I'll be glad,
And I'll draw right here a picture of the face that drove me mad.
Give me that piece of chalk with which you mark the baseball score.
You shall see the lovely Madaline upon the barroom floor."

Another drink, and, with chalk in hand, the vagabond began
To sketch a face that well might buy the soul of any man.
Then, as he placed another lock upon the shapely head,
With a fearful shriek he leaped and fell across the picture, dead.

—T. Antoine D'Arcy.

"Woodman, Spare That Tree."

Woodman, spare that tree!
Touch not a single bough!
In youth it sheltered me,
And I'll protect it now;
'Twas my forefather's hand
That placed it near his cot;
There, woodman, let it stand,
Thy ax shall harm it not.

That old familiar tree,
Whose glory and renown
Are spread o'er land and sea—
And would'st thou hew it down?
Woodman, forbear thy stroke!
Cut not its earth-bound ties;
O, spare that aged oak,
Now towering to the skies!

When but an idle boy,
I sought its grateful shade;
In all their gushing joy
Here, too, my sisters played,
My mother kissed me here;
My father pressed my hand—
Forgive this foolish tear,
But let that old oak stand.

My heartstrings round thee cling,
Close as thy bark, old friend!
Here shall the wild-bird sing,
And still thy branches bend.
Old tree the storm shall brave!
And woodman leave the spot;
While I've a hand to save,
Thy ax shall harm it not.

—George P. Morris.

When the Harvest Moon Is Shining on the River.

The nightingales are singing in the valley,
The stars like shining jewels deck the skies,
As still beside the garden gate they linger
And whisper of a love that never dies.
"The summer soon will pass away," he murmurs,
"And when the fields are ripe with golden grain,
Then I'll come back to keep my loving promise
And you and I will never part again."

Chorus:
When the harvest moon is shining on the river,
And the merry harvest songs again we hear,
Then like sweethearts we will roam
Down the path that leads to home,
When the harvest moon is shining, Molly, dear.

'Tis autumn now, and in the peaceful valley
The paths are strewn with leaves of red and gold;
But someone waits for somebody's returning,
And dreams about the loving vows he told.
Beneath the ocean's dancing foam he's sleeping;
Yet oft, when sunset's crimson turns to gray,
A woman by the garden gate is waiting
For one who promised he'd return some day.

The Child's First Grief.

Oh, call my brother back to me;
I cannot play alone.
The summer comes with flower and bee—
Where is my brother gone?

The butterfly is gleaming bright
Across the sunbeam's track;
I care not now to chase its flight—
Oh, call my brother back.

The flowers run wild—the flowers we sow'd
Around our garden tree—
Our vine is drooping with its load—
Oh, call him back to me.

He would not hear thy voice, fair child!
He may not come to thee;
The face that once like spring-time smiled,
On earth no more thou'lt see.

A rose's brief, bright life of joy,
Such unto him was given;
Go—thou must play alone, my boy!
Thy brother is in heaven.

And has he left his birds and flowers?
And must I call in vain?
And through the long, long summer hours,
Will he not come again?

And by the brook and in the glade
Are all our wanderings o'er?
Oh! while my brother with me play'd,
Would I had loved him more.

You Don't Have to Deceive

a man to make him do what is BEST FOR HIS OWN INTERESTS. Then WHY has the WHOLE CAMPAIGN of the UNIT PLANT agitators been one of DECEIT?

THEY SAID they were only working to get lower rates from the Duluth-Edison Company.

THE TRUTH was that they did not want lower rates, for when these were offered, the M. O. League ordered their rejection by the Council.

THEY SAID they would give the people a chance to Vote on the question of a Municipal Plant.

THE TRUTH is that they tried to rush the unit plant scheme through the Council by means of an illegal resolution instead of by ordinance, changed to the ordinance only when called on to explain, and refused to let the people vote on it until compelled to do so by a referendum petition.

THEY SAID they wanted to save the people's money.

THE TRUTH is that they are today making the people pay $5,600 a month more for electric lights than they would have to pay if the league had kept its promises.

THEY SAID the proposed city plant could compete with the Duluth-Edison Company for business.

THE TRUTH is that no home, shop, factory or office that is now using Duluth-Edison current to run any motor could change and use the city current without having to buy new equipment.

THEY SAID the new water and light department building in West Duluth would be used for the convenience and service of the people of West Duluth.

THE TRUTH is that this building has not been used at all except as a tool shed and shelter.

THEY SAY the city can furnish residence lights at a 4-cent rate.

THE TRUTH is that the engineers recommended a 7-cent rate for residence lights and this part of their report was suppressed by the league.

THEY SAY the city would replace all the machinery, etc., made useless by the city's inferior current.

DO YOU BELIEVE THEM?

THEY SAY the city would furnish free electric meters, as the private company does now, AND NOT SELL THEM TO YOU, AS THEY DO THE WATER METERS, AT A PROFIT.

DO YOU BELIEVE THEM?

These Are the Men who now ASK us to vote to give them from $85,000 to $1,000,000 of the PUBLIC funds to SPEND on what they call a "UNIT PLANT," and also ask us NOT to vote to SAVE 25 CENTS ON EVERY DOLLAR we pay for electric light.

THEY HAVE DECEIVED US BEFORE—HOW CAN WE TRUST THEM NOW?

CUYUNA IRON RANGE FACES BUSY SEASON

It Can Market Five Million Tons of Ore, Much of It Manganiferous.

Several More Stripping and Underground Mines Ready to Ship.

Eventually, Brainerd Is Expected to Be the Center of the Range.

BY GEORGE REID.

During 1915 the Cuyuna iron range is prepared to market more than five million tons of ore, if there should be a market for that much. With the constant improvement in business and the increasing demands for iron and steel, coupled with the small stocks at the furnaces, it seems likely that Minnesota's newest iron range will find a ready market for all that it can produce this year. Furthermore, the cessation of imports of ferro-manganese, owing to the world's war, has attracted nation-wide attention to the Cuyuna range, with its millions of tons of manganese and manganiferous ores, already shown up, and to the fact that the Cuyuna can supply all of the manganese that may be used in steel manufacture in the United States for years and years to come.

No other iron range in America has been developed as rapidly as the Cuyuna. Its first mine, the Kennedy, began shipping in 1911, in which year it sent 117,000 tons to the Soo ore docks. In 1912 the Kennedy was joined by the Armour mines Nos. 1 and 2, the shipments reaching 318,000 tons. In 1913 the mines shipped in round figures a million tons.

In the fall of 1913 operators on the Cuyuna were looking forward to a quadrupling of its shipments in 1914. The two railroads carrying ore from the range were ordering new cars and preparing to move four million tons from the Cuyuna to the Head of the Lakes. At that time, in answer to letters of inquiry, President Pennington, of the Soo line, wrote me that his road expected to ship as a minimum three million tons in 1914, and President Harahford, of the Northern Pacific, wrote that minimum shipments by his road would be three quarters of a million tons. Their statements were published in The Duluth Herald.

Depression Brought a Big Set-Back.

Business depression that followed caused a tremendous slump in the market and prices for iron ore, with the result that the 1914 shipments from the Cuyuna just about equalled the shipments of the preceding year. Meanwhile new mines have been developed to the shipping stage—some of them stripping, some of them underground mines—so that I am well within the facts when I write that five million tons of ore can easily be shipped from the Cuyuna range this year.

Notwithstanding the business depression last year, development work went steadily on, and drills were busy from one end of the range to the other, showing up more and more large bodies of high grade ore, and manganiferous ore bodies of exceptionally high value. Something in the nature of a boom will develop on the range with the opening of the shipping season in the spring. Investors who are wise will not wait for this brisk revival, with its increased values, but will look about them now for bargains in iron lands, farm lands, real estate and shares in good companies.

During the two weeks I have just spent on the range, I have been to some pains to ascertain conditions and a list of shipping mines this season. First, let us take up the north range. Armour mines Nos. 1 and 2, at Ironton, are stockpiling. The Cuyuna-Duluth, also at Ironton, and the Cuyuna-Mille Lacs, not far away, are expected to resume work shortly. The Kennedy mine, at Cuyuna, is stockpiling.

One Mine Can Ship 500,000 Tons.

The great Pennington pit at Ironton, can ship half a million tons without half trying. The Rowe mine, at Riverton, is in fine shape, and can also turn out a large tonnage. Here stripping continued with steam shovel and the hydraulic method, until freezing weather set in. The Pittsburg Steel Ore company, operating this mine, has applied to the state and to the United States for permission to fill in Little Rabbit lake, adjoining the mine, incidental to erecting a million dollar concentrating mill, or washing plant as it is more commonly known, for the treatment of low grade ores. The Iron Mountain mine, near Manganese, shipped a small quantity of ore last season. It is now loading from its stockpile and putting in new boilers, and about the middle of next month will enter the regular shipping list.

The Cuyuna Iron & Manganese Ore company's property, adjoining the Pennington, and also a stripping proposition, which was turned over to a mining syndicate, will be stripped as soon as frost is out of the ground, and is expected to get into the shipping list this season. Stockholders in this property had a nice melon cut on Nov. 1 last, when they received a 10-per cent cash dividend, although some of them had not yet finished making payments for their stock.

West of Ironton is the Hill-Crest mine on part of the Thomas Feigh properties and adjoining the Pennington mine. Forty acres have been brushed and it is understood that the mine will be stripped this season. The Duluth-Brainerd company, which has a good manganiferous property, has a shaft to ledge and has done much drifting. A deal is on whereby large interests are expected to take over and operate this property, and it may be in the shipping list this year.

Still Another Big Stripping Mine.

The Inman Steel company's Thompson mine, adjoining Crosby and Ironton, was developed originally as an underground mine. It was then stripped and shipped a good tonnage last year. In all likelihood it will be one of the heaviest shippers on the range this season. John A. Savage and associates are sinking a concrete and steel shaft at the Croft mine, Crosby, which is approaching ledge and is likely to get into the 1915 shipping list.

The big Cuyuna-Sultana property, which is figured as having a tonnage running away up into the millions, much of it manganiferous ore, has been cleared, and stripping operations will begin shortly. The Cuyuna-Sultana will have a great open pit, and most likely will be among the shipping mines this year.

Next let us take a look at the south range, which is in the infancy of its development as compared with the north range. The Adams concrete-shaft, at Orelands, has hoisted considerable ore and is in shape to ship this season. The Wilcox mine, at Woodrow, six miles east of Brainerd, is on a spur of the Northern Pacific one mile from the main line. It has a timbered drop shaft, completed at ledge. The miners are drifting into the ore body and the Wilcox seems certain to enter the shipping list this year. The Wilcox mine has already contracted for its output.

Brainerd has ore bodies of considerable magniture inside the city limits. At one mine, the Brainerd-Cuyuna, not far from the the heart of town, the shaft was down to the ledge when I visited it a few days ago. A picture of this shaft and a story about it will be found in another column. Barrows has a completely developed mine in the property of the Brainerd Mining company, which has not yet completed its plans for 1915. With the spring, shaft-sinking will be begun at Barrows for the Barrows Mining company, by C. B. Rowley of Brainerd, a description of whose new methods of shaft-sinking will be found in another column.

Crow Wing County's Rich Farm.

Explorers are at work in the ninth hole on the Crow Wing county poor farm, near Brainerd, and results have been such that they are pretty certain to exercise their option for lease at 25 cents per ton royalty, and thus the poor farm will be turned into a rich farm, the royalty from which will probably take care of all the inmates of the county almshouse.

Much important exploratory work is going on all over the north range and in the vicinity of Barrows, on the south range, five miles southwest of Brainerd. Drilling is in progress from Rice river, Aitkin county, to two miles south of Barrows, Crow Wing county, a distance of 36 miles in length from northeast to southwest of the range. In length, ore has been found in paying quantities over a distance of thirty miles. The width of the range is yet to be determined, but most experienced mining men believe that Brainerd eventually will be the center of these vast new ore bodies.

Business in Brainerd was fine until the usual midwinter dullness set in. Surrounded by a fine farming country, and with its great car shops, Brainerd, until winter set in, did not know that a world's war is being waged, so far as business was concerned. Brainerd appreciates the farmers. In its new city hall it has a large, well-equipped restroom for farmers' wives, probably the first institution of its kind in a public building in Minnesota.

Brainerd boosters insist their city is going to be the fourth largest in the state before many years have passed. Under its franchise the Minnesota Central Railway company must begin work upon the Brainerd street railway by April 15 and have five miles in operation within the city limits by Sept. 15 next. The street railway will be part of an interurban system linking Brainerd and all the range towns.

SURFACE VIEW OF THE BRAINERD-CUYUNA IRON MINE, IN BRAINERD.

BRAINERD SHAFT IS NOW AT LEDGE

City's First Mine Has a Big Ore Body and Will Ship This Season.

The shaft of the Brainerd-Cuyuna Mining company being 8 feet by 16 feet inside, in the city of Brainerd, is now at ledge, and sinking will continue to the first level, when drifting into the ore body will begin. Much trouble with quicksand has been experienced at this mine during sinking of the shaft. It was sunk under the direction of D. C. Peacock, a mining engineer well known throughout the Northwest, who had successfully sunk a similar shaft in the Wilcox mine, at Woodrow, where conditions were about the same. The shaft has been sunk steadily, from several inches to a few feet each day, and is down now nearly 100 feet. About thirty men, working in eight-hour shifts, were necessary on the work.

The property was drilled prior to starting the shaft and a large body of merchantable high-grade ore was disclosed. The boiler plant, hoisting equipment and air compressor are of the best. Nothing further need be bought in the way of surface machinery to begin active shipping operations this season. The mine is most advantageously located, being at the west end of Sixth street, well within the city limits. It will not be necessary to erect company or boarding houses for employes. A spur from the Northern Pacific railroad has been into the mine for over a year, which has resulted in saving money for the company.

Ore from the Brainerd-Cuyuna mine has been examined by experienced furnace men who have pronounced it excellent for furnace uses owing to its physical structure and low silica contents. Residents of Brainerd, Duluth, Superior, Bayfield, Hibbing, Chicago, St. Paul, Minneapolis and Virginia are heavily interested in the mine and are greatly pleased with the success that has accompanied the sinking of the shaft.

F. A. Farrar of Brainerd, is the president, Henry Nelson of Duluth is the vice president, Edmond Ingalls of Duluth is secretary and treasurer, and these together with Charles C. Jones of Duluth and O. J. Vorous of Bayfield constitute the board of directors of the company.

CUYUNA CENTRAL'S BIG ORE BODY

Company Has Drilled 44 Holes—Property Rich in Iron.

The annual meeting of the Cuyuna Central Iron company which was held at its office in the Manhattan building, Jan. 12, was largely attended. Stockholders were much pleased with the reports of the officers, which showed that the company is completing exploration work on a large and valuable body of iron and manganese ore.

In the NW¼ of the NW¼ of section 27, 47-29, Crow Wing county, on the North Cuyuna range, the company has drilled 27 holes, showing an enormous body of ore, the deepest hole being 340 feet in ore and bottomed in merchantable ore. Iron contents run as high as 66 per cent, the average being about 55 per cent. The ore is low in phosphorus. A large tonnage of ore, running as high as 27 per cent in manganese has also been shown up on this property.

In the NE¼ of the NW¼, also in section 27, 47-29, the company has drilled 17 holes, nealy all of them in ore. The deepest hole is 495 feet deep and 385 feet in the ore body. Assays of iron ore and manganese ore on this property run high. The company is still drilling, and has proven up an ore body about 2,000 feet in length and will continue to sink holes until both properties are thoroughly proved up.

The drilling on the Cuyuna Central property is being done by the Zenith Exploration company, under the supervision of William Rock, who drilled the first hole into merchantable iron ore on the South Cuyuna iron range in the early days and has done much successful drilling. The officers of the Cuyuna Central Iron company are all responsible Duluth business men. John P. Hollihan is president; Patrick Hammel, the first of the pioneers on the North Cuyuna range, vice president; John Nolan, the building contractor, treasurer; George Milostan, secretary, and N. J. Miller, assistant secretary. These men, except Mr. Miller, John J. McAuliffe, the well known farm land and real estate man; Michael Neckels, Soo Line railroad conductor; Dr. Lawrence J. Sycora and William Rock, are the directors.

MINING SHAFT ON NEW LINES

It Will Overcome Easily Many Difficulties Now Encountered.

First Shaft of Its Kind to Be Sunk at Barrows By Brainerd Man.

Much interest is being manifested by mining men in the new methods that will be employed in the sinking of the shaft of the Barrows Mining company of Duluth, immediately adjacent to Barrows, five miles southwest of Brainerd. The shaft will be sunk by C. B. Rowley of Brainerd, and work upon it will be begun shortly. Mr. Rowley's methods are expected to revolutionize shaft sinking and to overcome easily serious difficulties which heretofore have been encountered in the construction of concrete shafts.

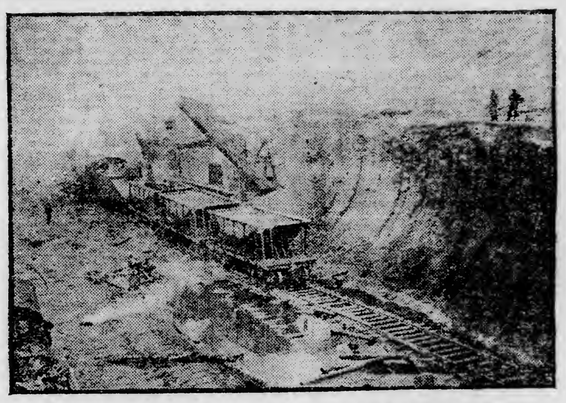

The shaft at Barrows will be concrete reinforced with steel. The shaft will start on the surface and will be built on movable forms which are interchangeable. It will be sunk by gravity. Excavation will be from the inside of the shaft, in the usual way, with shovels and skips. It is aimed to concrete every other day, excavating meanwhile, this procedure being followed until ledge is reached.

The Rowley system is equipped with large water relief valves, which allow the water from outside the shaft to pass to the inside, from whence it is pumped to the surface, thus relieving all danger from sand "boils," etc., which usually present serious difficulties in shaft sinking. The shaft is also provided with water tubes extending through the concrete from the inside to the outside for the purpose of connecting the pipes to be used in forcing water through in case dry strata of clay are met with and which often bind or keep the shaft from sinking. The tubes will be connected up to pumps and the clay softened with water so as to allow the shaft to sink through the soft mud that will thus be created.

When the ledge is reached, the system is provided with concrete sealing tubes and valves that allow the concrete to pass by gravity from the inside to the outside of the shaft. These tubes and valves are so constructed and handled that the operator can put every sack of cement right where it is intended to go, forming a concrete wall around the outside of the shaft and connecting the shaft to solid ledge. After the sealing is completed all temporary inside tubes used for the purpose of sealing the shaft are removed, leaving the entire inside of the shaft a uniform size from top to bottom. The water pumped during the course of construction is a great asset to the mine, because the water, once pumped, is gone forever.

Two of the greatest difficulties which hitherto have had to be overcome in the sinking of concrete shafts has been "freezing"—or sticking and the sealing of the shaft to ledge. A notable case is the North American iron mine, near Tower, on the Vermilion range, where the contractors were unable to seal the shaft and thus keep out the water, a delay of a year resulting until T. J. Walsh conceived a successful plan of sealing the shaft from the outside. A recent example is the Adams concrete shaft near Deerwood, on the Cuyuna. Countless delays have been experienced from the shaft "freezing" and from water troubles at ledge.

By the Rowley methods a shaft absolutely plumb or perpendicular is achieved. Water and earth slides frequently twist wooden shafts all out of shape and in many cases render them useless. Wooden shafts also may prove fire traps. They are damp and in the long run more expensive than shafts of reinforced concrete. Wooden shafts have to be replaced every so often, while concrete shafts are indestructible.

C. B. Rowley, the inventor of the new method of shaft sinking, is a well known building contractor and has done much work in Brainerd and on the Cuyuna range. During the last year he has completed the $50,000 Spina hotel at Ironton, the $10,000 hotel at Iron Mountain and a $14,000 school house for Iron Mountain and Manganese, besides doing much other work.

POWER HOUSE AND DAM OF THE CUYUNA RANGE POWER CO.

The Cuyuna Range Power company, which supplies light and power for all the towns on the range, as well as power for mining operations, has sufficient power developed to supply all demands for some time to come, and has additional power in reserve which can be harnessed any time it is needed.

The company's dam and power plant is on the Crow Wing river, ten miles west of Brainerd. The Cuyuna Range Power company supplies current to Brainerd, Crosby, Ironton, Deerwood, Cuyuna, Riverton, Woodrow and Pillager. The company also furnishes light and power to practically all of the mines on the Cuyuna iron range. Its main office is at Deerwood.

BARROWS TO HAVE ANOTHER MINE

Barrows Mining Company Will Sink a Shaft in a Large Ore Body.

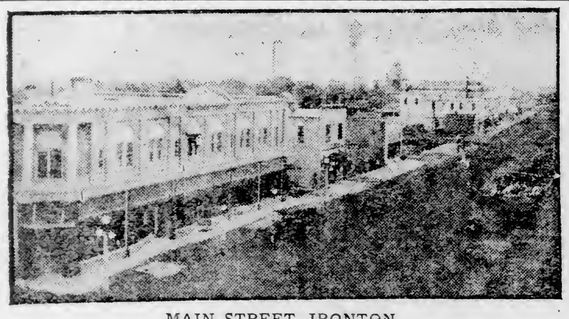

Shaft sinking for the Barrows Mining company will be begun early in the spring on its vast ore body adjoining the town of Barrows by C. B. Rowley of Brainerd, whose new methods of sinking concrete and steel shafts is described in detail in another column.

The company leased 120 acres in the SE¼ of the NE¼ and the north half of the SE¼ in section 16, 144-31 from the Northwest Improvement company, the mining branch of the Northern Pacific Railway company, after the Northwest company, by drilling, had proved up a large body of high-grade ore. The Barrows Mining company haa continued the drilling, which is still going on, and is now in the twenty-sixth hole. Ore has been shown up for a distance of 2,700 feet in length, and as much as 180 feet in width. Undoubtedly the company has an ore body of vast magnitude.

The Barrows Mining company is officered largely by the men who made such a tremendous success of the Cuyuna Iron and Manganese Ore company, whose property adjoining the Pennington pit, at Ironton, has been turned over to an operating company to splendid advantage, permitting of a cash dividend on November 1 last of 10 per cent, with certain big dividends for years and years to come. John J. Moe, the department store owner of Duluth, is president; S. Momb, vice president, is also vice president of the Cuyuna Iron and Manganese Ore company; Charles P. Meyers, secretary, is a prominent real estate man of Duluth; John Wahl, treasurer, is president of the John Wahl Candy company of Duluth, and is also president of the Cuyuna Iron and Manganese Ore company.

The company's affairs, therefore, are in the hands of men who are ambitious, careful and conscientious, who have ability and push and who have had extended experience in the development of iron mining properties. They believe the property they are developing is the best obtainable on the range, and they look for large and certain returns to the stockholders.

For the purpose of shaft sinking and placing the mine on a shipping basis, the board of directors of the Barrows Mining company has placed on the market a limited amount of treasury stock at $1 per share, its par value, reserving the right to withdraw the shares from sale as soon as sufficient funds are in hand. Investors may obtain these shares upon the payment of 10 per cent down and 10 per cent per month, or they may obtain a discount of 5 per cent for cash. The office of the company is 610-611 Alworth building, Duluth.

GERMANS BLOW UP FRENCH TRENCHES

Peculiar Character of Fighting in the Forest of Argonne.

(Correspondence of the Associated Press.)

Berlin, Jan. 4.—The peculiar character of the fighting now going on in the forest of Argonne is illustrated by the following letter from a soldier:

"The two companies forming our right wing had been lying for five days only thirty to fifty yards from the enemy along a distance of nearly 200 yards. In front of our company to the left was a little valley, on the opposite slope of which the French had intrenched themselves in three lines of pits, one lying above the other, and this front was generally regarded as impregnable. We therefore had a detachment of Prussian sappers and miners, which was assigned to our lines, to tunnel under the three French trenches in order to blow them up. The explosion was really intended to go off on the anniversary of the battle of Champigny (Nov. 30), but the sappers said that they had not yet enough 'snuff' into their holes. There was danger that the French would undermine us and blow us into the air first. Finally on Dec. 1 everything was ready. At places lay pounds of dynamite under the French trenches.

"At 10:30 all our front trenches were evacuated, but we masked this movement to deceive the French. At 11:21 a lieutenant of pioneers pressed his thumb on a button, and there was a terrific crash. One might have thought that the whole earth was falling to pieces. From my position I saw a cloud of earth probably over 600 feet high. After about a minute something like a mighty tempest broke loose in the woods. I did not know what it was till something struck my skull, then I knew it was a hail of dirt and stones which had been thrown up by the explosion. I darted into our bomb-proof, where I stayed for two minutes. Meanwhile our two companies pressed forward and occupied the gap that had been broken in the French lines. The first trench was full of dead and buried Frenchmen. In the next two they were so dazed that they surrendered without resistance.

"Within a half-hour we had taken prisoners the dwellers in all these trenches, so far as they were still alive. Among them there were eight officers and 278 privates who had not been wounded. The rest, including two officers, were dead and buried under the debris. We captured three mine-throwers. Our total losses were only three killed and seven wounded.

"A soldier must have luck! The captured French pioneers told us afterwards that they had mined our trenches at eight points, and were going to blow us up at 6 p. m., not yet having finished putting in the charges. When we examined our trenches we found these mines. So we had a lucky escape this time. The higher authorities are giving unstinted praise to our achievement. Even the crown prince sent automobiles with 200 woolen blankets and a bottle of wine for each of us. What more could a soldier's heart want? Such are the tricks that we are playing here."

GERMAN CHILDREN LEARN WAR'S HISTORY.

(Correspondence of the Associated Press.)

Berlin, Jan. 4.—The German educational authorities are taking care to teach children in the history of the war as fast as history is made. The Prussian ministry of education has just sent a circular letter of instructions to the school inspectors pointing out that the hour devoted to teaching history must be devoted principally to giving pupils a clear idea of the course and development of "the Great War."

"There must be awakened in the children," says the circular, "an understanding of the serious and thrilling time in which they are living. While everything must be kept out of the schools that might implant into the hearts of the children overweening self-conceit or contempt and hatred for other peoples, still they should be filled with a joyous and conscious pride that they are members of a great people who are making heroic sacrifices in a just struggle against overwhelming odds."

FRANCE IS DEPENDING ON ENGLAND FOR COAL.

(Correspondence of the Associated Press.)

London, Jan. 8.—France is now compelled to call on England for coal coal which was formerly mined in the north of France. Practically all the mines in that district have either been destroyed by the German artillery or are being operated by Germans. At Lievin and Courrieres the German army is carrying on extensive mining operations and producing great quantities of coal which are shipped into Belgium for the use of the German military forces.

France is no longer able to draw coal from Mons and Charleroi, which formerly supplied large quantities for exportation. Consequently the residents of Northern France are largely dependents upon English mines for coal, which has become very scarce. Frequently towns and villages near the fighting line are entirely without coal for a week. This works great hardship on hospitals sadly in need of heat for the hundreds of thousands of wounded, and the sick soldiers of the allies who are being cared for in French towns.

GERMAN SOLDIERS SAVING THEIR PAY.

(Correspondence of the Associated Press.)

Berlin, Jan. 4.—That the German soldier has carried with him into the war his well known habits of thrift is shown by the amount of money that he is sending home to his family. A postoffice official of Dresden has recently shown in a public address that the amount of money sent home by soldiers for the Dresden postal district in November reached $550,000. Assuming that the like ratio prevails for all the rest of Germany he estimates that the soldiers sent home $24,000,000 in November. This sum appears all the more striking when it is recalled that the pay of the German private soldier is only about 12 cents a day. The amounts sent through the postoffice are often less than $2.50, and in not a few cases less than one dollar.

A Socialist paper commenting upon these large savings remarks: "This large sum of $24,000,000 reflects the sobriety of the German soldier, his intrinsic decency and his strength of character; even in the wildest turmoil of the bitterest struggle of history he does not forget the good habits of his home which he formed in times of peace. Among the laurels that our troops are winning before the enemy it is also a high title of honor that they use their petty wages economically and do not forget their families or to look forward to times of peace."

Cuyuna Range Addition to the City of Brainerd

This addition closely adjoins the great Northern Pacific car shops, whose employes work the year around. It is also close to large proven ore bodies and in easy walking distance of the heart of the city. Brainerd is certain to be the fourth city in Minnesota and realty values are rising steadily in all parts of the city.

No advance will be made in the prices of the Cuyuna Range addition until early in the spring, although conditions justify a sharp advance in prices right now. These lots are the best value for the money offered in Brainerd, as you can easily convince yourself by a trip to that city.

SERVICE IS SAVING GRACE

Dr. Hovis Draws Lesson From "The Dawn of a Tomorrow."

Shows How One's Troubles May Be Solved By Helping Others.

Dr. William Forney Hovis, pastor of the Endion M. E. church, preached yesterday morning on "The Dawn of a Tomorrow," drawing some practical lessons from the famous novel of Frances Hodgson Burnett. His sermon in part follows:

"Frances Hodgson Burnett, in her little book, 'The Dawn of a Tomorrow,' skilfully sketches what might easily be a piece of human experience.

"The interpretation of any day, whether sunlit or foggy, depends upon the humor of the heart that views it. There is something comfortable and cosy in the gathering gloom of a rainy day, when the soul sits singing in the shadows, but a moping spirit can make an azure sky as black as sackcloth woven out of camel's hair.

Happiness Based on Wealth.

"Peace of mind does not depend on the opulence of one's possessions. Some of the most unhappy people in the world are those with the greatest riches. Contentment is a condition of the heart. Money cannot 'minister to a mind diseased.' Only a few months ago the newspapers announced the suicide of Mr. Post of postum cereal fame, possessor of many millions. The self-destroyer has no hope of a tomorrow and finds no comfort in the life he lives today. Only the child of faith looks forward with the confident expectation that 'the best is yet to be.'

"In 'The Dawn of a Tomorrow' Sir Oliver Holt, whose name represented the greatest wealth and power in the world of finance and schemes of business, broken with brain-fag and stricken with the delirium of accumulation, loses hope and decides to end his life. He had not led an especially evil life; he was not a law-breaker, but he had not included God in his scheme of existence, and now that he was caught in the swirl of the maelstrom of commerce, his mind and body were wrecked by its whirling waters and he had nothing solid to which to hold.

Had no Cure.

"Sir Oliver had not learned that the human brain without a governor becomes an instrument of evil. Life to him had become a jaded, joyous thing.

"From his home in London he would quietly slip away under the pretext of going to Paris for a change. Shabbily dressed with the pitiable respectability of a defeated man, with the assumed name of Anthony Dart, he would secure a back room in a low grade lodging house in some crowded, shabby street, where he could lose his identity, and, by means of a pistol properly managed, end his wretched life.

Plans Go Wrong.

"But the best laid schemes of mice and men gang aft' agley," and, God has a way of bringing the blind by a way they know not and of changing the course of human events.

"Anthony Dart awoke in his cheap lodging house in the midst of a London fog. He remembered that he had forgotten to buy the pistol which he had seen in the window of a pawn shop the night before. He arose and donned his discriminatingly-chosen, shabby-genteel clothes with a care for the effect he wished them to produce, gazed on his unshaven face, in the cracked and hazy mirror, and muttered, "It is not far to the pawn shop where I saw it." All was silent; so silent that the very stillness seemed to have a voice. He listened. Something appeared to call to him—to call without a sound. His mind returned to the thought of that which had waited through the ages to see what he would do. He threw out his arms and cried aloud words that he did not know that he was going to say: "Lord! Lord! What shall I do to be saved?" But the silence did not answer.

"He stood for a few moments panting like one who gasps for breath, then his arms fell and his head dropped, and, opening the door, he went out into the fog to buy the pistol. He kept close to the houses and felt his way, like a blind man groping in the dark, till he finally reached the pawn shop where he bought the gun. On his way back to the lodging house he became lost and so began to wander about aimlessly in the murky mist. At length he became aware that he was groping along the embankment of the river, and reaching a bridge, his mood led him to turn in upon it. Having reached an embrasure, he stopped and leaned upon a parapet looking down toward the water which he could hear but could not see. As he bent over, a sovereign slipped out of his vest pocket and fell upon the stones. It was at this point that God stopped in to change his course, though Anthony did not know it.

Course of Life Changed.

"At his feet he heard a shuffling of what looked to be a bundle of rags or rubbish wrapped in a gunny sack. As he bent to look he saw it was alive. Out of the ragged sacking came a small head covered with a shock of bright red hair and a pair of deep-set black eyes looked up at him. It was a human girl creature, 12 years old. Through this miserable specimen of the human race Dart is introduced to the strange aggregation of "Apple Blossom Court" where the dawn of a new day breaks in upon his life in the giving of service to others. From this under-stratum of social life he learns a philosophy he did not know and finds a faith which furnishes a foundation for enduring peace.

"Sitting amid the shadows in a dingy, dirty garret with a ragged street urchin, a thief, and a fallen country girl, Anthony Dart, the man with no tomorrow, with a revolver in his pocket meant to end his wretched day, sees the dawning of a morning 'when the mists have cleared away.' He learns that back of the ruined childhood of Glad, the beggar girl, with her pinched and aged face, with her unkempt shock of snarly hair, and her bloated, bleeding hands misshapen by exposure, was the innocent heart of a child who had learned to say with Samuel, the well kept temple child, 'Speak, Lord, for thy servant heareth.' He found in the broken-hearted country girl, an outraged innocence, more sinned against than sinning, and a longing to be back with her mother, and the lambs and primroses. He saw that the thief, like Jean Valjean, had paid a penalty all out of proportion to his crime and that it would have taken such a little thing to have changed his fate entirely. He saw his own opportunity and seized it. In bringing hope in these wretched ones to a glorious realization, he quickened hope within himself. He saved himself by saving others. He saw that life is better farther on. Thank God for a tomorrow!

World Full of Shadows.

"'There is a divinity that shapes our ends, rough hew them how we will.' Anthony Dart confessed that something not himself had turned his feet toward Apple Blossom Court. He was forced to see things of the reality of which he had never dreamed. The crying need of the world was so forced upon him that he felt that he dare not do as he had planned. His tomorrow dawned in the opportunity of service."

EFFICIENCY IS THE KEY

Will Open Door to Freedom and Opportunity, Says Pastor.

Advocates Military Training in Schools as Aid to Discipline.

"Through Efficiency to Life's Summit" was the subject of the sermon by George R. Gebauer at the First Unitarian church, yesterday.

"There is a good deal of vapid talk about 'equal opportunities,'" he said. "We may want this equal opportunity indeed, but much more do we want to make men fit for each and all opportunities. Many people stand before their opportunities as did the crane in the fable, for whom the fox had prepared his banquet of soup on a shallow dish. He could not grasp the opportunity of a good dinner, he was not equal to it. Just so with men. We need not disparage political liberty, but after do we not realize that it only is the shell of real freedom? Do we not see, that the world's real freemon is the efficient man, who finds his freedom in his life's work and in his own soul.

"Efficiency alone leads a man to the summit of earthly life; it will create the opportunities the inefficient is dreaming of, it will give him freedom in accord with capability. We are beginning to understand the need of this efficiency for life, and we endeavor to meet it by trade and vocational schools. This is an excellent thing. Yet we must ever realize after all no professional training guarantees efficiency, and that in spite of all teaching there are carpenters and plumbers who know their trade and ply it properly and those who do not. Efficiency is not merely a matter of acquired skill, but a thing of the soul, of man's character.

"The highly efficient man is he who has body, mind and soul not only trained but disciplined. He is the man, who has learned to control his will and passions, who has learned to put his mind on the one thing, no matter how tedious; he is the man, who does not ask, 'Is this a pleasant thing to do,' but 'is this my duty?' the man who will put his soul into all he does; the man who sees in every job his opportunity for service; he is the man who never shirks his work, but will do it thoroughly and smile in the face of difficulties; he is the man who is at his work fifteen minutes before the bell rings and has still the tool or pen in his hand when the 6 o'clock whistle blows.

"Now it is this efficiency in service we find above all in the army. I believe that a graduate of West Point is one of our truly educated and therefore efficient men, and free men, too.

Military Training.

"I believe that a young man who has served in the ranks of the militia ought for that reason be so much more of a man, so much more efficient in his work as a man. He ought to have learned at least this one thing, that there is no job too small for any man, and that the worthless fellow is alone he who fails to do his duty. And that is why military nations are always strong and efficient nations; men trained in military virtues will generally be most efficient in the arts and the work of peace. Indeed in Europe the army has been to millions the great university for life, for which they were prepared for its duties and opportunities.

"I am not one who would advocate the creation of a large standing army for our country; we happily do not need one; yet I feel that we need more of the virile military spirit, the spirit of fearless and faithful submission to duty, of discipline and thoroughness, promptness, reliableness and cheerful service; the spirit which will offset the effeminacy of our times and put for our boys in place of the tango a rigid drill. I am glad therefore that our school board has concluded to introduce military training in our high school. It will, or at least may, give our boys the discipline of mind and soul they are badly in need of. And if persisted in, it will become a wholesome influence in all our social life, which now is dominated by such soft and flabby notions of duty and responsibility. And this military training, too, will force us to have proper scientific gymnastic training, which under existing conditions is so difficult to enforce, and which has so largely degenerated into mere play. Not that I would discourage play, but that would encourage something more serious and manly and helpful. And if that training be right, it will by no means foster the war spirit, but mainly the spirit of true chivalry and devotion to country, of a true patriotism which will lay down its life, should conditions demand it. It, too, will bring about the spirit of true comradeship and democracy, at present not just very strong in our schools. It will do away with the clique and class spirit. Indeed no institution so truly democratic as the army, in which all promotion depends upon merit, in which nothing counts but manhood, and honor is only given to him to whom honor is due.

"As I know that there exists at present in the land a strong prejudice against everything military in this land, I am glad to see myself backed by such a truly peace-loving monthly as the Delineator, which generally placidly moves in the soft realm of women's finery and latest fashion. The editor says in the last issue this: 'I honestly believe if we were to take every boy in the country, during the last two years of his public school course, and give him two years of military training, it would be well-nigh ideal.'

"Certainly whatever our views on this matter, we need not fear any disastrous consequences from this move to our country. The only thing I fear is that the training might not be military enough, and under fostering care of Madam Showoff degenerate into soldierly play in khaki, brass buttons and an annual banquet and ball. I should like to see a military organization in our schools that will require neither khaki, nor brass buttons, nor balls, but which will drill the boys just as they come to school, in order that it may not become an opportunity for the sons of the better-to-do and leave out in the cold the poor boy. Let us remember that the country, which perhaps has the most efficient military system in the world and is taking up the training of its youth, drilling them ten to twelve hours every week, has neither guns nor uniforms for them. Beware of the show business, I say, and I am sure, with the excellent men in our high school who have taken this matter in hand, we shall beware of the rocks of society and show."

NO ALL CURING REMEDY FOR SOUL

Dr. Ryan of St. Paul's Preaches on the Trend of Thought.

"Just as there is no universal panacea for all of the ills of the body," declared Rev. Dr. A. W. Ryan, rector of St. Paul's Episcopal church, in a sermon on "The Trend of Thought" yesterday, "so there is no one law of life which is the remedy for all spiritual ills.

"One cannot change the conditions of life under which he lives—public opinion, fashions in food and dress—but he may make the inner life so fine that outward conditions cannot mar or disturb the inner beauty and growth. The direction of thought decides the real values of life, and in this, one is a law unto himself, able if he will to turn his thought into channels which will uplift, widen and benefit every department of living."

URGES WARFARE ON MODERN SINS

Pastor Stemple White Says There Are "Giants" to Fight.

Pastor Stemple White spoke to a large audience last night at the Seventh Day Adventist church (English), Sixth street and Tenth avenue east, on the subject, "Caleb and the Giants."

He said in part: "During the Exodus movement, twelve representative Israelites were sent ahead to spy out the land of Canaan, among whom were Caleb and Joshua. After a forty-day search the spies returned bearing samples of the fruit of the goodly land, among which was a mammoth bunch of grapes borne by two upon a staff. All declared that Canaan was a land 'flowing with milk and honey,' and an exceedingly good land, but the ten spies, who failed to remember the many and but recent remarkable evidences of Divine power and leading, could only see high-walled villages in which dwelt great giants, before whom they themselves seemed as grasshoppers. The youthful Caleb, though in danger of his life, most courageously and fearlessly plead that they might go up at once and possess the land, for God would deliver into their hands the giants and high-walled villages. The hearts of Israel seemed to melt as they believed the evil report—they murmured against God and Moses, and cried 'Oh, that we had died in Egypt, or in this wilderness.'

Spies Put to Death.

"God took them at their word, and after the ten spies had been destroyed with the direct plague of Divine judgment, for forty years Israel wandered in the wilderness, until all over 20 years old had died, but Caleb and Joshua lived on—Joshua to lead the hosts of Israel on to Canaan in place of Moses, and Caleb to conquer the giants, of whom ten spies had been so fearful. Of all the hosts of Israel that left Egypt only these two went straight through to Canaan, and the reason of it all was that they 'wholly followed' the Lord.

"As the land was soon to be divided among the tribes, hear the plea of the grand old man, Caleb. 'I am fourscore and five years old this day,' he said, and further begged that his inheritance be the very land of the giants. It was granted, and the record says that he expelled from thence the three sons of Anak and conquered the giants, while the younger men of nearly all the tribes failed to conquer their enemies. God was with Caleb, only because Caleb was willing to follow God fully.

"Christians have giants to fight today far more dangerous to the soul than all the ancient sons of Anak. We are by nature held with the cords of sin, and only through Jesus Christ can the sinner find freedom from the bondage of sin.

Drive Out Sin.

"We must be sanctified through obeying the truth. A saloon and a grocery store may exchange signs, but the same old business remains the same. It is not what we simply say, it is what we are. Even as Caleb entered the earthly Canaan only because he followed God fully, even so only those who follow God fully today can expect to enter the heavenly Canaan. If we offend, willingly, in one point, we are guilty of all. Let us drive out every giant of sin, for one sin, cherished, will at last neutralize all the power of the gospel. In this warfare no soul can remain neutral, and it is only our own will that decides the conflict as to whether we will mobilize with the God of Israel, or with the enemy of all righteousness."

SHOWS BENEFITS OF ABSTINENCE

"The Necessity of a Margin of Strength" was the topic upon which Rev. H. Edward Sayles, pastor of the First Baptist church, preached yesterday morning. In his discourse Rev. Mr. Sayles used Connie Mack, manager of the Athletics, as an illustration to show what temperance could do to help build up the body and mind and qualify players to win a world's series. The sermon in part follows:

"Some time ago Connie Mack got his men together and told them that it was often said that teams lost championship series through dissipation. He secured a pledge from all his men to refrain from drink. In the championship games with the Cubs one old player on the side line was hoarse and told Connie Mack that he needed something to brace him up. Connie Mack said: 'Do as you please. I would rather die than take a drink.' 'That settles it,' said the player. He was put in the next game. He got to first base, stole second, tided them over a critical place, and they won the game and the series. The next year Connie Mack gathered the men together and told them that their success in the past year was due to their abstinence. No man can win a championship series in this day who does not have a margin of strength.

"No man can afford to be distrusted. He can afford to be opposed. He can afford to have enemies. But no man can afford to be distrusted. The man with a margin morally will be free from distrust.

"The man living with a margin will be ready for bigger things. Chinese Gordon at Sebastopol conducted the officer who had the command for a given day over the trenches, though it was not his duty. Later on this same officer recommended Gordon for his work in China.

"This is the sort of life that Jesus lived. He went the one mile and also the second. He met the requirements of the ancient law and then added a plus element. Such a life is worth our effort."

PUBLIC BEWARE

On page 10 of the News Tribune this morning, in the official advertisement of sample ballot and notice of election put in by the City of Duluth, the News Tribune, instead of printing the sample ballot unmarked as ordered, printed in crosses, showing the sample ballot marked as voting No on Unit Plant Ordinance and as voting for the Six-Cent Ordinance.

There should have been no crosses at all in said official sample ballot. On its face, this would appear to be a deliberate attempt to deceive voters, notwithstanding that in the last papers issued the crosses were taken out. Undoubtedly the paper will claim it was an error.

ADDRESS X83 DULUTH HERALD

DEFECTIVE PAGE

HEALTH WEEK IN DULUTH

Dr. Barker Speaks to 2,000 on the First Day.

Famous Authority Has Busy Week Mapped Out for Him.

The first day of Dr. Charles E. Barker's visit to Duluth in connection with the Young Men's Christian association was well rounded out with four services and his addresses were heard by nearly 2,000 people. At the morning service at the Presbyterian church a big audience greeted the speaker and at the Masonic Temple in the afternoon the large hall was filled to capacity and many were turned away.

His address at the Young Men's Christian association at 5 o'clock to a large audience of men was most interesting. His picture of the young mining engineer of Arizona, his loss of fortune and the loss of friends and his ultimate triumph over all his adversaries was like an intensely interesting novel and showed the experience of thousands of young men. Dr. Barker was cheered with intense enthusiasm at the close of this address to men.

How Always to Be Happy.

Last evening at the First Presbyterian church he spoke to an audience that filled the church on the subject of "How Always to Be Happy, or the Finest of Fine Arts." This was a most impressive service. The music of the large choir, the beautiful, happy, cheerful message of the doctor and the attentive, appreciative audience in the packed house made the service one of the best, Dr. Barker says, he has conducted in many months.

There have been a number of people in Duluth who have been helped by Dr. Barker's system of exercises and have written from place to place to friends in other towns of his work. As a result many who have been helped and profited by his exercises were glad to see him after a year of experience with his program.

Dr. Barker has gone from the Atlantic to the Pacific in the last year, giving help to men and women who are seeking good health and the highest personal efficiency.

This morning he spoke to 1,200 students of the Duluth high school and the students applauded with great enthusiasm when he had finished his address, which lasted half an hour.

Monday's Program.

Tonight Dr. Barker will speak to the Young People's societies of the city in the auditorium of the association at 8 o'clock. The Young People's societies of all the churches in the entire city are invited specially to hear this address, which is given especially for young people. The subject is "Health, Happiness and Religion."

In connection with the service tonight the Norwegian chorus of twenty trained voices will sing. This chorus is considered one of the best in the city and will be a great feature of the program.

FOUNDATIONS DO MUCH GOOD

charity at some length. The latter, he asserted, was necessary if the people were to receive relief.

Do Much Good.

The large charitable foundations, Mr. Untermyer thought, were ably managed and did much good. He believed, however, that they should be reorganized and should operate under Federal charters rather than under charters granted by states.

Speaking of the concentration of money, Mr. Untermyer said he knew of a banking interest which, through the reorganization of insolvent railroads, had come into the control of 100,000 miles of railroads in the United States. When such a situation exists the witness said, the shareholders have no power at all in the management of the roads; the directors and trustees were controlled entirely by the banks.

Mr. Untermyer said he thought labor conditions in America had been more or less demoralized, and that poverty had been increased by the diversion of cash in certain directions.

"The illicit gathering of large quantities of money undoubtedly has caused considerable poverty," he said. "It is true, however, that in the past few years this condition has not been so bad.

Unfair to Labor.

"The concentration of power and capital of any kind is grossly unfair to labor."

Mr. Walsh questioned Mr. Untermyer about the Colorado Fuel & Iron company.

"It has been testified," said the commissioner, "that a certain large financial interest did not control the company because it only held 40 per cent of the stock."

"That is preposterous," replied the witness. "The stock is listed on the exchange and many shares are in the hands of brokers. It would be necessary for a large financial interest to have but 10 per cent of the stock. When it wants to do anything with the corporation it just sends around to the brokers and gets the proxies."

Mr. Untermyer said directors running a corporation from New York rarely know anything about the business. "They are just figureheads," he said.

Referring again to the four foundations under investigation and to his declaration that they should operate under Federal charter, Mr. Untermyer said:

"They should not be given a perpetual charter. There should be a limit to their size. They should not be permitted to accumulate income. There should be governmental representation when the time comes for replacing the present trustees.

LIVING VICTIMS ARE STILL BEING RELEASED

mate indicates, will exceed 300,000,000 lire ($60,000,000.) No official figures are as yet available.

In dozens of villages, citizens who escaped with their lives are still in poignant fear that new shocks will tumble their buildings about their heads and are camping out to avoid further danger. Gradually, however, the seismic disturbances are lessening and none has been reported since yesterday.

The greatest care is being exercised to avert disease epidemics threatening by interrupted water supplies and the abnormal manner in which the people are now living. Physicians are putting health measures into effect.

Parents still continue to effect reunions, in isolated instances with their children, and children with their parents, but in most cases the searchers, after frantic efforts come upon the bodies of the members of their families and faint hope is transformed to sorrow.

List of Dead Increasing.

Avezzano, via Rome, Jan. 18.—"The disaster seems to be increasing with every report I receive," said Signor Ciufelli, minister of public works today. "Probably half the population of 60,000 in the Avezzano district are either dead or injured. I do not like to put the number of dead higher than 20,000 for this region. This, of course, does not include Sora.

"I am estimating somewhat, without being actually in possession of detailed figures, because I have not yet had word from more than half of the fifty villages in the zone of destruction. The telephone and telegraph wires connecting all these towns have been broken and many of the roads are blocked by vast masses of rock. We have not been able to reach many of these places.

"I am afraid that terrible things have happened quite beyond the power of local relief to help, but within another twenty-four hours, it will be possible to send battalions of workers and quantities of food to all the villages now isolated."

The minister himself was without food for twenty-four hours with the exception of a small piece of tinned meat. During the first forty-eight hours of his visit here he was occupied in taking care of injured. He was assisted by military engineers, sappers and firemen from various Italian cities, all being experts at handling ruins.

GERMANS SHIFT ATTACK TO NORTH OF SOISSONS

occurred along the Yser canal in Flanders, when the Germans attempted to break through to the English channel, although the number of men engaged was smaller. In the suburbs of Soissons were hand-to-hand encounters of the most desperate nature, in which the French Moroccan regiments distinguished themselves, using their rifles as clubs after their bayonets had been bent or broken in the pitiless struggle.

STRONGER THAN EVER.

Advices from French sources say that the allied front, in the positions taken up after the retreat, is stronger than ever.

London suggests that the Germans may follow up their victory by inaugurating another forward movement. Berlin considers that the general offensive movement of the allies, said to have been ordered a month ago by Gen. Joffre, has been broken down.

Late reports from Petrograd emphasize the completeness of the victory said to have been gained over the Turkish troops. Of the forces at Karaurgan, according to the Russian war office, large numbers were killed and the survivors were put to flight.

In Poland the Germans have again attacked the Russians west of Warsaw, but apparently have been unable thus far to break through the line of defense. In Northern Poland the Russians continue to advance toward the Prussian border.

Anniversary of Proclamation.

London, Jan. 18.—London is recalling that this is the forty-fourth anniversary of the proclamation of Wilhelm I as German emperor and in the British capital it is expected that the day may bring news of a widespread German effort to follow up with a still more important movement the success achieved last week in the neighborhood of Soissons.

In London it is believed that the Germans have adopted what is virtually a defensive role to the west of Warsaw—some British observers arguing that this has been forced upon them by superior Russian numbers—and that these defensive tactics synchronize with the movement of many thousands of Teutonic troops from Poland to the French and Belgian battlefields.

The fighting at Soissons, some British commentators declare to be the precursor of the entry of these new troops upon a vigorous offensive, perhaps an attempt to cross the River Aisne. At Soissons the French failed to hold their positions on the northern bank of the river, and for the Germans to attempt to gain the southern bank is regarded as a development to be expected.

Commands All Approaches.

As to future engagements in this region, it appears to be a fact that the French artillery on the hills south of the Aisne commands all the approaches to the river and that it will have to be reckoned with.

In the eastern arena of the war the steady pressure which the arrival of one million of last year levies has enabled the Russians to exert upon the Germans, according to news dispatches reaching London, has been slowly pushing back the German line to the west of Warsaw.

Reoccupy Plock.

News dispatches today report the Russian reoccupation of Plock. This report has not been confirmed officially, but the Russians on Saturday crossed the Skrwa river a few miles below that point and may have been able to occupy the city. Russian forces already had reached Sierpec and Gombin, lying respectively directly north and south of this provincial capital.

The Russian defeat of the Turks, if the claims of Petrograd are fully borne out, was so decisive that it may mark the close of the Ottoman attempt to invade Russia in the Caucausian region. The Russian victory probably will free enough of the Caucausian army to oppose effectively the Turkish forces which are approaching the frontier further eastward, through Persia.

French Statement.

Paris, Jan. 18, 2:44 p. m.—The French official statement given out this afternoon recites French successes yesterday at various points along the battle line, most of them artillery engagements. None of the actions seem to have been of great importance. There was stormy weather yesterday in Flanders, as well as in the Vosges. The statement follows:

"From the sea to the Oise there was yesterday a violent storm, particularly in Belgium. The day saw artillery fighting at certain points.

"Near Autreche, to the northeast of Vic-Sur-Aisne, two German attacks were repulsed. In the sectors of Soissons and of Reims there was no change.

"In the region of Perthes there was very efficient markmanship on the part of our artillery on the positions of the enemy.

"In Argonne the German attacks on Hill 263, to the west of Boureuilles, brought no result. We took possession of several German field works to the northwest of Pont-a-Mousson, in the only part of the forest of Le Pretre which is still in the hands of the enemy. We here later repulsed a counter attack and maintained all our gains.

"In the Vosges there has been a heavy fall of snow. The enemy bombarded Thann, but without inflicting serious damage."

German Statement.

Berlin, Jan. 18, by wireless to London, 3 p. m.—The German official statement, given out today refers to artillery exchanges in France; says the Germans were successful yesterday in various encounters of minor importance and declares the French have not undertaken any direct attacks.

German forces occupied French positions near La Boiselle and in the Argonne and the Germans are still contesting a French advance near Pont-a-Mousson. The statement follows:

"In the neighborhood of Nieuport yesterday there were artillery duels, but nothing else. No attacking movements have been undertaken by the enemy in the last few days.

"British mines have been washed ashore at several places on the coast.

"At La Boiselle, northeast of Albert, our troops who had again established themselves in the church yard of La Boiselle and in the hamlet to the southwest, attacked the French with the bayonet and drove them from their positions. We took as prisoners three officers and 100 men. Several French trenches have been captured in the Argonne forest. The French detachments occupying them were almost annihilated.

"The French attack on our positions to the northwest of Pont-a-Mousson, against a hill which is two kilometers (a mile and one-fifth), south of Velcey, advanced as far as our trenches. This fighting is still going on.

"In the Vosges and in Upper Alsace a heavy snowstorm and fogs have prevailed, interfering with the fighting.

"The situation in East Prussia has undergone no change. In Northern Poland the Russians attempted an advance across a branch of the River Wkra, near Sadzanow, but were repulsed. Nothing of importance has transpired on the Polish Vistula."

Russian Statement.

Petrograd, Jan. 18.—The following official statement was issued from general headquarters last night:

"On the lower bank of the Vistula we are still successful. On Jan. 16 our advance artillery dislodged the enemy from the village of Budy Sulkowskia.

"On the right bank of the Vistula, the same day, the enemy delivered a series of fierce attacks against our lines in the region of the village of Geumine. The German forces included six regiments. After seven successive attacks, and a desperate bayonet engagement, the Germans succeeded in capturing only one trench occupied by one of our advanced troops.

"In the other sections, we repulsed the enemy and forced them to fall back on their positions. The Germans supported their attacks with a violent artillery fire, employing heavy guns to search out the position where the attacks were to be inaugurated.

"At the village of Konopnitza the enemy, having approached by sapping to within about thirty yards of our trenches, was met with a storm of hand grenades, which checked the movement. Some volunteers, availing themselves of the confusion thus created, hurled grenades into the tunnel, which the Germans were forced to evacuate.

"In the region to the south of Pinczow (Poland) the enemy opened a violent artillery fire and made three attempts to attack our advanced lines, but were repulsed.

"Our artillerists silenced an Austrian heavy battery as soon as they discovered the range.

"In Bukowina, our advanced columns captured by storm the Kirlibaba pass on the Transylvania frontier, situated on the road from Kimpolunga (in the southern part of Bukowina) to Maramaros-Sziget (northeastern Hungary) and Dees."

principal officers, today is the executive of that portion of Mexican territory controlled by the Villa and Zapata forces.

Advices to this effect reached the state department from American Consul Silliman. Details of the term of Garza's office were lacking, but the general belief in Mexican circles here, was that he had been appointed temporarily to meet an emergency created by the sudden departure of Gen. Eulalio Gutierrez and members of his cabinet from Mexico City.

The belief was expressed in many quarters that the convention in session in Mexico City, over which Roque Gonzalez Garza has been presiding, designated him to the executive power until a complete agreement can be secured on who is to fill the unexpired term of Diaz and Madero, which would end Dec. 31 this year. Gen. Angeles and Dr. Silva are looked upon as the two most prominent candidates for the office to be known as pre-constitutional president, the successor to be elected for the full constitutional term of six years.

Troops Ordered Away.

A statement issued by Garza announces that Gutierrez had issued orders for a large part of the government forces to evacuate the capital in view of the fact that this would leave the city without any authorities. Garza said he had assumed chief command and was depending upon the troops of the north and the Zapata forces for defense, all of whom, he added, were under the rules of the convention. He announced his intention of establishing martial law, and summary execution to any disturbers of the peace. According to the Garza statement, Gutierrez and some of his cabinet officers left Mexico City Friday night.

The belief in official quarters was that Garza, as chairman of the convention, ordered an extraordinary session which ratified his assumption of power.

Roque Gonzales Garza is about 36 years old and is a man of culture and education. He is a graduate of the law school in Mexico City and has been practicing law for many years. The new executive is well liked by the Zapatistas and is a favorite of Gen. Villa.

Took Troops With Him.

Washington, Jan. 18.—When Gen. Gutierrez left Mexico City yesterday morning he took with him most of the troops garrisoning the capital. State department advices indicate that Gutierrez's present command is 5,000 strong.

The state department is anxious to know whether Gutierrez has abandoned all claims to the provisional presidency, or has gone to Pachuco with part of his cabinet to set up a government there in defiance of the conventionalist faction in Mexico City.

So far there has been no confirmation of reports that Villa and Zapata have broken off friendly relations.

MOROCCANS FIGHT WELL

were detached and charged. The shock was awful. Bayonets were twisted out of shape and then the dusky soldiers used the butts of their rifles. For a second time the Germans gave way.

During the night the German artillery roared ceaselessly in a bombardment of Soissons but at dawn of the 15th the artillery slackened and gave place to infantry fire.

Broke German Ranks.

At 7 o'clock a battalion of the line, occupying the farms of St. Paul, were ordered to protect the advanced trenches which were threatened by the German attack. They charged and broke the German ranks, driving them as far as the Crouy railroad station and taking 100 prisoners. Hardly, however, had they returned with the prisoners when they were assailed by fresh German forces and for two hours St. Paul was subjected to a furious assault over plowed fields, through orchards and in gardens, court yards and barns.

The tide of battle ebbed and flowed in the angle of the stable wall. Here the German dead were so numerous that some stood upright, lacking room to fall. The Germans, exhausted and discouraged at their lack of success, retired in a body to Crouy at noon.

The French retain this mastery of the suburbs of Soissons on the right bank of the river and of the bridge head.

Children under 16 are barred after 9 p. m., unless accompanied by parents or guardians. Theaters must be lighted at all times. No motion picture house is to be within 500 feet of a school. Compulsory Eight-Hour Day.

A compulsory eight-hour day for workers in certain occupations is proposed by a bill to be introduced soon by Representatives J. W. Woodhill of Two Harbors and Andrew Devold of Minneapolis, Socialists. It applies to flour mills, underground mines and linseed oil plants and employers violating it are to be fined $100 or get ninety days in jail.

The same representatives are also the authors of a bill providing a straight jail sentence, without the alternative of a fine, for those convicted a second time of violating automobile speed regulations. Such second convictions are to be reported to the secretary of state and a record kept in his office.

Initiative and Referendum.

Representatives Bjorge of Lake Park and Bendixen of Morgan will introduce tonight a proposed constitutional amendment for the initiative and referendum, following the Ohio plan as outlined in the amendment defeated last November, but making several important changes. Proposed constitutional amendments initiated by the people, instead of going first to the legislature on a 2-per-cent petition and then to the people on a further 8-per-cent petition, will go straight to the people on a single 10-per-cent petition, and they can be ratified if 60 per cent of those voting on the propositions vote affirmatively.

Other Measures.

Other bills likely to come into the house tonight include these:

J. W. Wilson, Minneapolis, for local regulation of public utility rates, a copy of the Nolan bill of 1913, which Senator Campbell of Minneapolis has already offered in the senate; Representative Anderson of Goodhue, providing for statutory prohibition to be effective Jan. 1, 1916, a copy of the bill Senator Lobeck has introduced in the senate; Representatives Swenson and Bjornson, relieving merchants of payment of fees for state inspection of weights and measures, which Senator George J. Peterson of Duluth will offer in the senate; Representative Vasaly of Little Falls, semi-monthly pay bill, which Senator Gardner of Brainerd has offered in the senate; Representative Hugh Leonard, proposed constitutional amendment authorizing loaning of state funds on improved farm lands, which was defeated last November.

The house meets tonight, but will do no more than receive bills. The senate meets tomorrow morning.

STILLMAN H. BINGHAM.

CAPT. CLAUSEN DIES.

Had Been a Resident of Duluth Twenty-Seven Years.

After a short illness, Capt. Andrew Clausen, age 56, for twenty-seven years a resident of Duluth and well known on the Great Lakes, died at his home, 215 South Nineteenth avenue east at 2:30 p. m. yesterday.

Capt. Clausen was a master with the Booth line for years before his retirement from the lake service in 1906. Since that time he has been employed by the Marshall-Wells Hardware company.

Besides the widow, he is survived by a brother, Thomas Clausen of Buffalo, N. Y.; two daughters, Mrs. F. A. Hubbs of Minneapolis and Mrs. E. C. Brown of Omaha, Neb., one son, George Clausen of Hamilton, Mont., and several brothers and sisters living in Norway.

The funeral will take place Wednesday afternoon from the Stewart undertaking rooms. The hour has not been decided, pending the arrival of the son.

FAILS TO ANSWER BREAKFAST CALL

Hotel Guest Is Found to Be Victim of Heart Failure.

When the breakfast call was sounded this morning L. J. Terrell, aged 45, rooming at a small hotel at 514 West Superior street, failed to answer, and later was found dead in bed by the clerk when he went to investigate. Deputy Coroner McAuliffe, who diagnosed the case as one of heart failure, held an examination this afternoon.

Little is known of the deceased, who has been unemployed since Dec. 30, when he returned from what is thought was a trip home for Christmas. Letters from Comeaut, found in his room, may make it possible to locate relatives, who, it is believed, live at or near that place.

Terrell was employed as a driver in a lumber camp until he left Duluth before the holidays, according to employes at the hotel. The body was taken to Grady & Horgan's undertaking rooms and will be held there pending the examination.

CITIZENS vs. LEAGUE

Would a President of the United States be justified in using public property and public employes in a national campaign?

Have the city commissioners any more right to use city property and city employes to help the Municipal Ownership League?

The TRUTH of the R. R. Grant affidavit was ADMITTED by the League in a paid advertisement in The Herald on January 15th.

Commissioner HICKEN and City Clerk PALMER both have ADMITTED turning over the Health Department Addressograph to the League.

In an interview in The Herald on Saturday, Commissioner Hicken said:

"THESE MEN ARE WORKING FOR THE INTERESTS OF THE CITY AND IN BEHALF OF THE COMMISSIONERS, who have pledged themselves to the municipal ownership of the electric lighting plant, and AS A RESULT ARE ENTITLED TO ALL THE ASSISTANCE WE CAN GIVE THEM."

It is the CITIZENS against the M. O. LEAGUE.
The OPEN fight against the INNER CIRCLE.

When You Wash Your Hair Don't Use Soap

Most soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much alkali, which is very injurious, as it dries the scalp and makes the hair brittle.

The best thing to use is just plain mulsified cocoanut oil, for this is pure and entirely greaseless. It's very cheap, and beats soaps or anything else all to pieces. You can get this at any drug store, and a few ounces will last the whole family for months.

Simply moisten the hair with water and rub it in, about a teaspoonful is all that is required. It makes an abundance of rich, creamy lather, cleanses thoroughly, and rinses out easily. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and is soft, fresh looking, bright, fluffy, wavy and easy to handle. Besides, it loosens and takes out every particle of dust, dirt and dandruff.—Advertisement.

Understand, curlers, that this is the large winter sport week of our season. Understand and further, gleeful and genial stone throwers, that we anticipate with pleasurable eagerness your coming and regret with lingering lovingness the leave taking.

Each fall we plan for your entertainment; each spring we pat with loving fondness the stanes as we put them to rest, and mentally skip along the lake of time and mingle with you again in spirit.

These times we can never forget. The good fellowship, true sportmanship displayed, the friendships made and cemented by the years, and the multitude of contests that have been fought out by the brightly burning fireside—this is the life.

Make yourselves at home, boys. The honorable mayor has turned the old burg over to you and yours. We wait upon your pleasure and serve zealously to cater to your whims. We have provided food and entertainment for you; in kindly return, visitors, permit a few of our rinks to win a scanty few of the events on the program.

Go as far as you like—we're all with you. We like you and hope you do well. As the growing home of American curling, Duluth thrice bids welcome the canny Scots and other devotees of the ancient game of curling. Here is to the greatest spiel of them all.

Gibbons and Clabby.

AT MILWAUKEE, on Jan. 21, Some mill, eh? Yes, it should be. And the winner—here he paused and hesitated. The winner, son, is indeed most difficult to cull from the confused ends of the issue. We fancy Gibbons; and yet from the cultured vicinity of Hammond, Ind., and the more cultured centers of Chicago, especially the south side and its ambient purlieus, comes racing forth a lucky opinion that shoulders a musket and goes sturdily to the front for James Esmond Clabby.

It should be a great fight. Two clever men, especially the superlatively clever fellows, who can do everything in the ring and also prevent the other fellow from doing anything do not always make a clever or interesting bout. We quote in exhibit A, Packey McFarland and Jack Britton. In exhibit B, we summon as examples Michael Clancy Gibbons and this same James Esmond Clabby.

Some few years ago, Sept. 1, 1911, to be exact, Gibbons and Clabby met in Milwaukee, and the bout was rotten. At that time Mike Gibbons was just acquiring his pugilistic pin feathers. Clabby was further advanced in the ring game. Gibbons stalled, as he has since admitted, and the bout was devoid of features and about as interesting as the hired girl with a bad toothache.

Now Gibbons is in the prime of his power as a pugilist. It is doubtful if Mike will ever be better. Certain men of eminent fame are pulled together by the strings of fate. Gibbons and Clabby are a survival of the fittest among the men fighting for glory and the attendant dollars of the middleweight division. The winner—if there is one—will wax fat and effulgent on the milk and honey of the ring game. There is every somiling incentive to win. We don't believe Gibbons is going to stall. We believe he is going out to fight. He made a rotten fight with Eddie McGoorty, and it required some time for Gibbons to live down that one bad start.

Yes, it should be a great fight. To the lover of the beaux arts, as applied to the pugilistic game, the bout should be worth riding all night in an upper berth to witness.

This Boy Is Peeved.

Some time ago we referred with gentle mirth and prodding pen to the fact that Yale and Penn were to race on the water. We attributed the matching to the fact that there was a deep curiosity upon the part of the students of the two schools to ascertain which crew could possibly row the slowest race.

Mr. Irving McNair comments forcibly upon our unfortunate remarks in part as follows:

"For, after scanning the sporting pages of the Pioneer Press, and News Tribune on June 20, 1914, for copy, you must have noticed the result of the Yale-Harvard crew race.

"I hope after all, that you are merely a clever joker; otherwise I should have to classify you as either a very ignorant person, or a damnfool. Yours very respectfully,

IRVING McNAIR."

These Yale boys are very touchy about certain things athletic. But—can you blame them?

Percy Haughton has braced fair Harvard, eh boy?

That's mean, though. Forgive us.

The Hockey Situation.

With our hockey team in Calumet awaiting the call of the gong to battle with the seven leading citizens of that city, interest mounts in the hockey situation. The games with Calumet will be of an exhibition nature, and will not count in the league standing. Duluth's leaving of the league—if the team has indeed left the league—leads one of the Copper Country papers to comment upon the situation in the following vein:

Sportsmen?

"The more details that are developed to the action taken by the Duluth team in the recent game with Portage Lake the sillier becomes the position of the Duluths. Their latest action in trying to prevent Calumet from playing Portage Lake tonight, after agreeing to go ahead with the league schedule and settle their dispute (if they have one), is but another of the various moves that are so at variance with the Copper country's previous conception of Duluth's sportsmanship. Our conception of good sportsmanship is not exemplified in the action of the Duluth hockey players. Neither is it justified in the action of the directors of their curling club. The Portage Lakes have gone the limit to be good fellows and to keep the league intact. Supposing Ole Haas did loaf. Supposing he did talk to the referee. Supposing any of a dozen possible infractions, of which neither Haas nor any other member of the Portage Lake team was guilty. What was the proper thing for the Duluth team to do? Ask the referee for action. They got it. He gave the game to Duluth. He refused to listen to Houghton. Under the circumstances, what more could Duluth ask? And under the circumstances, why this action of the Duluth Curling club in withdrawing from the league? Duluth will have the greatest difficulty in the world maintaining a reputation for real sportsmanship in this cowardly move. Of course, Duluth can withdraw and can play independent hockey with a lot of dub teams that can be shipped into that town for the purpose of being defeated, and the Duluth hockey players then can maintain their reputations. But the plain facts seem to indicate that Duluth is afraid to take a chance playing against the Houghton team. About the only way the Houghtons can keep Duluth in the league, we judge from the action taken by the directors of the curling club, would be to lay down on the ice and let Joe Linder stand up and shoot goals at the net unhampered."

How any Copper Country paper could possibly conceive the notion that Duluth was or is afraid to take a chance with Portage Lake, is indeed a mystery. To the controversy as to whether Duluth should leave the league, there are doubtless arguments; as to the insinuation that Duluth fears the prowess of any of the hockey teams of the Copper Country, it is absurd and the product of a moment of hectic and emotional fever. That's why Duluth is leaving the league, because she couldn't get a crack at Portage Lake for more than twelve minutes.

KNIGHT MANAGES NAPS; SHECKARD MAY JUMP.

Cleveland, Ohio, Jan. 18.—Jack Knight, last year's shortstop of the Cleveland association team, was announced yesterday as the manager for this year. James Sheckard, last year's manager, is said to be negotiating with Joe Tinker of the Chicago Federals.

COLLINS AFTER A WELSH MATCH

Hudson Promoter Would Have Famous Briton Appear in Superior.

Mike Collins, promoter of boxing at Hudson, is expected here the present week. Collins is endeavoring to arrange a contest for Freddy Welsh at the Head of the Lakes, and it is upon this mission that Michael is expected to trek this way.

It is understood that Collins would like to match the elusive Briton with Brown. Failing to land Pal, it is whispered that Mike has another lightweight in mind.

Collins has no working connection here. He will have to stage the bout before one of the Superior clubs and it is with the intention of effecting such an arrangement that Collins is expected here.

THREE DULUTH CURLERS ON WHOSE SHOULDERS MUCH OF THE WORK OF THE BONSPIEL FALLS

HARRY HURDON. J. M. OLDHAM. RAY WITHROW.

BIG ANNUAL BONSPIEL IS OFF TO FLYING START

Early Draw Pits Crack Duluth Rinks Against Visiting Stars.

Veteran Curlers on Hand From Various Cities of Northwest.

With some of the strongest rinks in the Northwest on hand and with virtually all of the old guard represented, the twent-second annual bonspiel of the Northwestern Curling association is on in full swing today.

Promptly at 9 o'clock today play in the early draw was started. Right at the start-off interest in the big winter sport event is pitched at high tension. The Brewer-Whytes are sent off against Bobby Miller's crack rink of Superior. Laird Goodman is sent against the veteran McLeod of Minneapolis, and Ralph Bradley, another of the hopes of Duluth, is pitted against Roehm of Portage Lake.

Scanning the list of the early draw one is impressed with the belief that many Duluth rinks should come unscathed through the fire of the initial play. Dr. Catterson has a strong rink, and is one of the consistent curlers of the club. The doctor is in the startoff. Duncan is sent off against McGregor of Butte who has crossed half the continent for the spiel. Frank Wade of West Duluth, who won second place in the 1913 Northwestern spiel, is also drawn in the initial event and is expected to make a strong showing.

Strong Rinks Here.

Among some of the strongest rinks of the spiel—judging from past performances—are Tom Cameron of St. Paul, one of the veterans of all the veterans; W. Y. Montgomery of Port Arthur, J. A. Hunter of Minneapolis, Krauth of Phillips, W. J. McNabb of Grand Rapids, Mich., whose rink was one of the big hits of the spiel of last year; W. D. Stewart of St. Paul, another veteran; G. B. Reedal, Phillips, Wis., one of the dark horses; Clough Gates of Superior, and a number of others.

The Noon Draw.

Cameron of St. Paul is playing in the noon draw. Montgomery, "Steve" Jones, Reedal of Phillips, Hoople of Minneapolis, the Brewer-Whytes, Johnny Oldham, Billy Stewart of St. Paul, Bobby Miller of Superior, Laird Goodman and Dr. Catterson are playing in this draw.

One of the peculiar features of the spiel is the fact that for the first time in years, perhaps the first time in the history of the present association, there is not a Winnipeg rink entered.

War has sadly interfered with curling in the Western Canadian metropolis and is probably the prime cause of the failure of the Canadian home of the roarin' game to send a rink to the big American spiel.

Public Is Invited.

Officials of the club have made it clear that the public is cordially invited to be on hand to witness play in all of the events. Special accommodations have been provided for the comfort and convenience of spectators.

The big rink has been turned over to the needs and convenience of the visiting curlers. Additional lockers have been installed and space provided for the storing of curling stones. A lunch room is in operation. All of the draws will be posted in all of the principal hotels of the city during the week, so that curlers will know what time the events their rinks are entered in, are called.

A reception committee, a house committee, an entertainment committee, and, in fact, committees that are assigned to the duty of looking after every comfort and every need of the out-of-town curlers, are on the job. The big show is scheduled to be run off with exceeding smoothness and amazing promptitude.

The Out of Doors Man

The fellow with the big tough muscles, who can chop trees all day and lift the butt end of a hard log, is a hearty liver in everything he tackles. He likes his tobacco rich, mellow and full of natural flavor, good for both smoking and chewing. He uses

PEERLESS
Long Cut Tobacco

because it's got the right stuff in it.

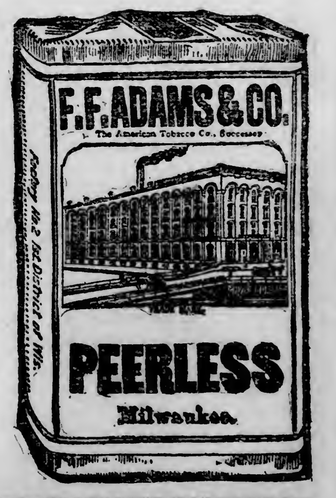

Satisfaction—for a sturdy man—can come from real tobacco only. Insipid mixtures don't appeal to a man with real tobacco hunger.

PEERLESS is pure Southern Kentucky leaf, with the "body" for a real smoke or chew, yet rich and pleasing. It takes three to five years to age the tobacco in PEERLESS; the process can't be hurried. That's the reason PEERLESS is so ripe and mellow.

PEERLESS will "make good" the first time you smoke or chew it. But if you want to prove that PEERLESS satisfaction isn't a "flash in the pan" give PEERLESS a week's trial. Then you'll know that PEERLESS always satisfies, and you'll always keep on using it. Sold everywhere in 5c packages.

Other sizes, 10c, 20c and 40c Packages, and 45c Tin Pails.

HOLSTEIN BREEDERS MEET AT BARRON.

Barron, Wis., Jan. 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Holstein breeders' meeting was largely attended here Saturday. Prof. Humphrey of Madison delivered an interesting address. A Guernsey breeders' meeting will be held here Thursday, Jan. 28. Prof. Huppert will address this meeting.

CENTRALS TO MEET BAGLEYS

Students and Jewelry Hockey Teams Will Come Together.

Duluth Central high school hockey team and the Bagleys will meet this evening in the regular hockey schedule of the Duluth amateur league. The game will be played at the French rink and is scheduled for 8 o'clock.

The students are credited with having one of the strongest teams in the league. Johnny Richards is called one of the best goal tenders in the Northwest. John was clear off his game the other evening, but with the little star in form the followers of the high school seven expect to trim the jewelry makers and get a running start for the top of the league.

This week all of the teams are expected to show increased team play. Lateness in starting and lack of practice, due to lack of ice in many instances, have resulted in a crudeness among all of the league sevens. The material is there on all of the six teams and the play this week is expected to start the boys on the road to mid-season form.

So far some fast hockey has resulted. This week play should speed up and the polish should begin to appear.

FORMER WELL KNOWN BOXING PILOT HERE

Marty Forkins, Once Manager of Eddie McGoorty, Visiting Duluth.

Marty Forkins, former manager of Eddie McGoorty, is in Duluth this week. Mr. Forkins is the husband of Rae Samuels, and is also one of the best known figures in the sporting world.

While under the clever and able management of Marty Forkins, Eddie McGoorty attained his greatest prestige as a pugilist. It was when Marty handled the Oshkosh Whale that the match was made with Gibbons at the Garden. It was the astuteness and diplomacy of Forkins that generally is credited with giving his man the decision of the majority of critics, and also one of the biggest boosts that McGoorty has ever received.

Forkins is no stranger to Duluthians. He has been here on several occasions with Tommy Garry, and was also here when McGoorty fought Young Mahoney in Superior.

One of the cleanest, smartest and most progressive of boxing managers when he was connected with the game, Marty Forkins played no small part in bringing boxing into general recognition among the professional and business men. Forkins is known from coast to coast, and it is only necessary to add that his word, in the days when he was handling boxers, was as good as a bond.

During the present week Marty will possibly meet some of the Duluthians who knew him in former days.

WHY SHIPS WERE HELD

Great Britain Explains Detention of Various Cargoes.

Reasons Given in Case of Twelve With American Goods.

London, Jan. 18.—The Associated Press is able to give from official sources the British explanation concerning the twelve ships recently detained with consignments of American goods, giving rise to the representations to Great Britain from Washington.

The Arkansas, a Danish ship, was detained for a complete examination because it was held that her papers were not satisfactory. She carries consignments believed to be destined to enemies of Great Britain.

The Canton, Swedish, has on board copper for the agent, of a German firm, as well as rubber, which was released as a courtesy to Sweden, although England was satisfied that it would have been condemned by a prize court. The copper was held for a ruling by the prize court because of what was regarded as conclusive evidence that it was intended for Germans. The Canton reached Kirkwall Dec. 2, was taken to another port for examination and cleared that port Dec. 22.

Manifest Inaccurate.

The Virginia, Danish, arrived at Kirkwall Dec. 24 and proceeded to Newcastle, where she discharged her consignments of rubber. These were placed before the prize court because it was believed they were destined for Germany. The Virginia's manifest also was inaccurate. She cleared port Jan. 7.

The Augusta, Swedish, was detained Dec. 2 carrying rubber and aluminum. The aluminum was thrown into the prize court but the vessel was permitted to proceed with the rubber.

The New Sweden, Swedish, arrived at Kirkwall, Dec. 22. She carried aluminum, nickel and copper. She was sent to Newcastle where the customs service was directed to work overtimes to hasten her departure. The portions of the cargo under suspicion were unloaded and the ship proceeded Jan. 9.

The Kentucky, Danish, arrived at Kirkwall, Dec. 18, and was authorized to proceed on Dec. 20 to Leith to discharge her cargo of meat, which was known to be intended for an enemy of Great Britain. The Kentucky stranded in Frazerburgh bay and was refloated Dec. 28. The customs officials were instructed to expedite the unloading of the suspected cargo, but because of the accident and the position of the meat in the hold, the delay was unavoidable.

Permitted to Proceed.

The Harald was permitted to proceed with a delay of only a few hours.

The Brindilla, formerly a German tank ship and transferred to the American flag, sailed in December to the Azores, where she loaded a cargo of the interned German ship Excelsior. She was not detained but appears subsequently to have encountered navigation difficulties and put into St. Helena for a pilot.

The John D. Rockefeller arrived at the Downs, Dec. 16, with a full cargo of naphtha and benzolin for Scandinavian ports. After communication with Copenhagen the ship was permitted to proceed Dec. 24.

The Joseph W. Fordney put in at Falmouth Nov. 23, and cleared two days later. No part of her cagro was detained.

The Edward Pierce arrived at Falmouth Dec. 9 with 3,000 gallons of vaseline consigned to a Copenhagen firm. The ultimate destination of the vaseline was under question. The vessel was permitted to proceed on Dec. 11.

Oil Cargo Held.

The George Hawley arrived at Falmouth Dec. 1 with a large consignment of lubricating oil, the destination of which was called into question. Because of the unwillingness of the captain or owners to discharge the oil, the ship was held until the end of the month. Then it was permitted to proceed with the oil as a courtesy of the American embassy.

There is very little indication that the British foreign office and the admiralty are inaugurating a vigorous policy for the immediate search and release of foreign ships suspected of carrying contraband. In many cases the customs officials have been instructed to work overtime in getting the contraband unloaded so the detained vessels may proceed.

While the Washington note of protest against the detention of American vessels doubtless had some effect, the betterment in the situation probably is due in large measure to perfection in the contraband department of the foreign office and to an improvement in the machinery for handling the cargoes in question. Delays to ships recently detained are being measured now in days, rather than in weeks.

FIVE ARE "PLUCKED."

Applicants for Patrolman Jobs Fail on Strenuous Physical Test.

Five out of twenty-five applicants for patrolmen were unable to chin themselves twelve times, raise 110 pounds with their legs, lift a 78-pound barbell over their heads twelve times in succession and run 100 yards in 17 seconds in a test last Saturday and as a result will not be considered for positions on the Duluth police force.

The physical tests were held at the Y. M. C. A. gymnasium, after which the successful applicants were taken to the Central high school, where Ruben Johnson, secretary of the civil service board, gave the men a written examination. The successful ones will be placed on the eligible list for patrolmen.

Physical Director Olson was in charge of the physical test at the Y. M. C. A.

HEALTH TALKS

Plain Truth About Bright's Disease

NEPHRITIS means inflammation of the kidneys. It is another term for "Bright's disease." It may be acute, as in the course of scarlet fever or other infectious diseases in which a poison circulates in the blood and injures the kidneys; or chronic, as in those who drink alcoholic beverages, eat too much, or smoke excessively.

Everybody knows that dropsy or bloating of the skin of the extremeties and face is apt to occur in a case of acute inflammation of the kidneys, as also in severe chronic cases; but every one should also know that dropsy is a very common symptom of failing heart, and of serious disease of the liver and of plain anemia.

The average case of Bright's disease develops very insidiously, without any backache or noticeable disturbance of kidney function whatever. The patient simply loses strength, becomes less efficient than usual, seems "run down," thinks he needs a tonic—and too often squanders precious time taking a tonic.

If he does visit a doctor, and if the doctor does give him a thorough examination, of course the combination of circumstances will disclose the true nature of the illness. A test of the blood-pressure, a careful examination of the heart, a painstaking chemical and microscopical examination of the urine or more likely a series of such examinations on successive days, will disclose the truth. And nothing short of this can. Not even the most experienced and brilliant specialist can diagnose actual kidney trouble without conducting such tests. The symptoms alone are insufficient evidence to base a positive diagnosis on.

Why Analysis Is Essential.

Life insurance examiners often find that the applicant who imagines himself fairly healthy is really in the early stage of Bright's disease. A man or woman may have the disease for several years before realizing that there is anything very serious the matter. Most cases are latent, until some alarming complication arises; uraemia sets in, with its coma or convulsions or mental abberation; or the heart gradually loses efficiency and breathlessness becomes more and more noticeable on exertion or when at rest; or asthmatic symptoms arise; or frequent headaches occur; or the stomach or bowel begins to give much trouble.

The outward signs of kidney disease are so variable and indefinite in themselves that a urinalysis is always necessary to enable the doctor to know the meaning of the symptoms. And the chemical analysis must be confirmed by a microscopic examination in any case where the most accurate information is desired.

Questions and Answers.

Myelitis: What causes myelitis? Is it curable? How long does it last?

REPLY.

Myelitis means inflammation of the spinal cord. Injury, alcoholism, certain infectious diseases, and possibly heavy work under bad hygienic conditions may cause it. The outcome depends entirely upon the particular cause and the patient's constitution. Some cases become chronic and remain more or less paralyzed; others recover completely in several weeks.

RELIEF FOR STARVING BELGIUM

An Open Letter to American Citizens From Father Bernard Vaughan of London—Declares That One of the Proudest Victories of the War Is Being Won By Those Enlisted in the Saving of Belgium.

FATHER BERNARD VAUGHAN.

Dear friends: It would never occur to me to make bold to write you an open letter were I not invited and urged to do so by the Commission for Relief in Belgium, made up of names which command not only my respect, but also my services.

As you are well aware, the Commission for Relief in Belgium is formally recognized by the various governments as the voluntary institution set up for the transmission of foodstuffs into that famine-stricken country. Indeed it is the only channel through which food can be introduced and distributed to the seven millions of people dependent upon it for their existence.

If I had the eloquence of men and of angels it would be altogether impossible for me to find language in which to tell you of the splendid work that is being done in London by this noble band of American business men for the relief of a starving nation. These gentlemen have created the biggest food supply business the world has yet seen. It is scarcely an exaggeration to say that no commercial undertaking of the same magnitude has ever been organized and set in working order in so short a time.

Bear with me for a moment while I remind you that thirty-eight steamers are carrying on the high seas 128,000 tons of relief supplies valued at over $8,000,000. Think of it, this is being done by American citizens, for the moment resident in London, supported by their fellow-countrymen in the United States, who are responding to the commission's appeal with a lavish generosity worthy of the best traditions of your glorious republic.

One of the proudest victories achieved during the present life-and-death struggle has been won by a mere handful of American citizens invited by Dr. Page to provide the means of living to a whole nation. Nor can I withhold the name of H. C. Hoover, who has been appointed by your energetic and enterprising ambassador as chairman of this people-saving committee. On it I read, among other names, those of Col. Hunsiker, Capt. Lacey, John B. White, Edgar Rickard, Millard Shaler, Lindon W. Bates, Robert McCarter. I wish space allowed me to give prominence to every name on this commission. I should like to write them up in letters of gold on all the senate houses throughout the States. The members of this committee have enlisted the services of the British and Belgian governments, of the Spanish and Italian peoples, and are carrying out their ingeniously organized business with the sanction and, I may add, the help of the German government itself. The committee has the assistance of the Comite National de Secours, with its network of distributing centers throughout Belgium. Experts calculate that to avert the extinction of Belgians through starvation 60,000 tons of wheat, 15,000 tons of corn, with 5,000 tons of peas or beans, together with other foodstuffs, must be passed into the country monthly. If this supply is kept up every starving citizen may feel sure of getting each day about one-half a soldier's ration—ten ounces. If this supply is to be maintained there must flow into the relief fund more than $1,000,000 a week, practically $5,000,000 a month.

Whose proud privilege is it to supply this sum during the present winter? Belgium can do little or nothing. France and England are already overweighted; together with the Dutch they have more than one million refugees on their hands. Clearly enough, if the brave Belgians are not to be starved out of existence, they must be fed by the Americans. God Almighty, it would seem, has charged you with this mission, deputed you to this work. Never was there a more deserving or a more urgent one. So pressing and so wide is the need that no other people on God's earth but yourselves can cope with it. But you are accustomed to handle great propositions, the overwhelming character of which, while it may dismay others, on the contrary serves to inspire you. With a hundred million of free and generous citizens to appeal to, I feel confident that this American scheme for the relief of famishing Belgium will be carried forward, as it were, on a tidal wave across the Atlantic to the voice crying for help from you, to whom never was an appeal made in vain. Above the din of battle and beyond the cry of his people I hear the voice of Albert the Great, king of the Belgians. Borne upon the waves of the Atlantic, I hear this royal message: "To me it is a great comfort in this hour of sorrow and misfortune to feel that a great-hearted and disinterested people is directing its efforts for the relief of the distress that has fallen upon the unoffending civilian population of my country. Despite all that can be done the suffering of the coming winter will be terrible, but the burden of it will be greatly lightened if my people can be spared the pangs of hunger with the ravages of disease almost inevitable to it." His majesty closes this winged message with these pathetic words: "The whole-hearted friendship of America shown to my people at this time will always be a precious memory."

Dear friends, let me conclude this open letter to you with the expression of this thought which has been uppermost in my mind while writing it. I have felt all the time that so tremendous are the claims of Belgium upon the whole world for the magnificent example it has set us of loyalty, patriotism and honor that really it matters little who wrote this letter to you. I am but a gramaphone unwinding one of the noblest records that ever touched an audience to tears—it is record-telling the noble story of the work being done here in London for relief in Belgium by Mr. Herbert Hoover and this commission, made up under the presidency of your American ambassador, of representative American citizens at present residents in London.

I have the honor to be your faithful servant,

BERNARD VAUGHAN.

P. S.—This moment, after writing this letter, the news reaches me that Mr. John Wanamaker of Philadelphia has chartered the steamship "Thelma," with the object of enlisting the services of his friends in purchasing foodstuffs and send it for the relief of Belgium. May God bless him and all other American citizens engaged in their divine mercy-work.

WHAT CATARRH IS

It has been said that every third person is troubled with catarrh in some form.

Science has shown that nasal catarrh indicates a weakened condition of the body; that the secretion of the mucous membranes are quickly affected, and local treatments in the form of snuffs and vapors do little, if any good.

To correct catarrh you should treat its cause by enriching your blood with the oil-food in Scott's Emulsion which is a medicinal food and a building-tonic, free from alcohol or any harmful drugs. Try it.

ROBBED OF "FOUR BITS."

Highwaymen Get Small Results When They Hold Up Man.

Refusing to give his name, a man reported to the police early Sunday morning that he had been waylaid by two highwaymen at the point of revolvers and robbed of fifty cents, all the money he had in his possession.

The man, who said his address was 1610 East Fifth street, declared that one of the highwaymen wore a mask. The holdup, he told the police, took place in the alleyway on Sixteenth avenue east, between Fourth and Fifth streets.

Three officers were later detailed to investigate the holdup, but they could not find any trace of the highwaymen.

DULUTH TWIN PORTS ELECTRIC LINES SUPERIOR

DON'T COAST ACROSS A STREET CAR LINE EITHER ON SLEDS OR SKIS!

A STREET CAR CAN'T DODGE

We want to impress this fact upon the children of Duluth, and upon their mothers and fathers as well, at this season of the year.

With the first snowfall, coasting weather is here again, with all its pleasures, and also with its many dangers. Every year brings its toll of accidents, and sometimes fatalities, due to coasting. We want to eliminate that list this year, if it can be done, and it can be if children and their parents will give us their co-operation.

Coasting across street car tracks is inviting a fatal accident. A street car CAN'T DODGE, and when a loaded bobsled comes skimming down an avenue a motorman has little or no warning no matter how careful he may be. The sled is under the fender almost before he can think what to do. Often after a snowfall the rails are slippery, adding to the difficulties of the motorman and making it impossible to stop the car within several times its length.

There is only one rule to follow:

There are countless hills in Duluth suitable for coasting, where the street cars do not run, and where the sport may be enjoyed in safety. We ask the parents of Duluth to see that their children use these hills and only these. It may save you the horror of having a mangled little body brought home to you some afternoon or evening. It may save you from having a child who will be a helpless cripple all his life. You owe it to your child to protect him from this danger. We owe it to the people of Duluth to issue this reminder, and to instruct our motormen to exercise every possible precaution. We have done this, but there is only one sure way to prevent accident, and that is to observe this rule, which is also a police regulation:

Don't Coast Across a Street Car Line Either on Sleds or Skis.

INTENSE INTEREST OF PEOPLE IN M. O. FIGHT SHOWN AT AUDITORIUM; HALL PACKED DESPITE SNOW STORM

FOUR SPEAKERS PRESENT TWO SIDES OF QUESTION

Crowd Is Enthusiastic, With Majority Apparently in Favor of City's Side of Electric Light Controversy.

Arguments Given By Jenswold, Hughes, Moore and McManus; Hughes Speaks in Rebuttal; All Given Fair Hearing.

Despite the fierce gale Saturday evening, about 3,000 men and women gathered at the Auditorium to hear the debate between the speakers for the two forces in the present electric lighting controversy.

Late in the afternoon officials for the Municipal Ownership league and the Citizens' Referendum committee, fearing that the blizzard would keep the crowd away, started negotiations to call off the meeting. However, it was finally decided to meet according to schedule. Those in charge were completely surprised to find the large hall packed to the doors long before the meeting was opened.

District Judge William A. Cant acted as chairman of the meeting and at 8 o'clock called on John Jenswold, Jr., as the first speaker for the 6-cent ordinance as against the 4-cent proposal and the proposed West Duluth unit plant. He was followed by Watson S. Moore, who represented the M. O. forces, while Ray M. Hughes, chairman of the Citizens' Referendum committee, was the third speaker. A. E. McManus closed the direct arguments with his talk in behalf of the 4-cent ordinance and the unit plant. At the close of Mr. McManus' address Mr. Hughes delivered the rebuttal argument, answering the charges made by the former in his direct debate. Mr. McManus used his time for rebuttal in his regular speech.

The crowd was an enthusiastic one and well divided, although the M. O. supporters apparently were more numerous or at least more demonstrative. The speakers were, for the most part, given a fair hearing and were not heckled or interrupted. Each was given a rousing welcome and enthusiastic applause when he finished. The audience was inclined to be fair, and while the meeting was a noisy one, it was not marked by disorder.

FOR M. O., BUT HONEST, TOO

John Jenswold Declares City Should Not Confiscate Company's Plant.

Attacks Way Water and Light Department Is Run.

In opening the debate John J. Jenswold first outlined the political history of Duluth, telling how he was a Republican when he first came to Duluth, later joining with the Populists, because that organization believed it proper to control corporations.

"There was no municipal ownership in those days," said Mr. Jenswold, "and the Populists took the place of that movement. These people, maligned as they were, believed in their work and were strictly honest. They believed that no two wrongs made a right.

"The interstate commerce commission regulates railroad rates, and no public utility has an opportunity today to evade the law. The railroads are operating successfully and the plan has already met with the approval of the public and the owners of the transcontinental lines. I still believe in municipal ownership, but I still believe in being fair and honest. In The Herald tonight Julius Barnes is praised and called 'Duluth's most useful citizen.' He gained this distinction because of his honesty and fairness. And we can be honest in our municipal affairs, for nothing else will ever pay. If we keep our self-respect, our municipality will then have the respect of the nation.

Believes in M. O.

"Let no one say I have not been an ardent enthusiast for municipal ownership. The Zenith 'phone sought to do business, because the other would not. And today there is only the Zenith phone in my office. In 1896 I and many others at Lakeside subscribed $100 a year as a guarantee for gas in our section of the city. In my West end flat I used gas alone and always I was honest and sincere.

"Then the service recently was so disgusting that I have since installed electric wires in my flat and use electricity alone. My tenants were dissatisfied and I was dissatisfied.

"Why not resort to the courts, if the Duluth-Edison company objects to the awards offered. I still have faith in the courts, the judges, the juries, all of whom are sworn servants of the people. The city can still condemn the plant, and if the Duluth-Edison company does appeal, what is wrong with the idea? Who would not protect his own property? Who would not go to the legislature to protect his own interests? The cave man with the club does no business.

"Let us use our heads, not our spleen. Let us use our brains, not our feet. Let us be rational and not carried away by abuse. The corporations are all human, just as we are. The opponents say that the company's machinery is out of date, so may be it said of many other large Duluth corporations. Even the Jean du Duluth farm first started to breed horses, but since then the system has been changed and now we find cows. Our factories all installed machinery that is now old, but that is true of every business.

"The city commission has the right to regulate the rates for electric lighting and if the rates are right and reasonable, the law will uphold that body. Having this right, why, build the plant?

Long Way to Completion.

"Hicken says a boy could operate the West Duluth unit, so long as he had a copy of the Popular Mechanics with him. That may be so. But do you know it is a long way from the engineers' estimate to the finished structure? The Great Northern Power plant went way beyond the estimate. The building alone took two years more to construct than the estimate stated. Do you know that the carbolite works had to change all its machinery, because the finished product could not be made at a cost to warrant the manufacture. It is easy to theorize but another thing to realize.

"You cannot drive the Duluth-Edison company out of the city. They are here by a franchise, and whether it is or is not valid, the courts will decide. We thought the street railway could be driven out and we hired the best lawyers in the state to help us prove it, but we find they have a right to ruin street cars in Duluth. The Duluth Telephone company is also doing its business as usual.

"Suppose the city does build a plant. It will place more poles all over the city. It will mean the tearing up of our pavements, the defacing of the entire landscape. But, remember, last of all, that the Duluth-Edison company will fight and fight to the last ditch. They have a right to fight and the company will be here to do business just the same. Don't let the M. O. forces make you believe that the company will quit. Nothing of the kind, for they will fight for their privilege to the very last courts of the land.

City Has Privileges.

"Our water and light department has a right to shut off your water, if the bill is not paid by some tenant up above you in a flat. Just think of that! Another concern can never have such a right and if ever a step like that is taken, a consumer has recourse in the courts. The city, however, can do as it sees fit.

"For these and various other reasons I am against the unit plant and the 4-cent ordinance. For these and other reasons I am irrevocably opposed to such a program and always shall I remember the old saying, 'A bird in the hand is worth two in the bush.' Vote for the 6-cent ordinance and against the unit plant."

MOORE GETS IT BOTH WAYS

Cheered and Hooted When He Speaks in Favor of M. O.

Makes Charges of Graft and Attempted Graft; Few Honest Experts.

Following Mr. Jenswold, Watson S. Moore, "for ten years a member of the city council and for five years a member of the general staff," took up the cudgels for the M. O. faction with a series of questions and answers.

Question No. 1, "Has the company given the city a square deal?" brought a roar of "Yes" that drowned the "Nos" and made speaking impossible for several minutes. All of Mr. Moore's questions were received similarly, the "Nos" seeming to gain a little as the contest proceeded.

His final question, "Is the defeat of the 6-cent ordinance necessary to keep Duluth politics clean?" and his own answer, "Absolutely," provoked another storm of catcalls, whistling and applause intermingled.

"The company has been weighed and found wanting," he declared. "It has refused to co-operate with the city officials; its statements to bond-holders do not correspond with its statements to the city; they have no more rights than any other company in the city and regulation has not been a success."

Charges of discrimination in rates by which "some paid what they pleased and others paid nothing," were given considerable attention by Mr. Moore, who told of the reduction in water rates from 37½ to 15 cents, and declared that the city never would find it necessary to "pay $7,000 in attorney's fees and $6,000 for advertising."

Honest Experts Scarce.

"Honest experts are hard to find," he continued, speaking of the appraisal controversy. "We finally did land one whom we thought honest, but the company at once offered him a salary that we could not meet, and he is now working for the Edison people.

"It (the company) has fought the city from the start and will fight to the last ditch, despite the fact that it has been living on the city for thirty years. Vote for the 4-cent rate and have your meter read by friends."

Mr. Moore repeated charges of graft made by District Judge Bert Fesler at a recent Commercial club meeting and told at length of an occasion when a former city attorney was offered a "split" of $100,000 if he would recommend to the council that the light plant be purchased at a price of $1,500,000. The broker who is said to have made the offer declared "that he could buy the plant for $1,300,000."

"The Edison company had several thousand dollars in bad debts last year," he declared, "while the city water and light department had less than $200. Every man using electricity helps pay this debt."

He praised the city ordinance covering delinquent tenants, which provides that water and light will not be furnished an apartment, as long as one family in the apartment is behind.

He described the fight conducted by Former Mayor Henry Truelsen for the establishment of a municipal water and light department, paying him a high tribute and saying that all such fights are won only against the "biggest kind of odds."

"Both newspapers are against us," he concluded. "The only way we can reach you is through the mails or in this way. If your city is defeated in this fight you will have the newspapers to thank for it."

NEED MONEY ELSEWHERE

Hughes Says City Can Use Surplus Thousands on Water Plant.

Unbusinesslike Methods By City Officers—City Bonds Illegal.

Attacking the water and light department, the Labor World and the alleged tearing out of three pages from the Pillsbury-Claussen report of 1911, Ray M. Hughes was given a hearty welcome at the opening, while the crowd went hoarse whistling and shouting when he had finished.

"Last fall," said Mr. Hughes, "Merritt introduced a resolution, but later this had to be changed into an ordinance, appropriating $85,500 from the water and light funds for the erection of a unit plant at West Duluth. To do what, I ask you?

"From Lakewood there is a pipe supplying water and experts have declared that the life of this pipe is from ten to fourteen years. The water and light department claims that the pipe is in good condition, yet it has been repaired twice already. And now they want to take $85,500 from the water and light fund and instead of instaling a new pipe, would build an electric plant at West Duluth.

"Now this notorious Van Bergen, who they say wants to get our goats after getting our money, who does not claim to be a savior, but who wants to live, supposes he had a pipe that was in bad condition and could be used only several years more. Suppose he took $85,500 from his funds and instead of repairing this pipe went to West Duluth and built an auto factory. How long would he hold his job?

People Lose Anyway.

"Suppose the electric plant does get to West Duluth, then that very minute the gas plant will suffer and if the water and light department suffers any loss, you will have to pay in the long run. You will get it either way. A $5,000 building was erected in West Duluth, in which the commission said gas bills could be paid. From the day the building was finished here would build a 25-cycle current plant and from the report of the engineers, who were paid $14,000 for their trouble, only such a plant is proposed. Then every motor, every cash register, every article that has a motor at present operating under a 60-cycle current, will have to be thrown in the junk heap. This property belonging to the people of this city represents a total of $1,000,000. If you vote for the plant, you vote to send $1,000,000 to the junk heap.

"In 1902 Seattle hired engineers to make an estimate for a proposed electric lighting plant. At first they said the cost would be $595,000, but two years later declared $250,000 more would be needed. They said the entire plant could finally be built for $840,000. The bonds were voted by the people and up to Jan. 1, 1914, the city of Seattle went into debt $3,240,000 all because of this plant. The engineers had made a mistake, but the city had to go through. The citizens were taxed $2,000,000 more and the plant has now cost over $5,000,000.

"The engineers here say the plant will cost $85,500, while Mr. Hudson says $72,000 will do it. Why hire engineers, if these men know more about it than anyone else? The minimum charge in Seattle and Winnipeg is 50 cents. This means that every consumer must pay 50 cents a year. A total of $174,000 is paid in this way to the department in Seattle. It's easy to say we'll save you, but another thing to cite figures that will prove.

Tried to Avoid Trouble.

"These men, who claim that virtue is on their side alone, say that they can't get the Duluth-Edison to do business with them. In 1911 the president of the company, anxious to avoid a duplication of the present plant, wrote to the city council then in power and asked that an appraiser be appointed by the city; that the company would appoint one and that the two thus appointed would select a third, and that these three would appraise the Duluth-Edison plant. The matter would then be left with the courts, he suggested in this letter. The resolution passed the council, but an appraiser has never been appointed.

"Instead of that the city hired engineers to find out what the city ought to pay and then after three months an ultimatum was sent to Mr. Hartman, giving him twenty days in which to answer. Then Mr. Hartman offered to sell electric light, making a contract with the city for three years, 7 cents per kilowatt hour for the first two years and 6 cents for the last year. The other day Dr. Day said this plan would have been accepted, but for the M. O. league. That's how these men keep virtue on their side.

"The city water rate in Duluth is 15 cents for 1,000 cubic feet, while Detroit charges 6 cents, Cleveland 2 cents, and so on throughout the country. There is our 'successful' water and light department. If they made $106,000 last year, why don't they reduce your rates?"

At this point Mr. Hughes read the letter sent by William Burgess, in which the latter states that Engineer Pillsbury declared to him on a train some time ago that three pages were torn out from the original Pillsbury-Claussen report and that new pages were inserted, making the lighting rate 3.66 cents instead of 7 cents, as was included in the missing sheets. Mr. Hughes challenged the other speakers to refute this charge.

Duluth Bonds Not Legal.

"How many know that the bonds of Duluth are not considered legal investments in New York and Chicago? The first thing you know these municipal ownership agitators will try to take the street railway from the present company and later on will march out to New Duluth and seize the steel plant. Why not?

"Many of you remember when the General Electric company went into the hands of receivers and the people begged them to come back. Who said 'we'll take care of your company?' Where was the savior then? No, but they waited until the plant made some money and now they want to take the property away. That's gratitude.

"We have heard many remarks about the newspapers being against the M. O. crowd and of having been bought by the electric company. That's how these men malign all those against them. They cannot conceive of men having different opinions of various ideas on a subject. No, we are all crooks, thieves and robbers who oppose them. In years past no praise was good enough for The Herald, because it supported municipal ownership, but now it is different. All their praise is for the Labor World, but do they remember an editorial on July 19, 1913, when reference was made to the water and light department and the charge added that politics had entered. Commissioner Merritt's division, that he was a failure, that ten more clerks had been hired, that favoritism was displayed and sundry other mistakes allowed. Now these men declare against The Herald and News-Tribune, but laud the Labor World to the skies.

Will Retard City's Growth.

"Duluth will never grow if capital must get down on its knees and beg for mercy. Human nature is the same all over. Is it fair to kick these people, bag and baggage, our of your city? Is it fair, without giving them their day in court? Give them a fair chance and if we can prove they are grafters, why the court will readily accept any appraisal made by a body of engineers. Is it right to make this a political issue, when the courts can easily settle it? If we subject every large organization in this community to such unfairness, then most of us ought to pack up and go over to Superior. At least, they would be fairer to us over there.

"Do you want to bequeath ruin and misery to our posterity? Stop and think before you plunge into a financial venture of this kind. Remember, that the city's debt is now over $6,000,000. Vote for civic honesty, economic efficiency and Duluth will be set on its way to win the respect of every citizen of the United States, of every investing corporation, of the bonding market of the nation."

TRUTH ONLY ON ONE SIDE

McManus Says Every Anti-M. O. Statement He Has Heard False.

Reads Telegrams From Seattle and Toronto Refuting Hughes.

A. E. McManus, closing speaker for the M. O. faction, began by saying "There has not been a single statement made, that I have heard, which is true. They all are absolutely untrue, and I will prove it."

He then paid a high tribute to both Mr. Jenswold and Mr. Hughes, telling of their personal integrity.

Beginning with a history of the old electric company, Mr. McManus told of various alleged stock-watering and stock-juggling transactions, with a "cold steal" of nearly $500,000, and stated there was $1,500,000 in the capitalization that we "know should not be there."

"On Feb. 28, 1906, President Hartman made a sworn statement to the city council, giving the valuation of the plant at $1,400,000. The next day, March 1, more than $900,000 in bonds were issued and the valuation raised to $2,400,000."

"I consider Alexander Hartman a gentleman in every sense of the word," he continued. "He is doing just what I would do if I were in his position."

Continuing, the speaker spoke of the "widows and orphans in Wall Street" and the methods used in bringing up dividends so that these "widows and orphans" would be able to live.

"The company has tried to detract attention from the real issues of this fight by villifying and abusing the city commission, but this has not been successful. If they are sure that the unit plant will be a failure, why don't they let us go ahead and build the first one in West Duluth?"

Telegrams Are Sprung.

A telegram from the manager of the Seattle, Wash., municipal light and power plant was read by Mr. McManus, designed to show the success of this plant, and denying the authenticity of a report read by Mr. Hughes which showed that the plant had cost five or six times the engineers' estimate.

A similar message to D. A. Reed of the local water and light department, from H. H. Cousins, manager of the Toronto municipal light and power plant, also was read.

Supporters of the 6-cent ordinance interrupted Mr. McManus continuously, on one occasion, when he complained that "these gas lights are so poor that I can hardly see to read my notes," breaking into a roar of laughter that made it necessary to suspend proceedings for several minutes.

Mr. McManus showed a readiness in repartee that was disconcerting to hecklers. One of them who attempted to interrupt was told not to talk through a mouthful of chewing gum or tobacco.

The present plant of the electric company was characterized as being "completely out of date and unfitted for its purpose."

"I used to have an automobile that balked at some of our smallest hills when there was a strong wind," he said. "I spent most of my time tinkering with the fool thing, and it looked the part. The present equipment of the Edison company compares not too favorably with that old 'one-hoss shay' of mine.

"I don't know anything about electric lighting," he said, "but I have a brother-in-law, William Burgess, who has told me a good many things, and anyone, after a little study of this fight and its merits, will be convinced that we are in the right."

PLEADS FOR CITY'S HONOR

Hughes, in Rebuttal, Points at Debt and Danger of Increase.

Loss of Industries Owing to Public Attitude of Municipal Officers.

In rebuttal, following A. E. McManus, Mr. Hughes attacked various statements made by Messrs. McManus and Moore, questioning their foundation. In reply to an attack on the newspapers of the city he said:

"Newspapers should radiate the belief of the community which they serve. If the daily publications of this city have refused to support the 4-cent rate and the unit plant idea, after a study of the merits of the controversy, it is not at all to be wondered at.

"Duluth is further in debt than any other city of its size in the United States except Fort Worth, Tex., which helped finance a railroad. The city now owes about $6,000,000. It would be wise to stop and think before plunging into a financial venture of this kind.

"Bonds of the city have no market in Wall street today. Every banker in the city knows and anyone conversant with financial conditions can tell you that. Why make matters any worse by going into a gamble of this kind, and bequeath ruin and misery to your posterity?

"The minute you start jumping on every man with $11 in his pocket you will spoil the investment possibilities of Duluth, which we all expect will be some day one of the largest and most prosperous in the country. We have lost important industries, that would have brought more capital and increased our population, more than once, because of the unfavorable attitude of municipal officers. Do you want to continue in this course?

"If you are a believer in civic virtue and economic efficiency it is your duty to your city to vote favorably on the 6-cent rate. If the contract offered three years ago by the Edison company, providing for a 7-cent rate for two years and then a 6-cent one, you would have saved yourselves more than $120,000 in the three years.

"Vote for this measure," he concluded amidst loud applause, "and Duluth will be set on its way to win the respect of every citizen of the United States."

He began his career on the stage in 1866.

Duluth Expected to Send Many Graduates to St. Paul.

Many of the alumni of the University of Michigan are expected to attend the banquet to be given at the University club, St. Paul, Saturday night, in honor of President H. B. Hutchins and V. C. Vaughan of the Wolverine institution.

Local Michigan alumni were urged to attend this dinner when George C. Stone, and other Minneapolis men, spoke at a luncheon given at the Spalding hotel last Saturday. Fourteen Michigan men were present. E. W. McPherran was made chairman of a committee to boost for the dinner to be given in St. Paul.

Michigan has many representatives prominent in Duluth and throughout the state, and the dinner will probably be one of the most brilliant alumni affairs held in some time in Minnesota.

NATIONAL CREDIT OFFICER COMING

Paid Up Stock Assessable.

Fargo, N. D., Jan. 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—According to a recent supreme court decision paid up stock in companies organized under the laws of this state are assessable, provided there is no by-law declaring them non-assessable. The court, however, limits the liability of the owner to a 10-per-cent assessment.

Most Old People Are Constipated

The wear of years impairs the action of the bowels. With advancing age people are disposed to restricted activity and exercise, which is responsible for the constipated conditions of most old folks. The digestive organs are more sensitive to the demands made upon them and rebel more quickly.

A mild, effective remedy for constipation, and one that is especially suited to the needs of elderly people, women and children, is the combination of simple laxative herbs with pepsin that is sold in drug stores under the name of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. A free trial bottle can be obtained by writing to Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 452 Washington St., Monticello, Ills.

HOT TEA BREAKS A COLD—TRY THIS

Get a small package of Hamburg Breast Tea, or as the German folks call it, "Hamburger Brust Thee," at any pharmacy. Take a tablespoonful of the tea, put a cup of boiling water upon it, pour through a sieve and drink a teacup full at any time. It is the most effective way to break a cold and cure grip, as it opens the pores, relieving congestion. Also loosens the bowels, thus breaking a cold at once.

It is inexpensive and entirely vegetable, therefore harmless.

Home Baking Reduces Cost of Living

THE U. S. Dept. of Agriculture in Experiment Station Bulletin No. 142 says that ten cents worth of wheat supplies almost three times as much protein and ten times as much energy as round steak, and with some other cuts of meat the difference is even greater.

If then, one really desires to reduce her weekly meat and grocery bills, she need only make more use of her oven.

Who ever heard man, woman or child complain that good home-made biscuits, muffins, cake and cookies appeared on the table too often? Instead the tendency is "to make a meal of them" and the variety is so great that something you bake yourself could well be the chief feature of every meal.

Home Baking is Simplified by the Use of K C Baking Powder

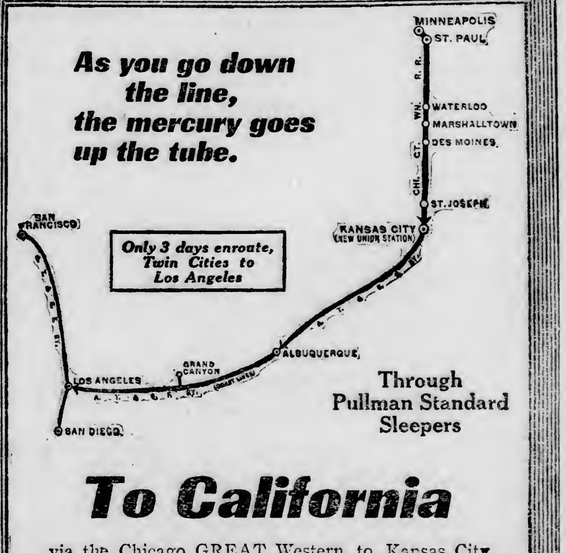

With K C, you can make things moist and rich yet have them light and feathery, wholesome and digestible. Biscuits may be mixed the night before and baked fresh for breakfast. Muffins need not be dry and heavy. You can make a cake so light that you can hardly get it out of the pan whole, yet it will not fall.

K C is not like the old fashioned baking powders. It is double acting and continues to give off leavening gas until the dough is cooked through. K C is sold at a fair price—a large can for 25 cents. This would be no object if strength and purity were sacrificed, but every can is fully guaranteed under State and National Pure Food laws and to please. We take all the chances. Your money back if you do not get better results with K C than any baking powder you ever used.

Include a can in your next grocery order, try some of the new recipes that appear in this paper from time to time. Then you will have gone far toward solving this vexing "Cost of Living" problem.

MATERIAL ARRIVES FOR BIG WATER TOWER

Will Be Erected at Cemetery in Connection With Hibbing Water Works.

Hibbing, Minn., Jan. 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—Material for the water tower to be constructed at the cemetery for the new system has arrived.

The tower will be of steel throughout, and will have a capacity of 300,000 gallons. It will be approximately 160 feet high. The cost will be $22,000.

According to M. A. Morehouse, engineer, the completion of the construction work of the Layne & Bowlder company, which has the $400,000 contract for the water system, is indefinite although, he said, it is probable that the new system will be in operation within a year.

More than 1,000,000 gallons of water can now be developed daily from wells already drilled south of Alice, and indications are that another encouraging water formation will be "struck" soon. At the present time the drillers have had considerable trouble as boulders are numerous and they have been compelled to make several changes which have taken up considerable time.

To Drill Eight Wells.

It is probable that eight wells will be drilled. One is already completed, while several are being tested. According to a report from the state health association, the water from all these wells will be of good quality.

A reservoir with a capacity of 1,000,000 gallons has been constructed near the wells. The Butler & Sons Contracting company of this village built the reservoir and have a contract to extend a pipe line from it to the new lower which is about a distance of five miles.

Engineer M. A. Morehouse has planned a sketch of a powerhouse to be built near the wells. This plant is of the latest construction and council members individually have approved it, although no official action has yet been taken by that body.

EVEN CROSS, SICK CHILDREN LOVE SYRUP OF FIGS

If feverish, bilious, constipated, give fruit laxative at once.

Don't scold your fretful, peevish child. See if tongue is coated; this is a sure sign its little stomach, liver and bowels are clogged with sour waste.

When listless, pale, feverish, full of cold, breath bad, throat sore, doesn't eat, sleep or act naturally, has stomachache, indigestion, diarrhoea, give a teaspoonful of "California Syrup of Figs," and in a few hours all the foul waste, the sour bile and fermenting food passes out of the bowels and you have a well and playful child again. Children love this harmless "fruit laxative," and mothers can rest easy after giving it, because it never fails to make their little "insides" clear and sweet.

Keep it handy, Mother! A little given today saves a sick child tomorrow, but get the genuine. Ask your druggist for a 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which has directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups plainly on the bottle. Remember there are counterfeits sold here, so surely look and see that yours is made by the "California Fig Syrup Company." Hand back with contempt any other fig syrup.

RAILROAD'S FUTURE INVOLVED IN CASE

Question Is Presented to Court Whether M. & R. Road Can Cease to Run.

Brainerd, Minn., Jan. 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—The future of the Minneapolis & Rainy River railroad or at least the question whether it can cease operating as a common carrier is involved in a demurrer just argued before Judge Brainerd and taken under advisement. Whichever way the court decides, the case will go to the supreme court. That road has been used largely for logging purposes in Itasca county.

Because of an order made by the state railway and warehouse commission quite a while ago, the railway claims that to continue operations of a portion of its line would result in such loss to the company as to amount to confiscation, and it therefore takes the position, too, that it has the right to discontinue its service over that portion of line in serving passenger and freight traffic.

State Takes Hand.

The state, when advised of this purpose on the part of the railway company, commenced action to restrain it from discontinuing and in effect to require it to continue service as a common carrier, and upon showing made by the state a temporary injunction was given, the effect of which was to require the road to operate as a common carrier. The order was made some time in September. The railway company answered and set up its defense and the state demurred to the answer on the ground that the allegations of the answer did not constitute a defense. This demurrer was heard by Judge McClenahan.

In a general way the state claims that the railway company before it can cease to operate and render service it has been rendering, must get permission from the state railway and warehouse commission. This is the fundamental condition in the case. The ruling of Judge McClenahan on the demurrer will be undoubtedly reviewed on appeal to the state supreme court. The railway company claimed the railway and warehouse commission would not permit them to charge what they considered a reasonable rate and they then wanted to cease operations.

GOPHER NOT BARRED.

After 1916 Minnesotan Can Head Slovenian-Croatian Union.

Calumet, Mich., Jan. 18.—The national convention of the Slovenian-Croatian union being held here is making good progress in revising the constitution and attending to other matters.

One of the by-laws passed provides that any member may be eligible for the office of president after 1916. Now the charter provides the president must be a Michigan man, and for this reason it was unpopular with the Minnesota delegates.

Hereafter also the national secretary will devote his entire time to the business of the office, the post being made permanent. It is already assured Calumet will land the 1915 convention. The charter provides this meeting must be held in Michigan.

The by-laws now under consideration have to do with expediting convention business. For instance, next year it is expected the business will be disposed of in three days, whereas at present it requires a week.

Give Norwegian Play.

Virginia, Minn., Jan. 18.—Socialist opera hall was crowded last night when the Finnish Dramatic club presented "Jeppe Niilonpoika," a farce comedy, translated from the Norwegian of Ludvig Holberg.

The play is founded on the story of a peasant who was found in a drunken stupor by a party of lords, who took him home and dressed him with all the pomp and splendor of the nobility. His attempts to carry out the dignity of his position make the play. This was the first of a series of theatricals to be presented by the club this winter.

Ely, Minn., Jan. 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—The recent snowfall proved a big boon to the owners of property in the Savoy location adjoining a smokehouse and dry shed that took fire Saturday as the blaze was outside of the city limits and there was no water available, but the plentiful snow kept the figre from spreading. Luckily there was little wind.

Dandruffy Heads Become Hairless

If you want plenty of thick, beautiful, glossy, silky hair, do by all means get rid of dandruff, for it will starve your hair and ruin it if you don't.

It doesn't do much good to try to brush or wash it out. The only sure way to get rid of dandruff is to dissolve it, then you destroy it entirely. To do this, get about four ounces of ordinary liquid arvon; apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.

By morning most, if not all, of your dandruff will be gone, and three or four more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it.

You will find, too, that all itching and digging of the scalp will stop, and your hair will look and feel a hundred times better. You can get liquid arvon at any drug store. It is inexpensive and four ounces is all you will need, no matter how much dandruff you have. This simple remedy never fails.—Advertisement.

ELEVEN JURORS ARE TRYING COURT CASE

One Juror Sick and Both Sides Agree to Go Ahead.

Virginia, Minn., Jan. 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—Eleven jurors are trying a case in district court today. Juror John Burns of Virginia was too ill at his home here to report when Judge Hughes opened court today after a several days' recess due to the court's illness. After the attorneys in the case of Mose Helmer and the Mechanics bank of Chisholm against several fire insurance companies had conferred it was agreed to go ahead without Mr. Burns, and the case that was begun before Judge Hughes was taken sick was resumed with eleven jurors. The case involves about $12,000 fire insurance on logs burned north of Chisholm and is a long drawn out affair that may take the rest of the week. The insurance companies claimed the logs were set on fire and refused to pay the insurance.

Two Harbors, Minn., Jan. 18.—(Special to The Herald.)—The local city basket ball team Saturday evening defeated the big Eveleth basket ball team here by the one-sided score of 52 to 10. The Eveleth team put up a disappointing game although it was predicted before the game that it would be a close score.

It was a walk-away from the start for the locals. Woodward led the attack and the score rolled up with ease. Sullivan and Filiatrault also played a good game. The line-up:

Two Harbors—		Eveleth—
Sullivan	f	Sullivan
Johnson	f	Glode

MORGAN WOULD SELL R. R. TO UNITED STATES.

Washington, Jan. 18.—J. Pierpont Morgan was on President Wilson's list of callers today. The financier declined to say in advance what matters he would discuss with the president, but declared that the important object of his mission here at this time was in connection with a meeting of the advisory council of the Federal reserve system, of which he is a member.

Problems in connection with the Alaskan railroad, with particular reference to the Copper River & Northwestern railroad, which Mr. Morgan has offered to sell to the government for use as a part of the proposed railway to connect the Alaskan coast with the coal fields, was said to be one of the objects of Mr. Morgan's visit at the White House.

YOUR HEAD AND STOMACH

Headache caused by a disturbed digestion is nearly always accompanied by pain in the stomach, belching of gas, vomiting and often by constipation. This sort of headache is generally located in the forehead and is not constant but comes and goes.

It doesn't come on immediately after eating but after the food has had time to ferment which it does because the digestive fluids that should take care of it are insufficient, because the glands that secret these fluids are weak, because the blood is failing to nourish these glands properly.

Rich, red blood is the first essential to proper digestion and the digestive process cannot go on without it. When lack of nourishing blood causes fermentation and poisons are absorbed from the digestive tract, the pain in your head advises you of the fact. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills give the blood just the elements they need to correct this condition and, with a laxative, when required, form a perfect treatment for the headaches of indigestion.

Mention this paper and we will send you two little books on the diet and the proper use of a laxative. Address: Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y. Your own druggist sells Dr. Williams' Pink Pills.

DULUTH RINKS FARE BADLY DURING MORNING PLAY

Brewer-Whyte Combination Handed a 13-to-3 Defeat.

Ralph Bradley Put Out of Duluth Event By Roehm.

Duluth rinks fared rather badly in the going of the early morning draw in the Duluth Curling club event of today. Ralph Bradley was put out of the running by Roehm of Portage Lake and the Whyte-Brewer combination furnished the surprise of the day by going down to an inglorious defeat at the hands of Bobby Miller's Superior rink, 13 to 3.

Colle Naughton gave the veteran Clough Gates of Superior a merry battle, finally going under by the score of 14 to 12. Dinham of Duluth started well by easily defeating Melvin Olson of West Duluth, 14 to 6.

"Scotty" McNabb of Grand Rapids defeated Reichert of Duluth in the feature game of the morning play. The game was close right by the score of 13 to 10.

Some of the rinks were late in getting started, and the noon draw was delayed somewhat in consequence. From now on, according to Spiel Manager John E. MacGregor, all of the events will be started on time.

From the way the Miller rink was going early today, it is going to be one of the strong contenders. The ice upstairs, where both Bradley and Whyte met early reverses, while keen, was in wretched playing shape, from the fact that the sheets had a bad fall. On the in-turn several rocks went clear out of the sheet.

This fact is believed to have affected the play of the Whyte-Brewers, as no rink has a right to treat this bunch to so overwhelming a beating.

Following is the result of play in the early draw, and the 3 o'clock draw:

Severe Blood Troubles Vanish

With Magic Effect, Great Remedy Makes Disease Disappear.

At almost any drug store you may obtain S. S. S., the famous blood purifier, and you then have the veritable wizard that makes all blood troubles vanish. Your stomach takes kindly to S. S. S., it rushes into your blood, is a purifying wave, makes the liver, kidneys, bladder and skin work in harmony; stops accumulations that have caused rheumatism, catarrh, swollen glands, sore throat and skin eruptions.

Just as food makes blood, so does S. S. S. follow the process of digestion to stimulate natural secretions to protect us against the ravages of disease germs. We are well aware of the fact that these germs are apt to be latent within us to break forth in violent eruptions of the skin whenever the system is in a low state of resistance. And it is to both prevent these eruptions or to get rid of them that Nature gave us such an ally as S. S. S. It is purely vegetable, contains no mercury, and yet it overcomes those serious troubles for which mercury has been employed for ages. In every community are people who know this to be true. They owe to S. S. S. their recovery. Get a bottle today. Refuse all substitutes. Read the folder around the bottle that tells of the wonderful work being done by the medical department in assisting users of S. S. S. FILING MORE AFFIDAVITS

Organized Ball Presents Its Defense to Federals' Suit.

Bresnahan Denies He Traded Pitcher for a Bird Dog.

Chicago, Jan. 18.—Additional affidavits were filed today in the United States district court by various officials of organized baseball supporting their contentions that the Federal league is not entitled to the relief asked in its suit which was for the dissolution of the national commission and its affiliated clubs as violators of the Federal anti-trust act.

In one of the affidavits Roger P. Bresnahan, now manager of the Chicago Nationals, flatly denied the assertion contained in one of the affidavits filed in support of the Federal league suit, that he, while manager of the St. Louis Nationals, traded Booth Hopper, a pitcher, for a bird dog.

Bresnahan with much detail told of meeting Hopper in Tennessee while on a hunting trip and of trying out the pitcher on a training trip and of seeing there a bird dog which he admired very much. The dog belonged to Hopper, the affidavit declared, and was offered by the owner to Bresnahan. The Bresnahan affidavit then continues:

"I told him that I could not use the dog as I then had five of my own. Just before the opening of the regular season, Mr. Kinsella, who was then manager and owner of the Springfield, Ill., baseball club, came to St. Louis in search of a pitcher for his club. I told him that we had a young man by the name of Hopper and if he wanted to talk with him and sign him for the Springfield club, he could do so, whereupon Kinsella told me if Mr. Hopper developed and showed any ability at all he would give the St. Louis National league club the first opportunity to purchase his release that fall.

Dog Was a Gift.

"During the conversation Mr. Kinsella had with Booth Hopper at our clubhouse in St. Louis, Mr. Hopper again asked me to buy his dog as he needed money, whereupon Mr. Kinsella asked me all about the dog and if I wanted it. I told him that I liked the dog, but as I then had five I would not buy it, whereupon Mr. Kinsella said he wanted to do something for me and if I would accept the dog he would pay Mr. Hopper. I do not know what transaction Mr. Kinsella had with Mr. Hopper or anything concerning the terms of the contract between them, but I do know that Mr. Hopper sent for his dog and Kinsella brought the dog to me at St. Louis.

"The statement that I traded Booth Hopper for a bird dog is an absolute falsehood and I would suggest that Mr. Hopper be communicated with on this matter, as he can verify my statements, or Mr. Kinsella, either."

Bresnahan included in his affidavit a description of negotiations he had last fall with Federal league officials relative to accepting the position of manager of the Brooklyn Federals.

Herman J. Seekamp, manager and treasurer of the American Baseball & Athletic Exhibition company of St. Louis, operating the St. Louis Nationals, deposed that he has no knowledge of the alleged bird-dog incidents, and that his records show that the services of Hopper were purchased in August, 1913, by the St. Louis Nationals for $2,000. In a sworn statement Charles H. Ebbetts, president of the Brooklyn Nationals, declared that the National League of Professional Baseball Clubs, at its birth forty years ago, shouldered the heavy responsibility of cleansing American national pastimes of the evils of gambling, bribing of players, deliberate violation of contracts by players, intemperance and insubordination.

In his affidavit, Schuyler H. Britton of the St. Louis Nationals discussed the Perritt, Oakes and Magee incidents.

An affidavit touching the decision of the national commission on the complaint of Herbert Juul of the Cincinnati Nationals was filed by August Herrmann.

COOMBS SIGNS WITH BROOKLYN.

Palestine, Tex., Jan. 18. — Jack Coombs, former pitcher for the Philadelphia Americans, announced he had signed a contract here today with the Brooklyn National league team.

POOLING INCLUDED.

President Thinks It May Be One Cause of Increased Prices in Wheat.

Washington, Jan. 18.—President Wilson, it became known today, has included pooling agreements in the possible causes for the recent rise in the price of wheat and flour which he has directed Attorney General Gregory to investigate. The president sent Mr. Gregory a letter today formally asking him to investigate with a view to prosecution, if evidence was discovered of illegal combinations. The investigation already was in progress on oral word from the White House, but up to the present time no facts warranting criminal action have been discovered.

HEADS FUND TO PROVIDE "LAFAYETTE KITS" FOR FRENCH SOLDIERS

The magazine and newspaper editors of New York have been receiving visits from a very pretty woman with an appeal in behalf of the La Fayette fund. She is Mrs. William Astor Chanler, one of the members of the executive committee, and she has been appealing to them to advertise the objects of the fund in their publications. The La Fayette fund is unique. It asks a contribution of $2 only for the cost of what is known as the La Fayette kit. For each $2 contributed there is sent to one of the soldiers in the trenches a packet containing a fleece-lined shirt, fleece-lined drawers, two pairs of woolen socks, a pair of woolen gloves, an abdominal belt with six safety pins, a dark muffler, a colored handkerchief and a cake of soap. In each kit is put the name of the person who paid for it. Contributions for this fund can be sent to Archer Huntington, the treasurer, at the Vanderbilt hotel, New York.

NO INSTRUCTIONS ON FOOD PROBE

Not Known Whether Investigation Will Extend to Duluth.

Whether the Federal probe of food prices will extend to Duluth is not yet known. Alfred Jaques, United States attorney, said today that he had received no notice through the department of justice up to this time.

Mr. Jaques said that he could not say what the nature of the investigation would be as he had received no official notification regarding the matter. Anything else he might say would be merely conjecture, he averred.

FOREIGN EXCHANGE CONDITIONS BETTER

Increase in Exports Reducing Debt of Americans, Says Morgan.

Washington, Jan. 18.—J. Pierpont Morgan discussed the foreign exchange situation with President Wilson today and informed the president that conditions were improving. He mentioned incidentally the credit of $12,000,000 established by the Russian government in the United States through Mr. Morgan's banking firm.

It was understood, Mr. Morgan informed the president, that the increase in American exports to Europe recently has greatly reduced the debt owed in Europe by Americans at the outbreak of the war and that as a result conditions were progressing favorably.

Mr. Morgan explained that his firm has not arranged for a direct loan of money to Russia, but that debts owing by Russia in this country for the purchase of supplies would be met through Morgan & Co. It was understood the president and other administration officials had no objection to this kind of arrangement.

REPLY IS AWAITED.

Red Cross Ready to Send Assistance to Sufferers From Earthquake.

Washington, Jan. 18.—The American Red Cross was still awaiting today a reply from the Italian government to its inquiry whether aid would be accepted from the United States for earthquake sufferers.

The latest message from Ambassador Page said the Italian government would not accept foreign assistance owing to the present international situation.

"Two parties from embassy," the message added, "have visited region desolated by earthquake covering radius of some thirty miles. They corroborate reports of terrible devastation. Government estimates 25,000 as the approximate figure for killed and wounded."

December Broke Record In Number of Calls For Assistance.

December, 1914, was the heaviest month in the history of the Duluth Associated Charities, according to a monthly report which has been compiled by Miss Edna G. Meeker, secretary of the organization. The report shows a marked increase in the Christmas work of the society and in the number of new cases handled.

Among other things, it is shown that 225 new cases were handled in December, 1914, as compared with 78 for December, 1913. During the month 114 transient men came to the office as compared with 36 for the corresponding month of the previous year.

A corresponding increase along other lines is also shown by the following comparison:

	Dec. 1914.	Dec. 1913.
Number reference calls upon relatives and friends	177	60
Visits to homes	262	52
Business calls	81	63
Total number calls by visitors	520	175
Calls of clients and other interested parties at office	2,119	356

The report also shows that during the month of December, 1914, 1,224 telephone calls were received at the office, 227 new and 468 second-hand articles of clothing were given away, as well as forty pairs of shoes donated to charity. Employment was secured for twenty-five men and twenty-eight women.

Miss Meeker, secretary of the society, declares that the directors of the Charities are especially grateful to those who so cheerfully and willingly donated money and articles of value during the Christmas season. The donations greatly facilitated the work of the society, according to Miss Meeker.

SUPERIOR BEING HEARD BY COMMISSIONER

Two Involved in Election Frauds Are Now Arraigned.

C. J. Denham and Joseph Naughton, members of the election board of the second precinct of the Fourth ward, are having a hearing today before Circuit Court Commissioner W. E. Pickering. The men are charged with having falsified election returns. A number of witnesses have been examined.

One of the features of the hearing was a recount of the precincts on the vote for governor. The recount showed that the returns gave Emanuel L. Philipp, the newly elected governor of Wisconsin, seventy-five votes short of what the count should have been.

$10,000,000 A Year Wasted On Trusses

How 60 Days' Trial Protects You Against Throwing Money Away

Away With Worthless Makeshifts

Ninety-nine out of every hundred dollars spent for elastic and spring trusses might about as well be thrown away.

Close to ten million dollars a year—in this country alone—is practically wasted on such contraptions.

And all simply because nine sufferers out of ten trust to a mere try-on or hasty examination instead of first making a thorough test.

A Mere Try-on Is a Snare.

You can't possibly tell anything about a truss or anything else for rupture merely by trying it on.

A truss or so-called "appliance" may seem alright at first and afterward prove utterly worthless.

The only way in the world you can make sure of exactly what you're getting is by making a thorough sixty-day test without having to risk any money.

The Only Thing Good Enough to Stand a 60-Day Test.

There is only one thing of any kind for rupture that you can get on sixty days' trial—

Only one thing good enough to stand such a long and thorough test—

That is our guaranteed rupture holder.

We'll make one especially for your case—make it to your measure—and let you try it sixty days—

We'll practically lend it to you that long—without asking you to risk a penny.

If it doesn't keep your rupture from coming out or bothering you in any way, no matter how hard you work or strain—if it doesn't prove every claim we make—then you can send it back and it won't cost you a single cent.

Made on New Principle

This guaranteed rupture holder—the famous Cluthe Automatic Massaging Truss—is so utterly different from everything else for rupture that it has received eighteen separate patents. It is far more than just a truss. Made on an absolutely new principle.

Unlike everything else, it is self-regulating, self-adjusting—instantly and automatically protects you against every strain so your rupture can't possibly be forced out.

And in addition to this constant holding, it provides the only way ever discovered for overcoming the weakness which is the real cause of rupture.

Just how it does that—entirely automatically—is all explained in the free book which the coupon below will bring you.

No Belt—No Leg-Straps—No Springs

Does away entirely with the curse of belts, leg-straps and springs. People who have tried it say it is as comfortable as their clothing. Is water-proof—will hold in the bath. Also perspiration-proof and easily kept clean.

Will Save You From Operation.

This guaranteed rupture holder has so thoroughly proved its merits in nearly 500,000 cases that surgeons in the U. S. Army and Navy and physicians in all parts of the world now recommend it instead of advising operation.

It has completely cured hundreds and hundreds of people whose cases seemed almost hopeless.

The Things We Tell in Our Book.

There are so many mistaken ideas about rupture that we have taken the time to sum up in a book all we have learned during forty years of experience.

This remarkable book—cloth-bound, 96 pages, 20 chapters, and 25 photographic illustrations—is full of facts, never before put in print.

It deals with rupture in all its forms and stages.

It shows the dangers of operation.

It exposes the humbug "appliances," "methods," plasters," etc.

It shows why wearing elastic or spring trusses is almost sure to shorten your life.

And it tells about the famous Cluthe Automatic Massaging Truss—how simple it is—how it ends constant expense—how you can try it sixty days without having to risk a penny, and how little it costs if you keep it.

Also gives over 5,000 voluntary endorsements from benefited and cured people.

Send for this book today—don't put it off—the minute it takes to write for it may free you from trouble for the rest of your life. Simply use the coupon or just say in a letter "Send me your book."

MILLERS ARE GOOD BUYERS

Market Recovers After Early Weakness on Strong Milling Demand.

Flax Breaks on Stop-Loss Selling—Crushers Buy at Bottom.

Duluth Board of Trade, Jan. 18.—Wheat was strong at the close on good millers' inquiry. May wheat closed ⅛c up, and July ⅜c off. May durum closed ⅜c off and July ½c off.

Oats closed ⅛c up at 53c for on the track; rye unchanged at $1.15@1.16; barley 1c up at from 63@74c, and corn 1⅛c up at 71⅛@71¾c.

At Winnipeg, May oats ¼c up at 60c, and July ⅛c off at 60⅜c bid.

Puts on Minneapolis May wheat closed at $1.34, and calls at $1.39¼.

The wheat market was an irregular affair today with sharp fluctuations showing in prices. The opening was weak, 1c off, on lower Liverpool cables and intimations that President Wilson might order an inquiry in the wheat market. It later firmed up on renewed demand from millers and further export inquiry. The American visible supply report, showing a decrease of 3,847,000 bu in stocks in the week, was also a strengthening factor.

There was good trading through the session. May wheat opened 1c off at $1.37¾ and advanced ½c from that basis up to the noon hour. July opened ⅝c off at $1.37 and gained ¾c. Business in durum was quiet, but steady demand was in evidence for it. Receipts in the day and offerings were light. May durum opened ⅛c off at $1.58 and weakened more later.

Millers were in the market persistently for wheat and they appeared to be willing to pay up for it. A Duluth operator reported the sale of a substantial tonnage out of stocks now at Buffalo ½c better than their Saturday's limits. The Globe Elevator company sold 500,000 bu of No. 3 northern wheat to a local milling company today on the prevailing basis. Advices here were to the effect that millers are on the hunt for wheat at all points in the endeavor to cover themselves as well ahead as possible.

The foreign demand for corn was a features. Chicago reporting sales of 750,000 bu to go abroad during the morning and considerable trade was also worked at other points. It is said that foreigners are beginning to recognize that corn at around its present basis is a relatively cheap food product and better inquiry is expected for it in trade circles from now on.

Primary receipts today showed an increase of 241,000 bu, the aggregate standing at 1,241,000 bu. Clearances bulked up to 1,019,000 bu.

Fireworks in Flaxseed.

There were again some fireworks in flaxseed, and on the net results a substantial break was recorded in the day. The opening was strong, the quotation gaining 1c on good buying by crushers. Some selling appeared at the top, $1.93, and with the withdrawal of support, a sharp break came about, the weakness being intensified by the catching of stop-loss orders. When the excitement started, the market sold off from $1.92¾ to a low of $1.81. Crushers then came in, and it promptly reacted. Final prices in the day were 3c off.

May flax opened unchanged at $1.92, and closed 3c off at $1.89.

At Winnipeg, May flax opened 1¾c off at $1.69.

Broomhall cabled from Liverpool: "Wheat was quiet with an easier undertone. There were free Plate offers at 6d lower. Newspapers here are discussing broadly the excessive prices and this tends to deter fresh commitments. Arrivals are ample and reserves sufficient for some time. It is believed here that Argentine shipments will be liberal.

When these will be reinstated is a question. I doubt very much that they will take back the wheat unless we get a very severe break, which some are looking for."

CHICAGO MARKET.

Prospective Inquiry Into Wheat Prices Gives Cereal a Setback.

Chicago, Jan. 18.—President Wilson's order for a government inquiry relative to prices of wheat and flour was followed today by considerable selling of wheat, and a temporary setback of 1⅝c in quotations, but the market quickly reacted, and scored a net advance of ⅜c. Later a new decline took place, influenced to some extent by a revival of talk of the possibility of an embargo being put on exports. During these changes, prices for May had a range of 2c from $1.40 to $1.38, opening ⅝c off to ⅛c up, the market as a whole kept within narrower limits than the May delivery.

Fresh rallies, however, ensued. There were advices from Liverpool that supplies were insufficient to meet requirements. Besides the United States visible supply total showed a big falling off. The close was unsettled, but ⅜@⅞c higher than Saturday night.

Although corn at the outset had a downward tendency with wheat, a good demand for export soon led to a decided upturn. Early sellers who attempted to cover found but little for sale. Opening prices, which varied from ⅛@¼c to ⅜@½c lower, were followed by a rise all around to well above Saturday night's level.

A further advance accompanied gossip that an embargo on wheat would increase the European demand for corn. May corn jumped to the highest price in January for more than twenty years. The close was steady at an advance of 1½@1⅝c to 1⅝c net.

Oats took much the same course as corn. Strength that developed, however, was not so pronounced.

Higher prices for hogs lifted provision shares sufficiently to announce quotations.

London fortnightly statistics of copper shows stocks decreased 1,199 tons and visible supply increased 876 tons.

LOSS PARTLY RECOVERED

Special Stocks Again Prominent Features of the Market.

Leaders Decline Under Profit-Taking But React Later.

New York, Jan. 18.—Conflicting gains and losses characterized today's early trading in stocks, although changes were trivial at the outset. A majority of the leaders made slight improvement over last week's final prices, while some less prominent issues were lower. London's attitude toward this market was not encouraging, practically the whole international list showing declines, which extended to a point or thereabouts in Reading, St. Paul, Southern Pacific, New York Central and Atchison. By the end of the half hour the local market showed a firmer tendency all around, Canadian Pacific and Bethlehem Steel gaining a full point.

Profit-taking on the stock market today had some effect on the moderate rise of the first hour, most prominent shares losing their advantage by midday. Reading, Bethlehem Steel and United States Steel fell back and the metal group, which had shown some strength on a further advance in copper, yielded with the active list. Fertilizer issues, notably American Agricultural Chemical, Virginia-Carolina Chemical and American Cotton Oil were better and among motor stocks. Studebaker was conspicuous for closing new high price. Several sales of German-owned Japanese government 4½ per cent bonds at a reduction from their last price was the only interesting feature of the bond market.

Substantial movement was shown in the afternoon, although specialties moved irregularly. Canadian Pacific advanced over 4 points, Gould issues were strong, Missouri Pacific selling well above last week's high figure.

Special stocks were again the prominent features of today's market, standard issues being relatively inactive and backward.

Leaders recovered from the early lethargy later, Reading, Lehigh Valley, Union Pacific and other representative shares gaining a point or more. The closing was strong.

TWO WEST DULUTH RESIDENCES SCORCHED.

Two fires were extinguished by Department No. 8 Saturday and Sunday. A fire Saturday evening caused about $600 damage to the building and contents of living rooms at 5708 Grand avenue, and last evening a fire caused a similar loss at the home of Tony Talerico, 301 South Sixty-third avenue west.

The fire at the former place was caused by the explosion of an oil stove. Leander Johnson, who resides there, was at home with his baby sitting in the first room when the stove began smoking. Picking it up, he carried it to the kitchen. As he was about to place it on the floor the bottom dropped out of the stove and exploded, scattering the oil about the room. Mr. Johnson narrowly escaped being badly burned.

The interior was badly scorched before the fire was put out. The damage to the building is estimated at about $250 and the contents about $350. Insurance to the amount of $200 is carried on the latter.

The fire at the Talerico home was caused by an over-heated stove in the kitchen. The family was away when the blaze started. The house was damaged to the extent of about $300, and about the same amount of damage was done to the contents. The loss is partially covered by insurance.

Will Install Officers.

The joint installation of officers for the Non-excelled and Duluth homesteads, Brotherhoods of American Yeomen, will be held Monday, Jan. 25, at Moose hall, Central avenue and Ramsey street, instead of tonight as announced this morning. J. H. Murphy, state manager of the order, will have charge of the ceremony. A special drill team under the direction of Miss Anna Duggan will assist Mr. Murphy in the ceremony.

Revival Services.

Revival services will be continued this week at the Bethany Norwegian-Danish M. E. church, Sixty-fifth avenue west and Polk street. The meetings held last week are said to have been very succesful. Rev. Eugene Nelson, pastor of the church, will be assisted this week in conducting the services by Rev. H. A. Olstie, pastor of the First Norwegian-Danish M. E. church of the West end. Special services for the children will be held on Tuesday and Thursday afternoons at 4:15.

OGILVIE TELLS HIS SIDE OF CASE

Denies He Deserted Wife and Asks Divorce and $10,000.

David M. Ogilvie, 61, defendant in a divorce case brought by Henrietta M. Ogilvie, 53, took the stand in Judge Ensign's division of the district court this morning and gave his version of the story of their unhappy married life. He is suing for a divorce on a cross bill. He also asks judgment for $10,000 for alleged services performed on behalf of his wife in helping her to acquire certain Illinois property estimated to be worth $50,000. The property now stands in her name.

Mr. Ogilvie gave the court a history of his married life at the morning session of court. He stated among other things that he came to Duluth in 1886 and that his wife joined him the same year. They were married in Arlington, Ill., the year before. During the first year that he was in Duluth, Mr. Ogilvie took a position as principal of the Jackson school. The next year he went into the real estate business and accumulated between $30,000 and $40,000 which was lost in the panic of 1893 and the hard times which followed.

In 1898, he said, he secured a position with a harvester company in the Dakotas, but worked only a few months before he was called to Duluth on account of his wife's illness. After an absence of a few months he again returned to his old job. In August, 1906, he went to Panama, where he remained fifteen months. Mrs. Ogilvie claimed that during that time she received no support from him, but Ogilvie's testimony was that he sent her about $600 in amounts varying from $50 to $100. He said that when his wife needed his services in securing her share of an estate left by her father, and that at her request he left a good job as government engineer in Panama and came north to assist her.

Mr. Ogilvie admitted that he had been arrested in St. Paul in 1904 on a charge of jumping hotel bills and that his wife furnished him money to get out of the trouble. He declared that the publication of the matter in the newspapers greatly humiliated him and that he went to Beaver Bay to live in a camp for three weeks after which he returned to Duluth.

Mrs. Ogilvie is asking for a divorce on the grounds of desertion and non-support. He denies that he abandoned her and charges her with having refused to live with him. This refusal, he says, constituted desertion on her part. The divorce case is the second between the Ogilvies. The first was started in 1911, but was dismissed.

The case will probably be concluded tomorrow.

SMALL ARMY HELPS CITY CLEAR STREETS

District Foremen Hire 100 Men to Shovel Drifted Snow.

The fall of snow during the last few days has proved a boon to many of the unemployed men of the city. About 100 hands have been at work today shoveling snow from the different parts of the business districts of the city. Yesterday a large number were employed to operate the snow plows.

Work has been conducted not only by the works division of the city commission but by residents as well. Persons in the residence district, who were unable to clear the sidewalks and their yards, telephoned to the employment agents for men. In this way many men were enabled to get a couple of days' work.

The works division today ordered the district foremen of the city to hire men and see that all the streets in the business district of the whole city were cleared of snow. In many places the snow had drifted heavily, and much work was necessary to make the thoroughfares passable. On some parts of Grand avenue snow had drifted from four to six feet deep. The work will be kept up until the streets are in good condition.

CITY MAY SOON BE ON CASH BASIS

Aim of City Commission Expected to Be Realized This Year.

From present indications Duluth will be operated on a cash basis by the end of this year.

Grant MacLean, city treasurer, said this morning that the aim of the city commissioners ever since they took office two years ago, to put Duluth on a cash basis, will be realized late this year. All floating debts of recent years are being paid up and most of the special assessment bonds are being retired.

During this year the city will retire $143,000 of the permanent improvement bonds issued in 1910, besides $60,000 issued last year to complete the Vermilion road pavement. This last sum, however, is to be paid out of the money received from the property holders benefited by the improvement. The money was merely advanced by the city to insure a completion of the work, City Treasurer MacLean said.

As soon as the last of the special assessment bonds are retired, the city will be able to operate on a cash basis, Mr. MacLean said. This is expected to take place next fall.

The certificates for $80,000 issued on Sept. 1, 1913, are for the water and light department and will be retired in four annual payments of $20,000 each from the water and light fund.

ANOTHER EARTHQUAKE SHAKES ALL CALABRIA

TO SHIFT THE BURDEN OF TAXATION FROM THE FARMER AND PRODUCER

Searls of Carlton Proposes Amendments to Classification Law.

Bill Introduced for Popular Election of Speaker of House.

Senator Jones Would Improve Lot of Workers in Lumber Camps.

(By a Staff Correspondent.)

St. Paul, Minn., Jan. 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—To shift a part of the burden of taxation from the farmer and producer to the speculative holder is the aim of a bill introduced in the house this morning by Representative Spencer J. Searls of Carlton. It proposes amendments to the Spooner classification law of 1913, including one putting unplatted and unimproved real estate in the highest class, which is assessed at 50 per cent. Iron ore is now the only property assessed at that rate. It also proposes substantial reductions in improved farm property and in personal property that is exempt from sale under execution, like household effects, workmen's tools, farmers' equipments, etc. All this property is reduced from a 50-per-cent assessment to one-third of actual value.

Representatives Corning and Bendixen proposed a constitutional amendment making the speaker of the house elective by the people, and providing that he shall not be a member of the house.

Affects Lumber Camp Workers.

Intending to improve the lot of the worker in the lumber camps, Senator Richard Jones of Duluth introduced two bills this morning. One provides that where an employer discharges a worker his wages shall become due at once, and that the worker shall be entitled to full wages while he is engaged in collecting what is due him;

INSURANCE OFFICES VICTIMS OF THIEVES.

Indianapolis, Jan. 19.—Securities valued at $76,000 were stolen from the offices of a life insurance company here Saturday or Sunday night, it was learned yesterday. Another life insurance company reports the loss of $3,000 in securities and the police believe the same burglars committed the two robberies. Officers of the companies affected say that only a small portion of the securities can be negotiated by the thieves.

PROBLEMS OF THE FARMER

Secretary Houston Tells How Many Can Be Solved.

Addresses Gathering at the Wisconsin College of Agriculture.

Madison, Wis., Jan. 19.—That several of the most important problems of the American farmer can only be solved by co-operative effort is the opinion of David F. Houston, who addressed a gathering of farmers and students in the college of agriculture here today.

"Before the problems of rural credit and of marketing, the individual farmer acting alone is helpless," said Secretary Houston. "Nothing less than concerted action will suffice. Co-operation is absolutely essential. The same business sense and the same organizing genius which have placed this nation in the front rank in industry must be invoked for agriculture.

Not to Fix Prices.

"I am not advocating an organization which shall attempt to establish a closed market and to fix prices. I do advocate an economic arrangement which will facilitate production and enable the producer to find the latest and best market for his products and the consumer to receive his supplies at the lowest cost. Nor am I thinking of concerted effort which shall proceed from above downward. It must associate itself with some particular product which is more or less capable of being standardized and the object must be to overcome some specific difficulty. It goes without saying that the members of the co-operative society must be those who are bona fide producers and that every approach of the exploiter must be aggressively repelled. The object must be specifically economic, and not remotely political.

"Types of organizations which operate successfully abroad cannot necessarily be imported into this country without modification. A form helpful for one undertaking is not necessarily the best for another, and one successful in one community under certain conditions cannot necessarily be expected to succeed under other conditions in another community."

IS OPPOSED TO ELEVATOR

North Dakota Board of Control Reports Against State Elevator.

Would Not Enable Farmers to Get Better Price for Grain.

Bismarck, N. D., Jan. 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—Reporting the findings of its two-year investigation into the proposal to establish state-owned terminal elevators, the North Dakota board of control advises against the establishment of such institutions.

"After a thorough investigation," says the report, "in which every effort has been made to learn what, if any, advantages such a proposal might have, it is the opinion of the board that there is no sound, practical plan by which a terminal state-owned and operated elevator erected in the Twin Cities, Duluth or Superior would in any way make it possible for the farmers of this state to get a better price for their grain, and that any investigation made in terminal elevators located at any or all of these terminal markets would be a waste of the people's money as well as a humiliating disappointment to the people of the state.

"However, should it be the judgment of the legislative assembly and the taxpayers of the state, after mature deliberation, that the establishment and operation of a system of terminal elevators is a proper and desirable business proposition for a state to engage in, the board recommends that any such system be established on a co-operative basis, both as to the elevators themselves and the selling agency connected therewith.

"We recommend strongly against the expenditure by the state of any money for the erection of new terminal elevators at any and all points, but if the state concludes to go into the undertaking at all we recommend that it rent or lease existing terminal eleva-

WOULD REPEAL EXISTING LAWS

About Score of Bills Presented to Wisconsin Legislature.

Madison, Wis., Jan. 19.—About a score of bills came into the legislature today, most of them for the recall of existing laws and the consolidation of departments.

A resolution was introduced limiting the work of the session to ninety calendar days.

A proposed constitutional amendment provides for the application of the single tax to counties, at their option.

Measures for the abolition of the office of state treasury agent and placing the duties on the state treasurer were introduced. Another measure would abolish the state fire marshal's office, placing these duties on the state industrial commission.

The taking away of appropriations for traveling expenses from the athletic commission is provided in a measure introduced by Assemblyman Mortensen, which he said would be followed by a bill abolishing the commission.

Senator Bichler, Democrat, offered a bill amending the primary law by permitting the holding of party conventions for platform making. Both houses adjourned until tomorrow.

BRITISH MAY SEIZE SHIP IF SHE DEPARTS

Government Refuses to Grant Safe Conduct to the Dacia.

Reply Made to Recent Request of the United States.

Objection Based on Reluctance to Establish Precedent in Matter.

Washington, Jan. 19.—The British government will not consent to allow the steamer Dacia, recently transferred from German to American registry, to proceed to Rotterdam under safe conduct with her cargo of cotton, the state department was notified today from London.

The British reply to suggestions for a safe conduct, recently made by the state department, came through the American embassy at London. While the text of the message was withheld, it is known the British objection was based broadly on a reluctance to create a precedent, which, it is felt, would be followed by many similar purchases of German ships in America and efforts to operate them on the former German trade routes.

The British note does not undertake to assert the right of Great Britain to interfere with ships purchased and transferred to the American flag in a legitimate way. The objection to the transfer of the Dacia, according to the British view, is that it was not genuine, it being intimated the British government believes the American purchaser really was acting for German principals.

CONGREGATIONALISTS LOSING THEIR HOLD.

Chicago, Jan. 19.—The Congregational church is losing its hold upon people in the cities, according to Dr. C. W. Carroll of New Jersey at the opening session of the Congregational Home Missionary society yesterday.

"It is losing because the denomination is not doing its duty to the multitudes in the cities. The Congregationalists who move to the cities are lost by us and gained by the other denominations," he said.

Interest will center in the report on mission tomorrow by a special committee which for a year has been considering a reform in mission work.

GERMANS FAIL TO FOLLOW UP THEIR SUCCESS AT SOISSO

MAY RESUME ANY MOMENT

Only Activity Past Twenty-Four Hours Is St. Paul Bombardment.

Both Sides Are Rapidly Bringing Up Heavy Reinforcements.

Little Change in Situation in Eastern Theater of War.

London, Jan. 19.—Though both the British and French press continue to discuss the probability of a fresh German attempt to break through the French lines barring the way to Paris, the Germans so far have failed to follow up their successes in the region of Soissons. The German troops are remaining more or less inactive, beyond the River Aisne, and the only activity shown in this vicinity in the last twenty-four hours has been the bombardment of St. Paul.

No one believes, however, that the fighting at Soissons is over. Both sides apparently are bringing up reinforcements and some stiff encounters should soon develop.

The capture of several German field works on the east bank of the Meuse river, which, according to the French official statement were taken by assault, is about the only notable change in the western war theater.

Little Change in East.

There also has been no change to speak of in the eastern arena, barring some Russian gains in the central Poland front and the reported crushing of the Turkish army which tried to make a stand at Kara-Urgan.

The Russians claim to have obtained a good foothold in Transylvania, but they have not yet invaded that country in force.

SUPPRESS NEWS OF TURKISH DEFEATS.

London, Jan. 19.—The Central News has published a dispatch from its Athens correspondent, who declares that the authorities at Constantinople are suppressing the news of Turkish defeats in the Caucasus. They have ordered the execution, he says, of any one spreading unauthorized news reports.

The military rule in Constantinople is stricter today than it was in the strictest days of Sultan Abdul Hamid. Revolutionary rumors are numerous.

FOURTEEN MEN SHOT BY DEPUTIES IN A BATTLE WITH STRIKERS IN N. J.

Fight Occurs Near Plant of American Agricultural Chemical Company.

Laborers Search Train to See If It Contains Any Strikebreakers.

Officers Are Called and Fierce Pistol Engagement Is the Result.

Roosevelt, N. J., Jan. 19.—Fourteen men were shot, four of them being mortally wounded, in a pitched battle between 250 striking laborers and fifty deputies at the plant of the American Agricultural Chemical company here today.

The fight occurred when the strikers stopped a Central Railroad of New Jersey train from Elizabethport to see if the train brought strikebreakers to the plant. There were no strikebreakers aboard; but a few office employes who were passengers started an outcry, apparently believing that the strikers intended harm to them.

In answer to the call, fifty deputy sheriffs, armed with rifles and revolvers, ran to the scene from the company's plant, where they had been stationed for the past two weeks. A general encounter between the deputies and the strikers followed.

UNEMPLOYED WOMEN PUT TO WORK SEWING.

Kansas City, Mo., Jan. 19.—Numbers of housewives made contracts with the city for plain and fancy sewing here today when a municipal sewing department was opened. More than 100 unemployed women were put to work on sewing machines.

The department is under the supervision of a committee of women and businessmen appointed by the mayor. While the minimum compensation had not been fixed it was asserted it would not be less than $1.25 a day.

Testimony in Wage Arbitration Case Most Bulky Volume.

Analyzes Demands of Men From a Railroad Standpoint.

Chicago, Jan. 19.—An exhibit of 326 pages, two feet in length and nearly that wide, ponderously inaugurated today presentation of testimony for the railroads in the Western wage arbitration. The last direct testimony for the men was recorded yesterday and James M. Sheean outlined the case for the railroads.

Today's bulky volume, entitled "Exhibit 1," was placed in evidence by the first witness, D. H. Bremerman of the staff of the vice president of the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy. It analyzed, from the railroad viewpoint, the sixteen demands made by the 64,000 engineers and firemen of ninety-eight Western railroads. Bremerman had no comment to make on the right or

PEOPLE QUIT HOMES; WILL NOT RETURN

Thousands Remain in the Open, Suffering From Cold.

Shock Most Severe in Neighborhood of Capital, Cosenza.

Number of Dead in Central Italy Shows Steady Increase.

Rome, Jan. 19.—An earthquake of great force has shaken all Calabria, in the southwestern part of Italy, but so far as is known thus far has caused no loss of life.

The shock appears to have been most severe in the neighborhood of Cosenza, capital of the province. It frightened thousands of persons and drove them into the open, where they insist on staying. They prefer to risk cold and its consequent sufferings rather than run the chance of being buried in the ruins of their homes.

Throughout the earthquake belt in Central Italy, even in towns where many of the buildings are still standing, apparently intact, the survivors of the catastrophe refuse to seek shelter in their houses, and are gathered in the open, suffering terribly from exposure.

Suffering in Other Districts.

As relief and rescue work goes forward, it appears that some districts just north of Avezzano were as badly afflicted as that town, with the percentage of dead to the total population almost as large. The situation in the case of many towns and villages is more desperate because as yet adequate relief measures have not been taken, and the number of persons working in the ruins is very small.

Ortucchio, southeast of Avezzano, is reported as having at least 2,000 victims, fully half of whom have been found buried in the ruins of the cathedrals there. The town has been virtually razed and now, more than six days after the first shock, sanitary conditions among the living are becoming almost unbearable.

Same Story Elsewhere.

The same story comes from other towns in the vicinity—from San Benedetto, with 4,000 of its 4,500 population dead; Celano, 2,500 feet up in the mountains, with 1,000 dead; Paterno, with but 200 of its 2,000 persons still alive; Pescino, with 4,000 and more

NOT ACCEPTABLE AS VICE CONSUL

Pro-German Sentiments of American Objectionable to British.

Nottingham, England, via London, Jan. 19.—On account of letters written by him and published in a newspaper at Lincoln, Neb., John L. Cutright, new accredited American vice consul at Nottingham, did not take up the duties for which he came to this city, but returned to London.

Mr. Cutright departed from Nottingham after he had been informed by the mayor and other city officials that he would not be acceptable as vice consul because his newspaper letters were regarded as expressive of pro-German sentiments.

Before coming to Nottingham, Mr. Cutright served as American vice consul at Coburg, Germany. While there he wrote letters to which the Nottingham officials took exception.

Mr. Cutright is a son of John Cutright, editor of the Lincoln Star and formerly private secretary of William J. Bryan. The son, a graduate of the University of Nebraska, had been in the consular service only a few months.

SUMMARY OF THE WAR NEWS

A further advance in the effort to pierce the German line above St. Mihiel, near the eastern end of the battle line in France is announced in the official communication today from Paris. It is said that another German field work in the forest of Le Pretre was captured and that 500 yards of German trenches there have now been occupied.

At the same time the allies are attempting to press forward to the northwest of St. Mihiel. These two movements, if successful, would either cut through the German line or compel the evacuation of St. Mihiel. Tenure of this town by the Germans results in a sharp bend in the line of the allies, presenting a menace which they have been endeavoring for weeks to remove.

The French have retaken the positions at La Boisselle captured by the Germans, today's statement from Paris asserts. The German official communication says that no action of importance occurred along the entire western front.

Russian attacks north of the Vistula river were repulsed with heavy losses, the Berlin statement asserts. Military men in Petrograd are of the opinion that the Russian encircling movement in both the north and south will compel the Germans to attempt to break through the Warsaw front or, if unsuccessful, to retreat nearly to the German border.

The Germans have begun another offensive movement, according to unofficial advices today from Holland. It is said that the Germany heavy artillery went into action yesterday and that a battle is in progress for possession of Ypres. The British are moving in fresh troops to defend this town, around which occurred some of the heaviest fighting of the war at the time the Germans were attempting to force their way to the English channel. The assault on Ypres, following the victory of the Germans at Soissons and their attack at Albert, marks the third movement of the kind within a week.

Petrograd dispatches say that Russian forces are moving rapidly westward through Transylvania, which forms the eastern portion of Hungary, adjoining Roumania. The Russians now have possession of a mountain pass which gives them easy access to Hungary, according to these advices, which state that the Austro-Hungarians were not prepared for victories said to have been won recently by the Russians.

The plight of the Turkish army corps, which gave battle to Russians near Kara-Urgan, in the Caucasin region, is described in Petrograd reports as pitiable. Those who escaped alive from the battle are said to be fleeing toward Erzerum, but, owing to capture by Russians of their food supplies, are confronted with the alternative of starvation or surrender. It is stated that in one place 900 soldiers were found frozen to death and doubt is expressed that any of the Turks will be able to reach Erzerum.

HUGE SUM FOR IMPROVEMENTS

Half Million or More Likely to Be Spent By the City.

Considerable Paving, More New Duluth Roadway—Day Labor Used.

From $100,000 to $750,000 will be spent by the city of Duluth for pavements and street improvements during the coming year, according to tentative plans outlined this morning by Commissioner Murchison, head of the public works division. Among the larger pavements to be laid this year are those at Gary, on Minnesota Point, East Superior street, Second street from Fourth avenue west to Fifth avenue east, Central avenue in West Duluth, Highland street, Ninth street from Seventh avenue east to Chester park and Woodland avenue from Fourth street to Kent road. Most of the work will be done by day labor, it was announced.

The pavement on Minnesota Point, which will extend from the end of the roadway built last year to Twelfth street up to Thirty-eighth street, will be the costliest planned for this year. The estimate places the cost at $75,000. Commissioner Murchison said this morning. The East Superior street pavement, extending from Sixteenth to Twenty-third avenues, will cost about $60,000.

Two Miles in New Duluth.

Two more miles will be added this year to the New Duluth road, it being planned to construct one mile of roadway on each side of the two-mile stretch built last summer. The pavement built last summer is eighteen feet wide and extends from the connection of Grand and Zimmerly avenues to Commonwealth avenue. It was constructed at an approximate cost of $50,000, while the roadway this year will cost about $60,000, as it is planned to make the pavement running through Gary the width of the entire street. This will be for a distance of several blocks.

The work left over from the 1914 season for completion this year is included in the following list prepared by Commissioner Murchison:

Minnesota avenue, paving from Twelfth street to Thirty-eighth street south; extension of pavement from Thirtieth avenue west to West Duluth; First street, grading and paving from Nineteenth avenue west to Thirtieth avenue west; Helm street, grading from Twenty-sixth to Twenty-eighth avenues west; Sixth street, grading and paving from Twenty-first to Twenty-fifth avenues west; First street, grading and paving from Twenty-eighth to Thirty-first avenues east; Wicklow street, grading from Twenty-eighth avenue west to Michigan avenue; Red Wing and Faribault streets, grading, etc., from Woodland avenue to Colman's addition; Sixth street, grading, etc., from Fifteenth to Eighteenth avenue east; Third avenue east, grading from Seventh to Eighth streets; Fifth alley, grading and paving from Twenty-fourth to Twenty-fifth avenues east.

Further Improvements.

In addition petitions are now on file with the commissioner for the following improvements, which are on the waiting list:

Ninth street, grading and surfacing from Fourteenth avenue east to Seventh avenue east; Woodland avenue, paving from Fourth street to Kent road; Twentieth avenue west, paving from Michigan street to Piedmont avenue. (Petition needs more signers); Central avenue, paving from Cody street to D. M. & N. railroad; Highland street, grading, etc., from Fifty-seventh to Sixty-sixth avenues west; Crestline court, grading and graveling from Commonwealth avenue to Ninety-sixth avenue west. (Petition needs more signers); Fifth alley, paving from Fourteenth avenue east to Fifteenth avenue east; Fifth alley, paving from Twenty-first avenue east to Twenty-second avenue east; Fifth street, grading from Twelfth avenue east to Thirteenth avenue east; Ninth street, (Fond du Lac) grading from One hundred and thirty-first avenue west to One hundred and Twenty-eighth avenue west, etc.; Nineteenth avenue east, grading and graveling from Fourth street to Eighth street; Second alley, paving from Twenty-fourth avenue east to Twenty-fifth avenue east; Seventh alley, paving from Ninth avenue east to Tenth avenue east; Sixteenth avenue east, paving from Sixth street to Seventh street.

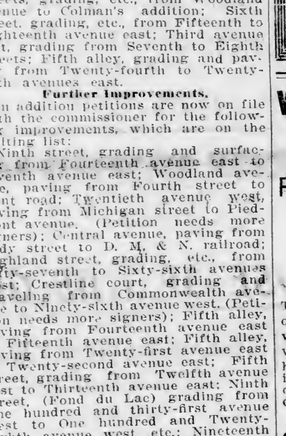

IN ACCORD WITH CAUCUS ACTION

While President Approves Bills May Not Be Taken Up.

Washington, Jan. 19.—The action of the senate Democrats yesterday in adopting a caucus resolution urging consideration of rural credits legislation at the earliest possible opportunity is not interpreted at the White House to mean necessarily that the bills will be taken up at this session of congress. President Wilson, in discussing the subject today, said he was in accord with the caucus action.

Senator Owen, chairman of the banking and currency committee, recently stated on the floor of the senate that his committee would have ready a report on rural credits bills as soon as it was possible to give them consideration in the senate. The committee met today to discuss the situation and will go through all pending rural credit proposals in determining upon the measure it will report.

"The action of the Democratic caucus last night in urging rural credits legislation," said Senator Hoke Smith of Georgia today, "absolutely means an extra session of congress."

TERRILL PROVES TO BE SUICIDE

Coroner Finds Woodsman Killed Himself By Chloroform.

Following an autopsy over the body of Lyman J. Terrill, aged 45, Deputy Coroner James McAuliffe yesterday afternoon announced a verdict of suicide by chloroform. It was at first thought that Terrill, who was found in bed in his room at 514 West Superior street, had died of heart disease.

No motive has been assigned by friends of the deceased for his act, as he had some money, although he had been out of work since shortly before Christmas. A letter from his mother, living at Meadsville, Pa., was discovered in his pocket. Terrill formerly was employed in the woods.

The body was forwarded to Meadsville today in accordance with instructions received from Elmer Terrill, a brother, living at Andover, Mich.

OBITUARY

Col. John A. Joyce, known throughout the country by his poems and other writings, died at Washington, Jan. 17, aged 72 years. Col. Joyce laid claim to the authorship of the verses "Love and Laughter," known throughout the English-speaking world by its first line, "Laugh and the world laughs with you; weep, and you weep alone," but his claim has been disputed and the controversy at one time attracted wide attention.

He taught one year at Genuga seminary, Ohio, both the late President Garfield and his wife being among his pupils. While serving as a member of the Iowa board of railway commissioners, 1883-86, Mr. Coffin initiated the movement which culminated in a national law, compelling the adoption by railroads of safety appliances in coupling cars and running trains.

Capt. C. D. Christiansen, 70, a pioneer Great Lakes vessel captain, died at Manitowoc, Wis., Jan. 19, from a stroke of paralysis.

Petitions in Two Estate Cases Filed in Probate Court.

Lutes, who died at Marion, Or., Aug. 15, 1914, aged 43, left real estate in St. Louis county worth $1,500, according to a petition for administration which was filed in district court today by Miss Laura Thomas, a daughter residing in Portland, Or. She asks for the appointment of E. F. Wharton of this city as administrator.

THE WHOLE BODY NEEDS PURE BLOOD

The bones, the muscles, and all the organs of the body depend for their strength and tone and healthy action on pure blood.

If the blood is very impure, the bones become diseased; the muscles become enfeebled, the step loses its elasticity, and there is inability to perform the usual amount of labor. The skin loses its clearness, and pimples, blotches and other eruptions appear.

Hood's Sarsaparilla makes pure blood. It is positively unequaled in the treatment of scrofula and other humors, catarrh, rheumatism, dyspepsia, loss of appetite, that tired feeling. Be sure to get Hood's and get it today. All druggists.

ALLEGED "ROLLER" BROUGHT TO TRIAL

Maki Claimed to Have Doped Companion and Taken Valuables.

Jack Maki, alias J. Murray, was brought to trial before a jury in Judge Fesler's division of the district court this morning on a charge of grand larceny in the second degree. Maki was indicted by the January grand jury.

Fred Johnson, who claims to have been victimized by Maki, testified that the defendant gave him a drink of whisky which he now believes was "doped" and that after he had lost consciousness Maki went through his clothes and secured $40, a stick pin worth 25 cents and a necktie valued at 10 cents.

The theft is alleged to have taken place at the Nicollet hotel on Nov. 7. M. I. Flaherty is in court as attorney for the defendant and County Attorney Greene is prosecuting.

"DAD" PALMER DEAD; PROMINENT ELK

Noted Representative for Lodge Publications Expires in Miles City.

"Dad" Palmer, as he was known to a host of members of the Elks and Knights of Pythias orders, died a few days ago in a Miles City, Mont., hospital.

Mr. Palmer was traveling representative for years for the Jolly Elk and the Pythian Advocate of St. Paul and was well known in every lodge of those orders from Minnesota to the coast. He had stopped at Miles City to attend the dedication of the new Elks home in that city when he was taken ill of pneumonia and went to a hospital. He expired one evening as he was eating his dinner.

Mr. Palmer was in Duluth recently and attended a meeting of the Elks lodge, where he was very popular. He was possessed of a sunny disposition that never deserted him to the end. As a billiard player he was quite renowned and many a tyro at the game had felt his skill. Mr. Palmer was about 73 years old. A daughter survives.

DRIVEN OUT BY THE FLAMES

Flames drove the family of Fred Wise, 2531 Martin street, into the street in their night clothes shortly after 5 a. m. today, destroying their home. Property loss at 2531 Martin street and at 2528 Martin street, adjoining, also owned by Mr. Wise, is estimated at about $2,000.

The origin of the blaze is unknown, but is believed to have been started near the base of the chimney, which, it is thought, was defective.

SOME TACT.

Chicago News: "Hamilton is a good boy," said Hackberry as he laid the evening paper across his knee and listened to the retreating footsteps of Hamilton and Flossie going down the walk.

"Hamilton is a nice boy," amended Mrs. Hackberry.

"I shouldn't go so far as to insinuate that."

"What do you mean, insinuate?"

"He doesn't carry his handkerchief in his cuff, nor wear a wrist watch, nor wear a feather in his hatband. He is a good boy. Hamilton is a big, good natured, rough and ready fellow, a man who if another man were to insult him would give that other man a punch right square on the nose; the nice boy would give his insulter a slap on the wrist."

"Hamilton has got a lot of sense, too."

"I should not go so far as to say he has a lot of sense," replied Hackberry, looking judicially at the ceiling. "In fact, I don't believe he has a lick of sense; but wisdom comes with years and he has a good foundation of learning on which to build wisdom. But where have he and Flossie gone tonight?"

"To the theater."

"Hmm; along with his other faults he has got money. I dislike to butt in and do the stern father act, but I fear I shall have to. I know Hamilton is fine and that Flossie is finer, and that each is perfectly safe with the other, but they must stop remaining out so late."

"Of course Flossie is fine—"

"Finer! I would trust her mother's daughter anywhere. But, as I said, these late hours have got to be trimmed. You see, Hamilton comes from the west and he has doubtless read magazines and eastern society notes until he has absorbed a belief that no young man must call upon a young lady without taking her somewhere. And that no young man must take a young lady to the theater of an evening without taking her to a midnight dinner afterward. But he must stop keeping Flossie out so late."

"Have you told him?"

"N—o, not exactly in so many words. But there is such a thing as tact. I talked to him the last time he was here about the danger to which he was subjecting Flossie. Told him that the midnight streets of a huge city were not safe for her even when accompanied by him. Told him of some of the annoyances that had been perpetrated by thugs. I am sure my hint will bear fruit."

"You are a very bright diplomat and father, your hint has already borne fruit, western fruit."

"That is not surprising. I was certain it would."

"Yes, a western effect. He today sent her a costly pearl-handled revolver, carrying bullets big enough to shoot holes in doughnuts."

"Heavens and earth! Didn't I say he didn't have a lick of sense?"

WINNIPEG SKIPS COMING FOR THE INTERNATIONAL

Big Event of Bonspiel Will Not Go By Default.

Rochon, Carson and Chisholm Coming—Morning Games.

It was decided late today to play the International event with four rinks representing the United States and four representing Canada. Three of the greatest skips in Winnipeg, E. J. Rochon, W. A. Carson and C. Chisholm, all among the list of famous curlers, together with Dr. Montgomery of Port Arthur, who will represent the Dominion. It is not known as yet what rinks will represent the United States in the play for the trophy. Two games have been played in the international, but these will be thrown out and the event played as scheduled.

Donald Morrison, Jr., a Winnipegger, and Thomas J. Lowe, president of the Terminal Curling club of Winnipeg, are here, and these two men may form the nucleus of another Canadian rink, in which case five rinks will play on each side. It was at first feared the international would have to be played as one of the regular events, but word was received today that the Winnipeg men would leave for Duluth tonight.

Reedal's Rink Wins.

George Reedal's Phillips, Wis., rink continues to loom strong as one of the contenders for the grand aggregate prize, though it may be sa'd to be rather early for talk of the grand aggregate.

Reedal won from H. S. McGregor of Duluth in the Duluth Curling club event today, while in the same event Stewart of St. Paul put Catterson out of the running.

"Sandy" McNabb's Grand Rapids rink continued its winning streak by winning from Dad Rooney's Hibbing rink. Up to the sixth it looked as if the range youngsters were going south with the Grand Rapids veteran. McNabb laid two in each of the next two heads and went into the lead.

Ralph Bradley gave Dunlap of Duluth a bad beating in the St. Paul Jobbers' event, the count being 14 to 2. Clough Gates forfeited to the Whyte-Brewer crowd in the Western Curling club event.

Failure to be on time this morning resulted in the first heads of several scores being crossed off. This procedure will be followed all through the week—so skips may take warning now. Also a point will be piled on the score of a skip on time if his opponent is ten minutes late.

There was one 13-head game today, Fred Hoene making Heimbaugh of Superior go an extra end to defeat him. Coley Naughton made the veteran "Steve" Jones go some to win.

The ice continues keen and conditions surrounding the spiel are nearly ideal.

The results of the early draw today:

RECEIVERS NAMED FOR BANK AT UNIONTOWN.

Uniontown, Pa., Jan. 19.—Judge J. Q. Van Swearingen and Judge R. E. Umble, in common pleas court today, appointed receivers to take charge of the affairs of Josiah V. Thompson, president of the First National bank of Uniontown, which was yesterday closed by order of the board of directors.

The petition was filed by John M. Freeman of Pittsburg, who said the proceeding was necessary to take care of the unsecured creditors of Thompson, whose claims amount to approximately $7,000,000. The assets, it was stated, were no less than three times that amount.

The receivers named were Andrew Thompson, a son of J. V. Thompson; William G. Laidley of Carmichaels, Pa., a business associate, and John P. Brennan of Scottdale, Pa., president of the Thompson-Connellsville Coke company.

ROAD MAY INCREASE SWITCHING CHARGES.

Washington, Jan. 19.—The Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul Railway company was given authority today by the interstate commerce commission to increase switching charges at Milwaukee from $2, $2.50 and $3 per car to 1 cent per hundred pounds, minimum 60,000 pounds, for reciprocal switching and from $5 and $6 per car to 1½ cents per 100 pounds, minimum 60,000 pounds, for movements between industries.

The road filed a tariff with the rates now allowed late in 1911, but voluntarily postponed the effective date several times. Protests were filed by the Merchants & Manufacturers' association and the Chamber of Commerce of Milwaukee and the commission suspended the proposed rates until February, 1915.

In approving the new rates the commission points out that the Wisconsin railway commission, after careful investigation, found the old rates too low.

Steamer Safe in Harbor.

New York, Jan. 19.—The Hamburg-American line steamship President, erroneously reported sunk by the British cruiser Berwick, is safe in the harbor of San Juan, Porto Rico, according to a cablegram from the steamer's commander today.

Steamer Ashore.

Ocean City, Md., Jan. 19.—The Norwegian steamer Grib, from Boston for Newport News, Va., was today reported ashore twenty miles south of this place. No particulars were received but the position of the vessel is said to be not dangerous.

ENTHUSIASM RUNS HIGH

Referendum Committee Closes Its Campaign at Woodman Hall.

Speakers Opposing M. O. Propaganda Are Repeatedly Cheered.

Enthusiasm was at a high pitch at the public mass meeting at the Woodman hall last evening by the Citizens' Referendum committee.

About 600 men and women crowded the hall to hear the speakers in behalf of the 6-cent ordinance and against the proposed unit plant and throughout the evening the crowd repeatedly broke into the addresses with their cheering. Sentiment seemed to be entirely with the speakers and the meeting was enthusiastic throughout.

Several times the crowd rose to cheer Ray M. Hughes, chairman of the Citizens' Referendum committee, and Dr. O. A. Oredson, chairman of the meeting, had considerable trouble in restoring order.

Mr. Hughes' Talk.

The principal address was made by Mr. Hughes, while short talks were also delivered by John Jenswold, Jr., Neil Benton and C. L. Hood.

"Duluth will never grow if capital must get down on its knees and beg for mercy," said Mr. Hughes. "Human nature is the same all over. Is it fair to kick those people, bag and baggage, out of our city? Is it fair, without giving them their day in court? Give them a fair chance and if we can prove they are grafters, why the court will readily accept any appraisal made by a body of engineers. Is it right to make this a political issue, when the courts can easily settle it?

"Do you want to bequeath ruin and misery to our posterity? Stop and think before you plunge into a financial venture of this kind. Remember, that the city's debt is now over $6,000,000.

"Voters tomorrow want to remember that Duluth must have the reputation of being fair to capital in order to make progress along sane lines.

Ruinous Rates.

"Duluth has no right to club the company into ruinous rates or sale of the plant by the unit plan or 4-cent ordinance. By resorting to these tactics the city will discourage capital that we must have to bring business to our community, keep the dinner pails filled instead of empty and prevent a haggard army of unemployed roaming the streets for bread.

"The city water rate in Duluth is 15 cents for 1,000 cubic feet, while Detroit charges 6 cents, Cleveland 2 cents, and so on throughout the country. There is our successful water and light department. If they made $106,000 last year, why don't they reduce your rates?

"Suppose the electric plant does get to West Duluth, then that very minute the gas plant will suffer, and if the water and light department suffers any loss, you will have to pay in the long run. You will get it either way. A $5,000 building was erected in West Duluth, in which the commission said gas bills could be paid. From the day the building was finished to this that building has been used to store junk. That's how our public utility commissioner represents Duluth.

Only Right Road.

"The courts offer the only right road to municipal ownership through legal condemnation. This is the only fair policy, the only way to carry out the healthy American policy of a square deal. The 4-cent rate is not the result of investigation and is arbitrary.

"The company offers in good faith to give the city a reasonable lighting rate. Voters should ballot for the city's honor and for a rate that will bring satisfaction and good service instead of lawsuits and turmoil."

Resort to Courts.

"Why not resort to the courts, if the Duluth-Edison company objects to the award offered," said Mr. Jenswold, "I still have faith in the courts, the judges, the juries all of whom are sworn servants of the people. The city can still condemn the plant, and if the Duluth-Edison company does appeal, what is wrong with the idea? Who would not protect his own property? Who would not go to the legislature to protect his own interests? The cave man with the club does no business.

"You cannot drive the Duluth-Edison company out of the city. They are here by a franchise, and whether it is or is not valid, the courts will decide. We thought the street railway could be driven out, and we hired the best lawyers in the state to help us prove it, but we find they have a right to run street cars in Duluth. The Duluth Telephone company is also doing its business as usual.

Company Will Not Quit.

"Suppose the city does built a plant. It will place more poles all over the city. It will mean the tearing up of our pavements, the defacing of the entire landscape. But remember, last of all, that the Duluth-Edison company will fight and fight to the last ditch. They have a right to fight, and the company will be here to do business just the same. Don't let the M. O.

FIVE YEARS SUFFERING FROM KIDNEY TROUBLE

It affords me much pleasure to write you telling of the merits of your medicine. I have been under the care of doctors for five years. They said an operation was imperative. I had already taken a great quantity of medicines. After reading about Dr. Kilmer's wonderful Swamp-Root I decided to give it a trial. When I would walk any distance my stomach would hurt me so I would have to cry out with pain, my limbs would ache, and my hips got numb as if paralyzed; but after using six bottles of Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root I cannot praise it too highly. My friends are surprised to see me looking so well.

Respectfully yours,
MRS. ROSA MITCHELL.
Labadieville, La.

Personally appeared before me this 18th day of February, 1914, Mrs. Rosa Mitchell, who subscribed the above statement and made oath that the same is true in substance and fact.

L. L. NAQUIN,
Justice of the Peace.

Letter to
Dr. Kilmer & Co.,
Binghamton, N. Y.

Prove What Swamp Root Will Do For You

Send ten cents to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., for a sample size bottle. It will convince anyone. You will also receive a booklet of valuable information, telling about the kidneys and bladder. When writing, be sure and mention the Duluth Daily Herald. Regular fifty-cent and one-dollar size bottles for sale at all drug stores.

forces make you believe that the company will quit. Nothing of the kind, for they will fight for their privilege to the very last courts of the land."

Mr. Hood gave some interesting figures on the comparative cost of the legal service of the company and the money the city has spent in attorney's fees.

HEAVY VOTE IS EXPECTED

Polling Places Will Remain Open Until 9 p. m.

Polling places for the special election on the electric lighting questions opened at 6 o'clock this morning and by noon a fairly heavy vote had been cast.

Considerable interest in the controversy has been shown by the voters during the last two weeks and a fair vote is expected today. City Clerk Palmer estimates that the total will be near the 10,000 mark.

Officers of the Citizens' Referendum committee and the Municipal Ownership league closed their campaigns last night and are today predicting victory for their respective sides. They will close their offices tonight.

The polling places will be open until 9 o'clock this evening. All those who registered for the November election are entitled to a vote today, while others must first file affidavits before they can cast a ballot. Voters are deciding whether they want a unit plant erected at West Duluth or not, and whether they want to accept the 4-cent ordinance passed by the city commission or the 6-cent offer of the Duluth-Edison company.

buried, and many other towns.

Though many of these places are but a short distance from Avezzano, the supposed center of the disturbance and the consequent relief work, they have been almost entirely inaccessible because of blockaded and ruined roads. The food supplies in these places are reported as very insufficient and the shelters are entirely inadequate. The organized rescue work is being pushed with all haste to reach the inhabitants of these towns in time to prevent great loss of life among the survivors.

King Victor Emmanuel is touring the stricken district by automobile constantly, distributing supplies, cheering the victims, sending the orphans to Rome for care and rendering other assistance.

Suffering in South.

Taglincozzo, via Rome, Jan. 19.—Not less acute than the misery and suffering of the people of Avezzano is that of the inhabitants of the entire district to the south, in Pescina, San Benedetto, Gioji de Marsi and other towns. The loss of life and damage to property in these places is equally as great, but the needs of the sufferers have received far less attention.

Soldiers have arrived at several of these places to aid in the work of rescue, but there is a scarcity of food for both troops and the people. The temporary shelters provided are also inadequate to protect the people from the increasingly cold weather.

Not a House Stands.

Paterno, high up on the mountain side, has suffered probably more than any other town in the whole earthquake region. Less than 200 persons have been saved out of a population of 2,000 and not a single house remains standing.

The flourishing town of Pescina is a mass of ruins from which there is distinctly perceptible a faint sickening odor of dead bodies. More than 4,000 of the people of Pescina are buried under the fallen buildings.

The few surviving town officials complain bitterly of the government's neglect. They say no bread has been obtainable since Saturday and that the people and soldiers have had nothing to eat but vegetables brought from neighboring villages.

Famous Landmark Gone.

Pescina lost its most famous landmark, the Sixteenth century castle of the Piccolomini family, and the house where the famous Cardinal Mazarin was born.

The condition of the surviving population at the town of San Benedetto, near Pescina, is deplorable. Over 4,000 of the inhabitants perished out of a total population of 4,500.

Only volunteers from the nearby districts have been engaged in the rescue work.

The town of Celano, northeast of Avezzano and 2,500 feet up in the mountains, lost 1,000 dead through the earthquake.

There are also many injued and 10,000 persons are without shelter.

EXHIBIT NO. 1 IS ENORMOUS

wrong of the demands, but showed where they departed from precedent.

He stated that the enginemen of the West, by reason of the increases granted by the concerted wage movement of 1910 are better paid than their brethren of the East and Southeast.

Passenger engineers in the West, he said, consulting his figures, received $4.80 a day for engines weighing under 80,000 pounds, to $5 or more on larger engines, against a flat rate of $4.25 for all classes of engines in the East. The Western minimum thus, he said, is higher than the Eastern flat rate.

Demand More.

Despite this he said the passenger engineers in the West now demand rates ranging from $4.50 to $5.60 a day.

In freight service he said that Western engineers also are paid more than in the East, but nevertheless demand further increases. His analysis showed, he said, that the demands call for a minimum of 25 cents higher than is paid in the East, and a maximum over the East of $1.35 to $1.65 a day.

Bremerman's compilation purported to show all conditions of wages and hours and other information on a mileage basis. He said he thought his method was fairer than that used by the men, whose comparative tables, he said, gave a nine-mile road the same importance as a 10,000-mile system.

Taking up the contention of the men that in practically every instance their demands are a matter of practice somewhere in the country on at least one road, witness indicated that the demand for a 10-per-cent differential for way freight service over through freight exists on but one road with only 5 per cent of the total mileage of the roads involved in the arbitration. Time and a half for overtime in freight and switching service, he said, exists on no road at present.

Claims of Men.

According to W. S. Carter and W. S. Stone, counsel for the men, the request in this case is not to get more money, but to make it cheaper for the railroads to eliminate overtime. Bremerman stated that the 10-per-cent differential asked for on mountain grades exists on only one road. No railroad, he continued, bases its pay for switching service on weight of engine on its drive wheels and only two small terminal companies grant a ten-hour continuous day with thirty minutes under pay for lunch.

Nine per cent of the Western roads pay for terminal delay in actual minutes and slightly fewer an arbitrary rates for time spent in preparing the engine for its run. Nine per cent of the Western roads have rules providing for extra pay when enginemen are held more than fifteen hours away from home terminal and only 6 per cent, he said, pay "dead crews" the same rate as to the crew hauling the "deadhead" engine. No Western railroad has rules against surprise tests, nor providing for two firemen on the heavier engines.

CANDIDATES ARE BEGINNING TO APPEAR

R. E. M'FARLANE.

Candidates for commissioner at the spring election are beginning to announce themselves. Friends of R. E. McFarlane, 629 East Fifth street, are urging him to come out for commissioner. Mr. McFarlane has lived in Duluth since 1880 and during most of that period was superintendent of bridges and buildings for the Northern Pacific railway. He will probably file.

FOURTEEN MEN SHOT BY DEPUTIES IN A BATTLE WITH STRIKERS IN N. J.

signal for a fusillade which came apparently from both sides. None of the deputies was injured, but many of the strikers fell. Most of the wounded men were shot through the legs, as the deputies fired low. The strikers dispersed, some of them carrying the wounded men away.

The four most seriously wounded were taken to a hospital at Elizabeth, not far away. It was said that these men probably would die.

The office employes were escorted from the train to the plant by the deputies without further incident.

District Supt. Champion of the company, who is in charge of the plant here, said that the strikers had held up the train by piling railroad ties across the tracks and that the deputies were compelled to use firearms to protect themselves and the office employes.

Strike on for Two Weeks.

The strike at the plant has been on for two weeks.

According to the company's statement, approximately half of their 400 employes are affected. The strikers are unskilled laborers, it is said, who quit work when their demand for an increase of 40 cents a day was refused. The men receive approximately $2 a day each.

No other class of workers, it was said, had been affected by the strike. The plant is still in operation.

There had been frequent clashes between the strikers' pickets and workmen and deputies at the plant. A number of shots were fired in an encounter yesterday, but no one was injured.

The strikers through their leaders, denied that they had placed ties on the car tracks, but said that as the train drew into the station they met it and asked permission to go through the cars to see if there were any strike-breakers aboard. This permission, they said, was given them and six of their number started through the train.

As they came out the rear coach, the strikers said, other strikers set up a shout. This brought the deputies on the run down the road.

GERMANS FAIL TO FOLLOW UP SUCCESS

becomes more of a reality reports that Hungary is seeking a separate peace are being revived in London. None of these reports can be confirmed, but they insist that Hungary is willing to make any sacrifice rather than submit to an invasion.

The new Austro-German offensive against Servia has not materialized thus far, but reports persist that Austrian forces are being concentrated on the Servian frontier and that an offensive movement is imminent. The Servians in the meantime, are said to be preparing strong entrenchments.

French Statement.

Paris, Jan. 19, 2:45 p. m.—Snow fell yesterday in Belgium, in Northern France and in the Vosges, but nevertheless there was artillery fighting in these sections of the line of battle, according to the official communication of the French war office given out this afternoon. French troops have reoccupied the trenches at La Boisselle previously given up by them to the Germans. Yesterday saw no further fighting at Soissons, but near Pont-a-Mousson the French claim a slight advance. The statement follows:

"In Belgium there has been a snow storm and also intermittent artillery exchanges at certain points. There was also a fall of snow yesterday in the region of Arras, where our heavy artillery on several different occasions silenced the batteries of the enemy.

"As we set forth yesterday a fairly spirited engagement has been developing at La Boisselle, where following the breaking out of several fires, we were compelled during the night of Jan. 17-18 to evacuate our positions. These, however, we recaptured Jan. 18 at daybreak. The enemy has not renewed his attacks on this part of our front.

"In the section of Soissons the bombardment of the suburb of St. Paul during the night of Jan. 17-18, was not followed by any infantry attack and the day of Jan. 18 passed in absolute calm.

"In the valley of the Aisne, to the east of Soissons and in the section of Reims, there were yesterday artillery exchanges.

"To the northwest of Pont-a-Mousson we yesterday occupied another field work of the enemy in the forest of Le Pretre where we today occupy 500 yards of the trenches of the enemy.

"In the Vosges yesterday saw a snowstorm. Here also there has been artillery fighting particularly in Ban De Sapt and in the neighborhood of Thann."

German Statement.

Berlin, Jan. 19, by wireless to London, 2:50 p. m.—The German official statement given out in Berlin today says:

"In the western theater except for a few unimportant skirmishes, only artillery duels took place along the entire front.

"In the eastern theater, the weather was very unfavorable.

"At Radzanowa, at Ojezhun and at Sierpec (north of the Vistula river) the Russians were repulsed with heavy losses. Several hundred prisoners remained in our hands.

"On the west of the Vistula river and on the east of the Pilica river the situation generally remains the same."

Germans Continue Efforts.

Petrograd, via London, Jan. 19.—The German forces in Central Poland are continuing their efforts to advance west of Warsaw, between Sochaczew and Bolimow, and southwest of Warsaw, between Skierniewice and Grodzisk, although their left flank is endangered by the advance of Russian troops along the right bank of the Vistula west of Plock and the position of their right flank, according to Russian reports, is no longer tenable.

This forward movement of the center of the German line has been unsuccessful thus far, having been noted by Russian aeroplanes and checked by artillery. All the trenches which the Germans succeeded in taking have been recaptured by the Russians.

It is now the consensus of military opinion here that the German army must either force its way through the Russian line in the center, where its present efforts are directed, or else retreat to the Warta river, which would mean falling back to within twenty-five miles of the German frontier. The Russian movements designed to encircle the German flanks will make it impossible, military men say, for the Germans to maintain their present positions in the center.

McDonald Denied Writ.

Deer Lodge, Mont., Jan. 19.—Judge Erickson in district court denied writs of habeas corpus sued out for on behalf of "Muckie" McDonald, deposed president of the Butte Mine Workers' union; Joseph Bradley, vice president; and Owen Smith and William Winchester, all prominent members of the union, convicted on charges of kidnaping Butte miners and sentenced to terms in the local penitentiary.

To Cure Catarrhal Deafness and Head Noises

Persons suffering from catarrhal deafness and head noises will be glad to know that this distressing affliction can be successfully treated at home by an internal remedy that in many instances has effected a complete cure after all else has failed. Sufferers who could scarcely hear a watch tick have had their hearing restored to such an extent that the tick of a watch was plainly audible seven or eight inches away from either ear.

Therefore, if you know someone who is troubled with head noises or catarrh, or catarrhal deafness, cut out this formula and hand to them, and you will have been the means of saving some poor sufferer perhaps from total deafness. The prescription can be prepared at home, and is made as follows:

Secure from your druggist 1 oz. Parmint (Double Strength), about 75 cents worth. Take this home, and add to it ¼ pint of hot water and 4 oz. of granulated sugar; stir until dissolved. Take one tablespoonful four times a day.

The first dose should begin to relieve the distressing head noises, headache, dullness, cloudy thinking, etc., while the hearing rapidly returns as the system is invigorated by the tonic action of the treatment. Loss of smell and mucus dropping in the back of the throat, are other symptoms that show the presence of catarrhal poison, and which are often entirely overcome by this efficacious treatment. Nearly ninety per cent of all ear troubles are said to be directly caused by catarrh, therefore, there must be many people whose hearing can be restored by this simple home treatment.

Every person who is troubled with head noises, catarrhal deafness or catarrh in any form, should give this prescription a trial. —Advertisement.

GRAVE PROBLEMS FOR THE JEWS

Status of Immigrants After the War May Cause Trouble.

Chicago, Jan. 19.—Possible grave problems regarding the status of Jewish Immigrants after the European war were forecast in the report of the board of delegates on civil rights submitted to the twenty-fourth council of the Union of American Hebrew congregations here today.

The report said:

"Grave as the problems up to the present have been, the future throws still greater problems on the canvas of possibility.

"If the Russian government whether it wins or loses, makes good the promises it is reported to have made to accord equal rights to Jewish subjects, then Jewish immigration from that country would be materially lessened, if it did not cease altogether; but even conceding that general possibility general immigration may increase.

"Restrictionsists already are invoking the threatened increase in immigration as an argument for new restrictive legislation. History shows that there is no need for this fear."

Regarding complaints of a number of persons that they were dismissed from the government service "because they were Jews" the report said a "careful investigation was made and it was discovered that the charge was unfounded."

The report of the board of governors of the Hebrew Union college at Cincinnati shows nine new rabbis were ordained last year and the establishment of several new scholarships.

Various other reports were made at the opening session which began with a welcoming address by M. E. Greenebaum of Chicago.

BROUGHT FROM HELENA.

D. C. Gordon Faces Charge of Passing Worthless Draft.

Daniel C. Gordon, 29, charged with having passed a worthless draft on Dr. C. M. Wilson, Palladio building, in this city, July 6, 1914, and obtaining $30, was brought to Duluth this morning from Helena, Mont., by Deputy Sheriff Joseph Bourdash. Gordon was arrested at Helena this week and held for the local authorities.

In Judge Bert Fesler's division of the district court today, Gordon was arraigned and pleaded not guilty to an indictment returned by the September grand jury accusing him of the crime. He agreed to return from Helena without extradition papers.

County Attorney Warren E. Greene has placed the case on the January calendar for trial.

ITALIAN CONSUL TO LECTURE ON WAR.

Attilio Castigliano, Italian consul at this point, will be the speaker this evening at 8 o'clock at the Y. M. C. A., and will discuss Italy's position in the present war. Mr. Castigliano will discuss the question of whether it would be advisable or possible for Italy to remain neutral much longer in view of the fact that she can at once, throw 2,000,000 into the field and that she has many interests at stake at present and in addition to that that the partition of Turkey, if the allies win, will be a very important matter to Italy. Many phases of the question will be discussed.

This is the third of a series of lectures which are being given at the Y. M. C. A. on Tuesday evenings. The previous ones have proven very popular and interesting. Both men and women are admitted and there is no charge.

Various Appropriations Are Considered By the City Council.

Ordinance Is Read to Spend $12,000 for Road Machinery.

Appropriations amounting to $46,000 were considered by the city commission at the regular council meeting yesterday afternoon. Besides the proposed revocation of the Metropole saloon license and the appearance of a number of West end property owners who objected to the paving of West Third street, nothing of any importance was acted upon.

An ordinance appropriating $12,000 from the public works fund for the purchase of road machinery was given its first reading, while Mayor Prince's ordinance appropriating $8,000 for the purchase of books for the public library also received its first reading.

Will Settle Damages.

The commissioners all voted to settle the claims made against the city by owners of property damaged in the Buckingham creek overflow on May 1, 1912. The recommendation for a settlement of $408.63 was made by City Attorney Clapp and the money will be paid out of the general fund to George L. Murphy, Elizabeth Murphy, Mary Thomas, Elinor Kelly and Henry Murphy.

On a motion of Commissioner Voss many property owners throughout the city were granted an extension of time for the payment of their assessments for street improvements. The money can now be paid in three annual installments.

A sanitary sewer in Dodge street, between Forty-third and Fifty-second avenues east, was ordered, the work to be done by day labor. The improvement will cost several thousand dollars.

The contract for material for the Gary sewer was awarded to the Standard Salt & Cement company of this city. The contract calls for sewer pipe at $4,706.49 and double strength pipes for the entire improvement for $5,280.16.

Vote Sum for Sewers.

The resolution by Commissioner Murchison appropriating $6,000 from the permanent improvement fund for the construction of storm sewers throughout the city was given its second reading, while the ordinance appropriating $450 for the construction of a cut-off sewer between Gladstone street and Forty-eighth avenue east was passed unanimously.

A transfer of the John Peterson saloon license at 11 East Superior street was granted to Victor Soderstorm.

A plumbing license was granted to Hector McBryde, 12½ Palmetto street; a pool hall license was granted to John Grubb, 13 Fifth avenue west, and licenses to operate second-hand stores were granted to A. Shapiro, 111 West Superior street, and A. Wilner, 709 West Superior street.

HOUSE TO BUY PRESENT FOR CLARK'S DAUGHTER

Washington, Jan. 19.—While Speaker Clark was absent from the house chamber yesterday, Republican Leader Mann proposed that a committee of five be appointed to select a wedding present for the speaker's daughter, Miss Genevieve, who is to be married soon to James M. Thompson, a New Orleans publisher.

Democratic Leader Underwood who had taken the chair for the occasion put the motion which was unanimously carried. Then Mr. Underwood appointed the committe with Mr. Mann as chairman.

LABOR MEN IN THE WAR

Treasurer of French Federation Tells What Unions Are Doing.

Many Fighting at Front and Others Engaged in Relief Work.

(Correspondence of the Associated Press.)

Paris, Jan. 6.—The relation of the labor unions to the war has been altogether creditable to them, according to M. Marck, treasurer of the Federation of Labor unions of the Seine. He said the government had always been nervous about labor unions in case of war, and as the anti-militarist campaign had reached alarming proportions it was thought a serious question what might be the extent of defections in case of an outbreak.

That this had been a false alarm of fear was evident from the fact that "300,000 trades unionists—not revolutionists—have raised their voice against the aggressor."

"The militant union leaders are now too much occupied in the trenches, and at other points where there's patriotic work to do, to think of the fight between labor and capital," he said.

Will Fight After the War.

"But," he added, "because we're doing our duty it will be a mistake to suppose that after it's over we shall disarm and abandon our fight for the eight-hour day and the Saturday half holiday; the fighting, in my opinion, will then be hotter than ever.

"But that is for later on, just now we are too busy distributing tickets for meals to unemployed, and we are short of help for most of the union leaders are at the front; many of them have proven by giving their lives to the cause that they were as much patriots as those who were denying them the right to be so-called.

"Chalopin, of the School Teachers' union, has been killed, as well as Renault of the Railroad Men's union, while Capy, of the Jewelers' union, has lost his two legs.

Old and Young Fighting.

"It's not only the younger union men who are serving their country; the older ones are doing their part in different ways; 5,000 of the navvies were recruited in one day to hustle the work of entrenching the army of Paris when the Germans were on their way toward the gates of the city, and they all went cheerfully without a murmur; they slept in the open, just as the soldiers do, and they rushed through the work so that if Von Kluck had ever gotten within gunshot of the outer trenches, he would have received a disagreeable surprise.

"Another, and far more disagreeable duty performed by the navvies' union was the burying of the abandoned German dead on the field of the battle of the Marne.

Handling Relief Work.

"In the relief work we are doing, it has cost us nothing at all to take our seats in the commission side by side with the police, represented by Lepine; with the priests, represented by Cardinal Amette; with the Jews, represented by the Grand Rabbi of Paris; the Protestants, represented by Rev. Charles Wagner—men representing all the sects, while all the opinions and all sides of every conflicting issue of life are working harmoniously to relieve the distress of war; the details devolve upon us because we are organized. When it came to distributing relief, we told the committee that if they would let us go at it with our organization, we would answer for the result; in forty-eight hours seventeen sections of our federation were ready and we distributed 8,000 repasts the third day; today we are distributing 100,000 meals a day, and it is all done by ticket, so that we may be certain the relief goes to the right place.

"Our fund today amounts to 7,000,000 francs, divided between 225 different soup houses. Of course the commission has other demands upon it than the mere feeding of the hungry, but, with the fund in hand, we can face the future with equanimity."

POPE HAS TRUTH OF MERCIER INCIDENT

Special Messenger From Belgium Brings Details to Vatican.

Rome, Jan. 19.—A special messenger from the ecclesiastical authorities of Belgium, who succeeded in passing the German lines, has reached Rome bearing a full report concerning the situation growing out of Cardinal Mercier's Christmas pastoral letter. The report was presented to Pope Benedict and the following is an authentic extract from it:

"Notwithstanding the efforts of Berlin to suppress the affair, the truth has begun to be known regarding the chicanery which Cardinal Mercier is the victim of. The facts subjoined may be considerd absolutely exact:

"First, the Germans seized from the Printer Dessain, at Malines, 15,000 copies of Cardinal Mercier's pastoral letter.

"Second, the Germans fined the printer $125.

"Third, the Germans forbade the reading of the pastoral letter in a large number of parishes.

"Fourth, three German officers called at the archbishop's palace in Malines, Jan. 2, and compelled him to submit to interrogation.

"Fifth, Cardinal Mercier was prevented Jan. 3 from presiding at a religious ceremony. That morning he received from Gen. Von Bissing a telegram, 'inviting' him not to go to this service, which was to take place in a church in Antwerp.

"Sixth, on Jan. 4, Cardinal Mercier was detained in his palace all day.

"Seventh, on Jan. 6, the Germans presented the cardinal with the text of a form of retraction which they demanded that he sign. The cardinal refused."

PRIEST HONORED FOR HIS BRAVERY

Decorated for Receiving Confessions on the Field of Battle.

(Correspondence of the Associated Press.)

Petrograd, Dec. 28.—Father Shtsherbakovski, an orthodox priest, has received the Order of St. Vladimir, third degree, for his bravery in receiving confession and anointing the dying on the field of battle, under fire. This priest is the only man in Russia, not an army officer, who wears a St. George decoration. This he won in Manchuria for taking command of a regiment when all the officers had fallen, and leading it, cross in hand, in a charge against the Japanese. Father Shtsherbakovski also wears the Order of St. Anne, third degree, for materially assisting in his troops' victory in another battle.

CLEARED OF CRIME BY ANOTHER'S CONFESSION

Allegan, Mich., Jan. 19.—Glen Austin, a private in the Sixty-third company coast artillery, United States army, arrested last week at Fort Worden, Wash., and brought here to answer a murder charge, was yesterday cleared of all connection with the crime, by confession in open court of George H. Foster of this city.

Foster, in a statement to the police recently, charged Austin with being responsible for the death in 1913 of Mrs. Lee Talmadge, an aged resident of Allegan. Foster himself was taken into custody Saturday and held, pending the arrival here of Austin. When the two men faced each other in court today Foster broke down and admitted that during a quarrel he had choked Mrs. Talmadge to death.

He completely exonerated Austin and pleaded guilty to manslaughter. Austin was released.

HEALTH TALKS

By William Brady, M.D.

Profitable Fiction About the Kidneys

FOR such a common trouble as kidney disease it is quite natural that there should be a thousand and one nostrums offered. And not a single one of the alleged kidney cures advertised and sold under false pretenses can offer the slightest help for a case of actual kidney disease. But these fake kidney cures are not often taken by persons with actual kidney disease; more frequently they are taken by persons who have nothing whatever wrong with their kidneys, though they do have the "symptoms" described in the almanacs and the advertisements. You see, the kidney cure crook is out after the money, and if he can make some poor victim imagine his kidneys are out of order or affected in any way, why, the exploiter of the "remedy" is just tickled to death to get the money.

Some "Symptoms" Without Significance.

For the benefit of any needlessly worried reader let us say here that backache is rarely if ever complained of by the victim of real kidney trouble. It is worked to a fare-you-well by all the notorious kidney nostrums, however, just because the popular delusion has it that pain in the back must mean trouble in the kidney. Also, a sediment or cloudiness appearing in the kidney excretions after standing a few hours signifies nothing whatever unless good health and a hearty appetite. The fake kidney cure advertisements, however, deliberately lie about this, and harvest a large income in return.

Too frequent or too infrequent action of the kidneys is usually not a symptom of "Kidney disease, but rather of some trouble in the bladder or some disturbance of digestion or a failure to drink enough water or perhaps just a profuse perspiration due to warm weather or hard work.

The color of the excreted fluid is no criterion of kidney trouble. This, too, depends generally upon the character of the diet and the quantity of drink.

Worst of all deceptions practised by fake kidney cures is the incorporation of a dye, methylene blue, in pills or tablets. This stains the excreted fluid blue, and there its effect ends. But the dishonest exploiter of the cure intimates subtly that the blue color means "poisons" thrown off by the kidneys—and the postoffice authorities fail to arest him!

Questions and Answers.

Arterio-sclerosis: 1. Is hardening of the arteries caused by poor circulation? 2. Do nitroglycerin tablets give any relief? 3. Does constant pain in the head always accompany arterio-sclerosis? 4. Do the veins become hardened as well as the arteries in this disease?

REPLY.

1. Hardening of the arteries rather causes the poor circulation. The causes are senility, alcoholism, overeating, the poisons of various infections, and tobacco. 2. Yes. Momentarily, provided the blood pressure be high. A dangerous drug for self-medication, however. 3. Only in a moderate degree. Not in all cases. It should be relieved by dietetic and medicinal treatment. 4. The veins partake somewhat in the degenerative process, but it chiefly involves the inner lining and the muscular coat of the arteries.

Wart on Eyelid: Will you please tell me a remedy for warts? I have one on my upper eyelid which is growing larger, and I do not believe in fooling with my eyes.

REPLY.

Removal under a local anesthetic is the only safe remedy we know for such a condition.

Habits That Harm: 1. Is smoking conducive to neurotic disease? 2. Is it injurious to drink strong coffee four times a day? 3. Is eating before retiring a dangerous habit? 4. Is midnight early enough for working people to retire?

REPLY.

1. Yes. If there is any tendency to nervous disease smoking should be be stopped at once. 2. Yes, that is an abuse. A cup of coffee for breakfast is harmless. 3. No, a light lunch before retiring is rather healthful. 4. If the individual must be up and off at 7 he or she will sooner or later pay the penalty of insufficient sleep. If there is a tendency to nervous trouble at least eight hours should be passed in sleep each night.

WAGES EQUAL TO GOVERNOR'S

Attorney Says Engineers Make More Money Than Some State Executives.

Sheean for Western Railroads Makes Final Argument in Wage Hearing.

Chicago, Jan. 19.—Governors of seven states of the Union could make more money sitting in the cab of a locomotive on some of the runs of Western railways than they now receive in the executive chairs of their respective states.

This statement was made here yesterday by James M. Sheean, attorney for the Western railroads whose engineers, firemen and hostlers are demanding higher wages and better hours, in outlining the railroad side of the case to the board of arbitration. Presentation of evidence for the men began Nov. 30, 1914, and was completed yesterday, after which Mr. Sheean made his remarks.

Sheean went on to say that the annual salaries of these governors are smaller than the wages received by some of the locomotive engineers of Western railroads who ask wage increases which Sheean said would amount to $40,000,000 a year.

Maximum $3,725.20.

"Of the 5,000 men whose wages for the entire year to June 30, 1913, will be shown," Sheean continued, "there is a maximum of $3,725.20 for passenger engineers; $3,342.30 for freight engineers; $1,752.20 for passenger firemen, and $1,890.32 for freight firemen. Against these maximums the governors of seven states receive $3,000 a year or less, while those of seven other states receive $4,000, or only slightly above the engineers' maximum earnings.

"Actual earnings statements for all engineers and firemen for the month in which these demands were presented, show that engineers in passenger service earned actually an average of $186 for the month, with a maximum actual earnings of $341; in the freight service the average was $170, with an actual maximum of $358. The firemen in passenger service that month earned an average of $110, with a maximum of $210, while in freight service their actual earnings for the month were on the averags of $110, with a maximum of $221. Other firemen in combination freight and passenger service earned even higher wages.

"A careful investigation of the increased cost of living in the West shows that prices have not advanced as fast as have the wages of engineers and firemen under the schedules awarded in 1910.

Comparison of Wages.

"Comparison of their wages with those of any other craft, or of any other railway employes, or of engineers and firemen in other parts of the country, show that they are already receiving a higher compensation in both rates of pay and rules."

Touching the question of ability of the roads to meet the added cost in these latest demands of the men, Sheean pointed out that in the face of larger mileage and growing traffic, the Western roads in recent years have experienced immense losses in net revenues, income, dividends and surplus, in which situation they are now faced by demands of engineers and firemen which he said would add $40,000,000 to their expenses.

"These wage demands," the lawyer asserted, "affect some 64,000 men on approximately 140,000 miles of railroad. On the basis of the month in which they were presented, the added expense would be $3,700,000, or about 51 per cent. Applied to the total payroll of the companies affected for the year, this would mean nearly $40,000,000.

Operating Income Loss.

"Over 8,000 more miles were operated by the affected companies in 1914 than in 1910, yet net operating income after taxes in 1914 was $15,000,000 less than in 1910, and nearly $40,000,000 less than 1913.

"In 1914 there was declared $22,000,000 less in dividends than in 1910, and in 1913, $4,000,000 less than in 1910. In 1914 there was carried to surplus $24,000,000 less than in 1910, while the surplus in 1913 was $12,000,000 less than in 1910. In five months of the current fiscal year there has been a drop of $29,000,000 in gross revenue.

"We face this situation as to the income of the railways involved, although in three years to June 30, 1913, they spent more than $660,000,000 in improvements and extensions to property, and out of this devoted more than $220,000,000 or practically one-third toward the purpose of increasing efficiency and safety, and expediting train movements. It is true heavier power and equipment have been installed, but labor-saving devices and increased wages have more than counter-balanced any added work or responsibility placed upon the men by the heavy power."

ON RUSSIAN ARTILLERY

German Expert Says Efficiency Has Increased Since Manchurian War.

Has Proven Excellent Arm in Defensive and Position Fighting.

(Correspondence of the Associated Press.)

Cologne, Jan. 1.—Russian artillery has proven an excellent arm in defensive and position fighting, but has totally failed in offensive and mobile maneuvers, according to a German expert who gives his views on the subject in the most recent number of the Militair-Wochenblatt. The same authority concedes, however, that the efficiency of the Russian artillery had been greatly increased since the Manchurian war. He also admits that in the German army Russian artillery had been underrated, and indicates that now all of its weak points are thoroughly understood.

The Germans think so highly of the Russian artillery ammunition that they are at present modifying some 1,200 field pieces at the Spandu arsenal so as to suit them for a large store of captured ammunition which could not be used with the present German caliber.

Changing Field Pieces.

The caliber of the German field gun is two centimeters less than that of the Russian, and for this reason the captured ammunition could not be put to use immediately. There is stored in the German arsenals a large quantity of shells for the former German field pieces, which had a caliber about two centimeters greater than the Russian guns which have been captured. By widening the rifling of the Russian pieces the obsolete shells may now be used. Some 700 pieces taken by the Austro-Hungarians are being similarly adapted.

After pointing out that the Russians have always had a leaning towards the defensive, the writer in the Militair-Wochenblatt gives a number of instances in the present war in which this was demonstrated. The artillery positions had been selected with the greatest care, and every possible effort had been made to protect the pieces and their crews. At Ivangorod it was impossible for the Germans to find the Russian batteries without the most minute inspection with aircraft.

Well Screened.

As a rule the Russian emplacements were well screened with bushes, and, where those were hard to find, with sod and often potato greens. Wherever possible, the Russians would seek the cover of woods and trees, and often the batteries were hidden in villages and the surrounding gardens.

In placing their artillery, the Russians usually group the guns in half-batteries of four. This permits efficient fire control and gives the observation officer a far greater value than he would have if directing the fire of single pieces.

Field glasses which were taken from observation officers and others, as well as a mass of other purely technical evidence, convinced the writer that the equipment of the Russian artillery reconnaissance is very intelligently divided into small sectors, each of which contained no less than forty-eight points (places which the shell is supposed to strike).

During the first weeks of the war the Russians increased the number of heavy field howitzers, until each army corps had three batteries of four pieces each. Before that these heavy field howitzers were detailed with the armies (a larger unit than the army corps), each army having from three to four batteries.

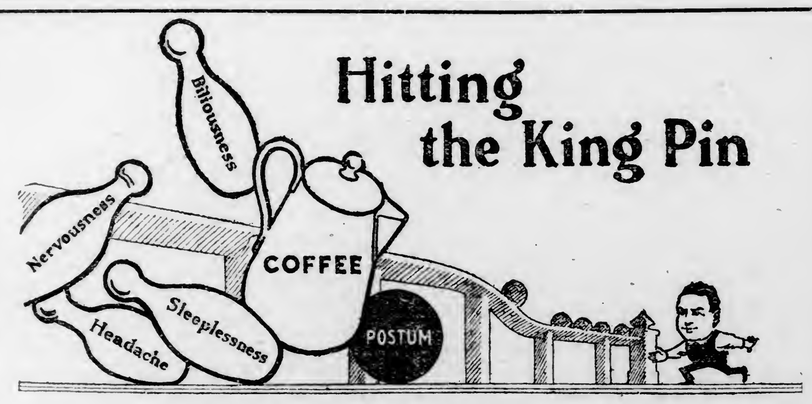

Value of the Artillery.

After reciting a number of personal experiences which left no doubt as to the efficiency of the Russian artillery field intelligence service and fire control, the officer gives his views of the value of the Russian artillery in offensive or mobile maneuvers.

"Where unknown terrains and sudden developments require quick orientation, the Russian artillery has always failed completely," says the writer. "In all such cases the batteries shot wildly and without a system by which the field to be taken under fire was to be divided. One could hardly believe that it was the same artillery. Even the serving of the pieces appeared different."

Usually the Russians have little trouble moving their guns and ammunition wagons over the worst of roads, and even through swamps, attests the writer.

Thousands, finding coffee a hindrance, have struck it from their daily diet and now use

POSTUM

Coffee contains a powerful irritant—caffeine—which first races the body functions to unnatural speed, and then leaves them in a state of exhaustion. Result—weak heart, nervousness, biliousness, headache, sleeplessness and many other ills and discomforts.

Postum—made only of prime wheat and a bit of wholesome molasses—is a pure food-drink, absolutely free from caffeine or any other drug or harmful substance.

Postum has delightful flavour, and comes in two forms: Regular Postum—must be boiled, 15c and 25c packages; Instant Postum—soluble, made in the cup instantly, 30c and 50c tins. The cost per cup is about the same for both kinds.

Suppose you leave off coffee ten days and try Postum—and better health.

FURNACE WILL BE REOPENED

Will Give Employment to Many Who Have Been Idle.

The Zenith Furnace company blast furnace, one of West Duluth's largest industries, will resume operations tomorrow or Thursday morning. Announcement to that effect was made today by Fred C. Harris, general manager of the plant, who said that only a few minor details remain to be arranged to have the big furnace blown in.

The resumption of work by the plant will give employment to about 157 men who have been idle since early last fall. These men will be divided among the two shifts night and day.

The Zenith Furnace company has spent a large amount of money in placing the furnace and its plant in first-class shape for a long run. The entire blast furnace has been relined with special fire brick and many of its boilers and blasts have been given a thorough overhauling and in many cases been replaced with new material.

A large stock of ore and limestone has arrived and sufficient stock has been ordered and is on the way to guarantee the steady operation of the plant for at least sixteen months. The plant will be prepared to turn out an average of 220 tons of pig iron daily.

A few months ago her little baby died, causing her to be deeply depressed. Since then she has received notices of the deaths of her father, two brothers and the husbands of two sisters, all of whom were killed in the European war. Her bereavement, coupled with worry over the financial condition of her family, caused her mind to give away.

CITY'S MORALS ARE BETTER

Petty Larceny, Drunkenness and Disordery Conduct Lead Crime List.

But Two Officers Die in Four Years; Both Were Shot.

Duluth's morals are better now, and were better during the year just ended, than they have been for years, according to the annual report of Chief of Police C. H. Troyer, soon to be issued.

In the last four years but two policemen have died while on the city force, and these two were shot while performing their duty.

On Jan. 8, 1911, Harry Chesmore, patrolman, died from gunshot wounds received while assisting in the arrest of two "boy bandits," and three years later to a day, Nell J. Mooney died from similar wounds inflicted by a drunken man whom he arrested.

Some idea of the work done by Duluth's police force can be secured from the report, which shows that 11,808 men were given a night's lodging during the year, the record for a single night being 158 men. A total of 2,851 complaints were investigated.

Police in New Role.

Policemen appear in a new role in this report—that of assistants to the water and light department, as well as the Duluth-Edison electric company. The report shows that police reported arc lights out 1,739½ times, meaning that lights were out that many nights. Gas lights went out 297 times, while electric incandescent lights were unequal to the occasion 1,411 times.

As usual, petit larceny was the most common cause for arrests, aside from drunkenness and disorderly conduct, there being 673 persons entered under this complaint. There were 178 persons charged with grand larceny, 133 with burglary; 31 with robbery, 13 with larceny from person, 2 with embezzlement and 2 with swindling.

That the cuisine at the jail is improving is evidenced by the report on meals, which shows that 3,215 "hand-outs" were given visitors.

Other work of the bluecoats, as shown by the report, includes: Sixty-nine accidents reported, 180 doors found open, 5 burglars foiled, 140 dead animals and 7 dead bodies cared for, 37 fire alarms given, 112 fires attended, 4 fires extinguished without aid, 29 insane cases cared for, 158 lost children returned to their homes, 3 persons resuscitated with a pulmoter and 1 man saved from drowning.

Seven policemen were injured while on duty, none of them seriously. In addition to this, 1,231 persons were removed to the county jail.

Identification Work Better.

The work of the identification bureau also is attracting more attention this year than before, the photographs and records of criminals being much more complete than before. There now are on file records and pictures of 1,674 men arrested in Duluth and 18,916 men arrested outside the city, making a total of 21,590 persons whose features and the story of whose accomplishments grace the rogue's gallery.

There were 261 newcomers to the hall of fame, and 1,331 men now have their finger prints, as well as their physiognomy, in the Duluth municipal records.

VESSEL MEN TO DETROIT

Lake Carriers' Association Will Hold Annual Session This Week.

Big Question Will Be Bill of Lading for Grain Shipping.

R. C. Helm of the D. T. Helm company, vessel managers and brokers, and J. L. Trempe, grain weigher for the vessel interests at the Head of the Lakes, will leave this evening for Detroit, where they will attend the annual meeting of the Lake Carriers' association which will be held there beginning tomorrow. G. A. Tomlinson of the Tomlinson company, who has been in the East for some time, will also be present. The latter is one of the directors of the association.

In view of the marked depression in the shipping business during the year 1914, there are likely to be many matters come up in the way of readjustments, but these will not be learned of until they develop. There will, doubtless, be an interesting report from President William Livingston and others on the committee that has been fighting the proposed seamen's bill in Washington, which, in its present form, is declared by lake vessel men as impossible to comply with, especially on passenger steamers.

Probably the most important matter of all will be the proposed bill of lading which the Lake Carriers have put up to the grain shippers. In the past the complaint has been that there were continual claims of shortages at lower ports and that the carriers had to accept the word of the shippers that there were such shortages, for they had no check on the weighing in of grain from elevators and, as a matter of fact, no check on the weighing out.

They proposed, a short time ago, at a meeting held at Detroit, that a bill of lading issue and that the vessel men allow claims to the extent of fifteen pounds per 1,000, and lay no claim for overages. To this some of the shippers, at least, have not agreed, although it was said that there have been some charters made at Chicago recently on that basis. None have learned to have been made here, and it is claimed that only a slight defection from the ranks of the grain shippers has been discovered.

It is believed that there is going to be a fight between shippers and carriers, and this will undoubtedly be brought up at the Detroit meeting, and preparations will likely be made for the battle. However, it is understood that there will be fireworks at the meeting for the owners are not unanimous, it is claimed, and some are likely to break away in case the association adopts the proposal, and endeavor to handle the grain trade themselves.

STYLE SHOW FOR DULUTH

Merchants Will Hold Three-Day Exhibition, Beginning March 25.

Duluth retail merchants, following the lead of Columbus, Ohio, Los Angeles, Cal., Seattle and other cities throughout the United States, plan to adopt the custom of having a style show every spring and fall, when the various modes will be displayed before being placed on sale, beginning March 25. This first show, lasting three days, will be under the auspices of the Retail Merchants' association, which includes virtually all of the representative dealers.

Original ideas for advertising the show week and making it unique will be devised each year, so that the season's opening may be emphasized, not only in Duluth, but throughout the territory adjacent, according to George A. Gray, chairman of the general committee.

Bombs will be exploded at corners along Superior street from Second avenue east to Twenty-third avenue west, as nearly simultaneously as possible, to announce the opening of the show. At 5 o'clock all stores will close, drawing their curtains, and preparations for the display, which will open at 7 p. m.

No goods will be sold during the evening, and no special stocks will be ordered for the occasion, according to the plans. "It is merely to show the people of Duluth and St. Louis county what we have—to receive our friends and visitors," said Mr. Gray.

A. C. Pearsons, acting secretary of the association, has urged that all retail merchants co-operate in helping to make the first show a big success, regardless of whether they are members of the organization or not. Prizes will be offered for the best features in window trimming and an aggregate of $40 in cash prizes will be awarded to persons more than 16 years of age who write the best essays on the subject, "Selling Value of Show Windows."

The committees in charge of the show are:

General Arrangements—George A. Gray, W. N. Hart, A. E. Siewert.

Finance—William Billstein, A. Ahlen, Matt Koneczny, A. H. Moe.

Publicity—A. C. Pearsons, Felix Seligman, C. H. MacIntosh.

Woman's Realm

Preceding the program given by members of the Schubert club of St. Paul before the Matinee Musicale yesterday afternoon at Pilgrim Congregational church, Mrs. George Richards made formal announcement of the winning of the prize offered by the National Federation of Musical Clubs by Miss Faith Helen Rogers' composition, "A Ballad of Trees and the Master." As Mrs. Richards explained, prize-winning compositions of the national federation are given their first formal presentation at the national conventions, but permission to waive this rule has been obtained from the committee in charge of such matters, and Miss Rogers' production will be heard at the next regular program of the Matinee Musicale, Monday afternoon, Feb. 1.

Mrs. Richards introduced Mrs. Warren S. Briggs, president of the Schubert club, who said:

"I bring you the hearty greetings of the Schubert club. We are always conscious of the fellowship of good work but this hand-to-hand contact is especially desirable. I congratulate you on your growth numerically and in musical ideals.

"I have been asked to tell you something of the program of compositions by St. Paul musicians. When the National Educational association met in St. Paul last summer, a member of the Schubert club was on the entertainment committee. She asked our cooperation in planning entertainment for the visitors and we arranged a musical program of St. Paul productions. The meeting was open to only members of the educational association, but a few weeks ago we presented the program revised. On account of the absence of a few of the musicians from the city it was necessary to make some changes.

"The program that is to be given now is not original, it is interpretive. Members of the Schubert club will now speak to you in a language better than mine."

Following Mrs. Briggs' talk Mrs. Jessica De Wolf, soprano, gave a group of songs by Bach, Schuman, Reiman, Beethoven and Liszt. Her second group consisted of French, German and English numbers. Mrs. James Bliss was the accompanist.

Mrs. Bessie Parnell Weston gave nine Chopin preludes for her opening number, followed by two modern compositions, a Glazounow gavotte and three Rachmaninoff preludes. In the concluding group of the program were Debussy's "Dans le Style le Movement d' un Cake Walk" and "Hommage a S. Pickwick, Esq., P. P. M. P. C.," Tschaikowsky's "Humoresque" and Rachmaninoff's "Polichinelle" brought the program to a close.

Both Mrs. De Wolf and Mrs. Weston were received enthusiastically by the audience that taxed the capacity of the church.

The program was followed by an informal tea in the vestry for all who attended the concert. Receiving with the board of directors and the St. Paul guests were the members of the hospitality committee. Pink roses were used on the tea table.

The visiting artists who left last evening for St. Paul were the guests of honor at an informal buffet supper given by Mrs. C. A. Duncan of 2215 East Second street. Mrs. Duncan's other guests were Mrs. Briggs, the hostesses of the visiting artists, the board of directors and hospitality committee of the Matinee Musicale and the members of the Matinee Musicale who will give the reciprocity program before the Schubert club, Jan. 27.

WOMEN HEAR HEALTH TALK

Girls From Three Stores Attend Barker Lectures; Famous Authority Will Continue Program for Three More Days.

The address of Dr. Charles E. Barker of Washington, D. C., given to young women at the Young Women's Christian association this forenoon, was one of the most successful ever held by the famous health expert in this city. Two lectures were given, one at 9 o'clock and the other at 10 o'clock. The attendance was far above that expected, being 270 for the two addresses.

A large number of those present were from the stores. Three large department stores, Gray's, Silberstein & Bondy's and the Glass Block gave permission for all their girls to attend the lectures. The girls attended in relays, so that the work at the stores was not seriously handicapped. Dr. Barker spoke along the general lines of health and how to keep well. Marked interest was shown in the lectures.

Dr. Barker's only addresses for the West end were on today's program. At the Bryant school this afternoon he spoke to the mothers, and tonight at 8 o'clock he will address the young men and boys over 16 years of age on "Manhood at Its Best, or Social Purity," at the Swedish Mission church.

At 9 o'clock tomorrow morning Dr. Barker will speak at the Denfeld high school, and at 10:30 at the Irving Junior high school.

At 6 p. m. there will be a dinner for dormitory men and friends. At 8 o'clock Dr. Barker will speak to fathers, and his topic will be "A Fathers Responsibility His Son." The lecture will be in the gymnasium.

The lectures will continue Thursday and Friday, and will be so arranged that every person in Duluth may hear the speaker.

CHILD LABOR DAY TO BE OBSERVED NEXT SUNDAY

Jan. 24 will be Child Labor day. With the co-operation of clergymen and school principals the national child labor committee will then bring the message of the working children before thousands of persons throughout the country. The committee will make a double plea: First, on behalf of the Palmer-Owen Federal bill which the committee says has a very good chance of passing at the present session, provided congressmen are shown that the people really want it; and, second, for better state laws to regulate the forms of employment that cannot be reached by Federal action.

The Federal bill would not affect children at work in Minnesota factories for the law in this state contains the three provisions of the Palmer-Owen bill relating to factories. There are twenty-two states, however, where children under 14 are legally employed in factories; there are thirty states where children under 16 are working more than eight hours a day; and there are fifteen states where children under 16 may be employed at night. Without a Federal law the consumer in Minnesota cannot be sure that the goods he buys has not been made by children in these states under conditions which are not tolerated in Minnesota.

The one provision of the Palmer-Owen bill which is not already in force in Minnesota is the 16-year limit for children in mines and quarries.

Among the forms of employment which can only be regulated by the state, street trading is receiving particular attention in Minnesota this year. A state law prohibiting boys under 12, or possibly 14, and girls under 18 from engaging in street occupations is advocated by many state officials including Henry McColl, commissioner of public safety in St. Paul, Miss Agnes Peterson, superintendent of the bureau of women and children in the state department of labor and industries, and Victoria Ericson, state factory inspector.

OBSERVATIONS

By PEGGY PEABODY

Appearances Are Indeed Deceitful.

"Don't take too much stock in a $10 suit on a $3 man. Some men quarter their cows better than they do their wives, and I have been in more farmers' barns with running water than I have in homes with the same improvement." Thus counseled a prominent woman lecturer on social reforms in a recent interview in New York.

It is only too true that many women about to marry, and even those already married, think too much about the clothes that a man has on his back and too much about the personal attributes of a man in the way of features and physique, and what is termed a winning personality, than they do of his character and the manner of man he is at heart. The qualities that attract them are often those that cannot be depended upon to outlast the honeymoon, and not of the variety that will prove durable after years of constant association with one who is as frivolous and selfish as is the man himself.

Women apply for the majority of the divorces, and if this proves anything it proves that they make mistakes in believing that such and such a man will make them happy. Of course the choosing of a husband is not in woman's hands. The privilege heretofore has been man's. Men have most always done the selecting, and in the main they do it not so much from the standpoint of golden hair and laughing eyes as they do from the standpoint of the woman and the future mother.

Most women if the chance was theirs to pick and choose, would in the long run cast themselves down before the Apollo-like features of some empty-headed, totally selfish and wholly irresponsible man and beg and entreat him to share their lot just because he wore clothes of a conspicuous pattern and was ready at all times with the honeyed word. Probably there are few women who believe that if they had the opportunity which is man's alone that she would make one-half the fool of herself in this respect that men do of themselves.

It has always been said that men are carried away by a pretty face, but I am inclined to believe that more women are swept off their feet by the good looks and honeyed words of rascals than are men by beautiful faces and forms that are brainless and soulless. Unless a man has something more than fashionable clothes, a fine pair of eyes and a winning manner, a woman had better say him nay.

LYCEUM—"A Pair of Sixes."

SHOW IS LAUGH-GETTER.

Lyceum Audience Well Pleased With "A Pair of Sixes."

No, "A Pair of Sixes," which opened at the Lyceum theater last evening, is not about some young woman's shoes, nor gloves, nor stockings. Nothing of the kind. It's all about two partners, unable to agree, who play a poker hand to see which one must be the other's butler for a whole year. A pair of sixes wins and the play begins.

The play by Edward Peple is full of vim and snap characteristics of modern comedies. The author has built an ingenious plot about two partners in a firm manufacturing the Eureka Digestive pill.

"A Pair of Sixes" is a comedy from beginning to end. It is full of humor and the large audience of last evening had a laugh a minute and not only the T. B. M. enjoyed the show, but his wife and daughter and son all had a good time.

The play opens in the offices of the Eureka company, with the entire force right on the job. There is the stenographer, the clerk, and office boy, all hurrying and rushing. Enter the two partners, George B. Nettleton and T. Boggs John, who never can agree. They fight with one another continuously, and the wrangle on this particular morning ends in the calling of their lawyer, Thomas J. Vanderbolt, who is ordered to break up the partnership.

Of course, neither will concede to the other, so this bright lawyer falls on the idea of having them play a poker hand to see which one shall run the business alone for a period of one year, while the loser shall be the other's butler during that time.

The lawyer deals the cards and then calls the two partners. Nettleton apparently holds a pair, as he asks for three cards. Bright and happy, Johns throws four cards down and shows a queen of hearts. He wants four more cards. Nettleton gets his and shows "a pair of sixes." Then Johns is handed his cards, one at a time. The first is a jack of hearts, then comes the king of hearts, and then the ace of hearts. It looks like a royal flush and the audience is as breathless as those on the stage are. The fifth card is an eight of spades.

Nettleton wins and his first order is that Johns, whom he now calls Boggs, grow side whiskers. The partner goes to the other's home and there starts his duties as butler. Coddles, the maid of all work, complicates matters. Miss Rita Carlyle as Coddles plays one of the best character parts seen here in many months. She scored a hit every time she appeared on the stage.

Johns, who is in love with Florence Cole, brings in some cocktails for a dinner party while she is in the room. He drops the entire tray, but is unable to explain, because the contract specifically states that the partner telling anyone not in the secret must forfeit $5,000. But the young woman learns all about the contract and she gives Johns an idea, telling him to appear to like his job and always to go about smiling and to be especially sweet to Mrs. Nettleton. This annoys the other partner, and then the trouble begins. The lawyer is called to break the contract, but he declares that he is helpless.

After considerable wrangling Johns' fiancee announces that the contract is null and void, because it hinges on a game of poker, which is gambling. That ends the play, with Johns declaring that "Vanderholt is a hell of a lawyer."

All the members of the company play their parts exceptionally well, special credit being due Miss Mazie Fogarty as Sally Parker, the stenographer. George B. Leffinwell as Nettleton and Harry O. Stubbs as Johns are both pleasing.

"A Pair of Sixes" was presented at a matinee this afternoon and will close its engagement here with a performance this evening.

AT THE GRAND.

Entertaining Vaudeville Acts Comprise the New Bill.

There isn't a weak spot in the new bill that opened at the Grand theater yesterday. The vaudeville acts are short and classy, and the pictures are full of interesting features.

It is difficult to say which act was the "popular" headliner yesterday because of the uniform excellence of them all. Grant Gardner, a burnt-cork comedian, is entirely out of his class. When he came upon the stage a good share of his audience expected to be bored by a lot of common-place "burnt-cork" jokes, but to their surprise he handed out a new line of jokes and parodies that brought him uproarious applause. His humorous interpretation of a number of old songs was a scream. He closed his act with two good cornet solos.

Bert and Hazel Skatelle, two graceful and clever dancers on roller skates, were a hit from the moment they appeared upon the stage. They are said to have come from a Shubert Winter Garden production, and this statement would not be denied by anybody who witnessed their work yesterday. They sing and dance while skating, and are entertaining throughout their whole act. Their appearance is excellent and they are well dressed.

Herbert's Loop the Loop Dogs are also far above the usual line of acts of this character. The canine performers make a great hit in looping the loop and leaping from the top of a ladder that reaches to the flies of the stage. Keno, Welsh and Melrose are acrobatic comedians, who put over some clever feats.

The motion pictures left little to be desired. Mabel Trunnelle in "Olive's Other Self," one of the "Olive's Opportunity" series, is fast becoming a friend of Grand patrons. Her appearance weekly as the Gypsy girl shows that she is well cast for the part and that she is a film artist of great talent. "The Indian Suffragette," "The Two Women," a Western play, and others round out the bill.

Amusement Notes.

Superior had a glimpse of the Baldwin Players last night and will see them again tonight. While "A Pair of Sixes" has been playing at the Duluth Lyceum, the Baldwin Players moved across the bay to Superior and are playing an engagement of two performances at the Grand Opera house there. Judging from their reception last evening, the Baldwin Players would be welcomed more frequently in the sister city.

They will return tomorrow afternoon for the regular Wednesday matinee, and will continue at the Lyceum for the remainder of the week presenting the double bill of Dr. David Henry Day's sketch "A Pair of Crooks" and the three-act comedy "Lost Twenty-four Hours."

Thursday night will be a gala night at the Lyceum. The curlers will attend the performance in a body, and some special stunts are being rehearsed for their especial beenfit.

Next week the Baldwin Players will present "The Virginian." Rehearsals for it began yesterday, and it is expected to be the biggest production the company has attempted since it opened its winter and spring engagement.

"When you're lonesome, play ragtime; when you're blue, play ragtime; when you're temper gets away, play ragtime; when you're head aches, play ragtime; if you don't play it, sing it, but whether you sing or play, let it be always ragtime."

These are the maxims of Ray Samuels, the pretty girl who calls herself the "Blue Streak of Vaudeville," at the Orpheum this week.

Ragtime, she says, is the cure for everything. And those who have heard her sing "Ballin the Jack" agree with her.

"Yes," said Miss Samuels today, "ragtime is the 'fountain of youth' that Ponce de Leon sought for down in what are now the southern states. Ponce arrived on the scene too early in the game, that's all. He should have waited till the southern darkey sprang into existence. The darkey knows where the fountain of youth is to be found. He has it in every one of those old ambling, shambling, crazy tunes, and he never knows what illness is.

"Give me ragtime every day. I love it, and don't you forget it, so do the very ones who declare it below their standard of musical entertainment. A little ragtime is better than a whole barrel of pills and powders. Never was sick a day in my life."

"A Maid By Proxy" is the bill at the Zelda today.

Perry Gordon, the novelist, is fond of one particular picture in a public art gallery. This picture also happens to be the favorite of Irene Gray, who visits the gallery with her aunt. Irene is vexed when Gordon obscures her view of the painting and becomes angry. Later she and her aunt see Gordon getting into a machine. The aunt recognizes him as the famous novelist.

Later Perry Gordon and Irene see much of each other. Gordon proposes to her, but she puts him off until she has consulted her aunt. The aunt tells her that men are not to be trusted and that Perry should be put to the test. Accordingly Perry is invited to attend a party at the house of Irene's aunt. Irene, herself, as previously arranged, takes the part of a maid. Perry meets her and immediately continues his love-making, regardless of her position in life, knowing only that he loves her.

Perry is involved in many complications because of Irene and her aunt. Finally he proves that his love is real. Nevertheless the aunt turns him out for flirting with the pseudo-maid. Later Perry returns to the house and, meeting the real maid, is informed of the deception played upon him. He again declares his love for Irene and is accepted.

NEEDLEWORK GUILD WILL HELP WAR SUFFERERS

The following circular letter was sent out by the president of the Needlework Guild of America, with headquarters at Philadelphia, to all the branches of the guild:

"To the Directors and Members of the Duluth Branch:

"The Needlework Guild of America, as a factor in relief for local and national disaster, has long been appreciated, and the members have doubtless wondered why we have stood aloof at this time, when, as never before, the heart of the nation has been stirred by the cry of distress. Had the call been at another time of the year, we should doubtless have been first in the field, but the national officers and executive committee decided that to ask a special collection so near the time of the annual collections of the branches might tell disastrously on the supply of garments for the needs of America, and also on money for the national treasury.

"As a national organization for relief, it is plainly our duty to bear our part in the great world's helpfulness. We are fortunate in having a specific aim and object for this collection and to be able to plan and carry it out with the co-operation of our Lyons-France Needlework guild.

"From May, 1913, until July, 1914, Mrs. Stewart, the founder of the guild in America, lived in Lyons, and founded there a needlework guild, which is headed by the mayor, and officered by representative women. The president is a daughter of a president of the Swiss republic, and the secretary is an American who has lived for fifteen years in Lyons. There is a strong body of section presidents; one is president of the Lyons Red Cross; two sections are formed of working girls, many of whom, through the closing of factories and shops, are now destitute. Lyons has a population of 600,000; of these, probably 500,000 were dependent on their daily wage.

"What the Needlework Guild of America proposes to do is to open workrooms where girls and women will be kept warm through the day and be given material to make into garments for the wounded (of whom as early as September thousands were sent to Lyons), and be paid the war wage of 20 cents a day. Besides, we shall open workrooms for Belgian mothers, where they can bring their babies and be given materials prepared to make into garments for themselves and their children. There are many thousands Belgians in Lyons—800 arrived one day in September. How long these workrooms shall continue and how many can be opened, depends upon the help of our members. We are asking for money instead of garments because we want to give employment to the starving women, and because, by buying material at wholesale rates in America, we get it at half price. This plan enables us to help, first, the wounded soldiers; second, destitute women in the war country; third, our own mills, and fourth, our cotton growers. All shipments will be made through the American Red Cross. In order to conform to our neutrality laws, the work is for all nations.

"This circular letter is to be sent to every guild member, and the committee is hoping for the earnest cooperation of all. If you wish to have a part in this service, send 10 cents, or as much more as you care to give, by or before Thursday, Jan. 28, to Mrs. A. W. Hartman, president. Address 2400 East Superior street."

In compliance with the request Mrs. A. W. Hartman, president of the local branch of the Needlework guild, called a meeting of the directors and section presidents this afternoon at the public library in order to extend through them the call to all contributors of the guild. Persons who do not belong to the Needlework guild may send contributions to Mrs. Hartman.

MARRIED TO ONE, LIVED WITH THREE

Rev. James Darnell Quizzed By State's Attorney at Chicago.

Chicago, Jan. 19.—The Rev. James Morrison Darnell, whose resignation from his Kenosha, Wis., pastorate Jan. 11 was followed by his departure from his home there and by stories that he had represented himself as the husband of three young women, was questioned today in the office of the state's attorney.

According to Charles C. Case, Jr., assistant state's attorney, Darnell admitted that he was the father of the child of Ruth Soper with whom he had lived in Kenosha and who residents of the Wisconsin city said had been introduced to them as Mrs. Darnell.

Mr. Case said Darnell denied that he was ever married to Miss Ethel Spurgeon of Avon, Ill., or to Miss Ruth Soper of Owatonna, Minn., but insisted that a legal marriage ceremony had united him and Miss Doris Vaughn, his Chicago wife, who is now suing for divorce. Darnell was accompanied to the office of the state's attorney by his father, M. H. Darnell of Peoria, and his attorney. The elder Darnell insisted, according to Mr. Case, that his son return to Miss Soper and "do the right thing by her and their child."

IF YOU HAVEN'T VOTED.

If you haven't voted, and it is not yet nine o'clock, you still have time to cast your ballot in the electric light plant election—you still have time to vote against the "unit plant" scheme of the Municipal Ownership league.

Duluth never has made it a practice to go blindly into any proposition, and Duluth should not go blindly into this. There is too much uncertainty in the "unit plant" scheme to make it safe.

Even while asking the people to vote them the privilege of spending funds the city could ill afford to spend, the "unit plant" advocates have not told what their plans are in full. They are asking the city to do something that no business man or institution would consider for a moment—to speculate with money needed for other purposes. And not only that, but to speculate on a proposition which even they themselves admit they cannot see the end of. In fact, not one of them would use money of his own as they are asking the city to use the public funds.

There is much that is unexplained in their campaign—the refusal to allow the people to save money on their present electric bills; the refusal to tell what they propose to do if the city turns its funds over to them; their repudiation of the statements of engineers whom they themselves induced the city to hire to investigate the subject; their effort to hoodwink the users of electricity as to the kind of service they propose to let a city plant furnish.

All this secrecy cannot help but destroy confidence in them and in their schemes, and The Herald believes THE CITY SHOULD NOT ENTER ON ANY SUCH UNCERTAINTY AS THIS "UNIT PLANT" PROPOSITION, especially with a city debt that amounts to something like SEVENTY-FIVE DOLLARS FOR EVERY MAN, WOMAN AND CHILD IN THE CITY.

Of course as regards the six-cent and four-cent ordinances the proposition is different. With these it is only a matter of choice between taking something now and making sure of it, or taking a chance of getting a little more later on, and meanwhile paying out money that could as well have been saved. Those who are willing to take the chance will of course vote for the four-cent ordinance. Those who believe that "a bird in the hand is worth two in the bush" will vote for the six-cent ordinance.

But on the "unit plant" uncertainty, the citizens should return an emphatic "NO."

Whichever way this election goes, we want no complaints afterward that the vote was too small to be representative. Everybody capable of voting—and that means about twelve thousand men—ought to take part in the election.

If you're not registered, go to the polls and get sworn in as a voter.

The polls will be open till nine o'clock tonight, but don't let that fact keep you from voting sooner. That late closing is only for the benefit of those who can't get there early.

But whether it is early or late, GO AND VOTE!

For noise and effectiveness, there is an almost irresistible impulse to contrast Booker Washington and Billy Sunday.

IT NEEDS TO BE DRASTIC.

State Representative Nimocks' bill to regulate the sale of habit-forming drugs is described as "about as drastic a measure as could be imagined," and its terms as described in dispatches from St. Paul seem to warrant that description. But in cases like this the law must be drastic or it will fail of effect.

It has frequently been charged that the drug habit is more of a menace to the nation and to the race than the drinking habit. The probability of this is apparent if one but stops to think of the case with which a drug habit may be indulged in secret, owing to its lack of the tell-tale signs that go with the use of alcoholic liquors. It seems, too, as if the grip of a drug on the human appetites and desires is more terrible than any other, and this, combined with the ease of secret indulgence, makes the victims all the more helpless.

It is a never-ending source of wonder how any man can bring himself to trade in this kind of commodity, or how a trained physician, knowing the dangers to which he is exposing his patient, can deliberately do something to create or encourage the drug habit in an individual. Yet there are men—and women—who do just that, and because they find it an easy way to quick wealth, and are willing to take more than ordinary chances in their illicit traffic it seems necessary to take some drastic means to check them.

But the Nimocks bill will not be enough by itself. If passed, it should be followed by a vigorous crusade that would wipe out as much of the evil as possible, and be the beginning of a determined effort to stamp it out altogether in the state.

The polls will be open until nine o'clock.

WHICH IS MORE HORRIBLE?

Which is more horrible—the Italian earthquake or the European war?

There is a lot of pity being expressed for the earthquake victims. The suddenness and unexpectedness of their fate is being contrasted with that of the soldier who knowingly takes his life in his hands and goes into battle. The sufferings of those buried alive in the ruins is being contrasted with the "easier" lot of the wounded who are cared for in hospitals by Red Cross nurses and others.

As a matter of fact, there's a lot of foolishness in these contrasts. Just as a death by lightning is less horrible than death at the hands of a fellow man, death in this earthquake is really less horrible than death in battle. One is the result of natural forces; the other is the result of man's inhumanity.

And as for suffering—the quick stifling and later unconsciousness of those buried under debris is not to be compared with the hours upon hours which hundreds of the soldiers have had to undergo, lying wounded and helpless on the field, exposed to the bitterness of winter and the sufferings of fever and unable either to relieve themselves or summon help.

The Italian disaster is horrible enough, to be sure. But it is not to be compared with the butchery which is going on in the war zone.

A New Jersey town is looking for a chief of police at ten dollars a month. Does the job carry any perquisites?

NO CHANCE FOR HEROINES.

In a certain Wisconsin city, it is reported, the company in charge of telephone service has instituted the fire drill system. At least once a month a false alarm is sounded and the girls leave the building according to prearranged system, just as is done by the pupils in city schools.

All this is excellent in theory, no doubt. But how about annoyance to patrons through interrupted service? How would you like to wait for Central to leave the building and return before she softly whispered "Number?" over the wire? It seems as if that might be quite as aggravating as the famous "line's busy" answer.

But worst of all—Oh much the worst!—think what this system will do to the ever-recurring story about the brave telephone girl who stayed at her post when the building was on fire, and warned others of the danger they were in! If this Wisconsin idea becomes general we will hear no more of her. Instead we will have to put up with a yarn about the orderliness with which all the girls left the building when the flames broke out.

From a humanitarian point of view this Wisconsin experiment may be all right; but it threatens to play hob with romance.

The University of Wisconsin is said to have bought twenty-nine dollars worth of cats. It would be interesting to know just how many they got for that price.

A Serious Accident.

Los Angeles Times: An old Scotchman received from his son who lived in Canada a present of a fur cap with ear lugs. He was immensely proud of the gift, wore it on all occasions, and in weather both suitable and unsuitable. After a time it was observed that he no longer wore it, and a friend asked him the reason.

"Aye, aye," he replied, "I have na worn it sin' the accident."

"Accident!" exclaimed his friend; "I have na heard of any accident."

"Ah, have ye na?" rejoined the old man. "Ye see, Sandy asked me in for a dram, and I didna hear him."

Hard Times.

A man went into a hardware store,
and he was awfully thin;
He asked for the price of a noonday meal—but the merchant had no tin!

He ventured into a bakery; his steps were long and slow;
In a trembling voice he made a touch
—but the baker had no dough!

Sadly he entered a grocery store, this man so weak and frail;
He begged for only a cent or two—
but the grocer had no kale!

Then, when a rich man said him nay,
he walloped him good and proper;
And as he fell, the man was glad he couldn't find a copper!

—Iona Carr in the Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Devotion to a Hobby

H. Addington Bruce in the Outlook.

Devotion to a hobby may, in addition to benefiting the health, so enlarge the intellectual powers of the hobby rider as to open to him unexpected opportunities for personal advancement and social usefulness.

Among a boatload of immigrants from Germany to the United States there once was a poor young man who, after sundry adventures in quest of a livelihood, settled in Kansas City, where, near the public library, he established a small stand for the sale of fruit and peanuts. This was his vocation; his avocation, or hobby, was the study of languages, at which he worked with admirable diligence in the public library, sometimes closing his peanut stand for hours when absorbed in the solution of a specially fascinating linguistic problem.

A day came when the University of Missouri, needing an additional instructor in languages, sent an emissary to the Kansas City librarian with the request that the latter name a good man for the post. "The only man I can honestly recommend at this moment," said the librarian, "is that foreigner yonder," and he pointed to the young immigrant, toiling eagerly over a huge tome. A few minutes' conversation satisfied the university's representative that the librarian's judgment was excellent and a little later the peanut vender closed his stand for all time and began teaching. Today he is one of the really shining lights of Harvard university.

By all means, then, let us cultivate some hobby. In any event, if we would retain our health and happiness, let us always remember that the most dangerous thing we can have about us is a vacant mind.

Heroes

Omaha World-Herald: A frail, tired and plainly heart-sick man whose clothes must have done duty for three or four winters past, clambered bravely onto a street car the other night. He wrestled with a basket of clothes that appeared to be quite as much as he cared to master.

He was going home jobless—as he had for several weeks past—and was taking a washing with him that he would do while a sick wife and four small, unkempt, hungry children looked on.

He was a hero.

A strong, active, alert soldier, across the water, dashed ahead of his comrades on a charge against the enemy, just in time to grab his country's standard from a bearer whose vitals had been torn by the piece of an exploding shell.

He turned what might have been a rout into a victory, and his comrades gained an important point in the linking together of a great battle line.

He, too, was a hero.

The first man—the weak, unfed one whose soul was starving with his body—was the hero of weeks, of months, and of years.

The other was the hero of a moment, a fleeting moment when in the frenzy of bursting shells and crackling rifle fire he broke ranks nervously, and, without thought of danger, became a country's idol and a candidate for insignia that adorns those who are brave in war.

It is a tale that is repeated over every nation, on every continent. There is heroism—and again, there is heroism. The stoicism of those who endure the pitiful drudgery of everyday life, who toil with bone-worn fingers and brave hearts for their loved ones, deserves all honor—honor that we know can never be theirs in this world.

It would be cruelty to say that all ends with this life, however.

The cries of innocent tots for food, the stifled weeping of the mother for the happy home that is every woman's rightful heritage, and the pitiful, never-ending, losing battle that is put up by men the world over for their loved ones shall not go unrewarded. Somewhere, sometime, all they have sought in vain on earth shall be theirs. And it would be less than Christian-like to deny them this, even if in their ceaseless, heart-rending life's battle they had sinned more than an entire congregation where wealth was the bosom friend and poverty an utter stranger to each member.

Cummins' Last Chance.

John Lorance in the Boston Advertiser: Senator Albert Baird Cummins of Iowa still hears the bees humming and he is stirring instrumentalities to go about among the people to see what they think of him for president. If there seems a call sufficiently sizable the senator is willing to try his chances with the best of the Republican candidates for the nomination in 1916.

This is his last opportunity, and it almost seems too late. It's age. The senator was born in 1850, and therefore would be 66 years old in 1916, and 67 were he inaugurated in 1917. The United States has not inaugurated so old a president in more than half a century. Even Senator Root was thought too old in 1908, when he was only 64. In 1920 Cummins will be 70, and of course then politically impossible. So it is now or never.

He is still in his prime. He is honest and progressive. He has indeed been in the front rank of progressives of the nation, and he is always independent and masterful. He is quite used to the executive habit, for he was governor of Iowa for six years, has been in the Senate since 1908 and has just been elected for a second term. In Iowa he represented a new idea and toppled over the old guard there. It is the Cummins crowd which is on top today in Iowa, rather than the conservative Republicans. He is one of the main sponsors for the Iowa idea in tariff, low though protective. There was no critic more thorough of the Payne tariff bill, against which he voted.

Senator Cummins was a presidential aspirant in the canvass of 1912, but the Roosevelt candidacy blanketed his boom. He was opposed to President Taft to the degree that he bolted his nomination in 1912 and supported Col. Roosevelt and urged his friends to do so. This is being charged up against him just now. Cummins succeeded Allison in the senate and therefore comes naturally to the presidential candidacy ambition, for Allison was in that limelight for years, being finally driven from consideration by old age. Cummins does not quite fill Allison's shoes, but nearly so.

But Not Alone.

Chicago News: There is in Brooklyn a young, recently-married couple who have been having the usual half pathetic and wholy amusing experiences incident to somewhat limited means and total inexperience. Last Saturday there was a hitch in the delivery of the marketing and Sunday found them with a practically empty larder. When dinner time came the young wife burst into tears.

"Oh, this is horrible!" she wept. "Not a thing in this house for a dog to eat! I am going home to mamma!"

"If you don't mind, dear," the husband exclaimed, as he visibly brightened and reached for his hat, "I'll go with you!"

Stand By Wilson

(By Savoyard.)

Washington, Jan. 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—On the Republican side of the hedge the standpatters are in the saddle. They regard the Progressives with a P as retired from politics, and they are resolved that the progressives with a little p shall know their place which is below the salt at the table of the monopoly party in the glorious Union of ours. The contempt with which a standpatter like Penrose of Gallinger looks on a Progressive like Cummins of Iowa, or Norris of Nebraska, recalls the terrific rebuke of that Italian monster of the house of Cenci—"You are afraid to handle the coals of hell, yet you would play the part of the devil in the world."

And so Mr. Gallinger, to bring these gentry to taw, has put into the legislative hopper a resolution substituting the Payne-Aldrich tariff for the Underwood-Simmons tariff. Of course Gallinger knows that his proposal is thoroughly and completely unconstitutional in every particular, for such measures must originate in the house of representatives. But Gallinger is after the progressives with a little p in the senate—Cummins, Bristow, Clapp, Norris, Borah, and that layout—and the Democrats of the senate will prove themselves criminally imbecile, from a party standpoint, if they do not allow a vote, yea and nay, on this absurd resolution of the standpatter from New Hampshire.

All we can make out of it is notice served on the country that the standpatters are masters of the Republican situation. Penrose and Gallinger are to lead their party in the senate. Cannon and "Hampy" Moore are to captain it in the house. Progressives of the Republican guild are to be made to behave as the poor boy at the frolic and the puny man at the log-rolling. The issue is squarely joined and it is this, simply this, only this: the Underwood tariff against the Payne tariff—Wilsonism vs. Aldrichism. Shall this country take its economic policy and its political morals from Boise Penrose or from Woodrow Wilson? That is all you can make of it.

Here is the recrudescence of the invisible government that cursed this country for years when elections were auctioned off—a big Republican from one of the New England states spent a deal of money last November to promote his election. That will be inquired into. Uncle Joe Cannon got back to congress, but there is set on foot a scrutiny of the way and the how of that. It is stated that it cost a pretty penny to return Uncle Joe. Turn the light on.

Every man with a spark of intelligence knows, and every man with a particle of candor admits, that the Underwood tariff has had no fair show. A well-organized Republican filibuster postponed its enactment for months. Then business refused to adjust itself to the new tariff because Republican filibusters postponed the enactment of other Wilson policies. Of course business was not going "bum" till it was seen what legislation was provided for its guidance and its regulation.

Then before this legislation was provided—all due to the obstructive tactics of the standpatters in the senate—there was precipitated that terrible war in Europe that played the dickens with business in every part of every country on the earth's surface. That is the chance the Wilson policies have had, which is no chance at all.

The papers are full of it, and I suppose it is true, that the lobby is sneaking back. Democratic friction in the senate invites that and we may be sure that the Republican campaign fund of 1916 will be ample—not so munificent, possibly, as that Cortelyou had at command, but a-plenty. Every monopoly will be assessed and in a way will be forced to evade the law that would protect the ballot from debauchery.

And so it all depends, as it ever has and ever will, on the intelligence and the integrity of the people. If the Republicans shall prevail we may be sure that the National City bank of New York will again have its "clerk" established in the treasury department in this town, when that "clerk" was banished before McAdoo was well warmed in his seat after March 4, 1913. We may be sure that the Wool trust will again write schedule "K" of a monopoly tariff. We may be sure that the producers of raw material and the fashioners of finished products will meet in conclave to levy tribute on the helpless consumer. We may be sure that banking credits will again become a trust regulated and conducted by Wall Street for its henchmen only.

We may be sure that an army will be sent to Mexico to overrun and conquer that country to the end that American capital adventured in that unhappy land may reap rich dividend from the enforced labor of helpless peons. We may be sure that other great railroad systems will be exploited as the New Haven. We may be sure that a saturnalia of corruption will sweep over the land—all in the name of prosperity and patriotism.

I don't believe that Wilson can be beaten for re-election in 1916. I am confident that he will be successful. The Democratic party, not Wilson, is on trial and, despite the United States senate, I do believe the people will stand by Wilson till his policies have had a fair trial.

Human Live Stock

Des Moines Register and Leader: Is it not a fact that the most impressive feature at the state fair is the contrast between the public and the animals they exhibit?

Hundreds of animals are so perfectly bred to standard that the average layman does not readily appreciate the basis of the awards. But if among the exhibitors and spectators one reasonably well set up man appears he at once becomes a center of attraction.

It is not the fault of the babies. The baby shows have proven that many boys and girls are reasonably well born. But perhaps we could improve even as to that.

It is the neglects of early life, the want of study of hygienic living, the bad nutrition, the neglect of diseased tonsils, the neglect of bad teeth, in fact, the multiplied neglects that every teacher and physician is conscious of as he enters the average American home.

In pioneer days it was necessary to give first attention to the animals. It was not wholly without reason that the barn came before the house, and was usually better than the house.

But is not Iowa far enough removed from the deprivations of the beginnings to begin to study the home and the livestock of the home?

Should not an Iowa state fair suggest something better than a contrast between upstanding horses and cattle and lop-sided men and women?

Statesmen, Real and Near

By Fred C. Kelly.

Washington, Jan. 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—When Henry Watterson called at the White House a while ago to make up with Woodrow Wilson, one of the bright young newspaper men who cover the White House nudged the distinguished Kentucky editor to one side and introduced himself. Also he sought an exclusive interview.

"Not now, not now," said Watterson; "some other time, perhaps, but not now."

Thus encouraged, the correspondent went gayly to Watterson's hotel the next afternoon and called his room from a 'phone booth in the lobby.

"This is Mr. Smith of the Times," the young man explained, in substance.

"Ah, yes; I left a message for you at the desk," replied Watterson cheerfully.

Without another word the young man hung up and dashed over to the clerk. Naturally he felt extremely flattered that Watterson had remembered him and gone out of his way to provide him with an exclusive statement.

"I believe Mr. Watterson left a message for me here," suggested the young man to the clerk in a casual but jaunty tone.

"You're a newspaper man?" inquired the clerk, smiling peculiarly.

"Yes."

"Well, the only message Mr. Watterson left here was that if any newspaper men came around he was not to be disturbed."

Senator Joseph E. Ransdell of Louisiana occasionally plays a cute little joke on the senate. It is just possible that Ransdell's jokes are entirely unconscious on his part and therein really lies their most effective quality. A few days ago the senate was in the midst of discussing a taxation measure relating to the District of Columbia. It was not a question of nation-wide interest, yet because the senate was almost equally divided the situation in the chamber was tense. At a point in the discussion Ransdell got recognition from the presiding officer, cleared his throat, and made ready to speak. All the other senators listened with the keenest interest to hear what Ransdell would say, for no one knew yet how he stood on the taxation measure, and his vote might decide it.

And what did Ransdell do?

He talked for an hour and a half about the Colombian treaty.

A woman suffragist making a poll of the house of representatives on the question of the ballot for the more persistent sex sent word in to George W. Rauch of Indiana and asked for an expression of how he felt in regard to suffrage.

Rauch didn't quite catch the question and sent word back as follows:

"I'm feeling first rate."

* * *

Nothing caused so much uneasiness about the United States senate, by the way, as the presence in the vicinage of a suffrage worker. And there is something mysterious, almost uncanny, about the way senators can sense the presence of such a person. Nothing will drive the entire senate into the cloakroom and other places of concealment so quickly as for a suspiciously determined looking woman to come along and express a desire to talk with a senator. Many women nowadays have the title of doctor. But if a woman's card says on it: Dr. E. K. Smith, and the name is really, let us say, Edna Smith, or Eloise Smith, the senator who receives the card knows instinctively. Moreover, a moment after the senator gets the card all his associates know about it, even without his saying a word. There seems to be some form of silent signals in use about the senate chamber, such as are resorted to by prison inmates. One might almost paraphrase that when a suffragist's card goes in the door, senators fly out the window. Nothing is half so effective as a suffragist for tracing a senator to the vanishing point.

To Do Their Building Now.

New York World: "Prices for building materials are away down. They are lower than they are likely to be again for a decade."

Members of the New York Building Material exchange, who represent interests that handle each year $150,000,000 worth of builders' supplies in this city, reported at their annual dinner that the building impulse which has been shy for seven years is beginning to take notice of the above facts.

Builders who have projects under way have been inquiring for prices for great quantities of materials, and in a tone that seems to imply an impending boom in the business.

Increase of building activity is the first and surest sign of returning confidence. It means that manufacturers are ready to enlarge their output, that private owners are again confidently investing their money. Building material is cheap, labor is both cheap and plentiful. Again we are reminded that 1915's slogan of prosperity is:

Expend, expand, expect.

The People's Song of Peace.

The grass is green on Bunker Hill,
The waters sweet in Brandywine;
The sword sleeps in the scabbard still,
The farmer keeps his flock and vine;
Then who would mar the scene today
With vaunt of battlefield or fray?

The brave corn lifts in regiments
Ten thousand sabers in the sun;
The ricks replace the battle tents,
The bannered tassels toss and run.
The neighing steed, the bugle's blast,
These be but stories of the past.

The earth has healed her wounded breast,
The cannons plow the field no more;
The heroes rest! O, let them rest
In peace along the peaceful shore!
They fought for peace, for peace they fell;
They sleep in peace, and all is well.

The fields forget the battles fought,
The trenches wave in golden grain;
Shall we neglect the lessons taught,
And tear the wounds agape again?
Sweet Mother Nature, nurse the land,
And heal her wounds with gentle hand.

Lo! peace on earth! Lo! flock and fold!
Lo! rich abundance, fat increase,
And valleys clad in sheen of gold!
O, rise and sing a song of peace!
For Theseus roams the land no more,
And Janus rests with rusted door.

Eugenics Exemplified.

Chicago Herald: We are sort of on the fence and watching this eugenics game before we give a decision, but we know a doctor who married a trained nurse and if ever anyone had a red, cross baby, they did.

Suggestions to The Lawmakers

Advice of State Press to Incoming Legislature.

Let's Hope So!

Barnesville Headlight: We candidly believe that this session of the legislature means business.

Encourage the Members.

Austin Transcript: The new legislature has started in enthusiastically in favor of some sort of a practical economy and efficiency law. We shall see later how much they actually accomplish.

Approves the Idea.

Fairmont Sentinel: Governor Hammond advises that the non-partisan legislature be given a fair trial, and that no change be made in the primary election law, unless it be to permit all electors to participate in each primary, regardless of party affiliations. To all of which we give our unqualified approval.

Unlikely Situation.

Warren Register: According to the state Constitution the legislature must provide for the taking of a state census this year. But suppose the legislature fails to do so—what then? The legislature for years refused to obey the mandate of the Constitution regarding reapportionment, but nothing happened. You can lead a horse to water, but you cannot make him drink; likewise, the Constitution may impose a certain duty upon the legislature, but how is it going to compel performance of it.

Economy the Slogan.

Morris Sun: If signs do not fail, the present session of the legislature should do a lot toward lowering the expenses of the state, a result much hoped for by every taxpayer. The senate organization has already shown the spirit of economy by greatly reducing the number of employes for the session, and Senator Sullivan, the leader of that body, has given it out that economy is to be the watchword. The winning faction in the house has pledged itself to give the people economy legislation outlined by the efficiency and economy commission in its best possible form, and in addition Speaker Flowers will see that the county option question is brought to an early vote so that it cannot be used throughout the session as trading stock at the expense of the people's purse. Conditions look good, and it is to be hoped that they are not deceiving.

Expects Good Record.

Deerwood Times: The Minnesota legislature of 1915 gives every indication of being one that will smash to smithereens every previous record. The membership is non-partisan as far as its election is concerned, and the experiment will be watched with interest, for if it is successful, there is no reason to doubt the fact that it will be but a short time before every elective state office will be strictly non-partisan, as it should be. In which case political parties will go into the discard, and party promises, pledges and patronage will become a relic of bygone days. Party lines being removed from the gaze of constituents numbered in the thousands, the senators and representatives looked about for some other means by which they could be separated from one another, sufficiently to make things interesting and enliven the proceedings of Minnesota's august body of practical and near-practical law makers. Happy thought! The "old guys" and the "youngsters"! There goes "non-partisanship"! Back come the boundary lines!

Only Non-Partisan Body.

Faribault Pilot: The Minnesota legislature is the only strictly non-partisan body of its kind in existence. A non-partisan legislature experiment in government and its actions and accomplishments will be watched with much interest throughout the country. If the experiment results in the enactment of beneficial laws it may be tried in other States and possibly in the election of our national congress.

Good Financiering Needed.

Anoka Union: Some pretty good financiering will the legislature have to do if lower taxes prevail in Minnesota next year.

For the Heathen.

Pittsburg Chronicle-Telegraph: A Certain millionaire did not approve of foreign missions. One Sunday at church, when the collection was being taken up for these missions, the collector approached the millionaire and held out the collection box. The millionaire shook his head.

"I never give to missions," he whispered.

"Then take something out of the bag, sir," whispered the collector. "The money is for the heathen."

"Yes, dear," replied the lady, "don't you think so?"

"Well, I'm not sure," answered the observing little chap; "you see," he added, by way of explanation, "there she will have to walk behind the angels; here she always walked in front."

THE OPEN COURT

(Readers of The Herald are invited to make free use of this column to express their ideas about the topics of general interest, but discussions of sectarian religious differences are barred. Letters must not exceed 300 words—the shorter the letter. They must be written on one side of the paper only, and they must be accompanied in every case by the name and address of the writer though these need not be published. A signed letter is always more effective, however.)

A correspondent of the Open Court writes in suggesting a friend of his as a candidate for commissioner, and asks that if his letter be not published, The Editor state why.

With the city election approaching this query is timely, and the correspondent is entitled to an answer. If the column were thrown open to letters setting forth the claims of candidates, there would be little else published in it for the next two months. Every other candidate or prospective candidate would have the same right. Two years ago if every candidate had written but one letter, or if his friends had written but one letter, the letters would have crowded everything else out of the column. As soon as it was seen that the claims of candidates could be given publicity through the Open Court, each candidate would see to it that every friend he had wrote a letter about him. We are proud of the proportions to which the Open Court has grown, but it cannot be allowed to crowd out other departments for two months.—The Editor.

SHORT BUT EXPRESSIVE.

To the Editor of The Herald:

While The Herald is printing old favorite poems in the Open Court column perhaps it would run the smallest but most expressive couplet on record. This was painted on a board and stuck up in a snowback in front of a small New York merchant's shop at the time of the great blizzard of 1888:

'This Bliz

THE SKY PILOT'S RECORD.

To the Editor of The Herald:

H. A. Brandborg of Henning, Minn., has estimated the net results of the life of the late Rev. Frank E. Higgins to be nil. It is such a serious thing to put zero after any man's career when he has gone, that I ask a word in reply.

Evidently Mr. Brandborg thinks that no man whose financial and social condition has not been bettered has received any benefit whatever. Very well, then, since here is a man whose sum total of life is so frankly within such narrow limits let us meet him there and say that many men were benefited in that very way by the "Sky Pilot," so many in fact that if Mr. B., in passing, can have it truly said of him that he helped one where Frank Higgins helped one hundred, I for one, shall be glad to do him honor.

Mr. B. has missed the point of Mr. Higgins' life and work altogether. I take it that if the work of his life has been to attack the lumber corporations and the system of capitalism he would have had Mr. B's approval. The difference between Frank Higgins' view of life and Mr. Brandborg's is best expressed in the "Servant in the House," when the drainman is made to say: "I love my own class and I hate every other class." To which the servant answers: "I love my own class and I love every other class."

I admit that the old time lumberjack is gone from the woods—except as foremen or contractors or scalers. I meet representatives of his class in every town. They constitute a large influence. They are in business or in charge of it, on farms, in the ministry, and, generally speaking, filling good positions in the world's work and influence. I admit that a different class is taking their place in the woods. But this is simply a repetition of what has been going on in our industrial history even in the memory of middle-aged men.

Begging your indulgence, let me recall from my own memory the time when our railroad construction work and other common work in gangs was done by the Irish. We find that nationality in a quite a changed position today and there is "nothing too good for the Irish." Afterwards we had Irish foremen with Swedes in the gangs. Now we call them "Mr." or "Senator" or "Governor." Their position is changed. Now we have Swede and Norwegian foremen and workmen from Southern Europe in the gangs.

The point is that men like Higgins and teachers and that class whom Mr. B. regards as ciphers in the world's work—and our American institutions have changed the conditions of these men. And so by the grace of God and the sacrifice of men like Frank E. Higgins and others these men shall become men of substance and social position. Let us take the Higgins rather than the Brandborg view of life and "love our own class and love every other class." Thanks for space.

MR. DALY COMES BACK.

To the Editor of The Herald:

In answer to Mr. Elchelepp's feeble mutterings in the Open Court of Jan. 10, would suggest that he first acquaint himself with the subject of the controversy between the gentleman of Staples, Minn., and myself, before he makes an attempt to come back.

At the very beginning of his letter he misquotes me. I didn't say that there are no people staring starvation in the face in this country; but I did say there wasn't a million.

He would have the readers of the Open Court believe that I am all puffed up with pride. Again I refer him to my answer to Mr. Mantell. I didn't say anything wrong about the American workingman. I was just taking the part of the unfortunate Belgians; but I didn't exactly sympathize with the extravagant poor, the lazy and vagabond class and I might add for his special benefit the Alarmists and Calamity Howlers.

"Yes, I do hang around the store a great deal these cold nights. I read everything in the papers even to the patent medicine advertisements, that's how I happened to see his pathetic little note." He thinks I don't go around very much. Correct again, but I want to say this, that I wouldn't need to go any further than Michigan street, Duluth, to get a fair example of the kind of men that I mentioned above. I refer to that class of men feigning starvation, that ship out of Duluth every day to get a square meal and a place to sleep in the camps and leave in the morning without even a "thank you."

I see very plainly that his knowledge of the war is very limited. Is he sure that Belgium is a country or an individual? I wasn't guessing when I said a working man could lay something away for a rainy day. I know a man here personally who gets $50 a month, or $600 a year, out of which he bought a home, sent a son to college and has a tidy sum in the bank. I can cite hundreds of such incidents, but what's the use?

The little fable he recites about the woman shoplifting, caps the climax of a "wonderful string of facts." It's good, it is sure some argument for the "Workingman's Champion," Mr. Otto Elchlepp. He wants to know what I think about a woman shoplifting presents for her friends because she couldn't buy them on her husband's salary of $3,000 per year. "My, what poverty." Poor woman, couldn't afford presents for her friends, how sad, how sad, she must have been shoplifting pianos, Yours truly.

WHY NOT RAISE MOOSE FOR MARKET.

To the Editor of The Herald:

Beef is high, will probably go higher. The present price places it out of reach of many people. Some of the seasons are the increasing price of feed, the increasing price of land, and the ever present influence of the packers.

If good meat, weighing when mature, say, 1,200 pounds, can be produced on lands that at present are idle and the property of the state and government and if this meat can be produced without food or shelter other than that provided by nature and will arrive at a marketable condition on its own resources it should be marketed at a price within reach of all.

The moose is a native of this section of the country and if protected would arrive at maturity without assistance from man.

I believe that the moose can be domesticated easily and that if the state laws would be so amended as to permit its domestication that settlers in the part of the country would find the raising of moose more profitable than the raising of beef, no food or shelter being required if a suitable range were fenced. Why should not the state as well as the government permit the leasing of its lands for an undertaking of this kind as well as cattle-raising. This animal is the meat provided by nature for this part of the country. Why let it gradually become extinct until only a few specimens remain in our public parks for exhibition purposes, if by proper legislation it can become a blessing to our pioneer settlers. Would not the development of this industry have a modifying effect on the high price of beef and other packing house products? The by-products of the moose would be more valuable than those of beef, the hide would make fine shoes and mocassins. A good antlered head would be worth more than a herd of beef heads and undoubtedly the hoofs would make as good gelatin. PAUL BUNYON.

ANSWERS B. J. F.

To the Editor of The Herald:

On Jan. 7, B. J. F. had an article in your paper about the present labor conditions, and also about the hiring of men. First he states that the company's only interest is to get lots done at the least expense. Would like to know if Mr. B. J. F. wouldn't do the same if he was to have something done, in the woods or on some other work. Maybe he is one who promises gold on green bushes, but when it comes to harvest it, it proves to be a failure, or in other words, he has nothing to pay with.

In telling about the employment agents who would have to reduce their weight by the shovel method, if the men were stayers. Well all right. I don't think there is very many of them that didn't work hard in their days, and none of them would hold themselves too good to do it yet, if not too old. When they did work hard there was no such agitation as there is now days. Every man had to do as he was told. Couldn't say: "Before I will swamp, I will starve." They were satisfied to do anything. Never turned back and walked the distance of sixty miles in order to get to the labor commissioner with a hard luck story. If they only told the truth it wouldn't be so bad. But they always add something to it. Then B. J. F says: "That the state free employment office should be used, and not the licensed one." Well then. Who would you come back at for your expenses? Supposing something happened. Fine chance to get back at the state for something you get for nothing. The one who always kicks is the one that is like the dog with the haystack. He don't want to eat it himself, and he don't want anybody else to eat it. Let well enough alone.

Duluth, Jan. 17.

CHARITY THAT "BEGINS AT HOME" ENDS THERE.

To the Editor of The Herald:

Permit me to congratulate Thurman A. Daly of St. Ignace on his well-written contribution to the Open Court appearing in your issue of Jan. 8, in answer to the outburst from Mr. Mantell.

I did intend replying to the last-named gentleman's letter myself, but am pleased to note that an Open Courter far more capable, so effectually disposed of the narrow-minded plea in question.

Localized charity, or charity confined to certain limits, is no charity at all; the old adage that "charity begins at home" too often means that charity also ends at home. This is evidently Mr. Mantell's view of it. One has only to cite the numerous instances where well-known and successful men in all walks of life are sparing neither time or trouble in their disinterested endeavors to make known the pitiable plight of the Belgians, and so excite American sympathy, to realize at once that the cause is entirely deserving, and will not be hindered in the slightest by such petty squawks as come forth from Messrs. Mantell and Elchlepp.

If your readers happen to have that issue of The Herald in which Mr. Mantell's letter appeared, they will find on the same page, a beautiful poem by Hardy, being a direct appeal on behalf of the Belgians. Read both, and then see which is the big, and which is the little!

Certainly, we must practice charity at home, but let that charity be of the real kind, the kind that knows no limitations, the kind that sends a Santa Claus ship clear around the world, and so proves that Americans have a heart and soul just a little bit bigger than the average mortals.

Again expressing my sincere appreciation at Thurman Daly's able argument, and entirely endorsing his sentiments, very sincerely.

The Drowning Singer.

The Sabbath day was ending in a village by the sea,
The uttered benediction touched the people tenderly,
And they rose to face the sunset in the glowing lighted west,
And then hastened to their dwellings for God's blessed boon of rest.

But they looked across the waves and a storm was raging there;
A fierce spirit moved above them—the wild spirit of the air—
And it lashed and shook and tore them till they thundered tore and boomed,
And alas for any vessel in their yawning gulfs entombed!

Very anxious were the people on that rocky coast of Wales
Lest the dawns of coming morrows should be telling awful tales
When the sea had spent its passion and should cast upon the shore
Bits of wreck and swollen victims, as it had done heretofore.

With the rough winds blowing round her a brave woman strained her eyes,
And she saw along the billows a large vessel fall and rise.
Oh! It did not need a prophet to tell what the end must be,
For no ship could ride in safety near the shore on such a sea.

Then the pitying people hurried from their home and thronged the beach.
Oh! For power to cross the waters and the perishing to reach!
Helpless hands were wrung for sorrow, tender heart grew cold with dread,
And the ship, urged by the tempest to the fatal rock shore sped.

"She has parted in the middle! Oh, the half of her goes down!
God have mercy! Is heaven far to seek for those who drown?"
Lo! When next the white, shocked faces looked with terror on the sea
Only one last clinging figure on the spar was seen to be.

Nearer the trembling watchers came the wreck tossed by the wave,
And the man still clung and floated though no power on earth could save.
"Could we send him a short message? Here's a trumpet, shout away!"
'Twas the preacher's hand that took it and he wondered what to say.

Any memory of his sermon? Firstly, secondly—ah, no!
There was but one thing to utter in the awful hour of woe;
So he shouted through the trumpet: "Look to Jesus! Can you hear?"
And "Aye, aye, sir!" rang the answer o'er the waters loud and clear.

Then they listened. He is singing, "Jesus, lover of my soul!"
And the winds brought back the echo, "While the nearer waters roll;"
Strange, indeed, it was to hear him, "Till the story of life is past," Singing bravely from the waters, "Oh, receive my soul at last!"

He could have no other refuge! "Hangs my helpless soul on Thee, Leave, oh, leave me not!" The singer dropped at last into the sea,
And the watchers, looking homeward, through their eyes with tears made dim,
Said "He passed to be with Jesus in the singing of that hymn."

Those Wedding Bells Shall Not Ring Out.

A sexton stood one Sabbath eve, within a belfrey grand
Awaiting the signal from the church, with the bell rope in his hand,
As in the house of mercy stood a young and happy pair
To pledge their troth for evermore,
each other's love to share.
The holy man said, "Then speak these words, before you're joined for life.
Has any one here aught to say 'gainst
you as man and wife?"
Then up the aisle there came a man,
with quick and eager tread,
And pointing to the trembling bride,
those words he calmly said;

Chorus.

"Those wedding bells shall not ring
out, for she is another's bride.
I saw her at the altar rail, we stood there side by side.
She shall not claim another's hand, she dare not break the law's command.
A guilty wife you see her stand, those bells shall not ring out."

The minister stood speechless, while the bridegroom stood amazed,
The congregation spellbound sat, and thought the man was crazed,
The bride had not a word to say, but simply hung her head.
"Who is this man?" the preacher asked. "I know him not," she said.
"Then ring the bells," the bridegroom
cried. The man knelt to entreat,
The sexton swung the chimes aloft, the bells rang clear and sweet,
But scarce their music had begun,
when forth there came a shout:
"Stand back, I say, they shall not ring,
those bells shall not ring out."

A shriek of woe, a glittering blade, a flash, a lurch, and a dart,
And like a lightning stroke the blade had reached her trembling heart.
"You've killed his bride, O God," they cried, as he swung the gleaming knife
And pierced his own heart as he gasped, "Nay, not his bride, my wife."
Two forms lay cold within the aisle,
the husband and the bride,
As once in life, he claimed they stood,
through wedlock side by side.
His vow was kept, the bells had ceased, and with his dying breath
Those words once more he murmured, ere his lips were closed in death:
"Those wedding bells shall not ring
out, I swear it on my life,
For we were wedded years ago and she is still my wife.
She shall not break her vows to me,
she's mine through all eternity.
She's mine till death shall set her free,
those bells shall not ring out."

Thin People Can Increase Weight

Thin men and women who would like to increase their weight with 10 or 15 pounds of healthy "stay there" fat should try eating a little Sargol with their meals for a while and note results. Here is a good test worth trying. First weigh yourself and measure yourself. Then take Sargol—one tablet with every meal—for two weeks. Then weigh and measure again. It isn't a question of how you look or feel or what your friends say and think. The scales and the tape measure will tell their own story, and most any thin man or woman can easily add from five to eight pounds in the first fourteen days by following this simple direction. And best of all, the new flesh stays put.

Sargol does not of itself make fat, but mixing with your food, it turns the fats, sugars and starches of what you have eaten, into rich, ripe fat producing nourishment for the tissues and blood—prepares it in an easily assimilated form which the blood can readily accept. All this nourishment now passes from your body as waste. But Sargol stops the waste and does it quickly and makes the fat producing contents of the very same meals you are eating now develop pounds and pounds of healthy flesh between your skin and bones. Sargol is safe, pleasant, efficient and inexpensive. Boyce Drug Store and other leading druggists in Duluth and vicinity sell it in large boxes—forty tablets to a package—on a guarantee of weight increase or money back.

SOAP ON HAIR CAUSES DANDRUFF SCALP GETS DRY, HAIR FALLS OUT

Girls! Get a 25-cent bottle and try a "Danderine Hair Cleanse."

After washing your hair with soap always apply a little Danderine to the scalp to invigorate the hair and prevent dryness. Better still, use soap as sparingly as possible, and instead have a "Danderine Hair Cleanse." Just moisten a cloth with Danderine and draw it carefully through your hair, taking one strand at a time. This will remove dust, dirt and excessive oil. In a few moments you will be amazed, your hair will not only be clean, but it will be wavy, fluffy and abundant, and possess an incomparable softness and luster.

Besides cleansing and beautifying the hair, one application of Danderine dissolves every particle of dandruff; stimulates the scalp, stopping itching and falling hair. Danderine is to the hair what fresh showers of rain and sunshine are to vegetation. It goes right to the roots, invigorates and strengthens them. Its exhilarating and life-producing properties cause the hair to grow long, strong and beautiful.

Men! Ladies! You can surely have lots of charming hair. Get a 25 cent bottle of Knowlton's Danderine from any drug store or toilet counter and try it.

RUSSIANS HAVE NEW TRANSPORT SYSTEM.

(Correspondence of the Associated Press.)

Petrograd, Dec. 28.—In order to get their wounded safely out of the mountainous Erzerum region where the snow is knee-high, the Russians have developed a new transport system, employing high two-wheeled dogcarts, very lightly constructed, with room enough for two wounded, who are tied in to prevent them from falling out. On return trips army supplies are carried to the front.

DEFECTIVE PAGE

INDULGE IN INVECTIVE

"M. O." Speakers Take News Tribune as Their Chief Target.

Herald's "Fair Report" Viewed as "Hedging"—Hicken's "Break."

M. O. faction leaders, with about 700 co-enthusiasts, fired the last guns of the campaign at the Armory last night.

Beginning with a plea for support by Mayor Prince and concluding with the most scathing arraignment of the 6-cent faction and its supporters yet made in the campaign by A. E. McManus, a Duluth attorney, the list of speakers included Commissioner Hicken, Dr. D. H. Day, Postmaster McEwen, Watson S. Moore, Frank Crasswelter, T. T. Hudson, Richard Funck and Bert Wheeler. Capt. Marcus L. Fay was in the chair.

"Fireworks" at the Close.

Until the final address, the meeting was unusually quiet, applause or expressions from the audience being but little in evidence. It was the most sober audience of the campaign.

Starting with a storm of invective with the "old lady of East Superior street" a target and ending with a sweeping, scathing denouncement of all opponents of the cause he espoused, Attorney McManus provided a windup for what he called a campaign of "misrepresentation, misstatements and half-truths."

"The News Tribune always has espoused the cause of the corporation as against the people," declared Mr. McManus in opening his talk. "It has done a lot of things that would not bear the light of day—but of all the rotten things, the worst I ever have seen, was the story that appeared in The News Tribune this morning.

"It was done on purpose and don't you forget it. The News Tribune is not the official publication of the city. They came to the commission and asked to be allowed to publish the sample ballot. Their publication has no legal or binding effect, thank God! Deliberately, I believe, they falsified public accounts for their own purpose, to serve their masters. Of all the infamy it has perpetrated in its infamous career this caps the sheaf.

"Only a part of the issue, that which went to West Duluth, Lakeside and Woodland, contained the 'official ballot' with a cross 'no' after the issues opposed by The News Tribune," he continued, his vehemence shaking the platform.

Believes Act a Felony.

"They found the mistake soon enough to correct it on the press, but not soon enough to stop delivery of part of them. I am told the act is a felony. If that is the case, and I sincerely hope it is, my check for $100 is ready and eager for a chance to help the prosecution.

"If such a sheet is allowed to misrepresent continually in this manner, things have come to a pretty pass in this city." Mr. McManus then answered, with ridicule, arguments presented by Ray M. Hughes at Saturday's Auditorium meeting, winding up with a general attack on the opposition, interspersed with many bitter personalities.

"Four directors believe in the program; we have worked out," said Mayor Prince in the opening address, "and we commend it to you. It is sound from a business viewpoint, as well as economically. It will appeal to any business man and we believe in it all the way through.

"When the city commission you elected a year and a half ago took up their work, they found the city affairs in an unsettled condition. This has caused considerable criticism and ill-feeling. It has been our ambition to rid the city of these old influences and clear the way for the advance movement—along constructive lines.

Proposition an Old One.

"The electric lighting controversy is the oldest, most irritating and most harmful of all these influences. The people have twice declared that they wanted to own their plant. Your commission went into office prepared to carry out this wish." After telling of the appraisal controversy, the chief executive went on to tell of the success of the Cleveland, Ohio, municipal plant, which now allows a 3-cent rate maximum, after providing for a $3,000,000 bond issue and earning a surplus of $300,000 in the first year.

"This is the second time in my life that I have been on this platform," said Commissioner Hicken. "It is strange that a year ago I was fighting the same influence we are combatting now. I have no fear concerning the outcome, because the electorate of Duluth is showing too much interest.

"It is a sad commentary on the city that every man you elect must spend 25 per cent of his time and 80 per cent of his energy combatting influences like those behind this fight.

The Great Calamity.

"No greater calamity could befall the city than to have the 4-cent ordinance pass," declared Mr. Hicken, when a roar of laughter told him something was wrong he corrected himself and substituted the word "six" for "four."

"This campaign has brought out everything known to vile politics," continued the public safety head. "There is a good deal more in it than figures and the dollar mark. The electric company and its backers are the most baneful influence in body politics.

"It is the same old gang, with the same old bone, that was here twenty or twenty-five years ago. History, indeed, repeats itself."

Mr. Moore's Views.

Watson S. Moore prepared the way for Mr. McManus' closing tirade with a few backhanded compliments for the press. "The News Tribune story of Saturday's mass meeting was lost between the Auditorium and the city editor's desk," he declared. "There are brains in that office on East Superior street.

"The greatest crime known is the poisoning of the minds of the men who write the editorials. We have looked in the News Tribune and The Herald and see only one side. The Herald is on the mourner's bench and the N-T will be there in the morning."

Replying to charges that Duluth officials had blocked the advent of new industries because of their narrow attitude, made by Ray M. Hughes in an address Saturday, Mr. Moore declared that "When the Great Northern Power company tried to enter this field, it was blocked by the Duluth-Edison Electric company, and the city had to come to its aid and clear the way, or Duluth would not have a large power company today. The company did the very thing its speakers accuse the city of doing."

Lauds the Commission.

"When you elect a city commission on pledges," said Frank Crasswelter, "why turn them down? This commission, which has been called the only one that has been yours, is trying to fulfill theirs."

Dr. Day also talked of the press: "The newspapers are against us in this fight as in every fight for public utilities. They are not to be blamed, however. They almost have to do it. A newspaper lives by its ads.

"If you want to clean the pages of your newspapers go after the big public utility, the big advertiser.

"The interests of the people were not considered at all when the 6-cent ordinance was drafted. It will tie you up tight for three years, and by that time they can elect a new commission.

"This is the first council you've had in years that is yours," he concluded. "Back them up in what they are trying to do."

"The Duluth Herald," said Postmaster McEwen, "in its issue of Monday afternoon, furnished the only fair report of a meeting that has been given the public during this campaign. The Herald is good at hedging when beaten, and I believe they feel that their cause is lost."

Refuse to Buy "Water."

"We were willing to pay 100 cents on the dollar for this plant," he said, "and we were willing to add $200,000, but we refuse to buy all the water. There is plenty of that in Lake Superior. This is no place for thin-skinned men and in a fight of this kind it is not necessary to look from Maine to California searching for successful municipal plants, municipal ownership is a success right here in Duluth."

Bert Wheler, comparing policies with a street car, said, "Your commissioners have platforms built to ride on, not merely to get in on." T. T. Hudson told of disadvantages enjoyed by Superior in the matter of gas service, and why they paid more than Duluth, although it cost less to give it to them. He also told of the workings of an electric plant, and declared that the people of Duluth were paying interest at 5 per cent on $4,500,000, according to the figures of the Duluth-Edison company.

Richard Funck took up the dishonesty charges made by some of his earlier opponents on the campaign platform, and elaborated on the methods of the company, as compared with those of the city.

Of Edgerton, Who Was Elected Over Assemblyman Nye of Superior, Is Classed as Conservative.

METROPOLE BAR CLOSED

License Is Suspended; Proprietor Must Face City Council.

Charges of Immorality and Illegal Liquor Sales Are Made.

Tomorrow morning the Metropole hotel bar will be closed for the second time in the last two years for violation of the liquor laws.

At the regular meeting of the city commission yesterday afternoon Commissioner Hicken introduced a resolution citing E. L. Weitzel, proprietor of the hotel and owner of the saloon license, to appear before the council next Monday afternoon and show cause why his license should not be revoked. In addition the resolution ordered the temporary suspension of the license.

Voss Makes Protest.

Commissioner Voss, head of the finance department, raised emphatic objection to the proposal to suspend temporarily the license, pending the hearing before the council next Monday. A lively tilt between Commissioners Voss and Hicken ensued, but the other members upheld the head of the public safety department and the resolution carried, with the only negative vote being cast by Commissioner Voss.

As today is special election day and the saloons are closed, City Clerk Palmer will not serve any notices on Mr. Weitzel until tomorrow morning. The saloon is ordered closed immediately upon the serving of this notice.

In the resolution Commissioner Hicken states that the revocation of the license is asked on three charges that have been made against the hotel and its proprietor. These are that Mr. Weitzel is not of good moral character, that the hotel is not a fit place in which to operate a saloon as the hostelry is conducted in a lewd manner, and lastly that Mr. Weitzel has for a long time conducted the hotel as a resort for women.

Voss Opposes Suspension.

Immediately upon the reading of the resolution by City Clerk Palmer, Commissioner Voss raised his objection and declared that he was not opposed to the order citing Mr. Weitzel to appear next Monday, but that he was strenuously opposed to the suspension of the saloon pending his appearance before the city commission.

"We thus condemn a man before he can prove himself innocent," said Commissioner Voss, "and that is not fair. We should not consider a man guilty, until we prove him so. Suppose this man is actually innocent and that the charges brought against him are all proven false. We, at least, ought to be fair."

Commissioner Hicken then declared that he had two affidavits supporting his claims and that the evidence brought to him was so open that he is positive he can prove all his claims.

Declares Case Flagrant.

"There never was such a flagrant case," explained the head of the public safety department, "and Mr. Weitzel has absolutely no explanation whatever. This couple was arrested in the hotel last week, and we have affidavits that are as revolting as they can possibly be. I absolutely object to allowing the place to run another minute."

At this point Mayor Prince declared that the commission would vote on a split resolution, first, whether Mr. Weitzel should be ordered to appear next Monday and second, whether the license should be temporarily suspended. The commissioners were unanimous on the vote of the first proposition, but Commissioner Voss voted negatively on the second. However, the final ballot was four to one and Commissioner Hicken won out.

Hicken Produces Affidavits.

In explaining his case after the meeting, Commissioner Hicken produced two affidavits, one from Mrs. Irene Goodell and the other from Arthur Palmquist, both of whom were arrested on the night of Jan. 4, on a statued charge. The former pleaded guilty in police court the following day and was fined $40 and costs or thirty days, while Palmquist was discharged.

Charges Against Weitzel.

In her affidavit Mrs. Goodell declares that her husband left the hotel on Jan. 12 and that on the same evening Mr. Weitzel came to her room and demanded the rent. When she declared she had no money, Mr. Weitzel offered to send some men up to her room, she states in her affidavit. Six or eight men had been there up to the evening of Jan. 14, when she was arrested while with Palmquist, she states. She admits however, that she was in a resort prior to her marriage.

Palmquist admits having gone to the hotel, where he claims in his affidavit that the bartender gave him directions. Later he met Mrs. Goodell in his room and finally they both went to her room, No. 17, where they were arrested by two detectives. He states that he gave the woman $5 just before the officers came in.

Weitzel Denies Charges.

Mr. Weitzel denies every charge made against him and he said this morning that he will fight the case to a finish. He also declared that the affidavits are false.

The closing of the saloon tomorrow will be the second since commission government went into effect two years ago this April. It was the first saloon to be closed under the present regime, which has since revoked about a dozen licenses in all parts of the city.

On May 20, 1913, Joseph Kenney, manager of the Metropole, was convicted for keeping his saloon open on Sunday and conducting a dice game. On May 26 he was cited to appear before the city council and on May 29 his license was revoked. The present license was granted to Mr. Weitzel on Dec. 1, 1913.

GETS SIX MONTHS AT WORK FARM

Robber of Till Drunk at Time and Court Is Lenient.

Six months at the work farm was the sentence which Judge Fesler, in district court yesterday afternoon, meted out to Alfred Nelson, 32, who rifled a cash register at the Liberty saloon on Nov. 6 and took about $60 in currency and silver belonging to S. D. Swanson, the proprietor. Nelson pleaded guilty to an indictment charging him with grand larceny in the second degree after he had been brought to trial by County Attorney Greene. A. E. Parker appeared in court as defendant's attorney.

Nelson, during the temporary absence of the bartender of the Liberty saloon, which is located on Superior street between Fifth and Sixth avenues west, walked behind the bar and in full view of a number of patrons of the saloon, opened the cash register and transferred the contents into his pockets. The men in the saloon looked on in amazement as he calmly left the place. The police were then notified and an hour and twenty minutes later Nelson was taken in tow. He had bought a new pair of shoes, numerous articles of clothing and several drinks, and had about $50 in cash.

Judge Fesler admonished Nelson to keep away from drink and to let this experience teach him a lesson.

Cloutier, Arrested for Non-Support, Sues for Divorce.

Darcey E. Cloutier, defendant in a criminal prosecution for wife desertion now pending in district court, yesterday afternoon became plaintiff in an action for divorce against Mrs. Malvina C. Cloutier, the state's witness in the criminal proceedings. He is asking for a separation on the ground of cruelty.

Cloutier accused his wife of having inflicted bodily injuries upon him. He recites one instance when she used a pair of her corsets as a weapon to strike him with. On Oct. 15, 1914, he says, she struck him over the nose until it bled and then boasted of her act to others. He declared that conditions became so unbearable that he sought employment elsewhere.

Cloutier claims that his home has been sadly neglected by her and that their five children were sent to school with such an untidy appearance that the teachers put in a complaint. The health department also investigated the condition of his home, he said. The children range in age from 3 to 11 years. Cloutier asks for their custody.

When Cloutier left the city in April, 1913, his wife notified the police that he had eloped with a nurse from the city contagious hospital where he had been employed as a janitor. He was later arrested on a charge of wife desertion, but was allowed to plead guilty to non-support and required by the court to give a bond to support his family.

When the bond expired he again left home and was again indicted by the May, 1914 grand jury. He returned to the city last October and was arrested by the sheriff under the May indictment in September and brought into district court to answer to the charge of abandoning his wife and five children. He pleaded not guilty and is now awaiting trial.

Fishing Houses Destroyed.

Cass Lake, Minn., Jan. 19.—Three foreigners, not familiar with the laws of Minnesota requiring licenses to fish through the ice, had their fishing houses on Cass lake destroyed and outfits confiscated by Game Warden R. A. Oliver, who went out to the lake yesterday to see that the owners of the numerous fishing houses scattered over the lake had the necessary papers.

ITCHING ECZEMA COVERED ENTIRE BODY, RESINOL CURED

Could Not Sleep. Eight Remedies Had Failed. Resinol Stopped Itching Immediately.

Boston, Mass., Aug. 11, 1914.—"My entire body, even my eyelids, was completely covered with blisters as large as a pea. When one would burst water would come from it, and then it would turn into a very painful sore. The burning and itching were something terrible, and I COULD NOT SLEEP nor rest. I think I had one of the worst cases of eczema a human being ever had.

"I used eight different kinds of remedies without success. I then tried Resinol Ointment and Resinol Soap and it stopped the itching IMMEDIATELY. I gradually noticed a change for the better. Now I am entirely cured, and am without a pimple or blemish on any part of my body."—(Signed) Edward F. McCullough, 249 River Street, Mattapan. Resinol Ointment and Resinol Soap are sold by all druggists. For samples, free, write to Dept. 6-R, Resinol, Baltimore, Md.

SHOULD RELY ON OWN RESOURCES

Premier Fisher Urges Australians to Provide Own Naval Force.

(Correspondence of the Associated Press.)

Wellington, N. Z., Dec. 20.—Andrew Fisher, prime minister of Australia, in addressing a gathering of politicians and newspaper men soon after his arrival here, said there was a more important question than how long the war will last, "and that is, how long will peace last after the war?"

Mr. Fisher was discussing the necessity of New Zealand and Australia joining hands in some action looking to the protection of British interests in this section of the world.

"The question of the defense of the Pacific," he remarked, "is a matter of urgent necessity. Some people think that after the end of this war there will be peace for many years. But this is too uncertain a foundation on which to build for permanence and security.

"Nor should we depend upon the mother country for our defence, now that our strength enables us to act in our own behalf. The national development of Australia and New Zealand will be stimulated if they rely on their own resources by maintaining a naval force which is a direct part of the British navy, but under local executive control.

"The day has come when self-respect should persuade us to abandon our policy of reliance upon the British taxpayer."

WANT FIRST STREET PAVING DONE FIRST

Protests Are Made Against Paving of Third Street.

Property owners on First street propose that this thoroughfare between Twentieth and Thirtieth avenues shall be one of the first to be paved by the city this spring. With the filing of protests against the paving of Third street from Vernon to Fifty-fourth avenues, the residents of the former street feel assured that the city will have sufficient funds to carry out the paving project on First street as has been promised for some time past.

A petition for the paving of this street was filed with the city nearly two years ago. Since then action on paving the street has been delayed from time to time on the plea that the city did not have the money to pay for its share of the work.

A large delegation of property owners on Third street appeared before the commissioners yesterday protesting against the order to pave the street, and requested that the order be annulled without the necessity of filing a formal petition. Mayor Prince promised that this would be done. The property owners contended that Third street was a residence street, and that they should be called upon to pay for a paving only thirty feet wide, whereas the order called for a paving forty-six feet wide.

"If the paving of Third street is annulled, there is no excuse for the city commission to put off the paving of First street," said George M. Jensen this morning. "Our petition has been filed with the city for two years, and we intend to insist upon this work being done at once. The only action necessary is the advertising for bids for the job as we understand that estimates of the cost of the work have already been made by the engineering department."

CATARRH GERMS EASILY KILLED

ONLY WAY TO STOP THIS DISEASE FOREVER IS TO DESTROY THE GERMS THAT CAUSE IT.

By a Specialist.

If you have catarrh and want to get rid of it you must kill the germs which cause catarrh. Stomach dosing, ointments, sprays, creams, douches, etc., fail because they overlook this fact. They all help by giving temporary relief but they do not reach the germ life that has found lodgement in your head, nose, throat and could not destroy it if they did.

The best known way of destroying the dangerous germs of catarrh and consequently ending the disease itself is to breathe into the air passages of your nose and throat the pleasant, penetrating air of Hyomei (pronounced High-o-me). Hyomei is made from purest oil of Eucalyptus combined with other powerful healing, antiseptic and germicidal ingredients. You breathe it through a little hard rubber pocket inhaler which comes with every complete treatment. Every time you inhale the sweet, fragrant air of Hyomei through this little device you are drawing into your swollen, inflamed, germ-laden membranes a vapor which will not only reduce the swelling and inflammation and open your clogged nose and stopped up air passages but will absolutely and positively destroy every trace of Catarrh germ life it reaches. Boyce Drug store and many other leading druggists in this vicinity are so sure of the blessed lasting relief that Hyomei brings to catarrh sufferers that they sell it invariably on a positive guarantee that money paid will be refunded if successful results are not secured from its use. Right now, while you have the matter in mind tear out this notice and take it into your druggist the next time you pass his door. Be sure to get the complete Hyomei outfit which includes the free "inhaler." This makes it easy to breathe the Hyomei way up into the air passages and you can begin at once to drive this dangerous, disgusting disease from your system forever.

CONSUL PREDICTED GERMAN SUCCESS

Letter of Cutright That Stirred British at Nottingham.

Omaha, Neb., Jan. 19.—The letter of Vice Consul John L. Cutright to which the Nottingham authorities took exception, was printed in the Omaha World Herald Dec. 13, 1914. It was written at Coburg, Germany, where Cutright was then vice consul, and bears the date of Nov. 20. In this letter Mr. Cutright is quoted as follows:

"I am sorry to see the anti-German attitude of the American papers. * * * Just why American papers are so dead against Germany is hard to understand. It is true she declared war, but she did so only with a confident feeling of justification in the French invasion on the south and the unexcused Russian mobilization on the north. The allies, with the apparent motive of meeting the approval of the world, were careful to see that it was Germany and not they who made the declaration, although they were well on in their preparation for war long before the Kaiser issued the mobilization order. I am firmly of the opinion Germany did not want this war. * * *

"The invasion of Belgian soil, that has caused such a furore at home, was merely a necessary war measure, which the Germans verily believe would have been taken by the French and with far less trouble, had she not done so first. * * * I make so bold as to predict that within a year's time the allies will be very well satisfied to accept the terms of Germany, whatever they may be, and keep the peace for many years to come."

HERE'S ONE WHO CAN'T PRAISE NATURE

Berton Braley in Collier's Weekly:

Nature never made much of a hit with me.

Possibly the fault is mine, but there is a good deal to be said on my side, nevertheless.

They call her "Mother Nature," and talk about her loving kindness and her bounty to every living thing, while all the time she is about the most wasteful, improvident and cruel mother imaginable.

She gives the codfish several million eggs—and sees that only three or four of them reach maturity. She sows a million pine seeds and only raises one or two trees from them; she grows beautiful trees in the jungle—and invents parasites to choke and destroy them.

She breeds myriads of insects which have no purpose whatever save to torture and kill useful animals, or to devour or blight lovely and valuable plants. She makes little animals by the thousands so that larger animals can eat them, and under her benign maternal care we see the noble results of her policy of survival of the fittest—which, in most cases, means the survival of the most ruthless and the cruelest.

A human mother who would turn her children loose to fight and slay and eat each other as Nature does would be considered a menace to the world and would either be hanged or sequestered in an insane asylum, but a lot of people profess a deep admiration for Nature's method of conducting her affairs. I don't. As I remarked before, she is not only cruel, she is wasteful. Any human institution which threw away as much as Nature does would be in bankruptcy inside of a week. Leave Nature to herself and she produces the jungle—about as stupendous an example of waste, uselessness and virulence as one can imagine.

I'll admit that a brief sojourn with nature is refreshing. Her air is highly recommended—and justly so; her sunshine has a tonic, and, to my mind, beautifying effect upon most skins; and she occasionally produces various scenic effects which man has found it impossible to equal, and which are very pleasing to the eye and stimulating to the mind.

But the visit with nature should be brief; or, at any rate, a brief call suffices me. If I linger long with nature I find her other guests irritate me. She is too catholic in her hospitality. She welcomes me, it is true, with more or less open arms, but she also welcomes mosquitoes, wasps, gnats, caterpillars, ticks, and other such pests, which get sociable with me immediately and who either feast on me or on my food. I do not care to be a snob, nor would I have nature become one, but I do think she might be a trifle more select.

Take her all in all, then, I regard nature as a good deal of a bluff. This may be presumptuous in me—but when one considers that nature, unaided, made the apple and the peach inedible and produces cacti and weeds, and that the only time she is really useful is when man applies his intelligence and labor to her amateur efforts, my presumption may not seem so great. She is very well in a dilettante way, and her hospitality is all right, as heretofore noted for a short period, but for steady company I prefer man.

HONEST USE FOR BURGLAR TOOLS.

Philadelphia Ledger: "Your honor," said the prisoner, "I am not a burglar. These jimmies and explosives found in my bag were not meant for dishonest purposes."

"Then why did you carry them with you?" asked the interested judge.

"I travel daily between my home in Swarthmore and the city," replied the prisoner, "and I use them to open the car windows."

Whereupon he was discharged.

JAPANESE RED CROSS DELEGATION

Seventeen nurses and two doctors, representing the Red Cross of Japan recently arrived in New York on their way to Europe to give aid in the big war. At their head was Dr. Suzuki, surgeon inspector of the Japanese navy. With him was Dr. Oshima. The head nurses in charge of the party were Misses Yamamoto and Miss Kiyuka. On their arrival in New York the nurses were entertained at a luncheon by the Japan society and Miss Mabel Boardman came from Washington to make a speech to them.

REVISE TAXI SERVICE.

Indianapolis Will Regulate Rates By Taximeter.

Indianapolis, Ind., Jan. 16.—With a new ordinance that is now before the city council, Indianapolis plans to reorganization of its taxicab service. The ordinance provides that cab stand privileges must be obtained from the board of public safety, and that taximeters, tested and sealed by the departments of weights and measures, must be used in determining charges to passengers at the following rates: For not more than two passengers in motor vehicles, 25 cents for the first half mile and 10 cents for each succeeding quarter mile; for three or more persons, 40 cents for the first half mile, and 10 cents for each succeeding quarter mile or fraction thereof; for baggage over fifty pounds in weight, 25 cents per piece, waiting time, $1.50 an hour.

CHICAGO SHOW BEST.

London, Paris and Berlin Exhibits Are Called Off.

Chicago's annual automobile show, which takes place in the Coliseum and First regiment armory from Jan. 23 to 30, will be the largest motor car exhibition show in the world this season. With the cancellation of the big expositions in London, Paris and Berlin, on account of the war, it is left to the big national Chicago and New York exhibitions to strive for supremacy.

The New York show, which closed last Saturday, had 300 exhibits, including motor cars and accessories. The Chicago show will house 325 displays in all departments. Ninety-four exhibitors will show motor cars and the balance will exhibit accessories.

The Chicago show, like the New York exposition, will be held under the auspices of the National Automobile Chamber of Commerce, Inc. Both exhibitions are managed by Samuel A. Miles, who, as usual, has provided an artistic setting for Chicago. The general effects in both the Coliseum and armory will resemble the interior of huge conservatories. The decorations will cost more than $40,000.

The color scheme will be green, gold and white. The sky scene will convey the idea of huge glass domes, the effect being carried to the top of the balconies. There will be a suggestion of an old English garden about the floor setting, a rustic atmosphere prevailing. Many tall palms will whisper to one another. Bay and box trees and brick walls mounted with flower pots of rose bushes, quaint iron railings, etc., will complete the effect. The palms are now en route from the Bermudas.

RACE DATE CHANGED.

Sioux City Speedway Association Selects July 2.

The Sioux City Speedway association in arranging its racing program for 1915, has selected July 2 for the date of the annual race instead of July 4, as of last year. The change was made on account of the South Dakota state laws prohibiting Sunday racing, on which day the Fourth will fall next year. The contest board of the American Automobile association has been requested for an assignment of this date to Sioux City instead of June 25, which date was tentatively allotted at the annual meeting of the contest board during the early part of December.

Three hundred miles will be the distance, the same as last year, and the classification will likewise be 450 cubic inch piston displacement. Twenty-five thousand dollars will constitute the purse, which will be divided into ten parts, ranging from $10,000 first to $700 tenth.

Extensive improvements are contemplated for early spring; one feature will be the paving of the roadway leading from the city to the race course, a distance of about five miles, and this will add materially to the comfort of the visitors who traveled to the track by motor car last year and were compelled to wait for some time at various points, due to the congested conditions caused by the narrowness of the highway at these places. Covering will also be built over the boxes in the grandstand sections, the turns on the track will be elevated to allow greater speed and the entire track will be resurfaced with heavy crude oil and fine sand. This application on the gumbo soil will form a surface such as is only equaled by the road courses in Southern California.

SALES RECORDS SHATTERED.

Cadillac Eight Is Big Attraction at New York Show.

Previous retail sales records were shattered at the 1915 New York automobile show, so far as the Cadillac Motor Car company is concerned. The Cadillac Eight was on exhibition and was one of the main attractions for the show crowds as well as buyers.

"Cadillac dealers have always done a big business at the shows, remarked Sales Manager Howard, "but this one has been the most successful of all. This is especially true of the closed car types, limousines, sedans and coupes.

"Of course, the factory has not pretended to do any business, as our entire product of the new eight-cylinder cars for the coming year was covered by contracts from dealers some months ago.

"However, our dealers in New York, Jersey City, Brooklyn, Newark and other nearby cities, as well as those from the East generally, all report closing more retail sales than ever before. In fact, there are a few dealers who have taken retail orders covering their entire allotments and are making strenuous efforts to get more cars."

AUTO NOTES.

Indianapolis, Ind., Jan. 16.—Robert Laly, who rode with Rene Thomas in the Delage that won the 1914 Indianapolis 500-mile race, has been captured by the Germans, according to advices received here from France, and will probably remain a prisoner until the end of the war. Laly disappeared shortly after the start of the conflict, and, as he had last been seen in the vicinity of Molsheim and Luneville, a region which saw some of the heaviest fighting, it was thought for a long time that he had been killed. Now it develops that he was made prisoner, after a particularly fierce assault, in which his entire company had been surrounded. He has as companion in his misfortune another 500-mile race veteran, Robert Crossman, mechanician to Guyot in 1913, who was captured some time ago. The two will undoubtedly look forward to the 1915 Indianapolis contest with more than the usual longing to be present.

Sixty-five women from thirty-five different states at the big national convention at Nashville, Tenn., heartily indorsed the plan of the Maxwell Motor company for engaging women demonstrators. The fact that Walter E. Flanders, president of the Maxwell Motor company, promised equal pay for equal work in this great industry brought a flood of inquiries from almost every state in the Union. The idea, that this great manufacturer had thrown open a new field for women's endeavor, appealed to everyone.

Detroit, Mich., Jan. 16.—The Lincoln Highway association is compiling for the use of transcontinental tourists the information obtained by its consuls and officially appointed drivers when they proved conclusively on Nov. 27 that every mile of the 3,400-mile highway is open to automobile travel. Their reports show that more than 75 per cent of the distance from New York city to San Francisco is marked with Lincoln highway markers every eighth of a mile.

The seven counties comprising Southern California wil spend $7,000,000 this year in road construction. The schedule includes 324 miles of concrete boulevard, 145 miles of macadam boulevard, 160 miles of decomposed granite boulevard and 290 miles of desert highway. Los Angeles county, which already claims the finest highway system in the country, will spend nearly half of the total named. It already has 404 miles of asphalt boulevards.

New York city is to have a central garage for the city's automobiles if the efficiency staff in the office of the commissioner of accounts can show the mayor and the board of estimate that such a municipal institution will save the city money and the officials time. The plan the efficiency staff is now working on will keep the city's automobiles in almost continuous use. Should it be decided to limit the mileage for departments, a city taxicab service is suggested.

Following the example of several other states, Colorado next year will use license plates for automobiles sporting the colors of Colorado college—yellow and black. Of these 240 Fords, or about 40 per cent, were bought for purely commercial purposes.

MEDICINE IN VEGETABLES

Edward B. Warman, A. M., in the Los Angeles Times: Iron is a very essential element in the composition of the blood, but it should be obtained from Nature's storehouse, as minerals in the inorganic form, as everyone knows or should know, cannot be assimilated by the human system. Yet, many a hard-earned dollar of the workingman is spent in this worse than useless manner (buying some preparations of iron) because he has been told that he or some member of his household, "needs more iron in the blood."

Spencer says: "Life is a definite combination of heterogeneous changes, both simultaneous and successive, in correspondence with external coexistences and sequences." (Did you get that?) This "definite combination," however, plays a very important part in the economy of nature and in the smooth running of the human machinery. Some persons lack one element, some another; some need more iron, some more sand.

The human body is composed of many elements — carbon, hydrogen, oxygen, nitrogen, phosphorus, sulphur, chlorine, fluorine, silicon, potassium, sodium, lithium, calcium, magnesium, manganese and iron.

The sodium-chloride (common salt) is in all the tissues and liquids, keeping other substances in solution in water.

The potassium-chloride is in the blood, muscles, nerves and most liquids.

The calcium phosphate is in the bones and teeth in large quantities; in less proportion in all other tissues.

Every one of these constituents of the human body has its particular office to perform. Out of the many, I have chosen the important element—iron—and in the following table have shown its percentage in the various foodstuffs—based on 1,000 parts of waterfree food. These I have classified for ready reference and, in each class, have given the percentages in the order of their proportionate values:

1. Nuts—
Cocoanuts	Not any	Walnuts	.61
Almonds	.23
2. Legumes—
Beans	.19	Peanuts	.27
Peas	.24	Lentils	.69
3. Animal Products—
Sea fish	Not any	Meat (average)	.28
Human milk	.67	Cow's milk	.30
Eggs	.17	Cottage cheese	.50
4. Cereals—
White flour	.03	Rye	.25
Rice, polished	.05	Whole wheat	.30
Corn	.15	Oats	.41
Rice, unpolish'd	.22	Barley	.53
5. Vegetables—
Potatoes	.48	Celery	1.60
Carrots	.70	Onions	2.20
Cabbage	.86	Asparagus	2.94
Cauliflower	.91	Radishes	3.09
Tomatoes	1.00	Spinach	6.40
Red beets	1.00	Lettuce	9.40
Cucumbers	1.40
6. Fruit—
Bananas	.10	Apricots	.46
Peaches	.18	Figs	.60
Pears	.25	Cherries	.69
Olives	.31	Prunes	.94
Oranges	.38	Gooseberries	1.32
Grapes	.45	Watermelons	1.75
Apples	.46	Strawberries	3.75

It is from the naturally organized foods—not from a bottle—that you should obtain the organic salts that the system requires to strengthen the nerves, stimulate the liver, clear the complexion, and give to you all the iron that is needed to build up the blood.

It is an absolute fact, demonstrated by recognized scientific investigation, that no inorganic element can, in any way, be assimilated by the system and converted into the various tissues and structures of the body. Therefore, if you need iron in the blood, get it from the food from which it will be readily absorbed and assimilated.

Medicinal Value of Foods.

In addition to the foregoing, it may be well to remember that certain foods possess certain special medicinal values, a few of which I give herewith:

1. Cranberries are recommended for those having erysipelas.

2. Watercresses are cooling and a good tonic, and also a good stomachic.

3. Blackberries are excellent to allay inflammation arising from conditions indicating looseness of the bowels.

4. Celery is regarded as excellent for the nerves; for nervous dyspepsia, neuralgia and rheumatism.

5. Rhubarb (pie plant), when properly prepared and thoroughly cooked (not too sweet) is a mild but efficacious laxative.

6. Boiled beets, served with salt and oil, were used by the Greek philosophers as an aid to mental exercise.

7. Artichokes were used extensively by the Arabians for the liver. They are regarded as particularly wholesome for anyone leading a sedentary life.

8. Turnips and radishes are especially recommended for gravel, scurvy and nervous disorders. Radishes were fed abundantly to the pyramid builders, by order of Pharaoh.

9. Tomatoes contain vegetable calomel—an excellent stimulus for the liver. They have the largest percentage of potassium of any vegetable. Good either raw or cooked.

10. Cucumbers contain vegetable arsenic of sufficient quantity to affect the complexion beneficially. They contain large amounts of potassium and phosphorus.

11. Cabbage (raw) when young and tender, furnishes a very large percentage of potassium, sodium, calcium and sulphur. It is quite rich in phosphates—very essential for the blood.

12. Lettuce is good for the nerves, cooling to the blood, and a good sleep producer, as it contains opium in its natural state. By referring to the table you will observe that it contains a greater proportion of iron—greater, by far, than any other vegetable, and next to tomatoes, the largest percentage of potassium.

13. Spinach and dandelions have a marked effect upon the kidneys—beneficially; the former also giving relief of those troubled with gravel, rheumatism, and gout. It is one of the best vegetables for those who lack iron in the blood, being next to lettuce in its proportion of that valuable element.

14. Carrots are good for asthmatics. If eaten raw early in the morning, they act as a complexion beautifier, and, it is said, produce a marked and satisfactory effect on hair, skin and eyes. The carrots should never be peeled or scrapped, but washed, instead, in order to fully retain the mineral salts, as they are rich in potassium, sodium, phosphorous and sulphur. They are of inestimable value in kidney affections.

15. Onions are among the best nervines known—a sovereign remedy for coughs and colds; also for eczema and scurvy. Being highly soporific, they are invaluable for those afflicted with insomnia. The onion is the only vegetable readily inoculated with disease. It is a wonderful absorber of poisons whether in or out of the system; hence its value as a food and the necessity of exercising great care as to its freedom from taint.

The foregoing gives a large variety of the vegetable foods from which to choose to meet the various requirements of the body. "A man's food," said Talmage, "when he has the means and opportunity of selecting it, suggests his moral nature. Many a Christian is trying to do by prayer that which cannot be done except through corrected diet.

One is not necessarily restricted to the vegetable diet. The table of classified foods as given furnishes a wide range to meet all demands and all tastes. First, consider the food as to its wholesomeness, then ask yourself—is it nutritious? Can I take care of it—masticate it, digest it, absorb it, and then assimilate the digestible and nutritious portions, and eliminate the undigested and non-nutritious and, finally, stop when I have had enough? If you can answer these questions satisfactorily and truthfully, you can count on a pretty long journey ahead of you even if you have passed the three-score-and-ten mark.

Woodfill Introduces Bill Designed to Hit Employment Agents.

Scott Proposes Repeal of the Workingmen's Compensation Act.

(By a Staff Correspondent.)

St. Paul, Minn., Jan. 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—Representative J. W. Woodfill of Two Harbors at last night's brief session of the house introduced a bill prohibiting employment agents from taking fees for finding jobs for men at manual labor.

Senator Jones of Duluth will introduce a similar bill in the senate.

Another somewhat startling proposal came from Representative Samuel C. Scott of Hibbing, who proposes the repeal of the workingmen's compensation act, passed at the last session after labor had struggled for years to secure it.

Representative Charles L. Stevens of Warren also attracted notice by a proposal to repeal by constitutional amendment the constitutional requirement that the legislature provide for a state census every ten years. Should the amendment be submitted by the legislature and be ratified by the people, it would still be too late to take care of 1915, the Constitution requiring that this legislature provide for a census whether it feels the need of one or not.

Would Cut Interest Rate.

Representatives John H. Boyd of Crookston, Oscar T. Stenvick of Bagley and Burt Weld of Slayton introduced a bill proposing to cut the maximum legal rate of interest from 10 to 8 per cent.

Representative Charles L. Stevens of Warren introduced a bill limiting to ten a year the number of sessions of the county board for which commissioners can collect mileage in counties having less than 30,000 population.

Mr. Stevens also introduced a bill providing that in counties having less than 160,000 people, jurors shall be drawn by three commissioners appointed by the court.

Representative Adolph S. Larson of Sandstone introduced a bill intended to help along the long-standing proposal to change the name of Pine county to "Clover." His bill provides that county boards can change county names on the petition of 20 per cent of the voters.

Representative Scott of Hibbing offered a bill authorizing the consolidation of villages where their boundary lines are the same for half a mile or more. The object of this measure is to make it possible for Kitzville to be annexed to Hibbing and Costin to Mountain Iron.

and that when a worker quits his pay shall be due in five days, and if refused his wages shall continue at the regular rate until paid. Thirteen states have similar laws, Senator Jones says, and conditions in woods employment makes such a law necessary in Minnesota.

Senator Jones also introduced a bill requiring labor camps to provide bathing facilities, and forbidding the employer to make a charge therefor. This bill is introduced at the request of the State Federation of Labor.

To Increase Supreme Court.

Senator Gjerset of Montevideo introduced a proposed constitutional amendment increasing the number of supreme court justices from five to seven. This is the amendment defeated last fall, but Senator Gjerset has eliminated the provision prohibiting the court from declaring laws unconstitutional on a mere majority vote.

Representatives Lennon, Woodfill and Hynes offered a bill proposing a constitutional amendment authorizing the state to create an industrial insurance department and to provide industrial insurance.

Representative Bendixen introduced a new 2-cent fare bill, designed to clear up the flaws in his 1913 law under which the supreme court held that railroads can charge 3 cents a mile for the first five miles of a trip.

To Amend Corrupt Practices Act.

At the suggestion of Representative Spooner, and on motion of Representative Steen of Winona, the house asked Attorney General Lyndon A. Smith to prepare a bill amending the corrupt practices act. Mr. Spooner called attention to the fact that the attorney general has suggested a need of strengthening the law. Mr. Steen said the law as it stands is an annoyance on small matters and lets big ones escape.

* * *

Mr. Spooner gave notice that tomorrow morning he will call up his two resolutions relating to the consideration of the efficiency and economy bill, one proposing a joint committee and the other proposing a house committee of fifteen empowered to compel testimony.

* * *

Representative Marschalk of Warroad offered a bill appropriating $60,000 for the improvement of the channel of the Roseau river, or the construction of an auxiliary channel, under the state drainage commission.

* * *

One Day's Rest Bill.

Representative Lydiard is the author of a new bill requiring one day's rest in seven for workers in factories, workshops and mercantile establishments.

* * *

Representative Swanson proposes in a new bill to prohibit the sale of cold storage eggs except when the purchaser is told what they are.

* * *

County boards are authorized to levy taxes for roads in unorganized territory in addition to the regular levies by a bill introduced by Representative Warner of Aitkin.

* * *

Representative Frye is the author of a bill prohibiting discrimination between localities in the buying of grain, except seed grain.

* * *

Under a bill offered by Senator Denegre this morning graduates of the university law school will be required to take the bar examinations instead of being admitted to practice by virtue of their diplomas.

Wants Leakless Cars.

Senator D. F. O'Neill of Thief River Falls proposed a bill requiring railroads to furnish cars that won't leak for the transportation of grain.

* * *

Senator Putnam introduced a bill putting clerks of district court on the same basis as other county officers, so there will be no county election until 1918. About half the clerks' terms expire in 1916, so that unless this bill passes there will be county elections in half the counties, dealing only with district clerks. All are on the four-year basis.

IS OPPOSED TO ELEVATOR

tors, if such can be secured at a reasonable rental, and thereby try out the scheme at the least possible loss to the state."

The report was filed with the state legislature yesterday afternoon and it goes thoroughly into every feature of the investigation made by the board during the last two years. R. S. Lewis, F. O. Brewster and J. W. Jackson are the members of the board conducting this investigation.

Duluth is Preferred.

Concerning the location of terminal elevators, if the legislature favors them, the board recommends two terminal elevators, one in the Twin Cities and one at the Head of the Lakes. By having two terminals, the state would have the advantage of the lake transportation during the open season and rail transportation in the close season. As between Duluth and Superior the advantage lies with Duluth. The Minnesota inspection system and regulations generally covering grain are regarded as more acceptable than the Wisconsin inspection.

A modern complete elevator of 3,000,000 bushels' capacity would cost about a million dollars, but one of 1,500,000 bushels' capacity would cost more than half the cost of a larger capacity. Reinforced concrete construction is advised. A site at the Head of the Lakes practically requires the purchase of a water lot, dredging, filling and driving a pile foundation. Such a site at Duluth, when ready for elevator construction, would cost anywhere from $75,000 to $150,000. Canada's site at Port Arthur cost $90,000 and the dredging cost $47,000. A site at Superior would probably cost less than a site at Duluth. At the Twin Cities a desirable site can be purchased for from $25,000 to $75,000, dependent upon location as to switching charges, proximity to mills, sidetrack room, area, etc. The board is advised that a 3,000,000-capacity elevator is regarded as most economical to operate.

Higher Price Unobtainable.

The object sought in the establishment of a state-owned elevator is that of higher prices for grain. The board found nothing to indicate that such higher price could be obtained, as millers will not pay a premium for North Dakota wheat in terminals.

The operation of a state cleaning department, permitting the sale of the grain fully cleaned, is not regarded as being feasible, as the cost of such cleaning operation at the terminals would not balance the cost of transportation of the dirt in the grain. The only place for the cleaning of the grain to effect a saving is on the farm.

The Dickinson normal school bill needs favorable action by the house of representatives only now to be submitted to a vote of the people. The senate passed the bill with only seven dissenting votes, and the Dickinson supporters are confident they will be able to pass the measure in the lower house. The bill providing for the fourth state normal school was passed by the assembly two years ago.

Wants Smaller Membership.

Treadwell Twichell yesterday afternoon introduced a resolution, which was approved by the house, asking that the legislative membership be reduced to as close to the constitutional minimum as possible. The minimum is thirty senators and sixty representatives, while the present assembly has fifty-one senators and 111 house members.

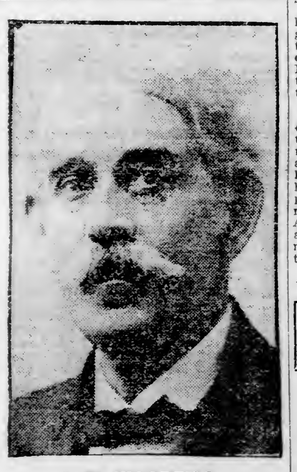

A new oil inspection bill, which will include lubricating oils as well as other oils, likely will be passed at this session. Under amendments to Senator Kretchmar's bill, which are now being framed, the inspection of lubricating oils is provided for. The inspection fee proposed is seven and one-half cents per barrel, as against the fee of twenty-five cents a barrel, which was recently declared unconstitutional by the state supreme court.

The Bronson employers' liability act, patterned after the Minnesota measure, was reported into the senate by a divided committee. The majority of the committee was opposed to the measure, while the minority favored its passage. An effort was made to include farm labor under its provisions, but this effort failed.

Abolishment of capital punishment was given approval by the house judiciary committee, which reported yesterday. Only slight amendments were made to Representative Torson's bill providing for the change.

The two bills introduced under which the offices of deputy register of deeds and deputy county treasurer would have been abolished, were killed by the house committee.

EIGHTY PER CENT OF STUDENTS CHEATERS.

Champaign, Ill., Jan. 19.—The Daily Illini, the newspaper of the students of the University of Illinois, yesterday began an investigation to learn if general charges that 80 per cent of the students cheat in examinations are true. "Many students openly confess cribbing and most of them look upon it with toleration," the paper said. Numerous letters have been published defending the practice and protest against the final examination, which the writers declare an unjust method of appraising classroom work.

A junior student declared that in his class 20 per cent have prepared ponies carefully, 50 per cent have cheated because they had a chance, and 80 per cent had cheated because it was a choice between cheating and a low grade.

To Keep Skin Healthy, Youthful, Wrinkleless

Now that the social season is here, be especially careful to keep your skin in fine condition. You know how conspicuous complexion defects appear under the bright light of the drawing or ball room. Also how very evident are some makeups when similarly illuminated. I have myself discarded cosmetics entirely, using a process which gives far better results, and which leaves no trace on the skin. At night I smear on a thin coat of ordinary mercolized wax, washing it off next morning. This gradually absorbs the devitalized particles of surface skin; just as gradually the more youthful skin beneath comes forth, providing a complexion as clear, smooth and delicately tinted as a young girl's. Get an ounce of mercolized wax at your druggist's and try this remarkable treatment.

Remember, too, that wrinkles, even the finer lines, are not easily concealed in a brilliantly lighted room. You can quickly obliterate these hateful marks by bathing your face in a solution of powdered saxolite, 1 oz., dissolved in witch hazel, ½ pt. And your face won't look sticky, as after using pastes.—Aunt Sally in Woman's Realm.

MEMBER OF COUNCIL OF RESERVE BANK SYSTEM

JAMES B. FORGAN,
Head of Executive Committee Now Meeting in Washington.

Washington, Jan. 19.—The question of regulations for the rediscount of acceptances based on the export or import of goods was one of the matters up for consideration at a meeting here today of the advisory council of the Federal reserve system. This question in addition to others which now await the action of the Federal reserve board has given indications of being complicated by the European war situation and the preservation of neutrality.

The executive committee of the council, J. B. Forgan, J. P. Morgan, D. G. Wing, L. L. Pitue and W. S. Rowe, met in a conference preliminary to the meeting of the entire council.

SOCIALISTS WILL WORK FOR PEACE

Three Resolutions Passed By Conference Held at Copenhagen.

Copenhagen, via London, Jan. 19.—Three resolutions were passed unanimously at the closing session in Copenhagen today of the conference of Socialists of neutral countries which opened here last Sunday.

The first resolution declares it to be the duty of all Socialists to work for the speedy declaration of peace, the terms of which shall provide a basis for international disarmament; it also calls upon the International Socialist bureau at Berne to convoke a meeting of all Socialist parties at the beginning of peace negotiations to take an advisory part therein.

The second resolution proposes that all Socialist parties of neutral countries urge their respective governments to consider the possibility of offering mediation to the belligerents with the view of a lasting peace.

The third protests against the arrest of five members of the Russian duma who met to draft a report for the present conference.

Denmark, Norway, Sweden and Holland have been represented at this conference by four delegates each and Italy by one. No delegates attended from the United States and Switzerland.

Yesterday the conference adopted a resolution protesting against Germany's "violation of Belgian rights," and calling upon all Socialist parties to labor to bring the war to a speedy end.

NO AUTHORITY TO DECLARE EMBARGO

Congress Alone Can Stop Export of Wheat, Says President.

Washington, Jan. 19.—President Wilson has no authority to declare an embargo on the exportation of wheat and other foodstuffs, he told callers today, discussing recent increases in food prices in the United States.

Such authority must come from congress, he said, adding that he had not investigated the constitutionality of such a step. He did not commit himself on the advisability of an embargo act.

The president said nothing could be done by the government toward regulating prices, unless illegal practices by merchants were disclosed by the investigation he has directed the attorney general to begin.

WANT A HAND IN NAMING THE BABY

Suggestions That People Vote on Name Made to President.

Washington, Jan. 19.—Suggestions that President Wilson's grandson, the child of Mr. and Mrs. Francis B. Sayre, go nameless until contests to choose a name can be held in various parts of the country began arriving at the White House today and caused much amusement among members of the family. The president is reluctant to have the baby named after himself because the child "would have troubles enough of his own to bear." He told callers that a family council on the subject was held at the White House today but no decision was reached. Francis Woodrow Sayre was the name most frequently suggested.

The president said his grandson was a model infant and up to the present had not kept the family awake nights by crying.

RECEIVER FOR CHICAGO, ROCK ISLAND & PACIFIC

New York, Jan. 19.—The Federal district court today appointed Walter C. Noyes receiver of the Chicago, Rock Island & Pacific Railroad company, the Iowa corporation, whose stock was sold at public auction two weeks ago. The receiver's bond was fixed at $75,000.

The company for which the receiver was appointed is a holding company, the operating company being the Chicago, Rock Island & Pacific Railway company. The receiver was appointed as a development in the litigation begun by the Central Trust company of New York as trustees for its bondholders.

RUSSIAN TORPEDOES SINK TURKISH SHIPS.

Sebastopol, via Petrograd, Jan. 19.—A detachment of Russian torpedo boats have entered the bay of Sinope, a Turkish port on the Black sea in Asia Minor and have sent to the bottom a Turkish steamer and three sailing vessels. The crews of all four ships were saved. The name of the steamer appears to have been the Meorges.

No date of this engagement is given. The news is trustworthy.

1,000 BURIED UNDER RUINS OF CATHEDRAL.

Avezzano, via Rome, Jan. 19.—Grave news reached here today from the town of Ortucchio, southeast of this place where the earthquake victims are reported to number over 2,000. A thousand of the dead, it is stated, are buried under the ruins of the cathedral. The entire population of Ortucchio numbered about 2,500. The village of Almort, in the same region, is also reported as being completely destroyed.

RECOVERS ON CLAIM MANY YEARS OLD.

Bozeman, Mont., Jan. 19.—Recovery on a claim that dated back to the Civil war was granted to Becky Ann Moore and other plaintiffs in an unusual case tried in the district court here. By the finding of the jury in the case against John T. Sitton, administrator of the estate of John M. Sitton, deceased, the plaintiffs recover $666.66 and interest thereon from 1870 to the present time, or forty-five years.

TRI-STATE MEETING VERY WELL ATTENDED.

Fargo, N. D., Jan. 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—The attendance today at the opening of the convention of the Tri-State Grain Growers and Stockmen is the best for the first day in the fifteen years' history of the organization. There is also much interest displayed.

Col. R. Wilkerson of Elmo, Minn., who was announced to speak this afternoon, was unable to arrive in time to deliver his address.

DULUTH'S MAYOR AGAIN HEADS BESSEMER BANK

Bessemer, Mich., Jan. 19.—Shareholders of the First National Bank of Bessemer elected the following directors: Albert D. Johnston, John R. Johnson, William McRandle, Cornelius Hansen, Walter F. Trueltner and William Knight of Bessemer; H. Olin Young of Ishpeming and Mayor W. I. Prince of Duluth; president, W. I. Prince; vice president and cashier, W. F. Truettner; assistant cashier, S. J. Williams; second assistant cashier, John A. Kallender.

BOY IS ACQUITTED OF KILLING FATHER.

New Richmond, Wis., Jan. 19.—Daniel Callahan, a former New Richmond boy, has just been acquitted of the murder of his father, Dennis Callahan, at Edmonton, Alta. The elder Callahan, who was formerly an Erin Prairie farmer, returned to his homestead from Vegreville, Alta., drunk, and attacked his wife. His son Daniel went to the defense of his mother and shot his father. A temperance organization put up a strong fight for the boy's acquittal.

Bury Cass Lake Woman.

Cass Lake, Minn., Jan. 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—The funeral of Mrs. Inear Ersbo, who died as a result of injuries sustained while alone in a barn near her home south of the village, was held yesterday and the remains interred in the Farris cemetery. All of her sons and daughters were present at the funeral.

IRONWOOD MINER IS ELECTROCUTED IN MINE

Montana's Wool Income.

Helena, Mont., Jan. 19.—Montana's wool clip for 1914 was 27,300,000 pounds, approximately 9,000,000 pounds short of the 1913 yield, but returning about the same amount in cash, according to E. A. Gray, general agent of the Chicago & Northwestern railroad. Wool in 1914 sold at an average of 18 cents a pound, and hence Montana's wool output in 1914 brought almost $5,000,000.

Just Try This When Hairy Growths Appear

(Modes of Today)

A smooth, hairless skin always follows the use of a paste made by mixing some water with plain powdered delatone. This paste is applied to the hairy surface 2 or 3 minutes, then rubbed off and the skin washed, when every trace of hair will have vanished. No pain or discomfort attends the use of the delatone paste, but caution should be exercised to be sure that you get real delatone.—Advertisement.

JAMES MADISON

Fourth Pres. of U. S. Born 1751, died 1836. Member of Virginia Legislation. Member First Congress 1789. Secretary of State under Jefferson. Two terms as President.

Father of Constitution Exemplar of Temperance

James Madison, the well beloved fourth President of the United States, as Father of the Constitution, gave to every American the birthright of Personal Liberty. He believed that liberty develops the strength and independence of character that makes men resolute, temperate, respectors of the rights of others.

Madison himself was an exemplar of righteousness and temperance. He ate and drank always wholesome food and barley malt in moderation and was rewarded thereby with health and a hale old age, dying at 87. In the first Congress, 1789, in the exigency of raising revenue to pay for the war and the cost of government, Madison moved to fix a duty on malt liquors at 8 cents expressing the opinion that this rate "would be such encouragement as to induce the manufacture (of such mild malt beverages) to take deep roots in every state of the Union."

Note:—Roger Bevery described the manner of manufacturing beer in Virginia, Madison's native state, as follows: "The richer sort generally brewed their small beer from malt which they had from England. The poorer sort with Indian corn malted by drying in a stove." Arnold's "Origin and History of Beer and Brewing."

THE DAILY ROLL CALL; A COLUMN OF SPORTS

By Bruce.

MARTY FORKINS, former manager of Eddie McGoorty and one of the distinctly live wires of the boxing game when he was mingling with the glove game, is one who thinks well of the pugilistic possibilities of Pal Brown.

"When I was here with Eddie McGoorty," said Forkins, "I made some inquiries about Brown to ascertain whether I could get the boy under my management. Brown has been woefully mismanaged. Everything has been done to him that should not have been done. Pal has never been taught how to fight. He possesses natural qualifications. The range youngster is remarkably strong and his endurance is really amazing. But he fights in the wrong way, because he has never been taught any different.

"I believe—and I say this without any desire to appear to hate myself, you know—that had I been given the opportunity of handling this boy that he would been right out in front at the present time. He has the making, has this Brown—but no one has ever gone about the molding."

We hold no brief for Forkins—he is merely a friend we have known for several years. But after mentally reviewing the wasted opportunities of the pugilistic career of Brown and looking calmly at his present standing as a pugilist, our advice to the pride of the iron range is to get out and get under some wise and hustling manager of the ability of this same Marty Forkins.

There are a lot of us around these diggings who would like to know just what Brown can do; just what he is capable of performing.

Ketonen Deadly Earnest.

MAINO KETONEN has canceled all of his matches and settled down in deadly earnest to fit himself for the impending struggle with Walter Miller.

"I had a number of contests in the West," said the little Finn in a letter to the writer today. "When I received the articles from Mr. Lewis I immediately canceled all of these matches and started working for Miller.

"There is some chance that I might get injured in some match wrestled before the contest with Miller. I am not going to take any chances. Miller is the fellow I want. Please tell the people back in Duluth that I will be right when I step on the mat.

"Adolph Ernst, the famous light heavyweight, and John Maki, claimant of the lightweight title, are with me here at Lincoln. Both of these men will assist in my training. I am living at the Y. M. C. A. and have the benefit of some of the best wrestlers in the West. I am already in fine shape and will step on the mat in shape to wrestle the match of my life.

"Miller is the one man in the world that I want to beat. I am not going to take any chances about being right. I am going out to make the battle of my life against Miller."

Over the long distance telephone yesterday Walter Miller told Tilt Lewis that he was going to Chicago to get right for the big battle with Ketonen. Walter will train with Cutler, Ernst Kartje and Earl Caddock. Like Ketonen, Miller is taking no chances on the contest. The little Pole is going to train as he has never prepared for any previous contest. It is do or die with Walter and he amply knows this.

Boxing Bills.

ILLINOIS is agitating the passage of a limited round boxing bill. Ohio is after a commission-ruled boxing law. California is going to have a vote on the commission plan. What will Minnesota do?

In view of the boost that boxing has received in Wisconsin, some few of the lovers of the glove sport believe there is a chance down in the state house for some form of legalized permission to go through the two legislative bodies.

Boxing has been humbly petitioning the solons of this state for the last six or more sessions. Ardent workers have labored in behalf of the bill. Two years ago a grand entertainment was prepared for the solons—feeds and all—and boxers without cauliflower ears, who could talk without resorting to the asperities and deal fairly well with the mother tongue were sent out to mingle with the law makers and talk pleasantly and exhibit manicured hands and a smattering of human understanding.

Despite the efforts of many advocates of the bill, the nay, nay Pauline stuff was dealt out to the bill.

Private bouts are held openly in several cities of the state. In this kind of going there is not even an attempt at regulation. Northern Minnesota wants clean boxing—whether the state will get it—efforts of the past rise up and wail discouragement.

THE GOOD JUDGE VISITS THE CONSOLIDATED MINES

YOU know how tobacco chewers used to apologize for their tobacco when a friend wanted a chew. Now they are glad to tell their friends about "Right-Cut" because they know it's the Real Tobacco Chew.

A little chew of pure, rich, mellow tobacco—cut fine, short shred—seasoned and sweetened just enough, cuts out so much of the grinding and spitting.

Take a very small chew—less than one-quarter the old size. It will be more satisfying than a mouthful of ordinary tobacco. Just nibble on it until you find the strength chew that suits you. Tuck it away. Then let it rest. See how easily and evenly the real tobacco taste comes, how it satisfies without grinding, how much less you have to spit, how few chews you take to be tobacco satisfied. That's why it is The Real Tobacco Chew. That's why it costs less in the end.

It is a ready chew, cut fine and short shred so that you won't have to grind on it with your teeth. Grinding on ordinary candied tobacco makes you spit too much.

The taste of pure, rich tobacco does no need to be covered up with molasses and licorice. Notice how the salt brings out the rich tobacco taste in "Right-Cut."

One small chew takes the place of two big chews of the old kind.

MYRON IS THE VETERAN

Jamie Started Curling Back in the Dark Ages.

His Voice Kept the Association Above Dark Discouragement.

Curling, Club, Jan. 19.—(Special to The Companion.)—Jamie Myron is the oldest curler in point of service at the spiel. Your correspondent learned that fact yesterday.

Surrounded by a group of the youngsters of the spiel, such as Tom Cameron, Harry Hurdon, Billy Stewart, A. H. Smith of Winnipeg and Dan McMillan of Butte; we found Mr. Myron yesterday in a cozy nook of the club going over some of the history of the grand old game.

"In point of service to the grand old game—service, not years, ye understand—I am the oldest curler here," said Mr. Myron. "Being the oldest, I should be the most respected. Have ye a cigar, Tom?

"I started curling back in 1884. That was the year they had the first ice palace in St. Paul. The first shot I made, lads, drew right to the button—"

Tom Cameron was taken with a violent fit of coughing.

"Well, me lads, I kept right on curling. The second ice palace at St. Paul was built in 1886 and that was the first time the Winnipeg curlers came down to this portion of the country. Recall ye lads, old Sam Hartstone? He was the most famous curler of that time. He is dead, now, God bless and rest his good soul.

"The old St. Paul Curling club was St. Paul's big club back in them far distant days. Later came the Nuska and then the Capitol City club. Those were great old days, lads; days that will linger long in me memory."

Jamie Myron was president of the Northwestern Curling association ten years ago. Many were the discouragements of those old days. When things were at their worst, and the outlook was bleak, Jamie would sing—ah then! The sun would shine, smiles would wreathe the countenances of men—and the association lived.

EXTRA!

MICHAUD IS A WINNER

A Miracle Is Performed at the Duluth Curling Club.

Artie Michaud's pleasure rink succeeded in winning a game. The Fireside Companion tried to get out an extra last night to announce this startling piece of information, but all the printers were at a Scandinavian dance.

The fact that Michaud's rink lost two games is no news. News is the unexpected. No mention would have been made of the losses. The win of Artie's rink is easily the feature of the spiel to date, and merely goes to prove that the day of miracles is not as yet past.

EXTRA! EXTRA!

SCOTCH ROYALTY TOOK BUTTE DAN TO ITS HEART

McMillan of MacGregor's Montana Rink Was Wined and Deliciously Dined in the Land of Bobby Burns—Has Splendid Burr.

Dan McMillan, the genial Scot who plays third for the McGregor rink of Butte, is one of the best known curlers at the big spiel.

Years ago—how many it is hardly fair to state—Dan played with some of the crack rinks of St. Paul. Dan used to take Jamie Myron by the hand, when Jamie was a boy in little plaid kilties, and take Jamie out to the curling games. Dan considered this part of the education of the brave little lad.

This happened in the extremities—early extremities—of the 80's. Dan took the advice of Horace Greeley, and trekked for the West. Arriving at Butte, for some unaccountable reason, he remained.

Immediately Mac got busy and organized the Butte Curling club. He has been a prime mover in that organization ever since that time.

When the Canadians of Canada—of Canada, understand—organized a rink to invade Scotland, the cradle of curling, word was sent across the line for Dan McMillan. Dan is a splendid curler—see record of yesterday—and he has a refined Scotch burr.

The Canadians were to be wined and dined by royalty, and Dan with that splendid and rolling burr was deemed a necessity. He went, and like Caesar, saw and conquered.

During the present week get Dan off in a corner and get him to tell of that trip across the brine; yes, and get him started on the Scotch system of entertaining. It is a fine tale, laddie, a fine tale.

Probably the Greatest Skip in Grand Rapids, Mich.

STEWART IS BIG FIGURE

St. Paul Curler Is One of the Staunch Veterans of Game.

Billy Stewart of St. Paul, is rated as the best story teller of the present spiel. Bill is of the curling vintage of '81, and is 100 per cent proof in the point of ability. In the old and justly hallowed days William used to play soccer football. Also he was a great all-around athlete. Aside from proficiency with muscular appendages, he possesses an excellent head, which is in excellent working order. He is president of the St. Paul Lime and Cement company, and is going fine.

"Billy" Stewart is one of the distinct figures of the spiel. Genial and kindly disposed toward all arguments and suggestions, Bill is a host unto himself.

Friends look fondly and expectantly forward to the annual bonspiel. Bill Stewart is one of the forty-nine varieties of reasons why this expectancy. He radiates and is a reminder of lovely times of the past.

One of the lusty pioneers of curling in Minnesota, one of the staunch souls whose enthusiasm and love for the game has made possible such a great spiel as the present event, William Stewart stands for the very best in a clean and fine sport.

Record for Chairmanships.

Henry Cameron of St. Paul is the holder of the world's record for chairmanships of membership committees. At present he holds that position in the St. Paul Associated Boards of Commerce, in the St. Paul Builders' exchange, in the St. Paul Curling club and in the West End Commercial club of St. Paul.

Must be some hustler.

NOT THE KIND TO BE SQUEEZED

W. T. Lemmon of St. Paul Has One "m" Too Many in Name.

W. T. Lemmon of St. Paul, who is a member of W. D. Stewart's rink and plays lead, was a member of the legislature from St. Paul in the sessions of 1893 and 1895, and was the youngest member of the house. He is not very large as to stature, and because of his youthful appearance, some of the older members at that time sought to take advantage of him in committee and on the floor. They were stung, for it was found that he had more "pep" and knowledge of public affairs than the average veteran. They were not long in discovering that they had better cultivate rather than antagonize him.

He says that the reason he did not try to go back is that he "got wise." His name is not significant of his disposition, but he can hand flocks of the citrus fruit when it is deemed advisable.

Springs Scots Joke.

There are two curlers named Cameron from St. Paul playing in the spiel. They are not relatives. Henry Cameron, third in W. D. Stewart's rink, and Skip Tom Cameron, like to "josh" each other. The former nearly got the latter angry not long ago by reading him out of his own race. Somebody asked the Cameron who is not skip, but who is tall and handsome if he was any relation to Skip Cameron who is not tall, but also handsome—a characteristic of the Cameron clan—and Henry replied that of course they could not be as he was Highland while Tom was Lowland and told how this could be told.

"You see, the Highland Camerons are all tall people, while the Lowland Camerons are all short," said he.

When he heard about it, Skip Cameron was wild, but on hearing who put it over, realized the situation.

P. S.—This is a Scots joke.

GREEN CURLER QUIT SWEEPER

One young man, who because of his possible embarrassment shall be nameless, but has curled but little before, was supplying for an outside rink yesterday afternoon while one of the members was called away. A rock came down the ice slowly, thrown by No. 3, and which was needed as guard. This young man trotted alongside the stone in company with No. 2, when the skip suddenly shouted excitedly:

"All the way, all the way!"

The supplying player, being unused t othe call, thought that the skip was yelling "get out of the way," thinking it was to him because he was green at the game, and he stopped sweeping. The way the skip carried on when the stone stopped outside of the hog-line, when it would likely have gone within, was worth watching.

What Ails Bonspiel.

"I know what is the matter with this bonspiel," said Reidel of Phillips suddenly last night, apropos of nothing.

"Well, I'll bite—what is it?" said W. D. Stewart from St. Paul.

"Ron Smith's not here," was Reidel's reply.

"You've hit it," was chorused about him.

Ron, who is up in Calgary on contract work, is usually the life of the 'spiel. He would get his Highland Scot blood pumping in the excitement of the game and suddenly, and after that almost continuously, yells like those of a Comanche Indian on the warpath would make the rink echo. The excitement would become catching and before long everybody would be whooping it up, even the women spectators on the "bridge" over the center. Ron could put more enthusiasm into a curling game than any other ten men in the association, it has been asserted.

The present 'spiel, it should be understood, is not at all a tame affair, for the keenest interest is being taken and some of the closest games on record are being played, but it would do the crowd good to see Ron's gigantic frame racing down the ice and yelling at the rock and the players.

PORT ARTHUR TEAM COMING

Hockey Games Scheduled With Canadians for Friday and Saturday.

Definite news was received early today by Manager Jacobi of the curling club hockey team that the Port Arthur team would be here for games on Friday and Saturday of the present week.

A game may be scheduled between the Canadians and the St. Paul team, but this is undecided as yet. Port Arthur has one of the strongest teams in its history and the two games here are expected to be among the best of the season.

EXTRA!

SHERWOOD CURLS.

George A. Sherwood actually curled last evening. Other members of the club gasped when they saw him, arrayed in a checkered gray sweater, broom in hand, trot out on ice No. 2 and take his pose awaiting the call of play.

It was evident that, to refute the assertion, made by cartoon in The Herald a week ago Saturday, he was going to show that he was not merely a platform curler, but could perform on the ice. He played second for a scrub rink gotten together and skipped by H. L. George. They were beaten, 10 to 7, and Mr. Sherwood performed brilliantly.

When asked as to his motive for violating his rule of never getting on the ice, he merely said:

"Huh!"

Once Sport "Angel."

W. D. Stewart, one of the St. Paul skips here, was formerly president of the Northwestern association and in the old lacrosse days was a great patron of the national Canadian sport. He was "pretty soft" for the St. Paul club, for he proved a first-class "angel." He was so stuck on the game than rather than see it go bump would dig down in his own pocket time after time and put up again. But all good things have an end and Mr. Stewart isn't doing it now.

WAR CASTS A PALL OVER THE BIG SPIEL

A. H. Smith of Winnipeg Tells Why the Canadian Curlers Are Absent This Season.

Amid all the fun, the geniality and the joyousness of the spiel, there was a note of pathos yesterday. War cast its pall for a brief second over the minds of the veteran curlers; the grim and stalking specter of death and desolation was brought home for a fleeting moment.

"Somehow the Winnipeg curlers just couldn't come this year," said A. H. Smith. "It isn't that we don't like to come, and it is not that we have any feeling against Duluth. It is something that I can't put into words. I have three sons at war. We just can't curl, man, you must understand.

"Up at Winnipeg we have club games. They are some of the greatest contests in the world. This season only a few of the boys would be around the clubs. The old crowd is not there; the old interest is absent. Men may curl, or go out and curl at the game, but the heart and mind is not there.

"Excuse us this time, boys—we just couldn't come. You will understand. You can't just feel like we do. We have sons fighting at the front, some of us, and when we play the old game we dearly love, when we sweep her up, lads, the heart is not there."

STANDING IN CHECKERS.

Banks Tied With World's Champion and Still Another Is Left.

Chicago, Jan. 19.—Alfred Jordan, London, world's champion checker player, and Newell W. Banks of Detroit, former American champion, played two drawn games in the championship series yesterday, leaving the contest betwen them tied with sixteen drawn games.

Hugh Henderson of Pittsburg, national champion, who played fourteen drawn games with Louis Ginsberg, New York city champion, won the fifteenth game with his opponent.

Henderson is now qualified to play the winner of the Banks-Jordan contest in the finals for the American championship.

SPORTING NEWS OF THE DAY

M'NABB AND MILLER ARE STARS OF OPENING DAY

White-Clad Rink of Grand Rapids Goes Through Undefeated.

Miller's Crowd Wins Four Events; International to Be Played Down.

Delays in getting under way on the first day of the twenty-second annual bonspiel resulted in lateness in completing most of the games. Today conditions promised to be improved. All events will be called on time.

The opening day of the big event was rather disastrous for the crack rinks of the Duluth Curling club. Whyte, Bradley and Billy Dinham went down in defeat. These three rinks were about the class of the Duluth curlers.

Graham took Bill Dinham over the coals of defeat at 1:30 this morning, the game being lost by Dinham's rink on the last head, it was one of the most exciting games of the day—or the most exciting contest of the early morning of the second day.

McNabb of Grand Rapids, Mich., one of the strong contenders of last season, won all of his games of yesterday. The play of "Sandy's" aggregation was clearly one of the features of yesterday.

Bobby Miller's rink sprang into instant notice by the early morning sensational defeat of Elmer Whyte and followed this advantage up by putting J. D. McGregor's Butte rink out of the running of the Minneapolis Curling club event.

Miller curled in remarkable form in all of the contests of yesterday, taking Oldham down the line in the St. Paul Jobbers' event, and wound up the work of the day by administering a thorough drubbing to Zauft of West Duluth in the Duluth Curling club event, giving the Superior rink four wins for the initial day.

Long List of Games.

There were ninety-five games run off yesterday, which is going some, taking into consideration the fact that the opening draw was delayed somewhat on account of the lateness of arrival of some of the curlers.

Because of the fact that Montgomery of Port Arthur is the lone Canadian rink entered at the spiel, the International event is being played down in regular draw form.

A. H. Smith of Winnipeg proposed that some Canadians living in Duluth be allowed to organize rinks and that the International trophy be played for with four rinks representing Canada, and a like number representing the United States. This proposal was turned down by the bonspiel officials, on the ground that the trophy represented too much to be competed for in such a manner.

Montgomery will be allowed to play down through the draw. The Montgomery rink is the sole hope of Canada in the International.

Dark Horses Show.

It is early as yet to select likely looking rinks. However, the first day of play makes Miller, Reedal and McNabb stand forth. McGregor was beaten, and so were most of the other stars. Before the play of today is over Miller may be taken over the coals.

There are precisely sixty-four rinks in the spiel, which is exactly the same number of rinks that were drawn for the spiel of last year.

Some familiar faces are missing and are missed. Tom McDermott is not on hand. Dr. O'Grady of Winnipeg is not present. Lem Deisel is also among the missing. George Labatt and Bill Carson are absent.

But the spiel is going to be one of the most successful in the history of the association. Play has been remarkably even and interest was raised to a high notch yesterday by the unexpected.

REVERSED AND UPHELD.

National Commission Deals With National Board Decisions.

Cincinnati, Ohio, Jan. 19.—The national board was reversed yesterday by the national commission when it declared Player John L. Sullivan of the Toronto club of the International league, a free agent. Sullivan based his claim to be declared a free agent on the clause in the Players' Fraternity agreement which stipulates that on proof of the existence of an agreement of any kind between a club by its president or manager, if a minor league club, and a player, not incorporated in the contract between them, "such contract shall be null and void and the player unconditionally released." Sullivan's claim that Manager Kelly of the Toronto club entered into such an agreement with him was upheld.

The commission upheld the national board in an appeal by Player Ralph E. Capron for a claim of $275 against the Baltimore club of the International league. Capron failed to submit a statement of his case when requested to do so by the commission.

TAKES OVER OSHKOSH.

Joe Killian May Move W.-I. Champs to Some Other City.

Oshkosh, Wis., Jan. 19.—Joe Killian of Oshkosh and Sterling, Ill., yesterday took over the baseball club which won three consecutive Wisconsin-Illinois league championships for the city of Oshkosh, after dissolution of the Killian-Kluwin combination.

Mr. Killian said that if anyone in Oshkosh or any group in this city wants to back the team he will give Oshkosh first choice and he will leave the matter open for a week or ten days, but he has a number of offers to put his team in other cities, either in the Central association, Three-I league or some town in the new South Wisconsin-Illinois circuit.

JOHNSON WILL DODGE CARRANZA.

El Paso, Tex., Jan. 19.—Promoters of the Johnson-Willard bout arrived here yesterday and began preparations for the battle on March 6. It was said Johnson would not enter Mexico through territory controlled by the Carranza faction, who wish to prevent the fight on the ground that it will enrich Gen. Francisco Villa. Willard is expected to arrive here Saturday.

MAY ABANDON MEET.

Iowa City, Iowa, Jan. 19.—The Iowa state track and field meet may be abandoned this year as the result of a disagreeemnt that has arisen in Iowa City and state athletic circles. The conflict involves the participation of seniors in the meet and many colleges declare they will withdraw unless their seniors are granted the right to compete.

Iowa, Ames and Drake and the minor colleges were represented at a secret session at which the bill was discussed. The matter was referred finally to the faculty committee of control, composed of faculty men from Iowa, Ames, Drake and Grinnell.

ROTARY QUINT OFF FOR LONG TRIP.

Lawrence Duby's crack Rotary basket ball team will leave this evening for its long Western trip. On its return to Duluth, near the close of the month, the strong Oswego, N. Y., quint will be played here. This game comes on Feb. 3 and is expected to prove one of the best games ever played here.

CALLAHAN IS CONQUEROR

Knocks Out Mexican Joe Rivers in Second Round.

One-Time Lightweight Contender Beaten—Other Fights.

Memphis, Tenn., Jan. 19.—Frankie Callahan of Brooklyn knocked out Joe Rivers of Los Angeles in the second round of what was scheduled to have been an eight-round bout here last night.

Rivers outboxed Callahan in the first round and landed several times at close quarters, but with little effect.

In the second round Calahan took the aggressive and near the middle of the round ended the bout with a right swing to the jaw. It was several minutes before Rivers revived sufficiently to leave the ring.

Both men made 133 pounds at 3 o'clock.

Except for a brief period in the second round Rivers forced the fighting, Callahan taking blows on the head and body without a return, apparently waiting for the opportunity for a knockout, which came after four minutes of fighting. When the blow was delivered, Rivers was setting himself after a clinch, Callahan's right landing heavily on the jaw as he turned.

Callahan is virtually a newcomer as a fighter, while Rivers, although he lost championship battles to both Wolgast and Ritchie, was still regarded as a contender for the lightweight title.

Milwaukee, Wis., Jan. 19.—Billie Kramer, Milwaukee, last night defeated Jack Doig, Spring Valley, Ill., in a ten-round bout by a narrow shade, in the opinion of newspaper critics. Kramer led by a wide margin up to the eighth, when Doig came back strong and nearly evened things up. The last round was a slashing, tearing fight, with honors even.

New Orleans, La., Jan. 19.—Patsy McMahon of Indianapolis, failed to respond to the bell at the beginning of the twelfth round of his fight here last night with Matt Brock of Cleveland, and Brock was declared the winner. McMahon proclaimed a foul in the tenth, but it was not allowed. The fight was scheduled for twenty rounds. Brock had the advantage in nearly every round.

Grand Rapids, Mich., Jan. 19.—Jimmy Anderson easily defeated Jerry Murphy of Indianapolis, in a scheduled six-round bout here last night. Murphy took the count of eight in both the first and second rounds and was floored again at the beginning of the third. The referee then stopped the fight.

BRYANT READY FOR LONG GRIND

Duluth Roller Skater Says He Is Right for 24-Hour Race.

To the Sporting Editor of The Herald:

On Thursday night at 9:30 o'clock King Kelly and myself will start on our twenty-four-hour grind in an attempt to lower the record for that time. We have been working out for an hour each evening for a week and at the present time are both in good condition. Kelly has won many long distance races, having won two six-day races, one at the Rollaway and the other at the Casino in Minneapolis in 1911 and 1912. In 1913 he also won the 26-mile race on the streets of Minneapolis, finishing four miles ahead of the second man.

I think I will stand the grind as well as or better than Kelly will. I shall never forget the twenty-four-hour race I skated in Milwaukee on March 28-29, 1913, when Fred Martin skated 253 miles and won the race. I skated 251 miles and 4 laps and finished fourth. I went 187 miles in one stretch without stopping, but my skates gave out and this is where I lost the laps that cost me the race.

For our coming race, the doors will be open at all hours of the twenty-four, and the finish at 9:30 Friday night will be worth seeing.

CALUMET EASY FOR DULUTH

Local Hockey Players Win By Safe Margin in Rough Game.

Nicholson, Duluth's Goal Tender, Proves Bright Star of Game.

Houghton, Mich., Jan. 19.—Duluth last night defeated Calumet by a score of 7 to 2 in a game of hockey that was somewhat old-fashioned. It was characterized by rough work.

Duluth was the worst offender, with seven penalties, as against Calumet's four. Barkell of Duluth got ten minutes and Skinner of Calumet five for fighting.

The first half finished 2 to 1 in favor of Duluth. Calumet tied the score in the first ten minutes of the second half, after which Duluth scored five without particular difficulty. Nicholson, Duluth goal, was the bright star of the game.

Calumet had as many shots at him as Duluth had at Savinni, but Nicholson was impregnable.

The lineup:

The baseball team brought back $5,248, but the association had spent $7,970.36 on the team. Track expenditures were $5,407.49, while receipts were only $1,395.48. Tennis had receipts of $269, while $305.18 was paid out.

Student fees, a blanket athletic tax of $5, totaled $25,430, next to football, the athletic association's largest source of income.

Hegardt scored for Central early in the game from a scrimmage directly in front of the net. Richards scored again for Central with a long shot from near middle ice. Both scores were made in the first seven minutes of play.

GIRL'S BURNS PROVE FATAL

Miss Freda Anderson Does Not Survive Injury Sustained in Fire.

First Reported Recovering, Victim of Flames Has Setback.

Virginia, Minn., Jan. 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—Miss Freda Anderson, who last week was severely burned by an explosion of kerosene at the home of Attorney McMahon, where she was employed as a domestic, died about 9 o'clock this morning at McIntire hospital of her injuries.

It was reported a few days after the fire that she was on the road to recovery and her condition took a turn for the worse last night and it was impossible for the surgeons to save her life.

The funeral will be held Sunday at 2 p. m. from the Swedish Lutheran church, with interment in Greenwood. Miss Anderson was 20 years old, a native of Sweden, where all her relatives excepting Mrs. Ed Holm, who lives on the Mud Lake road, three miles from town, reside.

The victim of the tragedy was trying to hurry along the kitchen fire in the McMahon home by pouring some kerosene from a five-gallon container on the fire, when an explosion resulted, and she was badly burned. She was rushed to McIntire hospital, where everything possible was done, but her burns were too severe.

May Select Architect.

Then there is the question of the selection of an architect to design the proposed courthouse and village hall. This matter has been in abeyance for several weeks. Several architects have submitted rough sketches and are naturally anxious to have the selection made.

The county division proposition may have some bearing on the delay in the matter, although this is not publicly stated.

Many Want Jobs.

Work on the sewers has begun and already more than 100 men, mostly married, are given employment. Salaries for the city attorney, the clerk of municipal court and other officials and employes were also reduced. Election judges for the city election which will be held next month were chosen.

A GREAT MUSICIAN'S HAIR SECRET

It was a man musician to whom we were talking, but every woman will realize the value of his answer to our question, "What makes your hair so abundant and so lustrous?" "Just simple care, madam. I am as good to it as I am to my hands." It was just his way of saying, "I keep it perfectly clean. Since then we have found that regular care and perfect cleanliness means hair health and beauty. It is not advisable when shampooing to use a makeshift, but always use a preparation made for shampooing only. You can enjoy the best that is known for about three cents a shampoo by getting a package of canthrox from your druggist; dissolve a teaspoonful in a cup of hot water and your shampoo is ready. After its use the hair dries rapidly with uniform color. Dandruff, excess oil and dirt are dissolved and entirely disappear. Your hair will be so fluffy that it will look much heavier than it is. Its lustre and softness will also delight you, while the stimulated scalp gains the health which insures hair growth.—Advertisement.

JACK TARS MUST HAVE GOOD TEETH

"The European war," said Mr. Coyle today, "shows the great importance of good teeth in times of war. Men in the trenches are suffering more from bad teeth than from other causes. Furthermore, a soldier or sailor must have good teeth to keep in good health."

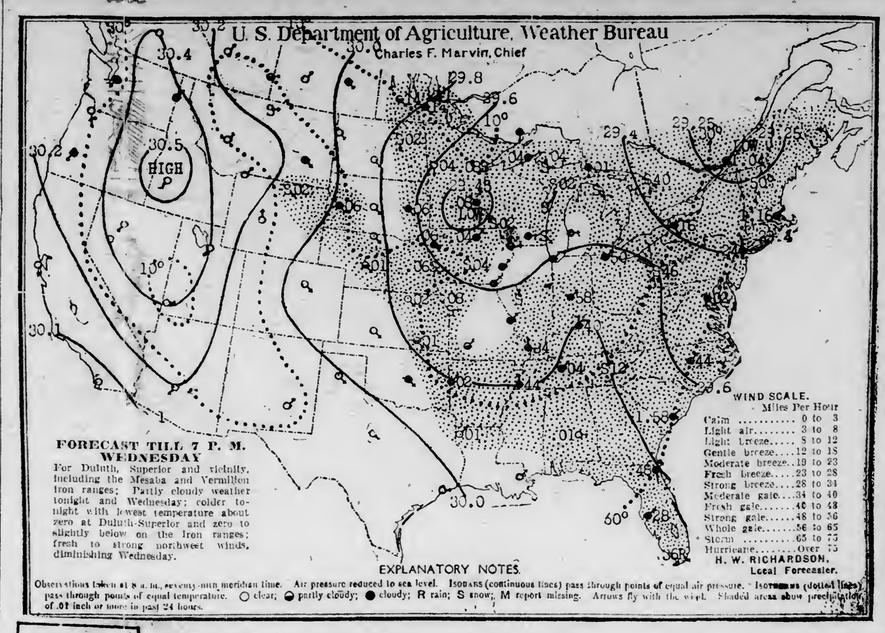

To be eligible to the United States navy a man must have at least twenty sound teeth. Opposing molars and incisors are important for proper mastication of food.

The case had been on trial since last Friday, and Chief of Police Troyer, Detective Frank Schulte and others gave testimony.

OBJECT TO NEW TITLE OF EARL OF ABERDEEN.

London, Jan. 19.—The choice by the earl of Aberdeen, the retiring lord lieutenant of Ireland, of the new title of marquis of Aberdeen and Tara, has provoked strong criticism from the press and the public. William

EARL OF ABERDEEN.

Watson, in a poem, suggests the irreverent alternative of "Aberdeen and Sinad."

The addition of Tara to the title is considered by the newspapers as something of a profanation likely to give great offense to Ireland where the shrine of Tara is held in almost sacred reverence.

The Daily Mail in an editorial, says that perhaps when Lord Aberdeen is back in Scotland he may become conscious of a certain historical incongruity.

Warden Reed Announces What Will Be Charged for Year 1915.

Stillwater, Minn., Jan. 19.—Warden C. S. Reed of the Minnesota state prison has issued a statement advising dealers of the prices for prison-made binder twine for the season of 1915. NO CARS; MINE CLOSES.

Lake Angeline Property in Upper Peninsula Forced to Suspend.

Ishpeming, Mich., Jan. 19.—Lack of cars to hold ore has forced the Lake Angeline mine, which has been operating four days a week for several weeks, to suspend operations and throw about seventy men out of employment.

Since early last fall the principal work at the property has been conducted at the east end, near the dwellings on the side of the hill. There is no place there to stock ore, and as fast as ore was mined it was loaded. Nearly 150 cars have been filled and placed on a sidetrack.

Saturday the Lake Superior & Ishpeming Railway company gave notice that no more cars could be furnished. It was at once decided to suspend operations.

IS NOT LOSING MONEY.

Officer of Bagley Elevator Denies Report About Concern.

Bagley, Minn., Jan. 19.—Secretary and Treasurer A. M. Duncan of the local elevator denies the report that the elevator is losing money.

"The report is being circulated that the elevator is going behind. The statement is not true," Mr. Duncan says. "The monthly financial statement for Sept. 1, showed that the elevator was $789.36 behind, the monthly statement for Jan. 1, shows only $333.-34 behind, a gain of $456 since Sept. 1.

"These statements do not include in the assets the value of the building and equipment which is about $4,000 to offset the debt of $333.34. During the months of September and October due to the drop in the price of grains the elevator went behind for those months, but the increase in the prices later has more than overcome any loss."

JURY FINDS WOMAN DIED FROM NARCOTIC EXCESSES.

Grand Forks, N. D., Jan. 19.—Inquiry into the cause of death of Mrs. Mayme Smeeton, aged 65, found dead in a room over the New York restaurant early Sunday morning resulted in a verdict of death from excessive use of narcotics. The body awaits advices from relatives supposed to reside in Ceylon Station, Sask., and a brother, name undetermined, said to live in Minneapolis.

She was known as "The Mystery Woman" here. She registered at local third class hotels at different times and appeared melancholy and kept to her room reading. Letters found in her effects indicated she had appealed to relatives in Canada for money without result. Her wearing apparel was neat, of good quality and carefully placed before she retired. The features are those of a well bred, cultured person.

RHEUMATISM A MYSTERY

Some diseases give immunity from another attack, but rheumatism works just the other way.

Every attack of rheumatism invites another. Worse than that, it reduces the body's power so that each attack is worse than the one before.

If any disease needs curing early it is rheumatism but there is almost no disease which physicians find more difficult to treat successfully. When a medicine does help rheumatim nobody knows how or why it does it.

All authorities agree that the blood becomes thin with alarming rapidity as rheumatism develops. Maintaining the quality of the blood therefore is a reasonable way of preventing and combating rheumatism. That it works out in fact is shown by the beneficial results in the treatment of rheumatism, acute, muscular and articular, with the blood tonic, Dr. Williams' Pink Pills.

That hundreds who take Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for their rheumatism get well is a fact beyond dispute. That the rheumatism does not return as long as the blood is kept rich and red is equally true.

Write the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y., for the free pamphlet "Building Up the Blood" and kindly mention this paper. Your own druggist sells Dr. Williams' Pink Pills.

PROPOSE LICENSING OF REALTY DEALERS

North Dakota Idea to Raise Money to Advertise State's Resources.

Fargo, N. D., Jan. 19.—(Special to The Herald.)—After the close of the present legislative session it may be necessary to have a license to sell real estate in North Dakota. That plan is now being agitated by those interested in providing an immigration fund and in the elimination of undesirables from the list of land sellers.

"The plan should prove a winner," said an advocate of the plan. "Under the present financial conditions in this state it cannot be expected that any large sum can be appropriated by the legislature for immigration purposes, as badly as immigrants are needed for the settlement and the development of the state.

Estimated Revenue.

"We propose to license every realty man and estimate a revenue from this source of $20,000 to $25,000. Now, if the state can appropriate about $25,000, we can add the license fund to this and use the total for securing more people for this state.

"One plan suggested is to have an executive committee composed of the governor, the commissioner of agriculture and the attorney general and the president and secretary of the state immigration association select an immigration commissioner who will do the work under the committee's direction, and we believe enormous benefits can be derived that will prove very helpful in securing new settlers for the state.

STATE WILL SELL 180,000 ACRES

Annual Offerings of Land to Begin at International Falls.

St. Paul, Minn., Jan. 19.—Starting at International Falls, March 8, when 25,000 acres will be offered in Koochiching county, State Auditor J. A. O. Preus will commence the annual sale of Minnesota school, state and other lands. In all 180,000 acres will be offered this year. The land will be sold to the highest bidder, but in no case will any tract be sold below the appraisal value, which is in no case less than $5 an acre, as fixed by statute.

Much Drained Land.

Much of the land is in the country through which the state has been dredging drainage ditches for the last few years, and which a few years ago was under water a great deal of the time. It is now dry as a bone, and soil experts pronounce the old swamps and meadows as equal in productiveness and ease of tillage to any farming land in the state.

The purchasers, who are limited to 320 acres each, must pay 15 per cent of the purchase price at the time of the sale and the remainder will run for forty years at 4 per cent. The appraised value of the timber, however, must be paid at once.

IF KIDNEYS AND BLADDER BOTHER

Take Salts to Flush Kidneys and Neutralize Irritating Acids.

Kidney and Bladder weakness result from uric acid, says a noted authority. The kidneys filter this acid from the blood and pass it on to the bladder, where it often remains to irritate and inflame, causing a burning, scalding sensation, or setting up an irritation at the neck of the bladder, obliging you to seek relief two or three times during the night. The sufferer is in constant dread, the water passes sometimes with a scalding sensation and is very profuse; again, there is difficulty in avoiding it.

Bladder weakness, most folks call it, because they can't control urination. While it is extremely annoying and sometimes very painful, this is really one of the most simple ailments to overcome. Get about four ounces of Jad Salts from your pharmacist and take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast, continue this for two or three days. This will neutralize the acids in the urine so it no longer is a source of irritation to the bladder and urinary organs which then act normally again.

Jad Salts is inexpensive, harmless, and is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and is used by thousands of folks who are subject to urinary disorders caused by uric acid irritation. Jad Salts is splendid for kidneys and causes no bad effects whatever.

Here you have a pleasant, effervescent lithia-water drink, which quickly relieves bladder trouble.

MARKET HAS SHARP BREAK

Wheat Decline Brought About Through Falling Off in Export Inquiry.

Flaxseed Seeks Lower Level After Showing Strength at Start.

Duluth Board of Trade, Jan. 19.—The market remained dull and weak up to the close. May wheat closed 2⅝c off and July 3c off. Durum showed special weakness, a break of 6¼c developing in it during the session.

Oats closed 1⅛c off at 51⅞c for on the track; rye unchanged at $1.15@1.16; barley unchanged at from 63c to 74c, and corn 1⅛c off at 70¼@70⅜c.

At Winnipeg, May oats closed ⅜c off at 59¾c asked and July ¼c off at 60½c.

Puts on Minneapolis May wheat closed at $1.32, and calls at $1.36⅞.

A substantial break was precipitated in the wheat market today as a result of lower Liverpool cables and a practical stoppage in export buying for the time being. English millers are said to be fairly well supplied with grain and more liberal offers were reported to have been received from Argentina. There is said to be a disposition among foreigners to await the development of the Argentina ocean freight situation, as it is conceded that any reduction in rates will lead to a good movement of grain from that country to Europe, leading to less urgent buying in this country.

An interesting development was reported on the local board of trade today in the announcement that the Northwest railroads would put into effect on Feb. 8, a reduced grain tariff, making a rate of 40 cents a 100 pounds from points as far east as Minot, N. D., to the Pacific coast. This is a reduction of 10 cents from the present rate, and may, it is thought, lead to the routing of a larger tonnage of wheat from a big producing area in North Dakota to the coast, and a proportionate cutting off in the movement to Duluth. The rate from Minot, N. D., to this point is 19 cents a 100 pounds so that there would appear to be no danger of any large percentage of the crop finding a Pacific coast outlet. The new rate is said to have been ordered into effect in response to an agitation on the part of millers on the Pacific coast.

May wheat opened ⅞c off at $1.36 and broke 1⅝c more up to the final hour. July opened ⅞c off at $1.36½, and slumped 2⅝c more.

Trading in durum was quiet, and in absence of the support that had been in evidence in it during its long upturn, it broke sharply. May durum opened ½c off at $1.57¼, and declined 3⅛c more to $1.53½.

Bradstreet's world's visible supply report was bullish, it being estimated that stocks show a decrease of 5,889,000 bu in the week.

Snows report also favored bolders, showing farm stocks in this country on Jan. 15 of 246,000,000 bu or 27.7 per cent. Commercial stocks were estimated at 110,000,000 bu. Figuring consumptive requirements and wheat already under contract for export, it is estimated that a surplus of only 46,600,000 bu remains available for foreign shipment.

Flaxseed Is Nervous.

The flaxseed market was again a nervous proposition, trading coming over a wide spread. There was good demand by crushers and quotations averaged around 1c over yesterday during the greater part of the session. There was, however, a dip of 4c at one time on the catching of some stop-loss orders, and just as speedy a recovery. Final prices in the day were 2c off, with further weakness showing at the close.

May flax opened 1c up at $1.90, and closed 2c off at $1.87 bid.

At Winnipeg, May flax closed 1¾c off at $1.67¼ asked.

The seed closed ½c off at Buenos Aires.

A steady call for flour from Eastern jobbers was reported by the Duluth-Superior Milling company today, though there is a general disposition to wait for breaks. The company has been busy during the last few days in shipping flour East in advance of the increased freight rate of about 1c per 100 pounds, which goes into effect tomorrow.

Cash wheat sold on the Duluth market today at 1c under May; cash durum at the May price and flaxseed at 1c under May.

Horace Jackson of Jackson Bros., Chicago, was a visitor on the Duluth board of trade today. Referring to the general situation in the grain trade, he said that he noticed a disposition by operators at Chicago, Kansas City, Omaha and Winnipeg markets which he had visited lately to get out of wheat and go into corn and oats. The trade feels that those grains are relatively cheaper at their present prices and offer better speculative opportunities.

C. E. Lewis wired from Minneapolis: "Whatever action is taken on the wheat embargo cannot interfere with contracts already made by foreigners or in cash or futures. The constitution does not permit the passing of any law that impairs contracts entered into before the law was passed."

* * *

Russell's New says: "Charters were reported yesterday for two steamers for wheat amounting to 440,000 bu from Portland to Rotterdam. Offerings of boats are still very scarce and will continue to be at a further advance. Export sales of wheat were reported yesterday as high as 500,000 bu, but all agreed that the demand was very much less than usual."

Broomhall cabled from Liverpool: "The market was quiet with tendency lower as a result of freer Plate offers at 3d decline and a quieter demand with easier tendency in spot. It is understood all millers are well stocked and prospective arrivals are liberal. Plate offers are liberal with favorable rain in India resulting in freer offers there.

"Corn was quiet with a steady undertone. The consumption is comparatively limited and the demand is smaller."

The Paine Commission company had the following from Logan & Bogan today: Our Washington, D. C., correspondent wires: "President Wilson said this morning that the department of justice is only to examine into the wheat situation to ascertain if any illegal acts are being committed. He said there was no power vested in any one to place an embargo. Exports of wheat and that to do so would certainly require legislative action. He was uncertain whether an embargo would be unconstitutional or not."

Snow's special report of farm stocks Jan. 15 shows wheat 27.7 per cent or 246,000,000 bu; commercial stocks of 110,000,000 bu: making a total of 356,000,000 bu. Domestic requirements to June 30 for consumption are 235,000,000 bu and spring seed 30,000,000 bu, leaving for exports and carry-over stocks to June 30, 91,000,000 bu. Country carry-over stocks are at the minimum of recent years, 1909 when they were 43,000,000 bu. It leaves only 48,000,000 bu for export during the next five and a half months. Farm stocks of corn were 52.1 per cent, or 1,391,000,000 bu, showing that nearly one-half of the crop has disappeared from the farms for the two and a half months of the crop year. Farm stocks of oats were 44.9 per cent, or 512,000,000 bu, showing that the rate of marketing has been about normal.

Minneapolis—The comparative high prices for wheat are making its food substitutes more attractive to exporters. Exporters have not only taken all the rye flour they could get in the Northwest, but are now keen bidders for the raw material. Spot rye is quoted this morning at $1.17½, or 2c higher than yesterday's top prices.

CHICAGO MARKET.

Increased Receipts and Lower Liverpool Quotations Cause Drop in Prices.

Chicago, Jan. 19.—Increased receipts northwest counted against the bulls today in wheat. Lower quotations at Liverpool had also a bearish effect and so, too, did the renewal of snow protection throughout the winter crop belt, especially Western Kansas. After opening ⅝@1¼c lower, the market rallied somewhat, but later sagged further than before.

Subsequently quietness of export demand led to a decided break in prices. The bears made much also of talk about government inquiries and of the possibility of an embargo act. The close was unsettled, 2¼@2⅝c to 2⅝c under last night.

Corn turned heavy with wheat. Besides, cables were disappointing to friends of higher prices. The opening, which varied from ¼@⅜c off to ⅛@¼c advance, was followed by a moderate setback all around.

The pronounced weakness that developed in wheat was sympathized with sparing by corn, declines being stubbornly contested. The close was steady at a loss of 1½c to 1⅝@1¾c net.

Continued selling by one of the largest houses weakened oats. Pit speculators seemed to have a monopoly on the demand.

Inquiry for provisions was slow. A decline in hog prices appeared to make buyers cautious.

ADVANCES IN STOCKS

All Recent Records for Activity and Strength Are Surpassed.

Entire List Moves Forward Under Lead of Former Favorites.

New York, Jan. 19.—Stocks opened with another burst of activity and generally higher prices, but trading settled down before the end of the first half hour. With such exceptions as Missouri Pacific, Lehigh Valley and "Soo," all of which rose a point or more, gains were mostly fractional. Bethlehem Steel declined a point probably in the belief that the directors will not declare a dividend on the stock at today's meeting. It soon made partial recovery. As usual of late, a large part of the dealings was in the specialties, with a good demand for coppers.

Following its early low, the advance of today's stock market was resumed on about the largest scale witnessed since the renewal of business. Transactions in the first hour aggregated 140,000 shares and embraced the greatest variety of issues. The significant feature, however, was that favorites asserted their former leadership, although Missouri Pacific led all stocks in point of activity. United States Steel changed hands in blocks of 1,000 to 1,700 shares, gaining a point. Extraordinary ease of money, as seen in the steady reduction of emergency currency, was perhaps the most potent factor in the movement.

Bonds were strong.

Activity ceased soon after midday and prices were disposed to recede, though Canadian Pacific added to its gains. Bethlehem Steel preferred rose 2 points to its best price in over eight years on declaration of the full 7 per cent dividend and the common made up most of its early loss.

All records for strength and activity since the resumption of business were surpassed by today's stock market. The entire list moved forward under lead of former favorities.

Active trading was resumed in the final hour, Reading increasing its gain to two points. Brooklyn Transit also became a feature. The close was strong.

London Stock Market.

London, Jan. 19.—Money and discount rates were weak today. The stock market became active after a quiet opening. There were more markings in American and mining shares than for some time past. The war loan, Japanese bonds and Brazilian and Russian issues were the most active in the foreign section, while home rails were steady.

The American section advanced under the lead of Missouri, Kansas & Texas and Canadian Pacific. The latter reached 170. In the late dealings, Amalgamated Copper, Union Pacific and United States Steel received attention. The closing was firm.

POLICE OUTDO OLD DIOGENES

Capture Suitcase Thief, Who Returns Stolen Papers.

William Griffen Makes Good Haul at Hotel; Admits Guilt.

Honest thieves are rare, according to Chief of Police C. H. Troyer, but the police force, through Detectives Toewe and Bradley, accomplished a good deal more than Diogenes ever desired, late this morning, when they arrested William Griffen, aged 36, charged with grand larceny.

Griffen, who was staying at a Superior street hotel, is alleged to have stolen from the lobby of another hotel, two suitcases, belonging respectively to F. C. Schaefer and M. J. Hogan, traveling men, some time Sunday.

One of the suitcases contained, in addition to a diamond, a watch, and other articles, several deeds to some property, and papers very valuable to the owner, but worthless to Griffen. He is said to have wrapped the papers carefully in a bundle and returned them to the hotel, laying them on the clerk's desk, where they were found.

Leaving the hotel, Griffen disposed of the diamond and one suitcase in a pawnshop at 22 West Superior street. He then went on down the street to 717 West Superior street, where he produced some very valuable surgical instruments and struck a second bargain.

With $20 and a watch in his pocket, the result of his day's work, he returned to the hotel, where he was staying. The detectives found the stolen goods in the pawnshop and its proprietor pointed to Griffen as soon as they entered the lobby of the hotel.

Part of the stolen goods were found in a third suitcase, evidently his own, and shortly afterwards, at headquarters, Griffen admitted doing it, said he was very sorry, but "ready to take his medicine." Chief Troyer believes that Griffen may be implicated in the theft of an overcoat from the Central library reading room yesterday.

THINKS WORKING CONDITIONS BETTER

Ida Tarbell Testifies at Investigation of Philanthropic Foundations.

New York, Jan. 19.—Miss Ida M. Tarbell, author and investigator, testified today at the Federal industrial relations commission's investigation into the great philanthropic foundations, that her observations over a period of twenty-five years led her to believe that working conditions generally were constantly improving.

She said that large corporations were now more acutely interesting themselves in the welfare of their employes than ever before.

She advocated the scientific management of shops and the establishment of an eight-hour day as panaceas for labor troubles and as a means of bettering the living conditions of workers.

The witness asserted that the cost of living had increased at a rate greater than wages. She did not believe suffrage was an important factor in dealing with social unrest among workers. The United States Steel corporation, she declared had done more in recent years to provide safety and better living conditions for its employes than almost any other large concern.

John Mitchell, former president of the United Mine Workers of America, and now a New York State labor commissioner, was to testify late this afternoon.

INTEREST SWINGS TO SPRING ELECTION

Both Hicken and Murchison Expected to Seek Re-election.

Now that the campaign between the forces in the electric lighting controversy is over, attention is already being turned to the spring election on April 6, when two commissioners will be selected.

City Clerk Palmer said this morning that one petition is out for Commissioner Murchison, whose two-year term will expire this coming spring. Friends of the head of the public works division are already planning a campaign in his behalf.

Both Commissioners Murchison and Hicken, whose terms expire in April, refuse to say whether they will run for re-election, although it is understood that they will both make an effort to hold their offices for four more years.

The petitions for candidates cannot be filed before Feb. 25 or later than March 27, according to the city charter, which provides that they may be filed not more than fifty days nor less than sixty days before the election, which will take place this year on Tuesday, April 6.

Mayor Prince and Commissioners Voss and Merritt hold office for two years more.

WILL BE NO DELAY IN THE THAW CASE

Will Be Transferred to Custody of New York Authorities This Week.

Concord, N. H., Jan. 19.—No attempt will be made to delay the transfer of Harry K. Thaw to the custody of the New York state authorities upon the arrival here of the necessary papers, according to an announcement today by his local attorneys.

Applies for Mandate.

Washington, Jan. 19.—Deputy Attorney General Franklin Kennedy of New York formally applied today for the supreme court mandate in the case of Harry K. Thaw. Under the court rules, the mandate carrying into effect the decision of Dec. 21, that Thaw can be extradited from New Hampshire, cannot be issued until thirty days after decision is rendered. The clerk consequently will issue the mandate next Thursday.

Jerome Ready.

New York, Jan. 19.—William Travers Jerome announced today he expected to start for Manchester, N. H., to bring back H. K. Thaw to New York before the end of the week, probably on Thursday.

"ELIGIBLE BACHELORS"

Witness Defines Them By Saying Opposing Attorney Is an Example.

Home Was "Hell for Husband and Paradise for Others."

When David Ogilvie wrote a letter to his wife, Henrietta M. Ogilvie nearly five years ago in which he asked her if she "enjoyed making home hell for him and a paradise for others" he referred to "eligible bachelors" and particularly to one A. B. Loud, formerly of Duluth, and at one time a boarder at the Ogilvie table, according to Ogilvie's testimony offered as a part of his defense to the divorce action which he is fighting in district court.

Charles O. Baldwin, counsel for Mrs. Ogilvie, who was cross-examining Mr. Ogilvie wanted to know what he meant by "eligible bachelors."

"Bachelors like yourself, for instance," retorted the witness. The answer occasioned a mild ripple of laughter from the squad of curiosity seekers who occupied spectators' seats.

"Did you mean bachelors who were open to marriage?" inquired Mr. Baldwin.

"I meant just what I said," said Mr. Ogilvie. "You can draw on it as much as you choose."

In support of his counterclaim for $10,000 judgment against his wife, Mr. Ogilvie yesterday testified that he had given up good employment to help his wife handle litigation over her father's estate which finally resulted in Mrs. Ogilvie obtaining property in Illinois which has been estimated to be worth $50,000. The land is in the coal district.

Borrowed Money.

Today it developed that the contention of Mrs. Ogilvie in the matter was that her husband was responsible for their being any necessity to wage any lawsuit in the courts over her father's estate. Her attorney stated to the court that he expected to show that Mr. Ogilvie had borrowed sums of money from his father-in-law during his lifetime and had not paid them back, and that this was the reason that Mrs. Ogilvie did not fare as well in her father's will as did her sisters. Mrs. Ogilvie's contentions are that her husband is not entitled to anything.

Evidence was introduced to show that Mr. Ogilvie was indebted to the estate of J. H. Barrett, his father-in-law, in the sum of $1,500. Mr. Ogilvie gave a note and his father-in-law indorsed it. When it became due, the latter was obliged to pay it.

No Improper Conduct.

A. B. Loud, who has been named as a co-respondent in the divorce action, was formerly a boarder at the Ogilvie home. About four years ago he went to Chicago. He has married since leaving Duluth. In referring to Mr. Loud in his testimony this morning, Mr. Ogilvie declared that he did not want to be understood as accusing his wife of improper conduct with Mr. Loud. He did assert, however, that it appeared to him that she had become attached to him.

It is expected that the testimony will be concluded either this afternoon or tomorrow morning and submitted to Judge Ensign. Albert R. Allen of Fairmount, Minn., appears in court as attorney for the defendant, Mr. Ogilvie, who is 37 years old and a civil engineer. Mrs. Ogilvie is 53.

RECEIVER ASKED FOR M. RUMELY COMPANY.

Indianapolis, Ind., Jan. 19.—Petition for a receiver for the M. Rumely company, the $30,000,000 agricultural machinery manufacturing concern, was filed in the United States district court here today. Rumors that an effort would be made to place the corporation in the hands of receivers as a means to reorganize, have been current for some time.

Immediately after filing the suit, Clarence S. Funk, president of the Rumely company, and the attorneys went to the home of Federal Judge A. B. Anderson, who is ill, with the intention of asking that a receiver be appointed at once.

Among the attorneys, it was stated that Mr. Funk would be named to take charge of the property as receiver.

VOTERS REJECT UNIT PLANT PLAN AND VOTE TO ACCEPT OFFER OF A SIX-CENT RATE

Municipal Ownership League's Project for $85,500 Lighting Unit Turned Down By Majority of 317.

Citizens Vote Down Council's Attempt To Enforce Four Cent Rate By Majority of 531.

THE ELECTION IN A NUTSHELL

Yes 4,335
No 4,652

Majority vote against 317
Total vote, 8,987.
Carried 20 voting districts; lost in 23.
Total vote cast, 9,475.

Four-cent ordinance 3,860

Majority for six-cent 531
Total vote, 8,251.
Six-cent ordinance carried in 24 districts. Four-cent ordinance carried in 19.

At the special election yesterday Duluth voters adopted the 6-cent ordinance and rejected the ordinance proposing the erection of a unit plant at West Duluth at a cost of $85,500.

The 6-cent ordinance was adopted by a majority of 531 votes, while the unit plant proposal lost by 317 votes. A total of 8,251 votes was cast for the light rate ordinances, 4,391 being for the 6-cent rate and 3,860 for the 4-cent rate. Out of the 8,987 votes cast for the unit plant ordinance, 4,652 were against the erection of the plant, while 4,335 were in favor of the proposition.

The total vote fell slightly below the expectations of City Clerk Palmer, who was of the opinion yesterday that it would run close to 10,000. The total vote cast was 9,475.

There was an error in making the returns from the thirty-sixth precinct on the unit plant ordinance. The returns at the city clerk's office show 180 for and 180 against. The judges say it should have been 180 for and 133 against, which would reduce the majority from 317 to 270.

Hot Campaign.

The election yesterday ended one of the hottest campaigns ever waged in Duluth, with the municipal ownership adherents on one side, working for the ordinance appropriating $85,500 for the erection of an electric unit at West Duluth and the 4-cent alternative ordinance, and the members of the Citizens' Referendum committee on the other side, working against the unit plant and for the 6-cent offer of the Duluth-Edison company.

On Aug. 7 last the city council passed a resolution introduced by Commissioner Merritt offering the Duluth-Edison company $1,107,940.54 for its plant, the valuation having been made several days previous by Charles L. Pillsbury and Walter H. Rittenhouse, engineers hired by the city to appraise the plant. On Sept. 4 A. W. Hartman, president of the company, sent a communication to the council refusing to sell the plant at the city's offer.

Unit Plant Plan.

As a result of the company's refusal to sell, Commissioner Merritt introduced an ordinance several days later appropriating $85,500 from the water and light fund for the erection

LEADER OF FIGHT FOR EFFICIENCY COMMITTEE

L. C. SPOONER,
Representative From Morris.

SEEKS TO FIND OUT WHERE MONEY WENT

Denver, Colo., Jan 20.—Hearings began in the United States district court here in the suit of Leonidas Hill, a Denver mining man, against John T. Milliken, St. Louis millionaire, for an accounting of funds used in the legal fight to save Albert T. Patrick from the electric chair at Sing Sing. Milliken and Hill are brothers-in-law, and Patrick, pardoned after conviction of the murder of William Marsh Rice, is a brother-in-law to each of them.

Hill's complaint alleged that in 1907 he turned over to Milliken oil stock now valued at from $100,000 to $250,000 as a part of the fund to be used in saving Patrick. Milliken, it is charged, has refused to make any accounting to show how much of the stock actually was used in the Patrick case.

HYMN FOR AIRMEN.

(Correspondence of the Associated Press.)

London, Jan. 10.—A "Hymn for Airmen" has appeared in the London press, which Sir Hubert Parry has set to music. The verses, signed by the initials M. C. D. H., are as follows:

Lord, guard and guide the men who fly
Through the great spaces of the sky,
Be with them traversing the air,
In darkening storm or sunshine fair.

Thou who didst keep with tender might
The balanced birds in all their flight,
Thou of the tempered winds be near,
That, having Thee, they know no fear.

Control their minds with instinct fit
What time, adventuring, they quit
The firm security of land;
Grant steadfast eye and skillful hand.

Aloft in solitudes of space
Uphold them with thy saving grace.
O, God, protect the men who fly
Through the ways beneath the sky.

PLAN FOR DIVISION OF COUNTY WITHOUT VOTE OF PEOPLE IS PROPOSED

INDEPENDENT HOUSE ACTION

Special Committee to Consider Efficiency and Economy Bill.

All Hope of Joint Action By the Senate Abandoned.

By a Staff Correspondent.

St. Paul, Minn., Jan. 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—The house this afternoon adopted the Spooner resolution providing for independent house action on the efficiency and economy bill by a special committee of fifteen, but not until after a debate that at times threatened to become stormy, and that contained hints not only of opposition to the bill, but of the old Gordon-Flowers speakership fight.

Led by Elmer Adams of Fergus Falls, the opposition made an attempt to shut off the Spooner house resolution and to fire the former Spooner joint resolution over to the senate to put it on record. This attempt failed, however, by a vote of 77 to 39.

Ruled Out of Order.

It got a bit exciting when, after Speaker Flowers had ordered a roll call on the house resolution, Representative Gordon offered an amendment. Speaker Flowers ruled that the roll call had started and that the amendment was out of order. Representative Gordon, Corning and others rose hotly to assail this position, but friends of the resolution requested the speaker to receive the amendment and the situation calmed down. It proved to be a limitation of $500 on the expenses of the committee, which Mr. Spooner accepted.

Representative Adams, who led the fight, wanted to know if all efforts to procure joint action by senate and house had failed, or whether mere report had been taken on the attitude of the senate.

Representatives Spooner, Kneeland, Bjornson and others said they had no longer any hope of joint action, though Representative Spooner said he had hoped that the two separate committees might later agree to sit and perhaps act together.

Spooner Explains Situation.

Mr. Spooner, in moving the adoption of the resolution, spoke in part as follows:

"When I introduced the concurrent resolution of Jan. 7, I did so in real earnest, believing and hoping that it would be adopted in both houses of this legislature. That resolution, like the later resolution, was written in Range Committee Agrees Upon Division By Legislative Enactment.

County Seat to Be Located at Hibbing for Two Years.

Two Difficulties in the Way of This Latest Scheme.

By a Staff Correspondent.

St. Paul, Minn., Jan. 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—St. Louis county division plans as they stand today are understood here to have taken this form:

The old plan of amending the county division law to provide for a vote on county division without locating a county seat is to be dropped.

The county is to be divided by legislative enactment—if the legislature will agree to do it without information as to the desires of the people affected—and without a vote of the people.

The county seat is to be located at Hibbing for two years by the provision of the bill; after which there can be either a county seat struggle between Hibbing, Virginia, Chisholm and whatever other communities choose to enter it, or a new legislative division with a separate county for Virginia or perhaps one for each community aspiring to a county seat.

This, it is understood here, is what the county division committee repre-

AND HIS NAME IS FRANCIS SAYRE

Name Selected for Son of President Wilson's Daughter.

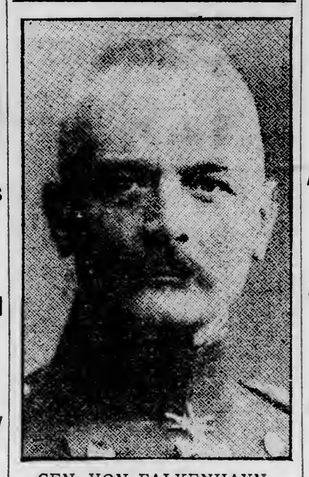

Washington, Jan. 20.—Francis will be the name of President Wilson's grandson, the child of Mr. and Mrs. Francis B. Sayre, who was born at the White House Sunday. The announcement was made today by Mr. Sayre.

Some of the family wanted to call the baby Woodrow Wilson Sayre or Woodrow Sayre, but the president thought the child should have an individuality of his own.

No date has been set for the christening, but it probably will be held in the White House. President Wilson probably will be the godfather.

Both Mrs. Sayre and the baby continued to progress favorably today.

SAYS BRITISH SOLDIERS ARE EXCELLENT FIGHTERS

GEN. VON FALKENHAYN.

TEUTON VIEW OF SITUATION

Gen. Von Falkenhayn Talks Freely With Associated Press Correspondent.

Does Not Expect the Present War Will Be Short One.

General Field Headquarters of the German Army in France, Jan. 16, via London, Jan. 20.—"More of such offensive (referring to the present offensive operations in the campaign of the allies), can only be welcome to us."

"The British are good fighters, but an army without the necessary officers and non-commissioned officers is scarcely an army."

"We are fully prepared for any attempt at a landing in Belgium; the sooner it comes the better."

These are some of the phrases, full of quiet optimism, of Lieut. Gen. Erich von Falkenhayn, the German minister of war and chief of staff of German armies in the field, who today granted the Associated Press the first interview given any correspondent.

The general talked frankly of the present military situation, and the prospects of the war, which he evidently does not expect will be a short one.

Responsible for Strategy.

The general is the man responsible, under the emperor for the strategy in the great world war. He is comparatively young, as commanders go—the youngest of any of the leaders of the European armies, with a

FOUR OR FIVE PEOPLE LOSE THEIR LIVES

Airmen Good Marksmen, But Fail to Hit Public Buildings.

Six Towns, Including Sandringham, Object of Raid of the Teutons.

King George and Queen Left Palace Few Hours Previously.

London, Jan. 20.—German airmen delivered their long predicted attack on England last night.

From a base presumably in Germany, they flew over the North sea to the eastern coast of England where, for nearly four hours, from 8:20 p. m. until about midnight, they circled over a group of some six English towns, only a little more than 100 miles from London, dropping bombs at will.

So far as has been learned today, four or five persons were killed by these missiles and about as many more were wounded.

Whether these airships were Zeppelin dirigible balloons or aeroplanes has not yet definitely been established. There is increasing belief in London this morning that possibly only aeroplanes took part in the attack.

There has been no news so far today to confirm the report current last night that a Zeppelin had been brought down on the English coast; on the contrary it now appears as though all the German raiders have returned whence they came.

King Left Few Hours Before.

The most important towns over which the German airmen appeared were Sandringham, Yarmouth, Sheringham, Hunstanton, Cromer, Heacham, Dersingham and King's Lynn. King George had left Sandringham only a few hours before the raiders visited it.

Most of the damage appears to have been inflicted upon private houses and

WANT WILSON TO VETO LITERACY TEST BILL.

Chicago, Jan. 20.—Resolutions asking President Wilson to veto the bill, now before him, which was designed to fix a literacy test for the admission of immigrants into the United States were to be presented at a joint session of the American Hebrew congregations and the National Federation of Temple Sisterhoods here today.

Judge Simon W. Rosendale of Albany, N. Y., and Dr. Lyppman Levy of Cincinnati were among those who favored the adoption of the resolutions by the two organizations. The resolutions pointed out that many Jews residing in Galicia and other parts of Europe never had an opportunity to learn to read or write.

Another resolution to be introduced praised President Wilson's attitude on neutrality in the European war.

OBTAINS OVER $250,000 BY FORGERY; COMMITS SUICIDE

Charles Ledowsky, Whisky Distiller, Ends Life on Train.

Forged Government Warehouse Receipts and Sold Them to Banks.

Chicago, Jan. 20.—Charles Ledowsky, president of the Fox River Distilling company of Chicago, whose name has been mentioned in connection with the alleged forged warehouse receipts of R. E. Wathen & Co., Louisville, committed suicide by shooting on a train entering Chicago today.

Ledowsky was on a Michigan Central train from Syracuse, N. Y. He telegraphed ahead to Lewis E. Hamburg, an undertaker, requesting him to meet the train and take charge of his body, as he intended to do away with himself.

An involuntary petition in bankruptcy was filed against Ledowsky's company last Monday, scheduling assets of $20,000 against liabilities of $250,000 or $300,000.

Attorney Sidney Stein, representing Ledowsky's creditors, stated that Ledowsky had confessed to him that he had forged warehouse receipts for whisky valued at $250,000 or $300,000 and disposed of them through banks which he victimized.

Discovered Forgeries.

Stein said that he discovered the forgeries while acting for his clients. Two Chicago banks were the principal losers. When Ledowsky found that he could not meet the demands of the banks he left the city, Stein said. This was a few days before the bankruptcy proceedings.

The receivership proceedings were before Judge Landis in the United States court and he appointed the Central Trust company receiver at that time.

In the confession which Stein made public, Ledowsky speaks of forgeries on R. E. Wathen & Co., distillers of Louisville, and names a business man of Chicago as being the only person besides himself who knew that the securities were fraudulent.

"He discounted them by keeping for himself about $25,000 and made me sign accommodation notes for about $30,000," reads the confession.

The confession date Jan. 13, reads:

Makes Confession.

"To whom it may concern: I, Charles Ledowsky, by my own free will, herewith declare that I am the sole maker of all warehouse receipts signed R. E. Wathen & Co., or Poyntz Bros. company. I have personally written

ARE SHAKEN OUT OF BED

Second Severe Earthquake Occurs at Montbeliard, France.

Next to Avezzano, Ortucchio, Italy, Is Greatest Sufferer.

Montbeliard, France, via Paris, Jan. 20.—A second earth shock occurred here at 11 o'clock last night. It was so severe that the inhabitants were shaken out of their beds and crockery was smashed.

Heavy Loss at Ortucchio.

Rome, Jan. 20.—Next to Avezzano, one of the places to suffer most from the earthquake was Ortucchio, a few miles from Gioja-de-Marsi, where less than 400 people were saved out of a population of 2,500. In the church, which was a large edifice, there were between 300 and 400 people when the earthquake came. The priest and the entire congregation were imprisoned under the ruins as the whole building suddenly collapsed. Only four women have since been taken out alive.

Collarmele, 3,000 feet up in the mountains, is another of those towns in this part of Italy from which many persons had emigrated to America. Here a thousand persons out of a population of 1,500 were killed. The priest in this town perished while conducting services at the altar and the worshippers, chiefly women and children, died with him.

HUNTING FOR MINES; FINDS ONE; BLOWN UP.

The Hague, via London, Jan. 20.—The Dutch naval patrol boat Toltan, while searching for mines off Nieuw Sluis, struck a mine and disappeared under the waves. One officer and four men were lost and only fragments of their corpses were recovered.

A large number of fresh floating mines are reported from all coast places.

BRITAIN IS ASKED WHY

American Ship With Consul's Certificate Detained By Cruiser.

American Flag Lowered and British Flag Hoisted on Steamer.

Washington, Jan. 20.—The state department has requested of the British embassy information of why the American steamer Greenbrier, from New York to Bremen, with cotton, under certificate of the British consul at New York, was stopped by a British cruiser, sent under British flag to a British port and detained two days before being allowed to complete her voyage to Bremen.

The detention of the Greenbrier was brought to the attention of the state department by telegrams from Capt. Farley, her commander, now at Bremen. Farley stated that at a point in the North Atlantic, which he fixed by longitude and latitude the Greenbrier was overhauled on Dec. 30 by a British cruiser. The boarding officer required him to continue on his course con-

Progress Checked By Arrival of Strong German Reinforcements.

Reported Advance of Germans in the Argonne Denied By French.

In Alsace, where the allies were making progress until checked recently by German reinforcements, they again apparently are on the defensive. The official statement from Berlin today says the Germans have captured Airzstein, north of Sennheim. A further advance in the Argonne also is reported, but this is disputed in the French statement, which asserts that the allies, although compelled temporarily to evacuate certain positions, later recaptured them. Elsewhere along the western front, only minor actions, principally artillery engagements, occurred yesterday.

An official Russian statement today describes a series of actions along the Vistula, northwest of Warsaw, during Jan. 17 and 18. In three of these engagements, it is said, the Russians won the advantage, twice silencing German batteries and on another occasion repulsing an attack with heavy loss to the Germans.

Two victories over the British forces operating near the head of the Persian gulf are claimed by the Turkish war office, in a statement issued at Constantinople. It is asserted that the British attempted a surprise attack on the Turks but were repulsed with the loss of 100 killed and wounded.. In a cavalry engagement near the junction

CURLERS MAKE FINE SHOWING

Joe McDonald's Boy Rink Is Still Holding Its Own.

Veteran Players Expected to Be Strong Contenders in Spiel.

Rinks representing the Western Curling club at the annual bonspiel of the Northwestern Curling association, which is in progress at the Duluth Curling club, are making the best showing in the history of the local rink. Out of the seven rinks entered, only two were put out of the first three events and are entered in the consolation event.

Probably the most remarkable showing is being made by the rink skipped by Joe McDonald, a 17-year-old high school boy. This rink is made up purely of boys that up to this year have not played together. This rink up to this morning was still in the St. Paul Jobbers' event as well as in the Duluth Curling club event. If they win today in these events, they will have advanced to the eights of both. The rink last night won its first game in the Western Curling event.

Frank Wade and his son, Robert, are making a good showing at the 'spiel. This rink is still a contender in the Minneapolis event and will today meet the strong McNabb rink for honors of getting into the eights of this event.

Emil Zauft has one of the strongest aggregations of players representing the local club. This rink has entered the eighths in the Duluth Curling club event and will doubtless be one of the chief contenders to be reckoned with for the trophy.

The Donald rink and the Evered rink are still in the principal events. Both of these rinks are still in the St. Paul Jobbers' event and have been playing steady games. The Olson rink has been put out of all of the events with the exception of the consolation, while the other six, including Ellis, are still playing in the Western Curling rink event.

NEW CLUB WILL PROMOTE SPORTS

Morgan Park Men Get Together and Outline Activities.

The Morgan Park club, an organization formed for the purpose of furthering sports of all kinds, and especially curling, was formally organized at a meeting of the greater percentage of the citizens of the park held at the office of Dr. O. S. Olson last night. Curling, skating, baseball, boating, gun and rifle shooting, football and other sports, as well as affairs of a social nature, will be among the activities of the club.

Dr. Olson was elected president of the club. The other officers are Charles C. Simpson, secretary, and James Aird, treasurer. A board of trustees composed of Al. Solomon, chairman, George Ritchie, and William A. Mahan, was elected.

Activities are to begin at once. A sheet of ice is to be cleared off on the bay on which the members will play the Scotch game. A set of stanes sufficient for a game will be secured and rinks will be organized at once.

One of the first affairs of a social nature to be held will take place Saturday evening. A committee is making plans for this affair. It will be held in one of the camp buildings at Morgan park.

MACCABEES INSTALL.

Large Number of Members and Their Families Attend.

Installation ceremonies were held last evening by West Duluth tent, No. 2, order of the Maccabees. The affair was attended by many members and their families.

Dr. E. H. Haas of St. Paul, great commander of the order for Minnesota, assisted by E. M. Southerland of Minneapolis, great tent record keeper, officiated. Following the ceremony addresses were given by Dr. Haas, Mr. Southerland and George J. Mallory, past great commander of the lodge. The program included orchestra numbers, a reading by John Allen, and solo numbers by Al. Lauermann.

BIG WOLF SHOT IN CITY.

Tom Olson of Cemetery Road Is Lucky Hunter.

One of the largest female wolves that has ever been seen in this part of the state was shot yesterday afternoon on the boulevard by Tom Olson, a resident on the cemetery road. Mr. Olson brought the hide this morning to the county auditor's office to get the bounty on it.

Mr. Olson sighted the animal a short distance from his home, and taking his rifle, followed with the aid of his large shepherd dog. The dog trailed the animal a short distance through a wood and finally chased it under a culvert under the boulevard at Sixty-first avenue west.

At this place the wolf stood at bay until Mr. Olson arrived with the rifle. He fired only one shot to kill it. The wolf is said to be one of the largest that has been secured by hunters in the county in recent years. As a result of killing the wolf Mr. Olson will get $7.50 from the county and a similar amount from the state in bounties, and it is estimated that the hide is worth about $5.

Revival meetings are being continued this week at the Gospel hall, Fifty-sixth avenue west and Cody street. The meetings are being conducted by Al Sheldrake of Sault Ste. Marie, assisted by D. FARMER DECLARES DAM A NUISANCE Brings Injunction and Damage Action Against Lumber Company.

Trial of an action in which Axel Ohrn, homesteader and farmer, is seeking to have a dam, which the Angora Lumber company has erected and is now maintaining on the Rice river in section 9, 61-18, abated as a nuisance and to recover $500 damages to his property, was begun this morning in district court before Judge Cant and a jury.

Ohrn owns and occupies an eighty-acre tract of land in sections 18 and 19, 61-18. His farm is riparian to the Rice river, which takes its rise from Rice lake and runs in a northerly and northeasterly direction through 61-18. The land owned by Ohrn is situated on a bend in the stream.

The plaintiff is contending that during the spring of 1914 the defendant company by maintaining its dam on the river caused water to be backed up the stream so that it flooded thirty acres of his land and cut off access from his house to certain parts of his farm. He alleges that the dam is a nuisance and asks the court to abate it as such by issuing an injunction against the company.

The questions of fact in the case will be left to the determination of a jury. Ohrn is represented in court by Attorney John A. Keyes of this city. The defendant lumber company has W. D. and C. H. March in court as their counsel.

"NEWLY WEDS" ARE EAGER TO SEPARATE

Walter and Betsy Forslund Seek Divorce After Seven Months' Union.

Walter and Betsy Forslund tarried for years before entering the matrimonial game, but the years of waiting failed to assure them a happy married life after they had decided to cast their lot together. Less than seven months after they had fallen victims before Cupid's darts, a breach occurred, and they separated.

Today finds Mrs. Forslund suing her husband for divorce on the grounds of desertion. The action was filed this morning with the clerk of the district court. She says that they were married April 24, 1913, and that he deserted her Nov. 8 of the same year. She is 47, and he is three years her junior.

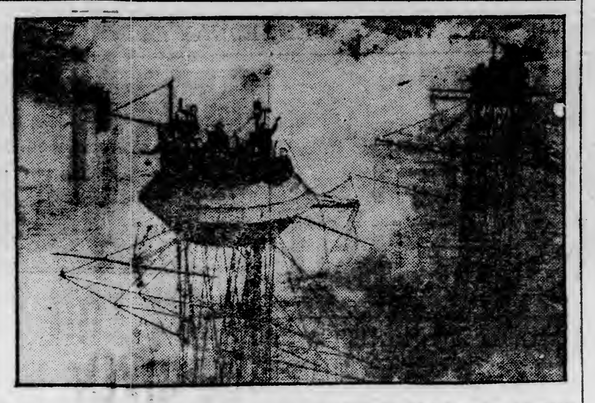

Forslund will contest the proceedings. According to an affidavit filed by the plaintiff with her complaint this morning, Forslund served an answer upon her in which he denies the charge of desertion and asks for a decree himself on a counterclaim, charging cruelty. She denies the cruelty charge and asserts that he has been guilty of the very same things he has charged her with, while she has been innocent of them.

Forslund owns land near Remer, Minn., where he is now living. According to his wife, the charges of cruelty made against her are not made in good faith, but simply to prevent her from recovering alimony. She asks the court to restore her maiden name, that of Betsy Anderson.

CABBAGES AS REAL ESTATE.

Pittsburgh Press: Wonders never cease in American law. Here comes a judge in our own state, trying the case of a man who entered his neighbor's garden and pinched a head of cabbage. The judge decides that it was not larceny of personal property at all, and hence not a basis of criminal action; but the cabbage heads are real estate, and that the neighbor's remedy is to bring a civil action contesting title. We have eaten garden truck—spinach and lettuce, for instance—which tasted like real estate. But we never knew before that to steal it was not theft. And after a cabbage head is eaten, what good is the title? Now, if it had been a franchise or an election that was stolen, it would have been less surprising in the law to let the culprit go free, but who would ever have thought that the science of judicial hair splitting would finally be successfully invoked to protect a plain, every day cabbage thief?

NINE MEMBERS GIVE PILGRIM CHURCH PRESENT OF NEW SITE

Annual Meeting of Congregational Congregation Productive of Pleasant Surprise—Site on East Fourth Street.

At the annual meeting and supper of the Pilgrim Congregational church, held in the vestry last evening and attended by 250 members, the committee on a new site for a church reported that it has found a very desirable site, that nine members of the congregation had put up the necessary $8,000 for its purchase and that it was secured. The site chosen is at the southeast corner of Twenty-third avenue east and Fourth street and is 100 by 140 feet. The land is held in the names of Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Hegardt and is available for a new site at any time within the next five years, thus assuring the church a desirable lot on which to build whenever business conditions permit. The announcement was received with every evidence of enthusiasm by the church people present.

The report was made by C. A. Duncan, chairman of the committee, which consists of E. D. Field, J. W. Norton, W. G. Hegardt and Oscar Mitchell.

The supper, which preceded the meeting, was in charge of a committee of the Ladies' union under the management of Mrs. W. N. Hart and was served by young men. It was followed by a social hour before the business meeting began. At 8 the meeting began with a prayer by the pastor, Rev. C. N. Thorp.

After the minutes had been read by the church clerk, Brewer Mattocks, Jr., W. Gordon Hegardt, president of the young people's society, made his report, showing growth in membership and a year of activity on the part of the young people. Mrs. F. A. Grawn, president of the woman's missionary society, reported largely attended meetings and gratifying receipts of funds. Miss Esther Bowen, president of the Friendly Circle in Council; gave a report of social suppers and missionary gifts. Brewer Mattocks, Jr., acting superintendent of the Sunday school, read a unique report, in which without the use of statistics, he showed that the Pilgrim Sunday school is one of the best in the city. E. G. Chapman reported for the men's Bible class and Miss Carrie Castle for the Philathea class. Mrs. E. D. Field is now teacher of the Philatheas, succeeding the late Mrs. W. S. Horr.

Officers of School.

The election of Roger M. Weaver as superintendent of the school was duly ratified by the church. The other officers of the school for the coming year, as elected last Sunday, are: First assistant superintendent, Brewer Mattocks, Jr.; second assistant, Ralph Pinneo; secretary, Miss Bessie G. Marx; assistant secretary, Russell Duncan; treasurer, Herbert U. Moore; superintendent, junior department, Mrs. C. N. Thorp; superintendent, primary department, Mrs. H. B. Paull; superintendent, home department, Miss Ella L. Roe, and superintendent, cradle department, Mrs. George A. Gray. Members of committees are: Missions, Miss Murdoch, Mrs. W. W. Sanford, Miss Lydia Woodbridge and Miss Eloise Wade; music, Ralph Pinneo, chairman; Miss Winifred Warner and Willard B. Matter.

E. D. Field, president of the brotherhood, gave a report. Mrs. W. O. Falk, president of the ladies' union, reported a year of unusual activity and large receipts. The union has paid in $1,000 during the year on the mortgage on the manse, reducing it to $400. This is the only indebtedness remaining on Pilgrim church property, and it will be paid off within a few months. H. W. Nichols, treasurer of the general fund, reported larger regular receipts from pledges than in recent years. All bills to date are paid, with a balance in the treasury. Oscar Mitchell, president of the board of trustees, reported the property in good order and well insured. He recommended that the Sunday school hereafter turn its funds over to the church, its bills being regularly met from the general fund. This is done at the request of the Sunday school officers, who plan introducing into the Sunday school a systematic weekly offering plan whereby each child shall give regularly for church support and missions. H. B. Paull, chairman of the missionary committee, and H. I. Pinneo, treasurer of the benevolent funds, reported total receipts for missions $2,025.

The church supports its own foreign missionary, Rev. H. M. Irwin at Talas, Turkey. The list of regular subscribers for missions in Pilgrim church has doubled during the past year, owing to a vigorous every-member campaign last April.

The report of the church clerk, Brewer Mattocks, Jr., showed 51 members received during the year, making a present membership of 506, by far the largest in the history of the church. There are 300 families in the parish.

Pastor's Report.

The pastor, Rev. C. N. Thorp, read a report showing 109 sermons and addresses given during the year. He recommended the early selection of a building committee to make a thorough study of church building, and to be prepared to report a plan of the church promptly when the time comes for the erection of the new plant which Pilgrim church is to erect in the East end. He also asked the church to provide him with an assistant, either a trained church worker or for the present a competent stenographer. The nominating committee, W. W. McMillan, chairman, had made its report in the church bulletin of last Sunday. Their recommendations that the number of deacons should be increased from six to eight, that the office of assistant treasurer of benevolence be created, and that a visiting committee of three be elected, were all adopted. Australian ballots were gathered by the tellers, R. M. Weaver, W. C. Johnson and E. L. Kimball. It was voted that the report of election be announced in print in the church bulletin of next Sunday.

Notice of Dissolution.

EXPLOSION ROUTS ELECTION JUDGES

Oils Ignite in Building on First Avenue West; Nobody Hurt.

Election judges at the Nineteenth district polling station, 110 First avenue west, ceased their efforts to find out the fate of the unit plan and 4-cent ordinances abruptly last night when oils in a paint room in the rear of the building exploded and started a fire.

Spontaneous combustion caused the explosion, according to firemen, damage being confined to the room and not totaling more than $75. Anton Ringsrud, painter and paperhanger, occupied the place.

Tenants in rooms above hastily sought shelter in the street following the explosion. Apparatus from Engine Houses Nos. 1 and 2, with Chief Joseph Randall, responded.

ON TRIAL FOR STEALING BUTTER

John Hoy Is Charged With Robbing N. P. Box Car.

Charged with the theft of seven tubs of butter from a Northern Pacific box car on Dec. 10 last, John Hoy was brought to trial in district court before Judge Pesler and a jury this morning. Hoy was indicted by the January grand jury on a charge of second degree grand larceny.

It is claimed that Hoy broke into a box car and removed the butter and "planted" it near a pile of ties in the Garfield avenue yards. Railroad detectives caught him when he attempted to remove the stolen property. The butter alleged to have been stolen is valued at $125.

H. P. White, third assistant county attorney, is prosecuting Hoy, and James J. Courtney is defending. The case will probably be finished this afternoon.

LITTLE DISORDER ON ELECTION DAY

Duluth Breaks All Former Records for Good Behavior.

If every day was election day, policemen could say truthfully that "this is the life," according to officers this morning.

Chief of Police Troyer stated that Tuesday, he believed, was the quietest and most orderly election day the city ever has known, despite the fact that the fight was one of the most bitter ever waged in the municipality.

There were two arrests, one of which was for an old offense.

It remained for the West end to spoil the clean sheet. Sam Rosh evidently succeeded in finding liquid refreshments late last night, for he was brought in drunk at 3 a. m. today. After pleading guilty in municipal court this morning, a 30-day sentence was suspended on promise of future good conduct.

THE ANSWER WAS EASY.

Philadelphia Telegraph: Here is one that was told by D. G. Reid, a vice-president of the Steel corporation, the other evening when the conversation at a dinner turned to gallantry.

Some time ago the conductor of a train on a Western road was summoned by a woman passenger who asked him to open her window. Hardly had he proceeded to comply when there came a protesting wail from another woman passenger just behind.

"If you open that window," she declared with large emphasis, "I will freeze to death!"

"Yes," supplemented the first just as vigorously, "and if it remains closed, I will be suffocated."

The conductor thoughtfully paused, and then turned to a traveling salesman just across the aisle.

"Say, old man," he remarked, "can you tell what a fellow ought to do in a case like this?"

"Surest thing on earth," was the prompt response of the salesman. "Open the window and freeze one woman, and then close it and suffocate the other."

"FOUR BITS" FOR HEALTH

About What It Costs Each Person in Duluth Per Year.

Health Department Issues Its Annual Financial Statement.

During 1914 the health department spent 53 cents per capita in its efforts to prevent the spreading of diseases, the care of the sick, the inspection of meat markets, bakeries, dairies, the collection of garbage and the publicity campaign for the education of the public.

Ruben Johnson, secretary of the health department, this morning completed the financial statement for 1914, showing that during last year $47,016.60 was spent both from the health and general funds, while in 1913 the amount spent was $45,422.79. During the latter year the per capita expense was 52.6, making but an increase of four-tenths of a cent in 1914.

The increase in the expenses is considered very light, said Mr. Johnson, considering the fact that the health department purchased an automobile during the year and in addition loaned the police department $500.

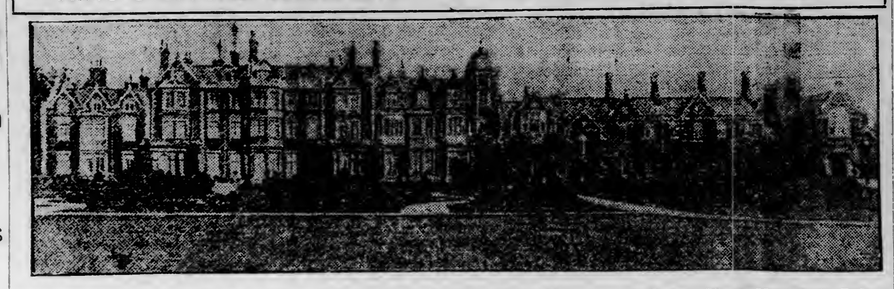

Out of the health fund the department spent $23,856.15, which was divided as follows:

General administration	$ 4,381.82
Publicity campaign and education	671.99
Bakery inspections	960.06
Meat market inspections	1,026.38
Child welfare	1,837.16
Sanitation and nuisance prevention	2,309.43
Garbage collections	4,067.70
Incinerator plant	6,106.23
Removal of refuse	1,995.38
Total	$23,856.15

Out of the general fund the department spent $23,160.45 as follows:

Inspection and prevention communicable diseases	$ 6,157.54
Contagious hospital	8,681.68
Smallpox cases	2,719.23
Prevention of tuberculosis	2,271.77
Milk and dairy inspections	1,368.38
Inspection of cattle	1,971.85
Totals	$23,160.45

A. M. Knight, Arrested in Kentucky, Gave Bonds and Decamped.

Fargo, N. D., Jan. 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—Local people were not surprised to learn this morning that A. M. Knight, alias F. G. Thomas, under arrest in Louisville, Ky., had secured bail and decamped. He is wanted here on charges of being short in his accounts, bigamy and desertion of his wife and three children. Local people, who were best acquainted with him, predicted that he would secure bonds and flee or, failing to get bonds, would commit suicide, rather than return here to face serious charges which might lead to long prison terms.

ARE GIVEN "RAISES"

Several City Employes Granted Small Increase in Salaries.

Total Addition to Payroll Is the Smallest in Years.

The total salary increase given city employes at the special meeting of the city commission this morning, amounting to approximately $2,500 for 1915, is the smallest in years, according to city officials.

Commissioner of Finance Voss introduced the resolution authorizing the increase in salaries and it was passed without a dissenting vote. In addition the pay rolls for laborers on the Gary and Vermilion road sewer jobs were also passed and ordered paid. The commissioners also passed an ordinance appropriating $6,000 from the permanent improvement fund for sewer work this winter, while they heard the second reading of the ordinances appropriating $12,000 for road machinery and $8,000 for the purchase of books for the public library during the coming year.

Frank Hicks, probation officer and head of the city legal aid bureau, will get the largest increase in salary. His present salary of $200 a month has been advanced to $250. The next highest raise goes to J. W. Schneider, electrical and smoke inspector, whose salary was boosted from $125 to $150 a month.

S. M. Kielley, building inspector, gets an $8 raise, his salary having been boosted from $117 to $125 a month. Henry Cleveland, park manager, will, in the future, receive $150 a month, having been granted a raise of $16 per month. Adolph Anderson, deputy building inspector, was granted a raise from $100 to $110 a month.

In addition the commission granted $5 raises to Fred Johnson, assistant secretary to Chief Troyer; Robert Donaldson, clerk in the police department; L. W. Pilkey, cashier in the treasurer's office; Miss Laura Arneson, stenographer for City Clerk Palmer; Miss Margaret Berresford, stenographer in the health department; T. E. McKibbon, cashier in the water and light department; Miss Maude Williams, clerk for City Auditor Campbell. Gus Lahti of the police department was created superintendent of the identification bureau with a monthly salary of $115.

SMOKING IN BED FATAL

Carelessness With Cigarette Costs M. Martinsen His Life.

Carelessness with a cigarette cost M. Martinsen, aged 30, a woodsman, his life early this morning.

Attendants in the hotel at 531 West Michigan street battered down the door of his room in response to cries, to find the place in flames and the man terribly burned. He died at St. Mary's hospital shortly aftewrads.

It is believed that Martinsen had been smoking before going to sleep and that the bed clothing had been set on fire while ch dozed. An open package of cigarettes was on the floor near him.

Police Surgeon Murphy, with Sergt. Englert and Officers Wanvick and Eckard, rushed Martinsen to the hosital, but their efforts were unavailing. A moment before his death he stated that he was without relatives or friends. He had been at the hotel but a day and was not known.

The body was taken to the Crawford undertaking rooms.

AFFAIRS COMMITTEE WILL TALK BUSINESS.

The public affairs committee of the Commercial club will meet next Monday evening at 6:15, the meeting being preceded by dinner. The date of the meeting has been postponed numerous times because of the absences of various officials, but now that Chairman Knox has returned from the East and Secretary Eva is back from his Detroit trip, the decks seem clear for such business as may come up.

Nothing in particular is on the slate, but plans for the current year's work will be discussed.

ERRING PAIR WILL GO TO CHICAGO

Probation Officer Comes After Them—Arrested on Girl's Mother's Plaint.

Following notification from Chief of Police C. H. Troyer, Probation Officer O'Brien of Chicago arrived in Duluth today and will return tomorrow with Barney Blake, aged 26, and Marie Marks, aged 16. Blake is wanted to answer to a complaint sworn out by the girl's mother, Mrs. Nellie Marks, 4837 Montrose avenue, Chicago.

Blake, who claims to be a sailor, arrived here from Chicago with the girl about two months ago and had been living on the steamer Ward Ames, which is wintering in the local harbor.

The girl, who has been kept at the municipal lodging house, stated that Blake had promised to marry her, but that the ceremony had been postponed.

Detectives Toewe and Bradley arrested them Jan. 16, upon receipt of the complaint.

SIX-CENT ORDINANCE WILL TAKE EFFECT NEXT MONDAY

But All Future Light Bills Will Be Given the Reduction.

Council Must Officially Canvass Returns of the Election.

Duluth's new electric light ordinance prescribing a maximum rate of 6 cents per kilowatt hour will go into effect next Monday, when the city commission will officially make the final canvass of the ballots cast at the election yesterday.

Although the new 6-cent ordinance does not go into effect until Monday, users of electricity will receive the benefit of the new rate beginning this morning. Bills for lighting from today on will be under the new schedule.

According to the system of the Duluth-Edison office, Duluth is divided into three districts, consisting of West Duluth, central, and East end and Lakeside. Meters in the first district are read from the first of the month until the 10th, when the bills are sent out. Those of the second district are read from the 10th to the 20th, while the remainder are read from the 20th until the 30th of the month. As a result all meters read from now on are to be charged under the 6-cent rate.

The 6-cent ordinance passed yesterday follows:

6-Cent Ordinance.

"An ordinance to accept the proposition of Duluth-Edison Electric company for furnishing the city and its inhabitants with electric light, dated Oct. 15, 1914, filed with the city clerk, Oct. 16, 1914.

"The city of Duluth does ordain:

"Section 1. That the proposal of Duluth-Edison Electric company to furnish to the city of Duluth and to its inhabitants electric light under the terms and conditions for the prices therein stated, dated Oct. 15, 1914, filed with the city clerk of the city of Duluth on Oct. 16, 1914, be and the same is hereby accepted, said proposal and this acceptance to constiiute a contract to become effective upon this ordinance going into effect, and to continue for two (2) years thereafter.

"Section 2. This ordinance, if adopted by the city council, shall become effective thirty (30) days after its passage and publication. If adopted by the electors of the city, it shall become effective at the date of the adoption thereof."

STATEMENTS OF THE LEADERS

A. W. Hartman, president of the Duluth-Edison company—"The unofficial returns show that the contract ordinance has carried by a good vote. The ordinance is so drawn that it is to become effective at the date of its adoption. The ordinance is not completely adopted until the ballots are counted and the council declares the result."

* * *

Leonidas Merritt, commissioner of public utilities—"I do not regret having attempted to carry out my preelection pledges and I am sorry that the voters of Duluth refused to assist me in my efforts."

* * *

Ray M. Hughes, chairman of the Citizens' Referendum committee—"I never had any doubt about the result and I am extremely gratified."

* * *

Chris E. Evens, chairman of the Municipal Ownership league—"We've been beaten and I guess there is nothing more to say. We made our fight and the people decided differently, that's all."

F. W. EVA DIES IN ST. PAUL

Former Duluth Man Succumbs After Brief Illness.

Body Will Probably Be Brought to This City for Burial.

Frederick W. Eva, chief inspector of grain for Minnesota, and a former resident of Duluth, died suddenly last evening at his home in St. Paul. He had but recently returned from Washington, D. C., where he had been to protest against the proposed Federal inspection of grain, and while there was taken ill, going home at once. It was not thought that the illness was serious and his death took place most unexpectedly.

Most of his relatives, besides his wife and family reside in Duluth, which has been the Eva home for a great many years. Mr. Eva was a resident of Duluth for more than twenty years, leaving in 1902 to take the office he held when he died. He is survived by his wife and family, Lieut.-Col. Hubert V. Eva, secretary of the Duluth Commercial club; Edgar Eva, cashier of the Northern Pacific road at FREDERICK W. EVA.

Duluth, George H. Eva, with the Northern Pacific, and Edward Eva, both at Tacoma, Wash.; Mrs. J. I. Thomas of Duluth, Miss Dora Eva of Duluth and Mrs. L. R. Harris of Minneapolis.

It is expected that the body will be brought here for interment as it was always his wish, his brother Edgar said this morning. Duluth relatives left for St. Paul this afternoon and will return with the body if it is determined to bury it here.

Mr. Eva was born in Cornwall, England, on April 19, 1860. He came to Minnesota in 1883, and engaged in the grain business. He was appointed to the state board of appeals with headquarters in Duluth in 1899 and in 1901 became chief deputy inspector at this point. He was promoted to the office of chief grain inspector Aug. 1, 1902. He was regarded as one of the greatest grain authorities of the United States.

OBTAINS OVER $250,000 BY FORGERY; COMMITS SUICIDE

and signed, stamped in secret places, brought them to the office and borrowed money on them from banks and bankers and diverted the money to my business needs in the Fox River Distilling company.

"None of the officers ever doubted my integrity, or any of my employes.

Sole Owner of Company.

"I am the sole owner and stockholder of the Fox River Distilling company. I had never anybody financially interested; none of the officers have any interest, nor did they receive any compensation or any profit for their title. I have appointed them for the sake to fill vacancies.

"No soul, with exception of (here the confession names a Chicago man) knows of my default; he is the man who knew the papers to be fraudulent, but he discounted them by keeping for himself about $25,000, and made me sign accommodation notes for about $30,000, for which there are certain documents in the hands of the secretary of this company I am unable to make good."

The forgeries are said to have extended over a period of ten or twelve years. Ledowsky was 59 years old, suffered from diabetes, and at times, in the opinion of Samuel P. Gerson, his brother-in-law, his mentality was below normal.

Decedent is said to have "tipped" the sleeping car porter his last dollar to insure prompt filing of his telegram to the undertaker.

Receipts Forgeries.

Louisville, Ky., Jan. 20.—Warehouse receipts for $55,000, purporting to have been issued by the government to R. E. Wathen & Co., Louisville distillers, were produced here today by a representative of a Chicago bank and branded by Mr. Wathen as forgeries. In a statement today Mr. Wathen indicated that the alleged forgeries may total more than $100,000.

The receipts, according to Mr. Wathens' information, were posted with Chicago banks as collateral for loans negotiated largely by brokers whose principal is said to have been Charles Ledowsky of Chicago, president of the Fox River Distilling company.

Recent attempts to secure further loans on warehouse liquor receipts moved the Chicago bankers to verify the genuineness of the collateral.

Yesterday a representative of one of the Chicago banks arrived in Louisville with warehouse receipts on which loans had been made. They were presented to local distillers in whose names they had been issued and a number of them pronounced forgeries.

voyed by the cruiser for a day or two, while the cargo was being searched for arms.

Hoist British Flag.

Then the cruiser placed aboard the Greenbrier some additional British officers, who hoisted the British flag and a prize crew, who navigated the ship, so that, according to Capt. Farley, she was damaged before she was brought into Kirkwall. There the Greenbrier remained for three days, Capt. Farley refusing to sail her further except under the American flag. The British authorities finally consented to the raising of the American flag and Capt. Farley took his ship to Leith, where a pilot was picked up and the Greenbrier was taken to her destination at Bremen. The points upon which the state department wants information are:

First, why it was necessary to search the Greenbrier, in view of the certificate issued by the British consul at New York; and, second, why a neutral merchant vessel was compelled to lower her flag when under no known rule could she be regarded as a prize.

The British ambassador is expected to get a report on the subject from the London foreign office.

WIFE'S PERSISTENCE CAUSED HER DEATH

French Captain to Be Tried for Killing His Spouse.

(Correspondence of the Associated Press.)

Paris, Jan. 7.—The second court-martial of the entrenched camp of Paris will soon judge the case of Capt. H. —— accused of homicide. Capt. H.—— had a wife and three children to whom he is particularly attached, but the former seemed to have signally hindered his military career by reason of her refusal to be separated from him under any circumstances.

When the war broke out she went to the south of France, but learning one day that her husband was with his regiment at Compiegne, she took the first train for that point. This was at the time when the general in chief issued a circular prohibiting all officers and soldiers from receiving their wives during the campaign. His superior officer remonstrated with Caut. H. —— remarking that he was compromising his promotion and also was likely to spoil his chance for the cross of the legion of honor.

The captain tried to bring his wife to a reasonable view of the situation, but she continued to delay her departure. A new warning was given the captain, without effect. When the third warning came the captain was told that he must act without delay or he would be cashiered. Again he supplicated his wife to return to the south of France, which she refused to do, and in a moment of great mental excitement, fearing dishonor and degradation he shot the woman he loved.

The captain will be defended before the court-martial by the eminent head of the Order of Advocates, Henri Robert. In the meantime he is being subjected to examination as to his mental condition.

WOMAN FOUND DEAD IN CEDAR CLOTHES CHEST

Pittsburg, Pa., Jan. 20.—Wedged in a crouching position, the body of Mrs. Frank A. Hunter, 39, wife of a machinery manufacturer, and who has been missing since Monday afternoon, was found in a cedar chest in her home yesterday by her husband. Death, according to the coroner's office, was caused by accidental suffocation. It is supposed Mrs. Hunter, who was subject to heart attacks, had gone to the chest to get some clothing, and becoming ill, had fallen into the chest, the lid of which then closed upon her.

VOTERS REJECT UNIT PLANT PLAN AND VOTE TO ACCEPT OFFER OF SIX-CENT RATE of a unit at West Duluth. The ordinance proposed that the unit plant provide electricity for that district lying between Thirty-eighth and Seventy-fourth avenues west. It was passed on Sept. 28.

On Oct. 10 a number of prominent business men sent a communication to the city council asking that body to make a five-year contract with the Duluth-Edison company, as they stated, the company would be willing to give a fair rate during that period. The city refused and a request for a referendum on the unit plant ordinance was made by R. B. Knox and five others in a letter sent to the council. Petitions were prepared on a referendum and in addition an initiated ordinance accepting the Duluth-Edison offer of 6 cents per kilowatt hour for electric lighting. More than 4,000 voters signed their names to these petitions, which were later presented to the commission.

Alternative Ordinance.

After the petitions had been properly certified by the city clerk, the commission on Nov. 19 passed an alternative ordinance fixing the rate for electric lighting at 4 cents per kilowatt hour. Shortly after the council ordered a special election for Tuesday, Jan. 19, when the three ordinances would be voted on by the citizens of Duluth.

For the last three weeks both forces in the controversy occupied campaign offices and tons of literature on the issues in question were sent out to the voters of the city. Meetings were held daily, there having been from four to nine meetings an evening during the campaign. Last Saturday evening a public debate was held at the Auditorium, with Ray M. Hughes, chairman of the Citizens' Referendum committee, and John Jeriswold, Jr., upholding the 6-cent ordinance and the argument against the unit plant, while Watson S. Moore and A. L. McManus represented the Municipal Ownership league in their arguments for the plant and the 4-cent ordinance. On Monday evening both sides closed their campaigns with public mass meetings at the Armory and the Woodman hall.

First Returns.

First returns received last evening by City Clerk Palmer were from the Twenty-second district polling place at 507 West Superior street, showing a majority of 56 votes against the plant and a majority of 54 votes for the 6-cent ordinance. This was at 10:10 p. m. and from then on returns all showed a similar trend and the outcome of the election was evident long before the final vote came in from the Eighth district at 1:20 a. m.

The heaviest vote against the unit plant and for the 6-cent ordinance came from the East end, while the central part of the city also gave large majorities. In West Duluth, where the plant was to have been erected, the proposition received but a slight preference, while the voting was close in the West end.

The unit plan carried in 20 districts and lost in 23, while 24 districts voted for the 6-cent ordinance and 19 for the 4-cent.

Intense interest was manifested in the outcome of the election in all parts of the city last evening. The city clerk's office was packed until shortly after midnight, while the many cigar stores were crowded to their capacity as the returns were kept posted during the entire evening.

Following is the vote by districts:

ALLIED ARMIES AGAIN ON DEFENSIVE IN ALSACE

of the Tigris and Euphrates rivers, the British are reported to have withdrawn after heavy losses.

French Statement.

Paris, Jan. 20, 2:45 p. m.—Absolute quiet on some parts of the battle line in France, artillery engagements of greater or less severity at others, and a spirited infantry encounter at still other places, are set forth in the official announcement given out by the French war office this afternoon. None of the engagements recorded seems to have been of great importance. The statement follows:

"From the sea to the Somme, in the region of Nieuport there was yesterday a fairly spirited artillery engagement in the course of which the enemy endeavored in vain to destroy our bridge at the mouth of the Yser. In the meantime we were successful in demolishing a portion of his defenses at this point; also we were successful at the Union farm near St. Georges, where the enemy had strongly organized his positions.

"In the sector of Ypres and near Lens there were yesterday artillery exchanges of varying intensity. There was also a very violent bombardment of Blangy, near Arras, but it was not followed by an infantry attack.

"From the Somme to the Argonne there has been nothing to report, nor has there been any activity in the sector of Soissons or in the vicinity of Craonne, or near Reims.

"In the region of Camp De Chalons, as well as to the north of Perthes and of Massiges, our artillery directed a very effective fire on the field works of the enemy.

"In the Argonne, in the forest of La Grurie, the enemy delivered a violent attack upon one of our trenches. Our troops who for a moment gave way under the shock, later recaptured in two counter-attacks all their positions and maintained themselves therein. The first of these attacks gave us a greater part of these positions and the second completed the work.

"At St. Hubert the Germans blew up by means of a mine the northeastern projection of our trenches. Our troops threw themselves into the excavations caused by these explosions and prevented the enemy from taking possession of them.

"To the northwest of Pont-a-Mousson, in the forest of Le Pretre, we established ourselves at a distance of 100 yards in front of the German trenches captured by us the day before yesterday. At the end of the day (Tuesday), the enemy here delivered a counter-attack but without success.

"In the vicinity of Thann there have been artillery engagements in which the advantage rested with us."

German Statement.

Berlin, Jan. 20, by wireless to London, 3:15 p. m.—The German official statement this afternoon claims minor successes at several points, notably at Notre Dame de Lorette, and in the Argonne, where 500 yards have been gained. In the forest nort hof Sennheim the German advance, it says, has been satisfactory. The official announcement reading as follows:

"In the western arena of the war the territory between the sea coast and the Lys saw yesterday nothing more than artillery exchanges. At Notre Dame de Lorette, northwest of Arras, a trench 200 yards long was taken from the enemy. Here two machine guns were captured as well as a few prisoners.

"In the Argonne our troops occupied a few trenches. In one place the ground gained by us during the last few days amounts to 500 yards.

"In the forest north of Sennheim (Cernay) in Alsace our attack made good progress. Airzstein was taken by us and we also captured two officers and forty men of the Alpine chausseurs.

"In the eastern arena of the war the situation shows no change."

Fighting Resumed on Lower Vistula.

Petrograd, Jan. 20.—An official communication issued by the grand staff of the Russian army indicates considerable activity and fighting on the right bank of the lower Vistula. The statement follows:

"During the 17th and 18th of January, on the right bank of the lower Vistula, upon the front running from the river to the railroad from Warsaw to Mlawa, a portion of our troops having come in close contact with the enemy, had a series of collisions of secondary importance.

"Fighting of a more grave character, without having the nature of separate actions, took place in the village of Konopki, where the heavy artillery with which the enemy bombarded us was silenced by the fire of our batteries, and near Bodzanow and Bejounla, opposite which the enemy occupied well organized defensive positions. Heavy fighting occurred near Dobrzyn, where an offensive attempt of the Germans was blocked and the enemy was driven back, sustaining grave losses.

"During the day of Jan. 17, the enemy bombarded from his positions on the west bank of the Vistula, our lines near Wyszogrod, but our fire, directed upon his front and flank, silenced the German artillery.

"On Jan. 18 the Germans violently cannonaded the village of Vitkovitze, and the entrenchments occupied by us on the left bank of the Bzura.

"There is no material change in other fronts."

Peat covers about one-seventh of the area of Ireland and the deposits are estimated to contain nearly forty billion tons of fuel.

OLD-TIME COLD CURE—DRINK TEA!

Get a small package of Hamburg Breast Tea, or as the German folks call it, "Hamburger Brust Thee," at any pharmacy. Take a tablespoonful of the tea, put a cup of boiling water upon it, pour through a sieve and drink a teacup full at any time. It is the most effective way to break a cold and cure grip, as it opens the pores, relieving congestion. Also loosens the bowels, thus breaking a cold at once.

It is inexpensive and entirely vegetable, therefore harmless.

"ITALY AND ITS PEOPLE"

Italian Consul Tells of Increased Immigration From Native Land.

Makes No Reference to Country's Stand in European War.

An address on "Italy and Its People" was given by Atillio Castigliano, royal Italian consular agent stationed at Duluth, at the Y. M. C. A. last evening. The address was the third of a series of historical lectures which are being given every Tuesday evening.

Mr. Castigliano gave a graphic description of the topography of the country, her mountains, rivers and lakes, her volcanoes and craters. He also told about her sunny climate and referred to the beautiful bay of Naples. He also discussed at some length the various forms of government, national, provincial and municipal and outlined how her railways, telegraph and other public service corporations were run.

In discussing Italian immigration to the United States, Mr. Castigliano pointed out that statistics showed that during the ten years intervening between 1820 and 1830 only 331 Italians came to the United States. In 1907, he said more than 200,000 landed here.

Mr. Castigliano made no reference to Italy's stand in the present European crisis. He declared that he had refused to discuss this matter owing to the fact that it would be improper for him to do so in that he was a representative of the state department of the Italian government in a foreign country.

ROTARY PROBLEMS TO BE CONSIDERED

Club Will Meet Jan. 28 for a General Discussion.

The Duluth Rotary club at its meeting Jan. 28 will discuss a wide range of questions pertaining to the work of the organization. The meeting will be at the Elks' club and the various topics will be introduced by a committee and a general discussion will follow. A full report of the discussion will be sent to the international association. Following are the subjects on the program:

What is the proper return to be looked for by rotarians in consequence of their activities on behalf of the club and its members?

Should a man be selected for membership in a rotary club by reason of obvious potential qualifications for meeting the requirements of a good rotarian, or should a rotary undertake to educate him in its tenets after his election?

What are the functions of the International Association of Rotary clubs; classify them, and differentiate them carefully from the functions of the individual rotary club?

How can the international association best help the individual club, and how can the individual club best help the international association?

Should rotary clubs combine nationally or internationally?

Is the limitation to one representative from each line of business a permanent and indispensable feature of rotary?

Can the practical purpose and the altruistic ideal of rotary be successfully combined?

Is the idea of business co-operation germane to rotary? Should it be used in endeavoring to interest men in the club as prospective members?

Is altruistic service incompatible with "live wire" types of business men and capable of being practiced by any but the leisure class who have "made their stake?"

Wherein are the spirit and purpose of a rotary club dierent from those of a fraternal organization?

Wherein are they different from the older type of trade organizations?

What principles have become fixed and established in rotary?

What new principles are growing up in rotary?

What other principles might properly be adopted by rotary having regard to its greatest strength and usefulness in the future?

Rotary is the philosophy of business and the inspiration of the business man.

TO ACQUIRE ALL AVAILABLE CORN

German Government Acts to Guard Against Critical Period.

(Correspondence of the Associated Press.)

Amsterdam, Jan. 8.—For the conservation and efficient distribution of the corn supply in Germany, the government has decided to form a stock company with a large capital, which will acquire all the available corn and store it until May, before which time it is said no sales can take place.

The stockholders are principally large captalists and towns with a population of 100,000 or more. According to the Frankfurter Zeitung the directors will be representatives of the state and industrial leaders. The company has the right to condemn and purchase at a fair price, any supplies of corn in Prussia. The stock is to pay dividends limited to 5 per cent, and any profits remaining beyond this percentage are to go to charity.

The motive for this move of the Prussian government is stated as the fear that, notwithstanding the ampleness of the harvest, there may be a critical period before the garnering of the harvest of 1915. In this connection the Vossische Zeitung comments:

"In the agricultural journals there are reports from many parts of the empire that the harvest will fall below the first brilliant expectations. We know that in Alsace and East Prussia a great part of the harvest has been destroyed. We know that every year we imported from abroad several million tons of provender, and that these importations have now ceased. We are thus faced with increased danger of the employment of grain as provender. The peasant does not easily understand why he should let his cattle starve that the people in the towns may have bread.

"It is evident that only great economy can prevent us from being confronted with serious scarcity in the last months of the harvest year.

"There is reason to fear that we have not justified the confidence of the government that the patriotism of the people would suffice to induce them to practice frugality without the pressure of increasing prices. Exhortations to frugality in school and church and by means of handbills have not had remarkable success."

Before Inventory at the Glass Block

A Day of Opportunities—Tomorrow

Bargain opportunities—greater than ever—a fitting climax to the big Pre-Inventory Sale.

Because a great store like the Glass Block cannot afford to begin the new year by offering anything but the very newest merchandise, we must "clean-house", at any cost. That is why we have assembled, for the last three days, an enormous mass of additional merchandise, at prices far below normal.

"We have always expected bargains at the Glass Block before inventory", said a Duluth woman yesterday, "but this year you seem to have included all sorts of things you have never included before; and at lower prices too."

We have done just that. And tomorrow you'll find it especially noticeable.

Department Answers 512 Alarms During the Year 1914.

More than one-fifth of the fires in 1914 were of unknown origin, according to the annual report of Fire Chief Randall.

During 1914 the department answered 512 alarms and of this number, there were 116 fires, the origin of which was never known.

CALIFORNIA HAS MANY UNEMPLOYED

Real Distress Being Experienced By Thousands of Persons.

San Francisco, Cal., Jan. 20.—Real distress is being experienced by thousands of persons in California this winter and the army of unemployed is larger than was ever before known in the West, according to the report of the commission of immigration and housing of California, which was designated by Governor Hiram Johnson to devise means of relief. Besides the horde of migratory, seasonal labor in California, thousands of persons have recently been attracted to the state with the idea of securing employment at either the Panama-Pacific or the Panama-California expositions.

The management of the Panama-Pacific exposition, alone, has received recently 10,000 applications for employment. The pleasing prospect of seeing the exposition without being out of pocket has prompted 10,000 women to file applications for work at the exposition, while the number of positions open to women will be limited to 1,000. The applicants hail from every corner of the United States, and many of them have come west without waiting for their applications to be answered. One store in San Francisco received in December, 1914, 177 personal applications from women for work, of which 110 were made by Eastern women, who are in San Francisco and jobless, the majority of them attracted by the expositions.

The commission of immigration and housing of California has devised plans for temporary relief of the unemployed, as well as measures to prevent a recurrence of the trouble in the future, and the commission is sending out warning to persons contemplating a trip to California, with the expectation of getting work of any kind, advising only those to come West who have means of support.

FARMER AWARDED $40.

Contractor Must Pay for Removing Wire Fence.

John Ylen, Fine Lakes farmer, was awarded a verdict for $40 by a district court jury in Judge Dancer's division yesterday afternoon in a law suit which he brought against Andrew O. Keshonen, contractor. While Keshonen was building one mile of the Prairie Lake road for St. Louis county last season, he removed a barbed wire fence surrounding Ylen's property. Ylen also claimed that several trees on his property had been cut down while the construction of the road was in progress. Ylen sued for $575 damages. G. A. E. Finlayson appeared as attorney for Ylen, and Charles E. Adams represented the county road contractors.

HUSBAND GIVEN DIVORCE.

Charles K. Carlson Freed on Ground of Desertion.

Charles K. Carlson was allowed a divorce from Charlotte E. Carlson by Judge Fesler in district court yesterday afternoon on the grounds of desertion. The Carlsons were married June 8, 1907, and went to live with Mrs. Carlson's father and sister. When Carlson suggested that they go housekeeping, his wife objected, he testified yesterday. In June, 1913, he decided to leave his father-in-law's home and insisted that his wife accompany him. This she refused to do. Carlson went to a hotel and on several occasions requested her to join him. Each time she refused.

STUDENTS SEEK PRACTICAL RESULTS

Educational Aims Have Changed, Speaker Tells Schoolmasters' Club.

Contrary to the sentiment prevailing several years ago, the ambition of most present-day grade or high school students is to acquire knowledge that may be applied practically, instead of to prepare themselves for a college education, according to William Nonnemaker of the R. E. Denfeld high school, in an address on "Science" before the members of the Schoolmasters' club. The occasion was the monthly meeting of the club, held last night at the McKay hotel.

"Preparatory schools follow this tendency in their curriculum," he said, "and the present-day student receives a more practical education than did his father."

James F. Taylor of the Central high school, another of several speakers, talking on "Mathematics," declared that the percentage of men who "took chances" and those who "figured things out ahead" could be found by appliance of mathematics.

Talking on "Manual Arts," C. B. Avery of the Denfeld school also declared that the idea of establishing definite, practical trades for the pupil was predominant, and that the tendency to foster cultural ideas was not so much in evidence. G. A. Gyler chose "History" as his topic, while D. W. Hiestand spoke on "Latin."

MAKI CONVICTED OF GRAND LARCENY

His Story of Befriending Stranger Is Discredited By Court.

Jack Maki, alias J. Murray, was found guilty by a jury in Judge Bert Fesler's division of the district court yesterday afternoon of grand larceny in the second degree. Maki was accused of having "doped" Fred Johnson with drugged whisky at the Nicollet hotel on the night of Nov. 7 and to have stolen $40, a necktie, and stickpin belonging to him.

When Johnson awoke, he found Maki and his money gone. Maki, who was arrested a few hours later in Superior, told a strange story. He said that he had met Johnson and befriended him. Because the latter had no place to sleep, he says, he invited him to share his room at the Nicollet hotel. Maki declared that he found Johnson so undesirable that he got up in the middle of the night, dressed and left the hotel. He admitted mistaking the guest's necktie for his own, but denied the theft of the money. Maki will be brought before the court for sentence within a few days.

BIG APPROPRIATION BILL PASSES HOUSE

Rivers and Harbors Measure Carried By Vote 164 to 81.

Washington, Jan. 20.—The rivers and harbors appropriation bill, carrying more than $34,000,000, passed the house last night by a vote of 164 to 81. The bill now goes to the senate, where a protracted fight is expected.

All efforts to block or substantially to amend the bill failed, and the measure will go to the senate practically as reported by the house committee.

The house shortly after midnight voted down, 109 to 65, a substitute by Representative Frear of Wisconsin, proposing a lump sum of $5,000,000.

Representative Calloway of Texas moved to re-commit the bill with instructions to report a bill appropriating $4,765,000 limited to the existing projects in their present condition. Not a sufficient number of members stood up in support of this and Mr. Calloway made a point of no quorum. A roll on the passage of the bill itself followed.

The bill authorizes no new projects, the $34,000,000 being apportioned to continue improvements already under way, while provision for examinations and surveys in various places, including Duluth, New York harbor, Hudson river, Delaware river, Colorado river, the Port Arthur ship canal and the harbors at Baltimore, Savannah, Milwaukee, San Diego and Long Beach.

The larger allotments of the money appropriated includes $7,387,000 for the Mississippi river.

WEST END

WORK ON SCHOOL WILL BEGIN EARLY

Addition to Lincoln Building Expected to Relieve Congestion.

Residents of the West end are looking forward to the early start this spring on the building of the addition to the Lincoln school, which will be used by the board for a junior high school. The plans for this building were made a year ago by the school board and the building is expected to provide for the increased population in this end of the city.

Every school in this end of the city is now filled to its capacity. Next fall the natural increase is expected to make it necessary to have the new building to care for the overflow. With the removal of the seventh and eighth grades from the Adams, Munroe, Ensign and Bryant schools, and taking these to the new Lincoln junior high school, this crowded condition will be relieved.

According to plans already made by the school board the building will be erected adjoining the Lincoln school building. The heating plant of the Lincoln building will be enlarged so as to heat both buildings. The estimated cost of the building is $80,000.

The letting of the contract was postponed last fall owing to a shortage of money, according to members of the school board, but it is intimated that the matter will be brought up at the next regular meeting, and at that time it is probable that action will be taken to call for bids for its construction.

Waives Examination When Arraigned for Theft of Suit Cases.

Held on a charge of grand larceny in the second degree, William Griffen, aged 36, waived examination before Judge Windom in municipal court yesterday afternoon and was bound over to the grand jury. Griffen, alleged to have stolen two suitcases from the lobby of a Superior street hotel, returned to one of his victims deeds in one of the suitcases which were valueless to him.

One case, containing a watch and a diamond, were sold at a pawnshop at 22 West Superior street, while the other was found at a similar place at 717 West Superior street.

Detectives Herman Toewe and James Bradley, following a short search, found Griffen in the lobby of another hotel, where he was pointed out by one of the pawnbrokers.

CONTRACTING FIRM RECOVERS CHECKS

Action Was Brought Against School Board of District No. 71.

Gust Frederickson and Otto Pearson, contractors, doing business under the firm name of Frederickson & Pearson, were given judgment for possession of two certified checks totaling $526.80 and $10.80 damages for their detention by the school board of district No. 71 at Rice Lake by a jury in Judge Cant's division of the district court yesterday afternoon. The contractors were given the contract for the construction of a school house for the district. Accompanying their bids for the work were two certified checks. A misunderstanding arose between the contractors and the school district over the kind of a bond to be furnished. The school district would not accept the bond offered by the contractors and the latter demanded return of the certified checks and refused to handle the contract. The contractors through their attorneys, Luthers & Hoag, brought suit against School Directors R. A. Mannheim and Paul Sabrowski and Architect P. M. Olson of this city. The defendants were represented in court by James A. Wharton.

"BILLY" SUNDAY MAY COME HERE

Church Workers Hope to Arrange for Summer Meetings.

Among the well known people who will visit Duluth this summer will be "Billy" Sunday, baseball evangelist, if plans now being formulated by church organizations of the city are carried out successfully. The executive committees of various church organizations, including the Inter-Church council and Ministerial union, have arranged a joint meeting at the Y. M. C. A. Friday afternoon.

At this time, it is expected, a committee will be appointed to correspond with the famous evangelist and perhaps make a trip east to complete details for the Duluth visit. Mr. Sunday has declared himself willing to come to Duluth, if arrangements can be made.

Sunday recently started one of the most sensational campaigns of his career in the city of Philadelphia, and will be working there for three years, from September to May of each year. His contract with the Quaker city is not binding for the rest of the year, so that a summer trip to the Head of the Lakes probably can be arranged.

STEARNS COUNTY EDUCATORS MEET.

MOTHER! IT'S CRUEL TO FORCE OIL OR CALOMEL INTO A SICK CHILD

"California Syrup of Figs" Can't Harm Tender Stomach, Liver, Bowels.

Look back at your childhood days. Remember the "physic" that mother insisted on — castor oil, calomel, cathartics. How you hated them, how you fought against taking them.

With our children it's different. Mothers who clug to the old form of physic simply don't realize what they do. The children's revolt is well founded. Their tender little "insides" are injured by them.

If your child's stomach, liver and bowels need cleansing give "California Syrup of Figs." Its action is positive but gentle. Millions of mothers keep this harmless "fruit laxative" handy; they know children love to take it; that it never fails to clean the liver and bowels and sweeten the stomach, and that a teaspoonful given to-day saves a sick child to-morrow. It should be the first remedy given as it always does good, never any harm.

Ask your druggist for a 50 cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which has full directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups plainly on each bottle. Beware of counterfeits sold here. See that it is made by "California Fig Syrup Company." Refuse any other kind with contempt.

The Duluth Concert orchestra has given only one performance but it has enlarged its scope to the extent of planning concerts in Superior and before pupils of the Duluth public schools.

The Rotary club of Superior has taken the matter up and is arranging for the orchestra to repeat their Duluth concerts on the following Sundays in Superior.

The educationnl and philanthropic committee of the Matinee Misicale has engaged the orchestra to give two concerts before the seventh and eighth grade pupils of the city. In turn the members of the orchestra have offered to give a third concert without charge.

The Svea Glee club will be the special attraction at the second performance of the orchestra Sunday afternoon at 5 o'clock in the auditorium of the Central high school. The following program will be given:

"Le Reine de Saba," Marche et Cortege ..... Gounod
Overture "Egmont" ..... Beethoven
"Festival Dance and Waltz of the Hours" ..... Delibes
"Manolosy Manolos, Spanish Dance" ..... Steger
"Sextet from Lucia di Lammermoor" ..... Donizetti
Svea Glee Club.
"Ballet Egyptian," in four parts, allegro non troppo, allegretto, andante sostenuto, andante expressivo-allegro ..... Luginl
"The Mice and the Trap" ..... Kohler
Joyfully the mice are playing around the trap. One braver than the rest ventures into it and begins to gnaw. The trap snaps and away scamper the mice.
"Reuda d'Amour" ..... Westerhout
"The Forge in the Forest," "At Night," "Day Break," "By the Brook," "Prayer," "At the Forge" ..... Michaelis
"Pomp and Circumstance," military march ..... Elgar

Program notes by Mr. Bradbury.

The overture and incidental music to Goethe's "Egmont" were written by Beethoven in 1809-10, and were first performed May 24, 1810. The plot of the drama follows the historical narrative of the life of the count of Egmont, the Flemish nobleman, who, although a Catholic, opposed the government which Philip sought to establish in the Netherlands, and became one of the associates of William of Orange in his struggle for Netherlandish liberty. By a treacherous conspiracy on the part of the infamous duke of Alva, he was captured and executed, Sept. 9, 1567. The general tone of the overture to "Egmont" is gloomy and somber but at the same time lofty and dignified, like the spirit of the people, whose determination to resist the cruelty and tyranny of a foreign oppressor is pictured. One eminent authority is of the opinion that the grand unison of the opening, followed by phrases of the wind instruments, entering imitatively in succession, suggests the resolve of the champion of freedom to relieve his country from the yoke of the oppressor, and that the new phrases following suggest the desire for action. The significant contrasts between the string and wind instrument passages indicate both the sterner and gentler phases of the hero's character. The reappearance of the first theme, interrupted by the violins in a slow, sad manner, portends the doom of Egmont, and when he is lead to the scaffold, his assurance of the final triumph of the right is shown by the exultation of the finale. Some idea as to the advances made by orchestra performers may be gained from the fact that at the time the overture was first given the musicians in the orchestra, who were the most capable performers in one of the great musical centers in Europe, complained of what they termed insurmountable technical difficulties. From a strictly technical standpoint the overture is looked upon now as comparatively easy.

SCHOOL LUNCHES.

Housewives' League Discusses the Subject at Meeting.

Miss Grace McIntosh, one of the school nurses, gave a talk on "School Nursing" at the meeting of the Housewives' league yesterday afternoon.

In regard to the subject of lunches for school children that is under consideration by the Housewives' league, Mrs. J. U. Sebenius, the secretary, was instructed to write to the school board, explaining in detail the plan of the lunches and calling attention to the fact that the teachers would not be called upon for extra work and that the school board would be under no obligations to provide food or fuel, as that part would be attended to by the women.

An investigation relative to school lunches is being carried on by Dr. J. H. Andres, Dr. M. A. Nicholson, Dr. Frank A. Grawn, Miss McIntosh, Miss Elizabeth Gamble and Miss Ruth Beckman. It is expected to be completed in time for a report to be made to the board of education at the meeting Feb. 5.

The Twentieth Century club has expressed its willingness to undertake the work of providing lunches at two schools.

The subject of lunches will be considered at the meeting of the Woman's council to be held Friday morning at 10 o'clock in the library clubroom.

There are twenty-eight members and two associate members of the guild.

The musical part of the program consisted of a piano solo, MacDowell's "Witches' Dance," by Miss Mable Fix, who gave as an encore a "Berceuse," by Illinsky, and a vocal solo, Clutsam's "Eastern Cradle Song," given by Miss Mildred Downie, who sang as an encore "From the Land of the Sky Blue Water," by Cadman. YOUNG PUPIL WILL BE PRESENTED IN RECITAL BY HER TEACHER

EDNA Z. HARRIS.

Miss Rosalie Haddad, one of Miss Edna Z. Harris' younger piano students, will be presented in a recital by her teacher the early part of February at Miss Harris' studio in the Edison building.

Little Miss Haddad is one of the best examples of this teacher's success as an instructor of the pianoforte. Miss Harris has the rare power of instilling ambition and a love for work into pupils not possessing such qualities and she has been most successful in her efforts to bring out pupils within a comparatively short length of study. At their recitals all of Miss Harris' pupils play from memory and their clear and finished technique and expression prove the excellence of their teacher's training system. As a teacher Miss Harris has a certain personality which counts for much in the success of an instructor and the good results which she has obtained with her many students prove beyond a doubt how thorough her teaching is.

Invitations to Miss Haddad's recital will be sent out in about two weeks.

All Branches of the Needlework Guild Will Help Belgians.

Each contributor to the Needlework guild is supposed to receive a circular letter sent out by the head office in Philadelphia, a copy of which appeared in yesterday's evening paper. "Although, as a national organization, incorporated to care for the institutions and charities of this country, the branches of the Needlework Guild of America have no right to send out of the country from its regular collections of either garments or money, it has this privilege provided by its bylaws for special collections.

"Money must be sent from your branch treasury, as that money is for the work in this country, and, as the national office was obliged to borrow $1,500, last year to carry on its work, money from the regular income must not be diverted.

"After the collection of your branch has been made, the amount received by this special call should be sent by check or money order on or before Feb. 15."

QUAKERESS HAS BECOME ACTRESS

MISS MARGARET LOTUS.

Miss Margaret Lotus, the new member of the Baldwin Players, is a Quakeress.

For a Quakeress to become an actress is unusual at least, but Miss Lotus is a member of a Quaker family, and was educated at a Quaker school in Providence, R. I.

"After graduating from the Quaker school I went to college for just one month, attending Boston university," said Miss Lotus. "Then the call of the stage grew too strong to resist, and I quit school to take an opportunity that offered. Most of my experience has been in stock companies in New York and Patterson, and in vaudeville. I was with Henry Woodruff and Douglas Fairbanks in vaudeville for two seasons."

Miss Lotus is the only unmarried woman with the Baldwin Players.

"I feel lonesome dragging home suitcases after the performance," she said. "Every other woman in the company has a husband to rely on. I feel like an outsider at a nice little family party."

DEEP FAT FRYING

Milwaukee Free Press: As few cooks possess a fryometer, some simple rules are given for testing the temperature of fat for frying. For instance, we hear "Fry in boiling fat," for fat boils at a very high temperature and would be impossible to cook anything at such a heat.

When the fat is heated so that a faint clear blue vapor rises, it is ready for cooking such things as croquettes, fishballs, etc., the ingredients of which have already been cooked.

Another test is to put a cube of bread into the hot fat. If this browns while forty is being counted, it is then right for the purposes named above: but for uncooked foods, crullers, doughnuts, filets of fish, etc., the bread should not brown until one can count sixty.

If these foods were fried in fat as hot as that used for previously cooked mixtures, the outside would brown before the inside was cooked.

Secret of Crispiness.

Doughnuts and crullers, being heavy and solid as compared with croquettes or other small fried foods, must be cooked in fat which is at a lower temperature. The best test is to put a small piece of the dough in the pan and cook it. If it sinks to the bottom and reappears quickly, twice the size, the fat is the right temperature.

Do not attempt to cook too many crullers at one time, as they will cool the fat and absorb grease. Don't put in more than four or five at a time.

After frying any dough mixture the fat will appear dark and cloudy from the flour that has fallen in. If one or two raw potatoes are dropped and cooked in the fat, the cloudiness will disappear.

All frying fat should be strained through a fine sieve or cheese cloth before using to remove any foreign particles that have fallen into it from the food. If not removed these will burn and cover the next article cooked with black specks.

SOME FOXY WAS SING LEE.

Philadelphia Telegraph: The talk topic turned to Chinamen the other night when Admiral Bradley Fiske, of the United States navy, smilingly told of the foxiness of a party named Sing Lee.

One evening a man rambled into the life-saving department of a hotel, the admiral said, and found the bartender surrendering to grouchful emotions of a rather emphatic nature. Naturally he wanted to know why.

"Chinaman came in here just now," answered the bartender, "and asked for a half-pint of horse medicine. Hardly had I placed it on the bar before it disappeared up his capacious sleeve. When it came to producing, he said he must have lost the money, and with a sigh that hurt the heart, he went up his sleeve again and returned the half pint."

"Returned the half-pint, did he?" responded the other. "Well, then what's all the agitation about?"

"Case of jugglery," was the sad rejoinder of the bartender. "The bottle that Sing Lee returned was filled with weak, weak water."

OBSERVATIONS

By PEGGY PEABODY

Be Temperate in Eating.

People eat more than they require. A prominent physician, who has made an exhaustive study of the subject, recently informed me that food drunkenness is the greatest drunkenness in the world. The average mortal takes so much food material that he is in danger of being gorged. My friend added that air and water are the greatest life-giving things in nature, and are about all we need.

While I agree with that part of the physician's statement that people eat more than they require, I am not so sure that the time will ever arrive when we shall have no further use for our stomachs or that it would be a desirable estate to attain.

Aside from the fact that we are obliged to eat to live nowadays, there is a deal of solid comfort and enjoyment to be obtained through the medium of food which if indulged in moderation is not a matter for which one need feel they must offer apologies. The spirit of good fellowship and of good cheer that can be generated and circulated about the least pretentious board counts something in the favor of eating.

It was only this week that I read an article by a college professor wherein he maintained that it was safer to overeat than to eat too little, and this seems to be demonstrated every day among us. If you do not eat enough it is not long before your body gives evidence that it is not properly nourished, and if it does not obtain an amount of food sufficient to sustain it in health it is not long before life departs.

You can overfeed yourself for a long time before there is any grave effect from the indulgence, in truth you can overeat from the cradle to the grave without being more than uncomfortable, and that is what most of us do.

I believe in eating well—and wisely, too. I believe that we could make a more varied selection of food with advantage to health, and that there are many people who could eat less and be better off. Some people do gorge themselves so that it has the effect of utterly destroying all benefit either as nourishment or the wherewithal to supply energy.

Every normal adult has his own idea on the subject of what and how much it is wise for him to eat. These ideas are usually founded on personal experience. Perhaps there is no better way of governing ourselves in such things. Surely experimenting with each new idea as it is advanced would be harmful.

WHY THIS RETROGRESSION?

One of the surprises of the present political developments is the appearance in La Follette's Weekly of the following:

> Some time the American people will really democratize the public service. Then they will confirm the president's right to select those officials upon whom he must rely in executing his policies of administration. And then they will demand that the great body of Federal officials outside the civil service shall be elected by direct vote of the people to be served by such officials.

The New York Times says that this "evidently means that the people of the areas served should choose by popular vote such Federal officials as postmasters, United States marshals and United States district attorneys." The Times recalls that "suggestions of this kind have been made from time to time by mossback political spoilsmen," and expresses surprise that La Follette, after claiming credit for all the laws and policies that have made Wisconsin famous, should revert to such a proposition as this.

The Times is excusable for its attitude, for the proposal of the senator, if it is rightly interpreted, would mean not only adding to but multiplying the present length of the ballot, and that, too, at a time when the most generally accredited writers and thinkers along political lines are urging that the ballot be made as short as possible.

What is back of this change on the part of one who has acquired such a place as the senator from Wisconsin has occupied? Is it possible that he is losing faith in the very school of progress which he helped to create? Or is it only some political advantage that is sought in preparation for the coming of his own turn to go before the people on his own personal responsibility?

Leaders in Wisconsin's present day political life say that the Badger state has completely changed its political and economic policies with the coming in of the new administration. Judging from the words taken from his publication, Senator La Follette is a close second to the state in making the change.

Come on now, everybody—Hurrah for Duluth!

JUST A SAMPLE.

"There are great possibilities for American trade in Bulgaria," writes the American consul general at Constantinople.

"One of the principal requisites for wider commercial relations between the United States and Bulgaria is the establishment of direct steamship communications," says Minister Panaretoff, in charge of the Bulgarian legation in the United States, in an article published in a Constantinople trade journal.

There you are—great possibilities and lack of steamships. And when the United States government proposes to make sure that there are plenty of ships, a minority in congress opposes the plan and starts a filibuster that may defeat the whole proposition.

What is the matter? Are these reactionaries afraid that any expansion of American trade will be credited to the Wilson administration and so rob them of their heaven-given privilege of agitating for a return to the regime of special privilege? Or is it just pure cussedness that prompts them?

This much is sure: We need the ships: we can get the ships if the ship purchase bill passes; and if it doesn't pass, the men to blame will be the same ones who have been trying to squeeze subsidies out of the national treasury on one pretext or another. Bulgaria's situation is only a fair sample of what is true regarding other nations.

The arrival of the seed catalogues is only one of the signs of the times.

THE MAN UP A TREE.

There's an old expression to the effect that any given proposition looks thus or so "to a man up a tree." Of course it is really a way of saying that the point of view is a factor in shaping opinion, but sometimes we forget that the difference between two points of view may easily be quite as widely at variance as if one man stood on the ground and the other was up in a tree.

One of the big troubles of human nature is that the man in the tree so often fails to consider the different light he might get on the same question by merely shifting to another limb of his tree.

It isn't everybody who has the resourcefulness of the negro told of by a writer in the Argonaut. The negro was one of a ball and chain gang, and was asked by a passerby why that ball was chained to his leg. He replied:

"To keep people from stealin' it. Dey's a heap o' thieves around heah."

What if you are up a tree? Shift around to some other branch and see what things look like from there. Maybe that thing that looks like an ant hill will prove to be only a weather beaten stone. And maybe that stick that looks so out of place is sheltering or supporting something you couldn't see before.

Even the man up a tree can see things from a different angle if he only will. Not that the new vision need necessarily change his opinion, but it will at least make him more broadminded and ready to respect the opinions of others. And the man who can and will do that is worth to the world a thousand times as much as the man who can't or wont.

President Wilson says the Republicans haven't had a new idea in thirty years. Wrong! Right now they are shrieking that no president should have more than one term.

WE WANT TO BE SHOWN.

Reports from Salisbury, England, where the Canadian troops sent to take part in the war were encamped for final drill, say that the boots worn by the Canadians proved to be unserviceable after a few days wear. They were found, it is said, to have been poorly put together and made of inferior material.

Here is a case in which Canada can give us a welcome lesson. What will Canada do with the men who supplied these boots to her at the price of better ones?

In the Spanish-American war we saw cases of similar character in the supplies for our own army. It will be generations, perhaps, before the phrase "embalmed beef" will fail to stir recollections of those days. And there were other things than food that failed to come up to specifications.

It was said then that American dollar hunger was responsible; that in no country but the United States could such things be possible. Since then the Balkan war has been fought, and some of the shells used in that war and purchased from neutral manufacturers were found to contain sawdust instead of powder, and some of the food containers were found to be short in weight. And these things were bought in Europe, not in America.

Now comes Canada with a flagrant instance of the same character. What will she do with the men responsible? Are they any less traitors than if they aided and abetted the enemy in other ways? Occasionally we find the same class of operations over here. We will be glad to have Canada show us how to deal with such people.

Now a lot of people will have time to begin to plan their gardens.

The oddity of our language is again apparent when you consider that the citizens turned D-O-W-N the U. P.

We would have known the result much sooner if the polls closed at seven o'clock instead of staying open till nine.

The Army of the Dead.

I dreamed that overhead
I saw in twilight gray
The Army of the Dead
Marching upon its way,
So still and passionless
With faces so serene,
That scarcely could one guess
Such men in war had been.

No mark or hurt they bore,
Nor smoke nor bloody stain;
Nor suffered any more
Famine, fatigue or pain;
Nor any lust of hate
Now lingered in their eyes—
Who have fulfilled their fate,
Have lost all enmities.

A new and greater pride
So quenched the pride of race
That foes marched side by side
Who once fought face to face,
That ghostly army's plan
Knows but one race, one rod—
All nations there are man
And the one King is God!

No longer on their ears
The bugle's summons falls;
Beyond the tangled spheres
The Archangel's trumpet calls;
And by that trumpet led
Far up the exalted sky
The Army of the Dead
Goes by, and still goes by.

Look upward, standing mute;
Salute!

Wise to the Old Man.

Philadelphia Telegraph: Here is one that was told at a recent banquet by Bo Sweeney, the new assistant secretary of the interior, in demonstrating that little wifey occasionally scores a beautiful ringer.

A patient little mother had just tucked her 5-year-old daughter in bed and was about to leave the room when the youngster called her back.

"Yes, dear," answered the mother, returning to the bedside "what do you want?"

"I'm not very sleepy, yet," said the child, appealingly. "Won't you tell me a fairy story?"

"Wait a few minutes, dear," replied mamma, with just a tinge of hardness in her voice. "Your father will soon be home and he will tell us both one."

NOW ALL TOGETHER!

The election is over, the citizens have shown their will and the plans of the Municipal Ownership league have been repudiated by the voters. The campaign has been one of the hottest Duluth has seen, and the interest and feeling have been intense. Now it is over, there is only one thing to do, and that is, get together and pull for the common interest of both sides—the welfare of Duluth.

The "unit plant" idea was ill-advised. Evidently the commissioners believed they had been elected on platforms pledging them to do what the Municipal Ownership league urged them to do. Nothing but the fact that the new city charter provides for the referendum prevented them from going ahead on that assumption. Now the people have expressed their disapproval of the Municipal Ownership league's ideas and the atmosphere is cleared, not only in the city in general but especially at the city hall, where the ordinary activities of city government can now go on without the befogging influence of side issues.

The preponderating influence which decided the issues yesterday was the sentiment among the taxpayers against increasing the city's debt. Coupled with this was the belief that the "unit plant" idea was faulty in many respects, that such a plant would be operated at a financial loss and that it was but the beginning of a very large addition to the city's indebtedness, without adequate benefits to the people. The election also demonstrated the belief of the people that a 6-cent rate, to go into effect at once, was preferable to a lower rate that might never be obtained or obtained only after prolonged litigation. In this connection it is pleasing to learn on the authority of President A. W. Hartman of the Duluth-Edison company that the 6-cent rate will be established immediately.

There is now a bill before the state legislature, which will probably be passed, granting to municipalities the power to regulate the rates of public utility corporations. Under this law, Duluth will be vested with all authority necessary in the future to regulate the electric lighting question and if it should be found that the 6-cent rate is too high it will be easy to bring about a reduction to a reasonable figure.

It would be very unwise to perpetuate the feeling created during the campaign. We are all here together, with Duluth and its welfare as our common interest. Our city is growing rapidly and has been given many advantages in the last few months that were formerly denied her. Now that we have settled this little matter among ourselves, it would be the act of weaklings to continue the strife, to carry into everyday life and into our attitude on city affairs the rivalries and possible prejudices expressed during the campaign.

There is only one thing which strong and honest men can do at a time like this, and that is to buckle down to the day's work and go ahead together to make Duluth more and more a city famed for progress and opportunity. This should be our constant care. Let us grant to each side of the recent controversy credit for good intentions in its campaign, and that will make us all the more ready to pull together for Duluth as we have never done before.

The President On Patronage

From "A Talk With the President," by Samuel G. Blythe in the Saturday Evening Post.

"What," I asked, "is the most disagreeable feature of the presidency?"

"Patronage," the president replied, without a moment's hesitation—"patronage, and the genuine astonishment and resentment of personal friends that I cannot take care of them merely because they are personal friends. Politics, you know, as it is widely considered, consists in taking care of one's personal friends. Now, I should like to do that; love to do it; but I cannot. And I am constantly perplexed at the genuine aggrievement of those friends because I cannot and do not.

"I would willingly take the coat off my back and give it to a friend who needed it. My friends can have anything I have that is mine; but I cannot give them what is not mine. These offices are not mine. They belong to the people. They are the nation's. Merely because a man is a personal friend of mine, or has been something or other that makes him think he is, is not a valid reason for bestowing on him an office that does not belong to me, but is mine only to administer through the proper person selected as the active agent. The obligation incumbent upon me, as the distributer for the moment of these offices, is to find efficient men to hold them, not personal friends to hold them and get the emoluments.

"I do not think my generosity or my sense of deep and lasting friendship for my real friends can be questioned; but there is a higher obligation than any personal obligation; that is my obligation to the people of this country, who have put me in this place temporarily to administer their governmental affairs for them and who demand of me that I shall administer them for the people and not for the individual, even though that individual be myself or someone else close to me.

"Moreover," he went on, his voice vibrant with earnestness and sincerity, "it is my firm impression that patronage ruins more potentially great men than any other one political influence. By that I mean that many a man who comes into public life hampers his true development by his devotion to patronage hunting, and his limitations thereby, more than in any other way. They spend their time running to get a job here and a job there.

"Of course there is a reason for it, because most of them owe their positions in public life to the work of the men back home, and they feel they must do what can be done for those men, and for their own men—the organization—in order that they may have future and continued success at the polls. But, as my observation goes, many a man in public life has not developed to half of his true capacity because of this ceaseless devotion to the harassing details of patronage. Some of them, to be sure, wouldn't develop very much if there were no patronage; but it is my firm opinion that if patronage could be eliminated we should have a bigger, broader, more patriotic and more useful body of legislators then we now have.

"I am not insensible to the demands made on public men who, in their turn, make those demands on me; but I deprecate them. I see fierce contests over Federal offices; consume hour after hour listening to the claims of one set or another; and I am convinced that, except for mere organization purposes, the people, as a mass, are not interested and do not pretend to be.

"Take the postmastership of any of our large cities, for example. When one of those contests for appointment is on you would think, to hear the proponents and opponents of the candidates tell it, that the very foundations of the republic will rock if one man is not appointed or if another man is. And yet, I venture to say, the only concern of the great mass of the people over the postmastership of one city is that they get their mail promptly and that the office is administered honestly and efficiently. Let me repeat: If patronage could be eliminated we should have a much broader, more patriotic, more capable and more useful set of legislators."

Conquering the World

Omaha World-Herald: Without firing a shot the United States is conquering the world. A Belgian banker in describing the aid sent to that country says that of the 7,000,000 people there who have been saved from death by starvation by the American relief commission, there is not a man among them who would not be willing to die in the last ditch fighting for the Stars and Stripes if called on to do so.

A correspondent on the north coast of Africa writing of the work of the United States consuls there in securing protection to prisoners, irrespective of nationality, sends a clipping from a Tangier newspaper in which occurs the following:

"Can we do anything for America? Morocco has a few things that America wants, almonds, I believe, and goat-skins and things of that sort. Hitherto the States people have been content to get this merchandise by indirect channels, Hamburg, for instance. Why not make the very easy arrangements needful for direct transport? Morocco, too, wants many things that America can supply, machinery and petroleum, to mention the first that come to one's thought; likewise a few foodstuffs; notably sugar. But the great desideratum is a direct line of steamers, trading from New York to Gibraltar, down the Morocco coast and home again. And, one thing more, a few white men of business, to make things hum."

Words like that, uttered in good faith, are coming from all parts of the world, even from the interior of China and from Siberia. The influence and power of the United States is extending all over the world. There may be more in the philosophy of Tolstoi than most men have been inclined to think.

Stories of College Life.

Harvard Lampoon: Anybody can write a story about college life. If he has not attended a college, so much the better. His imagination is less trammeled. A few simple rules must be observed, however.

1. All heroes are named Jack, Stanley or Dick.
2. All college men wear sweaters always and smoke short, fat-bowled pipes.
3. There is always a "Fatty," who is a funny fellow.
4. Any four college men make up a quartet, which can sing "Merhlleeee wo ro-hull alonng" at any time.
5. All college men are wooing a girl named Dorothy or Betty, who is "sweet and pure as an angel."
6. All college men address each other as "old hoss."
7. College men never study, but spend their time in tossing repartee back and forth.
8. All college rooms are adorned with pennants.
9. All college men call their fathers "Pater" and speak of the "honor of the dear old school" in a husky voice.

Statesmen, Real and Near

By Fred C. Kelly.

Washington, Jan. 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—Nine days out of ten Representative William C. Adamson of Georgia, chairman of the committee on interstate commerce, goes about in a deep state of sartorial dejection—almost a complete ruin as to garb. His necktie instead of associating with his Adam's apple is under his left ear. From his uncombed hair to his unshined shoes all is chaos. Now this, I say, is nine days of ten. If one were to take note of Adamson during that period, one would say that he has been selected by a committee of haberdashers to serve as a walking Horrible Example. But on the tenth day—taking the thing on the average—Adamson is likely to appear at his committee room all prettied up. He has on a long, statesmanlike frock coat, he is shaved and shorn, and his shoes bear an unmistakable Grecian luster. Even then Adamson may lack the little niceties that go to make the fop; but he shows that he has been giving careful thought to himself.

Scarcely a day passes without Adamson being twitted about his appearance. He seems to be paying no heed to all this rough comedy, but the fact is that his bosom is stirred and he determines to show his traducers that he is just as capable of nifty apparel as anybody else. The consequence is his periodical outbursts of finery.

A few days ago it suddenly occurred to Adamson, right out of a clear sky, that he ought to have a fancy vest. Did you ever feel a sudden craving for some foolish little thing that you desired to eat? Just such a craving befell Adamson, only instead of lobster salad his notion was for a fancy vest. A moment before that, of all things that were far from his thoughts, fancy vests were the farthest. When it struck him, however, that he needed a nice new shrill vest, he wanted it at once—immediately. So, laying down some dry-looking documents in which he had been absorbed until the vest idea took possession of him, he went to the telephone and called up a store where they sell various articles of dress labeled "Nobby."

Now, before proceeding any further, let me ask you, misguided reader, in all seriousness, if there is anything in the whole big wide world that you would care less about selecting over the 'phone than a fancy vest for your own use? That the thing was a bit irregular never once occurred to William C. Adamson. He went right ahead and picked out a fancy vest by 'phone, just as offhandedly as if he had been ordering a mess of string beans. He did exactly that. And moreover, he wanted the garment rushed to him by special messenger, so that he could put it right on.

"You pick it out," he told the haberdasher. "Just be sure it's a pretty one."

In a little while the vest was delivered. Adamson, looking extremely grave, after an arduous day's committee work on anti-trust and other perplexing problems, opened the package and held the vest up to the light. It was a green plaid vest with a twinkling row of fox-eye buttons.

"'Taint fancy enough," was Adamson's comment, in a disappointed tone.

Bystanders took the part of the vest and insisted that it was fancy—as fancy as a fancy vest could be. Adamson, on their advice, decided to keep it, and put it on. It fitted him—or came as near fitting him as he ever demands of a garment. Still, he was dissatisfied, feeling that it was less fancy than the vest he had pictured when the desire came upon him.

The next day he went to the colored barber's studio down in the basement of the capitol.

"Mistah Adamson, will you will me that there vest?" were the first words of the colored barber.

The words showed unfeigned enthusiasm. From then on Adamson was entirely pleased with his purchase. Every day now he hears it, proudly, vaingloriously, and without shame.

Just a Moment

Daily Strength and Cheer.

Compiled by John G. Quinnus, the Sunshine Man.

Be blameless as the steward of God * * * a lover of hospitality.—Titus i, 8.

Christ's mission was to make known the love of heaven, and to awaken and foster love on earth. He lived to increase the love of man to God and the love of man to man, and nothing which could serve either of these ends was unimportant in His eyes.

A large piece of marble was standing by the roadside at Florence amongst rubbish and covered with dirt, as Michael Angelo was passing by. It had been partly hacked about, but rejected, by some one. He at once noticed it, and his eye saw that it could be made to be of service. He had it brought to his studio, and after much persevering labor, transformed it into one of the finest pieces of workmanship; and it can now be seen at Florence as a representation of David. Christ passes up and down this world; rescues, reforms and helps those who have fallen, and by His grace they are transformed into noble life and manhood.

Without holiness no man shall see the Lord. The Divine Master Himself tells of the impossibility of otherwise entering the fortress of love. He makes holiness an essential condition, so to speak, of abiding within that fortress.—Macduff.

The Possum's Tail.

Louisville Times: Capt. Brinton B. Davis has returned from his annual outing with the Juniper Hunting club on Lake George, Fla., with a batch of anecdotes. Several of them relate to Jim Rogers, an ancient negro survival of "de days befoh de wah," who still holds forth on the Juniper hunting preserve and pilots the Louisville Indians, who otherwise might end up heaven knows where.

Jim went out with Hugh Nevin one day. The two found a peculiar track. Following the line of what were plainly footprints was a small, continuous furrow.

"What kind of track is that, Jim?" asked the puzzled Mr. Nevin.

"Dat's a 'possum track, sah," explained the old negro.

"But how does he make that furrow?"

"He makes dot furrer wid his tail."

"With his tail?"

"Yes, suh. He lets his tail drag."

"Why do you suppose he lets it drag?"

"Ah doan' know, boss. I jes' reckin he doan' pay no 'tention to dat tail. S'pose he thinks it'll come along, anyhow."

Northern Minnesota, Land of Opportunity

Chorus of Minnesota Boosters.

Great Opportunities Here.

Bemidji Pioneer: Rich soil, rich markets, cheap land, game and fish, climatic conditions that make for health and strength and energy—are all to be found in Northern Minnesota. What more ideal combination for the homeseeker can be imagined? Northern Minnesota, yet to be the garden spot of America, today offers the widest opportunity in all the land for the settler who seeks a chance to plant his foot upon the soil and to make a home of prosperous contentment for his family.

Fine for Homeseekers.

Austin Transcript: Minnesota is an attractive place to immigrants seeking new homes, good farming land and prosperous conditions. Of 210 cars of immigrant movables handled by the Minnesota Transfer Railway company during December, Minnesota received 115 cars. This is the ideal state to settle in.

Good Legislation.

La Porte News: A bill has been introduced in the legislature which, if it is passed and becomes a law, will enable a farmer to buy two pounds of dynamite for what he has been paying for one. If a man is a benefactor who can make two blades of grass grow where only one grew before, how much greater is he who makes it possible to clear two acres of ground where only one could have been cleared before? There should be no opposition to such a bill as this.

Boosting Own County.

Nashwauk Herald: We believe that in Northern Minnesota, Itasca county is the richest in soil, markets, cheap land, game and fish, climatic conditions that make for health and strength and energy—all are to be found in Northern Minnesota and Itasca county in particular. What more ideal combination for the homeseeker. Is there any mysterious reason for the rapid growth in population in Itasca county? Decidedly no. Itasca county has everything to offer the homeseeker. The network of fine roads is in itself a powerful magnet that cannot help but draw the homeseeker Itascaward.

Very Foolish, Indeed.

Anoka Herald: The man who sells his farm in this section and goes to the Canadian Northwest is very foolish. An era of rural prosperity is dawning in Minnesota far greater than many anticipate and now is the time to hold fast to what you have and to help make the future big for you. Better roads, rural free delivery, county telephones and the general get-together spirit of the people are helping to bring about this condition.

Beautiful at All Times.

Aurora News: Northern Minnesota is no less beautiful in winter time than in the summer. At this time skating, skiing and many other winter sports open up a world of sport to the outdoor man that will bring health and happiness to anyone. With a little more snow snowshoe trips will open the beauties of the woods to all. Surely there is much more than hunting and fishing to commend the many lakes and streams and the great woods of this section. For a wholesale country where the great outdoors can be enjoyed to the fullest, Northern Minnesota surely is the land of opportunity.

What Mackenzie Did.

Bemidji Sentinel: When W. R. Mackenzie five years ago took on the job of being Northern Minnesota's official dynamo he found ample opportunity for dynamoing, and dynamo he did. For five years W. R. Mackenzie, as secretary of the Northern Minnesota Development association, has talked, written and dreamed of Northern Minnesota; its problems were his problems. He begged, pleaded, played politics, schemed and scolded for Northern Minnesota. He has fought and won big fights. To him, more than any other one man, belong the credit of added representation in the state legislature from this part of the state. He has preached development with a big D and the association will never seem quite the same without him at the throttle. However, when Mr. Mackenzie refused to continue as secretary, the association was indeed fortunate to be able to command the services of George D. McCarthy of Duluth, a former newspaper man and for some time assistant secretary of the Duluth Commercial club. Mr. McCarthy assumed his new duties this week. Mr. McCarthy is well qualified to keep a high voltage throbbing the association on to new victories. With good old Charles T. Kelly of Menahga, president of the association, Frank S. Lycan of this city, vice president, and a bunch of other live wires filling the other offices, Northern Minnesota ought to go ahead by leaps and bounds.

Wa and Ug.

Washington Star: Governor Whitman, at a dinner in New York, praised the New Year resolution habit.

"A good habit," he said, "and a very, very old one. It dates, in fact, from the stone age.

"Dressed in the furs of wild ocasts, two men of the stone age, Wa and Ug, met one New Year morning.

"'Say, Wa,' said the first man, 'lend me your crowbar, will you?'

"'What for, Ug?' asked the second man.

"'I want to go home,' said the first, 'and turn over a new leaf.'"

Wonderful.

Southern Woman's Magazine: Mr. Craig was reading the evening paper, while his wife sat near by, knitting.

"Just listen to this, Debby," he said. "It says here that more than 5,000 elephants a year go to make our piano keys."

"Gracious!" cried the wife. "Ain't it jest wonderful, Dan, what some animals can be trained to do!"

Twenty Years Ago

From The Herald of this date, 1895.

The Republican senatorial caucus at St. Paul showed that Senator Washburn will not be his own successor. His highest vote was on the first ballot, while Governor Nelson steadily gained until on the sixth ballot he led all the candidates. Fearing Nelson's growing strength, the Washburn, Comstock and McCleary men united in voting to adjourn, and at midnight the caucus adjourned sine die. This transfers the fight to the legislature. The last ballot was: Knute Nelson, 60; W. D. Washburn, 55; S. G. Comstock, 14; Charles A. Pillsbury, 2; James T. McCleary, 8; James A. Tawney, 1; necessary to a choice, 72.

A bill introduced in the United States senate, incorporating the Interstate Transportation company, is the first move toward the consummation of James J. What's in a Name?

Los Angeles Times: The chief of the clan McIntosh once had a dispute with a cabman about his fare.

"Do you know who I am?" indignantly exclaimed the Highlander; "I am the McIntosh."

"I don't care if you are the umbrella," replied the cabby. "I'll have my rights."

THE OPEN COURT

(Readers of The Herald are invited to make free use of this column to express their ideas about topics of general interest, but discussions of sectarian religious differences are barred. Letters must not exceed 300 words—the shorter the better. They must be written on one side of the paper only, and they must be accompanied in every case by the name and address of the writer though these need not be published. A signed letter is always more effective, however.)

THE SCHMIDT TRIAL.

To the Editor of The Herald:

Please answer through the Open Court the following:

Picking up an Oakland, Cal., paper some time ago I read there a short notice that Hans Schmidt, alleged murderer of Anna Aumuller, went on trial on Dec. 8 last.

Having failed, however, to see any further accounts of this trial in any of the local papers, or in fact, in any other paper, except the one just mentioned, would like to know the reason why the news of this court proceeding was not published. Is this kind of news not considered "good news" or was there any special reason for withholding this news matter from the public? Thanking you in advance.

ALGOT ENGE.

Duluth, Jan. 18.

The trial was postponed until February. This was stated in The Herald. The news of the court proceedings was not published because there was none to publish. There was no "special reason for withholding this news matter from the public."—The Editor.

AN AMERICAN THEN.

To the Editor of The Herald:

To settle an argument please answer the following questions:

A German coming to this country before he becomes of age takes out his first and second papers, is married and lives here a number of years. If he should return to Germany can he be drafted into the German army? Party here claims there is a treaty to that effect. Yours, etc.,

THE WHEELAGE TAX.

To the Editor of The Herald:

Would you please publish in your Open Court what a wheelage tax on an automobile is. Can one be had for only six months as that is about the length of time that one can use a car? Thanking you very kindly for your information. Yours truly, WM. JONES, 2162 West Second street.

Duluth, Jan. 18.

The wheelage tax is 50 cents per horse power per year. It is not a license fee permitting the owner to operate his car, but a tax and must be paid each year.—The Editor.

WHAT A "CYCLE" IS.

To the Editor of The Herald:

This letter is not intended to solve the problem of four, six, or eight-cent rate light, but after reading some of the articles in which 25 and 60-cycle currents are discussed, I notice that a good many voters not affiliated with the electrical trade, and who do not know what a cycle means, endeavor to explain which is better.

A cycle is the change which the current undergoes in rising from zero to maximum pressure and returning back to zero.

In 25-cycle current this change takes place twenty-five times in one second. In 60-cycle current, sixty times per second.

Now if a slowly varying current be passed through an incandescent lamp, the filament will be seen to vary in brightness, in other words it will flicker, following the change of current. If the alternations (cycles) take place more rapidly, say sixty times per second, the eye cannot follow the variations, and the light will burn or appear to burn steadily.

A 40-cycle current which once was introduced as a compromise between 25 and 60 has been found undesirable, as it was too low for general distribution and too high for conversion into direct current.

The above explanation may enlighten some voters. Very truly yours,

A. HAGEN, Mgr.

THE S. O. S. SIGNAL.

To the Editor of The Herald:

Permit me to say a few words in regard to W. E. Edridge's inquiry in The Herald of Jan. 5, regarding the S. O. S. distress signal.

This signal is entirely confined to wireless telegraphy, and was not intended for any other purpose than for ships in distress. In 1901 the Marconi Wireless company of England issued a bulletin to employes instructing them to use the letters, (C. Q.) for the distress signal. This was, however, thought to be too short for a distress signal so the letter "D" was added. This signal came into public prominence at the wreck of the Republic when Jack Binns made such good use of it.

In 1906 the Marconi Wireless company, Ltd., again changed it, deciding the C. Q. D. could be too easily confused with C. N. D., which means stock and market report. It was accordingly changed to S. O. S., which means Stop other service.

The letters are made in the Continental code. Three dots, three dashes and three dots.

Trusting this may be of interest to Mr. Edridge and others, I am,

Very truly yours,

A. HAGEN, Mgr.,

Marconi Wireless Telegraph company.

OUT OF ORDER.

To the Editor of The Herald:

I have read with interest your Open Court columns since it started, and enjoy it, but am compelled to say this, that either the editor or "Lakesider" of Jan. 12 is "out of order" in using this column for a "want" ad, when there are columns set apart for that purpose.

If "Lakesider" is allowed to do this, all others have the same privilege, and in two weeks we will be reading nothing but advertisements and want ads.

He is using the S. O. S., which is also "out of order." As the S. O. S. question has been up before and no satisfactory answer given, I will answer it. Any one that knows either the Morse or Continental code will see that those letters were adopted because they are easy to make, "S," being three dots (...) and "O," dot, space, dot (. .), so any member of a crew can make it if the operator is suddenly stricken, and means distress—"Stop Other Service." Am an operator and know what I am talking about. Yours truly,

C. L. M.

CRIMINALS AND EDUCATION.

To the Editor of The Herald

1. What per cent of the criminals of the United States cannot read or write?

2. Has education much influence on the increase or decrease of crime?

3. How long must a person be in the United States before he can vote?

Is the length of time the same in all states?

Yours truly, IWANTAKNOW.

Cloquet, Minn., Jan. 18.

1. The Herald has no statistics on the education or lack of it of the criminals of the United States. Your public library doubtless has works on criminology which may tell in a general way what you want to know.

2. Education certainly decreases some kinds of crime. Other crimes, like forgery, can be committed only by educated people.

3. He must be here five years before he can become a citizen. The length of time, of course, is the same in all states. In some states a man may vote after he has taken out his first papers. —The Editor.

VALUE OF OLD COINS.

To the Editor of The Herald:

In answer to the inquiry of Mrs. G. E. Q., R. F. D. No. 4, city, asking what premium is given for her 50-cent piece dated 1824, I wish to inform her that there is a small premium of only 10c for this coin.

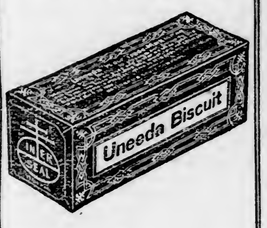

Mrs. J. H. S. of Chisholm asks what premium there is on two old coins, one dated 1834 and the other (a California gold 50-cent piece) dated 1769. She also asks who pays the premiums. The coins are both common ones with coin collectors and demand very small premiums. Yours truly,

D. M. SCHWARTZ.

HEALTH TALKS

William Brady, M.D.

Alcohol and Brighi's Disease

THE majority of instances of Bright's disease are of the latent or insidious, chronic type, accompanied with a persistently high blood pressure and a gradual encroachment of arterio-sclerosis or hardened arteries.

Overwork, over-eating, and the "strenuous" life have been associated with the cause of nephritis or Bright's disease. But by far the most common factor is alcohol.

In itself, alcohol, when swallowed in quantities larger than the body can consume or oxidize—and that means a glass of beer occasionally or a small glass of whisky—is a direct irritant to the lining of the secreting tubules in the kidney. Further, any alcoholic beverage delays and weakens digestion, and a delayed digestion means additional autointoxication from putrefactive changes which the undigested food undergoes in the bowel. And then, the narcotic, or brain dulling influence of an alcoholic drink causes the individual to work on his nerve long after normal fatigue would have led him to leave off and rest, because alcohol benumbs the normal protective sense of fatigue, yet does not actually remove the poisons or toxins which produce the fatigue. Finally, alcohol irritates the lining of the stomach, like red pepper or any condiment, and stimulates an abnormally hearty appetite—an appetite which leads the individual to swallow more food than his system requires or can properly assimilate; and the excess of nutriment thus taken into the stomach simply goes to add to the burden upon the kidneys.

Booze is the greatest common factor of Bright's disease. Beer, wine, whisky, gin, and the worst of these is gin. And beer that won't ferment in your stomach is quite as bad as any other beer. We are heartily in accord with the czar, the kaiser, Thomas A. Edison and W. J. Bryan, Theodore Roosevelt and Elbert Hubbard, Jack London and Billy Sunday—not to mention Sir William Osler too frequently—that it is harder to be sick than sober.

Questions and Answers.

The Home Doctor: Our home doctor doesn't seem to understand our daughter's case. She has—etc.

REPLY.

If the home doctor can't understand it after having personally studied the patient, we could never guess within a thousand miles of the true condition through correspondence.

• • •

For the Future Mother: What book would you recommend as a reliable guide for a prospective mother?

REPLY.

"Care of the Baby," by Dr. J. P. C. Griffith, published by W. B. Saunders company, Philadelphia, Pa.

• • •

Milk or Beer? I am nursing a baby 6 months old, and unless I drink a quart of milk or beer per day there is scant nourishment. Which is better? Won't you tell in one of your talks what to feed a baby after 9 months? Are babies born bow-legged or is it caused by too early standing?

REPLY.

Beer tends to weaken a mother's ability to nurse. Stick to the milk. Babies are born a wee bit bow-legged.

• • •

Enlarged Glands: What harm will tuberculous glands do in a child's neck if untreated? Also what causes an enlarged gland under the ear in a child who had scarlet fever several months ago?

REPLY.

The tuberculous infection might ultimately reach the lungs if the patient is not given good hygienic treatment. Such a gland may be due to a diseased tonsil or bad teeth or chronic trouble in the nose or adenoids, or middle ear infection.

• • •

Carbon Dioxide in the Air: 1. Is carbon dioxide the poisonous exhalation from the lungs which makes unventilated rooms dangerous? 2. Is this gas heavier than air? 3. Would not raising windows from below be better than lowering from the top? 4. Is sleeping with the head near a corner as safe as regards pure air as sleeping with the head in the middle of a room?

REPLY.

1. No. Moisture, warmth and lack of motion in the air are the injurious factors in an unventilated room. The proportion of carbon dioxide in the air has been shown to have no noticeable effect upon health. The other three questions are therefore of no importance.

Dr. Brady will answer questions pertaining to Health. If your question is of general interest it will be answered through these columns; if not it will be answered personally if stamped, addressed envelope is enclosed. Dr. Brady will not prescribe for individual cases or make diagnoses. Address all letters to Dr. William Brady, care of The Herald.

WOULD PROTECT HUNTERS AS WELL AS THE DOES.

To the Editor of The Herald:

During the last deer hunting season there were, I believe, more than 100 killed or wounded by careless hunters or accidental shots. It seems to me that all this could be avoided by proper legislation. I should like to see our lawmakers pass such laws that it would be a misdemeanor for any one to either kill or have in his possession the meat or carcass of a doe, also that no does could be shipped, in other words make the laws that are now applicable to cow-moose apply to does.

Since the laws began to protect the cow moose, the moose have increased. If the same law would apply to does, the deer would not soon become extinct, and the lives of hunters would not be in danger at all times.

If one had to be certain that the object he is about to shoot had horns, or to satisfy himself that it is not a doe, the lives of the real hunter would not be in such danger.

I believe that every true sportsman should take this matter up at this time with our St. Louis county delegation and have such laws enacted. Respectfully yours, J. H. DAVIS.

Duluth, Jan. 17.

THE GREEK CHURCH.

To the Editor of The Herald:

I wish you would answer these few questions in your Open Court. We have a bet on them. What is the difference, if any, between Roman Catholic and Greek Catholic church, and what is the difference between Greek Eastern and Russian church? What is the difference between Roman Catholic and Russian church? Yours thankfully. MARCUS DANCULOVICH.

Duluth, Jan. 18.

Under the name of the Greek church are classed a group of churches which, adhering to the decrees of the first seven ecumenical councils do not acknowledge the bishop of Rome's supremacy. Hardly 2 per cent of these are Greeks or use the Greek language. There are many subdivisions of the Greek church. Any encyclopedia would give Mr. Danculovich a detailed account of these subdivisions, among which are the Greek Eastern and the Russian.—The Editor.

HIS LAST WORD.

To the Editor of The Herald:

Just a few words in answer to Edwin A. Erickson and his Appeal-to-Reason logic, and this confab concerning the Belgians, working man and charity will be laid to rest, so far as I am concerned.

When I wrote the first article in the Open Court about "charity at home and the Belgians," I expected criticism, and indeed I would welcome fair criticism; but when a fellow takes the opposite meaning to everything I say and would have you believe that "I am wrong in the head" it takes the interest out of the argument and leaves only barren regrets.

In his desperate effort to reply to a "nut," he strayed from the original argument and took a personal slap at me, the best evidence in the world that I have him on the run. If it was his sole object, and I think it was, to make little of that which is good and holy (Charity at home and to our neighbors). If he thinks he made a hit with the readers of the Open Court by his stand along this line, his mission went awry by a mile.

What strikes me funny is this. At the fag end of his statement he talks about "Christian Benevolence," and quotes from Abraham Lincoln, who once said, "that all men are equal."

In closing, would say that perhaps we both could profit by the following verse from the poet:

"Many and sharp the numerous ills inwoven with our frame
More pointed still, we make ourselves regret remorse and shame.
And man whose heaven-erected face the smile of love adorns.
Man's inhumanity to man, makes countless thousands mourn."

Yours truly, THURMAN A. DALY.

NOTHING TO SHOW FOR HER MONEY.

To the Editor of The Herald:

I sent to a firm for goods. Since I sent, the firm has gone into the hands of a receiver. They have not sent me my shipment and I want to know if there is any way I can get my money back.

Hoping you will be able to answer my question and thanking you, I am yours truly, TINA ROGERG.

POEMS ASKED FOR.

The Herald acknowledges with thanks the receipt of the following poems: "Flying Cloud," from C. A. Pitman of Hibbing. This poem is rather long to publish, but if the person who asked for it will send his address it will be forwarded.

"Those Wedding Bells Shall Not Ring Out," from C. L. Munson of Grand Marais.

"When the Harvest Moon Is Shining on the River," from Axel Nelson of Barnum.

Requests have been received for the following: "When the Harvest Moon Is Shining on the River," from C. A. Pitman of Hibbing. This has recently been published.

"He Will Strike at Your Back Like a Snake in the Grass," from A. Reader.

"The Old Oak Tree," and "The Fatal Wedding Bells," from Daniel Howe of Upson, Wis.

Rules Not Strict.

To the Editor of The Herald:

Will you tell me, is one poem or song all one person can send in? I sent in two and one was all that has been printed yet. I wanted to send in the one called "The Mother of a Soldier." Yours, MRS. W. D.

Duluth, Jan. 14.

The rules of the Poems Asked For column are not very strict nor well defined. The Editor merely tries to exclude worthless and trashy poems and songs, as far as possible; help Herald readers find as many old favorites as possible, and make the column interesting to the greatest number of people. Original poems are not published, nor are those which may be easily found in any volume of the works of some well known author. He cannot recall now why the other poem sent by Mrs. W. D. was not published, but would be glad to see "The Mother of a Soldier."—The Editor.

Mount Vernon Bells.

Where the Potomac's stream is flowing,
Virginia's borders through,
Where the white sailed ships are sailing,
Sailing to the ocean blue.
Hushed the sound of mirth and singing
Silent everyone,
While the solemn bells are ringing,
By the tomb of Washington.

Chorus:

Tolling and knelling with a sad, sweet sound,
O'er the waves the tones are swelling,
By Mount Vernon's sacred ground.

Long ago the warrior slumbered
Our country's father slept.
Long among the angels numbered,
They the heroes soul have kept,
But the children's children loved him,
And his name revere
So where the willows wave above him,
Sweetly still his name you hear.

Sail, O ship, across the billows
And bear the story far.
How he sleeps beneath the willows,
First in peace and first in war.
'Til where's sweet adieus are swelling
'Till you come again.
He within, the heart is dwelling
Of his loving countrymen.

The society was organized thirty-four years ago and it has done much in helping members and their families in distress.

A public installation of the officers will be held Sunday evening commencing at 7 o'clock, in the Anderson hall. Besides the installation ceremonies, there will be a program of musical numbers and addresses.

WEATHER BOOMS LOGGING.

Lumbermen and Settlers Around Cass Lake Will Greatly Benefit.

Cass Lake, Minn., Jan. 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—The weather for loggers in this vicinity has made conditions ideal compared with a few days ago. Loggers, homesteaders and farmers are busy practically all the time getting their bolts in and the fact that they are being paid for at the rate of $4.25 per cord will make their income amount to considerable when they have their season's cut in. It is estimated that the box factory here will pay out in the neighborhood of $25,000 for bolts within the next few weeks.

NORTH DAKOTAN IS MYSTERIOUSLY SHOT.

Westhope, N. D., Jan. 20.—County officials are at a loss to explain the mysterious shooting of R. G. Hileman. He was sitting near a window of his farm house, when someone shot at him with a shotgun, the pellets entering his head and eye. He will recover, but will lose the sight of one eye. James Halsey, a neighbor, is being held as a suspect, tracks in the snow having been found which led to the Halsey farm.

FIGHT AGAIN ON SUFFRAGE

North Dakota Legislature to Once More Discuss Woman's Suffrage.

New Rockford Working Actively to Have State Capital Removed.

Bismarck, N. D., Jan. 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—Now for the woman's suffrage fight.

With the reintroduction of the concurrent resolution providing for the amendment of the Constitution the fight is formally under way. It gets its start in the senate.

Opponents of the suffrage forces already are active, and have been busy ever since the opening of the assembly, insisting that the proposition should not again be submitted to the people because of the fact that the recent election returned a majority of about 10,000 against extending the franchise to the fair sex. Supporters of the amendment, however, are just as active as their opponents, and there is a fair sized lobby on the ground watching developments.

Capital Removal.

If anybody regards New Rockford's aims at getting the state capital in anything but a serious mood, they have another think coming. G. W. Volbert, secretary of the New Rockford Commercial club, himself a former legislator and one time resident of Bismarck, is in the city looking the field over as regards the possibility of success for the removal resolutions. The removal resolutions will be introduced this week, and New Rockford expects to have quite a delegation here in support of their plan.

There is no real organized opposition to the proposal to establish a new state normal school at Dickinson. In the senate the vote against the new school was very light, and the Dickinson men are hopeful of being able to secure a similar indorsement in the lower house.

Non-Partisan Bill Defeated.

The non-partisan county officers election bill was killed by the house after spirited debate. The measure was supported by several prominent members of the lower body, while Treadwell Twichell led the opposition.

The bill providing that cars used for the transportation of livestock shall be thoroughly disinfected before being so usedwas approved by the house. This is a measure that has the support of Governor Hanna.

An appropriation bill for the state agricultural college has been introduced by Senator W. R. Porterfield, proposing two standing appropriations, one of $12,500 annually, and the other of $13,000 annually. All told, the bill carries approximately $75,000 for the coming two years.

First Bill Passed.

The first bill to be passed by both houses was one introduced by Senator Loftsgard. It provides a penalty for making false bank statements, such penalty not being provided under the present law of the state.

The transfer of Senator H. A. Bronson's employers' liability act from the state affairs to the judiciary committee by the senate keeps that measure alive, after the state affairs committee had agreed to report its indefinite postponement.

The senate committee on Federal relations has favorably reported Senator Englund's resolution in regard to restoring citizenship to former Americans.

Standard Remedy For Many Homes

Indigestion and constipation are two conditions closely related and the cause of much physical suffering.

The tendency to indulge one's appetite is general, so that most people suffer at some time or another from rebellion of the overtaxed organs of digestion and elimination. A simple, pleasantly effective remedy that will quickly relieve the congestion of poisonous waste and restore regularity, is the combination of simple laxative herbs with pepsin, sold in drug stores under the name of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. This is a mild, pleasant laxative-tonic and digestant, absolutely free from opiates or narcotic drugs and has been the standard household remedy in countless homes for many years. A free trial bottle can be obtained by writing to Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 452 Washington St., Monticello, Ills.

MASTER TO HEAR CASES

St. Paul Attorney Will Take Evidence in White Earth Actions.

Title to 1,200 Acres of Land Is Involved in Actions.

George R. O'Reilly, St. Paul attorney, has just been appointed master in chancery to take testimony in the White Earth Indian land cases. He was appointed by Judge Page Morris of the United States district court following his recommendation by C. C. Daniels, special assistant attorney general of the United States, a brother of Josephus Daniels, secretary of the navy, and R. J. Powell, a Minneapolis attorney. It is said that his appointment is satisfactory both to the government and to purchasers of land formerly held by the Indians.

Attorneys Daniels and Powell appeared before Judge Morris and made their recommendations, and Judge Morris ordered the appointment. Mr. O'Reilly was at one time assistant United States attorney for Minnesota, serving between 1894 and 1898.

There are more than 1,200 cases involving titles to lands allotted to Chippewa Indians in Becker, Clearwater and Mahnomen counties, Minnesota. These cases were begun about seven years ago in the United States court at Fergus Falls.

The government is attempting to cancel the conveyance of the land by the Indians to the purchasers claiming that the Indians did not have the right to sell the land and timber. The appointment of Mr. O'Reilly will enable the litigants represented by Powell and Simpson of Minneapolis to have testimony in the cases taken speedily, and will hasten the trial and settlement.

The master in chancery will travel to various parts of the state to hear testimony where it is most convenient to the defendants. It is expected that it will take several years to decide these cases.

If these cases are won by the government the defendants will be dispossessed of the lands and the titles will revert to the United States to be held in trust for the Chippewa Indians. The present possessors of the lands are said to be very eager to have these actions disposed of as they have been unable to sell the lands since the cases were instituted.

Complain Against Doctor.

St. Paul, Minn., Jan. 20.—Complaint has been filed by Dr. H. M. Bracken, secretary of the state board of health, against Dr. George W. Moore of Hopkins for alleged failure to report scarlet fever cases at Eden Valley, Hennepin county. Justice of the Peace Arthur Nash informed Dr. Bracken that Dr. Moore will plead not guilty and stand trial.

RECIPE TO DARKEN GRAY HAIR

By a Specialist.

A very satisfactory preparation which darkens gray hair and acts as a corrective agent for dandruff and other diseases of the scalp can be made at small expense and in your own home by dissolving a small box of Barbo Compound in 7 ounces of water and then adding an ounce of bay rum and a quarter ounce of glycerine. Any drug store can furnish these ingredients. This is to be applied once a week until the hair is sufficiently darkened, then every two weeks to keep the hair soft and glossy and the scalp in a healthy condition. It may be used with equal success in darkening the beard. This is a preparation that gives splendid results, both as a hair darkener and a remedy for all scalp disorders, and is well worthy of a trial. You will find it far superior to the ordinary store preparations and much less expensive.

CHILD HIT BY STREET CAR

On his way to kindergarten at the Endion school early this afternoon, Wallace Anderson, aged 6, son of Mr. and Mrs. Julius Anderson, 2124 Piedmont avenue, was struck by a Piedmont avenue car and seriously, perhaps fatally, injured.

Wallace attempted to cross the street near Twenty-fourth avenue west and Tenth street, not seeing the car until it was too late. He was thrown under the wheels, the left leg being so badly crushed that immediate amputation was necessary.

Physicians in attendance at St. Luke's hospital, where he was taken by the police, did not attempt any further examination before the operation, and the full extent of his injuries were not known.

LINDBERGH "ROASTS" THE "MONEY TRUST"

Gets Time to Answer Some Criticisms Made Against Him.

From The Herald Washington Bureau.

Washington, Jan. 20.—Representative Lindbergh today secured time in which to answer some of the criticisms that have been made of him since he introduced a resolution providing for an investigation of the Federal reserve system. What he said today was only a synopsis of matter that he got permission to insert in the Congressional Record.

Mr. Lindbergh inveighed against the "money trust," declaring that it used the $19,000,000,000 of deposits made by the common people as capital for speculation. He also asserted that the "interests" were given a preference over the plain people in borrowing from the banks and that the money trust forced the passage of the Federal reserve act in order that it might have a legal monopoly of the handling of the country's finances.

DEPUTY SHERIFFS TO BE ARRESTED

Warrants Issued for Those Who Wounded Strikers at Roosevelt.

Roosevelt, N. J., Jan. 20.—Mayor Joseph A. Hermann announced today that warrants had been issued for the arrest of twenty-two deputy sheriffs involved in the shooting yesterday of nineteen striking laborers at the Liebig plant of the American Agricultural company. They would be charged with manslaughter, he said.

The men, he added, would be arraigned this afternoon before Justice Sedon at New Brunswick, county seat of Middlesex county. The warrants had been issued at the instance of the county prosecutor, W. E. Florance.

Mayor Hermann declared he was going to force the settlement of the trouble between the strikers and their employers to an issue. He said he had been asked by a committee of strikers to intervene with their employers for an adjustment of their differences through arbitration.

"I had 150 of the strikers searched for arms directly after the shooting," he declared, "and not a single weapon was found on any of them."

The Federal commission on industrial relations, now holding hearings in New York city, began today an inquiry into the shooting here yesterday of nineteen striking laborers, by deputy sheriffs guarding the Liebig chemical plant of the American Agricultural Chemical company. Acting upon telegraphic orders from Frank P. Walsh, chairman of the commission, Patrick F. Gill, an investigator, reached here today from Washington and began to examine witnesses.

WILL PROBABLY END ALL TROUBLE

Defendants in Prairie Creek Conspiracy Cases Plead Guilty.

Fort Smith, Ark., Jan. 20.—Seven defendants in the Prairie Creek coal mine conspiracy cases pleaded guilty when they appeared for trial in the Federal court here today. Among those who entered the plea were Peter R. Stewart of McAlester, former president of the United Mine Workers of America, district No. 21, and Fred W. Holt, McAlester, former secretary of the district, union.

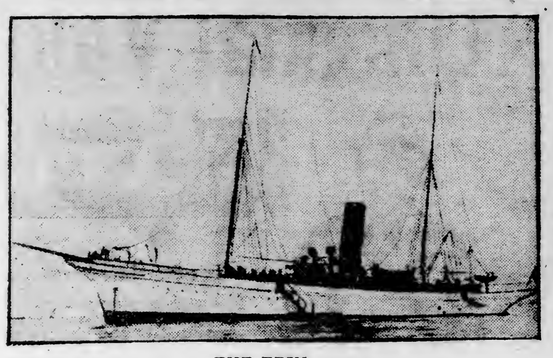

The others were James B. McNamara, former member of the city council of Hartford, Ark.; James Slankard, a former constable of Hartford township, and Clint Burris, Sandy Robinson and John Maulck, miners. All of the men were charged with conspiracy against the government. They will be sentenced this afternoon.

The government dismissed the cases of W. W. Roberts, former manager of a telephone company at Mansfield, Ark., and eleven other defendants. The case of John Edwards, a merchant of Hartford, Ark., was also dismissed.

It had been expected the trial would last several weeks.

Today's action probably brings to an end the trouble in the Prairie Creek mining district.

DEMOCRATS TO MEET FILIBUSTER

Plan to Keep Shipping Bill Before Senate Without Recess.

Washington, Jan. 20.—Senate Democrats planned today to meet the Republican filibuster on the shipping bill by keeping the measure continuously before the senate, without recesses for meals, and excluding appropriation bills.

Senator Burton began the third day of his speech against the bill. The Republican senators plan to prolong the discussion eight or nine days and then offer a substitute requiring further debate.

Democrats of the commerce committee today considered amendments submitted by the caucus Monday night. Another caucus will consider them tonight.

While Senator Burton was speaking, the $34,000,000 rivers and harbors appropriation bill entered the senate from the house and it was referred to the commerce committee.

At lunch time Senator Burton gave no evidences of resting. He consulted a moment with Senator Smoot and a few minutes later the Utah senator placed a glass containing a raw egg on Senator Burton's desk. While Senator Sutherland was asking a question, Senator Burton drank the egg and a second one, and went on with his speech.

STUDENT CAMPAIGNING THROUGH NORTH CHINA

The recent remarkably successful evangelistic tour through North China by Sherwood Eddy, the International Y. M. C. A. secretary for Asia, was preceded by careful and scientific preparation. Dr. Arthur H. Smith, the famous authority on China who has represented the American board in Pekin for forty-two years, has sent home a graphic story of the doings before and during the meetings, and some of Mr. Eddy's own letters add details to the account.

The executive committee responsible for all the plans in Pekin was made up of two men, one foreign and one Chinese, from each of five missions, with Bishop Norris of the Anglican mission cordially co-operating. Late last spring seventy-five men were secured from mission schools and colleges, to be trained as teachers for prospective Bible classes. These were organized into fifteen normal classes, and the fifteen class leaders each received a weekly lesson from Dr. Chang, Y. M. C. A. secretary. Meetings were to begin in September. In the meantime a study of Pekin had been made. The situation of the most important institutions, educational, governmental, mercantile, military and police, were all marked and numbered on a large map of the city. A book of fifteen pages was printed in Chinese, detailing the plans, and 3,000 copies were distributed to Chinese Christians while English copies were given the missions, so that everybody knew of the arrangements. Twenty editors of leading papers met at the Y. M. C. A., approved of the plans and gave advertising space free of charge and inserted also news articles about the affair.

When the board of the interior was asked for permission to put up a mat shed—or temporary building—for the meetings, it offered a location just inside the Forbidden City, next to the Central gate, something that could never have been expected, but which could not have been bettered. The war board loaned 200 tents to cover the top of the building in case of rain; the electric light company put in the fittings for Mr. Robertson's lectures for a very small sum; the Chinese workmen gave half rates; the board of police sent special guards for the hall, and a fire brigade with hose-cart and equipment encamped near the building during the meetings.

The president and vice president both granted interviews to Mr. Eddy, which in the minds of the Chinese gave official sanction to the meetings; the minister of education gave a holiday to all students who wished to attend the opening service. During the Pekin campaign Mr. Eddy addressed, according to the records kept, 20,023 persons; 2,205 joined Bible study classes and 104 others decided to declare themselves Christians. Of those recorded as inquirers, 41 are officials, 504 older students, 548 boys, 150 merchants, 31 military and police and 643 miscellaneous.

Mr. Eddy's own letters give picturesque details of his meetings in three great cities in the Yangtze valley. In Wuchang, in spite of pouring rain for the two or three days, about 5,000 men attended the meetings, 2,000 staying to the after service and 400 joining Bible classes. A year ago Wuchang refused permission "even to look into the great Heroes' Temple of the city." This year the meetings were held in that very temple, and the governor put up at his own expense a large pavilion with seats, installed electric lights and telephone service, and served tea for all guests.

At Soochow, the old walled city where Chinese Gordon fought in the days of the Tai Ping rebellion, a great tent in the central square sheltered the crowds. One meeting here was attended by 1,000 women students. Mrs. Eddy has been addressing the women in various cities, but this number was notable.

In Hangchow, the Southern center of conservatism and culture, Mr. Eddy spoke in the modern theater, whose Confucian owners canceled an important theatrical engagement and gave the use of the building free of charge for three days. Four thousand students attended, as well as officials and leaders of trade. The young governor of this province—only 35 years of age—with his young secretary of state, has fought opium till now the province is absolutely clear of it. The governor has given two and a half acres of land in the heart of the Manchu city for the site of a Y. M. C. A. building, and on the Sunday following the Eddy lectures the secretary of state publicly professed Christianity and was baptized.

EASILY EXPLAINED.

Philadelphia Telegraph: The conversation in the lobby of a Washington hotel the other evening turned to the wonderful luck that some people have at cards, when Congressman Rufus Hardy of Texas was reminded of a little incident along that line.

Among the guests at a social affair one night was a man of well known sporting proclivity. He not only liked a quiet little game of poker, but was also known to take an occasional fling at the ponies.

"Yes," said the man in answer to a question, "I must admit that I am rather lucky at poker, but when I bet on a race it is usually a case of kissing good-by to the coin."

"That seems very strange, Mr. Brown," said a young woman. "Why is it that you win at poker and yet lose in betting on the horses."

"That's an easy one, Miss Smith," was the smiling rejoinder of Brown, "I don't shuffle the horses."

Mr. Manufacturer, you cannot escape the fact that your expense for power is greater than it should be. Your private power plant cannot help but be inefficient—no matter how good it is. It is wasting money every day. Central Station Service is the only logical power service for you to use. You will eliminate depreciation and interest charges, fire and explosion hazards, waste of power and of valuable floor space—all of the needlessly expensive features of private plant operation.

Central Station Service Will Carry the Burden

Once you have installed Central Station Service, your business efficiency is bound to increase. We can prove conclusively, by comparison of facts and figures, that Central Station Service is cheaper and more efficient than private plant power for you. A telephone call will place one of our engineers at your service. You assume no obligation whatever. Why not communicate with us today?

PRISONERS' EMPLOYMENT

Senator Baldwin Has Bill for Using Them on Road Work.

Official County Option Measure Introduced in the Senate.

By a Staff Correspondent.

St. Paul, Minn., Jan. 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—Senator John H. Baldwin of Frazee this morning introduced in the senate a bill proposing to employ prisoners at the Stillwater penitentiary and St. Cloud reformatory on road work, the reformatory men to be kept at crushing rock, and the penitentiary men to be put at road work in the open and on honor. The bill provides that only men not occupied in the prison industries shall be used for this purpose, and that 25 cents a day for each man's expenses shall be paid by the prison, and the rest out of the road fund.

Senator Baldwin has given much study to this subject, has examined carefully the laws of various states and has taken the best from each, modeling his bill mainly on the Washington law.

County Option Law.

The official county option bill reached the senate this morning, being introduced by Senator Peterson of Moorhead, and it will be taken up by the senate temperance committee tomorrow afternoon and probably reported out promptly. It provides that on petition of 25 per cent of the voters of any county a county license election shall be held, and if a majority of the voters declare against license, the county shall go dry; while if a majority declare for license, the units within the county that are dry will stay dry. Elections cannot be held oftener than every three years.

Representative Christianson of Dawson, as a measure of protection to the pay envelope of the workingmen, offered a bill prohibiting saloons from cashing bank checks or time checks.

State Arbitration Boards.

Representative Knute Knutson offered a bill providing for a state system of arbitration by boards of conciliation and investigation. Wherever strikes threaten, three commissioners are to be chosen by the parties and appointed by the governor, and are to attempt to settle the trouble. Strikes or lockouts pending investigations are made illegal.

Other bills: Senator Buckler, repealing the mortgage registry tax law; Senator Carley, appropriating $10,000 to pay traveling expenses of district judges; Senator Dunn authorizing first-class cities to have municipal forests; Senator Ward, providing for state regulation of fire insurance rates and rate-making and prohibiting discrimination; Senator Handlan, repealing all laws providing for civil service systems in all first-class cities, including Duluth; Senator E. P. Peterson, requiring cars for transporting live stock to be kept sanitary; Representative Larson, increasing the penalties for Sabbath-breaking to a minimum fine of $10 or minimum jail sentence of two days; Representatives Malmberg and Lydiard, appropriating $36,000 for the Minnesota exhibit at the San Francisco exposition; Representative Lydiard, providing for inspection of steam boilers, engines and vessels and licensing of engineers, masters and pilots; Representative Greene, providing for state licensing of insurance agents; Representative Gullford, restoring the old September primary election date; Representative Greene, giving preference in public employment to veterans of Spanish and Philippine wars and Chinese relief expedition; Representative Larson, requiring the Australian ballot system in all villages of more than 1,800; Representative Novak, requiring that temporary floorings be carried up in all high buildings to protect workers.

HANDMAIDS WOULD RECOVER $2,076

Action on Trial Charges Log Company With Non-Payment.

An action begun by the Poor Handmaids of Jesus Christ against the Duluth Log company, in which the plaintiff seeks $2,076 for hospital tickets alleged to have been furnished to the defendant for its employes, is on trial before Judge Page Morris and a Federal jury today. It is probable that the trial will occupy the court for the remainder of today and tomorrow.

The Poor Handmaids allege in their complaint that they operate St. Mary's hospital in Superior, Wis., and that an agent for the Duluth Log company made arrangements with the hospital authorities for tickets to insure hospital services for its employes in 1911, for which payment is still due. The defendant enters a denial of all charges.

Arnold & Arnold are appearing for the plaintiff in the trial, and Baldwin, Baldwin & Holmes and Benjamin M. Goldberg for the defendant.

RETURNING WITH THEIR PRISONERS

A dispatch from Reno, Nev., to The Herald today states that John R. Meining, St. Louis county sheriff, and Mason M. Forbes first assistant county attorney, have taken Christian P. Koch, arrested at Tonopah, Nev., for the St. Louis county authorities, under extradition proceedings and are en route to Duluth with their prisoner.

Koch is wanted in Duluth on a charge of defrauding the Duluth & Iron Range Railroad company out of $1,000. He is alleged to have faked an injury and collected this amount from the company in a settlement. Railroad detectives trailed him from Duluth to Michigan and from there to Nevada, where he was arrested.

Koch, after being placed under arrest, declared that he would not return to Duluth without extradition papers. First Assistant County Attorney Forbes secured requisition papers from Governor Hammond upon the governor of Nevada and it is understood that the Nevada executive granted the extradition process and that Koch is on his way back to Duluth.

Another Sewer Contract.

Another contract for the construction of sewer in order to provide employment for the unemployed will be let this afternoon at the meeting of the city commission. The sewer job will be constructed between B and D streets and from there to the bay front. The city has several such jobs now under construction and has given employment to about 300 men. Yesterday work was started on clearing the Stinson tract, where twenty-five married men were put to work. It is expected that at least 75 more will be added to this force before Saturday.

Burglar Escapes.

A burglar attempted to break open the safe of S. S. Kresge's store at Eleventh street and Tower avenue early last evening. He was discovered in the act by Thomas C. McDonald, manager of the place, and frightened away. The man was crouching before the safe when the manager saw him. He made his escape by jumping through a rear window. The police were notified, but have no description of the man.

The annual poultry show of the Douglas Poultry association has attracted a large number of exhibitors. The total registration yesterday numbered 450 birds. A large crowd attended the opening day of the exposition yesterday.

INVESTIGATION OF ALL DEPARTMENTS

Assemblyman Johnson Introduces Resolution in Wisconsin Legislature.

Madison, Wis., Jan. 20.—An attempt to force an immediate investigation of the departments, boards and commissions, provided in a resolution introduced by Assemblyman Axel Johnson was temporarily frustrated today in the assembly when Assemblyman Hansen of Manitowoc objected to its immediate consideration and Assemblyman Hambrecht argued that the resolution should lie over for a few days to give members an opportunity to consider the problem. Johnson finally consented.

A resolution to prohibit further distribution of the report of the vice commission on the ground that it contained immoral statements was introduced by Assemblyman Donnelly, Milwaukee, and went to the committee on revision.

A bill by Assemblyman Beckwith provides for the repeal of the county board of education law and another providing that counties outside of Milwaukee may adopt the commission form of government at their option.

Repeal of the "Mary Ann" or second choice law, is provided for in a bill by Hambrecht.

Action on the appointment of Carl D. Jackson of Oshkosh, as railroad commissioner, was deferred until next Tuesday.

MEXICAN AFFAIRS SOMEWHAT MIXED

State Department Has Heard Nothing From South for Two Days.

Washington, Jan. 20. — Secretary Bryan said today the state department had been without information for two days from Mexico City. He described the situation as "somewhat mixed."

The flight of Gen. Gutierrez from Mexico City has necessitated a quick change in the plans of Gen. Villa. The expected attack on Tampico, it is now believed, will be delayed. A general withdrawal of Villa garrisons from Southern Mexico is thought to be in prospect.

Enrique C. Llorente, Washington representative of Villa, denied there was any intention of setting up a new republic in the north.

Obregon Near Capital.

Washington, Jan. 20.—The Carranza agency here today issued the following statement:

"Vera Cruz reports that Gen. Obregon with a large force is within a short distance of the capital and is expected to occupy the place almost immediately."

Efforts are being made to increase the tobacco industry in Ireland, the soil of which is said to be suitable for raising almost all varieties of leaf.

PAYS HIGH TRIBUTE TO THE LIFE SAVERS

Representative Miller Urges Passage of Coast Guard Service Bill.

From The Herald Washington Bureau.

Washington, Jan. 20.—Representative Miller today paid a tribute to the men in the life-saving service on the Great Lakes and urged the house to pass the bill for the creation of a coast guard service, of which the life-saving service would be a part.

"These men brave death in their efforts to save human lives," said Mr. Miller. "They are exposed to the elements necessarily in following their calling and are engaged in an occupation that is fully as hazardous as military or naval service. This bill provides for their retirement after long service with a proportion of the pay they are drawing and the Federal government should give them at least that much reward for their heroism and faithful attention to duty."

To Stop Falling Hair

Falling hair—the forerunner of baldness—is nearly always due to the presence of a parasite known as the dandruff germ. If your hair falls out, the chances are ten to one that the dandruff germ is the cause of it, and you cannot do better than to get your druggist to make you up a bottle of the old reliable formula, consisting of 6 oz. Bay Rum, 2 oz. Lavona de Composee, and ½ dram Menthol Crystals. Apply night and morning, rubbing briskly into the scalp with the finger tips. This preparation, which enjoys a world-wide reputation as a hair grower and dandruff destroyer, is claimed by many to restore gray hair to its original color as well as making the hair grow, and destroying the dandruff germ.

J. OLDHAM PUTS MILLER OUT OF MINNEAPOLIS EVENT

H. S. McGregor Defeats Ralph Bradley in St. Paul Jobbers Event.

Brewers-Whytes, Zauft and John McLeod Also Win.

Duluth rinks made a good showing in the morning draw. One of the features of play, looking at the result strictly from the Duluth viewpoint, was the defeat of the fast-going Bobby Miller rink by Johnny Oldham's crew. This occurred in the Minneapolis Curling club event, and Johnny took the Superior youngster over the coals to a 10-to-5 defeat.

One of the surprises of the day was the defeat of Ralph Bradley's rink in the St. Paul Jobbers event by H. S. McGregor of Duluth. McGregor curled a great game. Bradley made a great rally in the last two heads, laying four, but could not overcome the long lead.

In the same event the Brewer-Whytes got going late in the game, after Alec Graham had laid a five end, and defeated the other Duluthian by the score of 12 to 9.

There were several forfeitures in the Western Curling club event. Ron McLeod of Duluth put the rollers under Hoople of Minneapolis by a large margin score, and McGregor's Butte rink advanced in the same event. E. J. Zauft of West Duluth continued his fine play of the last two days by defeating Billy Stewart of St. Paul, one of the crack skips of the bonspiel, in the same event.

One of the features of the St. Paul Jobbers' event is the fact that Campbell of Eveleth is still in the running. During this spiel the showing of the range rinks has been both a surprise and gratification, and Campbell has played one of the strongest games of the range curlers.

Following are the results of the 9 o'clock draw:

FEDERALS OPEN GUNS

Present Case Against Organized Baseball to U. S. Court.

Chief Point of Attack Is Power of National Commission.

Chicago, Jan. 20.—Before a crowd of baseball fans that filled the United States district court and spread over the wide corridors and balconies outside, the Federal league today opened its anti-trust suit against the three highest bodies of organized baseball.

The principal point of attack in the opening address of Keene H. Addington was the power of the national commission, which the Federal league attorney described as the judicial, executive and legislative. The rules of the national agreement, under which the American and National leagues and the national commission maintain relations with the minor leagues were cited to show the extent of that power.

Some of the most widely-known leaders of the game were among the spectators as possible witnesses. Grouped about the table of counsel for the defendant were the three members of the national commission, Herrmann, Tener and Johnson. Near by were club owners in both major and minor leagues, managers and players.

At the table of the Federal league lawyers were President Gilmore, Charles Weegham and others.

Differences among their employers were not allowed to influence the friendship of the players, for Manager Bresnahan of the Cubs and Manager Tinker of the local Federal league club conversed amicably.

Both sides waived the technical question of jurisdiction raised by Judge Landis, and counsel for both parties declared their willingness to stand on their written appearances.

Addington declared the national agreement provided a series of weapons for use against the "enemies of organized baseball," among whom it placed, he read, any persons who went against its rules.

The first weapon, he said, was the national agreement itself, used to keep in line the parties to it; the second was the rule regarding territorial rights, which was intended mainly for the use against those, enemies operating from within, though it was used also against the Federal league; the third was found in the rules regarding contracts; the fourth in the alleged "black list;" and the fifth styling as "outlaws" and "contract jumpers" its opponents.

The national agreement's rule that it is indissoluble except by unanimous vote, admits of but three fair deductions, according to Addington: First, that it provides against competition from within; second, that players may be held as they come and go, and third, that the supply of players may be controlled.

Because the agreement gives the national commission the right to penalize violators of its rules; gives it the power to change or add rules, and also the right to judge differences between clubs and players, or leagues, Addington declared it possessed legislative, judicial and executive functions.

Chicago, Jan. 20.—One of the points in the defense of organized baseball in the anti-trust suit brought against it by the Federal league, which will be heard today, will be based on section 6 of the Clayton act, recently passed by congress, according to a report current here last night. The section which the attorneys for the defense are expected to cite reads:

"That the labor of a human being is not a commodity or article of commerce."

The Federal league's bill of complaint asks that organized baseball be declared a trust in restraint of trade and commerce. It was said last night that attorneys for the defendants would contend that as organized baseball deals in labor, it cannot be said to violate the law. It was said last night that more affidavits would be filed before the opening of the case.

The additional testimony to be presented probably will be verbal. President Tener of the National league is among those likely to take the witness stand. It was generally predicted that Judge Landis, before whom the case will be heard, and who is widely known as a baseball enthusiast, will use his knowledge of the game in questioning witnesses.

The argument for organized baseball will be presented by George Wharton Pepper of Philadelphia, counsel for the National league. He is expected to take most of the day in presenting their side of the case. He will be aided by Samuel L. Clement, also of Philadelphia.

The contention will be made that baseball is not interstate commerce and that the organization is not subject to the Federal law.

Every defendant club president and the presidents of two defendant leagues will be in court.

PRINCETON'S NEW FOOTBALL COACH

Athletic Director of Cleveland University School Is Elected.

Princeton, N. J., Jan. 20.—John J. Rush, director of athletics at the University school, Cleveland, Ohio, was chosen head coach for the Princeton football team at a meeting of the board of athletic control here yesterday. He graduated from Princeton in 1898 but did not play football. He held the Princeton record for the 100-yard dash.

The football schedule, as approved by the board, contains eight games. Georgetown is the only new game and Bucknell is dropped. The schedule follows: Sept. 23, Georgetown; Oct. 2, Rutgers; Oct. 9, Syracuse; Oct. 16, Lafayette; Oct. 23, Dartmouth; Oct. 30, Williams; Nov. 6, Harvard; Nov. 13, Yale at New Haven.

All games with the exception of the Yale contest will be played at Princeton.

SCOTTISH RITE MEN BEAT SHRINERS.

The Scottish Rite indoor baseball team last evening defeated the Shriners by the score of 24 to 19. Anderson and Frederickson were the batteries for the winners, while Dr. Coventry and Pond did the work for the fez wearers. On Saturday evening the Ionic and Palestine teams will clash.

SHORT.

New York Tribune: Roger W. Babson, a business statistician of Boston, said to a reporter:

"This war is going to lower prices: Our market will be glutted with grain, shoes and so forth. Thus prices will come down. And they who now boost prices are as short on honesty as Stubbs was short on stature.

"Stubbs, a lawyer, was pleading in a strange court, and so short was he that when he began his opening speech the judge said to him:

"'Stand up, please, Mr. Stubbs.'

"'I am standing up, Your Honor.'

"Then stand on a chair.'

"'Your Honor, I am standing on a chair.'"

FOOD UNDER MICROSCOPE.

Los Angeles Times: In starchy substances the adulterations will soon be revealed by the microscope if the grains of starch do not have the self-same form in the potato and in rice. The same thing may be said of the spices. Pepper can be adulterated only with peas or ground beans, and this fraud also may be readily detected. The rule may be almost universally applied to all foods that pass through the kitchen, and especially the kitchens of the wealthy. Coffee under the microscope does not look like chicory in structure, and chocolate made with peanuts does not look like pure chocolate.

OUR MONEYPLANT BEST

U. S. Leads World in Equipment of Bureau of Engraving.

Chicago News: Washington—Uncle Sam's great money factory is one of the wonderful sights of the world. Housed in a grand new building 580 feet long and with four wings, each 285 feet deep, it takes 32,840 panes of glass to admit light to its four stories. The structure of the bureau of engraving and printing is built of Indiana limestone and it presents to the Shining Potomac, which it faces, a row of columns on the front as imposing as those on the east side of the treasury.

This probably is the finest manufacturing plant in the world in point of scientific equipment to conserve the health and comfort of its inhabitants. The chiefs of divisions say that the records show 80 per cent less sickness in the new than in the old building. The whole plant is virtually the creation of Director Joseph E. Ralph, who was determined that in the equipment and operation of the bureau of engraving and printing the United States should lead the world in welfare work.

The bureau is just south of the old one, looking directly upon the tidal basin in the rear of the Washington monument and surrounded in part by a beautiful park.

Director Buys Up Supplies.

The European war hit the bureau of engraving and printing as hard as any other American establishment. Its normal output of bank notes was 40,000 sheets a day and it is now turning out 300,000 sheets of four notes to the sheet. In addition to this currency its normal output of silver certificates and gold notes was 225,000. It is now printing 310,000. The moment war was declared Director Ralph jumped to New York, Philadelphia and other places and bought up all the imported dyes in the country suitable for use in coloring inks.

These included Prussian blue, lake red, ultramarine blue, Chinese blue and other stuffs of the kind and the bureau is equipped with a seven months' supply. He also cleaned out the market in Sheffield steel, which must be imported from England to make the costly dies from which the money and stamps of the people are printed. The director has introduced in the bureau the use of cyanide of potassium for hardening this steel; as this comes from Germany he laid in a stock of fifteen tons, or enough to poison all the armies of Europe.

When the war broke out the treasury department had on hand $524,000,000 in emergency currency. When it was decided to make use of this money, the bureau was ordered to print $475,000,000 more and more than $352,000,000 of this wealth has been delivered to Secretary McAdoo. The proposed war revenue law will make another heavy demand upon the bureau; but this has been anticipated and Director Ralph views the future with complacency. The employes are working from twelve to fifteen hours a day during this rush and are doing all this extra work willingly and in a patriotic spirit.

Congress recently enacted an eight-hour law for the District of Columbia, and some persons have attempted to enforce it in the bureau of engraving and printing, and even have threatened Director Ralph with arrest.

Explains Working Hours.

"Our regular working hours are seven a day in normal time. I can easily make them eight, as the law contemplates," he remarked grimly when the question of the eight-hour day was put up to him from the outside. "As a matter of fact, it is impossible for the bureau to get enough skilled workers to turn out all the currency the country needs in the present emergency, and if the eight-hour law were enforced a panic might follow.

"In the banknote section, for example, where six machines are enough to keep the banks supplied in normal times, sixteen are now running. All the machinery in the building used in making money is being operated twenty-four hours a day, the men working in eight-hour shifts."

A busy newspaper man rushing through this mammoth money plant on a hurried day can comprehend little of its manifold activities. In fact, if the visitors should start in the basement of the northern end of the building and go over every corridor and room to its center, he would travel four and one-half miles before his trip was ended and cover twelve acres. Every minute 485,000 feet of fresh air is being pumped into the working rooms.

The building is liberally equipped with sanitary drinking fountains, in which distilled water is flowing. This water is obtained at little or no extra expense in connection with the engine room, and is used also to wash and cool the air sent up to the workers by the enormous fan in the basement.

Mirrors Aid Watch on Vaults.

The place is full of wonders. A steel door weighing twenty-five tons gives entrance to the vault where the finished currency is stored. A clever arrangement of mirrors enables the watchmen to look all about the vault from one position. The normal reserve supply of United States paper currency kept on hand all the time is one and one half billion dollars.

All the waste paper which gathers in the various rooms is taken to the basement and sorted, even down to the most minute piece, by hand. It is a habit of the director occasionally to throw a few notes or postage stamps into the waste, making a record of them at the time. They always have come back to him from the sorting room.

There are 62,700 postoffices in the United States and it required twelve billion postage stamps to supply them last year. At his own request Director Ralph was checked up on this stupendous output and every stamp was accounted for. A new machine for printing postage stamps, so novel that it was built in secret, has been installed. It displaces twenty-one operations formerly performed by hand. It takes a roll of paper and turns out the gummed stamps dry and ready for use. This marvelous device, the invention of Director Ralph and B. R. Stickney, the mechanical expert of the bureau, will save the government $240,000 a year. The building cost about two and one-half million dollars and the economies effected by Director Ralph will turn this money back to the government, as a saving, in about two years.

Many Reforms Installed.

Many of the economies were started in the old building, the most noteworthy being the substitution of power for hand presses in the printing of the backs of notes and certificates. The annual saving is estimated at $450,000 a year. The installation of machines for laundering money is saving more than $408,000 a year and the use of power presses upon revenue stamps is saving $97,000 per annum additional.

Even so humble an item as the substitution of a new solution in washing printers' wiping cloths, resulting in prolonged life to the clothes, is saving Uncle Sam at the rate of $6,500 a year. This is $500 more than the salary paid Director Ralph, which so far the Democratic administration has failed to increase. The total savings to the government in the administration of the bureau of engraving and printing from March, 1909, when Mr. Ralph took charge, to February 18, 1914, reached the sum of $3,143,970.36. Annual savings in effect and contemplated make an estimated aggregate of $1,785,781.

"I can't leave it, I simply can't," says Director Ralph when his friends point out to him that he could easily treble his income by leaving the government service. "It's my life work; and, besides, there are some other things I want to do."

Even a thumbnail sketch of the bureau of engraving and printing should include mention of the co-operative lunchroom. The kitchen and lunchrooms, accommodating fifteen hundred persons were fitted up in part by the government. The employes subscribed $3,000 of their own money and completed the equipment, hiring a skilled manager at $175 a month to run the business. For 15 cents each employe can buy a luncheon or dinner that would cost 50 cents in many places uptown. The restaurant is making money so fast that in six months its backers will have their capital returned and they talk of reducing the price of food about 20 per cent—that is, they would charge 4 cents for a plate of ice cream, where the charge is now five cents.

Recreation On the Roofs.

Not only is the inner man nourished to the best advantage, but the spirits of the workers are conserved otherwise. Two of the great roofs are given over to them for recreation purposes, one for men and the other for the women. The roofs are covered and a phonograph is installed on each, where it makes merry at noon hour. In fact, there are several of these machines in the recreation rooms of the various divisions.

A hospital equipped for surgical operations and physician of each sex are provided. The hospital treats about forty-five patients a day for accidents and illness, but many of these troubles are of a minor character. As more than 4,000 men and women are employed in the building, some of them working nights, about 1 per cent only require medical attention.

Director Ralph is a great mechanic and machinist, a stern disciplinarian, a remarkable accountant and a competent general manager. He is adored by his subordinates and has the respect of every man and woman under him.

NEW YORKER SHOOTS POLAR BEAR.

Wide World Magazine: The shooting of the first polar bear was delegated to S. Osgood Pell of New York, a privilege of no secondary kind in a party of rather keen sporting appetites. It was midnight—the transparent gauze of a half darkness. A sailor called our attention to a blot of white moving cautiously toward the ship, and in a few minutes the ungraceful hulk of a polar bear was plainly visible, ambling along faster and faster. When within 100 yards he uttered an angry growl and raced toward us, with the manifest intention of clearing the "Neptune" and her passengers off the map of the Arctic. Mr. Pell's first shot hit him in the shoulder and tumbled him off the "pan" into the water. He attempted to dive, but rifle after rifle took a line on him and landed four or five shots before he gave up the fight. We lowered a small boat, photographed Mr. Pell and his bear, and brought the first real trophy proudly aboard.

GETTING A "THRILL" IN FORMOSA.

Wide World Magazine: The traveler who is tired of conventional journeys and who is anxious to visit an "unspoilt" country where he can enjoy the comforts of civilization and at the same time taste some of the thrills and excitement attendant upon encounters with unsubdued savage tribes should certainly make a trip to Formosa, that wonderful island lying off the coast of China which passed into the possession of Japan in 1895.

Here, along the eastern coast, he will find prosperous towns, with fine harbors and wharves, spacious streets and magnificent residences, schools and churches, electric light and ample water supply—all the luxuries, in fact, of a European city. He can journey comfortably by train from one place to another, passing through vast tea-gardens and rice-fields. Everything is civilized, orderly and safe. Yet only a few miles inland, among the mountains and forests, dwell fierce, unconquered tribes, whose chief aim and ambition in life is to gather human heads.

WHERE JERRY WAS JUSTIFIED.

Philadelphia Telegraph: "Reminds me of a friend of mine named Jerry," smilingly remarked Attorney General Thomas F. Carmody of New York state at a recent banquet when reference was made to certain things that would seem to justify father in making a few cussful remarks.

"Last August Jerry and his good little wife spent a week-end with relatives in the mosquito zone of Jersey, and after a delightful evening, which included the usual chirp on the phonograph, they were shown to the guest chamber.

"Sweet sleep until about 2 o'clock in the morning, and then when Jerry was deepest in the land of dreams there came a sudden awakening like being punched in the ribs.

"'Jerry! Jerry!' softly called little wifey. 'Wake up, won't you? I want you to scratch my finger, please.'"

"'Want me to scratch your finger?' shouted the wondering Jerry, just a little peevishly.

"'Yes, dear,' answered wifey in a hurt voice as she held out that dainty member. 'A mosquito bit it.'"

LONG TIME BETWEEN TRAINS.

Philadelphia Telegraph: Congressman William E. Humphreys of Washington told this one at a recent banquet as an illustration of how differently things sometimes sound when one is a trifle deaf.

Some time ago a rather stout woman with a basket on her arm hurried up the platform of a suburban station and asked the agent what time the train left for Smithville.

"Six-thirty," answered the agent, hurrying on with his work.

"What's that?" exclaimed the woman, putting her hand to her ear and following the agent. "When did you say?"

"Six-thirty!" repeated the agent as he disappeared in his office.

With this the woman picked up her basket and started away, but meeting a man at the end of the platform and wanting to make sure about the train, she put the same question to him.

"Let me see, madam," said the second party, consulting a pocket schedule. "There is a train at half-past six."

"That's more like it," commented the woman, with a brightening expression. "I asked a yap back yonder and he told me 'next Thursday.'"

DOES POETRY PAY.

Everybody's Magazine: A palatial touring car had attracted the attention of a visitor to Boston, and he asked his friend:

"Who is the man seated in that large car?"

The Bostonian glanced in the direction indicated and replied:

"That is the poet laureate of a well-known biscuit factory."

OBJECTIONS TO DRAINAGE

Legislators Oppose the Development of the State Lands.

North Would Protect Home Builders From Dishonest Contractors.

By a Staff Correspondent.

St. Paul, Minn., Jan. 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—Something of what Northern Minnesota has to encounter in its attempt to develop and settle its soil was encountered yesterday afternoon at the first meeting of the house committee on drainage.

The committee had before it the request for an emergency appropriation of $2,000 to enable the state drainage commission to complete its year's work. Objections arose immediately, not only to the general proposition of departments exceeding their appropriations and asking for more, but to drainage itself—beyond that, to state development itself.

Representative G. W. Dealand of Worthington opposed the measure bitterly. He thought development was going ahead too rapidly, and that the people were being called upon to pay too much taxes for the benefit of speculators.

"The next generation or two," he said, "ought to shoulder some of this burden. No harm will be done, either, if a good deal of the territory in Northern Minnesota is left to the uses of the birds and deer."

Representative H. J. Miner of International Falls, who is one of the new members coming in contact for the first time with what members from Northern Minnesota always have to contend with, rose to his feet at this challenge.

"Do you know," he said, "how much your county pays in state taxes and how much it gets back?"

"Yes," said Mr. Dealand, "I know all about that."

"How much do you pay into the state treasury and how much do you get back?" asked Mr. Miner.

It developed that Mr. Dealand really didn't know all about that; at any rate he didn't have the figures ready.

Nevertheless, the measure was held over until the drainage commission can attend.

Incidentally, it might be noted that Mr. Dealand is from Nobles county; that in the last year covered by the state auditor's report, just issued, that county paid in states taxes $30,521.81; and that it received from the state in school and road aid $47,163.26. In other words, Nobles county got from the state $7,641.42 more than it paid into the state treasury.

Aimed at Dishonest Contractors.

Representative W. J. North of Duluth today introduced in the house a bill intended to protect the home builder from the venality or financial carelessness of contractors.

His bill makes it stealing—legally defined as larceny—for a contractor to receive money from the home builder—or builder of a business block, for that matter—and fail to pay off his men or dealers in materials.

Following are the principal features of the bill:

"Any contractor or sub-contractor of any improvement to real estate who shall divert to any other purpose than such improvement any material purchased by him therefore and charged thereto, or who issues any money paid to him by the owner of such premises or person having such improvement made for any other purpose than the payment of labor and material contributed to such improvement, unless all labor and material furnished at the time of such payment has been fully paid to such contractor or sub-contractor, shall be guilty of larceny of such material or money."

This bill is aimed at such situations as this:

Jones is building a home, and lets a contract for the job to Smith. Smith employs the necessary labor, buys the necessary materials, and lets the necessary sub-contracts. At the proper time Jones pays Smith his bill, and thinks he is free to live in his new home.

He is not.

Presently appears Robinson, who put in the heating plant, and declares that he has not been paid. He claps a lien on Jones' new home.

Appears also Perkins, who was employed as a carpenter, and declares that Smith did not pay his wages. So Perkins, too, claps a lien on Jones' new home.

Jones has paid every cent he owes, but Contractor Smith did not; so Jones is entrapped in a coil of liens, and maybe has to pay some of his bills a second time.

To prevent that, Representative North would make the contractor who brought about that situation guilty of larceny, and punish him accordingly.

The bill also provides that Jones' money paid to Smith cannot be subject to garnishment or levy except at the

AN OLD RECIPE TO DARKEN HAIR

Sage Tea and Sulphur Turns Gray, Faded Hair Dark and Glossy.

Almost everyone knows that Sage Tea and Sulphur, properly compounded, brings back the natural color and lustre to the hair when faded, streaked or gray; also ends dandruff, itching scalp and stops falling hair. Years ago the only way to get this mixture was to make it at home, which is mussy and troublesome.

Nowadays we simply ask at any drug store for "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound." You will get a large bottle for about 50 cents. Everybody uses this old, famous recipe, because no one can possibly tell that you darkened your hair, as it does it so naturally and evenly. You dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw tais through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair disappears, and after another application or two, your hair becomes beautifully dark, thick and glossy and you look years younger.

Roads Built Under Elwell Law.

The Elwell road law, by which the principles of drainage assessment are applied to road-building so that the results of ten years' road tax levies can be had at once and the burden spread over ten years, has, in the short time it has been in operation, been put in operation in all parts of the state, and nearly 1,200 miles of new road are due to it. The exact figures are 1,152.8, of which 376 miles are earth construction and 776.8 miles are surfaced roads, the surfacing material varying from sand clay to concrete. Of this total nearly 400 miles are completed. The amount involved in these operations is $2,751,723.70.

St. Louis county has but one Elwell road, 32.5 miles long and 24 miles completed. In Koochiching county there are four Elwell roads, aggregating 172.6 miles. In Beltrami county there are five, 92.5 miles in all. Aitkin county has three, with 103.1 miles, Carlton has one with a mileage of 28; and Beltrami and Koochiching together have one road 45 miles long.

The friends of the Elwell law are pointing out to its opponents—bills repealing it have been introduced in both senate and house—that it is optional, and that no locality which does not want it is compelled to use it.

Opposition is entirely from Southern Minnesota, while in Northern Minnesota virtually all the members approve it. It has been suggested that some system of zones might be created, so that the law would apply only in part of the state; but its supporters declare that not even that is necessary so long as it is optional and need not be used where it is not wanted.

Suggests a Reform.

"If they want economy," said Representative L. G. Prendergast of Bemidji yesterday afternoon, "and I presume that is what we are all here for, I think I can suggest one important reform.

"This is that the work of the game wardens and the forest rangers be combined, so far as practical, so that one man will do the work of two.

"Take an example, which I have no doubt can be found actually to exist in many Northern Minnesota sections, though I have no locality in mind.

"Bill is a forest ranger at $125 a month. His duties are to cover a certain territory and safeguard it against fires.

"Sam is a game warden at $100 a month. His duties are to cover a certain territory and safeguard it against violations of the game laws.

"Now both Bill and Sam are good fellows and good men. Everybody is glad they have good jobs, and satisfied that they are doing them well.

"But consider the state's interest. Why couldn't the work that Bill does and the work that Sam does be handled by the same man? One man, one salary; one organization, one set of overhead expenses. That's the way a corporation or a business man would do it; why shouldn't the state do it that way?"

Representative Claude E. Southwick of Wells is preparing a bill prohibiting horse-trading caravans from camping on public highways.

"Perhaps they do not bother you in Northern Minnesota," he said yesterday, "but they are a nuisance in our part of the state. They come along and camp. They start fires, rob cornfields, raid chicken roosts, spread fires and scare women and children. They are a menace and a nuisance, and I am sure the farmers of Southern and Western Minnesota will welcome a law that will clear them out and keep them out."

STILLMAN H. BINGHAM.

PLAN FOR DIVISION OF COUNTY WITHOUT VOTE OF PEOPLE PROPOSED

senting the various range committees, in which Mayor Victor Power of Hibbing is a leading spirit, has agreed upon.

It is expected that the committee will have a bill carrying out these details drafted within a few days, and that it will be ready for introduction either at the end of this week or at the beginning of next week.

Fear a Vote of the People.

The Western Mesaba range representatives say that the reason this decision has been reached is that they have no faith in the success of county division by a vote of the people. They are frank enough to admit that they have not votes enough to carry a division proposition; and therefore they will ask the legislature to divide the county without a popular vote.

The proposal to divide the county by legislative enactment involves two difficulties—a constitutional difficulty and a practical difficulty.

Speaking for the range interests favoring this plan, Representative Samuel C. Scott of Hibbing said yesterday afternoon that he was not worrying over the practical difficulty, which is whether or not the legislature will consent to establish the precedent of county division by special legislation, or to take the risk of imposing a rearrangement of county lines against the will of a majority of the people affected. Mr. Scott indicated a belief that the range members could induce the legislature to do this; a belief that, it might be said, is not shared by the Duluth members.

Mr. Scott admitted, however, that there might be some question about the constitutional difficulty; though he said that those who are back of this plan have looked into the matter fully, and are convinced that the project is constitutional.

On its face, the Constitution certainly seems to be against such a plan.

What the Constitution Says.

Article XI, relating to counties and townships, contains this language:

"The legislature may from time to time establish and organize new counties; but no new county shall contain less than 400 square miles; nor shall any county be reduced below that amount; and ALL LAWS CHANGING COUNTY LINES IN COUNTIES ALREADY ORGANIZED, OR FOR REMOVING COUNTY SEATS, SHALL, BEFORE TAKING EFFECT, BE SUBMITTED TO THE ELECTORS OF THE COUNTY OR COUNTIES AFFECTED THEREBY, AT THE NEXT GENERAL ELECTION AFTER THE PASSAGE THEREOF, and be adopted by a majority of such electors."

The constitutional amendment prohibiting special legislation, adopted subsequent to the incorporation of the above language in the Constitution, contains these words:

"The legislature shall pass no local or special laws regulating the affairs of, or incorporating, erecting or changing the lines of, any COUNTY, city, village, township, ward or school district * * *; locating or changing county seats," etc.

The range men who are banking on this innovation in county division practices rely on decisions by the supreme court, in which they claim there is language upholding an opinion that notwithstanding the terms of the fundamental law of the state, the legislature can divide a county. The issue never has arisen directly, the supreme court never has formally passed upon it, and the language of the supreme court on which reliance is placed by the range folks is what lawyers call "obiter dicta."

What the supreme court might say to a direct issue of county division by legislative enactment is yet to be discovered.

Do Not Like Present Law.

There is now a law providing for county division, under which many counties have been divided. The iron range people interested in county division object to it, however, because it requires that propositions for division must locate the county seat temporarily. They have argued quickly, that if attempts were made to divide the county under this law, confusion might be created by opposing propositions naming different county seats, and that the attempt to divide might thus be defeated.

So it was proposed to amend the county division law so that the question of division might be passed upon separately, leaving the county seat and temporary county officers to be determined later, if division carried, by the voters of the new county.

It was a bill to this effect that came up eight, six, four and two years ago. It was expected that a bill to this effect would come up at this time. But the fertile wits of Mayor Power of Hibbing, who has become the leader of the county division movement, have devised this new and interesting plan of division by legislative enactment without a vote of the people.

Presently the bill carrying out this plan will be here, and it promises to form one of the most interesting subjects of controversy at this session.

GERMAN AVIATORS DROP BOMBS

shops; few public buildings or docks seem to have been injured.

The raiding airmen showed excellent ability to pilot their vessels, as well as good marksmanship. In spite of the darkness of the night they found their way over the country with remarkable directness, and the accuracy of their aim with bombs was greater than generally had been believed possible.

Used Large Planes.

A press dispatch received here from Yarmouth says it is generally believed there that the raiders of last night came in aeroplanes of large size.

Among those killed is one soldier. The property damage does not exceed a few thousand dollars. A shoemaker and a woman were killed at Yarmouth and a civilian and a soldier lost their lives at King's Lynn.

The police reports from the towns upon which bombs were thrown say that the public responded very well to the raid instructions recently made public. For the most part the people took refuge in their cellars. Several theaters were emptied quickly.

An unexploded bomb found in Yarmouth weighed six pounds and is cone shaped.

Comment of the British press on the attack is bitter in tone, many London papers assailing the German in the same unmeasured language as at the time of the Hartlepool naval raid. The event is being used as a text for editorials urging more rapid recruiting.

The Pall Mall Gazette says that the only fitting answer is the sending of fresh armies to the continent. The Westminster Gazette characterizes the raid as a violation of the rules of warfare. The Globe urges retaliation in kind, observing that there are several flourishing towns within easy reach of British airmen.

Streets Paved With Glass.

King's Lynn, Eng., Jan. 20, via London.—The streets of King's Lynn this morning are virtually paved with glass and souvenir hunters have been picking up pieces of bombs.

An outstanding feature of the raid appears to have been the skill with which the German airmen, in the darkness followed their route and dropped bombs in the vicinity of King George's house at Sandringham and Queen Mother Alexandria's bungalow at Sunnisham, as well as at the docks, water works and railroad station here and at the Grimston ammunition depot.

According to the police the raiders circled twice over King's Lynn and dropped bombs in the neighborhood of the railroad station and the docks. Three missiles fell close to the station and wrecked the sheds in which the royal railroad coaches were housed. One or more bombs were dropped along the water front among the docks, and damage was inflicted on the hydraulic engine house.

Dense Darkness Prevailed.

The dense darkness and the slight mist which prevented effective pursuit of or successful shooting at the raiders, also hindered them in their efforts to reach some of their apparent objectives, and also to aim their bombs with the maximum of accuracy. Thus the visit to Sandringham, which King George and Queen Mary left at 10 o'clock yesterday morning was not effective, although some bombs were dropped in the vicinity of the royal residence.

The casualty list at King's Lynn so far as is known this morning is two persons killed and four injured. They all were in a group of houses on Bentinck street, which was wrecked by one bomb. The police are still searching the ruins.

The casualties at Yarmouth are two killed and one injured. There is still a difference of opinion here as to whether the German raiders came in Zeppelins or in aeroplanes.

Two Killed at Yarmouth.

Yarmouth, Jan. 20, via London.—Careful inquiries thus far made regarding last night's aerial raid go to show that public buildings and the railways escaped damage which is almost wholly confined to private houses and shops.

So far as is now known only two persons, a man and a woman, were killed here. It so happened that most of the inhabitants were indoors when the raid occurred.

Flying at Great Height.

London, Jan. 20.—"I believe there were two airships," said a resident of Sheeringham to the correspondent of the Daily Mail in that town. "I certainly saw one myself. It was flying at a great height. I am unable to judge the distance, but should say it was not less than 3,000 feet in the air. It was a wonderful and awe-inspiring sight.

"The Zeppelin, like a great cigar lay dim and dark against the blackness of the sky, but its outlines were unmistakable. It was fitted with searchlights which now and then flashed below, casting weird rays of light on the dark town and countryside.

"Then came the crash of bombs. There was a tremendous sensation in the town, but no panic, as the people hurried into the streets. The damage done was not great.

"In one street I inspected a hole made by a bomb. It was two feet deep and about eighteen inches wide. I saw this hole forty-five minutes after the bomb fell and it was still so hot you could not place your hand in it. The Zeppelin I saw disappeared in the direction of Cromer."

No Report of Craft Brought Down.

Dersingham, Norfolk, via London, Jan. 20.—An airship passed over Hunstanton, a few miles north of Sandringham, about 10 o'clock last night and followed the Great Eastern railway tracks by way of Heacham, a village on The Wash, where a bomb was dropped. It fell several hundred yards from some cottages, but beyond tearing up the ground it did no damage.

Reports of the aerial raid last night contained rumors that one of the Zeppelins had been brought down by the guns of a warship at Hunstanton. The above disptach from the Hunstanton district makes no mention of such an occurrence.

tremendous capacity for hard, concentrated work.

He is at his desk in an old French government building which houses the German general staff, from dawn until late at night. An unbroken stream of officers with reports and plans calling for his decision, flows all day long in and out of the little square conference room, with its table loaded with maps. He performs the dual functions of minister of war and chief of the general staff, and has little time for exercise or recreation. He keeps at headquarters with his hand, as it were, on the throttle of the big machine and yet his slender figure is as erect, his manner as vigorous as the day he dashed into public notice with his memorable defense of the German army in the Zabern debate in the reichstag.

Not War of Aggression.

"This war is not a war of aggression," said Gen. von Falkenhayn, taking up the causes of the conflict. "It is not a war brought about by a 'military caste' or military party in Germany, but one of self-defense. As a soldier, I cannot, of course, talk on the political aspects or the causes of the war, but I can speak from a military standpoint.

"It was forced upon us by the Russian mobilization in the face of which we could do nothing but arm ourselves. Russia had been advised and warned by his majesty, and through our ambassador, that if she mobilized, we must, in self defense, order a general mobilization and take the steps necessary to protect our national existence. Russia, nevertheless, went ahead with its mobilization while continuing diplomatic negotiations.

"If a man comes into your room for a discussion with a gun drawn, you can scarcely be expected to wait for him to cock and level it at you before reaching for your own to defend your life.

Situation Excellent.

"Our present situation is excellent. We have no cause to complain. We have carried the war into the enemy's country on both fronts; we are still there after five months of war. Our present lines are very strong; the advantage is all on our side thus far.

"If our first advance against Paris," said the general in response to a question, "had succeeded fully in all respects, it would have been reckoned a most brilliant achievement. As it stands, it is an admirable one. I can say so freely, because I had nothing to do with the conception of the plan of campaign. But one cannot expect to carry on war without some checks and when we fell back, we swung over to the present line of action in which we have been thoroughly successful.

"It is wrong to interpret the operations in Flanders as an attempt on our part to reach Calais and outflank the allied armies. On the contrary, that phase of the campaign is the result of an attempt on the part of the French and British to force their way north to separate us from the sea and envelop our right flank and rear, relieve Antwerp and oblige us to retire from Belgium.

Not Outflanked.

"Their plan was the failure, our counter-stroke the success, of the operations in Flanders. They have not outflanked us, and we are still there."

"What is your view of the general offensive of the allies and Kitchener's new army?" he was asked.

"The offensive," replied the German chief of staff, "was to begin, according to Gen. Joffre's order on the day of Dec. 17. So we have no reason to be dissatisfied with results. We not only have held our lines successfully, but have even gained ground. More of such offensive can only be welcome to us.

"As to Kitchener's army, the British are good fighters and I have all respect for them, but an army without necessary officers and non-commissioned officers is scarcely an army, according to present day standards. They may send them over to attack us, but I think we are strong enough to beat them and drive them back with bloody heads.

"The proposed landing in Belgium? We are fully prepared for any attempt in this direction; the sooner it comes, the better."

Not Boastful.

There was nothing boastful in Gen. von Falkenhayn's manner. These statements were made instead, in a quiet tone and with confidence in the preparedness of the German army, and its ability to meet the situation.

"What effect upon the German conduct of the war," the general was asked, "has the British blockade and contraband policy exercised?"

"Practically none at all," he replied. "Of food we have enough. Have you observed any scarcity in Germany? We may have to husband certain things and be sparing with our wheat consumption, but our 'war bread' (referring to the bread made from the prescribed admixture of rye and potato meal to wheat flour) is quite as tasty and nutritious as the regular wheat bread.

"The problem of feeding the civil populations of Belgium, Poland and the occupied parts of France, particularly such cities as Lille or Lodz, presents some difficulties, but for ourselves we have enough.

Embargo on Copper.

"As for the embargo on copper"—the general laughed—"we have no copper underground, it is true, but above ground we have more than enough for all military needs. If our regular supplies become exhausted, we need only draw on the enormous quantities of manufactured copper already in Germany. Our cables for transmitting electric current, for instance, we have a couple of years' supply.

"British interference with copper shipments, it seems to me, is a heavy blow for America, but for us it is nothing."

Gen. von Falkenhayn used the vigorous South German expression for "utter indifference."

"How long, your excellency, do you think the war may last, or can last?—Lord Kitchener's three years?"

Can Last Indefinitely.

"It can last," said the German chief of staff, picking out that particular part of the question, "indefinitely for us. I see nothing that can force us to stop fighting.

"Food and materials? We are amply supplied. Our strategic position is good. Human material? Do you know that the recruits of the 1915 class are to be called to the colors? Oct. 1, 1915, is the normal date. I was occupying myself with this question yesterday. Does that look as if there was any lack of soldiers? We have more troops in Berlin today than in peace times. They still need training, however. No men are sent to the front without adequate preparation.

"Enthusiasm? You have been at the front, and know that there is no slackening in the zeal of the men for their task. No! We can go on indefinitely.

Would Go Down With Honor.

"And if, in this war, in which Kalmucks, Kamchatkans, Turcomans, Senegal negroes, Indians and what-not have been brought in to maintain the white man's Europe, the so-called balance of power; if in this war to crush a nation whose offense is that, through industry and hard work, it has prospered and is prosperous, we should go down, we shall go down, with honor, fighting to the last ditch and the last man."

"And how far does Germany wish to carry this war, your excellency?—until the other side is completely crushed?"

"Until they are so defeated that the possibility of a repetition of this unprovoked attack upon us is completely eliminated," he declared earnestly.

"What about the new clouds on the horizon, your excellency—Italy and Roumania."

"Those are questions you should address to the imperial chancellor or the foreign secretary."

"But, under certain contingencies, they might become questions of interest to the chief of the general staff."

"Out of the question," was the emphatic reply. "I cannot believe that these two states, which have been united to us for forty years by ties of alliance, should suddenly array themselves in the ranks of our enemies. I consider that utterly impossible."

INDEPENDENT HOUSE ACTION

the office of the attorney general.

"This bill, in my judgment, is of paramount importance, the product of more than a years labor of thirty citizens of Minnesota who have gratuitously and patriotically devoted their own expense, and I believe myself authorized to say for them that they neither expect nor will they favorably consider any attempt to recompense them for either their time devoted thereto or for personal expense incurred, but they earnestly desire that the merits of the bill shall be duly and fully and fairly and honestly considered by a committee duly created for that purpose not otherwise over-burdened with legislative duties.

"Five days after the resolution of the concurrent session, the senate created a standing committee of eleven members of the senate to give consideration to the bill, thus indicating a purpose not to favorably consider the action of any concurrent or joint resolution creating a concurrent or joint committee for the consideration of said bill. That senate committee is now in existence. What committee, therefore, shall this house now create to receive and consider this bill? That is now the matter now before this house for consideration, and it is now my hope that the house resolution will be duly adopted by a very large majority of this house, so that the committee may be thereunder appointed and get at its work without further delay.

Full Hearing Important.

"It is of paramount importance that this bill be given a full and fair and honest hearing and consideration, expeditiously as may be found feasible, and that, after that, there be made to this house a full and carefully and honestly prepared report thereon, calculated to be helpful to the entire membership of this house in determining finally—how to vote thereon.

"It was originally my desire, it still is my desire, that these hearings should be joint hearings, saving time, saving expense, and resulting in a united report on said bill to both houses of this legislature; but the course taken in the senate tends strongly to indicate that the senate does not take that view of the matter and hence, as it seems to me, the only course left to be taken by this house in the premises, is that indicated in the house resolution, the adoption of which is now under consideration.

"It seems to me likely that if this resolution is adopted and the proposed special committee created, it will later happen that the separate committees of the two houses, will probably be able to come together and sit together in the hearings upon the said bill, even if they are not finally united in a report to be made to both houses thereon.

"If the members of this house read the lengthy article published in the Minneapolis Journal Sunday, Jan. 17, carefully, they probably noticed this statement, to-wit:

"Senators say that their idea, all along, has been for joint hearings, but that they did not want the senate to be made the tail to the house kite—through a joint committee plan"—words correctly quoted from Mr. Cheney's article, and you know Mr. Cheney quite as well as I do.

"Somehow, somewhere, he got, but he did not get it from me, exactly the same information which came to me.

The Reason Plain.

"The correct import of the language used in the Journal article, as it seems to me—and I think I would be justified in using plainer words though I don't care to do that at this time, is that the senate desired a joint committee appointed, provided the number of house members on such joint committee should not be greater than the number of senate members—the reason for which I need not tell you. The older members of this house will well enough know that reason without being told. It is a long standing rule of legislative procedure, older than any of us, that concurrent or joint committees shall be constituted of members of both houses proportioned to the numbers thereof and so, under the circumstances, my advice to this house is that it now adopt the house resolution authorizing the appointment of the special house commitee of fifteen.

"It is entirely my present belief that the total expense likely to be incurred by this committee, other than the compensation paid to its clerk or secretery and to its stenographer will not be $250.

"The committee on public accounts and expenditures, constituted as it is, gives abundant hope that duties which otherwise, to some extent, might fall upon this proposed special committee, will be thereby duly performed—helpful to the work of this special committee and even more helpful to the committee on appropriations."

AUSTRALIA MOVES GOVERNMENT SEAT

Changed Temporarily From Melbourne to Sydney; Reason Unknown.

Melbourne, Australia, Jan. 20, via London.—The seat of the commonwealth government has been transferred temporarily from Melbourne to Sydney.

Minister of Defense Pierce has declared that there is no limit to the number of troops the Australian commonwealth will send to the front.

A German lieutenant has been arrested at Cloncurry on a charge of espionage. Plans of wireless plants and maps of various parts of Australia were found in his possession.

Cause of Move Unknown.

London, Jan. 20. — The brief announcement from Melbourne of the transfer of the seat of the commonwealth government from Melbourne to Sydney finds no explanation in London. The high commissioner of Australia in London, Sir George H. Reid, says he is unable to throw any light on the move unless it be connected with the question of defense. Sydney is the main center of the naval and military forces of the commonwealth.

PORTUGUESE FIGHT BUT HAVE NO WAR

Situation Peculiar By Reason of German Invasion in Africa.

(Correspondence of the Associated Press.)

Lisbon, Jan. 2.—Portugal is today in a singular situation in reference to the great war. German forces have invaded Portuguese Angola, and fighting has been going on there between German and Portuguese forces for a couple of months. Yet Germany has not declared war on Portugal; the German minister remains in Lisbon and the Portuguese minister in Berlin.

An official casualty list gives Portuguese losses in Angola which is on the western coast of Africa, as one officer killed, six wounded and one taken prisoner. The number of casualties among the soldiers, is not mentioned, but unofficially it is said the Portuguese have lost about 800 all told in killed and wounded, and prisoners. On the other hand, the Portuguese have killed, wounded or captured about 900 German cavalrymen. Fresh Portuguese troops numbering about 4,000 are ready to embark for Angola. Some orders for equipment have been placed in the United States.

The German legation here is well guarded day and night. The Portuguese government has notified all Germans residing in Portugal that they must report regularly to the local authorities, ostensibly to keep them from harm from anti-German feeling among the inhabitants.

ONE STRIKER DEAD; OTHERS ARE DYING

Quiet Prevails at Roosevelt After Battle With Deputies.

Roosevelt, N. J., Jan. 20.—Quiet prevailed today in the strike situation at the two plants here of the American Agricultural Chemical company.

Of the nineteen men wounded in the pitched battle yesterday between strikers and armed deputies, one was dead, another was said to be at death's door and several others were in a critical condition.

More than 100 of the 900 men on strike congregated today at the railroad station, scene of the shooting, to meet incoming trains which, it was reported, would bring reinforcements to the 150 strike breakers brought yesterday to the Liebig plant of the company. The railroad detectives preserved order. No strike breakers were on the trains.

W. Edwin Florance, prosecutor of Middlesex county, continued his investigation of the shooting. Two representatives of Governor Fielder of New Jersey arrived to determine if it would be advisable to have state troops brought to the scene.

SOAP IS BAD FOR THE HAIR

Soap should be used very sparingly, if at all, if you want to keep your hair looking its best. Most soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much alkali. This dries the scalp, makes the hair brittle, and ruins it.

The best thing for steady use is just ordinary mulsified cocoanut oil (which is pure and greaseless), is cheaper and better than soap or anything else you can use.

One or two teaspoonfuls will cleanse the hair and scalp thoroughly. Simply moisten the hair with water and rub it in. It makes an abundance of rich, creamy lather, which rinses out easily, removing every particle of dust, dirt, dandruff and excessive oil. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and it leaves the scalp soft, and the hair fine and silky, bright, lustrous, fluffy and easy to manage.

You can get mulsified cocoanut oil at any pharmacy, and a few ounces will supply every member of the family for months.—Advertisement.

NEPHEW BRUTALLY MURDERS UNCLE

Alex Guilbault Kills Charles Guilbault at Lake Linden, Mich.

Calumet, Mich., Jan. 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—A family quarrel of years' standing, and too much liquor last night caused Alex Guilbault to murder Charles Guilbault, an aged resident of Lake Linden, and to horribly mutilate the body of the old man following the crime. The younger Guilbault is in jail and has confessed. The murdered man was 60 years of age and the assailant was 35.

The younger Guilbault returned two days ago from Escanaba. Last evening about 9:30 o'clock he went to the place where his uncle was living with another man, Frank Laroux, and offered the two men a drink from a bottle of whisky. Laroux accepted, but Guilbault declined, and the young man, turning on his uncle, shot him four times with a .32-caliber revolver. The old man stood perfectly still as the shots were fired and this enraged the nephew, who grabbed an ax and horribly mutilated his uncle.

One blow penetrated to the heart and severed every rib on the side of the body. The next blow was aimed at the head and gashed Guilbault fearfully from the mouth to the collar bone on the left side. A third blow slit Guilbault's face from the mouth to the right ear. Either one of the two more serious blows would have been fatal. Laroux told the officers of the crime. The murderer will be arraigned this afternoon.

BRAND ADVISES AS TO MARKET IDEAS

Government Expert Gives Tri-State Meet Benefit of Observation.

Fargo, N. D., Jan. 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—Addressing the Tri-State Grain Growers and Stockmen's convention here today on the subject of "Marketing," Charles J. Brand, chief of the office of marketing and rural organization of the department of agriculture at Washington, gave the convention many ideas that it is believed will bear fruit.

Mr. Brand spoke of the work of his division along the solution of the marketing problems and rural credit systems, relating in detail many features of the marketing proposition and strongly advocating co-operative organizations, more direct touch between the producer and the consumer, closer and more circumscribed areas for the disposition of live stock in local rather than general territory, more liberal use of the parcel post in marketing farm products of all kinds.

Grain Growers Prosper.

In discussing the grain proposition he pointed out that in no other commodity did the producer receive such a relatively high per cent of the price paid by the consumer as did the grower of grain, who is now receiving in excess of 91 per cent the price paid by the millers for the grain.

He told of the efforts being made to establish grades and standards of grains to be uniform all over the United States and spoke of the McCumber and other bills, particularly favoring the one recently introduced by a member of congress from Ohio as providing the basic foundations for the ultimate solution of this question.

He advised the farmers against holding shock threshed grain as it deteriorated so rapidly. One method of preventing loss was to store in elevators with drying apparatus. He regarded the condition in which shock threshed grain left the separators as a great handicap to the farmers and the source of a great loss of profits.

Favors Co-operative Concerns.

Along rural credit lines he favored the organization of co-operative associations and working out their own plans rather than any general comprehensive congressional legislative system for the benefit of the individuals. He felt by the working through group and co-operative associations more could be accomplished by dealing directly with individuals and he cited numerous instances of success of the United States as a result of assistance from his department.

THE DAILY ROLL CALL; A COLUMN OF SPORTS

By Bruce.

FROM 9 o'clock yesterday morning until ten minutes past five—we clocked him—John T. McNamara, the genial Irishman from Houghton did the dog watch in the reception room of the Duluth Curling club. This long vigil was broken up by occasional interviews with John E. MacGregor, "Steve" Jones, D. B. McDonald, Jack Jacobi and others. At other times Mr. McNamara tried to become mildly interested in some curling contest, or would talk over old hockey times with Ed Furni.

Pray tell us the result of this long vigil.

Well, Mr. McNamara left over the South Shore for home last evening. Nothing is definitely settled. McNamara wanted the Duluth team to go to the Soo and play the two games scheduled there. The directors of the club told the lank Irishman that exhibition games had already been scheduled for Duluth and that it would prove impossible to go through with the schedule of the league.

"The league should be above all other considerations," said Mr. McNamara yesterday. "It has required time, money and considerable effort to bring the league to the present point. I have been fondly looking forward to the future. St. Paul and Minneapolis are just beginning to exhibit interest in the game. Some of us have looked forward to the point where Duluth, Superior, St. Paul, Minneapolis, the Copper Country towns and the two Soos would make one of the greatest hockey leagues in the country. It is because of this dream of mine, if you want to call it that, that I am here pleading for the life of this league.

"If Duluth refuses to play its scheduled games with the American Soo, the disruption of the league is likely to be brought about. Duluth officials should think long and seriously before taking a step that will mean the breaking up of a league that has wonderfully bright prospects for the future.

"Chicago is going to open a huge new rink next year, I have been given to understand. Chicago would fill out the American Hockey association at the Cleveland end. You know the association takes in practically the entire United States. Duluth and Houghton are merely two teams in a big organization; therefore I say let us arbitrate these differences and stand for the bigger and broader idea.

"Duluth will gain by standing by the league. In the years to come this will be one of the hockey centers of the United States. This year Duluth has a most excellent opportunity to win the national title. To my way of thinking, the winning of this honor would be a far greater feat, would prove a greater feather in the cap of Duluth, than the winning of any amount of exhibition games."

Unfortunately Charlie Webb, president of the league, is busily engrossed in the details of a rate fight—he's a railroad man—at the present time. He has been down at Lansing, Mich., and at Chicago. This rate fight has prevented Mr. Webb from coming to Duluth at a time when his diplomacy and jurisdiction in final decision were most sorely required.

Yesterday Mr. McNamara was flirting with a telegraph wire a good share of the morning. Finally a wire wave located Mr. Webb. But the presence of the league executive is needed here to settle this controversy one way or the other—and as yet the matter hangs fire.

Duluth is not back in the league—and you might say it is not precisely out of the league.

The Milwaukee Bout.

IN Milwaukee tomorrow evening two of the greatest middleweights of the world will clash. Gibbons is given the advance shade by the majority of critics of the game. Clabby, game, ring-brainy, wise as the sewer rat in ever move of the ring, opposes the march to the sea of Gibbons.

Tell us—who will win?

On the eve of this battle a picture of two other middleweights is called to memory. Papke and Ketchel.

Out of Spring Valley, Ill., came a sensation. A coal miner with thews and sinews that lugged him to the fighting front and caused this lusty youth to defy the world, as Ajax of old hurled defiance to the lightning.

And from the prosaic environs of Grand Rapids, Mich., that industrial hive, arose another youth, an Apollo of the ring; a boy with the stride of a panther, with the courage of a lion, and with magnificent shoulders that contained the greatest punching force since the halycon days when Robert Jennings Fitzsimmans mowed down with consummate ease all of the contenders of the middleweight ranks.

Those at the ringside will never forget the PapkeKetchel fight. Miners came in from Spring Valley with virgin rolls and hazarded all on the prowess of the pride of the Illinois mining town. From other portions of the throbbing West came rolling in a horde of Ketchel followers, eager to back the ability of the sensational Pole with hard-earned coin of the realm.

What a fight it was! Right at the start Ketchel laid Papke flat on the resined ring with one of those terrific blows. Only a wonderful boy, one endowed with vitality and remarkable powers of recuperation could have recovered. But Papke was up, dazed and with his head dizzy, at the count of ten. He managed to weather the gale of blows and fought, dazed and dream-like, with only the primitive instinct of the fighting man to guide him.

Near the close of ten rounds of milling Papke's head cleared and he came on. But Ketchel had given the Spring Valley boy a terrific lacing. Two great men had met—and Ketchel had won.

Could Ketchel or Papke, in the fullness of their prime, have beaten either of the boys who are to dispute the surging sway of supremacy in the Milwaukee ring tomorrow evening?

We say yes. Steve Ketchel could have beaten either the contenders in the modern battle.

But—let us quickly add that Gibbons and Clabby are two of the greatest that we have ever had; two lads with class written over them in large letters.

Fast and Rough Hockey Contest Ends With Score 3 to 2.

Mohan of Zenith City Is Struck on Head By the Puck.

Houghton, Mich., Jan. 20.—Duluth defeated Calumet last night in a fast and rough hockey game at the Coliseum. The sensational work of Savinni, Calumet goal, saved Calumet from a severe beating. As it was the score of 3 to 2 shows the hockey was of high quality.

Mohan of Duluth was hurt by being struck by a puck on the head and was off for some time, but recovered.

Barkell, Duluth, and Hogan, Calumet, were put off for the final seven minutes of the game for fighting. Only the stern control of Referee Shields saved the game from being disgraceFully rough.

The lineup was the same as last night, excepting Monroe at right for Calumet and J. Barkell instead of Olson for Duluth.

BIG DOINGS PLANNED FOR CURLERS' CONCERT

Disguised as a Rug, Companion Reporter Overhears Plans for the Entertainment of Tomorrow Night—Tom Cameron May Sing a Song.

Duluth Curling Club, Jan. 20.—(Special rush wire to Companion.)—Your correspondent, ever on the alert for news, has secured a valuable scoop. How about a raise for new week? Disguised as a rug, we lay on a settee and heard Harry Hurdon and Jamie Myron and Doc Cheney going over some of the plans for the concert of tomorrow evening.

We scarcely breathed. Doc Cheney took out a hypodermic needle from his case and, after flourishing it a few times, wiped it with his silk handkerchief. We moved uneasily lest the doc stick it into the rug. We was the rug. Get the point?

Well, there is going to be some doings at this concert. They wanted Jamie Myron to sing a Scotch song about curling. Jamie was holding out, saying his voice was all gave out in yelling in the one game he won. Harry Hurdon says he has won lots of games and never thought it necessary to yell. Jamie come back and says: "Harry, if you never won no more games than me you would yell like hell." Then Doc Cheney laughed uproariously and hit the rug an awful crack. We was the rug. Get the point?

We have asthma and started some asthmatics. "My, but this settle wobbles," said the Doc, and then we thought the Companion would be cheated of the scoop. A newspaper man's life is filled with adventures, ain't it?

They was planning to have Tom Cameron sing the song that goes, "Here are two jolly St. Paul curlers." Later we came around to Jamie Myron and had him copy the song for the Companion. Jamie never knowed that we was the rug, though. Get the point? You have to be foxie to work on a paper that is alwus after the latest curling news, because these curlers is Scotch for the most part and hate to give up anything. In this concert they also want Art Michaud to give a chart talk on how he won a game. But Doc Cheney said it would take too long and that no one would believe it, anyhow.

Bill Stewart will be asked to dance a Highland fling. In an extra edition of the Companion the answer of Bill will be given.

They was a lot of other details which we was trying to write down with one hand reaching down under the settle, when that darned fool of a boy with the megaphone comes rushing in and says litis of West Duluth has just won a game and has fainted away with surprise. Then Doc Cheney and them others rushes out. Always they is something to spoil a good scoop. In disgust we arose—we was the rug, understand—and, throwing off our disguise, left the room.

But that is going to be some concert.

OBJECTION IS OVERRULED

The editor of the Fireside Companion just received the following letter:

"In the memory of Bobbie Burns I protest against the presence in the tined the future of "Smithy" and had much to do with the moulding of his career.

Mr. Smith was at one time secretary of the Northwestern Curling association. It is safe to say that no member of the association has labored with greater zeal or energy for the success of the game. After leaving Duluth, where he once lived and laborded, A. H. went to Winnipeg. He has been one of the chief workers each year to get the Winnipeg men down to the Northwestern spiel. To his indefatigable efforts is due much of the success of the annual spiels of the past years.

EXTRA! EXTRA!

POLICE MAY PREVENT TOM CAMERON FROM ATTEMPTING TO SING

This song has been sung in the past by Tom Cameron. It is not as yet known whether the police will permit Mr. Cameron to attempt to sing it her We have a quiet city and Mr. Hicken is very conservative. For the readers of The Companion we publish the following lines:

"Here we are two jolly St. Paul curlers,
And while we're here, all eyes are cast upon us,
For we take the broom and nothing can escape us,
We're the greatest pair of curlers in the world.

(Griggs).

"When Milt says 'play,' old Jamie steps back,
With one foot forward and the other in the back;
'Get ready for the sweep, let her go now, look at that,
There's a man that don't know how to miss a shot.'"

'Tis a poor little thing, but 'tis their own.

spiel of two men with names like Catterson and Roehm. Let them ski or play skat if they want to, but why should they curl?"

SANDY MACPHERSON.

The editor of the Companion investigated. He found that Mr. Catterson's first name was not Catter, and the "son" part of it was Scotch and not Swedish. He claims to be of the clan of Catterson in the highlands of East Seventh street, and to live within view of Oatmeal Hill. He has presented receipts from Simon Clark for two barrels of oatmeal consumed within the last ten months. His record is clear.

With Roehm it's different. There's no more Scotch in him than in a W. C. T. U. punch, but we've decided to let him remain in the spiel. He's a good fellow, and why should heredity be allowed to influence curling? If he wants to reform and curl, let him, even if his name is Michael Casey. Sit down, Sandy.—The Editor.

"TAM" DISAPPOINTED.

McDermott's Conversation With Guy Warren Not Satisfactory.

"Tammas" McDermott of St. Paul, who was here for a short time yesterday, called Guy Warren over toward the door of the locker room and, getting close, whispered something into the Duluth man's ear, looking occasionally toward the lockers.

"Not a thing, Tam," said Guy, "not a thing; sorry."

"Then we'll say nothin' muir aboot it, lad," said "Tammas," slapping Guy on the back, merrily, but walking ruefully away.

Just what that conversation was will probably never be learned.

HERALD BEATS GATES.

Wonderful Display of Skill Up to Very Finish.

The Herald, despite its well-known skill has always feared meeting the rink skipped by Clough Gates of Superior. But last night it did the seemingly impossible—The Herald beat Gates.

It was a tight game—no mistake about that. Gates started in confident and The Herald uncertain, which was an advantage to the Superior rink. However, in the first two heads, The Herald, much to their surprise and Gates' chagrin, forged ahead, having

HIBBING HAS LIVE BUNCH

Rink From Range Are Ardent Curlers and Good Sportsmen.

Interest in curling has never been so great among the clubs of the iron range as at the present time. This fact is exemplified in the large representation at the present spiel from the various range towns.

The Lewis rink contains some of the most enthusiastic curlers of the spiel. Mr. Trenerry is the chief clerk of the Oliver Iron Mining company and an ardent enthusiast. Joining the Hibbing Curling club when it was organized, he has been one of the moving spirits in that organization.

Mr. Lewis, skip of the rink, is secretary of the Hibbing Commercial club and one of the live wires of that hustling little city.

Mr. Clymer is a clerk of the Oliver company and Mr. Kieffman is president of the St. Louis County Agricultural society and also president of school district 27. He is one of the greatest boosters for clean sport on the range and is also one of the progressive men of the range.

"SMITHY" IS REAL WORKER

Winnipeg Man Is Mad Mullah of the Curlers.

Has Labored Long and Faithfully in Interests of Game.

A. H. Smith of Winnipeg is one of the real figures of this bonspiel, as he has been one of the moving figures of every spiel that has been held during the last decade.

About fifteen years ago "Smithy" started curling. Once he threw his first rock the inflammable energy of this Smith man was started. He has been curling mad ever since. He might properly be classified as the Mad Mullah of the Northwestern Curling association.

We had intended springing that old one about "Smithy" being a direct and lineal descendent of John Smith, who back in the ruffle collar days carried on an affair with Pocahontas. But this story was spiked when it was discovered that A. H. was born where the white cliffs of old Albion defy the world and shcut the supremacy of merrie old England.

Yes, Smith was born in England. It is reported that in his very young and fledgling days his pater took him on a trip through Scotland. There, it is presumed "Smithy" saw a curling game. Scientists are strong for this environment stuff and the strength of early impressions. Let us suppose, therefore, that "Smithy" saw some of the bonny Scots throwing those huge old-fashioned stones and heard them with childish fear and trembling, shouting anathemas at the rocks, or coaxing with burring accent on the Jocks to sweep her up, mon.

At least, after observing A. H. going down the ice in that old sweater of his, yelling at his rock, or in the frenzy of putting the last few sweeps to a counting stone, we have come to the conclusion that the trip to Scotland, and the early visions of curling, des-

a score of 5-2 in their favor. That put courage into them and they got down to real form. But Gates caught them and at the last head was even. He had laid two and had a pretty guard and it looked desperate for The Herald. The Herald managed to hit the guard and at the same time knocked the outer stone over to the left edge of the tee, then one of the Gates men missed a pretty chance, getting a little rattled at the closeness of the game with a rink they had figured easy. Along came the plays of the skips. It was nip and tuck, but The Herald having the last throw knocked out the only rock which Gates had laid, and finished—

THREE LIVE WIRES IN CHARGE OF SPIEL

Messrs. MacGregor, Magie and Withrow Are Making the Wheels Go Round.

Most of the space of the Companion has been devoted to curlers. Let us turn to the machinery of the big winter sport event.

On the first day of the spiel ninety-five games were played. Three men, John E. MacGregor, Bert Magie and Ray Withrow, arranged, checked, started and had general supervision of these games and every game that has been subsequently played.

The men behind have been on the job early and late. Some games are not completed before the wee sma' hours. After the completion of the late games the draw is made for the following games.

There are a hundred and one details to be attended to; a thousand wants to administer to; and all the time the phones are buzzing, anxious curlers are besieging the laborers with questions, and officials of the club are asking questions and looking for advice. And yet every draw has been on time and every game since the opening event, when delays were impossible to avoid, the big show has been run with clock-work regularity.

The men behind, those who make the wheels go round, deserve credit for efficient work on a difficult job. It requires hard work to successfully run a spiel, and this is an eminently successful one. Messrs. MacGregor, Magie and Withrow, gentlemen curlers.

CAMERON IS ALSO HERE

Veteran St. Paul Skip Is a Big Figure of Spiel.

There is Tom Cameron. A bonspiel without Thomas would be something akin to a performance of Hamlet with the part of the Dane left out. As a rudder is one of the essential parts of a ship, or as the hard bolled egg has been made famous by the picnic, so let it be said that Tom Cameron is one of the integral parts of the annual bonspiel.

It is a shame that the days of J. B. Emerson can not be rehabiliated. Tom and J. B. used to sweetly carrol that famous song about the St. Paul curlers. With J. B. Emerson, Tom Cameron helped to make himself famous as one of the "Two greatest curlers in the world."

During the seasons between bonspiels Tom Cameron is a rational and sane human being, even as you and I. He is engaged in the moulding and machine business, and it is said that one day, shortly before one of the annual bonspiels, that under the absentminded direction of Tom a steel beam was moulded into the shape of a huge curling stone. This is merely hearsay evidence and is given for what it is worth.

Tom Cameron has been curling for—well, well, let us see—one might say about twenty-five years. Jamie Myron says he remembers hearing his father read at the breakfast table one morning of Tom Cameron winning a game. But that is also merely a tale gleaned in the busy rounds of the day.

A genial soul, as Scotch as a thistle, with an inherent love of the game of the rearin' stance, Thomas Cameron is of the hardy pioneers of the game, one of the original entries of the sport, back in the early days.

With Dunbar, Nettleton, Ordway and a few stalwart souls, Tom Cameron has been the life of the game down in dear old St. Paul.

LEWIS' OPINION OF NAUGHTON'S DRAWING.

J. L. Lewis, skip of the so-called "minor-minor" rink of Hibbing, jumped when he saw his picture in the way of a sketch by Naughton in The Herald last night. He gazed at it a long time without changing expression, smoking his pipe placidly all the while. Then he observed with a strong accent:

"Naughton is a better curler than he is a drawer."

NO SENSE IN BASEBALL.

Dave Stocking Thinks Curling Game Only One Worth While.

"Dave" Stocking of the Tomlinson company, whose mind is occupied mostly in the chartering of vessels for grain carrying during the summer months, and during winter months too, for that matter, is always glad when winter comes, for if there is a curling enthusiast loose in the land that man is "Dave." He has it worse than one could guess by looking at his serious, and even grim countenance.

One day last summer, just when the world's series was about to begin and everybody on the board was expressing opinions of the two teams and of the abilities of the various players, and, in fact, all was excitement and business was almost neglected, Mr. Stocking one noon, as he left the board at the close, expressed his disgust.

"I can't understand," said he, "how sane business men can go 'nutty' over a ball game. They're all right to watch once in a while, but this getting all het up over them makes me tired. Now I can understand how a man of sense can get enthusiastic over a real good game—like curling, for instance. Why between baseball and curling————" and he shrugged his shoulders to indicate that there could be nothing on the side of baseball.

INTERNATIONAL EVENT IS 'SPIEL FEATURE OF THE DAY

Crack American and Canadian Rinks to Compete for Trophy.

Play in Ordway Event Also Starts; Bradley Going Strong.

With the eagerly awaited International event on the program of today, the third day of the big spiel promises to eclipse in interest the events of Monday and Tuesday.

With three of the crack skips of Winnipeg on hand, Carson, Rochon and Chisholm, opposed by Whyte, McNabb and Reedal, respectively, a grand contest is promised.

Zauft of West Duluth has furnished one of the surprises of the spiel to date. The West Duluth skip has his rink out in the fourth round of the Duluth event and is still in the Western Curling club event. Oldham, Ron McLeod and Zauft are the only Duluth rinks left in this event.

John McLeod Strong.

Yesterday John McLeod's Minneapolis rink took Bobby Miller's rink into camp in the Western Curling club event. The Minneapolis veteran curled a beautiful game in this event, making a splendid draw that gave him a four head in the fifth head and virtually gave his rink the game.

Bradley is going strong and promises to make a hard fight in the St. Paul Jobbers' event. Bradley defeated Dunlap. Hunter of Minneapolis defeated Roehm of Portage in yesterday's games and is curling in grand form.

Clough Gates put Sandy McNabb out of the St. Paul Jobbers' event in a hard game. Whyte won a close game in the same event from Roehm.

The Brewer-Whytes, recovering form after the bad beating of early Monday, are again in the running and should be one of the dangerous contenders for the grand aggregate.

Play starts in the Ordway event today, which is for Minnesota rinks outside Duluth and the Twin Cities. As there are a large number of strong outside rinks here this year, especially from the range, this event promises to be of unusual interest.

CRACK TEAMS ARE TO MEET

What looks like by far the best hockey game of the season to date in the Duluth Amateur Hockey league, is that carded for this evening at the French rink between the Two Harbors and Universal teams.

Two Harbors has what looks like one of the best teams in this portion of the country. Sullivan is a real hockey player—a player who could make any of the teams of the Western division of the American Hockey association. Opposed to the strong Two Harbors rink will be flung the stars of last year's Lake Hardware team: Brown, Harris, Taylor, Bartlett and others.

As the Two Harbors players are hot after the pennant and as the contest of this evening will be the first real test of the strength of two teams that are this early picked as the class of the league, the game abounds in promise of excitement and fast playing.

Manager Ed Harris of the Universals will have the full strength of his team out. The Universals are also in fine shape for the battle. The members of the Two Harbors team are confident of victory and are expecting to rush the puck from the first bell.

AMERICAN WINS CHECKER CHAMPIONSHIP.

Chicago, Jan. 20.—Hugh Henderson of Pittsburg won the American checker championship last night by defeating Alfred Jordan of London, the world's champion. The fifth and deciding game lasted four hours. Previously the men played four draw games. Henderson was the winner of the American championship in 1913.

The next American checker tournament will be played in Pittsburg in 1917.

BILLIARDS

Chicago, Jan. 20.—Charles Moorin of Chicago defeated Hugh Heal of Toledo, 50 to 41, in an 85-inning match in the interstate three-cushion billiard league last night. Each had a high run of 4.

Memphis, Tenn., Jan. 20. — Jake Schaefer defeated Marcus Catton, 300 to 113, in a Billiard Players' league match here yesterday.

ON THE IRON RANGES

FRANCHISE IS TALKED OVER

Eveleth Council and Citizens Freely Discuss Granting Gas Privilege.

Marked Difference of Opinion Between Private and City Ownership.

Eveleth, Minn., Jan. 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—The gas franchise asked by John Kennedy of Virginia and Tom Lynch of this city will be granted, according to the expression of members of the council at last night's meeting. Final action was deferred until next Wednesday that all might be heard on the proposition.

The ordinance, if passed, as seems probable, will be voted on with the understanding that those who oppose the granting of a franchise will endeavor to bring it before the people for a vote by petitioning for a referendum vote. This, according to statements of individual members of the council, will be perfectly satisfactory to them.

Against Corporate Control.

A. N. Peterson, one of the two strong opponents of the ordinance, last night protested against the granting of any more franchises to any corporation, claiming such action meant the giving away of the property of the people for which they must pay an exorbitant price in future years if they wish to regain it.

J. C. Poole explained the action of the Commercial club in going on record as opposed to the franchise.

Solomon Sax opposed the franchise, reminding Mayor Saari of his pledge to the Commercial club not to "railroad" the ordinance through. He urged city ownership of the plant that the rate might be made as low as possible.

Mr. Poole pointed out the injustice to the poor man who is so situated that he cannot take gas if a municipal plant was installed. He would be paying taxes for the support of the plant, Mr. Poole stated, although getting no benefits.

Superintendent of Schools B. O. Greening recommended that the matter of the franchise be left to the commissioners, who are the elected representatives of the people, who have made a study of the proposition and their judgment should be relied on.

J. C. McGilvery favors granting of the ordinance, contending a municipal plant would be a losing proposition.

Peter Peterson, John Wenn, M. J. Doyle and Slater Bergh talked briefly and favored granting the franchise. Charles Pentilla favored municipal ownership.

Peterson Is Rebuked.

Mr. Peterson intimated that the citizens could not expect justice from the councilmen on rates if they got their gas free "as they now get their lights." This accusation brought words of rebuke and sarcasm from the chair, Attorney McGilvery and Councilman Owens.

Called upon for their opinions on the franchise the councilmen expressed themselves as in favor of granting the franchise but unwilling to appear to be unfair or in undue haste in the proposition. The ordinance has now been before the council for several months.

Mr. Kennedy asked that the matter be hurried as much as possible as he and Mr. Lynch are anxious to know the outcome so that they can prepare for work as soon as the frost is out of the ground.

Messrs. Kennedy and Lynch, if the franchise is granted, plan to locate a plant near Genoa to supply Eveleth, Gilbert, McKinley, Aurora and Biwabik and some of the smaller locations.

The Eveleth News was designated as the official paper.

A claim of Ike Grange for $50 for salary as market master for the last half of December, was referred to the city attorney.

City Attorney Boyle stated that the Northern Lumber company claims not to be able to sell the city land owned on the shore of St. Mary's lake because of options which they have given on the land. Other land on the lake is owned by the state of Minnesota and interests represented by D. W. Freeman. The council desires to purchase the land around the lake in order to protect the city's water supply. When as much land as can be obtained without legal process has been purchased it is probable that condemnation proceedings will be started to get possession of the entire lake frontage.

HIBBING TO ASK SEWER MATERIAL

Village Engineer Ordered to Advertise for Tenders at Once.

Hibbing, Minn., Jan. 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—Two petitions asking for sewer extensions were received by the village council last night. These asked that the extension be made at Brooklyn addition from Second avenue north to the Great Northern railroad tracks and from Sixth avenue to Granite street.

Both were referred to the streets and alleys committee.

Bids for the material to be used in the construction of the Alice sewers were ordered advertised, the material to be left to the judgment of City Engineer Hawley. Work is said to be progressing rapidly at Alice and the contractors urged that the material be advertised for so that there will be no delay in the work pending the arrival of the necessary supplies.

No Library Title.

Mrs. T. S. Silliman, head of the library board, stated by letter that the village had here no records as to the legal status of the Carnegie library or its contract with the village. She declared that the Carnegie corporation at New York was asked about the documents. The library has been here now eight years. In two years more, according to the alleged agreement, the library will become entirely the property of the village. The council allowed $1,000 of next year's appropriation to be given the management at once.

Plumbers urged that a village ordinance providing for a plumbing inspector for all sewer connections in the village be enforced.

An application for a withdrawal of an application for a liquor license filed recently by W. J. Uber was granted. Uber, who has been operating a saloon on Third avenue, declared that he contemplated going out of business here.

Sam Brady presented a bill for $50 for alleged extra work to the Alice fire hall foundation. The council advised that Brady and the contractor both appear at the next meeting when the matter will be settled.

Range City Has Close-Fitting Piece of Headgear.

Eveleth, Minn., Jan. 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—Chief of Police Mitten notified the proprietors of pool and billiard rooms that their places must be closed at 11 p. m. as fixed by ordinance.

The lid which settled on the city with the beginning of the Saari administration is still fitting snugly.

Stopping the sale of beer in the boarding houses is a difficult matter, but Eveleth now has the snuggest-fitting lid that has ever been cemented onto this city and probably any city on the range.

Eveleth, Minn., Jan. 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—Peter Friske, a farmer on the Morrison road, twelve miles from this city, lost heavily by fire, his house and all farm buildings being destroyed. The buildings and contents were a total loss and it is understood that he carried no insurance.

The fire started from an over-heated stove and spread to the farm buildings. All furniture and clothing in the house was lost, together with a winter's supply of groceries. Only a cow was saved from the barn.

FORMER MAYOR NEW PRESIDENT OF CLUB

M. A. Murphy Chosen to Head Virginia Commercial Club.

Virginia, Minn., Jan. 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—Pledging himself to work at all times for a greater Virginia, Former Mayor M. A. Murphy told the members of the Commercial club last night, after he had been chosen president, that he would assume the position with a grudge against no man and always determined to work for the good of the whole city.

A spirit of optimism pervaded the meeting and all displayed much interest in the proceedings.

President Murphy was empowered to appoint his own secretary at a salary of $50 per month. About $1,000 has been subscribed for the work of the club, the chief of which, right now, is to promote county division.

Hopeful About Division.

The subject of dividing St. Louis county was discussed and the club members seemed sanguine of the outcome of the legislation to that end. Next Tuesday the club will meet again when the proposed county division bill will be discussed and plans formulated for sending a big delegation to St. Paul to wait on the legislature. It is planned to have a special train bearing several hundred from the Mesaba range of whom about 300 will be from Virginia, to urge the legislature to pass the bill.

WILL BUY COPPER WHILE IT'S CHEAP

Hibbing Water and Light Board to Take Advantage of Conditions.

Hibbing, Jan. 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—Property owners of Brooklyn want an extension of the water mains from Iron street to Arnold street. A petition headed by A. P. Silliman was received by the water and light board last night and referred to the superintendent of the power plant.

Water meters of several different makes have arrived here and will be tested out soon, according to Supt. Waymire.

Fred M. Smith, a member of the board, recommended that the board now buy its supply of copper wire and other material of that metal for use in the future. "Copper is as cheap now as it ever will be and if Supt. Waymire would figure how much he will need to maintain the plant and provide for anticipated extensions so that this could be purchased now, it might mean a decided saving for the board," he said. The board approved of this scheme and instructed the superintendent to make a survey to ascertain how much is needed.

She was 39 years of age and is survived by her husband and six children, three boys, Fred, William and Charles, and three girls, Deal, Emma and Matilda. The remains were brought here yesterday afternoon and the funeral will be held Thursday from Our Lady of the Sacred Heart church.

MESABA RANGE MAY FACE LABOR SHORTAGE

Eveleth, Minn., Jan. 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—There will be a shortage of men on the Mesaba range next summer if the mining of ore is resumed as extensively as is hoped. Lack of work has resulted in the loss of most of the range's drifting population and should work be resumed at full blast now there would be difficulty in finding men to take the jobs. With the influx of foreign laborers cut off by the war it looks as if labor would be in demand when the industries open up.

Men Pay Homage to Mother's Friend

"I am not surprised to observe the number of men who come into the store to purchase 'Mother's Friend,'" remarked a leading druggist.

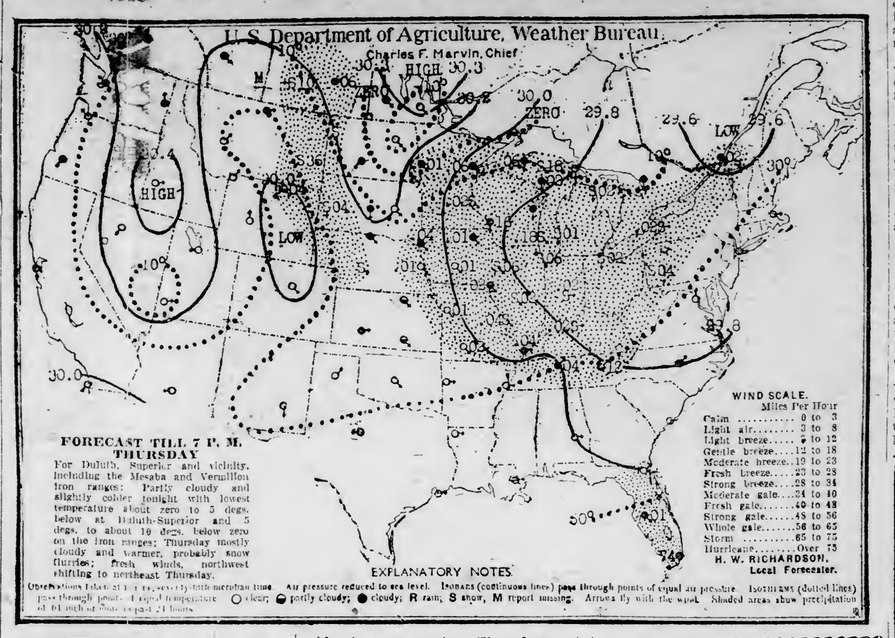

It is a happy thought to send hubby to the drug store. "Mother's Friend" is applied externally over the abdominal muscles.

It is a gentle, soothing lubricant, penetrates to the fine network of nerves beneath the skin and has a marked tendency to relieve the muscular strain to which these broad, flat abdominal muscles are subjected. The cords, tendons and ligaments are thus permitted to stretch without the corresponding surface strain so often involved during the period of expectation. This in part accounts for the entire absence, in many cases reported, of nausea, morning sickness and other distresses, such as laceration of the epidermis so often the case when this gentle form of lubrication is neglected.

"Mother's Friend" has been highly recommended by a host of women who know from experience and by men who know from observation. Write Bradfield Regulator Co., 308 Lamar Bldg., Atlanta, Ga., and we will send you a valuable little book to expectant mothers.

PROPOSED SEWER WORK DISCUSSED

Hot Words Pass Between Mayor Boylan and Alderman Harvey.

Virginia, Minn., Jan. 20.—A delegation of workingmen waited on the city council last night and urged that sewers be built in the alleys between Chestnut and Walnut and Chestnut and Maple streets to provide work for the unemployed. During the discussion of the question of employment, Mayor Boylan said Alderman George Harvey either stated an untruth or was misinformed when he claimed the mayor had discharged the engineer at the incinerating plant, a man with a large family. The mayor never knew the man was out of a job, he said, till the man told him. All councilmen discussed the employment and sewer question and as all admitted they wanted more light, the question was referred to the engineering department to be fully reported back at the next council meeting.

This Marino did and for charitable reasons, Dr. G. N. Butchart recommended to the council that the transportation be furnished by the village. This recommendation was gladly accepted by the council members.

IS YOUR DAUGHTER PALE?

Does she inherit a delicate organization from you? The anemia of young girls may be inherited or it may be caused by bad air, lack of proper food, insufficient out-of-door exercise, hasty and irregular eating and not enough rest and sleep.

It comes on gradually, beginning with languor, indisposition to mental or bodily exertion, irritability and a feeling of fatigue. Later comes palpitation of the heart and headache. In a majority of cases constipation is present. Often the patient craves unusual things to eat, such as starch or chalk. There may be no loss of flesh but the complexion takes on a greenish-yellow pallor.

There is no need to worry in a case of this kind. The treatment is easy and simple. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, non-alcoholic and free from any harmful drug, are just the tonic to remedy this condition. Improvement begins with the first dose. As the blood is made rich and red the peculiar pallor leaves the face, strength and activity gradually return and if the treatment is continued until the last symptom disappears the danger of relapse is slight.

A booklet, "Building Up the Blood" which tells all about this treatment, will be sent free on request by the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y. All druggists sell Dr. Williams' Pink Pills.

Successful Candidate's Pre-Election Pledge Brings on Contest.

Bowman, N. D., Jan. 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—No matter how Judge Crawford decides in the Deihl-Totten contest over the county judgeship the case will be appealed to the supreme court and the question of whether a candidate is guilty of bribery and a violation of the corrupt practices act by offering to draw a lower salary than that legally authorized by law. During the campaign Totten declared in campaign addresses, circulars and paid political advertisements that he would draw only $1,500 per year and let the rest revert to the county treasury. Deihl, who was beaten by several votes, contended that this was bribery and refused to turn over the office. Totten brought mandamus proceedings, which will be heard by Judge Crawford at Beach Saturday.

Executive Will Speak at Big Banquet to Be Held at Owatonna.

Owatonna, Minn., Jan. 20.—With Governor W. S. Hammond and President Vincent of the state university as star speakers, the big banquet to be held here tonight in connection with the Minnesota Dairymen's convention promises to be a record-breaking event in interest and attendance. The convention got under full swing yesterday many notable addresses being delivered and the program was resumed today with interest keener and the attendance larger than yesterday.

Some wonderful exhibits of the skill of Minnesota's buttermakers are on display. Many new devices entering into the manufacture of dairy products are also shown.

President Chris Heen of Osakis, in his annual address, spoke of the wonderful progress made in dairying in Minnesota and ventured the prediction that in years to come Minnesota would be known as the dairy state of the Union.

Treasurer J. M. Jack of Northfield in his annual report, showed the finances of the association to be in excellent condition.

Don D. Lescohier of the state labor bureau spoke on the "Employer's Liability Act," and explained the intricate workings of this much-misunderstood law. He conducted a question box at the close of his address.

WISCONSIN JUDGE IS AMONG VICTIMS

Racine Jurist Caught By Alleged Kansas City Mortgage Swindler.

Waukesha, Wis., Jan. 20.—John W. Allbright of Kansas City, who is said to have operated in every state in the Union in the last fifteen years as a forged mortgage swindler and to have obtained more than $250,000 from his victims, confessed to detectives after he had been held to the grand jury in bonds of $6,000, according to the authorities.

Allbright was arrested here Monday on complaint of a realty loan agent from whom he is said to have attempted to borrow $2,000 on a deed on a farm. He gave the name of John W. Kline, but later apparently identified as Allbright, who was arrested in Kansas City fifteen years ago and who escaped from jail.

Judge Smieding of Racine is alleged to have identified Allbright as the man who swindled him out of $4,000 six years ago through a forged mortgage. The detectives say they have several hundred complaints against him and that he has used at least 600 aliases.

FOUR RELEASED MEN ARE GIVEN OVATION

Copper Country Greets Quartet Who Come Back for New Trial.

Calumet, Mich., Jan. 20.—(Special to The Herald.)—An echo of the copper strike was heard in Houghton last night with the return from the Marquette state prison for new trial of Jabez Cooper, Arthur Davis and William Groff, the three Waddell men, and Edward Polkinghorne, who served as deputies during the strike and were convicted of manslaughter for killing two strikers at Seebersville. The four, in charge of deputies, were met last night at the Houghton depot by thousands of residents of Houghton and Hancock and escorted to the county jail and given a great ovation.

It has been held that, despite their conviction, the four killed the two strikers in the performance of their duties of preserving the peace. They will be released today on bail, which likely will be raised by popular subscription, pending their new trials.

WIDOW WINS FIRST POINT IN CONTEST.

Minneapolis, Minn., Jan. 20.—Mrs. Mae E. Rogers, widow of John ("Toozes") E. Rogers, local hotel keeper and landowner, who died Jan. 22, 1912, leaving an estate estimated at nearly $1,000,000, yesterday won the first step in her contest to have the will set aside and for possession of the Rogers hotel, the main item of the estate, and a third of the remaining property. Probate Judge John A. Dahl made an order permitting her to withdraw her acceptance to the terms of the will.

Now Mrs. Rogers can go into district court and attack the validity of an agreement she made with the executors, shortly after the death of her husband, by which she was to be allowed $6,000 a year for ten years, during which time the executors were to carry on the business of the estate, and make a final distribution, giving the widow one-half of the estate.

OLD OPERATOR RETIRES.

Keyman Who Told World of Custer Massacre to Enjoy Pension.

La Crosse, Wis., Jan. 20.—The man who flashed the news of the Custer massacre to the world is no longer a telegraph operator. After manipulating the key for over fifty years, John M. Carnahan has retired from active service and will return to La Crosse to live.

He was sent from La Crosse to Bismarck, N. D., in 1873, when the latter city was on the edge of civilization. It was while here that he performed the "stunt" that few operators the world over could ever hope to equal; that of sending a 102,000 word story with practically no interruption. For over forty hours he clicked the key that sent the news of the massacre of Custer's army to Washington and the Eastern papers.

He is retiring on a pension.

WOMAN WOULD NOT GIVE UP

Though Sick and Suffering; At Last Found Help in Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Richmond, Pa. — "When I started taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound I was in a dreadfully rundown state of health, had internal troubles, and was so extremely nervous and prostrated that if I had given in to my feelings I would have been in bed. As it was I had hardly strength at times to be on my feet and what I did do was by a great effort. I could not sleep at night and of course felt very bad in the morning, and had a steady headache.

"After taking the second bottle I noticed that the headache was not so bad, I rested better, and my nerves were stronger. I continued its use until it made a new woman of me, and now I can hardly realize that I am able to do so much as I do. Whenever I know any woman in need of a good medicine I highly praise Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound." — Mrs. FRANK CLARK, 3146 N. Tulip St., Richmond, Pa.

MARKET HAS GOOD UPTURN

Wheat Quotations Bulge With Active Export Buying at Seaboard.

Flaxseed Turns Strong on Persistent Crushers' Inquiry—Supplies Light.

Duluth Board of Trade, Jan. 20.—The market scored a further bulge at the close on active export inquiry. May wheat closed 2⅜c up and July 2½c up. May durum closed 2c up and July 1c up.

Oats closed 1c up at 52⅞c for on the track; rye 2c up at $1.17; barley unchanged at from 63c to 74c and corn ⅜c up at 71⅛@71⅝c.

At Winnipeg, May oats closed ¾c up at 60½c and July 1c up at 61½c bid.

Puts on Minneapolis May wheat closed at $1.34⅛ and calls at $1.39⅝.

The wheat market was a variable affair today. The opening was weak as a result of easier Liverpool cables and export inquiries being out of line. Under that influence, prices sold off substantially in all the markets with Chicago leading in that respect. The May option sold off there to $1.38 with stop-loss orders being caught on the way down. Export buying then appeared, and the quotation rose rapidly to the extent of over 3c. Reports came to hand from the seaboard that export houses had taken advantage of the break to pick up considerable grain, and at Minneapolis it was said that some wheat had been sold to go out via Galveston. These intimations were sufficient to change the whole tenor of the American markets over from the bear to the bull side, and led to renewed inquiry from domestic millers.

Locally May wheat opened ¼c off at $1.36, eased off further in sympathy with Chicago, and then advanced 1¾c up to the noon hour. July opened ⅝c off at $1.34, and gained 1⅞c.

Durum again seemed to be without friends at the start, and the May future sold off 1½c from yesterday's close to $1.50. Buying then appeared and it easily moved up 3c. The July future was neglected, and it held at 1c decline at $1.49.

Trading in oats was a feature, with foreigners appearing as liberal buyers. Three cargoes were reported to have been worked to the seaboard, and good foreign buying also came at Chicago and Kansas City. The move in corn appeared to be over for the time being. Armour is reported to have cleaned out a long line of it yesterday.

Receipts of cash wheat at Duluth today made a better showing, 60 cars being inspected compared with 15 last year. At Minneapolis there were 300 cars against 326 a year ago. Primary receipts were light compared with what they had been running, aggregating 850,000 bu or 35,000 bu more than a year ago.

Flaxseed Turns Strong.

Trading in flaxseed continued nervous, but the swings in the market were not as violent as they had been during the two previous days' business. Crushers were in the market at the weak spots, and business put through was in fair proportions, though the trades were in small lots. The market was strong at the close.

May flax opened unchanged at $1.87 and closed 2c up at $1.89 asked.

At Winnipeg, May flax closed ¾c up at $1.68 bid.

Oklahoma complains of considerable infection in the fields. The winter wheat acreage generally the world over is in a normal condition. Farm deliveries of wheat fell off sharply last week. Corn and oats deliveries have been running at an unprecedented volume for this season of the year. Hog slaughterings in the West for the week ending Jan 16 were 113,000, compared with 997,000 for the corresponding and 468,000 for the corresponding period a year ago."

Broomhall cabled from Liverpool: "Weakness in American cables yesterday was offset here by an improved demand, and expectations of light Argentine shipments this week and the market was unchanged. At the opening Canadian winters sold at 6d decline, but later steadied to about yesterday's level. There is little pressure in Plate offers, and private firms here received advices from Argentine of unsettled weather.

"Corn was under pressure of free Plate and American offers with a smaller demand. Spot market was easy and cargoes were offered at 6d decline."

A Chicago market expert considers that the wheat situation in this country is working towards a domestic basis. Taking the crop of 891,000,000 bu and a "carry-over," as of July 1 1914, of 76,000,000 bu, there was a total supply for the season of 967,000,000 bu. Allowing 618,000,000,000 bu for bread and seed, he figures there would be a surplus of 349,000,000 bu for the season.

The distribution of this is interesting. Exports to date exceed 198,000,000 bu, and, on the basis of estimates of 80,000,000 bu already sold for export, but not yet cleared, the total is 280,000,000 bu. This would make the largest exports on record, leaving only 71,000,000 bu to carry over into the next crop. It is considered fortunate that this country has had so much wheat to sell this season. The people of Europe, the foreign governments, the American farmer, and the United States International balance-sheet have alike been the beneficiaries.

HUMOR OF THE CAMPAIGN

Hot Fight on Lighting Problem Developed Many Amusing Incidents.

Some Sidelights on Battle Which Have Hitherto Escaped Publicity.

Since the days of "carpet-baggers" and ward "heelers," politicians have been credited with having a well developed sense of humor.

Every political campaign, national, state or municipal, has been replete with amusing incidences and the fight just finished is no exception to the rule, as it is true that the more bitter the fight, the more laughable are some of the situations which arise.

Perhaps some of the most amusing anecdotes are told of two of the leaders in the fight, Attorney John Norton, supporter of the six-cent ordinance, and Attorney A. E. McManus, one of the leaders of the unit-plant and four-cent ordinance faction.

Several days before the election Mr. Norton had been asked to speak at a West end meeting. He appeared wearing a large pair of green goggles and in very bad humor.

"What's the matter, John?" said one of his co-workers.

"Well," he declared, "I've been trying to get at the truth of the matter about these 25-cycle lights and I looked up several plants where they use 25-cycle power. The fact is, the blamed lights have ruined my eyes."

* * *

Later on, Mr. Norton and Mr. McManus had a tilt, following an argument over the success of the Toronto municipal light and power plant.

"The plant is a failure," Mr. Norton stated.

"No, John," said his opponent, "you're wrong. I have a telegram from the manager which proves that it has been a great success."

"When I was county attorney I sent men to the penitentiary for forging various papers," was the rejoinder.

"They must have pleaded guilty?" said Mr. McManus.

"No," Mr. Norton retorted. "They had lawyers like you to defend them."

* * *

One of Dr. D. H. Day's standbys was a fish story, the nationality of the principal characters varying to suit the audience.

Hans and Wilhelm were nearly broke. They pooled their money and bought a fish dinner. When served, there was one large fish, which Hans promptly appropriated, leaving the smaller one to Wilhelm.

"No, Hans," remonstrated his friend. "That's not the gentlemanly thing to do. You should have asked me which one I wanted. Being polite, I of course would have taken the small fish."

"Well, you've got it," was the answer, "what are you kicking about?"

It's a good, dependable old joke, but it "took well."

Ray M. Hughes was bothered considerably by the condition of the feed water pipe from the Lakeside pumping station, which supplies the city.

On one occasion he said: "Engineers say the life of that pipe is ten years. It already has been in the ground fourteen years and will go all to pieces soon, and the city will be without water."

Mr. McManus had an answer ready: "We have an engineer in the water department, a Mr. Kelley, who has an excellent technical education.

"Some time ago Mr. Kelley had that pipe drained and went through from Lakewood to Thirty-second avenue east, examining every inch en route."

Mr. Kelley now is being congratulated on crawling seven miles through a 42-inch pipe. Some crawl, but Mr. McManus, it is reported, "got away with it."

Rev. J. J. Daniels was warning an audience against the methods of the Duluth-Edison company and its supporters.

"Beware of the wolf in sheep's clothing," he finished.

Surprised by a gale of laughter, he turned to see John Norton, announced as the principal speaker for the 6-cent ordinance, coming down the aisle muffled to the ears in his long shaggy coat, with a sheepskin collar.

* * *

Mr. McManus was sure that all supporters of the 6-cent ordinance were being paid by the electric company. On several occasions he made this allegation, and nearly every time he was interrupted by some indignant citizen who favored the 6-cent idea and who wished to make it clear that he had not been paid.

"My friend," was the invariable retort, "you've been cheated. Go down to 463 Lonsdale building and make a holler, because you've got some coming."

* * *

Mr. Norton was addressing a semi-religious organization of the West end.

"Now gentlemen," he said, "I don't know anything about 25-cycle lights or 60-cycle lights.

"So the other day I stopped in at the Great Northern Power company's plant and said to the engineer: 'Mr. Engineer, what would happen if they gave us a 25-cycle light?'

"He stared at me for a minute and then said:

"'What would happen? Why, my God! We'll all go blind.'"

* * *

Mayor Prince was talking about the 'general staff.'

"I don't know the members of the general staff," he said, "if such a staff had on it the men who belonged there, I believe I would prefer their advice to that of the editorial staff, at that."

* * *

Ghost stories are always in order. Ray Hughes had a ghost story that won a good many votes for the 6-cent ordinance, he believes.

"This ghost," he said "had escaped from its properly assigned resting place and was wandering about.

"An Irishman, the worse for wear, stumbled into an open grave near by, whereupon the ghost accosted him, saying:

"'Pat, what in the world are you doing in there?'

"'Begorrah,' said Pat, 'why in the world aren't you in here where you belong.'"

* * *

Since the fight employes at the Edison company's plant on Fourth avenue west, near the waterfront, have been asked about their famous whistle, which performed all the work done at the plant by blowing once or twice a day.

* * *

Richard Funck was addressing a crowd in the Franklin school last week when he referred to true Christian spirit.

"What has He to do with this fight?" asked some one in the audience.

"A great deal," answered the speaker.

"Then we can't lose," piped up a woman's voice in the rear of the hall.

* * *

During his debate last Saturday night Mr. McManus attempted to illustrate how a Southern judge acted when he was drunk. Of course, Mr. McManus endeavored to act the part of the drunken judge and, while falling all over the stage in his efforts to carry out the picture, a man in the audience yelled out:

"Pretty natural, Mac, pretty natural."

Several speakers at the debate last Saturday were unable to read some figures because of the poor lighting in the Auditorium. And when Ray M. Hughes got up he declared that if electric lights had been used instead of gas, the speakers might have been able to see better.

"There's your municipal lighting for you," declared Mr. Hughes.

At midnight last night, when the returns already in at the city clerk's office showed that the unit plant was defeated the large clock suddenly stopped, and it has since refused to go. City Clerk Palmer claims that the clock had nothing at all to do with the election and refuses to admit that the defeat of M. O. Forbes had any bearing on the matter at all.

Lodgeman Buried.

Minneapolis, Minn., Jan. 20.—The funeral of C. F. van Fleet, one-time doorkeeper for the local Elks' home, who died of injuries received in a fall, was held yesterday from the Masonic temple and the body taken to Waterville, Minn., his former home, for burial. He was formerly a farmer near Waterville. He was 66 years old and leaves a wife and two grown children, Mrs. Victor Simons and John van Fleet, both of Montevideo. Mr. van Fleet was a Mason and a Shriner, as well as an Elk.

ATTACHING BOMB TO AEROPLANE

A German aviator attaching a bomb to his aeroplane before flying over a city of the enemy. These bombs are released by a trigger. As the aviator is compelled to fly at a great height to escape the fire of the enemy, his aim at a particular building or fortification is uncertain. Hence a great many times the bomb misses its mark.

Amusement Notes.

This is Walter G. Baldwin's busy week.

Mr. Baldwin has not been engaged in any electric lighting controversy, but he has been busy signing new actors and actresses for a temporary engagement. The reason is that next week "The Virginian" will be the play presented by the Baldwin Players, and "The Virginian" is not a play that any ordinary stock company can stage without some outside assistance. It is an ambitious production, calling for not only the full strength of the company, but several extra people, and the problem is to get capable and experienced actors for an engagement of one week only.

Friends of the Baldwin Players will have an opportunity next week to see Homer Barton in the role made famous by Dustin Farnum, and Mr. De Stephani as Trampas. It will be the first dramatic production attempted since the opening of the winter engagement. All of the plays to date have been farce comedies.

The Baldwin Players returned to the Lyceum today after an engagement of two nights in Superior. They will continue to offer the double bill until Saturday night, the bill consists of Dr. D. H. Day's sketch, "A Pair of Crooks," a curtain raiser, and the three-act comedy, "Lost 24 Hours."

Miss Ray Samuels, "The Blue Streak of Vaudeville," who is sharing the headline honors at the Orpheum this week with Claude Gillingwater, the great dramatic actor, is one of the few "singles" in vaudeville who has risen to prominence in the last few years. Born of poor parents, she began life at the age of 7 years as errand girl in one of Chicago's largest 5 and 10-cent stores and since then, entirely through her own efforts has risen to be one of the highest priced single acts on the stage today. "I think I owe my success," said Miss Samuels, "partly to the said given me by my mother, who has been my sole adviser on my climb to the top. Also to the 'stick to it' trait in my character. There were many times when things went wrong that I felt like throwing up the whole thing and trying something easier. You may laugh when I say easier, but 'believe me,' the life of a vaudeville performer is no bed of roses."

Besides being a headliner, Miss Samuels is also a farmer. She owns one of the model farms on Long Island, and Long Island is noted for its model farms. It is to this place she hies herself for twelve weeks of the year to rest up, which consists mainly of overseeing the care of the cows, horses, chickens and every little detail connected with the place. "I intend this to be my home after leaving the stage," said Miss Samuels, "and so it's up to me now to learn how to run it."

The feature act at the Orpheum this week is a sketch by Claude Gillingwater, in which Mr. Gillingwater himself is the star. It is one of the best playlets ever seen at the Orpheum.

Grant Gardner and Bert and Hazel Skatelle and all the rest of the good things at the New Grand offer one of the greatest treats of the season at this theater. This big vaudeville bill will be given for the last time tonight. Grant Gardner has a fund of new jokes, funny sayings, and comic songs that have won him eminence as a comedian. Bert and Hazel Skatelle are premier dancers and entertainers on roller skates with a repertoire of society and original and eccentric dances. They were formerly featured with the New York Winter Garden shows. Keno, Welsh and Melrose offer a novelty in comedy acrobatics that is pleasing as well as thrilling and sensational. Herbert's Loop the Loop Dogs are the acme of canine training. A number of cats and some chickens make a combination that is unique. The Broadway feature, "Two Women," is one of the best photoplay features of the season. In the cast are such sterling players as Anita Stewart, Harry Northrop, Julia Swayne Gordon and Earl Williams. "Olive and the Burglar," one of the "Olive Opportunity" series, and "The Indian Suffragettes," are among the other photoplays.

Commencing tomorrow the bill will change entirely, and includes such headline acts as Copeland, Draper and company in their latest skit, "Room 44 and 45;" Weber, Bolan and Frazer, offering a brilliant blend of wit, jollity and melody—late of the Eva Tanguay Volcanic Vaudeville company; Gardner and Nicholai, in a comedy skit, "At the Pay Station," and the Engfords, European novelty gymnasts, in exceptional exploits. Among the photoplays is the two-reel feature, "The Friendship of Lamond," a story of love and sacrifice; one of the Helen Holmes railroad stories, "The Girl Telegrapher's Peril;" a Biograph comedy, "They Called It Baby," and the Hearst-Selig news of events in the world's history.

Winsome Mary Pickford, known the world over as "America's Sweetheart," is rather an expensive young lady—when it is known that her new contract just made with the Paramount-Famous players, calls for a salary of $125,000 a year.

A photoplay attraction of genuine beauty and charm is the current Famous Players-Paramount four-part feature at the Rex, which presents the inimitable screen idol, in a new and wonderful motion picture version of the celebrated and universally loved story of "Cinderella."

"Cinderella" might have been written to order for Miss Pickford, so amazingly does the role of the ragged and beautiful little cinder-girl fit her. The story, which has been enthroned in the hearts of all children since fairy-stories were first thrillingly and mysteriously whispered in the dark, to the little ones at "mother's knee," and the memory of which they cherish through all their lives, however old they grow to be, is so well-known that no retelling is necessary here.

"Father's Strategy" is the feature at the Zelda today.

Matthew Porter, having for years gratified his only child's, Irene, every whim, finds that as she grows older her extravagant taste in dress threatens to ruin him.

Finally, she buys a new hat, dress, shoes, etc., and when he sees the bill he is greatly concerned. He discusses a course to pursue with Mrs. Porter. Irene, in the meantime, has met John Shields, a bachelor, and when she invites him to her home Porter gets an idea.

He plans to make things so pleasant for Shields that he will marry Irene. His strategy works and Irene and Shields become engaged. Irene plans an elaborate wedding, the estimated cost of which scares Porter. He resorts to strategy again and tells Irene that she cannot marry Shields for three years in the hope that the young couple will elope. The plan works again. And that same night Shields and Irene elope much to the relief of Porter.

THE HOPELESS QUEST.

The Popular Magazine: The man about whom this is written is the George Miller who has lived in many parts of the country, having as his profession journalism.

Early in life George was possessed by a mania to find a town or city in which there was not another George Miller. He became peeved by the monotony with which he received the mail of other George Millers, while the other George Millers read his letters and telegrams. He spent several weary years looking for the ideal place.

Of last he lit in a little town in the west. It was so little that it consisted of the railroad station and a store, with the roofs of three houses peeping through the trees of a hillside four miles away.

"Ah!" exclaimed George the evening that he arrived, "here at last is my town. There's not another George Miller around. I'll live happily here for the rest of my life."

The next morning, as he went to the postoffice in the store, his step had a new spring, and his spirits were high. He was delighted with the outlook.

When he asked for his mail, he was handed one letter addressed to Mr. George Miller. It ran as follows:

"My Darling George: How silly of you to think it necessary to propose to me by letter! Why didn't you do it the other night when you were here? You must have known that I loved you, goosie. I knew a long time ago that you loved me, and it was the happiest——"

But George read no more. Emitting a loud shriek, he threw the letter at the man behind the counter, rushed down to the railroad station, and bought a ticket.

BEES WON'T STING HIM.

San Antonio Express: Bees, those busy little insects whose example of industry is impressed on school children, and whose sting is dreaded by almost every one, are the willing servants of C. C. Potchernick, who is known as the "Bee King of Southwest Texas." Where others use smoke, veils and gloves to rob a beehive, Mr. Potchernick uses nothing but his bare hands. Bees cover his hands, face and body, yet they seldom sting him. There is something in his soft touch and calm manner that impresses the bees immediately, and accordingly he is their friend.

It is no uncommon thing to see Mr. Potchernick with an entire hive of bees stringing to his face and hanging to his chin like a great black beard while he smilingly goes about removing the honey from the hive. The bees cover his hands and oftentimes his arms look as though they are incased in great, black gauntlets, so thick are the bees clustered on them.

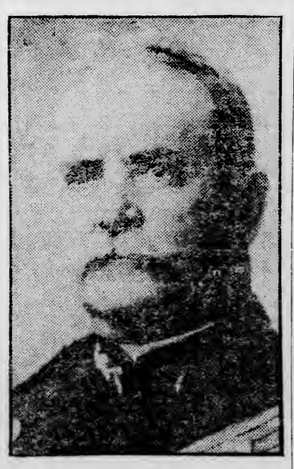

On a recent afternoon a woman called the bee company where he is employed and asked that a man be sent to her home immediately to remove a hive of bees which had swarmed in her chimney. Mr. Potchernick went down and found the bees had swarmed about midway in the chimney and could not be reached from above or below. He built a smoke in the fireplace and drove the bees out. They settled on the limb of a nearby tree, but the limb broke and they settled again on a tree in an adjoining yard. It was a shade tree, and the owner of it did not want the limb sawed off. Mr. Potchernick took a small box, and, taking the bees by the handfuls from the tree, placed them in the box and carried them safely to the office without the loss of one or without being stung. These were strange bees and unused to being handled.

HIS ONLY CHANCE.

Pictorial Review: "Why do you carry that umbrella, little boy?" asked the passer-by curiously. "It's not raining and the sun is not shining."

"I know," said the youth, "but when it rains pa wants it and when the sun shines ma wants it, and this is the only kind of weather I can use it at all."

FAVORS VOLUNTEER AVIATION CORPS

GEN. GEORGE P. SCRIVEN.

Gen. George P. Scriven, chief signal officer of the army, has told the Aero Club of America that he is in favor of forming a volunteer aviation corps with landing stations on both coasts as well as in the interior so as to be prepared for a possible invasion of the United States by a potential enemy. He expressed the opinion that the aeroplane in the present European war had proved itself the greatest of all auxiliaries of war. He has little faith in the efficacy of dirigible balloons.

Stomach Troubles Due to Acidity

SO SAYS EMINENT SPECIALIST.

So-called stomach troubles, such as indigestion, wind, and stomach-ache are in probably nine cases out of ten simply evidence that fermentation is taking place in the food contents of the stomach, causing the formation of gas and acids. Wind distends the stomach, and causes that full, oppressive feeling sometimes known as heartburn, while the acid irritates and inflames the delicate lining of the stomach. The trouble lies entirely in the fermenting food. Such fermentation is unnatural, but may involve most serious consequences if not corrected. To stop or prevent fermentation of the food contents of the stomach and to neutralize the acid, and render it bland and harmless, a teaspoonful of bisurated magnesia, probably the best and most effective corrector of acid stomach known, should be taken in a quarter of a glass of hot or cold water immediately after eating, or whenever wind or acidity is felt. This stops the fermentation, and neutralizes the acidity in a few moments. Fermentation, wind and acidity are dangerous and unnecessary. Stop or prevent them by the use of a proper antacid, such as bisurated magnesia, which can be obtained from any druggist and thus enable the stomach to do its work properly without being hindered by poisonous gas and dangerous acids.—M. Try This If You Have Dandruff

There is one sure way that never fails to remove dandruff completely and that is to dissolve it. This destroys it entirely. To do this, just get about four ounces of plain, ordinary liquid arvon; apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.

By morning most, if not all, of your dandruff will be gone, and three or four more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it, no matter how much dandruff you may have.

You will find, too, that all itching and digging of the scalp will stop instantly and your hair will be fluffy, lustrous, glossy, silky and soft and look and feel a hundred times better.

You can get liquid arvon at any drug store. It is inexpensive, and four ounces is all you will need. This simple remedy has never been known to fail.—Advertisement.

NEW COMBINATION OF PRIMARY ELECTION AND CONVENTION SYSTEMS

Bill Also Would Restore the Legislature to Partisan Basis.

Tempest in the House Over Criticism of Committee's Action.

Bill to License Billboards and Street Car Advertising.

By a Staff Correspondent.

St. Paul, Minn., Jan. 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—A new combination of primary election and convention systems, under which the primary election is effective only when candidates get a majority of all the votes cast, and nominations are made by party conventions out of the list of primary candidates when no candidate gets a majority, is proposed in a bill introduced in the senate this morning by Senator Rustad of Wheaton. Representative Sam Y. Gordon of Brown's Valley, will introduce the same bill in the house tomorrow.

Another interesting change proposed by the bill is the restoration of senators and representatives to a partisan basis, leaving judges and county officers non-partisan. Later on a bill will be offered providing for conventions to name one or two party candidates for each office, leaving the primary lists open to others also. The Rustad-Gordon bill provides that delegates to county conventions shall be elected at the primary.

The majority party will hold its county conventions on the second Tuesday of July at county seats, and the other party conventions will follow from day to day in the order of party strength. These county conventions will make nominations for local offices where no candidate receives a majority and will select delegates to the state conventions. The state conventions will be on the third Tuesday of July after the primary election, alternating between St. Paul and Minneapolis. The bill also provides that judicial candidates may be nominated by petitions, 500 for supreme court justices and 250 for district judges.

Would Cut Appropriations.

Representative Guilford of Minneapolis, following out a suggestion in Governor Hammond's message, this morning offered a resolution directing the appropriations committee not to let the total appropriations exceed these made in 1911, which would mean a considerable cut from the figures of 1913. The resolution went over to tomorrow.

WASTE AMMUNITION WITHOUT RESULTS

Austrians of Cattaro Bombard Montenegrin Position at Mount Lovchen.

Paris, Jan. 21.—The Austrians of Cattaro, near the Montenegrin frontier, have furiously bombarded Mount Lovchen, a strong Montenegrin position just across the frontier without effect, according to a Havas agency dispatch from Cettinje, Montenegro. The dispatch says:

"The guns of the Austrian fleet and force at Cattaro furiously bombarded Mount Lovchen for several hours. A great quantity of ammunition was expended without damaging the Montenegrin positions.

"A heavy fall of snow in the past few days has stopped military operations on all fronts."

SLAUGHTER ENORMOUS

Battlefield Near Soissons Not Yet Cleared of Its Dead.

Losses Rank With American Battles of Bull Run and Antietam.

Before Soissons, Jan. 18, by courier to Berlin, Jan. 20, via London, Jan. 21.—At the headquarters of a certain German army yesterday evening, Gen. von Kluck and his staff celebrated the battle and their success at Soissons in typical German military fashion with a simple soldiers' meal, a bowl of punch brewed by the expert hands of von Kluck, himself, a graceful little speech by the general and a silent toast to the dead—both French and German.

The earth was still dropping on the graves of the fallen. So many men perished during the eight days of the bitter struggle for positions across the river, from Soissons, that today, the fourth after the close of the battle, the plateau and gorges are still strewn thickly with dead, although 4,000 members of the landsturm have been engaged in clearing up the battlefield.

Most of the German dead have been given to the earth, but French in-

Appropriation of $150,000 for Normal School at Bemidji.

Votes Next Week on County Option and Woman Suffrage.

By a Staff Correspondent.

St. Paul, Minn., Jan. 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—The long fight for a sixth state normal school to be located in Northern Minnesota made another advance yesterday when the house committee on normal schools voted to recommend for passage the bill appropriating $150,000 to build the school at Bemidji.

Two years ago the legislature passed a bill providing for the location of a new normal school in the territory betwen the Duluth and Moorhead schools, and Bemidji, after a sharp competition, was picked as the location. A site has been furnished, and now the legislature is asked to provide the school.

Before the bill appropriating the necessary money reaches the stage of legislative action, it will have to go to the appropriations committee, which passes on all proposals for appropriations.

The bill was introduced by Representatives L. G. Prendergast of Bemidji, H. J. Miner of International Falls, Charles S. Wilkins of Wadena, Farley Dare of Walker and E. R. Hinds of Hubbard.

Senator Leonard H. Nord of International Falls will lead the fight for the appropriation in the senate, though he will have the help and co-operation of the senators from neighboring districts.

PROBLEMS OF U. S. COMMERCE

International Law Discussed at Foreign Trade Conference.

Speaker Thinks Britain Should Be Held Responsible for Delays.

St. Louis, Mo., Jan. 21.—Consideration of problems of international law as they affect American commerce during the present European war occupied this morning's session of the Second National Foreign Trade convention, which opened here today.

The afternoon session was to be devoted to a consideration of the government regulation of commerce as it affects foreign trade and to the problems of the small manufacturer who desires foreign trade.

Several hundred delegates representing the leading commercial organizations of the United States were in attendance.

After preliminary addresses of welcome by Mayor Kiel of St. Louis and by Samuel D. Capen, president of the St. Louis Business Men's league, an address was delivered by Secretary of Commerce Redfield. Permanent organization then was effected.

Addresses by Prof. John Bassett Moore, former counsellor of the state

SAILORS ON AMERICAN SHIPS ARE ARRESTED AT BREMEN BUT RELEASED

Crews of Greenbrier and Carolyn Detained Temporarily.

No Reason Known at State Department for the Acts.

Ships Carried Cotton From United States to the German Port.

Washington, Jan. 21.—While the American government today awaited Great Britain's explanation of her seizure of the American steamer Greenbrier, it developed that American sailors of her crew, as well as those of the steamer Carolyn, had been arrested by German authorities at Bremen.

In a brief dispatch informing the state department that the sailors had been released from detention and were now free to join their ships when they left port, the American consul at Bremen gave the first information that the sailors had been arrested and added no details.

Officials here could only suppose that the men might have been arrested for misconduct ashore or possibly detained until the departure of their ships to suppress any military information they might gain.

The Greenbrier sailed from New Orleans and Norfolk with cotton for Bremen under a certificate issued by the British consul at Norfolk.

The Carolyn also carried a cotton cargo to Bremen. Apparently she got through without interference and the arrest of her sailors is her first appearance in the international incidents arising out of the transport of cotton to Germany.

UNABLE TO GET FOOD TO MEXICAN POINTS

Supplies for Starving Have to Be Sold at Brownsville, Tex.

San Antonio, Tex., Jan. 21.—Food supplies sent to relieve hundreds of people reported to be starving in Mexico were prevented from reaching the unfortunates for whom they were intended, and had to be sold, according to acting director of the American Red Cross society, S. Poulterer Morris. Mr. Morris was sent to Mexico to distribute several cars of supplies.

Mr. Morris said he found it impossible to get the shipment into Mexico for distribution and disposed of the food at Brownsville. The food was purchased in Texas and hurried to the border at the request of Consul General Hanna, whose appeal for aid for the suffering Mexicans cited conditions as deplorable south of the Rio Grande.

Mr. Morris made a tour of investigation through the states of Nuevo Leon, Tamaulipas and Chihuahua and is compiling a detailed report for the Red Cross.

IS INVESTIGATING THE SHOOTING OF STRIKERS

FRANK P. WALSH.

New York, Jan. 21.—Chairman Frank P. Walsh of the Federal commission on industrial relations, announced after an executive session of that body that he had a corps of investigators at Roosevelt, N. J., making an inquiry into the shooting there of strikers formerly employed by the American Agricultural Chemical company.

A. F. OF L. TO TAKE ACTION ON SHOOTING

Work of Deputies at Roosevelt to Be Investigated at Once.

New York, Jan. 21.—Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, announced today that that organization would certainly take action concerning the shooting of strikers at Roosevelt, N. J.

Deputies Back to Work.

Roosevelt, N. J., Jan. 21.—Roosevelt was quiet today. There was no indication of any repetition of the disorders which culminated Tuesday in the shooting of nineteen strikers by deputy sheriffs stationed at one of the two plants of the American Agricultural Chemical company. The funeral of the man who was killed, which all of the 900 strikers expected to attend, was postponed until tomorrow.

Some of the twenty-two deputies who pleaded not guilty late yesterday afternoon to charges of manslaughter in connection with the shooting were back at the plant today, it was said. A bond in the sum of $2,000 for each man of the twenty-two was furnished by a surety company last night.

Patrick F. Gill, the investigator assigned here by the Federal commission on industrial relations, has completed his investigation. He left today for New York to place his report before Frank P. Walsh, chairman of the commission.

FIGHT ON BILL IS CONTINUED

Senator Weeks Resumes Talk Against Ship Purchase Measure.

Democrats to Complete Revision of Bill in Caucus Thursday Night.

Washington, Jan. 21.—Senate Republicans continued their fight today on the administration ship purchase bill. Senator Weeks, denying that he sought to filibuster, resumed his attack.

Democrat leaders, meanwhile, sought to reach an agreement on proposed amendments so that their caucus may complete the revision of the bill tonight.

"We want to get the facts before the country and we are taking the only way left to us to accomplish it," said Senator Weeks.

"I believe there are possibilities of gravest international complications involved in the passage of this bill; that if it passed it would be ineffective; that it is economically dangerous; that the sentiment in favor of it is almost negligible and that if passed by this or any other congress it would be done as the result of the most flagrant political pressure."

Turning to President Wilson's Indianapolis speech, Mr. Weeks declared the people of the country, judging from press reports, could not understand how the president "could have so far lapsed from his previous poise and good taste as to go to the other extreme by indulging in the unfounded statements with which his whole address was filled."

"Could there be a more violent wrench to popular government," he

WILL NOT INSURE STEAMSHIP DACIA

Federal Insurance Bureau Will Not Take Chances on Vessel.

Washington, Jan. 21.—The Federal war risk insurance bureau today decided not to insure the steamer Dacia, the former Hamburg-American liner now under the American flag because British authorities have indicated she is certain to be hauled before a prize court to investigate her transfer.

However, a policy probably will be issued today on her cargo of cotton. That is not contraband.

Steamer Will Sail.

Washington, Jan. 21.—Treasury officials continued today the compilation of documentary proof of the bona fide transfer of the steamship Dacia, now loading cotton in Texas for German ports, from German to American registry.

The proposed voyage of the Dacia will be undertaken despite the warning of the British government that it would seize the vessel.

GIVES VIEWS ON INDUSTRIAL UNREST

DANIEL GUGGENHEIM.

GUGGENHEIM IS INTERESTED

Mining Magnate Says He Keeps Advised as to Labor Conditions.

Appears at Investigation as to Causes of Industrial Unrest.

New York, Jan. 21.—At the continuation here today of the investigation of the causes of industrial unrest in which it is seeking a solution of the unemployment problem, and a method to prevent strikes, the Federal commission on industrial relations had invited George W. Perkins, Daniel Guggenheim, E. J. Berwind, Samuel McRoberts and others to give their views on these questions.

Daniel Guggenheim, president of the American Smelting & Refining company was the first witness. He named many corporations in which he and his brothers are directors. The witness did not know how many men are employed by any of the companies he is connected with. Mr. Guggenheim said he kept himself advised as to labor conditions among his employes, and that he paid frequent visits to the various plants.

The executive committees of the various companies, he said, were constantly visiting plants and mines and keeping themselves informed as to conditions. Mr. Guggenheim said that for the last year his health had not been good but that prior to that he had regularly visited plants in New Jersey, Colorado, Missouri, Washington and Mexico. He said in the mining busi-

NORTHWEST OF WARSAW

So Far as Known Kaiser's Troops Are Not of Great Number.

Russian Attacks Are Resumed With Steamroller Characteristics.

Activities in Western Theater Confined to Scattered Artillery Attack.

Petrograd, Jan. 21, via London, 2:30 p. m.—German forces have appeared in the rear of the Russian army, which is advancing towards the Prussian border. They are along the road from Plonsk, forty miles northwest of Warsaw, to Goslitza, thus being between the advancing Russian army and the Polish capital.

So far as is known only comparatively small bodies of Germans, consisting of reconnoitering detachments, are in this locality.

The Bourse Gazette says Grand Duke Nicholas has given all Russo-German residents in the districts between Warsaw and the Russian front six days in which to dispose of their property, preparatory to being removed to the interior, because it was learned Russo-Germans were aiding the Germans.

Russians Resume.

London, Jan. 21.—Russia's threefold assault on the Germanic allies has in the opinion of British observers of the war, resumed its steamroller characteristics alike in the north, the center and the south.

In the north the advance into East Prussia is reported as threatening the German lines of communication and in Poland the trench warfare continues with small results for either side, but the Russians confidently dwell on what they call large German losses in efforts to hold present positions. In the south the Russians declare that the Austrian resistance seems to have been broken down entirely, and that Transylvania lies open to them.

Reports of Roumania's long-awaited entrance into the fight continue to circulate; one rumor today has it however, that Roumania will not immediately declare war, but that she will throw troops into Transylvania, which is Hungarian territory for the purpose of protecting Roumanian nationals.

Germans Optimistic.

Meanwhile German official utterances continue optimistic. The communications given out every day say that the situation in the eastern theater of the war remains unchanged. Certain semi-official summaries of events, received in London by wireless telegraphy from Berlin, are somewhat more communicative. Such a message received recently says the Russians have had some successes in which their losses were heavy and that the Turks have been operating successfully in the Caucasus and are now marching on Egypt.

Telegrams reaching here from Berlin record the arrival there of Archduke Charles Francis, the Austrian crown prince, and Dr. Von Bethmann-Hollweg, the German imperial chancellor,

TURKS REFUSE TO POSTPONE ADVANCE

Insist on Egyptian Expedition Despite German Protests.

London, Jan. 21.—A dispatch from Cairo, Egypt, to Reuter's Telegram company, says:

A refugee who was recently employed in an important post by the Turkish government in Syria states that German officers recently made an urgent report to Berlin via Constantinople, recommending the postponement of the Egyptian expedition until its organization and equipment were improved and reinforced. The reply from Constantinople was that the advance must be pushed at all costs.

"German experts declare that the expedition under present conditions can only result in small raiding parties reaching Egypt as the main body must advance along a route well known to the enemy, making opposition easy."

WHY IS IT?

SUMMARY OF THE WAR NEWS

A series of battles is in progress along the Franco-Belgian battle line, but only comparatively small numbers of troops are engaged and no general movements are apparent. Calm prevailed in the Soissons region, the Germans thus far having made no attempt to extend their victory there. Today's official statement from Berlin describes the repulse of French attacks at various points along the front, and asserts slight advances already made by the Germans in some cases. Near Notre Dame de Lorette, however, they were driven from trenches.

A German victory in a small battle in East Prussia is announced in Berlin. German reconnoitering forces have appeared northwest of Warsaw, in the rear of the Russian army, which is advancing toward the Prussian border.

Russian accounts of the war with Turkey make it appear that the resistance of the Ottoman troops has virtually collapsed. An official statement today from the Russian staff of the Caucasian army says that further defeats have been inflicted on the Turkish troops in a series of rear guard actions, and that the Turks, after suffering heavy losses, are retreating precipitately. The statement announces the capture of a trans-Caucasian town near the Turkish border. It is said also that a Russian warship sank twelve vessels off the coast of Asia Minor.

Fighting between Austrians and Montenegrins, which has been almost at a standstill on account of the winter weather and heavy snows, has been resumed across the border from Cattaro. The Austrians bombarded Montenegrin position, but it is said at Cettinje that no damage was inflicted.

The allies now have their eyes on the Rhine and British troops may be sent to Belfort, in Eastern France, to take part in any possible advance toward the river, says a Geneva report, which lacks verification. It is stated that the advance French trenches are within sixteen miles of the Rhine.

SIDEWALK VICTIM SUES FOR $4,000

Robert Rasmussen Files Action Against the City.

Robert Rasmussen, who claims to have been injured by a fall on the sidewalk at Seventh avenue west and Superior street on Dec. 26 last, wants $4,000 damages from the city, according to a complaint filed with City Clerk Palmer yesterday afternoon. Rasmussen alleges that the sidewalk was icy and as a result slippery and dangerous to pedestrians. The complaint will be referred to the commissioners at their meeting Monday afternoon.

Count Arrested.

Geneva, via Paris, Jan. 21, 4:25 a. m. —The newspaper Stampa of Turin, Italy, announces that a British warship has arrested on board the liner Duc d'Aosta, from Genoa for New York, Count von Keller, a German officer of high rank, who had been sent to the United States on a secret mission. The newspaper adds that the count has been landed at Gibraltar.

PROOF OF A GREAT KIDNEY MEDICINE

Several years ago I was taken violently ill. My trouble began with a pain in my stomach, so severe that it seemed as if knives were cutting me. I was treated by two of the best physicians in the country, and consulted another. None of them suspected that the cause of my trouble was kidney disease. They all told me that I had cancer of the stomach, and would die. I grew so weak that I could not walk any more than a child a month old, and I only weighed sixty pounds. One day my brother saw in the paper your advertisement of Swamp-Root, the great kidney remedy. He bought me a bottle and I took it. They could see a change in me so they obtained more, and I took in all thirty bottles of Swamp-Root. That may seem a great deal, but I spent more than the cost of thirty bottles of Swamp-Root for doctor's medicine, and it did not do me a particle of good. I was so weak and run down that it took considerable to build me up again. I am well now, thanks to Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and weigh 148 pounds, and am keeping house for my husband and brother on a farm.

CANADIANS ARE GLOOMY

Capt. McDougall Says Depression Is Widespread Because of War.

Shrapnel Being Manufactured—Most Canadian Soldiers in England.

Capt. Alex McDougall, who has just returned from Collingwood, Ont., where the shipbuilding company of which he is president, is located, says that there is an extreme business depression there, and in fact, all over Ontario. The only work which the shipbuilding company has, he says, is a small vessel for the Canadian government, but the company is employing 150 men, which is a real god-send to the town, he declares.

"Everything else is closed down," said the captain, "and that is merely indicative of conditions elsewhere in, at least, the eastern part of the Dominion. I intended to stay over last Sunday to meet old friends, for my old home was there, but everybody was so blue, I got out on Saturday.

"A large number of the sons of families in that section enlisted for the war, but they are still in England. That leads some of those poor fathers and mothers to hang onto hope that the war will end before their boys are sent to the front, but I'm afraid their hopes are vain. Kitchener said, you know, that he does not know when the war will end, but that he knows when it will begin, and that will be in May. The Canadian and other colonial boys who are being taught how to be soldiers will doubtless be thrown onto the continent about then and then they will see real fighting and a lot of them will never see their old homes again.

Hopes of Victory.

"I had a letter written a few days ago from a big shipbuilder in England, perhaps the largest shipbuilder in the world, and he says that everything has been checked over there because of the war. They hope for Roumania and Bulgaria to join the allies, but because of the bitter enmity created through Roumania's greed in settling the last war, they fear delay.

"An interesting belief I found in Toronto on my recent visit was that the fleets will force the Dardanelles in the spring in order to force a passage for the grain; and that when that will have been accomplished, the Turks, in an effort to save themselves, will turn upon their present allies, the Germans, that Italy will come in and that there will be a general crushing and surrounding of Germany and Austria.

"About five manufacturing establishments in Canada are now engaged in making shrapnel for the allies. Our concern was offered work and accepted, but the red tape had not yet been unwound when I left. However, I expect that we will get a contract to make shrapnel. The government furnishes the machinery and material and the factories simply do the work. But it engages that much more help, and that is the object of scattering the work here and there."

SAVES ON LAMPS AND AERIAL BRIDGE

During 1914 the city saved $1,579.41 in the operation of the aerial bridge and $854.99 in the handling of electric street lamps and arc lights, according to the annual report of Leonidas Merritt, commissioner of public utilities, filed yesterday with City Auditor Campbell.

In operating the bridge throughout the year, the department spent $5,695.58 for salaries and payment for labor, $426 for ferry service during the time the bridge was closed for repairs and $682.33 for power. The total expense was $8,098.09, while in 1913 the expenditure was $9,677.50.

For street lights and incandescent lamps the department spent $37,661.72, while in 1913 the cost was $38,516.71. Pier lights in 1914 cost $280.07, while the expense in 1913 was $260.74. The cost for gas lights and gas last year was $2,670.10, while in 1913 it was $2,670.

Water fountains throughout the city caused an expense of $3,905 during the year, according to the report. In 1913 the expense for fountains was $3,347.50.

ARCHITECT WAS NOT AT TRIAL

P. M. Olson's Name Is Stricken From List of Defendants.

P. M. Olson, local architect, did not appear as a defendant in the law suit brought to trial in district court this week by Gust Frederickson and Otto Pearson, contractors, although his named appeared in the papers of the case as a party defendant with the directors of School District No. 71 near Rice Lake. Before the case was disposed of the court granted a motion to strike the architect's name from the list of defendants, which also included the First National bank of this city.

The suit was one in which the contractors recovered judgment from the school district and bank for the possession of certified checks totaling $526.80, which had been given to the school directors to guarantee faithful performance of their contract to build a school house. After their bid had been accepted, the contractors were unable to agree with the school district as to the kind of a bond to be furnished and refused to go ahead with the work, demanding the return of their money. The school board refused and suit was instituted. Architect Olson was a witness at the trial.

SAYS OFFICERS WERE INEFFICIENT

City Clerk Urges More Capable Men to Serve as Judges.

That some of the judges and clerks at the special election Tuesday were inefficient, was the admission made this morning by City Clerk Palmer, who declared that he is unable to obtain better men, and that it is up to the voters of the city to come out and serve on election day.

City Clerk Palmer has received many complaints about the judges and clerks employed at elections for several years past, but he declares that he is helpless. There are few capable men willing to serve, he says, while he must pick the others from a long list of those who are inefficient.

"There are not many citizens of Duluth," said Mr. Palmer, "who are willing to get out and serve on an election board and as a result we must fill up with what men we can get. If the voters want accuracy, system and probably a cleaner election, why don't some of them come out and serve just for the sake of clean citizenship? It would be a credit to the city if some of the prominent men would volunteer their services on one or two days a year."

Mr. Palmer explained this morning that he makes his list of judges and clerks out several weeks before each election and that he would appreciate volunteer offers especially for the regular election on April 6. That will be an exceptionally hard vote to count, because of the second and third choice votes, he said, and capable and efficient men are needed.

MORAN CHANGED MIND; GUILTY

Goes to Work Farm for Ninety Days—Hoy on Trial.

On the eve of his trial, John Moran indicted by the January grand jury on a charge of grand larceny in the second degree, changed his mind about his innocence and pleaded guilty in district court this morning. Judge Fesler sentenced him to ninety days at the work farm.

Moran admitted that he had stolen $90.95 from Frank Webb on Dec. 11, 1914. The court gave him a lecture in which he discouraged stealing as a pastime and warned the prisoner that he would not get off as easily next time.

The case of the state against John Hoy, 31, railroad switchman, charged with the theft of several tubs of butter from a Northern Pacific box car, will probably be concluded this afternoon. The taking of testimony is about finished and it is believed that the jury will take the case before the afternoon adjournment of court.

As soon as the Hoy case is in the jury's hands, another panel will be drawn to try either Gust Evangelus, charged with stealing, or Mary Traverse, colored, accused of murderous assault.

Evangelus, it is claimed, purloined a leather pouch containing $25 from Axel Zobrus at 218 West First street Nov. 21. The Traverse woman is accused of having attempted to take the life of Pearl Ball by shooting her with a revolver on Dec. 16.

MURDER VERDICT HAS BEEN AFFIRMED.

Bismarck, N. D., Jan. 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—Herbert Glass, convicted of murdering Tom Corcoran in Bowman county, must serve out his sentence in the state penitentiary, as the supreme court has refused to grant a new trial. Glass was convicted with his companion in the murder of Corcoran, a sheep herder, who was killed in a drunken row.

GUARANTEE OF DEPOSITS

Farmers' Club of North Dakota Legislature Discusses Question.

Bill Prohibiting Sale of Habit-Forming Drugs Makes Progress.

Bismarck, N. D., Jan. 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Farmers' club of the legislature has begun consideration of a system of bank deposit guarantee, the subject being taken up at a meeting held last evening. No definite decision was reached, however. Several of the speakers were favorable to a state law providing for the guarantee of deposits and some definite step to secure the passage of such an act may be taken.

Even in the face of the report of the state board of control advising against the proposition of state owned terminal elevators, there is more or less agitation along that line. The Farmers' club has a committee which is engaged in considering it, while a representative of the city of St. Paul is also on the ground seeking to interest the legislators in placing the elevator there.

School Transportation.

The house educational committee has appointed a subcommittee to redraft two bills bearing on the subject of school transportation in rural or consolidated districts. Under the present law, children living a mile and a half from a school are entitled to transportation. Some regard this minimum distance as too low, and the committee is expected to report out a measure that will fix the minimum at two and a half miles.

The senate committee on counties has recommended for passage Senator J. E. Paulson's measure providing that counties may dispose of poor farms, and may purchase new ones. The same act permits two or more counties to combine in the operation of poor farms.

Another bill approved by a senate committee relates to the illegal sale of dangerous drugs. It specifically prohibits the sale of several habit-forming drugs.

All Counties Qualified.

Under an amendment made to the house bill which was passed fixing the minimum valuation of counties that may extend aid to county fairs, it will be possible for every county in North Dakota to hold such fairs. The minimum fixed is $1,500,000.

The house would not countenance the measure proposing that the rate of interest on school land contracts be reduced. At the present time, purchasers of school lands in the state are compelled to pay 6 per cent interest, while when that money is paid into the state school fund, it is immediately loaned out again at 5 per cent.

Senator Nelson of Rolette county has introduced a bill providing for an appropriation of $3,750 for the state fish hatchery at St. John.

Representative Frietag has a bill to put all county officers on a salary basis and have all fees covered into the county treasury. It is estimated these fees amount to $76,000 a year.

DR. BARKER GIVES TALK TO FATHERS

Also Guest at Dormitory Banquet; Health Week Will Close Friday.

Dr. Barker has been spreading his gospel of "good health" throughout the city, and yesterday addressed more than 700 students at the two high schools in West Duluth, speaking more than an hour in each place. He was received with great enthusiasm. A good share of the day was spent in private interviews with prominent business men.

At 6 o'clock last night Dr. Barker was a guest of the dormitory men and their friends at a three-course dinner at the Y. M. C. A. building. His address was applauded with great enthusiasm, and at 8 o'clock he addressed 175 men, mostly fathers, in the association lobby, using as his subject "A Fathers Responsibility to His Boy." He dealt very plainly with the subject of teaching sex hygiene to boys, from the age of 6 on up to 21 or 22 years of age.

Friday noon Dr. Barker will give a special lecture for business men at 12:30 at the association, and will close Friday night with his address to both men and women, girls and boys, on the subject of "How to Live to Be 100 Years Old." One of the most important meetings of his series is his address on "Social Purity" tonight at the Y. M. C. A. gymnasium, to which all men of the city are invited.

ONE LONE CURLER REPRESENTS CLUB

Vice President Knutson of Fort William, Former Duluthian, Here.

A. H. Knutson of Fort William, Ont., arrived in the city this morning that the Fort William Curling club might not be entirely unrepresented. It was the intention of the club to send down several rinks, he said, but war conditions made it impossible.

Mr. Knutson was formerly a resident of Duluth for many years. He is manager of the Fitzsimmons Fruit company in Fort William with connections in Duluth.

"The war," said Mr. Knutson, "has created havoc with us in all lines. For instance, W. E. Heuston, vice president of our curling rink and one of our leading business men, went to France with the Princess Patricia regiment and is now in the trenches. There are many other such cases, and there are many uneasy families up our way who have sons and fathers at the front."

Mr. Knutson was elected vice president of his club to succeed Mr. Heuston.

SUPERIOR

COLT FINED AGAIN.

Saloon Keeper Charged With Illegal Voting in Recent Recall Election.

James J. Colt, proprietor of a Third street saloon, pleaded guilty in superior court yesterday afternoon on a charge of illegal voting. He was fined $150 by Judge Charles Smith.

Colt was arrested early last summer shortly after he was said to have voted in the recall election held on May 24, 1914. It was claimed that he was not then a legal resident of Superior. He was said to have voted six months previously at a Duluth election. Max Dreger, a chauffeur, who was arrested for the same offense, died a short time before his case was called in the superior court.

OFFICER TRAPPED BY THIEF WHO GETS AWAY

While trying to capture a burglar who was operating in James Backstrom's saloon on North Fifth street, Patrolman Findley Beaton was himself trapped. The officer discovered the opening made by the breaking of a window, and crawled through. He found himself in a small room out of which he was unable to get out until after he had telephoned headquarters for relief.

The thief got away with eight bottles of whisky, several boxes of cigars and a small amount of change.

Bridge Is Raised.

The work of raising the Lamborn avenue drawbridge was completed last night, and traffic has again resumed over the bridge by teams and street cars. An approach has been built so as to allow access to the bridge. New equipment for the turning of the bridge will be installed. The bridge has been raised, resulting in many boats being able to pass under it for which formerly the bridge had to be opened.

ANOTHER OGDEN WILL IS FOUND

Document Purports to Dispose of Estate of Former Madison Man.

Houston, Tex., Jan. 21.—Another will purporting to dispose of a part of the $2,000,000 estate of Francis A. Ogden, former resident of Madison, Wis., came to light today when a time-aged document, dated 1868, was placed in the hands of attorneys. This alleged will, the fourth now figuring in the case, bequeathes much property to Levi Harper of North Carolina, who is said to be dead but survived by four children.

W. H. Miller, a second hand book dealer, under arrest charged with forging the name of L. Herrin, said to be a woman, as a beneficiary under one of the Ogden wills, will be arraigned Friday.

Ogden, it is said, never married, and the probating of his estate is complicated further by the fact that it consists mostly of realty, scattered through a dozen states. Disputes with the authorities of Madison resulted in the aged multi-millionaire moving from that city to Texas shortly before his death.

DIRECTS JUDGE TO SET ASIDE DECISION

Supreme Court Issues Its Mandate in Harry Thaw Case.

Washington, Jan. 21.—The supreme court's mandate in the Harry K. Thaw extradition case was issued today and sent by mail to New York city to Frank Kennedy, deputy attorney general of New York.

It directs Justice Aldrich in the New Hampshire Federal court to set aside his decision to release Thaw on habeas corpus and opens the way for the celebrated prisoner's extradition from New Hampshire to New York to answer an indictment for conspiracy to escape from Matteawan.

The matter is now entirely out of Federal jurisdiction and between state authorities.

TELEPHONE AS AID TO SURGERY

Tells Contact of Knife With Foreign Bodies in Flesh.

(Correspondence of the Associated Press.)

London, Jan. 8.—The use of the telephone as an aid to surgery by communicating to the operator the noise of contact of knife, forceps or probe with foreign bodies imbedded in the flesh, has been discovered and perfected by Sir James Mackenzie Davidson, who says his method will do much to simplify military surgery.

The X-ray, says Sir James, has serious limitations. It shows the presence of the foreign body, but gives no idea of the depth this body has penetrated or of its relation to the parts among which it has lodged. Surgeons often fail to find the object seen in silhouette on the fluorescent screen.

It is not necessary to have a man full of shrapnel brought from the trenches to demonstrate the use of the telephone in surgery, as a potato and a nail do quite as well. The surgeon uses a double pair of receivers, such as worn by wireless operators. One of the telephone wires is attached to a piece of platinum foil. In a real operation this foil is held in place on the patient's skin by plaster or bandage. In the experiment the potato is dipped into salt water and placed on the foil. To the end of the other telephone wire is attached a small, sterilized silver wire, which in turn is made fast to the knife, probe, needle or forceps used in sounding the wound or incision.

When the surgeon's instrument touches metal, whether in flesh or in a potato, a distinct and unmistakable grating noise results. This means the foreign body is discovered.

There exists a popular fallacy that it is necessary to remove not only bullets, but every scrap of metal from the wound. But experience has shown that the human body does not mind a little metal and the removal of bullets is often too dangerous to attempt.

Six Months for Miner.

Fort Smith, Ark., Jan. 21.—Samuel Branch, a Hartford, Ark., miner, was sentenced to six months in jail and fined $1,000 today after he had pleaded guilty to conspiracy against the government in connection with the Prairie Creek mine troubles. Officers had not been able to find him since his indictment last November.

How to Cure a La Grippe Cough.

"Coughs that hang on" demand treatment. Stop and think! Reason and common sense tell you that it is folly to "grin and bear it." Those racking la grippe coughs that wrench the body and cause soreness and pains in the lungs yield more quickly to Foley's Honey and Tar than to any other treatment. Forty years' record of successes proves this. For coughs, colds, croup and other distressing ailments of throat, chest, lungs, larynx and bronchial tubes, you can find nothing that will compare with this reliable remedy. Sold everywhere.

ETTOR GIVES BAIL OF $5,000; RELEASED

St. Clairsville, Ohio, Jan. 21.—Joseph J. Ettor, Industrial Worker of the World leader, in jail here on a charge of treason entered a plea of not guilty today and was bound over to the grand jury. Ettor gave bail for $5,000 and left town with his attorney, agreeing not to enter Belmont county again or to send any of his representatives here.

FRENCH GARDENERS TO RAISE THE HUGUET.

(Correspondence of the Associated Press.)

Paris, Jan. 8.—The huguet (lily-of-the-valley), the good-luck flower that the French, and particularly Parisians, wear in their button holes on the first of May, formerly came mostly from German gardens. French gardeners are taking measures to supply the demand next spring.

Any Young Man Can Save

Most young men can save $1,000 if they but determine and persevere.

The first "try" should be to save $100. The next to save another hundred. It will take time, work, sacrifice. It is worth all these.

Others have saved hundreds by saving the tens and fives.

You can save the small amounts and these will make the large amounts.

We pay 3% interest on savings.—and that helps, too.

NO FRESH AIR SCHOOLS YET

Hesitation Because of Rigorous Nature of Duluth's Climate.

Supporters of Plan Point to Success in Minneapolis.

There is a possibility that Duluth will not have open air schools except in summer, if then. The general opinion of members of the school board seems to be that the climate here in winter is entirely too rigorous and that instead of doing tubercular children good, such measures would be causing them hardship.

Some time ago the medical examiners of the public schools in a report—and even before that, Dr. Schroeder—recommended that at least one experiment be tried in this line. It was proposed that a room in some school building be devoted to the experiment by taking the window panes out and substituting for them double or triple folds of cheese cloth to shut out the winds and snow, but permitting the uninterrupted flow of fresh air. Others proposed that additional rooms be constructed on the roof of some school building and properly fitted out. At first the idea was well received, but of late, since the wintry winds have begun to get in their work, hesitation has taken the place of former enthusiasm and there is a halt in the proceedings.

Want to Be Shown.

Just now those involved do not care to be quoted, but those who oppose the fresh air school want to be shown. The others who favor a fresh air school propose to show them. It is pointed out that the idea is fostered and developed in climates as rigorous as this. Minneapolis, for instance, has a most successful fresh air school and it is claimed that it has done wonderful work. The children dress in a sort of Eskimo garment and hood and it is claimed that they apparently enjoy themselves to the full in their work. Teachers who fear tubercular trouble usually apply for the work and thus obtain employment, while at the same time they improve their own health.

News comes of one boy named Peter Anderson in the Thomas Arnold fresh air school in Minneapolis, who will graduate, a class all by himself, tomorrow. He was, four years ago, an almost hopeless tubercular. His left leg was so affected that he had to have it braced and his lungs were badly affected, too. He is now 15 years of age and can run about and scamper like other boys can, weighs 114 and is generally an example of a lusty, healthy youth.

This, say advocates of the fresh air school idea, is an indication of what may be done—tuberculosis checked and even cured in children; and, they add, Duluth has nothing on Minneapolis as to the rigorousness of climate. In fact, they recall, when Duluth had its big storm last week the storm was far worse in the Twin Cities.

It is likely that this matter will be threshed out at one of the board meetings soon.

Just Apply This Paste and the Hairs Vanish

(Helps to Beauty)

A safe, reliable home-treatment for the quick removal of superfluous hairs from your face or neck is as follows: Mix a stiff paste with some water and powdered delatone, apply to objectionable hairs and after 2 or 3 minutes rub off, wash the skin and the hairs are gone. This simple treatment is unfailing and no pain or inconvenience attends its use, but to avoid disappointment be certain you get genuine delatone.—Advertisement.

FURNACE IS BLOWN IN

Zenith Plant Will Give Employment to 175 Men.

The Zenith Furnace company's blast furnace is again in operation. The blast was turned on the ore at 9:45 o'clock and the first heat was pulled off early this afternoon.

Long before noon the entire complement of men necessary to operate the plant day and night had been hired. Most of the former employes were put back to work. The starting of the furnace will give employment to about 175 men who have been out of work during the last four months.

The plant is starting operations again fully three months earlier than was expected in December. During the holidays some of the principal officials of the company were in the city looking over the improvements that had been made and then opinions were given by them that if the plant started before April 1 it would be doing well. Shortly after their return to Chicago several sales of pig iron caused this opinion to change. Practically the entire stock of pig iron carried in the company's local yards is said to have been sold and the advance orders are said to be coming in rapidly and promise to keep the plant in operation until it will again have to undergo repairs.

FLOUR OFFERED AS PRIZE FOR CURLERS

West Duluth Men See Chance to Reduce H. C. of L.

Four barrels of Universal flour has been hung up as a prize for curlers of West Duluth, according to an announcement made this morning by Frank H. Wade, president of the Western Curling rink, and already promises to be the most sought after prize offered to curlers of the club. The flour, together with a trophy cup, has been offered by the Duluth Universal Milling company to be contested for in regular bonspiel style by the curlers.

The new trophy and individual prizes are now considered among the most valuable offered the curlers. With the high cost of living prominently played up by the examining of grocery bills, the curlers have all set their eyes on the offer of the milling company and will fight strenuously for the possession of the prizes.

It is not expected that any play in the events will commence before next Monday. Many of the local curlers are still in events at the bonspiel of the Northwestern Curling association, where a creditable showing has been made by all of the rinks of the local club.

Among the other trophy events which the Western Curling club will have to play for this winter, are the Esterly, Bagley and Henricksen jewelry events, Burns Lumber company's cup and the West Duluth Commercial club cup.

"CITY GETTING OLD," SAYS HARVEY CLAPP

Favors Repairing Wooden Sidewalks to Avert Accidents.

Duluth's growth and entrance into the class of older cities are beginning to show because of the numerous suits brought against the city during 1914 as a result of the many defective sidewalks.

City Attorney Harvey Clapp in his annual report of the city's legal department, submitted yesterday to Mayor Prince, states that practically all the suits brought against the city last year were the result of defective sidewalks. People are constantly being injured, he adds, and the damages must be born by the taxpayers.

"Duluth is getting into the class of older cities," says the report, "and the sidewalks laid here years ago are becoming useless. Pedestrians are endangered by walking on some of these old wooden walks and it would be a wise policy to repair all the sidewalks in the city at a very early date."

In addition City Attorney Clapp declares himself in favor of the commission's policy of carrying the city's own liability insurance.

During 1914 the city legal department handled seventy-five cases, besides those of the police court and the recent hearings in district court on the 4-cent ordinance, according to the report.

QUICK VERDICT FOR LUMBER COMPANY

Employe Fails to Secure $3,000 Damages From Corporation.

After being out about twenty minutes a jury in Judge Dancer's division of the district court this morning returned a verdict in favor of the defendant in the $3,000 personal injury action brought by William Jordan against Alger, Smith & Co. The plaintiff claimed that the company failed to fulfill a contract which guaranteed him hospital care and medical treatment in case of illness while in their employ.

Jordan was working in one of the company's camps near Finland, Lake county, Jan. 21, 1913, when he became ill with chills and fever. He alleged that he was not accorded proper treatment and that as a result his right hip become stiffened and permanently affected. He paid the company $1 a month for sickness and hospital insurance, he said. B. M. Goldberg and J. A. P. Neal appeared for Jordan and Harris & Pearson for the lumber company. The jury retired at 11:14 o'clock and agreed upon a verdict at 11:35 o'clock this morning.

Discolored or Spotty Skin Easily Peeled Off

The discoloring or roughening to which many skins are subject at this season, may readily be gotten rid of. Mercolized wax, spread lightly over the face before retiring and removed in the morning with soap and water, completely peels off the disfigured skin. Get an ounce of the wax at any druggist's. There's no more effective way of banishing chaps, blotches, pimples, freckles or other cutaneous defects. Little skin particles come off each day, so the process itself doesn't even temporarily mar the complexion, and one soon acquires a brand new, spotless, girlishly beautiful face.

Wrinkles caused by weather, worry or illness, are best treated by a simple solution of powdered saxolite, 1 oz., dissolved in ½ pint witch hazel. Bathing the face in this produces a truly marvelous transformation. —Advertisement.

COUNTRY LEARNING ITS UNWISE STEPS

Former President Taft Talks at Founders' Day Exercises.

Bloomington, Ind., Jan. 21.—Declaring that the country was halting in business and progress and learning the unwise steps that had been taken and needed to be retraced, William H. Taft, former president, said here today that the people should go back to the line of justice, equity and moderation.

Prof. Taft was the guest of Indiana university and delivered the principal address at the founders' day exercises, which celebrated the ninety-fifth anniversary of the university.

"We need not go back to the conditions that led to the great reforms and we shall not do so," said Mr. Taft. "Corporations have been driven out of politics, and while, of course, corruption is not ever absent, the danger of plutocracy has disappeared.

"Part of the costs of the original disease is in the incidental damage from the inevitable excess of remedies. "The sad feature is that the persons who suffer most are the least able to bear suffering—the wage earners, whose comfort and living are dependent upon constant employment."

The former president defended the railroads, saying that between the restriction upon their rates and the increase "of wages through the power of trades unions, the railroads have been ground between the upper and nether millstones."

He declared that the selection of candidates at a general primary has not tended to the elimination of corruption or political machine rule.

TWO APIECE.

Washington Star: They are telling a story of Switzerland about what would happen if the kaiser violated Swiss, as he has already violated Belgian, neutrality.

The kaiser, as the story runs, was amazed at a Swiss drill, by the shooting of the Switzers, who all scored bull's-eyes.

"Wonderful shots!" said the kaiser to a Swiss general. "Wonderful shots."

"And we have, your majesty, 100,000 such shots in the Swiss army," the general answered.

The kaiser laughed, and in his jovial, swaggering way, he said:

"But suppose I invaded you with 200,000 soldiers?"

"In that case, your majesty," said the other, "we should each of us fire twice."

WAR MEETING OF TURKS IN CONSTANTINOPLE

A war meeting of Turks in Constantinople. London says the entry of Turkey into the war situation was the work of Germany through a few hot-heads and that the war has not the sympathy of the Turkish people. TWO MONTHS' STORY OF WAR

French Statement of Operations From Nov. 15 to Jan. 15.

With But One Exception Claim to Have Gained Ground.

Paris, Jan. 21.—There was given out this afternoon an official statement under the caption, "The War From Nov. 15 to Jan. 15," reading as follows:

"Since the 15th of November, in other words, since the conclusion of the battle of Ypres and up to the complete resumption of the great German offensive movement against our left wing, the war has taken the character of a siege. In such a warfare, it generally is expected that the advantages obtained by one side or the other virtually offset each other. But in this case, it can be said that with one exception, we alone have gained ground. With this one exception, the Germans everywhere have gone back.

"The following recital of points gained makes it possible to get an idea of the progress of either side:

Idea of Progress.

"By the Germans: Destruction of the market, of the cathedral and of the hospital of Ypres; destruction of the town of Nieuport and of the Nieuport baths, and the bombardment of Armentieres, Bethune and Arras; bombardment of Soupir and of Soissons; recapture of Hill No. 132 and of an eminence near Crouy and a gain of from 1,200 to 1,800 yards to the north of Soissons; advance of 300 meters in the Argonne along a front of 800 meters at a point near the Brook des Meurissons; bombardment of a church at Nancy and of the hospital at Thann.

"Results obtained by the French: From the sea to the Lys, recapture of all the left bank of the year, between Knocke and Hetsas and an opening on the right bank between the sea and St. Georges. The installation of a bridge head four kilometers (two miles and a half) into this region and the installation of a bridge head to the south of Dixmude. Capture of St. Georges and of the house of the ferryman and of Kortekeer. The general extension of our front around Ypres; the success of Wybendrert and the cessation of the attacks of the enemy's infantry.

From the Lys to the Oise.

"From the Lys to the Oise: The capture of the chateau and of the village of Vermelles and Reutoire; the capture of numerous German trenches between Aix-Noplette and Carency; the partial recapture of Saint Laurent and of Blangy, near Arras; the capture of La Boisselle; the captue of German trenches at Lihons; the capture of Quesnoy-on-Santerre, at the end of October, and progress to the east followed by general extension and consolidation of our front.

"From the Oise to Reims: The capture of the German trenches at Nampoel and of the Plateau of Noubron; the taking of Spur No. 143 and of the eminence at Crouy, both of which, however, we lost again; the destruction of numerous pieces of German artillery; the reduction by four-fifths of our previous percentage of infantry losses, thanks to the greater efficiency of our artillery and the consolidation of our defensive system.

From Reims to Meuse.

"From Reims to the Meuse: Advance of one kilometer, (two-thirds of a mile) in the region of Prunay; advance of more than two kilometers in the region of Perthes and the stopping of seventeen German counter-attacks; advance of nearly one kilometer in the Argonne, in the forest of La Grurie and of Bolante, and the repelling of numerous counter-attacks, the extension of our front in the neighborhood of Verdun and the destruction of numerous German batteries.

QUIT MEAT WHEN KIDNEYS BOTHER

Take a Glass of Salts If Your Back Hurts or Bladder Troubles You.

No man or woman who eats meat regularly can make a mistake by flushing the kidneys occasionally, says a well-known authority. Meat forms uric acid which excites the kidneys, they become overworked from the strain, get sluggish and fail to filter the waste and poisons from the blood, then we get sick. Nearly all rheumatism, headaches, liver trouble, nervousness, dizziness, sleeplessness and urinary disorders come from sluggish kidneys.

The moment you feel a dull ache in the kidneys or your back hurts or if the urine is cloudy, offensive, full of sediment, irregular of passage or attended by a sensation of scalding, stop eating meat and get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any pharmacy; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast and in a few days your kidneys will act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to flush and stimulate the kidneys, also to neutralize the acids in urine so it no longer causes irritation, thus ending bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive and cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which everyone should take now and then to keep the kidneys clean and active and the blood pure, thereby avoiding serious kidney complications.

MISTAKEN IDENTITY.

Scottish American: A fishwife entered a tram car and thought she recognized another passenger as an acquaintance. Accordingly, she bent forward, and with an ingratiating smile said, "That's you, isn't it? I hardly kent ye."

"Aye, that's me," replied the other, "and that's you, isn't it? How are ye?"

"Oh, A'm nae that bad," was the reply.

After this silence ensued and the first speaker on further scrutiny, became convinced that the woman opposite was not an acquaintance, after all. Again she bent forward and with an apologetic smirk, remarked, "But that's nae you at a'!"

"Nae," replied the other. "It's nae nane o' us!"

WITH FATHER AS A MODEL.

London Answers: "You fill the pails with sand, and let me turn them out," suggested 6-year-old Jack to little Doris.

His playmate obediently complied.

"Now we'll build a castle, and you shall fetch the water to go around it," exclaimed Jack.

Dutifully the little maid struggled up and down the beach, carrying buckets of water.

"Can't you fetch the water now, Jack," she suggested, "and let me pour it round?"

"Girls can't do that properly," answered the boy. "Let's paddle. But, I say, Doris, do you want to marry me when you grow up?"

"Yes—oh yes!" Doris was delighted at the prospect.

The boy however, assumed a bored air, and lazily extended his feet toward her.

"Very well, then," he said nonchalantly. "If you're going to be my wife, take off my shoes and stocking!"

ANOTHER CRUEL KNOCK.

Philadelphia Telegraph: Flying expresses came up for the conversation in the lobby of a Washington hotel the other night when this one was recalled by Congressman Willis C. Hawley of Oregon.

Some time ago a man boarded a train on a Western railroad that took its time in whizzing through the scenery. After an hour or two he developed symptoms of weariness and called to the conductor.

"I believe you called me," remarked the conductor, eventually rambling down the aisle. "What can I do for you?"

"I want your permission to get off," seriously replied the passenger. "The train is going very slowly, and I would like to gather a few flowers."

"I suppose you might do it," smiled the conductor, "but there isn't a flower within five miles of here."

"That's all right," was the quick rejoinder of the passenger, "I have a package of seeds in my pocket."

"Why doesn't he lay for his tormentors?"

"It appears that he did once and got beaten, whipped to a froth. Poor Egg could barely scramble home."

INJURED BADLY BY CORN CULTIVATOR

A Michigan farmer was so badly injured while cultivating that he had 33 running sores. He states that he tried many remedies and doctors with no success and that finally he used Allen's Ulcerine Salve which cured up all the sores completely. (Name and address on application).

Allen's Ulcerine Salve is one of the oldest remedies in America and since 1869 has been known as the only salve powerful enough to reach chronic ulcers and old sores of long standing. Because it is so powerful it often heals burns and scalds without a scar in a remarkably short time.

Allen's Ulcerine Salve heals from the bottom up and draws out the poisons. If applied on new cuts and sores it heals in one-third the time that common salves and liniments take. Sold by The Spencer Pharmacy Co., and other leading druggists.

GOLDEN RULE IS SUCCESS

Work Farm Has Lost Less Than 6 Per Cent of Men.

Guards Are Called Foremen and There Are No "Prisoners."

Standing out as probably the most successful example of the "Golden Rule" work farm in the country, the St. Louis county institution, since the adoption of the new methods, has lost less than 6 per cent of the men committed, according to Supt. Fred Ward.

There are few, if any, institutions in the United States today where guards are known as foreman, carry no guns or weapons of any kind, and where the men are not even locked up at night, say experts on correctional methods.

Although the work farm, since the inception, has cared for more men than were counted on, there being nearly 100 men most of the time, Supt. Ward has made an excellent record and has lost very few of his charges.

"We have found that if you come half way with a man he usually will reciprocate," said Mr. Ward. "Once in a great while we find a man from some other state or county, a person of no responsibility or no connections, who refuses to work, and who will leave at the first opportunity.

"Considering the fact that a man can walk away almost whenever he wants to, we are very proud of our record.

"In Cleveland the men are not guarded, but they are locked up at night. We are more liberal than anyone else I know of. We have no inmates or prisoners. They are all men, and those in charge of the crews are foremen. It is just a man to man proposition and it certainly is working out well."

Municipal officers, police as well as judges, favor the new methods and say that it is much more satisfactory than the old "orthodox" way. Several years ago a work farm without firearms would have been considered a joke. Now it is rapidly supplanting the guard-gun and lock system.

SEARCH FOR BOYS WHO STOLE PIG

Duluth Sees Scene Told of in Mother Goose Rhymes, Re-Enacted.

Mother Goose is authority for the statement that Tom, the piper's son, was the boy who stole the pig, and so police of Duluth today are looking for a Tom.

Early this morning a prize porker disappeared from the packing rooms of the H. J. Kolling Commission company, 130 West Michigan street. Shortly after police headquarters received a complaint, another telephone call informed them that a large pig, deceased, was lying under the Lake avenue viaduct.

Officers Seglem and Youngstrom, upon investigation, found that a passerby had surprised two young men who were carrying away the porker, and had given chase. The pair had dropped their prospective meal and fled.

Hence the search for Tom and his brother.

DENIES RAILWAY A NEW TRIAL

Court Affirms Verdict of $477 Damages for Fritz Wangen.

In district court today Judge Ensign denied a new trial in the case of Fritz Wangen of West Duluth against the Duluth, Winnipeg & Pacific Railway company. The motion for a new trial was urged by attorneys for the defendant railway company against whom judgment for $477.58 was recently entered in Wangen's favor. He sued the company for damages to his property caused by the dumping of ashes and cinders near his home. He alleged that by reason of the close proximity of the railroad shops and roundhouses to his home, his property had depreciated greatly in value. Judgment in Wangen's favor was entered Dec. 21 last. On Jan. 9, a motion to set aside the judgment and grant a new trial was argued before Judge Ensign, who today handed down a decision denying the motion.

SNOWFALL GLADDENS CROW WING LOGGERS.

Brainerd, Minn., Jan. 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—The snowfall of the last few days has been the most extensive on record this year and extends over all Crow Wing county and north into Minnesota & International railway territory. Loggers are jubilant over the snow, as it aids operations. Business men are gratified, as real winter means the sale of winter clothing and other stocks. Railway men anticipate that more men will be engaged as less tonnage can be hauled with snow and cold weather prevailing than in warmer weather.

CLERGYMEN ARE AFFECTED

Rental Value of Free Living Quarters Viewed as Income.

Fees for Weddings Also Included—New Income Tax Rulings.

The new rulings on the income tax law affect clergymen, landlords, tenants, real estate agents and persons who sold real estate at a profit during the last year, according to Attorney J. J. Robinson.

"Two different rulings affect clergymen," he said today. "One holds that where an individual is furnished living quarters in addition to salary, the rental value of such living quarters is regarded as compensation subject to the income tax. The other ruling holds that Easter offerings, and fees received by clergymen for funerals, masses, marriages and baptisms, etc., are considered income subject to tax.

"The regulation relating to landlords provides that a landlord in receipt of annual rental from a tenant in excess of $3,000, may, at the time the amount of rental payments aggregate $3,000, file with the tenant a claim of exemption on Form 1007, revised. He may, also, after Dec. 31, and before Jan. 30, file with the tenant, or with the collector of internal revenue, a claim for deductions on Form 1008, revised. This regulation is merely a summary of former rulings on this subject. If a landlord does not wish to disclose his entire income from the tenants, who pay more than $3,000, or to claim a refund from the government because the tenant withheld and paid the tax, he should file Form 1005, revised, with the collector by Jan. 29.

"The new regulation affecting tenants provides that 'where a tenant rents two pieces of property from the same owner, the tenant should combine the payments, and when such payments so combined aggregate in excess of $3,000, the normal tax should be deducted and withheld, subject, however, to the exemption claimed.'

"The ruling which affects real estate agents is merely confirmatory of a previous ruling. It holds that a real estate agent stands in the place of the landlords and receives money from tenants in exactly the same capacity as the landlord. He does not act as the agent of the debtor and therefore is not required to withhold the tax from rents collected for the landlord.

"With reference to profits from real estate the new ruling holds that 'where a person sells property and there is an actual sale and transfer, profit will be considered as realized even though payment is to be made in installments; as notes for deferred payments are secured by the title to the property and presumably bear interest and are held to be worth, in cash, their face value. In case of default on installment payments there may be charged off as bad debts the amount of such unpaid installments less the salvage value of the real estate possessed.'

"Income tax returns must be filed on or before March 1."

NOTICE!

Court of Duluth No. 724 and Companion Court No. 208 will hold a joint installation Friday, Jan. 22. All Foresters and friends are invited. Dancing at 9 p. m. Foresters Hall, Fourth Avenue West and First Street.

HYGIENE IS IMPORTANT

Prevention of Disease More Important Than Confining It.

"Public and personal hygiene," said Health Director Webster this morning, "are far more important to a community than the prevention of communicable diseases, to which most health officials have been devoting their time in past years. However, they are fast beginning to realize their real function toward a locality.

"There never was a time when the question of health was of so much concern to the people, as a whole, as now. The degenerative diseases, such as cancer, nephritis, heart disease, arterio-sclerosis, insanity and nervous diseases generally, are being attacked and their prevention studied with enthusiasm. There is no doubt that in very large measure these diseases are preventible. Their prevention is apparently a matter of extreme simplicity. This simplicity makes for neglect in carrying out the rules which surround the prevention and are essential to results.

"But the very simplicity and availability of personal hygiene is one reason for its terrible neglect and for the failure to realize the wonderful benefits which accrue from a careful and continued following of these rules which means the restoring the noble ideals of the ancient Greeks for bodily health, efficiency, strength, endurance, symmetry and beauty."

Following are some hygienic rules suggested by Dr. Webster:

Air Hygiene.

Let the fresh air in.
Go out after it.
Sleep out if you can.
Breathe deeply.

Food Hygiene.

Eat some crusty or resistant food, some bulky and some raw food at each meal.
Eat slowly, chew and taste your food thoroughly.
Eat at regular intervals, but eat little when not hungry.
Take no poisons or infections into your body.

Activity Hygiene.

Secure daily thorough bowel movement.
Exercise body and mind daily.
Keep erect standing and sitting.
Play a little, have a hobby.

Rest Hygiene.

Vary your work.
Stop sometimes and relax.
Keep serene, be courageous.
Enjoy sweet sleep and enough of it.

Cass Lake Bank Re-elects.

Neils; vice president, J. P. Foots; cashier, H. N. Harding; assistant cashiers, Al. J. Hole and E. M. Dunphy.

WATCHING THE DEATH LISTS

Italians at Head of the Lakes Hear Sad Tidings.

Two Superior Men Lose All Their Relatives in 'Quake Zone.

As the list of dead, injured and missing in the earthquake-stricken districts of Italy grows, Duluth Italians are watching anxiously for some word of friends or relatives, and before identification is complete, many people of Northern Minnesota may find that they have lost some one close to them, according to Attilio Castigliano, Italian consul.

Domenico Berardino, age 25, single, of Superior, has received word that he is alone in the world. "Relatives all killed," read the cablegram which he received.

Vincent Finocchi, aged 32, married, a friend of Berardino's, has a cablegram which reads: "Your children, your father and mother are all dead and your wife is seriously injured."

About a year ago the two men left their native villages of Paterno and Sampelino, in the district of Avezzano, Italy, full of hope. They were coming to America to make their fortune and then return to their friends and families, to bring them back to the land of peace and plenty.

For a time they prospered but for the last several months things had been going from bad to worse with them. There was no work and the money which they used to send home no longer found its way into the mails.

As a climax to weeks of struggle for a bare existence came the cablegrams telling them of the death of their loved ones.

Consul Castigliano is trying to obtain transportation for them from New York to Naples, as both men want to return. Finocchi is hoping against hope that he can reach home soon enough to find his wife alive. There is nothing left there for Berardino, but he too, wants to go back.

AMUSEMENTS

TONIGHT'S ATTRACTIONS.

LYCEUM—Baldwin Players in "A Pair of Crooks" and "Lost—Twenty-four Hours."
ORPHEUM—Vaudeville and motion pictures.
NEW GRAND—Vaudeville and motion pictures.
REX—Feature films.
ZELDA—Motion pictures.

Amusement Notes.

One member of the Baldwin Players did not have to study his part this week.

He is Louis Leon Hall. Mr. Hall appeared with Robert Hilliard in the three-act comedy, "Lost—Twenty-four Hours," when Mr. Hilliard first starred in that play. He was with Mr. Hilliard one whole season in the play, and when he came to rehearse for it last week he found that he knew the lines perfectly, and he was also able to be of much assistance in staging and producing the piece, because of his familiarity with the way Mr. Hilliard's company presented it. Mr. Hall has had experience as leading man with many famous stars of the present day, among them Bertha Galland and Nance O'Neil. He has also appeared with Walker Whiteside.

An excellent impression is being made this week by Miss Margaret Lotus, one of the new members of the company. It is her first real opportunity to show her ability, and she has made the part of Mrs. Dacre stand out prominently.

Tonight promises to be a "big night" at the Lyceum. The curlers will celebrate by attending the performance in a body. Some special features will be introduced for the benefit of the sportsmen.

Next week "The Virginian" will be the bill. It will be the biggest production the Baldwin Players have yet attempted in Duluth, and some additions will have to be made to the company for the week. Several new faces will be seen. Joseph De Stephani has drawn the part of Trampas, and Homer Barton will be the Virginian.

A bill that displays careful selection is the new program opening at the popular New Grand this afternoon. Copeland, Draper and company will present a ludicrous farce, "A Room Full of Fun," which is a big laugh from start to finish. The Engfords are European novelty gymnasts in an extraordinary display of strength and endurance tests. Weber, Dolan and Frazer, late of the Eva Tanguay Volcanic Vaudeville company, offer a brilliant blend of wit, jollity and melody. Their talk is refreshing and their singing delightful. Gardner and Nicholai offer a comedy skit, "At the Pay Station." The sketch is a new one, full of witticisms and furnishes a happy twenty minutes bubbling over with joy germs. This week's Hearst-Selig News contains many interesting views among which are stirring pictures of the ice boat which broke the world's record on the Maumee river at Toledo; views of the wrecks at Long Beach, California, caused by the terrible storm on the Pacific coast, which brought disaster to that famous resort, and pictures from the war zone in Mexico, as well as views at Naco, Arizona, showing the United States troops guarding American citizens from bullets fired across the lines by Mexicans in their battles. Among the photoplays is the two-reel feature, "The Friendship of Lamond," a story of love and self-sacrifice; one of the Helen Holmes railroad stories, "The Girl Telegrapher's Peril," and a comedy "They Called It 'Baby.'" This bill will continue for the remainder of the week, including Sunday.

Full of her usual charm and sweetness, Mary Pickford returns to the screen tonight at the Rex, in her latest characterization, that of the famous heroine of the children of all ages, "Cinderella." This impressive subject has been produced in four parts by the Famous Players Film company, in whose productions Mary Pickford appears on the Paramount program.

It is produced with a degree of faithfulness with which the name of the Famous Players has long been associated. Owen Moore makes a noble and heroic young Prince Charming, and Georgia Wilson and Lucille Carney get every ounce of cruelty and hate out of the characters of the step-sisters, as does Isabel Vernon in the role of the harsh and selfish step-mother. W. N. Cone provides many laughs as the undignified and merry king, and a consistently capable corps of supernumeraries further extend the charm of the story.

The production will remain for two days.

There will be two big features today, Friday and Saturday at the Zelda. Mary Fuller will appear in "My Lady High and Mighty."

Miss Fuller appears in fresh guise in this play, a two-reel light comedy-drama. Miss Elaine Sterne, the author of the scenario has written a photo-drama around Miss Fuller's personality and Mary actually lives the part. The play tells the story of a petulant English noblewoman who wants a cave man for a husband, one who can make her respect him. The other two-reel play features Fred Sumner and Irma Earle in "Parted Lovers Reunited."

Wants $2,017 Damages.

A jury was drawn in Judge Dancer's division of the district court this afternoon to try the personal injury action instituted against the Duluth Street Railway company by John N. McKenzie, who is seeking $2,017 damages for injuries received in an accident Aug. 30, 1913.

On the day in question, McKenzie claims, he was crossing Superior street near the west side of Eighth avenue east and walking from the south to the north side of the street in order to board an approaching west bound street car when he was struck by an east bound car traveling in an easterly direction. He asks for $17 special and $2,000 general damages.

FEW PUPILS PLAY "HOOKEY"

New Methods in Rural Schools Raise Attendance 10 Per Cent.

Supt. Young Offers Pupils Incentive for Regular Work.

Under a system whereby children are encouraged to be at their desks in school every day without being threatened with prosecution under the compulsory education law for playing "hookey," N. A. Young, county superintendent of schools, figures that attendance in the rural schools of St. Louis county has increased 10 per cent during the last three school years. With the increase in attendance among the children comes an increase in the usefulness and efficiency of the school system itself, he says.

By paying less attention to the compulsory education law and more attention to the matter of encouraging the children to attend of their own free will and accord, Supt. Young has found that he is obtaining much better results. During the 1912-1913 school year, the average attendance in the rural schools of the county under the supervision of Mr. Young was 80 per cent based on a perfect attendance of 100 for every school day of the year. The average attendance for the 1913-1914 school year was 85.6 per cent and for the first three months of the 1914-1915 year, it has been 89.4 per cent.

Gentler Tactics Better.

The steady increase in the attendance percentage in the 230 rural schools of the county in due, Mr. Young believes, to the fact that gentler tactics are being used in getting the children to go to school. The compulsory education law, he says, has fallen into general disuse in the country districts throughout the state. Supt. Young has substituted a system which is producing unexpected results and makes prosecution under the compulsory education law unnecessary.

Mr. Young's plan is substantially as follows: Every teacher in the rural schools under his supervision makes a monthly report to his office which contains a registry of the pupils in her school and the number of days attended by each child. If the child has attended the entire school month of twenty days the attendance mark received is 100 per cent. If one day out of the twenty is missed, the mark is 95 per cent. If out two days, the child receives a mark of 90 per cent, etc.

In the schools operating under organized districts the teachers are instructed not to give any child a mark which will be in excess of his or her attendance record. Under this system, if a child is absent two days during one month, the best possible mark obtainable in any subject will be 90 per cent. In cases where children are absent more than a certain number of days, the teacher is asked to investigate and report to the county superintendent's office.

Unorganized Schools.

In the so-called unorganized schools of St. Louis county, which are under a more direct supervision of the county superintendent's office than are the organized schools, an even more elaborate system of checking attendance is employed. The teacher of every school each month sends in the daily record of each child. An employe in the superintendent's office goes over the register in each school and writes a note of encouragement or otherwise on a card addressed to each pupil. Each month these cards are sent to the teacher and distributed to the pupils. They are all signed by Mrs. M. B. Holmes, supervisor of the unorganized schools.

By employing these methods, Supt. Young has found that children seem to take a new interest in attending school and appear to feel that not only their teacher but the county superintendent is interested in each case individually. The result is that the child is keen about being present every day as a matter of personal pride and not because of fear of prosecution for failure to attend.

Record for December.

Since the 1914-1915 school year started the following is the attendance record by months up to December:

	Organized Schools Pct.	Unorganized Schools Pct.
September	88.2	85.6
October	90.1	89.3
November	90.3	91.9

It is estimated that the upkeep of the rural schools under the supervision of the county school superintendent costs about $170,000 a year. The attendance has increased during the past three years 10 per cent, which means that the public is getting returns for about $17,000 more than formerly. This is figured on a basis that the schools cost a certain amount regardless of whether the attendance is poor or not.

ACTS OF HEROISM ARE RECOGNIZED

Eleven Silver and Thirty-Three Bronze Medals Are Awarded.

Pittsburg, Pa., Jan. 21.—Forty-four acts of heroism, largely those of young men and women in widely scattered places in the United States and Canada, were recognized at the eleventh annual meeting of the Carnegie Hero Fund commission here yesterday by the award of eleven silver medals and bronze medals in the other thirty-three cases.

Thirteen of the heroes lost their lives, and to the dependents of seven of these pensions aggregating $3,900 a year were granted; to the dependents of four of the others who lost their lives sums totaling $3,000, to be applied, subject to the direction of the commission, in various ways, were granted. In addition to these money grants, in eight cases sums aggregating $14,000 were appropriated for educational purposes, payments to be made as needed and approved; and in twenty-three cases awards aggregating $21,615 were made to be applied toward the purchase of homes, the liquidation of indebtedness and to other worthy purposes. Payments in these cases will not be made until the beneficiaries' plans for the use of the awards have been approved by the commission.

TRADE TAKES GOOD SPURT

General Quickening in Business Is Reported By Duluth Jobbers.

Colder Weather and Snow Promotes Trade in Many Directions.

A further quickening in general trade is advised this week by local wholesalers and manufacturers. It is a subject of comment that the spirit of optimism appears to be growing and that merchants over this territory are counting upon good trade developing in the spring. As a consequence, a better disposition to place orders is being shown in practically every line. Contributing to that development are expectations that the markets in staples will be stable and that they are likely to work higher in some directions.

Grocery Prices Firm.

The continued placing of good orders in grocery staples and specialties was reported by the Barthe-Martin company of this city and the Twohy-Elmon Mercantile company of Superior.

Beyond a stronger market in all dried fruits, there have been no special changes in quotations. Prunes are firm at an advance of a cent a pound. This fruit is a staple and a strong consumptive demand is being met with for it. Canned fruits and vegetables are also being firmly held, and if anything, are showing an advancing tendency.

Sugars are unchanged, with New York jobbers holding cane at $5.05 and beet at $4.95. While coffees are unchanged, lower prices are predicted by some experts owing to the steadily increasing receipts and accumulation of stocks.

The flour market is strong, but it is off 10 cents from a week ago, with jobbers quoting $6.70 per barrel.

In fish, supplies of Norway herring and mackerel are abundant, and quotations remain on the basis that has ruled during the past month.

Dry Goods Outlook Promising.

The outlook in the dry goods trade is growing more promising, according to F. A. Patrick & Co. Current business is said to be good and salesmen now on the road are making a satisfactory start in bookings for next fall's delivery. Inquiries regarding the house's 1915 line of Patricks are being received, showing that merchants handling them are anxious to again carry the goods during the new season. The warehouse staff is now busy filling spring orders.

Paints Inquiry Brisk.

A feature in the hardware trade noted by the Kelley-How-Thomson company and the Marshall-Wells Hardware company is the marked picking up in inquiry for paints of late and the substantial shipments going out in them over the territory. This is taken to indicate that building operations and improvements over the West next spring are expected to be much ahead of original estimates.

The usual lines of spring goods are also moving freely. The markets are firm in iron and steel products, with further advances in many items generally expected.

Weather Helps Footwear.

The Northern Shoe company advised that colder weather and snow over the country is helping trade in footwear. Dealers are reported to be disposing of their heavy lines satisfactorily, and with a continuance of the present weather conditions over the next few weeks, it is thought they will be placed in splendid position for the spring trade. Collections are said to have improved appreciably in practically every section of the West.

Furniture Trade Better.

The De Witt-Seitz company reported that the past week was its best in some time in the mattress trade. As a consequence additional men were placed at work in the mattress factory. Trade also showed a picking up in the regular furniture line, and especially so over the Michigan Copper country, where as a result of improvement in the copper metal situation, some of the mines have increased their working forces. H. E. Seitz, secretary of the company, is making a round of the furniture markets at Grand Rapids, Mich., Cheboygan, Mich., Chicago and Milwaukee.

NEWSPAPER MAN MAKES UNIQUE TRIP

Is Journeying From Alberta to Chicago in a Dog Sleigh.

When John P. Hughes, an old Winnipeg newspaperman, reaches Duluth with his dogs and sleigh, he will be able to relate the story of a thrilling trip over the frozen roads of the North. He is on his way to Chicago from Fort Chipewyan, Alberta, and his journey in a dog sleigh is being made to settle a unique bet. A Winnipeg paper says:

"Two men, Alfred E. Hart of Peace River crossing, and Henry J. Carr of Edmonton, as a result of an argument, posted $500 each with a man in Edmonton—one betting that the trip between Fort Chipewyan, Alberta, and Chicago could not be made by dog sleigh between the dates of Oct. 20, 1914, and Feb. 20, 1915, and the other that it could.

"Hughes has already completed the first lap of the journey. He reached Medicine Hat early last week, and left there on Thursday. En route to Chicago, the traveler will pass through Edmonton, Winnipeg, and via Duluth, to Chicago.

"Since leaving Winnipeg several years ago, Mr. Hughes has been trapping in the far north, from the Rocky mountain portage to the Hudson Bay. He has with him on the trip some rare specimens of fox skins, among which is a pure white one, the duplicate of which has never been seen."

TRACTION COMPANY ASKS JUDGMENT

Attorney Files Motion to Set Aside Two Former Verdicts.

Thomas S. Wood, attorney for the Duluth Street Railway company, yesterday filed notice with the clerk of the district court of an alternative motion for judgment notwithstanding the verdict, or for a new trial in the case of Mary Gustafson against the street railway company. Mrs. Gustafson recently received a $100 verdict for injuries which she says she sustained when she was thrown out of a buggy in which she and her husband, Samuel Gustafson, were riding April 18, 1914, when the vehicle was struck by a street car at Twenty-third avenue west and Third street. The case was tried once before, and a verdict for $475 received by the plaintiff. Judge Cant set the verdict aside and granted a new trial. Judge Fesler, who presided at the second trial, will hear arguments on the motion Saturday. Crassweller, Crassweller & Blu are attorneys for the plaintiff.

Contractors Are Sued for Maintaining River Dam.

Anna Olson, who owns a tract of land in section 13, 56-17, started suit in district court yesterday afternoon against the firm of Saari Bros., logging contractors, in which she asks $2,000 damages. She alleges that the loggers maintained a dam across the Water Hen river and that last spring the overflow from the stream caused her property to be flooded. Gardens, shrubbery and other improvements on her property were destroyed. She is also seeking an injunction from the court restraining the contractors from maintaining a dam on this stream.

Thos. Jefferson Encourages Brewing

FOE OF HAMILTON IN ALL SAVE TEMPERANCE

Thos. Jefferson, 3rd President, and greatest democrat of the United States, was opposed to Alexander Hamilton in everything except the temperance question. There the two were united, and both, on the floor of congress, advocated the encouragement of the brewing industry as an aid to agriculture and to promote temperance.

In the words of Jefferson: "No nation is drunken where wine is cheap." That is: Those nations which recognize the good in wine, and the good in the still lighter, and more healthful beverage beer; and who understand the need of their peoples for the enjoyment of those beverages and so encourage their production,—those nations lead their peoples to paths of honor and prosperity.

A SEEMING CONTRADICTION— NATURAL DRAUGHT BEER IN BOTTLES

Fitger Natural Beer, a brilliant draught beer of the best quality in bottles, is due to Fitger's Kieselguhr filter, the only one of its kind in America. This new process "keeps" beer by eliminating the yeast cells which cause beer troubles. This elimination by filtration preserves in the beer its full natural character, taste and aroma.

Pasteurizing, that is steaming the beer after it is in the bottle, in order to stop further fermentation, kills the ever present yeast cells, but it does not eliminate them. Kieselguhr filtration eliminates them, and it separates them from the beer without spoiling the delicious natural taste and flavor of the beer.

Which process do you prefer? Think it over.

Woman's Realm

A talk on Paul Hervieu by Mrs. R. Spiegel introduced the subject of the French drama that was taken up by the Duluth Drama Study club at the meeting held this morning in the library clubroom. The reading of Hervieu's play, "The Labyrinth," was begun with Mrs. W. G. La Rue as the leader. The other readers were Mrs. W. A. Kaake, Miss Frances Earhart, Mrs. J. C. Knox and Mrs. Spiegel.

Mrs. Spiegel said in part:

"Paul Hervieu is one of the greatest living exponents of the 'thesis' play. He, like Eugene Brieux, writes with some purpose in view and like him wants to benefit mankind. His plays bear more or less on social abuses or laws made by men that he finds unjust, especially to women.

"Hervieu is the dramatist par excellence of France that holds him in high esteem and has conferred upon him every honor she can bestow on her literary men.

"By profession he is a lawyer and he knows the law well. His plays mark an epoch in drama, bringing forward true tragedy in modern guise. He believes in one moral code for men and women. The divorce evil is the theme of many of his great dramas for divorce in France is more complicated than elsewhere; his thesis is 'a man and woman once married are married forever.' This idea is brought out in 'The Labyrinth' and in 'In Chains.' 'The Labyrinth' that we read today is considered his masterpiece."

Mrs. Spiegel has been invited by the Woman's Friday club of Cloquet to speak to them on the French drama early next month. While in Cloquet Mrs. Spiegel will be the guest of Mrs. Peter Olesen, the president of the federated clubs of the Eighth congressional district.

ORPHEUM SINGER WILL BE HOSTESS TO HERALD NEWSBOYS AND CARRIERS

Miss Ray Samuels, the "blue streak of vaudeville," who is at the Orpheum this week, has good reason to cherish a warm spot in her heart for Duluth, and she will celebrate the occasion tomorrow night by being host to all the newsboys and carriers of The Herald at the Orpheum.

Duluth to Miss Samuels is the same as Toulon was to Napoleon. Here it was that she passed from obscurity to a phenomenally brilliant vaudeville career. Up to three years ago last October Miss Samuels had been singing at "movie" theaters and other houses on obscure circuits. Then she was "discovered," and Martin Beck put her on "big time." She made her first appearance in big time at the Duluth Orpheum and on "football night," the old-time Minnesota and Wisconsin men gave her a royal send-off. She also did her part, and made a remarkable hit. The nice things The Herald said of her then were not forgotten and she asked permission to give The Herald boys a treat tomorrow night.

Since then Miss Samuels has been one of the leadfng vaudeville actresses of the country, and has also appeared in high class musical productions, winning new laurels in each. For three months she appeared in "The Winsome Widow" company, New York. In 1912 she was featured in the Ziegfeld "Follies." For six months she was a Shubert attraction in "The Honeymoon Express" at the New York Winter Garden. During her first year on big time she was featured in the Orpheum road show. She recently appeared for nineteen weeks on the Keith circuit.

MISS RAY SAMUELS.

To say that the newsboys and carriers will enjoy Miss Samuels' "stunts" at the Orpheum is putting it mildly.

She may sing "Giddap Napoleon" again for their benefit.

A. C. A. Luncheon.

The Association of Collegiate Alumnae luncheon that will be held Saturday afternoon at 1 o'clock at the Commercial club will take the place of the musicale that was scheduled for Feb. 25. ANNUAL MEETING OF Y. W. C. A. HELD

George H. Claypool Chosen Trustee and Seven New Directors Are Elected. Secretary's Report On Activities of the Year.

The reading of the annual report and the election of one trustee and seven members of the board of directors took place at the annual meeting of the Y. W. C. A., held last evening at the association building. George H. Claypool was elected trustee for four years and the following were elected to the board of directors for three years: Mrs. George H. Claypool, Mrs. T. L. Chapman, Mrs. Henry Mahon, Miss Helen Congdon, Mrs. Brewer Mattocks, Mrs. Frank De Vey and Mrs. T. W. Hoopes. Directors elected for two years to fill out unexpired terms were Mrs. W. H. Burris, Miss Helen Potter and Mrs. R. E. Denfeld.

Mrs. W. A. McGonagle, president of the board, presided at the meeting.

Secretary's Report.

The report of Miss Bertha Rowles, general secretary, was, in part:

"The report of our membership committee shows that we have 1,478 members in good standing. Of this number, 849 are active, 513 associate and 116 junior.

"In our dormitory department we have accommodated during the year 154 permanent and 1,382 transient guests besides 7 employes. At present there are 82 permanent and 5 transient guests. During the past twelve months 111,690 meals were served to members and 10,130 to non-members, making a total of 121,820 paid meals. There were 9,445 meals served to helpers, 970 meals worked for, 337 meals given and 103 meals charged to our emergency department.

"We have never made an effort to enlargo our employment work, but we do place girls when we can. More often, however, we send them to the employment office. Without any solicitation on our part, we had 201 calls for positions, 264 requests for workers and were able to place 130 girls.

Decrease In Travel.

"Miss Mary Avison and Miss Elizabeth Gunn of the travelers' aid department tell us there has been a very material decrease in travel since the war in Europe began. Where immigrant girls formerly came to us in numbers we now have only one girl or none at all. Notwithstanding this condition, there have been persons to help, as the following report will show: Our two workers met 8,321 trains and aided 3,342 persons, including 1,328 women, 211 men, 52 old women and 576 girls, 713 children and 291 babies. They were aided as follows: 134 were taken to the Y. W. C. A., 16 to the municipal lodging house, 184 to hotels, 294 to street cars, 47 to their destinations, 928 to other stations, 769 to their trains, 9 to the poor commissioner and 5 to an employment office.

"It was the province of the religious department to arrange for the vesper services During the year we had 30 Sunday meetings with an average attendance of 47. We had four Bible classes during the year, two of them being short term courses. In October and November we enjoyed seven Wednesday evening meetings with the different pastors. At these meetings there was a total attendance of 300.

Work In China.

"We were given the opportunity of helping to support Miss Katherine King, the general secretary of the association in Tien Tsin, China. We worked with St. Paul, Des Moines, Sioux City and Omaha in raising $1,500 for Miss King's support in 1915. Our share was $200, and during our prayer week we took pledges amounting to $187.38, leaving a balance of $12.62 still to be secured.

"There have been in the girls' work department sixteen clubs of seventh and eighth grades and high school girls with 230 members. They have held 324 meetings and given eighty-one parties and hikes during the year. Besides these clubs there is a Junior-Senior Girls club organized last spring with a present membership of eighty-two.

"There are 105 members in the two sewing classes, one of which meets in West Duluth and one in our building. Fifty-five sewing classes were held last year, with an average attendance of thirty-five. There were two exhibits of sewing and camp fire work. At Christmas time 140 stocking were made and filed with candy and nuts for the sewing class children and Webster school children.

Swimming Classes.

"A special swimming class for telephone girls was started in February besides educational classes for different groups which met at the Patrick factory and the Y. W. C. A. with fifty girls enrolled. Regular noon meetings were carried on at the Patrick woolen mills, the Patrick garment factory, the Christensen-Mendenhall factory and for a short time at the match factory, West Duluth. In April twenty-two noon meetings were held, with an attendance of 344 at clubs and classes. Special parties were held for different groups from time to time. Three clubs subscribed forty-six shares to the support of a secretary in China, when we were making up that amount. One club has made a layette for a poor family and one club visits the Bethel home regularly.

"During the year we have had an enrollment of 261 in our educational classes in the following subjects: English for foreign-speaking girls, sewing, cooking, serving, basketry, pottery, French and first aid to the injured.

"In the physical department for 1914 there were enrolled in the ten gymnasium classes 272 persons, with an average attendance each week of seventeen in each class. In the swimming pool the total number of admissions was 4,280, there were 284 lessons given in swimming. During the summer fifty girls formed a tennis club. There have been hikes, picnics, volley ball games and basket ball games."

Financial Report.

The following financial report was made:

Receipts for the year 1914, $49,650.64; disbursements, $44,919.47, leaving the total cash available for expenses until May, 1915, $4,731.17. December bills outstanding are $1,693.95.

Following vocal selections by Miss Perlina Allen and the singing of a hymn by the members of the association the meeting was adjourned. The business meeting was preceded by a 6:30 o'clock dinner of 150 covers.

OBSERVATIONS

By PEGGY PEABODY

The Lord Giveth and Taketh Away.

A painful subject, to me, comes up infrequently and it was only last week that a prominent Canadian physician expressed himself as being in favor of hastening the death of incurables and those suffering untold agony. His idea was that by the use of anaesthetics the lives of those helplessly diseased, insane and maimed by accident, might be shortened; in other words, they should be killed.

Although it may seem inhuman to permit people to undergo suffering as they do, when the end can only be death, it would be a difficult matter if the question ever came to legislation to find one person who would willingly say the fatal words that would send a suffering human being more speedily into eternity. And why? Because all humanity is fortunately blessed by God with faith and hopefulness to the bitter end, and when these cease to be then will life cease also.

Then again, would not any such legislative act tend to establish a most dangerous condition of affairs? Who shall have the presumption to say when another human being shall be put to death? To whom could the people safely delegate that power? It cannot be contended that each and everyone shall become a judge as to the tenure of life of another. If to physicians, has the diagnosis of disease advanced so far that any man, physician or surgeon, is competent to say when there is no chance of recovery?

Even as it is impossible to conceive of normal human beings countenancing the sending of their relatives and friends to death at the word of one or the other, so is this entire project impossible because of its tendency to cheapen something that is already held too lightly. Rather should we place the safeguards still closer around life.

The sacredness with which we are wont to associate human life above all other, and humanity to the sick, the maimed, the old and the dying, should prevent such legislation. For the uncontrovertible law is to guard and prolong human life, and that law is necessary, for it sustains and protects the lives of millions who are well and in the flush of their faculties.

Where it is a question of putting life into some deformed mite of humanity, with an apparently miserable existence preordained for it, or the snuffing out prematurely of a spark that has struggled long with poverty and suffering, no mortal should presume to stand in judgment—for "the Lord giveth and the Lord taketh away."

PLAYERS IN WRECK.

Walter Baldwin, Sr., and Lola May Have Narrow Escape.

Mrs. Homer Barton, better known as Lola May, and Walter Baldwin, Sr., of the Baldwin Stock company, are reported to have had a miraculous escape from death when the train in which they were traveling from New York to Atlanta, Ga., was wrecked and burned. News of the wreck was received by Walter Baldwin, Jr., at Duluth. The accident occurred at Whitmere, S. C. The former Baldwin players were in a special car in which members of the company were traveling preparatory to opening an engagement at Atlanta.

Mr. Baldwin, Jr., set the fears of the company here at rest when he received a telegram stating that neither Mr. Baldwin nor Mrs. Barton was injured.

PROMPT RELIEF FOR ITALIANS

Sum of $6,000,000 to Aid Sufferers From Recent Earthquake.

Rome, Jan. 21.—The sum of 30,000,000 lire ($6,000,000) having been placed at the disposal of the Italian authorities for the alleviation of conditions in the earthquake area, extensive relief works are being planned.

It is expected that within a fortnight the most serious conditions will have been greatly improved.

Shacks for the housing of the homeless will be erected as rapidly as possible; buildings not destroyed will be repaired; roads will be cleared and reopened to traffic and agricultural and business life in the stricken communities will be restored to normal.

Other relief steps doubtless will be undertaken by the authorities, such as the remission of certain taxes and kindred measures.

NEW HATS ARE BETTER THAN MEDICINE

One Woman Says They Are Less Expensive—Perhaps Husbands Hold Another Opinion.

Isa Grieve in the London Chronicle: "Whenever I feel run down I always buy a new hat," said a woman with a laugh not long ago. "It is a better remedy than doctors and drugs, and is usually less expensive."

In the case of women who are continually "in the blues" this habit might have drastic results, but there is no doubt that the clothes we wear have a very strong influence over our spirits.

Even a woman who does not care much for dress is conscious of a little inward glow of satisfaction in the knowledge that she is well and suitably attired. She holds herself better and with more confidence under the stimulation of a pretty gown or hat. "Clothes make the man," so we are told. It is hardly realized how much they are responsible for the making or marring of a woman.

Shabby clothes that have seen much wear and tear and much attention from the needle and the brush are very comfortable to wear once in a while. When it becomes necessary to don them day after day, with no hope of their renewal, they slowly and insidiously begin to tell on the spirits of their wearer. They give a feeling of shabbiness, and the confidence and right to a place in the world is partly lost. This is especially detrimental to the business woman, for she is taken very much at her own value in the world of commerce.

It is not necessarily a very expensive business to possess nice clothes. A good tailored costume, though dearer at the start, is an economy, for it wears and keeps its cut to the end. By merely renewing collar and cuffs occasionally, and varying the blouse with which it is worn, the costume always remains fresh, and gives its wearer the air of being well dressed. It is not always the most expensive and elaborate toilet that makes for this much desired effect.

It is a vexed question whether beauty or clothes improve a woman most. Beauty is a very valuable asset in life to a woman, but seen in an unsuitable setting it loses much of its charm, and will often be eclipsed by the less attractive looks of a woman who chooses her clothes well and knows how to wear them. It is generally understood from a certain type of novel and play that beauty shines anywhere, under any conditions. Certainly, nothing can actually take away the contour of the face, the faultlessness of the complexion, or the beauty of the figure, but all these may be overlooked in some cases. The figure may be hidden behind an ugly dress, the complexion may be ruined by the color scheme, and the contour of the face lost under an unsuitable hat.

OUR MERCHANT MARINE!

One thing the opponents of the president's ship purchasing scheme have not had the effrontery to claim is that we now have enough merchant ships. And yet, when you come to think of it, what better reason than the lack of such vessels could be given for the action they are opposing?

A few weeks ago the American consul at a South American port notified the government at Washington that the San Francisco, a merchantman, had just sailed from that port, and that so far as could be ascertained, THIS WAS THE FIRST AMERICAN MERCHANT VESSEL EVER TO LEAVE THERE.

On January 11 the Brazilian merchantman Corcovado arrived at Boston, the first Brazilian merchantman ever to enter that port. And the Corcovado was announced as the first of a fleet to carry on trade between other countries and South America.

Are we going to let these South American countries beat us out in this merchant marine business? Are we going to remain dependent on foreign bottoms, and on those flying the flags of these Latin nations? Or are we to get into the game ourselves and make sure that there is means to carry American products to every part of the globe, without asking the permission or submitting to the regulations of any foreign government?

In all last year, up to November 25, ONLY FIVE MERCHANT SHIPS LEFT CAPE TOWN, SOUTH AFRICA, DIRECT FOR AMERICAN PORTS.

And yet we claim to be capable of carrying on the biggest commerce of any country in the world!

Admiral Fletcher says there is an "alarming" shortage of officers and men in the navy. It certainly is too bad when even our admirals begin to get scared. Is it possible we need some braver ones?

A NEW LIGHT ON THE WAR.

A new light on the conduct of the European war is thrown by the interview given to the Associated Press by Gen. von Falkenhayn, chief in command of the German army in the west. The general's statements of the causes of the conflict are the same as those we are familiar with from the German side. But his words regarding the terrible fighting in Flanders, when it was supposed the Germans were trying to break their way through to Calais and other cities, puts an entirely different aspect on that struggle. The general said:

> It is wrong to interpret the operations in Flanders as an attempt on our part to reach Calais and outflank the allied armies. On the contrary, that phase of the campaign is the result of an attempt on the part of the French and British to force their way north to separate us from the sea and envelop our right flank and rear, relieve Antwerp and oblige us to retire from Belgium.
> Their plan was the failure, our counter-stroke the success, of the operations in Flanders. They have not outflanked us, and we are still there.

Gen. von Falkenhayn would have us believe that the allies in Flanders were fighting, not on the defensive, as was generally understood at that time, but on the offensive, and that the Germans, instead of being halted in an attempt to advance, were successful in preventing an advance by the enemy. Only a student of strategy, and one fully informed as to all the details of fact and intention of the two sides, could judge accurately the general's statement.

Perhaps the exact truth of this campaign will not even become known with the writing of the war's history. But in any event the general's words give a new angle to the fighting in Flanders, and should attract the attention of every student of the strategy of the rival armies.

Decidedly more spectacular than this interview of von Falkenhayn's, is the visit to England of what is thought to have been a fleet of Zeppelin airships. That the incident threw a thorough scare into at least a good proportion of the British people goes without saying, but what else it accomplished or could have accomplished is another question. It looked very much like a deliberate intention to call on King George. In that case it was probably meant as a polite return of the visit attempted on the kaiser some weeks ago by aviators from the army of the allies.

Evidently some of the legislators liked the speakership fight, judging from the way they hang onto it.

DO IT NOW.

To those who see no need of America making any special effort to get hold of the commercial advantages made possible by the European war, we would call attention to a couple of paragraphs in a recent number of the Commerce Reports. One of these announced that the president of China has instructed the minister of agriculture and commerce to make plans for developing the sugar and paper industries. The other that a factory is shortly to be built at Ezpeleta, near Quilmes, Argentina, "for preserving vegetables, especially tomatoes, which have generally been imported from Italy."

Not much in either of these items by itself, perhaps, but what they indicate is that some of these countries with which we might be developing commerce are instead taking things into their own hands, and by so doing may supply a market that we could have had for the seeking.

These opportunities exist, and we can take advantage of them if we will. But we must do it now. The commodities wanted are regarded by these different countries as necessities, and if we do not furnish them somebody else will and we will be the losers, to our own everlasting disgrace and loss.

There constantly arises the question whether Billy Sunday could get half as much advertising out of praising a city as he does out of condemning one.

DR. BARKER'S LECTURES.

If you have not heard Dr. C. E. Barker, who is delivering lectures here this week under the auspices of the Y. M. C. A., go and hear him at some time or other before he leaves. If you have already heard him, either during this visit or the one he made last year, it will be unnecessary to urge you to do so again. His message is a gospel of health, and that is but another way of saying that it is a gospel of good cheer and happiness.

Duluth is peculiarly favored by the doctor and his backers, for in the many months that he has been in this work this is the first time that he has returned to any city for a second series of talks. And it is significant that, although his talks last year attracted much attention and were well attended, those he is giving now are drawing in some cases double the attendance of those last year, owing to the declarations of men and women who adopted his suggestions that they have been definitely benefited.

"Physical efficiency" is the general theme of Dr. Barker's talks, and under that head he covers a multitude of common ailments. He does not claim to heal malignant diseases, but he does tell you how to live so as to reduce to a minimum the likelihood that you will become subject to disease. Clean living and strong bodies are his great ambition for every man and woman, and not only by his studies, but by practical personal experience, he has found the common sense, practical and simple way to achieve these ends. One of the things which Dr. Barker attacks most vigorously and successfully is that which Dr. Brady, in his articles in The Herald, has called our national ailment—constipation. And the instructions given by Dr. Barker have been found, when carefully followed, to bring the results.

If you care anything at all for your physical efficiency, if you care anything at all about being able to do a full day's work and enjoy it, if you are interested in your own personal health, go and hear Dr. Barker's talks. And if you aren't interested in these things, then go and hear him and get interested. It will make you twice as much a man as you are today.

It might not be such a bad idea for Mexico to try government ownership of presidents.

THE WHITE HOUSE BABY.

Of course the advent of young Master Sayre attracted more or less general attention. Any child born in the White House is bound to do that and the fact that the youngster is the president's first grandchild doesn't detract from the interest. The country at large is glad to know that "it's a boy," that it is well formed, and that "mother and child are doing well."

But when all's said and done, what's the difference between a White House baby and any other? Not a great deal, probably, more than there is between natives of different states. Indeed, if anything, the White House baby is entitled to not even as much distinction as the ordinary one, because of being born in a mere territory instead of in a full fledged, self-governing state.

Then of course there is the matter of curbed ambition. The boy born in some other section of the country is always entitled to the ambition that some day he may have his home in the White House. But the White House baby begins life with that ambition achieved, so he is handicapped from the start.

As for other differences, they are largely sentimental. Young Francis Sayre will holler just as loudly when he is hungry as if he had been born on a New England farm or a Texas ranch. He will need just as much attention by day and by night, and it will hurt him just as much to cut teeth.

As for the sentimental differences, perhaps more will be expected of him than of some others, and so maybe he isn't so much to be envied as to be pitied, for no man has a harder row to hoe than the one of whom much is expected.

Believers in miracles would not be surprised to see one of these earthquakes split the ground and swallow up all the battle lines.

Unclouded Judgment

Youth's Companion: A group of summer visitors stood not long ago on the crest of a low hill that commanded a wide sweep of sky. The sun was just sinking, and tumbled masses of clouds in marvelous and monstrous shapes swam low on the horizon in a sea of molten gold.

"They look," breathed one spectator, "like distant spires and palaces—like the City of Lost Dreams."

"'Lost dreams' sounds sad," objected another, "and to me the clouds appear all radiant with hope; say, rather, a vision of the pearly gates."

"No, for they change, and seem alive; they twist, and turn, and merge, and separate. It is like a fantastic Japanese pancl, magnified and vivified—a battle of colossal golden dragons," declared another.

"To me it is a mirage of the Orient, impossibly splendid, with minarets and domed roofs like golden bubbles, and Afrits forming out of drifts of smoke, and Sinbad and Aladdin, and Haroun-al-Raschid in gorgeous robes, and crowds of merchants with turbans, like a marching tulip bed—all pouring through the streets—"

The prettiest girl of all, with a dreamy look in her big blue eyes, had said nothing.

"What does it remind you of, Lysabel?" someone asked.

"The umbrella I forgot to return to Aunt Jane," said Lysabel, unexpectedly. "She'll want it if it rains tomorrow."

There was a burst of laughter, but Lysabel stuck to her guns. "It's beautiful, of course, and it ought to have reminded me of something else, I dare say," she admitted. "But that's what it did remind me of. And it really does look like bad weather tomorrow; and Aunt Jane will be terribly upset about her umbrella. If you knew her you'd understand."

Lysabel had an honest nature, but not an imaginative one. It is easier to sympathize with her than with the excellent New England housewife, equally honest and even more prosaic, who, called upon to admire a lovely mackerel sky, declined to do so on the ground that she preferred "clean blue;" clouds always looked mussy, especially a lot of little ones; they reminded her of rolls of dust blowing along a floor, and she always wanted to take a broom to them!

Thought of a Better Way.

Los Angeles Times: In olden times the beadle was armed with a small wooden mallet with which he was commissioned to tap, gently but firmly, the heads of sleepers in church.

In the old town of Kilbarchan once lived and preached a minister whose pulpit ministrations were devoid of all eloquence or force. Naturally, he was annoyed every Sunday by the sight of several of his parishioners who slept throughout the sermon. Chief among these was Johnny Plane. Johnny had been gently "tiched" by the old beadle's mallet several times, but one Sunday the minister was exasperated at the sight of the man soundly sleeping almost before the sermon had begun.

"Andra," he called out to the beadle, "gang round to the wast loft and rap up Johnny Plane. Gie the lazy loon a guid stiff rap on the heid—he deserves 't."

The beadle obeyed instructions, with the result that a lively fight ensued between him and the erstwhile sleeper. Meeting Andra in the vestry after the service, the minister said:

"If the loon sleeps next Sunday, just you gang up and rap him back to reason; and mind it's a knock wi' some force in't he needs."

"Na, na, sir," was the beadle's canny reply, "I'll no disturb him again. If Johnny's to be kept frae sleepin' in church, minister, ye maun just pit the force into yer sermon."

The Congressional Library.

Harper's Weekly: The vastness of the Congressional library is shown by a recent report to congress in which it is shown that the library contains 2,125,255 books, 135,323 maps and charts, 630,799 volumes and pieces of music and 360,494 prints. The books added in the previous year amounted to 136,720 and an extension of the library is asked for with racks for 800,000 more books. The library has an average of 2,454 visitors and readers during each day of the year and yet the place seems never crowded at any one time. Since the location of the Union station on its present site many travelers with an hour to spare between trains avail themselves of the opportunity to visit this beautiful building, while it is the favorite haunt for those who are students of music, literature or art and love to pore over its priceless treasures.

Corruption Recrudescent

(By Sarayard.)

Washington, Jan. 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—The United States senate committee on privileges and elections has been enlightened by a statement produced before it, circumstantial in every particular, covered all over with a verisimilitude that evidences its truth, to the effect that it cost $1,000,000 and upwards to elect Boies Penrose senator in congress last November. Here is richness for you. It is to be hoped that the senate committee will probe the thing to the bottom. It is doubtful if any senator under the old plan of corrupting a state legislature ever paid as much as a tenth of a million for his place. It is not pretended that Mr. Penrose spent this immense sum out of his own pocket for this "ribbon to wear in his coat," as Tom Reed called a senatorship, but it is asserted that certain "interests" chipped in, debauched the electorate, and bought the office. The Progressives of Pennsylvania join with the Democrats in making the charge that more than $1,000,000 was raised and spent to elect Penrose.

And why not? It is worth the money to monopoly to have Penrose chairman of finance when a tariff bill is on the hooks. Why, a measly million is not even respectable bait when fishing for a trout like Dingley, or Payne-Aldrich, in the tariff stream.

The G. O. P. has a versatile record on the tariff and its career in that behalf is the rake's progress. The lowest tariff we have had since 1812 was that of 1857, enacted by a Republican house of representatives of which Nathaniel P. Banks was the speaker. It cut the rates of "the free trade tariff of 1846," as James G. Blaine called the Walker tariff, and Mr. Blaine declares in his book that "free trade would have been our settled policy but for the war."

When the Republicans enacted their tariff immediately after secession they did it with an apology—that it was a war measure—that is, the purely protective features of it. As late as 1867 John Sherman and William B. Allison were rank free traders. It was not Frank Hurd, not Michael C. Keer, not William R. Morrison, not John G. Carlisle, who likened our protected manufacturers to the "robber barons of the Rhine," but John Sherman.

* * *

How is it that the poet Pope puts it?

"Vice is a monster of such frightful mien
As to be hated needs but to be seen;
But seen too oft, familiar with her face,
We first endure, then pity, then embrace."

But John Sherman never got rid of his aversion to the over-protection policy and he very nearly got his own consent to cut the throat of the "commission tariff" of 1853, which he could have done. As for Allison, he reminds me of a certain statesman from Texas—he was ever in danger when out at nights without a bodyguard. What Tom Corwin said of old Lewis Cass fit Allison precisely.

That is a digression. In the making of the first Republican tariff after secession William Pitt Fessenden, the greatest United States senator the G. O. P. ever produced, had charge of it so far as his party was concerned in the senate. Mr. Fessenden was a very great man, a very able man, an exceptionally pure man, and the protective graft in the bill was comparatively insignificant. Later Morrill of Vermont and Sherman bossed Republican tariff bills in the senate and again, comparatively speaking, they were moderate in their exactions upon the farm for the profit of the shop.

Then came Aldrich—not a great man by any sort of estimate of him, but the "smartest" man you ever saw or ever heard of by every sort of estimate of him, unless Ben Butler was his match. When in England it was proposed to impeach Lord Clive for his enormities in the administration in East India, his defense was: "Mr. chairman, when I contemplate opportunities for peculations that came to me in my administration of affairs over seas, by G—d, sir, I stand amazed at my own moderation!"

Not so Aldrich. He was never embarrassed by any such considerations. When Schedule "K" of the Payne-Aldrich tariff was approved he was chagrinned because it did not cut deep enough.

* * *

And now that the Republicans believe that they have the world in a sling, Mr. Boies Penrose is the very one that they would pick from all mankind to boss a tariff job in the United States senate. A beggarly million is absurd for its insignificance. He would be cheap at tenfold the sum.

By the way, it is charged that the whisky folk contributed enormously—$700,000—to the fund to elect Penrose. As Sairey Gamp might say, "Sich ojus creturs!"

* * *

How would it be if the Republicans shall come in in 1917? A man named by Penrose will be president. Mann will be speaker and Hill of Connecticut chairman of ways and means. Penrose will be chairman of finance and so the job of monopoly will be in excellent hands.

A million! What are you talking about, you piker? It would be cheap at many millions. The tariff ring is blissful in the hope that the Wilson administration is sorely wounded by the war in Europe, the situation in Mexico, and the inevitable ebb that follows every flood.

Hence a corpulent campaign fund to make the greatest Republican left in public life the successor of himself as senator from Pennsylvania and chairman of "finance."

Made an Anthem of It.

London Daily Mirror: It is pleasant to hear that the stern business of drilling has its light side, as well as most other things. In a certain territorial regiment, not many miles from London, one of the newest recruits was waiting his turn on parade to be inspected.

Presently to him came the youthful officer in charge. He has what is known as the varsity accent.

The officer stopped and inspected. Then: "Ha, ha, no shave," he said. "He, he, no razor," replied the new recruit blithely, thinking that he had met a sociable soul with a pleasant way of reprimanding.

The result was, of course, disastrous to the recruit. But now, when the regiment is marching and "Tipperary" is getting a little overdone, the monotony is varied by the front section calling out in full-throated unison, "Ha, ha, no shave," which is instantly replied to from the back with a stentorian roar of "He, he, no razor!"

A Courteous Apology.

Argonaut: An interested visitor who was making a call in the tenement district, rising, said:

"Well, my good woman, I must go now. Is there anything I can do for you?"

"No, thank ye, mem," replied the submerged one. "Ye mustn't mind it if I don't return the call, will ye? I haven't any time to go slummin' meself."

Statesmen, Real and Near

By Fred C. Kelly.

Washington, Jan. 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—George R. Smith, member of congress from Minneapolis, is a striking double of Billy Burns, the detective. He has Burns' face, wavy hair, size, and the same winning, ebullient personality. A while ago Smith chanced to drop in at a hotel barber shop in Washington for the purpose of getting his hair trimmed. He got into the chair nearest the door, placed his order, and leaned back comfortably to await developments. The barber was looking at him intently.

After the barber had snipped off a good deal of Smith's hair, he remarked, in a half-confidential tone:

"You're Detective Burns, aren't you?"

"Oh, yes," laughed Smith; "and," he added, "I'm dead on to you, too."

Then the talk turned into other channels.

Three weeks later, Smith, who is an exceptionally well-groomed person, again wished to have his hair trimmed, and remembering that the barber attending him had been a skilled workman, went to the same shop. The man in the first chair, however, was a new one.

"Where's the fellow who used to work at this chair?" inquired the congressman.

"Don't know," replied the boss barber. "He left town about three weeks ago."

Smith may have been intended for a detective, at that. When he first began the practice of law in Minneapolis he was extremely stern in cross-examining witnesses, always hoping to bring up some unexpected fact from beneath the surface. Once he was trying a case having to do with the settlement of an estate. A witness was giving a list of the property on the old farm. This included sixteen head of cattle.

"How many did you milk?" asked Smith.

"Fifteen."

"And why didn't you milk them all?"

"Because," replied the witness, "one was not no cow."

Smith had another case in the early days in which he defended a young man for practicing pharmacy without a license. His client was acquitted, but the foreman of the jury, in handing out the verdict, added: "We feel that we should enjoin the defendant never to do it again."

Daniel J. Riordan represents one of the New York city districts in congress. His district is peculiar in that everybody agrees thoroughly with everybody else on one point, to wit, that the main province of a congressman is to obtain suitable jobs for his constituents.

A few days ago one of Riordan's constituents called at the office which Riordan makes his headquarters when in New York.

"Where's Riordan?" inquired the caller.

"He's down in Washington," was the reply.

"In Washington, hey!" repeated the caller, indignantly. "What the devil's he doin' there? Why don't he stick here on the job and look after his people?"

Representative Henry Barnhart of Indiana dropped into a small town in the northern part of the lit'ry state to make a speech. He saw a crowd running up the street and inquired of a native:

"Fire?"

"Nup," answered the native, "there ain't any fire I don't think. We dassent have a fire this week."

"Why?" asked Barnhart.

"The fire boys are having their uniforms cleaned."

Advertises to Save Thief.

Philadelphia Record: Wrightstown, N. J.—Clarence Ridgeway, a farmer, has published an advertisement warning a thief who stole a sheep carcass from his barn against eating the meat of the animal, which died of a chronic disease. Ridgeway hung up its body outside his barn, intending to boil the mutton for dog feed, but a hungry wayfarer beat his dogs to the feast.

Keeping Up With Minnesota Editors

Press Comments on Current Events.

Senate Merely Catching Up.

Mora Times: The state senate is taking the lead this year in economy and reform. Two years ago the house set the pace by reducing the number of employes one-third, cutting down the number of committees and revising the rules. Largely through the influence of Lieutenant-Governor Burnquist the senate this year has made a big reduction in employes and has abolished a large number of useless committees. The house is not expected to make any radical changes in its plan of organization, but will adopt the procedure of the 1913 house to a large extent.

Let the Good Work Go On.

Olivia Times: The legislature seems to be getting down to business right at the start and retrenchment is the slogan. Let the good work go on.

Hopes It Will Continue.

La Porte News: The members of the state legislature have certainly caught the "economy fever" and it will take more than one representative of a stationery house to break it up. Haislet of St. James, chairman of the house committee on legislative supplies, says that each member will receive one lead pencil, a penholder and pen, a package of envelopes and a block of paper, and nothing else. We hope this streak of economy will not be more than counteracted by extravagance somewhere else.

Rather Pessimistic.

Bear River Journal: The Minnesota legislature has been organized by the old gang, and there are great protestations of making this an economical session. We prefer waiting until it adjourns before rendering a verdict. It is not economy that is so much in demand as it is useful service for the money expended that the people want.

Insist Upon Economy.

Le Sueur News: Let the people of Minnesota remember that it takes more than a message to bring about economy and efficiency in state government. Let them unite in informing the present legislature of this truth. Let them insist upon action along these lines and not upon bringing home more bacon. Then it will be in sight.

Encouraging.

Luverne Journal: The state legislature is in session. But have courage, brethren. It may not be as bad as painted.

Daily Strength and Cheer.

Oh, what a sad world to behold
If Christ had not come!
The sweet story would not have been told
If Christ had not come.
No beautiful visions of lands far away
To comfort the soul at the close of day,
No hopes with the Lord forever to stay
If Christ had not come.

The leper cleansed could not have rejoiced
If Christ had not come;
Nor the blind, at the sound of His voice,
If Christ had not come.
No garments to touch that set sinners free,
No grace to receive, no pardon for thee,
But a life full of darkness today ours would be
If Christ had not come.

No shadow of a cross would arise
If Christ had not come,
When in pain we close our tired eyes,
If Christ had not come.
Through the valley of death we would tread in despair,
No Savior to lead us with dear, tender care,
No bright crown or mansion awaiting us there,
If Christ had not come.

To Build Its Governor a Home.

Detroit Tribune: A bill will be introduced at the coming session of the legislature providing for a governor's residence in Lansing. The introducer says that he has not yet placed the appropriation figure in the bill, but that it will be less than many other states have expended is assured.

This brings to mind what other states have done along this line, and investigation reveals that twenty-two states have residences for their governors.

Some idea of the cost, should the legislature act favorably on the bill, can be gleaned from figures obtained from several states on the cost of the executive mansions. Of those reporting, North Carolina leads, with its governor's residence costing $125,000, while Pennsylvania is a close second, with an expenditure of $100,000. Alabama spent $50,000; Georgia, $95,000; Illinois, $88,500; Kansas, $35,000; Kentucky, $97,000; Mississippi, $30,000; Nevada, $40,000; New York, $50,000; South Carolina, $60,000; Tennessee, $31,000; Washington, $50,000, and West Virginia, $45,000.

The states of Arkansas, Indiana, Iowa and South Dakota pay rent for housing their governors, while Arizona, Colorado, Connecticut, Delaware, Maine, Massachusetts, Michigan, Minnesota, New Hampshire, New Jersey, Ohio, Oklahoma, Oregon and Vermont have no provision for a governor's residence.

Kentucky is one of the late states to complete a governor's residence. It cost $97,000.

Since Michigan was organized as a state, in 1837, its governors have been compelled to reside in private residences or live at a hotel. The annual salary of a governor, $5,000, will not permit of any great amount of luxury when other expenses are taken into consideration.

Isn't It Queer?

"Isn't it queer?" asks the Iola Register. "It isn't likely that any woman would go into a dry goods store and say 'Could I get a spool of thread?' and when one is handed to her, say, 'Thank you,' and walk away with the feeling that it had been fully paid for. Nor is it likely that any man would go into a cigar store, help himself to a cigar out of a box that might be open on the counter, and pass on without a hint of offering payment for it. And yet men and women will go into a newspaper office, ask for a copy of the paper if it is not in sight, or pick it up without asking if it is in sight, and walk away with as little concern as if they had picked up a leaf in the forest. Isn't it queer?"

THE "LUMBERJACK."

To the Editor of The Herald:

I read Mr. Brandborg's opinion of the lumberjack in general and I wish to say it is one of the most narrow-minded ideas that has entered the Open Court.

If I were asked for an opinion of Mr. Brandborg from his writings, I would say that he is the sad possessor of a warped mind.

For one year of my life circumstances made it necessary for me to cast my lot among the lumberjacks of Northern Minnesota, and, although I have lived in most of the civilized capitals of the world, I must say that I have never received more polite or more courteous treatment than I received at the hands of the much-maligned lumberjack.

It is true that the average lumberjack is rough and boisterous, but it is in keeping with his exuberant spirits.

At heart they are all gentlemen.

I have yet to hear the first discourteous word offered to woman or child from a lumberjack.

Even the most common jack is a natural acting piece of humanity, and that cannot be said of some of our leading citizens in Duluth and elsewhere.

Does Mr. Brandborg think that a man must be illiterate, ignorant and devoid of decency to be a lumberjack?

If so, I will say I have met many well-educated and intelligent men in the woods; men who follow the woods for the love of the clean, wholesome open life; men who would rather work in the woods for $30 a month than in town for $100.

Men who are rough and ready for anything, so long as it is decent and above board. Men, who, if they do hurt anyone, hurt themselves most.

What if some (remember, I say some, not all by any means) of them do come out of the woods in the spring with the intention of having what they call "a good time?"

Is that any reason for classing the lumberjack as a "filthy, degraded" person?

In reality they are not nearly so low and degraded in heart and mind as the people who go around misjudging things and people of whom they have not the slightest knowledge.

Paul Revere's Ride.

Listen my children and you shall hear
Of the midnight ride of Paul Revere,
On the eighteenth of April in seventy-five,
Hardly a man is now alive,
Who remembers that famous day and year.

He said to his friend, "If the British march
By land or by sea tonight,
Hang a lantern aloft in the belfry arch
Of the Old North Church tower as a signal light—
One, if by land, and two, if by sea;
And I on the opposite shore will be Ready to ride and spread the alarm
Through every Middlesex village and farm,
For the country folk to be up and to arm."

Then he said "Good night," and with muffled oar
Silently rode to the Charlestown shore,
Just as the moon rose over the bay,
Where swinging wide at her moorings lay
The Somerset, British man-of-war,
A phantom ship, with each mast and spar
Across the moon like a prison bar,
And a huge black hulk was magnified
By its own reflection on the tide.

Meanwhile, his friend, through alley and street,
Wanders and watches with eager ears,
Till in the silence around him he hears,
The muster of men at the barrack door,
The sound of arms, and the tramp of feet,
And the measured tread of the grenadiers,
Marching down to their boats on the shore.

Then he climbed to the tower of the Old North Church,
By the wooden stairs, with stealthy tread,
To the belfry-chamber overhead
And startled the pigeons from their perch
On the somber rafters, that round him made
Masses and moving shapes of shade—
By the trembling ladder, steep and tall,
To the highest window in the wall,
Where he paused to listen and look down
A moment on the roofs of the town,
And the moonlight flowing over all.

Beneath the churchyard lay the dead,
In their night-encampment on the hill,
Wrapped in silence deep and still
That he could hear, like a sentinel's tread,
The watchful night wind, as it went
Creeping along from tent to tent,
And seeming to whisper "all is well."
A moment only he feels the spell
Of the place and the hour of the secret dread
Of the lonely belfry and the dead;
For suddenly all his thoughts are bent
On a shadowy something far away,
Where the river widens to meet the bay—
A line of black that bends and floats
On the rising tide, like a bridge of boats.

Meanwhile, impatient to mount and ride,
Booted and spurred, with a heavy stride
On the opposite shore walked Paul Revere.
Now he patted his horse's side,
Now gazed at the landscape far and near,
Then, impetuous, stamped the earth,
And turned and tightened his saddle-girth,
But mostly he watched with eager search,
The belfry-tower of the Old North Church,
As it rose above the graves on the hill,
Lonely and spectral and somber and still.
And lo! as he looks, on the belfry's height,
A glimmer, and then a gleam of light!
He springs to the saddle, the bridle he turns,
But lingers, till full on his sight
A second lamp in the belfry burns!

A hurry of hoofs in a village street,
A shape in the moonlight, a bulk in the dark
And beneath, from the pebbles, in passing, a spark
Struck out by a steed flying fearless and fleet:
That was all! and yet, through the gloom and the light,
The fate of a nation was riding that night;
And the spark struck out by that steed, in his flight,
Kindled the land into flame with its heat.

He has left the village and mounted the steep,
And beneath, tranquil and broad and deep,
Is the Mystic, meeting the ocean tides;
And under the alders that skirt its edge,
Now soft on the sand, now loud on the ledge,
Is heard the tramp of his steed as he rides.

It was twelve by the village clock,
When he crossed the bridge into Medford town.
He heard the crowing of the cock
And the barking of the farmer's dog,
And felt the damp of the river fog,
That rises after the sun goes down.

It was one by the village clock
When he galloped into Lexington,
He saw the gilded weather-cock,
Swim in the moonlight as he passed
And the meeting-house windows, blank and bare,
Gaze at him with a spectral glare
As, if they already stood aghast
At the bloody work they would look upon.

It was two by the village clock
When he came to the bridge in Concord town.
He heard the bleating of the flock,
And the twitter of birds among the trees,
And felt the breath of the morning breeze
Blowing over the meadows brown.
And one was safe and asleep in his bed,
Who at the bridge would be first to fall,
Who that day would be lying dead,
Pierced by a British musket-ball.

You know the rest. In the books you have read,
How the British Regulars fired and fled—
How the farmers gave them ball for ball,
From behind each fence and farmyard wall,
And a word that will echo for evermore!
For, borne on the night wind of the past,
Through all our history to the last,
In the hour of darkness and peril and need,
The people will waken and listen to hear
The hurrying hoof-beats of that steed
And the midnight message of Paul Revere.

Duluth, Jan. 19.

Father, Dear Father, Come Home With Me Now."

"Father, dear father, come home with me now!
The clock in the steeple strikes one;
You said you were coming right home from the shop,
As soon as your day's work was done.
Our fire has gone out; our home is all dark,
And mother's been waiting since tea,
With poor brother Benny so sick in her arms,
And no one to help her but me.
Come home, come home, please, father, dear father, come home!"

Chorus.

Hear the sweet voice of the child,
Which the night winds repeat as they roam,
Oh, who could resist this most pleading of prayers,
"Please, father, dear father, come home!"

"Father, dear father, come home with me now;
The clock in the steeple strikes two.
The night has grown colder, and Benny is worse,
But the doctor's been calling for you.
Indeed he is worse; ma says he will die,
Perhaps before morning shall dawn;
And this is the message she sent me to bring:
'Come quickly or he will be gone;'
Come home, come home, come home, please, father, dear father, come home."

Chorus.

"Father, dear father, come home with me now;
The clock in the steeple strikes three.
The house is so lonely, the hours are so long
For poor weeping mother and me.
Yes, we are alone—poor Benny is dead
And gone with the angels of light;
And these were the very last words that he said:
'I want to kiss papa good night.'
Come home, come home, come home, please, father, dear father, come home!"

Meet Me Tonight in Dreamland.

Dreaming of you, that's all I do—
Night and day for you, I'm pining,
And in your eyes, blue as the skies
I can see the love-light softly shining;
Because you love me there it seems,
Pray meet me in the land of dreams.

Chorus.

Meet me tonight in Dreamland
Under the silvry moon—
Meet me tonight in Dreamland
Where love's sweet roses bloom;
Come with the love light gleaming
In your dear eyes of blue,
Meet me in Dreamland, sweet, dreamy Dreamland—
There let my dreams come true.

Sighing all day when you're away—
Longing for you dear, you only;
In blissful dreams, sweetheart, it seems
One is never sad and never lonely;
And if you'll come with me to stay
We'll live in Dreamland night and day.

Where the River Shannon Flows.

There's a pretty spot in Ireland
I always claim for my land,
Where the fairies and the blarney
Will never, never die.
Its the land of the shillelah,
My heart goes back there daily
To the girl I left behind me
When we kissed and said good-bye.

Chorus.

Where dear old Shannon's flowing,
Where the three-leaved shamrock grows,
Where my heart is I am going,
To my little Irish rose.
And the moment that I meet her
With a hug and kiss I'll greet her,
For there's not a colleen sweeter,
Where the River Shannon flows.

Sure no letter I'll be mailing
For soon will I be sailing,
And I'll bless the ship that takes me
To my dear old Erin's shore.
There I'll settle down forever
I'll leave the old sod never,
And I'll whisper to my sweetheart,
"Come and take my name, asthore."

Chorus.

HEALTH TALKS

By William Brady, M.D.

Holding the Breath

A GOOD lively baby, with an over-anxious mother can hold his breath for what seems like half an hour or more at a stretch when thoroughly aroused, and still come to. But as he grows up he forgets how to do it; by the time he comes of age he is able to hold his breath forty seconds by the watch and no longer. At forty seconds there comes a breaking point, at which the desire to breathe becomes overpowering.

It is discomfiting to see a baby hold his breathe, but it isn't dangerous. He'll resume breathing again when he gets ready. No matter how excited he may be, nor how angry, a baby never really forgets to breathe. Even if he grows black in the face he will resume the function of respiration at the rate of 25,000 times per day right where he left off when he gets around to it. Never yet has a baby voluntarily ceased to breathe.

The reason why a well developed baby can hold his breath so long without ill effect—upon himself—is that he carefully prepares in advance for these performances. He doesn't just make up his mind all of a sudden to scare the folks to death. A good baby is not so underhanded as that. He says to himself "Now I'll fill my system with a superabundance of oxygen and crowd out all the carbon dioxide I can from my lungs. Then I'll knock off breathing for a time, and they'll come around to my way of thinking, all right."

How the Trick Is Done.

So he starts in breathing to beat the band for a minute or two, breathing as hard as he can, until he is pretty thoroughly intoxicated with oxygen and as free as possible of carbon dioxide gas. Then he holds his breath until every one is about frantic.

You can do it yourself if your heart is normal and you are not too saturated with autointoxication. Watch in hand, sitting at rest, you first measure your normal breaking point, which should be forty seconds. If much less than that, you are intoxicated with one poison or another, or else your heart is not efficient. Having learned your normal breaking-point, you breathe somewhat more deeply than usual, but not forcibly, nor faster than eighteen per minute, and keep it up for two minutes. It may make your head swim a trifle, but that is merely oxygen intoxication, and it is good for you. Having thus filled your blood with a superabundance of oxygen and eliminated all the carbonic acid gas you can, hold your breath and count the seconds. You should easily last ninety seconds, perhaps two minutes, before breathing again. If you can't hold out at least a minute, you had better go and see your doctor, for there must be something wrong with your health. Athletic young fellows in good physical condition can go three minutes by the watch without a breath when thus prepared. It is a fine pastime and healthful for everybody.

Questions and Answers.

"Cold Sore": What causes cold sores on the lips and what will cure them?

REPLY.

Herpes or "cold" sores are due to either an external or internal irritant. The best remedies we know are Spirits of Camphor at the beginning and painting the spots with flexible collodion as a protection after they have appeared.

* * *

Fattening a Husband: My husband has hollows in his cheeks and he is very thin. Would massage fill out the cheeks? What will fatten him?

REPLY.

In order to give advice worth while, his age, height, weight, occupation, health and habits must be mentioned. In a general way these things are fattening: Sweets, eggs, bacon, rice, oatmeal, cornmeal, cream, uxorial good cheer, olive oil, lots of sleep nights and after-dinner naps, laughter, and as little housecleaning as the law allows. Massage of the face will make him LOOK plump because of the improved color, but will not make the face fat.

* * *

Not Dangerous: Are Stuart's calcium wafers dangerous? Will they affect the heart?

REPLY.

The other day we read a testimonial for a very expensive placebo. It stated that the nostrum "contained no opium or other narcotic." No, the wafers certainly won't hurt your heart.

* * *

Diet and Motherhood: Is diet important for an expectant mother? Her first child brought her great suffering. She is strong and in good health with good muscle.

REPLY.

In a general way the diet should be in no sense different from her ordinary diet. A daily open air walk is the best insurance for a normal delivery.

RETURNS TO HIS MOTHER

Superior Youth Reads in Herald of Her Anxiety Regarding Him.

Harold Sphung, 19 years old, who left his home in Superior about a year ago and wrote but once in that time and whose mother started search for him several weeks ago upon the discovery of his name in a shirt worn by a man frozen to death, returned yesterday, after having read an article in The Herald over a week ago, telling about his absence and the anxiety of his parents.

On Saturday morning, Dec. 26, Charles T. Anderson of 2421 West Eighth street, was found in a frozen condition just outside of Angora, a station on the Missabe road. He was rushed to Duluth, but he died just after reaching St. Luke's hospital.

At the undertaking parlors the following day, the identity of the dead man not having been learned until Monday, the name "M. Spunk" was found in the neck-band of the shirt. However, on Monday the body was identified by the dead man's relatives and the following day burial took place in the Park Hill cemetery.

A few days later Mrs. Ralph Sphung of 1312 Hughitt avenue, Superior, read accounts of Anderson's death and the finding of the name "M. Spunk" printed on the inside of the neck-band. She immediately became curious and believing the shirt worn by Anderson belonged to her son, who left home in January, 1914, and who had written but once during the past year, started an investigation.

Young Sphung had left for the north woods and his mother was of the opinion that Anderson was wearing his shirt when found near Angora. She reported her belief to The Herald and an account of it was published on Thursday, Jan. 7.

Yesterday afternoon Sphung returned to his home, saying on his arrival that he was in the woods near International Falls and that he had been unable to communicate with anyone during the entire year. Last week, he said, a clerk at International Falls, who had read the account in The Herald, came to his camp and showed him the article. As a result, Sphung immediately packed up and came home.

He will visit here for several days before returning to the woods, his mother said this morning.

This Week's Sunday School Lesson

Written for The Herald By Rev. J. S. Kirtley, D. D.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON: JAN. 24.

Judges vii: Gideon and the Three Hundred.

THE CONNECTION.

We had the account of the call of Gideon for his mission. We saw how reluctant and self-distrusting he was and how patiently God labored to overcome his fears and ignorance. We saw how he called on the people from the tribes most afflicted by the invaders and they responded with a new hope and purpose. Now they are assembled ready for the heroic deed. Let us see.

THE LESSON.

I.

The Qualities Required. 1-8.

"Then Jerubbaal, who is Gideon, and all the people that were with him, rose up early, and encamped beside the spring of Harod: and the camp of Midian was on the north side of them, by the hill of Moreh, in the valley.

"And Jehovah said unto Gideon, The people that are with thee are too many for Me to give the Midianites into their hand, lest Israel vaunt themselves against Me, saying, Mine own hand hath saved me. Now therefore proclaim in the ears of the people, saying, Whosoever is fearful and trembling, let him return and depart from Mount Gilead. And there returned of the people twenty and two thousand; and there remained ten thousand.

"And Jehovah said unto Gideon, The people are yet too many; bring them down unto the water, and I will try them for thee there: and it shall be, that of whom I say unto thee, This shall go with thee, the same shall go with thee; and of whomsoever I say unto thee, This shall not go with thee, the same shall not go. So he brought down the people unto the water: and Jehovah said unto Gideon, Every one that lappeth of the water with his tongue, as a dog lappeth, him shalt thou set by himself; likewise every one that boweth down upon his knees to drink. And the number of them that lapped, putting their hand to their mouth, was three hundred men: but all the rest bowed down upon their knees to drink water. And Jehovah said unto Gideon, By the three hundred men that lapped will I save you, and deliver the Midianites into thy hand; and let all the people go every man unto his place. So the people took victuals in their hand, and their trumpets; and he sent all the men of Israel every man unto his tent, but retained the three hundred men; and the camp of Midian was beneath him in the valley."

1. PATRIOTISM.—There are several things required in winning this victory. One is patriotism and they all have that. Not one but is anxious to see the enemy expelled. It may have meant less or more of patriotism than something else, but the holy love for country was there.

2. COURAGE.—God is going to work a stratagem and that always requires courage. Some of those people are afraid anyhow. They see the large numbers of the enemy stretched out along the valley; they think of their equipment with horses and weapons, they themselves are poorly fed and are weak, while the enemy has been eating finely, people are in prime condition; they are not accustomed to war and have been browbeaten by a foreign foe so long they have no spirit left. Those who have shown, or have confessed, fear are asked to retire. They will be useless; they will confuse and weaken the rest. Twenty-two thousand go, leaving 10,000 who are really brave enough to fight.

3. HUMILITY.—Not temporary but permanent humility. They were very humble now, but God knows those men well; knows that with that many they will claim the credit of the victory and drop right back into their old sins. God must win this victory, win it by strategy; win it in such a way that they can never boast of it. The number must be reduced; a strategy requires fewer anyhow.

4. SELF-COMMAND.—In order to work in this strategy there must be few men; they must be in complete command of themselves; must be intensely absorbed in it, so that nothing else can gain their attention; must perfectly respond to the rules of the enterprise. A man may have patriotism, courage and even humility, but not that delicate, exacting self-command that will be needed tonight. How are the right men to be selected? By a very simple method. It is hot. The men are naturally thirsty. The clear stream Harod is inviting. Gideon is to lead them briskly by the stream and give them a chance to drink. There were some men who were so absorbed in their enterprise they couldn't take time. It had got on their nerves. They needed water but their thoughts were on something else. As they rushed by they scooped up the water with their hands and drank it as a dog laps it. Most of them took time to get down on hands and knees and drink all they wanted. They loved their country and were brave enough to fight but they were not intense, not absorbed in it; were not intense, not absorbed in it; were loggy, muggy. By the time they arose from their knees the 300 were probably on a run for the rendezvous, ready for business. Those 300 can be trusted with the most delicate mission.

II.

The Way They Won. 16-23.

"And he divided the three hundred men into three companies, and he put into the hands of all of them trumpets, and empty pitchers, with torches within the pitchers. And he said unto them, Look on me, and do likewise; and, behold, when I come to the uttermost part of the camp, it shall be that, as I do, so shall ye do. When I blow the trumpet, I and all that are with me, then blow ye the trumpets also on every side of all the camp, and say, For Jehovah and for Gideon.

"So Gideon and the hundred men that were with him, came unto the outermost part of the camp in the beginning of the middle watch, when they had but newly set the watch; and they blew the trumpets, and broke in pieces the pitchers that were in their hands. And the three companies blew the trumpets, and broke the pitchers, and held the torches in their left hands, and the trumpets in their right hands to blow: and they cried, The sword of Jehovah and of Gideon. And they stood every man in his place, round about the camp; and all the host ran; and they shouted, and put them to flight. And they blew the three hundred trumpets, and Jehovah set every man's sword against his fellow, and against all the host; and the host fled as far as Beth-shittah toward Zererah, as far as the border of Abelmeholah, by Tabbath. And the men of Israel were gathered together out of Naphtali, and out of Asher, and out of all Manasseh, and pursued after Midian."

1. WAITING.—They have to wait till night and that is trying. There lies the army of 120,000, insolently watching this little group. All have left but Gideon and his 300. Gideon knows the plan of campaign, but the others do not. He is getting nervous and as the night deepened and he is restless God gives him encouragement by having him, with his servant, slip up to the outer part of the camp and hear what two Midianites are saying to each other. One tells that in his dream he saw a barley cake roll down the hill and crash into his tent. The other said that insignificant cake meant Gideon. Some way there was a something in the air that the enemy felt. This was all in the "nick of time," as we used to say, at "the psychological moment," as we now say. That encouraged Gideon.

2. PLANS.—It was a simple stratagem—to throw the enemy into a panic and make them kill each other. For that purpose it must be in the dead of night and dark; they must be suddenly wakened out of sleep; they must get the impression that they are overpowered by superior numbers and strength; they must believe that the God, or gods, of this nation had suddenly come to their aid. All of it was done. The sudden shout of three hundred men and the blast of their trumpets would awake them; the flashing of so many lights and the sound of so many trumpets would indicate many thousand people, for there was usually just one trumpet and one light to a company. They thought there were 300 companies instead of 300 men. Awakened out of sound sleep, eyes and mind confused with the light and the noise, believing that each man near him was his enemy, every man struck at every other man. Thus they slew each other.

3 RESULTS.—The enemy was driven out. There was work for all, for the prepared men in getting something started, for the others in helping finish the task. It is so in the church, in business, in the home, in civic life—something for the specially gifted, something for the least capable.

WHAT THE MASTERS SAY.

The best work can only be done by the best men. The Sistine Madonna was not painted by a dauber, but by Raphael; Paradise Lost was not written by a scribbler but by Milton. But one who can only do the secondary work can find plenty to do and he is needed, as the 300 needed help to finish what they began. The perfectly equipped must not stop to chide the others, but go on and get something started. The others must not be jealous of the leaders but be ready to help. The others may work themselves up so that, the next time, they may get into the higher class; some of the 22,000 may get up into the class of the 9,700, and some of the latter may be among the brave 300 next time.—James.

Heroism is not a term of unbelief or infidelity. A nation of infidels would be one of cowards. Bravery is not a matter of bodies. What is on the inside of a man determines what place he shall take in heroic efforts. Gideon must first have undeniable assurance that God would be with him before he would accept a commission; his unfailing trust in God guaranteed his success. Religion makes brave men. A religious coward is an anomaly.—Bond.

PERTINENT QUESTIONS.

1. Is it true that "every man's life is a plan of God?"
2. In everything we do can we get a plan from God?
3. How may we know God's plan of campaign for our enterprises?
4. How may you work yourself up from class to class in service?

THE RIGHT TO SEARCH SHIPS

John Bassett Moore Discusses "Problems of War and Commerce."

Any Arrangement Cannot Be Anything Better Than a Makeshift.

St. Louis, Mo., Jan. 21.—John Bassett Moore, former counsellor of the state department, in an address before the second annual foreign trade convention today on "Problems of War and Commerce" asserted that the pending negotiations between the United States and Great Britain in regard to the right to visit and search and British interference with American ships and cargoes could result in nothing better than a makeshift; that the points at issue could be settled only by the abolition of "conditional contraband," and the co-operation of neutrals and belligerents in the certification of cargoes.

"As of the belligerent's right to visit and search, he said, "the impulse of the belligerent is to cut off his enemy altogether and to prevent him from getting anything from the outside. The neutral, on the other hand, naturally desires that his trade should not be unduly hampered by an armed conflict to which he is no party.

Only a Makeshift.

"At the present moment a negotiation is in progress between the United States and Great Britain in regard to the exercise of the right of visit and search particularly in relation to the question of contraband. The representations of the United States are friendly in tone but were evidently inspired by the desire to reach an arrangement which should be duly considerate of the interests of all concerned, of belligerents and neutrals alike. But, no matter what arrangement may be made it can, in the present state of the law, hardly be expected to be a more than a makeshift. The question requires for its eventual adjustment a more radical solution than any of the compromises attempted in recent years have afforded."

Mr. Moore said that the movement of American commerce today was by grace of British control of the sea, "If," he continued, "instead of the naval supremacy now exercised in its own interest and that of its allies by the largest consumer of our agricultural productions and foodstuffs, the control of the seas were actually contested by powerful hostile fleets, it is almost appalling to reflect upon what might be the present state of our commerce. The bare suggestion of such a predicament justified us in giving the subject our most serious consideration, for we must look to the future as well as to the present."

Position of the United States

The position of the United States had been clear and unequivocal for more than 100 years and had sought to exclude altogether from the category of contraband both raw materials and foodstuffs. He explained the position of this country at the second Hague conference in 1907, in behalf of a general international agreement as to contraband, and the defeat of the proposition following the lead of Great Britain's delegates headed by Lord Reay. According to this proposition, "conditional contraband" was to "consist of provisions, materials and articles which are employed for a double purpose, in peace and in war, but which, by reason of their character, quality and quantity are suitable and necessary for military purposes, and which are destined for the use of armed forces or for the military establishments of the enemy."

Mr. Moore said Lord Reay had been more prophetic than he knew when he pointed to the futility of attempting to prevent belligerents from obtaining the munitions they needed, and the difficulty in reaching an agreement as to contraband, "by reason of the increase in the tonnage of ships, the carrying of mixed cargoes, the lack of any single destination of ship or cargo, the multiplication of the number of articles used in war, and the development of railways and other means of transportation by land."

The Solution.

"A solution must, in my opinion," he continued, "be sought if not in the abolition of the principle of contraband, at any rate in the adoption of a plan embracing (1) the abolition of 'conditional contraband,' and (2) a single list having been agreed upon, in the co-operation of neutrals and belligerents in the certifications of the contents of cargoes, so that the risk of capture may be openly borne by those who may voluntarily assume it, and harassing 'searches' and detentions no more be heard of.

"The seas outside territorial waters are the common highway of nations," he said, "and none of them has the right to render the use of that highway insecure. Few days pass in which one does not read a report of the blowing up of a merchant or fishing vessel by contact with a mine. As a method of warfare this must be regarded as an atrocity which no nation is at liberty to perpetrate."

FORTIFIED AGAINST ZEPPELIN ATTACKS.

(Correspondence of the Associated Press.)

London, Jan. 8.—The action of the duchess of Marlborough in having the roof of Sunderland house fortified against aerial attacks has started a fashion that has spread far from Mayfair. Guests in a private hotel in Kensington recently appealed to the proprietor to keep the cellars of the hotel permanently warmed, so they would find things comfortable in event of a Zeppelin raid.

It is reported that thrifty London householders with extra cellar space have sublet it at so much per raid. This business has been stimulated by the warning of the war office that in event of a German bombardment people should get underground.

You help Nature most when you assist her by the best method, to safely make and keep a perfectly clean, healthy scalp. In washing the hair it is not advisable to use a makeshift, but always use a preparation made for shampooing only. Expected Relief Passed to Region South of Duluth.

Temperature Falls to 12 Below; Whole Northwest Shivers.

Between 11 and 12 deg. below zero was the lowest mark recorded here during last night and early this morning and the city will get another dose of it tonight. Mr. Richardson, the weather observer, says that he looked for relief from a southwest wind, but that passed south of here, and the cold will continue over tonight anyway, getting to from 10 to 15 deg. below zero.

At 7 o'clock this morning the thermometer was 11 deg. below here and was about 15 deg. below on the iron ranges. A similar difference will exist tonight.

The cold spread over the two Dakotas, Manitoba, most of Ontario, Minnesota, Northern Iowa and Wisconsin. The coldest point was at Minnedosa, where the mercury sank to 20 deg. below.

fantrymen in their far-to-be-seen red and blue uniforms, swarthy faced Turcos, Colonials, Alpine riflemen and bearded territorials still are sprawling in attitudes along the heights, in the deep cut gorges of the plateau and across the flat valley bed on the north shore of the Aisne.

Fought Across the River.

The battle of Soissons, so-called in default of a better name, although it really was fought across the river from that city, in the number of men engaged and the extent of the losses would rank with Bull Run or Antietam of the American Civil war or with Woerth in the Franco-Prussian war; but in this war it passes as an incident in the campaign, worthy only of passing mention in the official report.

No newspaper description of the battle was written from the German side. The Associated Press representative was the first, to the present, the only newspaper man to inspect the battlefield, and have opportunity to supplement the brief official reports with descriptive details gathered on the spot.

The results of the German success are regarded here as highly important. The French were expelled from the heights north of the Aisne—vantage ground from which they had hoped to launch a successful attack against the big elbow in the German line—and driven across the river which now runs brimful and at many places is overflowing its banks between the two armies.

The French reëstablish a foothold north of the river and bridge only at one point—at St. Paul and this bridge is commanded by German artillery from the heights.

department and John J. Arnold of Chicago completed the morning session.

Promoting Foreign Trade.

Secretary of Commerce Redfield in his address reviewed the work of the department of commerce in promoting foreign trade. He said that since May, 1914, the department has stationed eight commercial attaches abroad, though then there were none, that one is about to go to Petrograd and another to Melbourne.

"The department," he continued, "now has in mind the development of co-operating branches of the bureau of foreign and domestic commerce all over the country in the thought that in time every chamber of commerce may become affiliated with the bureau.

"An important phase of the work of this bureau is that in connection with the revision of export and import statistics at the New York custom house. Material inaccuracies exist in both classes of statistics.

"This subject is of exceeding importance. It affects commercial, financial and political activities. Arguments made from an apparent adverse balance sometimes would not be made if that balance were known not to be adverse."

Among those who discussed the points raised in Prof. Moore's address on international laws effect on trade during the present war, was Carman F. Randolph of New York.

"All things considered," he said, "we may hold the British government responsible for the far-reaching and severe restraint on international trade.

"The particular interests of the United States are quite sufficient to warrant a strong but temperate demand for a proper respect for neutral commerce, and the United States will, in maintaining their trade at as high a level as a just regard for belligerent interests permit, serve the larger and permanent interest of the world.

"The duty of the moment is to back the government's efforts to lessen the war hazards of foreign trade.

"If the British government is to make up the list of contraband in disregard of just neutral rights and protests we may expect its progressive extension."

NEW COMBINATION OF PRIMARY ELECTION AND CONVENTION SYSTEMS

the committee on legislative expenses, took exception to criticism by a local newspaper of the committee's having held an executive session to consider bids for supplies. Mr. Haislett moved that the article be referred to the rules committee for investigation, which motion prevailed. Then he moved that the committee be instructed to frame a rule requiring newspaper representatives to give fair reports or be expelled.

This brought violent opposition from Representative Bjornson, who said the proceeding was piffle; from Sam Y. Gordon, who said that it virtually gave the rules committee authority to censor newspaper reports, and from Representative Corning, Larimore and others.

Representative Spooner moved that the matter be laid on the table, and Representative Haislett, author of the motion, seconded. The motion was lost, and Mr. Haislett shut off what threatened to be an interminable flow of argument by withdrawing his proposition entirely.

To License Billboards.

Representative E. N. Nelson of Duluth this morning introduced a bill authorizing counties and communities to regulate outdoor advertising of all kinds, and to license and tax it. This includes billboards, street car advertising, etc., and communities are given full power to regulate or prohibit such advertising.

* * *

Representative Devold, Minneapolis, Socialist, offered a joint resolution protesting to congress against rules which stop postoffice and army and navy civil service employes from combining to better their condition, characterizing this as an invasion of political liberty. Mr. Devold also proposed a memorial asking congress to make it cheaper for aliens to become citizens. Both were referred to committees.

Street Railway Franchises.

Senators Orr and Denegre of St. Paul offered a sweeping measure authorizing Duluth, St. Paul and Minneapolis to let franchises for street railways without regard to present limitations in the statutes or charters, including the requirement now in the Duluth charter that no franchises can be let without a vote of the people. Under this bill the mayor and a majority of the council could let franchises and make them contracts binding the cities.

* * *

Senator Gjerset introduced a bill prohibiting grain commission merchants from being interested in sales made by them as commission men.

* * *

Other bills: By Representative Gerlich, providing for the annexation of villages to third class cities; Representative Devold, authorizing municipalities to own municipal telephone systems; Representative Lennon of Minneapolis, creating the office of county defender in Hennepin county; Representatative Christianson, Bessette and Warner, providing for the regulation of fire insurance rates and rate-making; Representative Steen, by request, amendment of law regulating hours of employment of women to allow manufacturers to work women seventy hours a week twelve weeks a year; Representative Pless, prohibiting fraud and deception in the sale of coal; Representative Novak, establishing assembly districts in each election district with conveniences for popular discussion of public questions; Representative Hynes, providing for the state licensing of places of amusement, with licenses ranging from $500 for 10-cent houses to $1,500 for those charging more than $1.

the legislature just getting down to real business.

Committee work is beginning, and presently there will be bills enough on general orders and the calendar to keep both bodies busy.

The delay in getting under way, though the new members are very restive under it, is not at all unusual. Indeed, it happens every session, and as a rule it is not until the second month is well along that the legislature gets to the point where it puts in anything like long hours each day working on bills.

The time seemingly wasted at the beginning of the session is not all waste. For one thing, it takes a little time to get the senators and representatives to the grove of life at home, and into the legislative grind. For another, the leisurely pace of the early weeks gives the members time to get acquainted with each other and with legislative processes, and that is by no means waste.

However, the fact that the usual delay prevails at this session has already finished whatever hope there might have been that the legislature at this session might get down to work early and quit earlier than usual.

There isn't the remotest chance, now, apparently, that the session will end a day sooner than April 22, which, being the ninetieth legislative day, is the last day it can sit under the Constitution.

Woman Suffrage and County Option.

In all probability, the senate will get two of the most mooted measures out of its way next week.

By the middle of the week, according to present indications, that body will have voted on both county option and woman suffrage.

The plan is to make both of them special orders, woman suffrage first and county option second; and the idea yesterday afternoon was to make woman suffrage a special order for Tuesday and county option a special order for Wednesday. That means that on these days the measure allotted to each day will be brought up, debated, and voted upon—to die if defeated, and to go on to the house if passed.

The senate committee on temperance, Senator P. A. Gaudrud of Sunberg chairman, will meet this afternoon to consider the official county option bill, introduced by Senator F. H. Peterson of Moorhead to supplant his unofficial one introduced last week.

The expectation of the friends of the bill was that it would be acted upon today, and as a majority of the committee members are favorable to county option, that means that it will be recommended for passage.

If this is done, the report will be made to the senate tomorrow, and a motion will then be made that the bill be made a special order for Wednesday.

Opponents of county option had indicated a desire for a hearing on the county option bill, and they will have a chance this afternoon.

Hearings, arguments, debates and the like have very little bearing on the fate of the measure, though. The bill is old—is substantially in the same form as the county option bill that has made its biennial appearance for many sessions—everybody is familiar with its provisions and with the arguments pro and con, and all of the senators have made up their minds how to vote. Most of them, indeed, came here pledged upon it one way or another.

The general assumption has been that the senate would pass the county option bill by two votes. The opposition, however, does not concede this, but claims that it has a majority of the senate. The chances, apparently, are slightly in favor of the bill's passing the senate by a narrow margin and being defeated in the house, also by a narrow margin.

As the time for a test on woman suffrage draws nearer, the confidence of its friends that the constitutional amendment proposing it will pass the senate does not seem to grow. Indeed, some of them admit that it is close, while those who are against votes for women declare that it will surely fail. The house, on the whole, seems much more likely to pass a woman suffrage bill than the senate.

Railroad and Street Car Bills.

The house committee on transportation will have a public hearing next Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock on several railroad and street car bills, including Representative C. M. Bendixen's 2-cent passenger fare bill, which if it passes will be the third passed in this state.

The legislature of 1907 passed a 2-cent fare law, which the railroads carried into the courts. In 1913, the case not having been decided, Representative Bendixen introduced the present law, which is based on the Michigan statute and imposes the 2-cent rate only on roads whose earnings are more than $1,200 a mile. This, it was believed, would be more likely to be upheld than the 1907 law. However, the 1907 law was upheld, but in the meantime the Bendixen law of 1913 had become effective.

That law, however, has a little loophole—at least it has since a recent supreme court decision. The intention of the author of the bill, and of the legislature, was to let the railroads charge 3 cents a mile for trips under five miles, because the cost of providing and selling tickets for a short trip is as much as for a long trip.

The Minnesota supreme court, however, has held that this allows the railroads to charge 3 cents for the first five miles of any trip; which is not at all what Mr. Bendixen meant. So now he has put in the recent bill, which cuts out the five-mile provision, and makes it a flat 2 cents a mile for any trip.

The railroads, it was made evident yesterday, will protest against this move because they hold that the five-mile provision was an act of justice, and that to do away with it deprives them of revenue unfairly. They point out that only one railroad—the Milwaukee—has taken advantage of this loophole, and that all the rest are on a straight 2-cent basis. They think that the bill could be devised so as to get around the supreme court ruling, while still allowing the railroads a higher rate for the short hauls.

It will all be threshed out at the hearing next Wednesday. At that time, also, the committee will consider the bill by Representative Tom J. McGrath of St. Paul, prohibiting railroads from running trains more than five miles on the ground that too long trains are menaces to the lives and limbs of railroads. Representative Corning's bill requiring interurban trolley lines to provide drinking water and toilet facilities, probably will also be considered at that time.

To Consider Jones' Bill.

The senate committee on labor and labor legislation will meet this afternoon to consider three bills by Senator Richard Jones of Duluth. One bill prohibits employment agents from charging a fee for finding jobs for manual laborers. Another provides that workingmen shall recover full pay for the time spent in waiting for their wages after they are due. The third requires the maintenance of bathing facilities in railroad and lumber camps, and prohibits employers from charging a fee for the service. Representative C. H. Warren of Aitkin introduced a similar bill last session.

The committee will also take up Senator George H. Gardner's bill requiring railroads to pay their men semi-monthly instead of monthly. The railroads—and some railroad employes—always oppose this bill strongly, and probably there will be public hearings on it before it is acted upon.

Representative A. O. Devold of Minneapolis, Socialist, endeavored to have his bill requiring an eight-hour day in flour mills, underground mines and linseed oil factories reported out for passage by the house committee on labor yesterday afternoon, but the Employers' association requested a hearing, so the committee laid it over.

Mr. Devold explained that while he had put in mines and flour mills to avoid the appearance of special or class legislation, the bill is aimed at the linseed oil mills in Minneapolis. He said that the mines already have an eight-hour day.

Speaking in support of his bill, Representative Devold declared that conditions in the oil mills are disgraceful.

"In many of the mills," he said, "the men are compelled to work for twelve hours each day. They have to work practically naked, and then spend an hour in scrubbing the oil out of their skins. It is an outrage that such a state of affairs should be allowed to exist.

There will be a public hearing on the bill next Tuesday afternoon.

Terms of Town Clerks.

Representative Fred Bessette of Orr is preparing a bill lengthening the terms of town clerks from one to four years. It would not lengthen the terms of clerks now in office, but it would provide that those elected this year would hold for four years instead of one.

"It takes a new clerk most of his term learning the ropes," said Mr. Bessette yesterday, "and about the time he has things running in good shape his successor is on the job."

The chairmen of the various house committees will meet shortly to arrange a schedule of regular meetings of the more important committees. This will be not only for the purpose of giving those who wish to appear before these committees a chance to do so, but also to arrange the meetings so the various committees will not meet at the same time. Without such an arrangement, it is often difficult to secure a quorum.

The legislature will soon be requested to appropriate $10,000 for a memorial to the Minnesota soldiers and sailors who fell victims to the Spanish-American war.

WOULD HAVE PRISONERS EMPLOYED ON ROAD WORK

SENATOR JOHN H. BALDWIN
Of Frazee.

FLEE FROM EARLY FIRE

Four Families, Including Six Children, Driven Into Cold.

Explosion Starts Blaze at Flat Building; Loss $10,000.

Clad only in clothes they could snatch up as they ran, four families, including six children, were driven outdoors shortly after 6:30 this morning when a furnace explosion set fire to a brick four-flat building at 13-15 East Fourth street. Property loss will amount to between $8,000 and $10,000, partially covered by insurance.

P. J. Conway, one of the tenants in No. 15, was compelled to leave his room in his bare feet, and firemen carried him to an adjoining house while the thermometer registered 11 deg. below zero. He was frost-bitten slightly, being the only one to be injured.

The property is held by Henry Bridgeman, Forty-seventh avenue east and London road, as guardian for Frank and Henry Bridgeman, minors.

The tenants were D. C. Eaton and family, P. J. Conway and family, W. J. Lennertz and family and F. J. Tresise and family. Household goods of all but the Tresise family are known to be covered by insurance.

Starting from the furnace, the fire spread through the partitions and completely gutted the interior of No. 15, while No. 13 was damaged almost as much.

"We didn't have time to turn around before the basement was a mass of flames," said Mrs. Eaton, in telling of her experiences. "Mr. Eaton had gone down to look at the furnace not five minutes before and everything seemed all right then. All we could do was to pick up the children and run, just as we were."

Hindered by the intense cold, firemen had considerable trouble with the blaze, as they were unable to reach the basement and had to confine their work to the upper floors. Several of the men sustained frost-bites, but there were no serious injuries.

Two alarms were received at almost the same minute, Companies No. 1, 3 and 4, with Chief Joseph Randall and Assistant Chief Granzow, responding.

who are to be joined shortly by Baron Burian, the new Austro-Hungarian minister of foreign affairs, presumably for a conference regarding a plan of campaign against Russia, as well as the adoption of suitable measures against the prospective entrance into the war of Italy and Roumania.

Airship Attack Expected.

Recent dispatches from Sweden indicate that a German airship attack on the new Finnish railroad between Sweden and Russia is coming to be expected. This is the line that runs around the northern end of the gulf of Bothnia. Its destruction would be a serious blow to Russia, as the only other routes of communication between Russia and her allies are by way of the Baltic sea, or through Archangel on the north. The former route has been made impossible by mines and the latter is likely to be cut off any day by ice.

In the western arena of the war the activity has been generally confined to artillery exchanges, except to the south of Metz, where sharp fighting promises interesting developments.

German Statement.

Berlin, Jan. 21.—By wireless to London, 2:05 p. m.—Although spirited fighting is in progress along the western battle front, the official statement from the German war office today shows that these engagements are of merely a local character. The French made repeated attacks near Arras and south of St. Mihiel, but were repulsed. The Germans captured trenches near Berry-au-Bac and Pont-a-Mousson, but lost ground in the neighborhood of Notre Dame De Forette. A defeat of the Russians in a small engagement in East Prussia also is announced. The statement follows:

"In the western theater of war only artillery duels took place yesterday between the coast and the Lys. Trenches at Notre Dame De Forette, which we occupied on the day before yesterday, were lost again today.

"Northeast of Arras the French repeatedly attacked both sides of the high road from Arras to Lille, but were repulsed. Southeast of Berry-au-Bac we took two trenches from the French and kept them, notwithstanding their fierce counter-attacks.

"French attacks on our position south of St. Mihiel were repulsed. Northwest of Pont-a-Mousson we successfeed in recapturing the positions we evacuated three days ago. In that vicinity our troops captured four cannon and several prisoners. Fighting still continues for the remainder of the lost trenches.

"In the Vosges, northwest of Sennheim, battles still proceed.

"The situation in East Prussia remains the same. An unimportant engagement to the east of Lipno ended favorably for us. One hundred prisoners remained in our hands."

Russian Statement.

Petrograd, Jan. 21.—The following communication from the general staff of the army of the Caucasus has been given out here:

"On Jan. 19, in the region of Ahalik, Lavsor and Kyagani, we fought a series of combats with the Turkish rear guard who retreated precipitately. We captured a great many prisoners and a Turkish camp.

"On Jan. 18 we occupied Ardanoutch, in Trans-Caucasia, near the Turkish border.

"A torpedo boat sent to inspect the Asia Minor coast sank twelve vessels with their cargoes near Archava.

"In other sections there has been no particular change."

The following communication from general headquarters of the Russian army was issued yesterday:

"There is nothing of importance to report of the operations on Jan. 19 along our entire front, except the usual rifle firing and cannonading.

"In the region north of Rawa, the Germans made two attempts at a partial offensive. These were stopped by our fire and the enemy was compelled to fall back.

"In the evening of Jan. 18 the Germans in the region of the village of Vitkoritze (on the left bank of the Bzura) made an attack against the head of the bridge, under the glare of searchlights, rockets and straw which had been set on fire at a distance of 300 paces. This attack was repulsed by the efficient fire of our artillery.

"The same evening in the Western Galicia district, the Germans, after cannonading heavily our positions south of the small town of Radloff and setting on fire two villages behind our positions, made an attack on them. Compact detachments of the enemy reached our barbed wire entanglements, but our destructive fire prevented progress. They suffered heavy losses and were compelled to fall back on their position.

"In Bukowina, our troops are advancing with success. They have occupied, after some fighting, the village of Ichaneschti about ten miles north of Watra Dorna, where they captured and made prisoners both officers and men."

GUGGENHEIM IS INTERESTED

ness the directors and not the stockholders were absolutely responsible for labor and other conditions.

Installed New Devices.

As for devices for improving the conditions of workers, the witness said the American Smelting & Refining company had installed many things not only to improve labor conditions but to raise the standard of efficiency. The company found that by so doing the output was increased and business generally was improved. The witness said emphatically that he did not believe laborers in smelting and refining works should be permitted to work more than eight hours a day. The increased high cost of living, the witness believed, was the cause of unrest among workers. Wage earners, he thought, had as much right to organize as capitalists; the American Smelting & Refining company had no objection to organizers going among the employes, provided they did not interfere with the operation of the plants. Mr. Guggenheim said he believed industrial discontent was on the increase and had been for some years.

Need More Legislation.

"And it will continue to increase unless some remedial measures are taken," he said. "The trouble is we haven't had enough legislation. We are away behind Europe. We need more business legislation."

Mr. Guggenheim said he "didn't want to advertise" the philanthropic organizations with which he was connected. "I don't want to tell what I've done," he said. "I've done all that I can. I don't think any of us give enough. I'll tell you, though, that I am interested in many hospitals, homes and societies."

He said he did not believe the great philanthropic organizations were doing the work they were supposed to do. "It is a job for the state, not for private benefaction," he testified. "Many people don't want charity. They want work. The state should find it for them. The state should tax great fortunes when rich men die and thereby receive money to take care of the people until they can get along."

Workers should be taught to save, he said. They could not save now because they didn't get enough money to permit them; but they could save, he said, if they received, as they should, a part of the profits of the industries in which they were employed.

asked, "than to have the head of the nation speaking to the whole country, asserting that those who disagree with him are misled, ignorant, self-assertive and misrepresentative?"

Senator Weeks assailed the proposal to place cabinet officers on the proposed shipping board. Examination of the qualifications of secretaries of the treasury or navy during the last decade, he said, showed them little prepared by experience for such work.

To emphasize his argument that there was no need for the bill, he said 54,000,000 more bushels of wheat had been exported from the last harvest than were exported last year.

"We are defying the world by shipping more than ever before," said he.

The DOCTOR'S ADVICE

by Dr. Lewis Baker

The questions answered below are general in character, the symptoms or diseases are given and the answers will apply in any case of similar nature.

Those wishing further advice free may address Dr. Lewis Baker, College Bldg., College-Ellwood Sts., Dayton, O., enclosing self-addressed stamped envelope for reply. Full name and address must be given, but only initials or fictitious name will be used in my answers. The prescriptions can be filled at any well-stocked drugstore. Any druggist can order of wholesaler.

M. R. writes: "I have suffered with dyspepsia, or nervous indigestion, more or less for 8 years, and I want you to prescribe treatment for me; my symptoms are the usual ones, such as pain and distress after eating, sour stomach, headache, heartburn, and pain in regions of heart, or between shoulders, constipation, or sometimes diarrhea, coated tongue, bad breath and a score more. Am miserable, in a word.

Answer: Your case is chronic, but by careful diet and the regular use of an aid and tonic you should soon recover a normal state. Obtain a packet of "double-four stomach and bowel medicine" of a druggist. With it are directions. This is the newest and best treatment I know of.

C. J. R. asks: "Can I safely reduce my weight, and how?"

Answer: Go to a well-stocked druggist and get five-grain arbolone tablets in sealed tube with complete directions. Take as directed, and you should soon feel the relief you desire. Many of my patients report quick results without any harmful action whatever.

Ellen J. asks. "Tell me, please, how I can increase my weight and improve my color. I seem to be anemic, weak and tired all the time."

Answer: Begin taking three-grain hypo-nuclane tablets with your meals and soon you will feel your strength returning and gradually your weight and color will improve. This is a most effective remedy if persistently used.

J. W. W. asks: "Can you prescribe a reliable treatment to get rid of dandruff, itching and feverish scalp?"

Answer: I know you can get instant relief and permanent results by using plain yellow minyol as per directions which accompany each 4-oz. jar.

"Morris" asks: "I have suffered with a chronic cough for almost a year, and catch a fresh cold every few weeks. Nothing the doctor gives me helps, so I write to you."

Answer: You need a thorough laxative cough syrup, one that not only relieves but surely drives it from the system. The following regularly used will oust any curable cough or cold promptly: Obtain a 2½ oz. bottle of essence mentho-laxene, mix it with a home-made sugar syrup or honey as per directions on bottle.

Miss "Stranger" asks: "I am in a weakened condition due to a long siege of catarrhal trouble. Briefly I have Pelvic Catarrh (leucorrhea) and catarrh of the nose and throat. What local treatment is good for a cure?"

Answer: I am quite sure that antiseptic Vilane Power is the most prompt and effective treatment that one can possibly use. Full directions accompany either a two or eight ounce package. Do not neglect catarrhal trouble.

Thin Folks Who Would Be Fat

Increase in Weight Ten Pounds or More

A Physician's Advice

"I'd certainly give most anything to be able to fat up a few pounds and stay that way," declares every excessively thin man or woman. Such a result is not impossible, despite past failures. Thin people are victims of mal-nutrition, a condition which prevents the fatty elements of food from being taken up by the blood as they are when the powers of nutrition are normal. Instead of getting into the blood, all the fat and flesh producing elements stay in the intestines until they pass from the body as waste.

To correct this condition and to produce a healthy normal, amount of fat the nutritive processes must be artificially supplied with the power which nature has denied them. This can best be accomplished by eating a Sargol tablet with every meal. Sargol is a scientific combination of six of the best strength-giving, fat-producing elements known to the medical profession. Taken with meals, it mixes with the food and turns the sugars and starches into rich, ripe nourishment for the tissues and blood and its rapid effect is remarkable. Reported gains of from ten to twenty-five pounds in a single month are by no means infrequent. Yet its action is perfectly natural and absolutely harmless. Sargol is sold by Boyce Drug Store and other good druggists everywhere and every package contains a guarantee of weight increase or money back.

Caution:—While Sargol has produced remarkable results in the treatment of nervous indigestion, and general stomach disorders, it should not, owing to its remarkable flesh producing effect, be used by those who are not willing to increase their weight ten pounds or more.

CITY AGAINST CITY IN THE F. A. PATRICK EVENT

Duluth Rinks Win Games Against the Portage Curlers.

Superior, Winnipeg and West Duluth Are Also Winners.

Play in the F. A. Patrick Duluth event is town against town Two rinks from one town are opposed to two rinks of another town, and the total number of points is the winning standard. In the progress of the draw, two rinks progress instead of one.

Rochon gave Krauth a good beating in the Winnipeg versus Phillips, Wis., play, and while Reedal of Phillips took "Little Willie" Carson down the line, the point margin hung up by Rochon was sufficient to give the victory to Winnipeg.

Eveleth was given a beating at the hands of Superior, Miller defeating Robb and A. K. Smith throwing the rowels into Campbell of the range village.

West Duluth won a distinction by defeating the two St. Paul rinks. Wade defeated the veteran Tom Cameron by the score of 10 to 5, while Stewart of St. Paul defeated Zauft, 10 to 8, the point margin of Wade giving West Duluth the edge.

Minneapolis won out over Virginia with points to spare, though Lenont defeated Hunter.

Oldham and West of Duluth scored a total of 19 points to the 12 points of Tuckwood and Rockwood of Portage.

Chisholm and Montgomery, playing as two Canadian rinks, hung up a total of 19 points against the total points of 17 points scored by McNabb of Grand Rapids and McGregor of Butte.

RESOLUTION GOES OVER TO TUESDAY

Johnson's Measure to Investigate Wisconsin Departments Put Ahead.

Madison, Wis., Jan. 21.—The senate laid over until Tuesday Assemblyman Axel Johnson's resolution providing for a special committee of the finance committee to investigate in the reorganization and consolidation of state departments and boards. An attempt by Senator Fairchild to put the resolution on its immediate passage failed. The resolution had passed the assembly after a heated discussion, 56 to 25.

Senator Baxter introduced a bill to permit foreign corporations which are not licensed to do business in Wisconsin, to buy, sell, or enforce payment of deeds and mortgages on property in Wisconsin.

In the assembly a bill by Assemblyman Heim, Madison, providing that students of educational institutions be permitted to vote only at such places as shall be considered their residences, such to be the residence of parent or guardian.

Another bill by Heim would make a person who is the member of the faculty of an educational institution ineligible for appointment by the mayor or city council. This bill also extends the same prohibition to officers and employes of the state or the United States.

An increase in the amount of compensation to be paid to workingmen who are injured is proposed in a bill by Assemblyman Hart of Oshkosh. The measure provides that the amount of compensation paid for an injury shall be the 75 per cent of the average weekly wage, instead of 65 as at present.

A bill providing that all saloons in Milwaukee shall be closed at 1 o'clock every night and cannot be reopened before 5:30 a. m., and that in cities of the second and third class all saloons shall be closed at midnight is provided in a bill by Assemblyman Frederick.

Another bill by Frederick would add two hours to the time when voters may be cast on primary and general election days in towns, villages and small cities.

Both houses adjourned until next Tuesday.

AN INDELICATE REMARK.

Harper's Magazine: "One cannot be too careful in his remarks on some occasions," said a young clergyman, in speaking of a tour of inspection which he, in company with older divines, made of a penal institution.

"The leader of our little expedition, a truly good man, was so impressed by what he learned from the story of one young man imprisoned for burglary that he felt he should offer him some encouragement, of what kind he hardly knew. So, after many hems and haws, he delivered himself of the following:

"'Ah, my friend, we must not lose sight of the fact that we are here today and gone tomorrow.'

"'You may be, sir,' rejoined the burglar, 'but I ain't.'"

TREE GROWTH IS DISCUSSED

Tri-State Convention Given Ideas as to Tree Culture Benefits.

Farmers' Elevators Society and Equity Society Are Also Meeting.

Fargo, N. D., Jan. 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—Today brought out the banner attendance of the week at the Tri-State Grain and Stock Growers' convention. It was horticultural day and the state society had charge of the forenoon program, the Tri-State program being resumed in the afternoon. The State Horticultural society this afternoon will elect officers.

The Improved Seed Growers will also have a business session this afternoon, at which officers will be chosen, and this evening the annual banquet will be held, after which a number of ten-minute responses to toasts will be made. D. D. Simmons will preside at this session.

Sessions in other halls are being held today by the representatives of the Farmers' elevator companies and the Equity society, and tomorrow morning the elevator men will have complete charge of the forenoon program and the Equity people will be in charge in the evening, each furnishing its own speakers.

Benefits From Trees.

This morning when the Horticultural society assumed charge of the program President Smith of the state school of forestry was the first speaker. He pointed out the advantages to the farmers in cultivating groves of trees and of the financial benefits derived therefrom. A. J. Phillips of West Salem, Wis., spoke on "Fruit Growing in Cold Climates," and told of the advantages of selecting the hardiest varieties and gave other interesting information. E. C. Hillborn of Valley City, a practical fruit grower, discussed the profits and losses of the industry and how what has been termed a diversion might be turned into a source of profit if proper attention is paid to the varieties of fruit grown in this region. A. Brackett of Excelsior, Minn., told the audience how Minnesota had become a horticultural state and saw no reason why similar successes were not possible here. H. O. Werner discussed the economic value to the farmers of the Northwest of the right kind of a garden.

The Tri-State program was resumed this afternoon with the following speakers scheduled: W. H. Peters of the animal husbandry department of the Agricultural college on "Fattening Meat Producing Animals." "The Financial Problems of Agriculture" was the subject by President McVey of the state university. "Corn, As the Basis for North Dakota Prosperity" was the subject by Director Thomas Cooper of the U. S. Experiment station, and the afternoon session closed with an address by W. D. Munn of St. Paul.

The speakers for the evening session are Col. Freeman Thorpe of Hubert, Minn., on "Conserving Soil Moisture," and Treadwell Twichell of Mapleton on "Wherein Farmers As a Class Fail."

Program for Friday.

Tomorrow morning the Farmers' Elevators Managers will have charge of the program.

In the afternoon the reports of committees, including the resolutions, for the Tri-State meet will be heard and officers for the ensuing year elected. This will be followed by addresses by experiment station on "The Canadian Seed Growers' Association," and by J. S. Murphy of Minot, immigration agent for the Soo road.

In the evening the American Society of Equity will furnish the program and speakers.

"DOCTORING" CREAM IS HELD ILLEGAL

St. Cloud Judge Upholds Constitutionality of Law Against Practice.

St. Cloud, Minn., Jan. 21.—Judge John A. Roeser failed to find the statute prohibiting the injection of lime into cream or milk unconstitutional, and as a result the case of The State vs. The North American Storage Company will probably be carried to the supreme court.

The creamery company is charged with "doctoring" spoiled cream at its plant in Paynesville, this county, with lime for the purpose of reducing acidity. Senator John D. Sullivan, attorney for the company, contends that the law is unconstitutional, asserting that lime is used in so infinitesimal quantities as to be in no manner deleterious to health. Assistant Attorney General John C. Nethaway argued a demurrer to the indictment before Judge Roeser.

WOMAN IS STRICKEN AT MISSIONARY MEET.

Ishpeming, Mich., Jan. 21.—Just after Mrs. Thomas Bettison, one of the city's best known women, had finished reading a paper at the meeting of the Women's Missionary Society of the First M. E. church Tuesday afternoon, she complained of feeling faint, called for a glass of water and soon died.

Mrs. Bettison was a pioneer resident of Ishpeming, having come here more than thirty-four years ago from the Copper country. Her husband, who was in the employ of the Oliver Iron Mining company for a number of years, died eleven years ago. She was a native of Cornwall, England, aged 62.

Three daughters and five sons survive Mrs. Bettison: Mrs. Jabez Trebilcock of Negaunee, Mrs. Will Crabb of Lansing, Mrs. W. J. Andrews of Ishpeming, William, Russell and Milton Bettison of Ishpeming, Chester Bettison of Negaunee and Ray Bettison of Lansing. Her sisters, Mrs. W. N. Tremberth of this city and Miss Elizabeth George of Racine, Wis., and a brother, Al George of Racine, are living.

KING'S MARTIAL TALK.

Retired General Claims United States Is Very Much Unprepared.

Milwaukee, Wis., Jan. 21.—"While nations continue to arm and prepare for war, as long as man remains as God Almighty has made him, war will be inevitable in spite of the desire for peace. Though the editorial essays and the pleas from the rostrum for disarmament are very beautiful, the program for peace will not work out. It has not worked out in the past and until the second coming, prophesied in Holy Writ, will not work out in the future."

This was the declaration of Gen. Charles King, U. S. A., retired, in the course of an address on the necessity of discipline before the assemblage of officers of the Wisconsin National Guard here.

The occasion was the annual school for W. N. G. officers and about 200 from Milwaukee and other points in the state were in attendance.

"God takes care of fools and of the United States," was the quotation from Prince Bismarck that Gen. King used to illustrate the country's general unpreparedness for war.

ANOTHER MRS. O'LEARY.

Dead Escanaba Woman Not Owner of Famous Chicago Cow.

Riggs, the local visiting nurse, in her quarterly report just submitted to Health Officer Dr. G. N. Butchart, tells of her work in Hibbing and suburbs, also in Kitzville and Keewatin.

During the quarter ending Dec. 31 she has given baths to 35 persons, including babies and older children, has taken care of 55 cases of sick persons, alone has given 21 surgical treatments, 29 scalp treatments and given 16 haircuts. Gets Sworn Statement Showing He Did Not Reduce Engineer.

Virginia, Minn., Jan. 21.—(Special to The Herald.)—Mayor Michael Boylan today secured from Dr. J. H. Crowe, city health officer, an affidavit to the effect that the mayor had nothing to do with the reduction in position and pay of John Roswold, as charged at Tuesday night's council meeting by Alderman Harvey. The alderman during a discussion of means for giving employment to the local unemployed on city work questioned the mayor's friendliness for labor by accusing the executive of having reduced Roswold, a married man with eight children to support, from engineer at the incinerating plant to fireman, and giving the job to a single man. The mayor vigorously denied the accusation and said the first he knew of the reduction was when he introduced Roswold to a friend as the engineer at the plant and Roswold said he was not engineer any more but fireman.

The affidavit made by Dr. Crowe says that the health department made the change and not the mayor. The mayor will have the affidavit read at the next council meeting.

What Boylan Said.

During the council incident when the mayor repudiated the alderman's charge he was not a friend of laboring men and desirous of giving work to the unemployed and urged extending the sewer limit so that new sewers could be built, is quoted as saying:

"I cannot understand this opposition just now unless it is politics and attempts to work against the mayor. Before the work was always done and Virginia has never seen so many unemployed men as at present. I have the interest of the people at heart, maybe some of you aldermen have always had money, but I have known what it is to be poor and without food and wish to relieve the conditions when it is possible to do so with no extra expense."

BACHELORS WIN EATING CONTEST

Hermantown Club Begins Series of Monthly Socials.

Bachelors of Hermantown demonstrated that they outclassed the married men in consuming cake and other eatables at the first of a series of monthly social meetings held under the auspices of the Farmers and Producers' club at the Hermantown Woodman hall last night. The contest was one of the features of the meeting and for that purpose two tables had been stacked high with cake.

The meeting was purely social. Depite the cold weather and strong wind, practically every member of the club and his family attended. Following an informal program of short talks and musical numbers dancing was enjoyed by the members.

At the close of the festivities a short meeting was held by the club at which it was unanimously decided to hold similar gatherings every month. A committee was also appointed to visit two sick members of the club, one of whom is at present at St. Luke's hospital.

BOY CALM WITH HIS LEG MANGLED

Run Over By Street Car, Six-Year-Old Lad Is Stoical.

Wallace Anderson, the 6-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Julius Anderson, 2124 Piedmont avenue, had his left leg so badly crushed under the wheels of a Piedmont avenue street car yesterday afternoon that it had to be amputated above the knee. The accident occured at the "Y" at Twenty-third avenue west and Tenth street as the child was on his way to attend kindergarten at the English school.

The boy darted across the street towards the school just as the car was backing onto the "Y." The car was moving slowly, but the little fellow's movement across the street had been so swift for the conductor to give the stop signal to his motorman in time to prevent the car hitting the lad. The car was not stopped until the boy had been knocked down and the first rear wheel had crushed his leg.

Dry-eyed and calm the little chap directed how he should be picked up after the accident. He was rushed to St. Luke's hospital. Dr. Robert Graham, who attended the lad, said that he had good chances of recovery this morning. The accident happened about 1:25 p. m.

CLUB WILL ASK FOR IMPROVEMENTS

Commercial Men Will Outline Program for the Year.

The West End Commercial club will hold its regular meeting this evening at the Simonson hall, Twenty-first avenue west and Superior street. A review of the work done by the club during the year 1914 and an outline of the work proposed for 1915 will feature the meeting.

A number of important improvements will be advocated by the club this year, according to members. Among those will be assisting property owners in getting the paving of First street and Twentieth avenue started. Petitions for both improvements have been presented, and the club will ask that these be not put aside for work in other sections of Duluth.

A new police station, better police protection and a system of call-bell service will be asked. The club will also father a movement to have the city purchase a site for a permanent market place. It is probable that the club will decide its course regarding garden contest for this year.

AID ELECTS OFFICERS.

Women of Trinity Church Hold Annual Meeting.

At the annual business meeting of the Ladies' Aid Society of the Trinity English Lutheran church, Twenty-seventh avenue west and Third street, held yesterday afternoon at the church, the officers of last year were reelected. NEURALGIC PAINS

These may be felt in any nerve of the body but are most frequent in the nerves of the head. Neuralgia may be caused by a decayed tooth, eyestrain or a diseased ear but the most common cause is general debility accompanied by anemia, or thin blood.

For this reason women who work too hard or dance too much and who do not get sufficient rest, sleep and fresh air, are the most frequent sufferers from neuralgia and sciatica, which is neuralgia of the sciatic nerve.

Nutrition for the nerves is the correct treatment for neuralgia and the only way to nourish the nerves is through the blood. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills supply to the blood just the elements it needs to increase its capacity to carry nourishment to starved nerves. They have proved helpful in so many cases of neuralgia and sciatica that any sufferer from these troubles is fully justified in giving these pills a trial. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills contain no harmful or habit-forming drugs and may be taken for any length of time with perfect safety.

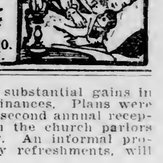

The pamphlet "Diseases of the Nervous System," is free to you if you mention this paper. Address: The Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y. Your own druggist sells Dr. Williams' Pink Pills.

Throw Away Your Eye-Glasses!

A Free Prescription

You Can Have Filled and Use at Home.

Do you wear glasses? Are you a victim of eyestrain or other eye-weaknesses? If so, you will be glad to know that there is real hope for you. Many whose eyes were failing say they have had their eyes restored through the principle of this wonderful free prescription. One man says, after trying it: "I was almost blind; could not see to read at all. Now I can read everything without any glasses and my eyes do not water any more. At night they would pain dreadfully; now they feel fine all the time. It was like a miracle to me." A lady who used it says: "The atmosphere seemd hazy with or without glasses, but after using this prescription for fifteen days everything seems clear. I can even read fine print without glasses." It is believed that anousands who wear glasses can now discard them in a reasonable time and multitudes more will be able to strengthen their eyes so as to be spared the trouble and expense of ever getting glasses. Eye troubles of many descriptions may be wonderfully benefited by following the simple rules. Here is the prescription: Go to any active drug store and get a bottle of Optona. Fill a two ounce bottle with warm water, drop in one Optona tablet and allow to dissolve. With this liquid, bathe the eyes two to four times daily. You should notice your eyes clear up perceptibly right from the start and inflammation will quickly disappear. If your eyes are bothering you, even a little, take steps to save them now before it is too late. Many hopelessly blind might have been saved if they had cared for their eyes in time.

THE DAILY ROLL CALL; A COLUMN OF SPORTS

BY BRUCE.

(Editor's Note—At the request of the sporting editor of The Herald, Marty Forkins, former manager of Eddie McGoorty, and as keen a student of the ring game and as well an informed follower of boxing as there is in the country, has consented to give his opinion of the chances of Gibbons and Clabby in the big Milwaukee contest of this evening. Mr. Forkins, who is in Duluth, is now engaged in the theatrical business, but keeps an observing eye on the movements of the boxers.)

(By MARTY FORKINS.)

You can say for me that I unreservedly pick Mike Gibbons as the winner of this contest. In boxing there is little to choose between the two boys. Gibbons is the harder hitter of the two. I believe, or at least would not be in the least surprised, to read of Clabby hitting Gibbons more times than the Phantom lands on the first citizen of Hammond, Ind., but at the same time—get this—when Gibbons lands he will hurt Jimmy and the same can not be said of the effect of Clabby's blows.

Here is another consideration. Jimmy Clabby will stand in the center of the ring and slug with any fighter in the world. Why? Because he is one of the gamest suckers in the fighting business.

Gibbons has a wicked right hand. When he rubs that old glove across his nose, lookout—bang: over comes that right. I know whereof I speak. McGoorty beat Gibbons in the Garden. All of the New York papers and the Associated Press gave the decision to the boy I was managing at that time. But, in all fairness to Gibbons I am ready and willing to make the statement that Mike was not in shape to fight. He was a sick man. He weighed 147 pounds and should have never been matched at that time. But here is what I am getting at. In the ninth round Gibbons started to turn away from Eddie McGoorty started at Mike. Whang! Like a streak of lightning over came that right. Eddie's knees sagged under him. When he came to his corner, he turned to me and said: "Who said that Gibbons couldn't hit. No, I guess he can't."

Clabby is a straight puncher and Gibbons is a sort of sucker for a straight left. Jimmy is liable to get to Mike often with that long raking left of his, but Clabby is not a knocker out, nor does he daze or make a man sick when he lands. He cuts and bruises and piles up points.

On the other hand Gibbons does carry a knockout punch. Take this into consideration—Bob Moha was never even knocked down until he met Mike Gibbons. Take into consideration the further fact that Moha once beat Clabby.

You might also say that McGoorty beat Gibbons and that Clabby beat McGoorty. Such an assertion is absolutely true. In so far as the dope runs, there is indeed little to choose between the two boys.

Personally I think Mike Gibbons the greatest middleweight in the world. I also say here that if Clabby's gameness and aggressiveness leads him into a slugging match with Gibbons, that the world may be startled by reading of a knockout in the contest of this evening.

Get this though—Clabby is one of the greatest ring generals in the world. He can tie a man up helpless in a clinch. He is game to the core and can take a beating. Gibbons can take an awful punch and stand up under it. The St. Paul Phantom could take all Clabby had with the idea of seeking an opening for his right.

If Clabby clipped Mike on the chin—and even knocked him down—the chances are that Gibbons would be up fighting again, undazed and not hurt. But if Gibbons lands right, the punch is liable to take some of the speed out of Jimmy.

At going in and out, Gibbons is a marvel. His judgment of distance is wonderful. Mike is also a smart boy. He has everything to make a great fighter.

I am of the opinion that tonight's fight is going to be a dandy. Some years ago the same boys met in a Milwaukee ring. I was among those at the ringside. It was a bad fight. Both were afraid to lead, and as a result there was little fighting.

This time I believe that each man is so eager to win the popular decision, decisively if possible, that the bout will be a real fight all of the way through.

As I have said, Clabby will slug with any fighter in the world, and Gibbons may figure that slugging suits him better; if that if the case, it will result in a battle that will stand them on their toes.

Should Clabby elect to box and keep from getting stung, he will prove a most difficult man to hit effectively. Jimmy is a beautiful blocker. He has a great eye also. But remember, Clabby is not a hard hitter, not a great punisher, and Gibbons, knowing this, or he should know this, may tear in.

I only wish that I was at the ringside when the gong clangs. It sure gives me the fever to read about this fight.

Nebraska Quint Wins.

Manhattan, Kan., Jan. 21.—The University of Nebraska basket ball team defeated the Kansas Agricultural college five, 26 to 19, in a game played here last night.

GLAD to do his friends the favor of telling them about the Real Tobacco Chew. That's the way it is with a "Right-Cut" user as soon as he uses up a pouch of it and learns how to get the real tobacco satisfaction.

A little chew of pure, rich, mellow tobacco—cut fine, short shred—seasoned and sweetened just enough, cuts out so much of the grinding and spitting.

Take a very small chew—less than one-quarter the old size. It will be more satisfying than a mouthful of ordinary tobacco. Just nibble on it until you find the strength chew that suits you. Tuck it away. Then let it rest. See how easily and evenly the real tobacco taste comes, how it satisfies without grinding, how much less you have to spit, how few chews you take to be tobacco satisfied. That 's why it is The Real Tobacco Chew. That's why it costs less in the end.

It is a ready chew, cut fine and short shred so that you won't have to grind on it with your teeth. Grinding on ordinary candied tobacco makes you spit too much.

The taste of pure, rich tobacco does not need to be covered up with molasses and licorice. Notice how the salt brings out the rich tobacco taste in "Right-Cut."

One small chew takes the place of two big chews of the old kind.

THREE FAMOUS CANADIAN SKIPS ATTEND THE SPIEL

"Mackie" Rochon, "Cam" Chisholm and "Little Willie" Carson Rated Among the Dominion's Greatest Curlers—Stand as Commanding Figures in the Grand Old Scotch Game.

In our midst yesterday were some of the most distinguished and greatest curlers of the Dominion of Canada. "Mackie" Rochon, "Bill" Carson and "Cam" Chisholm came down to assist in the lifting of the International trophy, and the assistance proved most effective.

"Mackie" Rochon originally started curling at Fort William. The skill and valor of this brave bucko reached out and touched a busy world on the arm. The rest of Canada stopped, looked and listened.

It was shortly after the fame of "Mackie" was spread abroad that he went to Winnipeg, went right into the very citadel of the greatest curlers of the world, and gave some of the famous stone-throwers of that city a beating.

For several seasons this "Mackie" Roehon person thus consistently administered dark-visaged defeat to the curlers of the haughty metropolis of Western Canada. This would never do. Some measure must be adopted. Finally "Mackie" was noticed, inveigled away from Fort William and brought portmanteau and all to the home of the roarin' Scotch game.

Thus, gentlemen, we see one of the greatest curlers in the world, one of the commanding figures of many great national and international bonspiels, fighting in the trenches with those whom he used to oppose with vigor and rare cunning.

Chisholm Had to Curl.

Curling came natural to "Cam" Chisholm. It is to be presumed that if "Cam" had not taken to curling with the avidity with which a duck takes to the purling streams, James Chisholm, his honorable pater, would have cast the lad forth unto a cold and grim world, even as Lucifer was given the gate up in the celestial regions.

Old James Chisholm is past the Biblical age of three score and ten years. He is 78 years of age, and yet he comes from the sunny climes of California nearly every year to indulge in his favorite pastime of curling.

Years back, James Chisholm was a resident of Superior. Jamie Myron used to play third on this grand old gentleman's rink. This is the sort of stock that "Cam" Chisholm sprang from, and it is small wonder then that he is one of the great curlers of Winnipeg—some say the best—and that he is one of the most enthusiastic stone-throwers to be found in all of Canada.

The Famous "War Horse."

"Bill" Carson is sometimes referred to as the "Old War Horse." There is another loving appellation, that of "Little Willie." This Carson man is another of the historic names of the sport; a name to conjure with at any spiel; a curler who has won in the past span of years some of the big events of some of the greatest spiels of all time.

"Little Willie" Carson was president of the Manitoba Curling association, and has been one of the moving figures in promoting the interests of the sport in the dominion. He has been coming to the Northwestern bonspiels for years. He has also been winning events for sundry and divers years. "Bill" has a loving personality, or else why "Bill?"

These three great Canadian skips have made the sport better by their presence and their untiring efforts to promote the very best in the game. Sportsmen in the broadest and best definition of the term, kindly souls, genial scouts and three of the greatest curlers playing the game, it was with rare pleasure that curlers and followers of the game read of their intention of coming to Duluth—and many were the congratulations showered upon them when the big International was decided.

CONCERT ON THE BOARDS

Social Event of the Week Will Be Held Tonight.

Duluth Is Scheduled to Land Next Season's Bonspiel.

The big concert—the social oasis in the desert of work—comes tonight. Be there, curlers, with your hair in a braid.

Also the election of officers for the ensuing year will be held and the place of holding the spiel decided upon.

As it was voted last year to make Duluth the permanent home of the Northwestern bonspiel, it is not likely that any other club will make an attempt to secure the spiel for next season.

However in the past, when Duluth was confident that it was the permanent locale of the big curling event, other clubs have come in and succeeded in landing this event.

It is generally believed though that at the business session of the club delegates this evening that Duluth will be awarded the spiel of next season.

Some Concert Planned.

Some concert is right. Parodies, flashes of wit and other popular forms of indoor sport are planned for the amusement and delectation of the curlers. It looks like a large house and a big night. Come early and avoid the jam.

There is a rumor going busily on its way, which sayeth that four prominent curlers will attempt to play upon the bag pipes. This is a form of indoor sport, often incorrectly called music, that is appreciated by the Scottish people. Why, no one has ever been able to ascertain.

It was the late and revered Will Shakespeare who said something about a man without music in his chest being a near neighbor to the savage.

Some have it by playing and listening to the bag pipes, the Scotch, as a race are attempting to show up the English.

Now take Harry Hurdon. In business he is a normal man with sane viewpoint and calm opinions. Yet Harry wants the bag pipes played. See, you can explain it. One race eats chill concarni three times a day and dotes on paprieka and spices for breakfast—and the Scotch adore the sound of the bag pipes. Racial influences extend beyond and are deeper than reason.

Up to a late hour today Chief Troyer was undecided as whether Tom Cameron would be permitted to sing "The Two Greatest Curlers" song. It was also feared that this song might have a bad effect on some of the members of the rinks that have defeated Tom's rink.

Fred Hargreaves asked to be allowed to make a speech on the progress of Steve Jones' rink, but the committee on arrangement said the subject lacked point and that there was no excuse for such a talk.

Incidentally it might be added that the Baldwin Players will perform.

OUR SPECIAL CORRESPONDENT INTERVIEWS TWO LEADERS

The Fireside Companion's special war correspondent at the great international battle fought yesterday secured exclusive interviews with the commanders of the two forces.

Throughout the engagement all other war correspondents were barred from the front, but because your correspondent was so favorably known to both armies, and because he is recognized as the greatest war correspondent since the days of Virgil, he was handed priceless passports which permits him to advance right up to the firing line.

Clough Gates of Superior, who, with his Suburban sharpshooters, made a gallant, but ineffectual, stand against the Colonials, was found interviewing a ham sandwich and a cup of coffee. He had the following to say: "I haven't a word of anything but praise for our allies. Of course, they fought like a lot of frightened old maids when a burglar gets under the bed, couldn't hit the end of the rink, and gave me about as much support as Huerta gave President Wilson in his efforts to bring peace in Mexico, but I have only praise for their efforts. They are a gallant lot—if you don't care what you say. The next time I go to the front with an army like that you'll have to catch me first. I'm for peace with Canada from now on."

E. J. Rochon, the grim but gallant warrior of the Colonials, was found picking his teeth with a bowie knife.

"I knew it would be the side with the last rocks to throw and the last pound of strength to throw them that would win," he said. "We will dismantle the curling club and move it to Winnipeg for an armory. We will spare Superior for the gallant showing those poor little people made, but we may levy tribute on them. Duluth will have to pay us a handsome tribute in the form of some choice silverware. I am for peace until the defeated forces can collect some more supplies of jewelry."

HERALD BOWLERS WIN EASY GAME FROM NEWS TRIBUNE

In the first place, let it be announced that The Herald engraving department handed an ignominious defeat last evening to the members of The News Tribune engraving staff in a bowling contest held at the Grand parlors.

In the second place, it might be mentioned that there isn't a line about the game in The News Tribune this morning.

In the third place, let it be added that The Herald bunch won the first two matches, and, feeling rather mournful for their colleagues, condescended to give the night hawks a victory in the third match. But try as they did to lose the game, the players on the morning sheet barely won out by six points. The baseball defeat is avenged.

About a week ago the News Tribune staff issued a challenge to the boys on The Herald for a bowling contest to be played for the newspaper championship of the city. The defy was accepted.

Teske of The Herald made the high score for the evening, with a total of 489 points. McCoy had a most artistic but ineffective 369.

Capt. Hamm declares that he will next year bring his team forth again to defend the championship honors.

MONTY LAYS A SIX HEAD

Port Arthur Skip Tries to Have the Feat Photographed.

Someone telephoned the Companion office yesterday for the staff photographer. Unfortunately that busy individual was out vainly attempting to make Ralph Bradley smile in a picture pose. He worked three hours and then abandoned the effort. The photographer could not be found.

Montgomery laid a six head against Clough Gates in the International. Material proof was wanted by "Monty" and the members of his rink. The proof was to be taken back to Port Arthur and placed in the public library.

"Monty" Montgomery is known as one of the greatest practical jokers of the bonspiel. He is also known as an orator. While he could plead the fact of the six head with eloquence and conviction upon returning to the Head of the Canadian Lakes, there would be the reputation of practical joking. The people would shake their heads and declare that "Monty" has something up his sleeve.

But it is a fact that Montgomery did lay a six head.

Affidavits to this effect were hastily secured and "Monty" will take them back over the line with him.

Had Ralph Bradley only consented to smile after the defeat at the hands of H. S. McGregor, the staff photographer for the Companion might have been availble to take a picture and thus preserve the fame of "Monty" to posterity.

It is indeed most difficult to become famous in Port Arthur, but give Montgomery credit for making a noble effort.

Later in the week the Companion hopes to present a sketch by Colie Naughton of this six head, done from mental notes.

HANDSOME TOM LOWE HERE

The Best Looking Curler of Spiel Attracts the Ladies.

Ladies, your attention just for one minute! We have with us "Handsome Tom" Lowe of Winnipeg. Ladies of Duluth, we want you to meet Mr. Lowe. Mr. Lowe, ladies, is one of the most famous curlers of Winnipeg. Mr. Lowe was the originator of the Terminals Curling club of the Peg and one of the veterans of the game.

Yesterday, ladies, he borrowed the tam o' shanter of Jamie Myron, and my, what a splendid pleture he made on the ice! Lots of the members of the gentler sex gathered around the place where Tom was playing. And wasn't it a grand sight. Oh my—gentle sigh.

Yes, "Handsome Tom" Lowe is a real scout and one of the few handsome curlers at our spiel. Welcome, Tom. Come often and stay late.

"BYDE" HALLOCK AND ROACH HERE

Famous Curlers Play With "Little Willie" Carson's Rink.

"Byde" Hallock, third, and Biley Roach, second, of "Little Willie" Carson's Winnipeg rink, are two of the crack curlers of the spiel. Winnipeg is rightfully considered one of the world's greatest centers of curling. Some great curlers have been reared there amid the roar of the stanes. Hallock and Roach, genial and charming gentlemen, are two of the best known. Their presence on the Carson rink did much to foster victory for that rink in the big International event of yesterday. More power to ye, boys.

PLEASE PRESENT PROOFS TO COMPANION OFFICE.

The Companion has it upon the best of authority that Charley "Pat" Crowley has curled one great game this season. Just when and where this game was curled, we are unable to state, as the informant was not sure of his facts.

However, the Companion, wishing to present both sides of the case, for and against "Pat," publishes the statement that says Crowley has curled one great game this season.

All those having affidavits to this fact will indeed confer a great favor by presenting them at the Companion office, as this publication has no wish to become involved in a libel suit. I wish to prove, if possible, that "Pat" Crowley did curl one great game this week.

BOXING OUTLOOK POOR IN ILLINOIS

Bills to Legalize Sport and Form Commission Are Opposed.

Springfield, Ill., Jan. 21.—Chances for the passage at this session of the legislature of a bill to legalize boxing and to create a boxing commission are not rosy, according to persons interested in obtaining the legislation.

The Chicago representation and members from some of the other cities favor a bill, but down state opposition has developed, and the indications are that proposed measures will be hotly contested in both houses.

Two bills are ready for presentation. Both provide for a commission at $2,500. The other would provide for salaries of $5,000.

DULUTH ROTARIANS WIN FIRST GAME

Touring Quint Beats Valley City—Will Play Jamestown.

Valley City, N. D., Jan. 21.—The Duluth Rotary club basket ball team won the first game of its western trip here last night by a score of 38 to 13. Harris and J. Bradley were the stars for Duluth and Prush featured for the Valleyites.

Billings, Mont., has backed out of the scheduled game.

The Rotaries will meet the Jamestown five tonight.

FAST GAME LOOKED FOR

Port Arthur Hockey Team to Meet Fast Duluth Seven.

Duluth and Port Arthur will meet at hockey tomorrow evening in the curling rink. The game is expected to be the fastest played here this season. Just now the Duluth team is traveling at top speed. The Port Arthur players are rated as among the best in Canada and Manager Jacobi is confident that the game will prove fast and interesting all the way through.

E. R. Wilson, a star whose services the Duluth team sought this season, is expected to be in the lineup of the Port Arthur team. Wilson is a fast and aggressive player. While Linder expects to win, it is also believed that Port Arthur will put up a hard game.

WAIVER AND DRAFT RULES ATTACKED

Federal Counsel Tells Court of Organized Baseball's Power Over Players.

Chicago, Jan. 21.—Keene Addington, chief of counsel for the Federal league, in his afternoon address yesterday in the anti-trust suit against the national commission, and the American and National leagues, devoted a large portion of his address to an attack on the waiver and draft rules, and practices. He declared the former vested control of the player, not alone in the club he serves, but also in other clubs. His chance of becoming a free agent is slight, according to Addington, since it requires action of many different entities. Addington charges that the waiver method issued as a means of humiliating or disciplining a player, and then brought in the charge made in an affidavit by Mordecai Brown, that when President Murphy of the Chicago Nationals sold him to Louisville, it was with the agreement that Brown never would be allowed again to join the majors.

Here Attorney George W. Miller for the defendants called Addington's attention to the fact that Brown later played with the Cincinnati club, in a major league, but Addington said the agreement between Chicago and Louisville was what he wished to show if possible.

"Even if it kept a player out of major league baseball only for a time, the harm of the system is apparent," he argued.

The fact that a player is without a choice as to the club or league in which he plays, was cited by Federal counsel as a case of oppression.

Leaders of organized baseball expressed themselves not surprised at anything the Federal league had presented.

"We have nothing to fear from what was brought up," said President Tener of the National league, and others were of similar opinion.

SKATERS AFTER LONG RECORD

Bryant and Kelly to Start Twenty-Four-Hour Grind.

Frank Bryant and Raymond King Kelly of St. Paul will start on the 24-hour roller skating grind this evening in an effort to shatter the existing mark for that length of time. The assault on the 24-hour mark will be staged at the big Auditorium rink.

Both Bryant and Kelly are in the best of condition. Both boys have been training faithfully for the effort of their lives. The boys will relieve one another at different intervals. One man will be on the track every second of the twenty-four hours. The race is an exhausting one and an effort that taxes the nerve and endurance of skaters.

The start will be made this evening.

SPORTING NEWS OF THE DAY

CANADIAN CURLERS WIN HILL INTERNATIONAL CUP

Americans Defeated in Big Event of Spiel By Score of 50 to 37.

Clough Gates of Superior is the Only United States Rink to Win.

The Louis Hill International Curling trophy was yesterday won by the four strong Canadian rinks, Rochon, Carson, Chisholm, vanquishing McNabb, Brewer and Reedal, respectively, while Clough Gates alone of the American rinks was able to place eager hands upon the imperial bird of victory, his sturdy rink returning home a winner over W. Y. Montgomery of Port Arthur. Aggregate score, Canada, 50; United States, 37.

Before a packed gallery and rows of eager spectators that lined the sheets of curling ice, the eight rinks fought out the battle for possession of the most prized trophy of the spiel.

Rochon lived up to former established form and took "Sandy" McNabb's Grand Rapids whitewashed aggregation down to defeat 12 to 5. Rochon laid one in the initial end. McNabb tied him in the third head and forged into the lead in the fourth end. Rochon lay one in the fifth and three in the sixth and was never again headed.

Carson in Good Form.

Carson not only curled a fine game, but the members of his rink were at the top of their game. Carson laid one in the first head and Brewer two in the second. Brewer laid two in the fourth. In the fifth Carson laid three. Brewer laid two in the seventh and made a great finish with three in the last end. Carson took eight ends and his lead was too great to overcome.

Chisholm and Reedal had a great game. Not only did the Winnipeg man play a fine game, but his third, B. C. Alm, was there with burnished bells at every stage of the journey.

Reedal curled in form right to the end, though he did miss several counting shots. Chisholm took seven of the ends, counting three heads.

Gates Is One Winner.

Clough Gates tried vainly to uphold the prestige of the American rinks by coming through with a 11 to 10 win over Montgomery of Port Arthur. Gates won seven ends. Montgomery laid six stones in the eighth head and this made the outcome of the game extremely doubtful. Gates and the members of his rink were lame on the head where Monty covered himself with glory and the circle with stones. Outside of this end the Superiorites consistently outplayed the Port Arthur crowd.

Rinks on Final Lap.

In several of the events of the spiel several rinks are on the final lap of the going.

In the Duluth event Krauth of Phillips, McNabb of Grand Rapids and Reedal of Phillips will play it out for the trophy.

Bobbie Miller of Superior is leading the field in the St. Paul Jobbers' event, with the crowd bunched in the third round of the Minneapolis event.

Sometime today Carson and Rochon will meet to decide the rink holding the International trophy. Last evening Carson defeated Montgomery 13 to 5, and Rochon won from Chisholm, 12 to 9. Therefore, the holding of the trophy lies between these two crack rinks.

There are many Duluth rinks left in several of the events. Ralph Bradley lay two on McNabb in the last end of the Western Curling club event last night, but McNabb made a great shot, displacing Bradley's rocks and laying shot. Thus another Duluth hope was put out of the running.

Steve Jones, the Brewer-Whytes, Naughton, Goodman, Bradley, Wade are going strong.

LIGHTS GO OFF; GAME IS CALLED

Because of the failure of the arc light to work at the French rink last evening, it was found necessary to postpone the game scheduled between the Universals and Two Harbors hockey teams.

Both teams were on the ice. But one light, directly over one of the goals, would not work at all, so that the only possible course was to call off the contest.

SECOND INTER-CLASS.

Juniors Beat Seniors in Close Contest—Favorites Given Scare.

The second of the Central high school interclass swimming meets, was held in the pool of the Y. M. C. A. yesterday afternoon and resulted in a victory for the juniors over their rivals the seniors by the score of 50 to 36.

The juniors, last year's champions, were picked to easily win the title again this year, but the plucky fight put up by the seniors was a distinct surprise and the third year men were given a bad scare before they finally won out. The meet was close and exciting at all times and some remarkable swimming was witnessed on both sides. No records were broken but the results obtained were considerably better than those of the contest between the freshmen and sophomores last Monday. The juniors and sophomores will meet tomorrow afternoon for the championship of the school.

The individual star of the meet was Burns of the junior bunch who contributed 16 points to his team's total. His great work in the short dashes was one of the features of the afternoon. Where the seniors excelled they were ahead by wide margins and lost by close scores in the other events. Great credit must be given the juniors, however, for their wonderful work and they should make a fine showing against the sophomores tomorrow. Other features of the event were the long "plunge for distance" by Reed of the seniors, and the under water swimming of Bartlett of the same class. A complete summary of the results and scores is given below:

20-yard swim—First, Burns; second, Auxer; third, Bartlett. Time, 11 4-5 seconds.

40-yard dash—First, Burns; second, Auxer; third Goering. Time, 28 3-5 seconds.

Floating contest—First, Reed; second, Brenton; third, Bartlett. Time, 27 4-5 seconds.

100-yard swim—First, Emerson; second, Jentoft; third, Hrutford. Time, 1 minuto 47 seconds.

20-yard back swim—First, Lawson; second, Burns; third, Auxer. Time, 18 2-5 seconds.

Four cross dives—First, Auxer; second, Burns; third, Bartlett. Time, 14 4-5 seconds.

CENTRAL VS. CATHEDRAL

Rival High School Basket Ball Teams Will Clash Friday Night.

Game Will Have Bearing on Future of Central Team.

Coach G. A. Glyer is putting his Central high school basket ball proteges through a hard grind preparatory to the big contest with the crack Cathedral high school quintet tomorrow evening. He realizes that this game will be one of the very hardest of the entire Central schedule and wishes to have his men in fine fettle by tomorrow evening.

From all indications this game will be a thriller and a record-breaking crowd is expected to turn out. Athletic relations between these two schools have come to such a point that rivalry is intense. Last year was the first one that the Cathedral school had ever turned out a good basket ball team and they trimmed Central in two games. This season they lose very little by graduation and they have one of the best quintets in this part of the state. The battle of tomorrow evening will go a long way towards determining who are interscholastic champions of this part of the state and may determine, in a large measure, the real worth of the Central machine.

Team work is one of the greatest requisites for a winning basket ball team and to reach this end Coach Glyer has been "pounding away" on his combination all week and expects that the Central men will be in almost as good shape as any time during the year tomorrow evening when they line up against the speedy Catholic aggregation. The Red and White warriors will certainly put up a sensational fight to revenge the defeat that they sustained at the hands of their rivals last season.

One of the things that has been sadly noticeable in the games this year is the lack of attendance on the part of the Central rooters. To win a game a team must have support, and especially when they are playing a hard schedule, as the local quintet is doing this year. In both the Northland and Cloquet contests the rooters for the opposition were just as much in evidence as were the local enthusiasts. Since the rivalry between the Central and Cathedral schools is so great there will undoubtedly be the largest crowd of the season out tomorrow evening and they will, in all probability, see the most sensational game of the year. It will be played at the Central gymnasium, in the manual training building on Lake avenue. Another game with Cathedral is scheduled for Feb. 26.

Central Looks Good.

The Central combination looks good, although there are as yet several weak spots. Capt. Stanley Solheim directs the team from one of the guard positions and has been playing a star game all season; "Locky" Taylor, who was the leader of the champion senior aggregation, holds down the other guard post and is one of the main sources of "pep" in the team; "Dug" Moore is used at the pivot position; "Ed" Scrivens plays a sensational game at forward and "Izzy" Karon, his mate, has proved a wonderful find at the other forward station. These men will start the game tomorrow at their positions, although there are several excellent players on the bench who would undoubtedly show up well in a fast game. "Vid" O'Brien, one of the "D" men of last year, was expected to be one of the sensations this season. His loss to the team is a severe one.

It is not known as yet whether or not Central will take part in the state championship meet at Carleton college college in March, but should the team make a good showing on their early games, arrangements will probably be made to go. The win over Cloquet counts as one "district" victory and will help Central to get a place in the meet at the college town. Word was received from St. Paul yesterday that the Apostle City aggregation would like to arrange a game with Duluth for early in February. After considerable thought, Coach Glyer decided to satisfy the request from the downstate men and the local boys will travel down there and play a game on Feb. 6. The local schedule will not admit of a return game, but St. Paul will come up here next year. Alvin G. Herman, the famous and well-liked coach, has the interests of the Saints in hand and his Central high quint is one of the strongest in the Twin Cities. Athletic relations between the St. Paul and Duluth Central high schools were started with football several years ago and have grown to be very friendly. The St. Paul Centrals are good, clean sportsmen and Coach Glyer welcomes the addition to the schedule.

ADAMS, OLYMPIC JUMPER, EXONERATED.

New York, Jan. 21.—Platt Adams, Olympic champion in the standing high jump, was fully exonerated of charges of professionalism in an announcement last night by the contest committee of the Metropolitan association of the Amateur Athletic union which has been considering his case for several days.

Adams, who is a member of the New York Athletic club, was charged with selling trophies he had won.

Witnesses against Adams concluded they had no positive knowledge that he had ever sold a prize, three of these witnesses also admitting that they were prejudiced against the athlete because of a business dispute.

Bowling Record.

Detroit, Mich., Jan. 21.—The Detroit Journal bowling team yesterday claimed a world's record for a single game, having made a total of 1,240 pins in a five-man team match on local alleys Tuesday night. The previous record is said to have been 1,213. Inasmuch as the score was made in competition, accompanied by official scorers, it is claimed the record should stand. The high individual score was 279, made by Capt. John Higgins.

HUNTING DOGS ARE TAKEN TO THE FRONT.

(Correspondence of the Associated Press.)

London, Jan. 8.—The officers of the Fourth Dragoon Guards at the front have been diverting themselves by chasing the hares of Belgium. The last week Lieut. Charles Romer Williams of this regiment made a special trip to his home in Northamptonshire for some hunting dogs and received the loan of a pack from a sympathetic country gentleman. Lieut. Williams, who was the master of the Eton beagles when a student at Eton, now has the dogs with him at the front.

NOT ENOUGH MEN TO MAN WARSHIPS

"Alarming" Shortage in the Navy, Says Rear Admiral Fletcher.

Washington, Jan. 21.—An "alarming" shortage of officers and men needed to man the warships of the United States for battle, is reported by Rear Admiral Fletcher, commander of the Atlantic fleet, in a letter to the house naval committee made public last night.

Writing to supplement his recent testimony before the committee the admiral announces that an inquiry just completed by special boards has revealed that the navy lacks by 10,000 the men fully to equip all the ships which ought to be commissioned upon the outbreak of war.

"Boards, consisting of the captain and their ranking officers of experience, by order of the navy department," the letter says, "have been appointed upon every battleship of the Atlantic fleet with instructions carefully to consider the complements of both officers and men required on the various types of vessels and scrutinize the number allowed in each rank and rating, with a view to reducing the same to the lowest practicable number consistent with efficiency for a peace complement and the lowest number that would be desirable for a war complement.

"These boards have now completed their work and the result has developed an alarming shortage of officers and men that are required efficiently to man our ships for battle. The reports of these boards were made independently and are singularly unanimous in their conclusions, presenting a more serious shortage than could have been anticipated by either the navy department or the fleet until brought to light by this searching investigation.

"The reports of these boards show that, in the twenty-one battleships in commission and now composing the Atlantic fleet, there is a shortage of 5,219 men and 339 officers required to fill all stations necessary to efficiently man the ships in battle.

"The above figures refer to the commissioned battle fleet alone, and this shortage does not include 4,000 or 5,000 additional fully to man the ships which I think ought to be fully manned upon the opening of hostilities, as stated in my testimony."

DON'T COAST ACROSS A STREET CAR LINE EITHER ON SLEDS OR SKIS!

A STREET CAR CAN'T DODGE

We want to impress this fact upon the children of Duluth, and upon their mothers and fathers as well, at this season of the year.

With the first snowfall, coasting weather is here again, with all its pleasures, and also with its many dangers. Every year brings its toll of accidents, and sometimes fatalities, due to coasting. We want to eliminate that list this year, if it can be done, and it can be if children and their parents will give us their co-operation.

Coasting across street car tracks is inviting a fatal accident. A street car CAN'T DODGE, and when a loaded bobsled comes skimming down an avenue a motorman has little or no warning no matter how careful he may be. The sled is under the fender almost before he can think what to do. Often after a snowfall the rails are slippery, adding to the difficulties of the motorman and making it impossible to stop the car within several times its length.

There is only one rule to follow:

There are countless hills in Duluth suitable for coasting, where the street cars do not run, and where the sport may be enjoyed in safety. We ask the parents of Duluth to see that their children use these hills and only these. It may save you the horror of having a mangled little body brought home to you some afternoon or evening. It may save you from having a child who will be a helpless cripple all his life. You owe it to your child to protect him from this danger. We owe it to the people of Duluth to issue this reminder, and to instruct our motormen to exercise every possible precaution. We have done this, but there is only one sure way to prevent accident, and that is to observe this rule, which is also a police regulation:

Don't Coast Across a Street Car Line Either on Sleds or Skis.

MARKET HAS FRESH BULGE

Wheat Advances Again, With Good Call From Eastern Millers.

Flax Strong, With Steady Inquiry From Crushers Through Session.

Duluth Board of Trade, Jan. 21.—The market eased off at the close. May wheat closed ½c up, and July ⅝c up. May durum closed ¼c off and July 1¾c up.

Oats closed ¼c up at 53⅛c for on the track; rye 1c up at $1.18; barley 1c up at from 66c to 75c, and corn ⅜c up at 71½@72c.

At Winnipeg, May oats closed ⅝c up at 61⅝c bid, and July ⅝c up at 62⅛c bid.

Puts on Minneapolis May wheat closed at $1.35⅛ and calls at $1.39½ asked.

Wheat was strong again throughout today's session as a result of higher Liverpool cables and good inquiry from Eastern millers. At the start the local market shot up 1¼c while Chicago advanced 2c on a continuation of the buying movement that was in evidence yesterday. Later some recessions were recorded on profit-taking and a falling off in foreign buying. Exporters were reported to have played their cards beautifully in engineering a decline two days ago, and then coming into the market on a substantial scale on the low spots. It was their inquiry that started the shorts covering during yesterday's session and helped along the bulge.

Outside of some business in hard winter wheat at Chicago, no foreign trade was reported this morning. There were foreign inquiries on hand, but the bids were too low to admit of anything being worked. Trading was, however, good on all the markets, including Winnipeg, but it was chiefly in small lots.

May wheat opened locally ⅜c up at $1.39, and after selling up to $1.39¾. It stood at $1.39⅝ at the noon hour. July opened ⅝c up at $1.37, advanced 1c more, and later eased off ⅜c.

Fair trading was put through in durum, but the July future came in for the most attention. The filling of a substantial buying order from a trader who pulled down a long profit in the May future a few days ago, led to an advance of 2½c to $1.53. It opened ⅛c up at $1.51. The May future opened ½c up at $1.54, sold up 1c and later eased off to $1.53½.

The cash call for all grains was good on the Duluth market. Liberal demand appeared for oats, reflecting the activity in them at the outside markets. Reports were received to the effect that three cargoes of oats had been sold at the seaboard.

Flaxseed Up Again.

Flaxseed worked up again on steady inquiry from crushers with only limited offerings. Sales of linseed oil are said to have picked up greatly of late, leading crushers to come into the market more freely for supplies than had been figured upon a few weeks ago. It is now thought that there is little probability of seed from Argentina being landed in this country before April and in the meantime available supplies are light.

May flax opened unchanged at $1.89, and closed at $1.90 bid.

At Winnipeg, May flax closed 2c up at $1.70 asked.

Buenos Aires flax closed ⅛c off today and London closed 2⅜c off.

MARKET GOSSIP.

Members of the Duluth board today smoked cigars and ate apples at the expense of W. C. Mitchell, and M. L. Jenks, its newly-elected president and vice president.

* * *

Cash wheat sold at Duluth today at 1c under May; cash durum at the May price and cash flax at 1c under May. There was a good demand for everything offered on the tables.

* * *

Argentine shipments this week: Wheat, 400,000 bu; corn, 2,500,000 bu.

* * *

Over 11,000 bu of durum was shipped out of the Peavey elevator yesterday to go eforward all-rail to the East. Another lot of 20,000 bu is to go East from that house at once.

* * *

Minneapolis cash market was firm, with good general local and outside milling demand. Top grades were strong and the lower grades firm. One northern blue stem sold at 3@3½c over May for spot, and to arrive 4c over May. Velvet chaff sold at 2c under May. There were fair flour sales and good shipping directions. Cash one northern wheat sold there at from $1.36@1.41½, and ...o. 2 northern at from $1.33@1.39½. Wheat stocks at Minneapolis decreased 180,000 bu in five days.

* * *

C. E. Lewis wired from Minneapolis: "Looking at the difference between Chicago and Minneapolis May, one wonders why Minneapolis May is at such a big discount when we had a short spring crop and an enormous winter wheat crop. In order to find the answer you must look at our exports—200,000,000 bu so far of this crop, the bulk of it from the winter wheat states. The bulk of the wheat arriving in Chicago and Kansas City has already been sold and goes right through. Chicago has today over 600,000 bu of contract wheat in store, and the bulk of this wheat has already been sold, to go out either all-rail or the opening of navigation. Minneapolis has 18,000,000 bu wheat in store, the most of it contract. Later on, when season the market may be stronger, the short in Chicago wheat has got a hard row ahead of him at present."

* * *

Foreign crop summary: Argentina—Wheat—Former estimates of 110,000,000 to 115,000,000 bu exportable surplus are maintained. The new corn crop shows magnificent prospects and the crop is early. In the southern provinces the weight of wheat is light. Estimates regarding oats surplus are being further reduced and it is now placed at 43,000,000 bu. Rain is delaying wheat deliveries.

France—Weather is slightly better, but country offerings remain very light.

India—Further light rain is reported and prospects are improved.

Italy—Continued purchases are being made of wheat and oats in Argentina for forward delivery.

Australia—Inquiry is being made for foreign wheat. Stocks are strongly held, and it is believed that buying will be necessary.

* * *

Broomhall cabled from Liverpool: The general market was dull, but the undertone steady as a result of strong American cables yesterday and the unfavorable weather in Argentina. Supplies are adequate, and expected arrivals are liberal and therefore new commitments are limited. American winters nearly sold at 7½d advance from yesterday and the spot market was very firm, but the demand is limited. Strength in Buenos Aires and forecasts of light shipments this week, helped to hold prices firm.

"Corn was firm with offers lighter owing to the forecast of lighter Argentine shipments this week and parcels are held at 3d advance."

A New York wire said: "Foreign element has for once put it all over the grain trade. In the past few days they have been giving out very bearish news from abroad to the effect that they had all the grain they wanted for some time, and that Argentina would supply them. It now turns out that they took large quantities of both futures and cash wheat on the break and got in on the ground floor."

* * *

Members of the Duluth board of trade today had the cigars on Jay Finkelson, manager of the North American Telegraph company's office on the board on the occasion of the arrival of a young daughter at his home. He took a day off to celebrate.

ADVANCES REGISTERED

Stocks Are in Brisk Demand and Good Gains Made.

Missouri Pacific Leads in Activity But Is Very Erratic.

New York, Jan. 21.—The rally which attended yesterday's late dealings in stock was resumed at today's opening. Reading, Southern Pacific, Canadian Pacific, United States Steel and Bethlehem Steel preferred rose a point or more. Trading was on a very broad scale especially in Steel, which again changed hands in large lots. Missouri Pacific opened lower, but soon recovered. There was unusually heavy trading in American Telephone and St. Paul convertible bond issues at slight advances. London furnished its customary range of lower prices for Americans.

Stocks were in brisk demand during the early session of today's stock market, trading in the first hour almost equalling Tuesday's high record. Missouri Pacific led in point of activity, but was erratic, losing over a point on realizing sales. Before midday, however, this was more than regained, that stock as well as others of greater potential value, selling at best prices for the current movement. There were gains, also, in many low priced shares, including Great Northern Ore and Denver, Rio Grande preferred, together with the usual specialties.

Bonds in general were up with the stock list.

A further advance was registered by leading stocks today on heavy dealings.

Stocks strengthened again in the final hour after some hesitation caused by heaviness in Missouri Pacific stocks and bonds. The closing was strong.
